Eight Years Later,

Kidney Donor

Remembers Transplant

Lucille Frizzell

Frizzell kidney transplant at Health Center Hospital in Lubbock on Wednesday, and one of the progress of the transplant was Mrs. Jack (Lucille) Frizzell.

Frizzell donated a kidney to her eight years ago in a hospital in Lubbock, where he lived at the time.

Frizzell was almost a religious thing. "All my brothers and I had this thing but me. I just had to be a reason for that."

Frizzell was 52 when she decided to give one of her kidneys to her polycystic kidney of her brother, Fletcher, who was 50.

Frizzell had a polycystic kidney disease which threatened her younger brother's life.

Frizzell said, "Just as soon as I heard of the transplant, I was interested. Before the transplant, she asked whether there was any chance she would be able to live without the kidney."

Frizzell said, "I never tried to live without the kidney. The kidneys of the donor were a nearly perfect as a 'book-aholic'."

Frizzell said, "I had no complications. It was a painful operation. I had never known pain in my life."

Frizzell said, "She was hospitalized a week before and for two weeks after the surgery, and she says it was a year before she 'felt like herself' again. 'But that's all over, and I was back at work in about a week. He did better (immediately after the operation) than I did; I was building him up,'" she said.

Frizzell and her brother were hospitalized simultaneously, in adjoining rooms in the New York City. One of the things she remembers about the hospital stay was the hospital chapel services.

She also recalls how much it hurts to laugh after the operation when her brother, whom she describes as a very witty man, would say something amusing. And she laughs now when she remembers the "New Yorkers" lining up outside her hospital room. "Just to hear me talk — to hear my 'Texas brogue'."

It would be hard, too, to forget the name of the doctor who performed the transplant — Dr. David David. The brother-sister pair took that name to be a good omen because Fletcher's "favorite nephew" was the Frizzell's son David.

The other Frizzell children are daughters Jackie Lou (Mrs. Kenneth Holt) of Lockney; Mary Amber "Mamba" (Mrs. Bobby Webster) of Wichita, Kansas; and Joy (Mrs. David Camden) of Garden City, Kansas. Son David Frizzell lives in Lockney.

Looking back, Mrs. Frizzell says "It (the transplant operation) was probably hardest on my family, bless their hearts."

That was eight years ago. For the last seven years Lucille Frizzell has been known as "the school librarian." She was employed as an aide at the Lockney Junior High School libraries until the 1978-79 term, when her duties were changed. This year she is an aide to junior high teacher Sally Carthel. Mrs. Frizzell has many words of praise for Mrs. Carthel and her teaching, but she is looking forward to returning to the library next school year. The school library seems an especially appropriate place of employment for a woman who "just loves kids" and describes herself as a "book-aholic."

Most long-time Lockneyites of course already know Mrs. Frizzell's story. When she was named 1974 "Woman of the Year" at the Lockney Chamber of Commerce Banquet in April 1975, her story was recounted in The Lockney Beacon. And she was the subject of an article in last Thursday's Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The story is timely again not only because of the successful transplant in Lubbock Wednesday but because last week marked the start of the 1979 "Gift of Life Campaign" in the area. During that fund drive for the Kidney Foundation of the Texas Panhandle, volunteer workers will distribute information on the warning signs of kidney disease and provide organ donor cards in addition to asking for funds for research to eradicate kidney disease.

Revival Starts Today At Aiken First Baptist Church,

Revival services are scheduled at the First Baptist Church, Aiken, beginning today (Sunday) and continuing through Wednesday. Deryl Tapp, a layman from Plainview, will be doing the preaching; Monte Richards, minister of music for the Aiken church, will be singer.

In addition to Sunday services at the regular times — Sunday School at 10 a.m., morning worship at 11, church training at 6 p.m. and evening worship at 7 — there will be evening services Monday through Wednesday at 7:30 p.m.

Aiken pastor Bill Sessom, on behalf of the congregation, extends a welcome to everyone to attend the revival services.

On Thursday, March 29, The Followers, an evangelistic group, will be at the Aiken Baptist Church at 7:30 p.m. The public is invited to attend that special service also.

THE FOLLOWERS

Over 15 years ago in a revival in Ft. Worth, Texas, came a burning desire which molded a family into an evangelistic group known as The Followers. Their intent to win lost souls to Christ as well as strengthen the lives of Christians through testimony and song is still growing each day.

The family group which is now active in The Followers include the oldest son, Larry Sinclair. Not only does he sing in the group, but also shares his testimony and does scriptural, lighted chalk drawings. Terry Sinclair, Larry's younger brother, is a full-time music evangelist also, being involved with full-time music teaching, choral work, and professional singing. Terry's wife, Mona, also surrendered to full-time evangelism after a career in

SENIOR CITIZENS TO MEET THURSDAY

Lockney Senior Citizens will meet Thursday at the fellowship hall of the First United Methodist Church.

All senior citizens are invited to attend. "We will play games of 42 and dominoes, have a covered dish luncheon at noon, and visit a lot," Mrs. Betty Counts reports.

SUNLIGHT glistens on "Lake Lockney" in a photograph taken Thursday afternoon from beside US Highway 70, just south of town near the US 70 - FM 378 intersection.

Lake Mackenzie Rises 3 Inches After Rainfall

The depth of Lake Mackenzie has risen approximately three inches due to last week's rainfall, according to John McCammon, Mackenzie Lake public relations director. The increase is attributed to "local runoff" as Tule Creek is not running yet.

Work is continuing on the park on the south side of the lake. This is a joint project of the Rotary Clubs of Tulia, Floydada, and Lockney. Members of the clubs are financing and constructing picnic tables and playground equipment.

There will be a "Tot Lot" and another area for older children with tether ball, slides and swings. The two play areas will be separated for the protection of the younger children.

SHADE TREES

McCammon reports that 28 shade trees have already been planted but more are needed to complete the landscaping of the park. Trees are still being accepted as memorials and can be purchased for that purpose at a discount from E-Kay Supply in Tulia.

Interested persons may contact Anne Billington at E-Kay Supply, 995-3588, or John McCammon at the lake, 633-4318. The park will be sown with Texas Turf, a grass developed for heavy traffic areas such as parks.

Fishing has improved slightly. A two pound bass and a 1 1/2 pound crappie are the largest fish to be taken so far this year.

The Unusual Is The Usual With M. D. Arterburn

By Felicia Applewhite
The unconventional with M. D. Arterburn began with his ancestry and continues through his life.

From a time-worn Bible, replete with newspaper clippings and biblical entries, facts have been preserved. The Bible itself, "Arranged in Subjects and Comprehensive Helps" has its publication date missing.

One of the clippings brings to M. D.'s memory the time he ended with "scorched" feet at the age of 4 when he walked about a mile in hot sand to the funeral of his grandfather William Arterburn.

M. D. was not by himself in that mile walk. About 2,000 other people walked it also — so goes the newspaper clipping describing the funeral. Grandfather was a deacon in the Baptist Church.

The deceased was a quaint character. He had never ridden in an automobile, and although an auto hearse was waiting to carry the body to its last resting place, the family decided not to use it. His 6 sons carried the casket on their shoulders from the father's residence to the cemetery almost a mile away. Relatives and friends followed behind the hearse in file. The hearse was bought purposely for the funeral. The funeral director had buried about 100 Arterburns, says the clipping.

"It was the most remarkable funeral that I have ever attended," remarked one newspaper man to another. Grandfather had lived to be 97 years old. It was said that there were 108 descendants around the grave during the final rites. He died in 1915.

According to the newspaper clipping, the "unusual large attendance was impressive testifying to the high esteem of the deceased in the county." In the Bible's marriage section, the date of Grandfather William (Uncle Bill) Arterburn's marriage to Grandmother Rebecca is given as 1858.

Eight years before that time through the authority of the State of Texas, William Arterburn had been given a land grant dated 1850.

The grant named 160 acres of land in Palo Pinto County on the Brazos River. The grant has the signature of Governor Davis.

Specific location of the 160 acres was "Beginning at a pile of rock from which...thence up the Brazos with its meanders...to be the heirs or assignors forever."

William Arterburn as an orphan boy had worked his way into Texas on wagon trains.

Eight years following the grant, he married Grandmother Rebecca.

Later, he built the Double-Log Cabin near Millsap on the Brazos River. The walls are 12 inches thick. The design of the cabin is of a breezeway between 2 separate rooms — one at each end of the breezeway.

The cabin is a masterpiece. It is of sufficient historical importance that an historical marker has been placed by it.

The Double-Log Cabin is the title of the book by G. A. Holland. His book deals with true stories of Commanche raids and the part the cabin played as a shelter from the marauders, for at the time double-log cabin was built, Parker County was Commanche country.

"My grandfather had been one of the first settlers in that county. He was a cattleman. He named his brand the Turkey-Track 6. The brand was made by the shape of a turkey's track with one claw curled into a 6 — a graphic way of his for including his 6 sons in his ranching business," M. D. says.

"My mother Maria Teresa Rinke was born in the village of Dittersdorf, Newstadt, Germany, but she migrated to the United States. She, with her family, settled in Mansfield Louisiana in 1892. Later, she lived in New Orleans.

"Many of her people are buried in the same cemetery as the French pirate, Jean Lafitte. A Jean Lafitte historical marker indicates the burial place.

"She moved to Millsap, Texas where she met my father, McGregor Dixon Arterburn some time after the time of the 6 brothers of the Turkey-Track 6 brand. They were married in 1906.

M. D. ARTERBURN, age two

In 1919 my father bought the place north-east of Lockney we lived on and farmed many years. He paid for the place with Arterburn gold."

"At the time of our move here, my mother and I stayed in Millsap when the first of our things were brought. I wanted to go along with the wagons. I kicked up a Texas storm when I had to stay behind with Mother. It took the wagons three weeks to get to Lockney from Millsap.

"They had to live in a barn at first. Later Mother and I came on the Blue-weed Special passenger train as it was called in Lockney.

"We had hard times and we were very poor.

"One thing that I admired about my mother—she did not expect anybody to help her. Neither did she expect anybody to learn her language. This was her adopted country and she adjusted to the life here. She was a very well-read woman.

"When we ran out of money, she would pull out this old trunk that she brought from Germany — it is a most unique trunk. The key that fits it, you wouldn't believe.

"She'd pull out a little old cloth bag out of the trunk. Out of the bag, she would come up with enough money for our needs even to paying the taxes on the place.

"I wasn't aware for a long time that she spoke broken English, but once when I was in special need for some coveralls for Agriculture at school, she said, 'Vel, you shall have coveralls.'

"Once, when we didn't expect my father to live, Ted Livesay rode up with a sack of meat. Ted's way of saying that he had killed pork and that he wanted to be neighborly was for him to say, 'Here is a sack of meat that I found on the road...'

When M. D. was 10 or 12 years old, he named himself. Until then his sister Susie called him Bill. Others called him

Emmy Duke. Since they allowed him to choose his own name, he named himself after 2 men he often read about and admired. One of those men was the famous criminal lawyer, Clarence Darrow. His other choice was Max Smelling, the great boxer. Putting the two names together, he became Max Darrow Arterburn.

He always begged his folks for a brother. Since his wish was not granted, he likes to name Tommy Weathers as the one who most likely fills the bill.

"Tommy has always been good to me. We played a lot of ball together. We have been close friends.

"When I started to school at Bobbitt, I could already read.

"Thelma and I rode an old cow pony to school at Bobbitt. He would stand all day if you just dropped the reins, but if you tied him up, he would rear back until something gave.

"Dad said tie him up anyway. I did and that brought on a calamity.

"The Carthel family and a few others had sheds where they put their buggies and horses.

"We put a well rope as big as my arm on the pony because as a rule he would break the average lariat. I tied him to the sheds, and he pulled the sheds down.

"Next, Dad put a big post down. A boy with a new saddle on a shetland wanted to tie the shetland there with our pony. I told him that our pony slobbered, but he paid me no mind. That afternoon after school, his shetland looked like a snowball of horse slobbers.

"Our pony wanted to run all the time. I couldn't hold him when I would start home with Thelma behind me.

Once I ran him up behind a buggy hoping to check his speed. The kids in the buggy began screaming because they were afraid the horse was going to get in the buggy with them. When I zoomed around the corner, Thelma was slung off. When I raced in home, Dad asked, 'Where is your sister?'

"He didn't quite believe me, but SEE ARTERBURN, PAGE 11

SPECIAL NOTICES

Want To Do A Good Deed? Volunteers Needed

Anne Willson, chairman for the St. Jude Children's Research Hospital Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon, today asked residents of Floydada to volunteer their time and energy for the April 14th ride.

Volunteers are needed to help conduct the Wheels For Life Bike-a-thon to raise funds to support the world-famous research center in its battle against catastrophic childhood diseases.

"We're looking for people who are willing to contribute a little of their time to help us help children live," Mrs. Willson said. "Our biggest need is for riders since they are the ones who will make this event a success."

"Those who want to ride should pick up their registration/sponsor forms at Builder's Mart now and start getting sponsors. Everyone who raises $25.00 will get a St. Jude Children's Research Hospital t-shirt, and those who raise $75.00 or more will get a special biker's back pack," she said.

At St. Jude's, doctors and scientists are studying leukemia, Hodgkin's Disease and other forms of childhood cancer as well as other deadly diseases that strike the young. The results of research conducted there are freely shared with doctors and scientists all over the world, enabling stricken children to have a better chance to live.

Founded by entertainer Danny Thomas, St. Jude's is the leader in the battle against these diseases.

"But as long as children are still dying," Mrs. Willson, said, "St. Jude Children's Hospital must keep fighting. We need your help."

Volunteers can contact Anne Willson 983-3113 or Jack Moore 983-2217.

WHOOZITS . . .

LOCKNEY WHOZIT....This week's mystery picture for the Lockney area is a "Group Whozit." The photograph was taken about 1949. Four right is good, six or more gets an "excellent" score. Call The Beacon, 652-3318, Monday through Wednesday, to try your luck at guessing the subjects' identities.

Gladys Golden Lockney Whozit

Last week's Lockney Whozit must have been an easy one — nearly everyone knew it was Gladys (Mrs. Oscar) Golden.
Mrs. Henry Bollman was the first to call with the correct Whozit identification. Ora Brown also knew it was Mrs. Golden, as did Retha Wofford and Helen McDonald.
This newspaper solicits pictures from the past for the Whozit feature. Bring pictures to The Beacon office in Lockney or The Hesperian office in Floydada.

FLOYDADA WHOZIT -- If this face is not familiar at first, look again. You should know! Anyone who would like to submit a guess is asked to contact The Hesperian [983-3737] in Floydada or The Beacon [652-3318] in Lockney from Monday through Wednesday.

Billy Staniforth Floydada Whozit

Polly Cardinal and Emogene Stansell correctly named William Murphy (Billy) Staniforth Jr. as last week's Hesperian "Whozit."
Staniforth was five years old at that time, four years before the family moved to Floyd County.
Patricia Rannels guessed Charlie Tyer was the mystery personality.
Isabell Luna also guessed Staniforth.
Emogene Stansell also knew Gladys Golden, the Lockney Whozit.

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm claims he has an idea for spurring the economy around here.
Dear editor:
Some people are always claiming Floydada could use a new industry. I'm planning on opening one. Let me explain what it is and how I got the idea.
You see, it looks like it's taking Egypt and Israel longer to sign a peace treaty than most countries take to break one.
As I understand it, they can't get together on the wording, which is another indication of the low state of writing these days, as anybody who has read a best-seller lately can testify.
However, there is a solution to the problem. I ran across it in an article in a magazine last night.
A big company is coming out with a ballpoint pen that uses erasable ink. Erases so clean you can't tell anything was written on a piece of paper.
That's the answer to the Egypt-Israel hang-up. Stop quibbling over words. Get the television camera in place on the White House lawn, shake hands, embrace, and sign anything put in front of you.
Then go back home and keep an eraser handy.

It's the answer to broken treaties all over the world. If China and Vietnam had had one of those new pens when they signed a treaty a few years ago, all they'd have had to do was erase their signatures, maintain international morality, and fight each other without being conscience-stricken about it.
Russia and the United States can't agree on the wording of a SALT agreement? Sign anything and keep the erasers and guns handy. Chief Sitting Bull, show us where anybody signed that treaty you keep talking about.
This new invention opens the way for peace treaty signings right and left all over the globe, and here's where my idea for a new industry comes in.
If I can get the financial backing I'm going to open up an eraser factory out here. May have to keep it operating around the clock. I'll sign a note for operating money if I can get hold of one of those new pens.
Speaking of enterprise, I don't know who's winning the revolution in Iran, but the firm that printed up all those bearded Khomeni placards must be doing all right.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Rabies Case Confirmed

Rabid Skunk Killed At Doughtery

No human had been bitten by the rabid animal.

MOVIE RECOMMENDED

Donald Bean rarely attends a movie, he says, but the Bean family recently saw a film he highly recommends. Entitled "Days of Heaven," it depicts an early-day family going through a harvest season.

Donald adds that he was "intrigued by the scenery" and old machinery operation. Steam engine tractors are shown plowing and harvesting.

He believes filming could have been in the upper Texas Panhandle or in Kansas because the terrain is a "too rolling" to have been made in the immediate area. An Amarillo newspaper is shown in one scene.

SALES TAX RETURNS

A release from Comptroller Bullock — which appeared in Thursday issue — indicates that only all Panhandle - South Plains and towns experienced sales tax declines for the first quarter of 1979 compared with the previous year.

Most of us will take that at face value. However, Bullock points out that returns that have not hit the Comptroller's accounting system and not cash retail sales during the reporting period seem to be the chief culprit in the downturn in rebates.

Rounding out the vocal sound of the group is Ollie Mearns, singing bass. Ollie, along with Terry and Mona, studied voice in college, and ties together the smooth, quality sound of The Followers. Accompanying them on the piano is James Allen. Raised in Amarillo, James has studied voice and piano for years.

Altogether The Followers have one intent in mind, spreading the Gospel of Jesus Christ through word and song. In 1978 alone they sang in over 250 churches, in services and revivals, as well as many concerts, schools, and city auditoriums all over the United States. They have also made several radio and television appearances including their one-hour T.V. Special for cable T.V., involving their Christian Music School held every summer in Ft. Worth, Tx.

Over all, The Followers have gained the recognition of their music and testimony by many well respected pastor, church leaders and evangelists in our country today.

Motley Likely to Seek Funds For Retrial

Death Conviction Overturned

Motley County must seek another grant from the Criminal Justice Council for the retrial of Larry Carnell Fortenberry, charged with the Nov. 12, 1976, shooting death of Motley Sheriff Jaimar (Jinks) Wilson.

"It's a terrible expense," Motley County Judge Bill Whitaker said in referring to another capital murder trial.

Expense of the trials of Fortenberry and Stacy Albert Carter, an accomplice, have been placed at $57,500. Motley County was liable for the trial expense since Wilson's death occurred in that county. However, a Criminal Justice Council grant was secured to pay expenses.

Fortenberry, a 30-year-old Mount Herman, La., resident was tried in Hale County on a charge of venue and was given the death sentence after an exhaustive trial in August 1977.

SENTENCE OVERTURNED
Wednesday, the Texas Court of Criminal Appeals in Austin overturned the conviction and ordered a retrial.

The appeals court struck down the death sentence because, it claimed, the presiding judge failed to instruct jurors properly on the corroboration needed to convict a suspect on the basis of an accomplice's testimony.

Carter pleaded guilty to murder and testified against his companion on that fateful November 1976 day when the Motley County sheriff was gunned down. Carter told the jury that Sheriff Wilson had identified himself before the defendant shot him twice at close range with a shotgun.

IDENTITY ISSUE
The appeals court agreed with defense attorneys that the judge should have instructed jurors that Carter's testimony alone was insufficient evidence to prove that Fortenberry realized Wilson was a lawman.

Wilson was wearing no uniform and his car displayed no official words or emblems, the court contended. The Motley sheriff was to have retired in less than two months.

John D. Rogers, a Matador farmer who also was injured in the melee, was riding with Sheriff Wilson when they came upon the two Louisiana prison escapes removing license plates from Rogers' vehicle. He was unable to relate any conversation which transpired between the sheriff and Fortenberry prior to the shooting.

Department of Public Safety Patrolman Kenneth Witt apprehended Fortenberry and Carter less than two hours after the murder. They were arrested five miles east of Crosbyton.

No weapons were in the suspect's auto, but two shotguns later were found near Matador by lawmen.

Well Decline Averages 1.26 Feet

Consumers Can Buy More Beef Today For Hour's Wage

The average American consumer, despite inflation and rising beef prices, can buy more beef today with one hour's wages than he or she could 30 years ago.

This startling statistic was revealed by President John B. Armstrong at the 102nd annual convention and trade show of the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association.

Armstrong told the group that "the American public needs to be aware that one hour's wages, after taxes, will buy one and two-thirds pounds of beef today, compared to nine-tenths of a pound in 1949. I'm talking about average per capita disposable income today."

Marble Re-Elected Cotton Director

Don H. Marble of South Plains and Clifford Hoelscher of Garden City have been selected as Texas' alternate directors re-elected by Cotton Incorporated.

Twenty-four cotton producers elected or re-elected as members and alternate members of the Cotton Incorporated board of directors officially began their terms at the board's recent annual meeting in Raleigh, N.C.

Measurement of water levels in the network of approximately 800 wells measured annually by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District in its 15 county service area revealed an average change of 1.26 feet from January 1978 to January 1979.

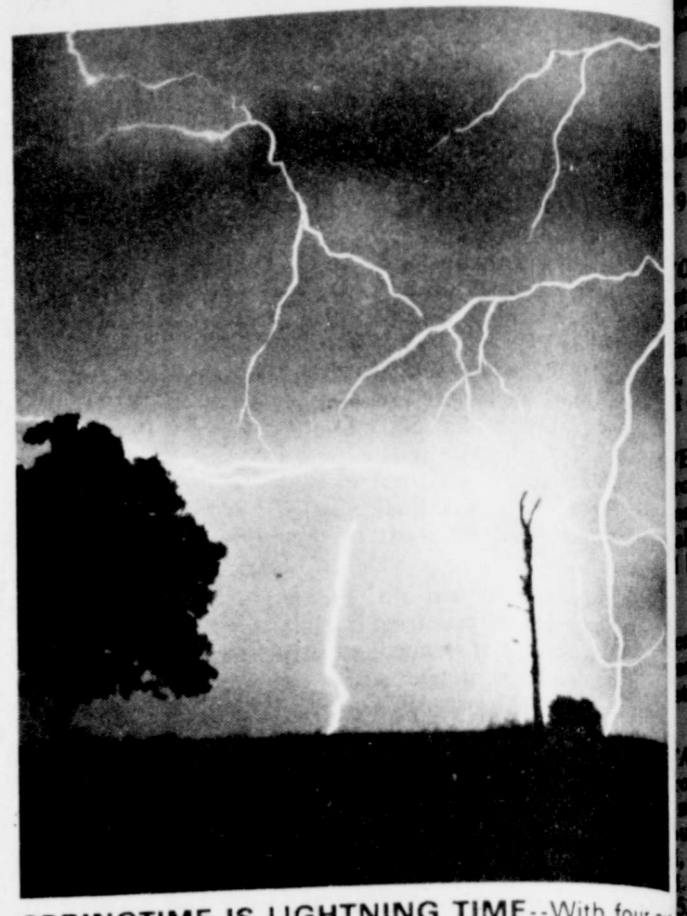

Even though 1978 was an extremely dry year in most of the area, the 1.26 feet change compares favorably with the five year average change of 1.64 feet and the ten year average change of 1.45 feet. Water District officials attribute the reduced decline rate to improved water conservation practices and the high cost of energy to pump water.

The average depth-to-water below land surface in the water level observation wells measured in 1979 was 166.01 feet.

SPRINGTIME IS LIGHTNING TIME--With four of five human deaths or injuries from lightning occurring in rural areas, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown warns that springtime weather increases the likelihood of lightning strikes and need to guard against personal injury and property damage.

Budget Use Suggested For Cropping Decisions

Production budgets provide essential data to producers when they are making cropping decisions, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The critical indicator in allocating land, labor, machinery time and operating capital in 1979 is the expected income over total variable costs per acre, points out Ashley Lovell.

For the Central Texas Blacklands, cotton and grain sorghum are the leading warm-season crops although a significant acreage is planted in corn and hybrid sudan.

Expected per acre returns over total variable costs for these crops (with typical management levels) are cotton, $36; grain sorghum, $23.37; corn, $20.19; and sudan hay, $40.68. These dollar amounts contribute toward paying fixed costs — depreciation, land rent taxes and interest on investment — before a profit can be realized.

Another important consideration influencing a producer's cropping decisions is his knowledge, skill and experience with various crops. A producer having these traits will weigh expected prices and expected yields of each crop against projected costs, contends the economist.

When expected profits and a producer's knowledge, skill and experience are similar, the producer's preference becomes important in selecting one of the aforementioned crops.

If everything is similar except expected returns and variable costs offers an estimate of the trade-off between returns and preferences, Lovell adds.

Other considerations influencing producer decisions are the availability of a price support loan program (unavailable for sudan hay), existing livestock program (the producer may wish to raise his own hay), and soil, climatic and economic conditions unique to the producer's locale. Additionally, some

Farmers May Graze Cattle Or Cut Hay On Wheat Acreage

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm advised today that farmers who planted wheat for 1979 harvest now have another option to consider: they may graze cattle or cut hay on their wheat acreage. Wheat grazed or cut for hay under the special wheat acreage grazing and hay program will qualify for the same deficiency payment rate as wheat harvested for grain.

Wheat program participants will be allowed to graze cattle or cut hay on wheat acreage equal to the higher of (1) 50 acres or (2) 40 percent of their total intended plantings of wheat, feed grains (corn sorghum and barley) and upland cotton.

This action is being taken to encourage the production of more beef later on this year. Calves now on wheat pasture ordinarily would have to come off and be sold about March 15 to permit the wheat to mature for harvest, while the action taken today would permit them to remain an additional 60 days or so. This should result in slightly higher rates of grain and therefore more beef later on this year. It should also encourage the movement of a few more calves onto wheat pasture and more beef from those calves as well.

Producers participating in the special wheat acreage grazing and hay program must also comply with the normal crop acreage (NCA) requirements and with set-aside requirements for wheat harvested for grain and feed grain crops planted on their farm(s). There will be no advance payment or minimum payment guarantee this year as was provided in 1978 special wheat acreage grazing and hay program participants. The deficiency payment rate for 1978-crop wheat was 52 cents per bushel.

The 1979 Wheat Deficiency Payment Rate will be determined in December and will be the difference between the established target price ($3.40 per bushel) and the higher of either the national average market price during the first five months (June through October) of the marketing year, or the national loan rate ($2.35).

Producers wishing to use this option may indicate their intentions at their local Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) county office during the 1979 wheat and feed grains program sign-up period currently underway. The sign-up period ends April 30.

Swine Course To Look At Artificial Insemination

The potential advantages for small commercial pork producers and purebred swine breeders who use frozen semen for herb reproduction is one of the topics to be explored at the annual Texas A&M University Swine Shortcourse, Wednesday, April 4, in Plainview.

Leading the discussion will be Keith Olson, director and chief operating officer of International Boar Semen in Eldora, Iowa. He is one of 11 leading animal scientists and producers from Texas and four other states who will conduct the course. Their topics will focus on the latest methods and strategies in management and production.

The shortcourse at the Hale County Agricultural Center south of the city begins at 8 a.m. and ends at 4:15 p.m. There is a $7 registration fee.

The course is organized and sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Cooperating are the department of animal science at Texas A&M, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Pork Producers Assn., and Texas

Pork Producers Board.

Artificial insemination of swine offers several possible advantages to the pork producer. One is a reduction in the number of boars needed to carry out a breeding program. It also provides access to semen from outstanding boars, provides a source of semen for the small producer who can't justify maintaining a herd sire, and reduces the chances of introducing a disease into the herd during breeding.

Olson will discuss such factors as conception rates, storage and shipment of semen, and procedures of artificial insemination.

In addition to heading IBS, Olson directs three swine production operations in Iowa. These are a 650-sow feeder pig unit, a 6,000-head swine finishing operation, and a 450-sow feeder pig unit. Olson also directs a 100,000 commercial layer flock and is a partner in a contract egg production operation.

He holds a degree in agricultural education from Iowa State University.

COTTON TALKS

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INC.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is joining cotton interest organizations across the Cotton Belt in a test of the Administration's proposed reductions in Federal cotton research for 1980.

The President's 1980 budget calls for cutting $3.42 million out of agricultural research funds, with $1,647,000 of that almost half, to come from research on cotton and cottonseed.

These severe cuts contrast sharply with the 7.7 percent overall increase in the President's budget and with a proposed increase in the budgets of seven of ten other Federal research agencies.

"So we can only conclude," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President, "that agricultural research generally has been singled out for more than its share of sacrifice that may be necessary to the Administration's program for a balanced budget, and that within agriculture the President would make cotton a special whipping boy."

In 1973 a joint USDA-State-Industry task force recommended that the number of scientist years devoted to cotton research be increased to 691. In 1977 Title XIV of the Federal Act recognized research as a high priority government function and authorized five $115 million annual increases in Federal research funds for that purpose.

All of this has been ignored, along with the generally accepted principle that research is one of the most efficient ways to improve efficiency and therefore fight inflation. Instead of an increase, the number of scientist years in USDA-State cotton research efforts where Federal support account for almost 80 percent of the total has dropped from 504 in 1970 to about 400. The current proposal would reduce scientist years another 15 to 20 if it gets Congressional approval.

"Cotton needs more research, not less," says Johnson. "And our research needs have been made even more acute by government itself — through ill-advised administrative, the current cotton program and by government-imposed pesticide restrictions, cotton dust and flammability regulations and other regulatory actions."

Hearings on the President's proposal are to be held in late March or early April by both House and Senate Agricultural Appropriations Subcommittees.
