Weather Delaying Floyd Planting Operations

Weather conditions are delaying planting operations in Floyd County. Many farmers backed off original planting "about May 10."

"We could see some cotton go in next week if the soil temperature increases," believes County Extension Agent Stephen R. Herber. "If cold and damp weather continues, they (farmers) probably will hold off several days."

Herber says most producers like to have seed in the ground "by around May 10." Thursday will be that date.

The Floyd Extension agent notes that "we could still use a couple of inches" moisture throughout most of the county. "We need more topsoil moisture, although I think our subsoil moisture is pretty good."

He regards subsoil moisture in this county "as good or better than in recent years."

MORE COTTON FORESEEN

Herber and the county crops committee anticipate "a 15 to 25 percent increase in cotton over last year's planting." Herber expects that between 230,000 and 250,000 Floyd acres will be planted to cotton.

Corn and milo production is foreseen as being "down substantially." Herber believes that "seed milo and corn will take up a good percentage of the corn and milo acreage in this county."

Soybean acreage is expected to be "comparable" to 1978. However, the amount of soybeans and sunflowers will depend to some extent on hail damage to cotton. Extensive hail would mean many producers would be forced to replant to these "fallback" crops.

Vegetable acreage also is anticipated to remain "about the same."

STRONG COTTON PRICES DOUBTED

Most farmers "realistically don't expect strong cotton prices," due to heavy planting intentions, the Extension agent believes.

Clean-Up Campaign May 17-18

Lockneyites are encouraged to clean up their property and to call City Hall in advance (before May 17) to arrange for the extra trash pick-up.

If the weather is bad on May 17 and 18, the clean-up will be rescheduled. The clean-up campaign dates were set Thursday morning at the regular monthly meeting of the Lockney city council.

LEGION BUILDING

In other city business Thursday, the council voted to accept ownership of the American Legion building if the Legion agreed to deed it to the City on a "no-strings" basis.

Mayor Claude Brown reported that he had met with local American Legion members recently and told the Legionnaires that he would check with the council to see if the City would accept the building for use as a community center.

The council followed the recommendation of Paul Lyle, the city's attorney, in accepting the building only if the Legion agreed to the "no-strings" stipulation.

Should an agreement be reached, the city would probably operate the building much like the Legion has, renting it for family reunions, meetings, dances and other activities. The City would be responsible for maintaining the building.

The Legion post has become "...financially unable to continue paying inflated utility bills, insurance and general building maintenance," according to an announcement made several weeks ago by Post Adjutant Paul Teuton.

SEAL COAT BIDS

Also Thursday morning, the council called a special meeting at 9 a.m. May 15 for the purpose of opening bids on seal coating the city streets this summer. The opening of seal coat bids was originally scheduled for the Thursday meeting; a newspaper mixup in advertising for the bids caused the postponement.

Present at the council meeting were Brown, Lyle, Councilmen Thurman Davis, J.D. Copeland, Bobby McCormick and Paul Reece, Police Chief Bill McConnell, and City Secretary Erma Lee Duckworth.

Graduate, Graduation Dates Set

Services for the Lockney High School graduation class will be held on Thursday, May 27, according to James Poole, LHS principal. Graduation exercises are scheduled at 8 p.m. Thursday, May 31.

Both events will be held in the Lockney Elementary School Cafeteria.

Method Demonstrations Thursday

Four 4-H Method Demonstrations will be given at 6 p.m. on Thursday, May 10, in the Lockney School Cafeteria.

Seven method demonstration teams and two "Share The Fun" teams are scheduled to participate in the program, which should last "not more than two and half hours."

The public is invited to see these young people present their demonstrations. There will be no charge for admission.

History Books From The Museum

Floyd County Historical Museum books are still being

Floyd County Historical Museum, P.O. Box 304, Floydada, Texas 79235. No orders will be accepted after the final proof of the book is submitted to the publisher.

The history book will contain more than 1000 family stories, a comprehensive general history of the county, and much more, including many photographs.

For the next few weeks, memorial pages and business pages may still be purchased. Call the museum, 983-2415, for information.

An 'Eating-Seeing' Visit' With Relatives Made Us Love Dallas

by Felicia Applewhite

Our main topic of conversation following a recent visit with relatives in Dallas have been on what we saw and what we ate.

The visit was with the Scott Arbuckles — of Richardson, really — who gave us ample reason for conversational topics both on seeing and eating.

We began the trip from Lubbock, where a sign reads, "come to Lubbock for all reasons." Our reason was to catch a flight from the Lubbock air terminal.

From there the Southwest Air Lines lifted us out of a dust storm in Lubbock and in record time flew us into the blue haze over Dallas and deposited us at Love Field.

It's true — that which you have been hearing about Love Field. That air terminal is developing into a major national center for general aviation and non-scheduled aviation. It is a very busy place.

Our plane was met by Tommy Arbuckle, fresh from a beauty salon. During the usual greetings and small conversation while waiting for the luggage, she casually remarked that she was taking everybody to the Bent Tree

County Club north of Dallas for lunch.

That suited us. We had started out from Lone Star on a very early breakfast and had nothing except a small package of Southwest courtesy almonds in flight.

"Scott would have come with me but he's tied up on negotiations with J.C. Penny Company executives on Thorsen tools," she explains the reason for our nephew's not meeting us.

Scott is president of Thorsen Tool Company, "a tomorrow company today" — manufacturing a complete line of quality hand tools.

So to the Bent Tree with Tommy — the four of us — Wilma Smith, Chicago; Marie Cooper, Canyon; with Goree and me — three aunts and an uncle to the Bent Tree.

Tommy's expert driving ushered us through some heavy Dallas traffic and freeway madness.

"Last winter's ice ruined most of the expressways around here," she says as she drives.

We had paid little attention to the roughness until she mentioned it because we had just driven over worse near Abernathy that morning on our

Alpha Mu Delta Presents Special Awards

Celebrating Founder's Day is an annual event of Alpha Mu Delta. It is a time to renew pledges to Beta Sigma Phi, a time to look at accomplishments and failures and, hopefully, learn from both.

President Kaye Powell led the opening ritual and Donna Henderson, service chairman, led the invocation.

Carrie Bertrand, social chairman, welcomed the husbands, the special guests for the evening, Pate Cates, vice-president, welcomed new members, Donna Anderson, Debbie Beaty, Debbie Breed, Judy Campbell, Bama Coward, Kay Jones, Tonya Marble, Revis Pernell, and Sue Williams.

Teresa Whittle reviewed the socials, services, and ways and means projects for this past year. They were reminded, special thank you goes to all husbands for so much of time was given to the different sorority functions. Carrie led the members in the 48th Founder's Day Pledge. Sue Williams read a letter from Bill Ross, son of Walter W. Ross, founder of Beta Sigma Phi, Sigma Phi.

LuAnn Collins, recording secretary and chairman of the scrapbook committee, presented outgoing president, Kaye Powell, with the scrapbook of the year's events, which is an Alpha Mu Delta tradition.

Plaques are presented in five categories: "Program of the Year" Valentine Sweetheart, President's Plaque, "Pledge of the Year", and "Girl of the Year."

Kaye Powell presented charms to her officers, and a special charm to Debbie Bertrand in honor of her baby daughter. As outgoing president, Kaye, presented the President's plaque to incoming president, Pat Cates. JoAnn Patterson, program chairman, presented Bama Coward, the plaque for "Program of the Year". Her program Teaching Others, taught each of us, being a teacher is not necessary for teaching. We do not teach only by words, but also by our actions. "What kind of a teacher are you?"

Pledge of the Year is presented to a new member who has worked hard and been a dependable new member. Pat Cates, as vice-president, taught new members about Beta Sigma Phi. Pat presented the plaque to Sue Williams. When it came to candid shots of sorority sisters, you could always count on Sue. She was responsible for the "Candid Camera" shots which fill the sorority scrapbook. Sue is not the only talented member of her family. Her son, Brent, painted Saturn on the front of the scrapbook to emphasize the theme for the past year, "Seek New Horizons." "Thank you, Brent, for sharing your talents with this chapter."

Girl of the Year is presented to the person who has given herself and time to her sorority, one whom members can count on for leadership, diplomacy and goodwill. Sorority members selected three members to receive this award. Bama Coward, a new member, presented the plaque to Julie Hickerson, treasurer and chairman of the volleyball tournament; Carrie Bertrand, corresponding secretary and chairman of the social committee, and Kaye Powell, president. These girls have been in sorority at least two years. Each have held offices their second year as members.

Dinner was served to Donna Anderson, Debbie Beaty, Carrie Bertrand, Debbie Breed, Judy Campbell, Pat Cates, LuAnn Collins, Bama Coward, Donna Henderson, Julie Hicker-son, Kay Jones, Tonya Marble, JoAnn Patterson, Revis Pernell, Kaye Powell, Daphna Simpson, Teresa Whittle, and Sue Williams.

The closing ritual was led by Kaye Powell.

An 'Eating-Seeing Visit' With Relatives Made Us Love Dallas...

way to Lubbock. Besides, our minds were on Bent Tree. The name fascinated us. Bent Tree's parking offers no problem. Your car is parked for you and returned to you later at the entrance of the club house.

Bent Tree's 58,000 square-foot club house designed by Craycroft-Lacy of Dallas, features a large main dining-room with a great view looking down on the golf course.

Our meal was buffet with no limit in salads, meats, vegetables and deserts.

While we ate, we caught up on family news since we had not seen the Arbuckles since a few weeks before when Scott had been honored by Texas Tech University College of Engineering at a Distinguished Engineer's Luncheon. The citation from the luncheon program read, "It is a genuine pleasure for the College of Engineers to recognize the professional and civic achievements of Scott G. Arbuckle with the designation of Distinguished Engineer."

Following lunch, we drove through Bent Tree neighboring housing, where "One tried to outdo the other."

In this rolling-hill locality, the town houses have zero lots. The architecture ranges from the Mediterranean to contemporary. A sprinkle of condominiums adds to the interesting mix in housing.

When we had seen it all, we headed for the place the Arbuckles call home. It didn't take much time and little apparent effort in Tommy's driving to arrive at Shady Cove where the family lives.

They designed their house and had it built. They had no specific architecture in mind.

"We just built it to suit ourselves. You could call it mostly Texas," she laughingly adds.

The house is built with a creek and wooded area at the back just off the swimming pool. Blue birds, jays, squirrels, coons and all play freely here and there.

Not long after we were there, Michelle, the eighth grade daughter came in with school books and a rose she had gathered from a neighbor's garden.

Once, Scott Jr. and Matt dug a pit back of the back and covered it over lightly for a "bear trap" there in their young imaginative days. Their catch was a man that was making a night call cautiously but not cautiously enough across the family property. Scott Jr. is now a student in Tech School of architecture and Matt plays tackle on his high school football team.

Above the wooded area and near the pool, the house is guarded by 2 lions—well, not really.

The two ceramic lions are at the house entrance from the swimming-pool side. These lions are highly decorated. They were brought from Taiwan on one of the many Thorsen Tool trips around the world.

Taiwan tradition has it that the lions guard your home. The male lion rests his front paw on a ball (baseball size). Both lions have heavy curled mane and have coats made of varied flower pattern. They stand about 2 feet tall at the door entrance.

Near the lions is a small portion of wall covered made from bamboo from Korea. The bamboo was so green when it was put on the wall, that some of it sprouted, but no harm was done. It soon dried.

Not far from the bamboo wall, 3 stained-glass windows furnish light for a small dining area.

The windows were found in an antique shop and thought at first to be early American, this century. However, when the frames were cleaned of paint, they were found to have no nails. The small wooden pegs that held the frames together date them before this century.

A pin and ink drawing of the old mission near Taos, New Mexico, done by Scott Jr. hangs near by.

Since Thorsen Tool Company does business in Japan, India, Spain, Brazil and other countries, the Arbuckle house reflects a world atmosphere.

Silver candelabra, one at each end of the table gave us light at dinner that first evening. They came from the London silver vaults, a place of storage for royalty silver. However, on one side of the vaults there is a place for silver for sale. Here, customers may wander around looking for a purchase.

During a conversation with Scott, who had come in for a few minutes before going out to take the J.C. Company visitors out to dinner, we learned that he has had on some of his trips, the man who interpreted for Dr. Sweitzer. When Dr. Sweitzer died, the interpreter came back to California.

"Any time the Japanese or Chinese come to Thorsen Tool Company, they bring gifts," he says.

All the evidence is there—a jade incense pot, a jade goddess to pray for little boys, three ivory figures from Hong Kong; one wishing long life. Too, there is a silk robe stitched blind stitching from Hong Kong. There are some Japanese desert plates, 200 years old.

"Japan, Taiwan, and Korea are becoming very prosperous," Scott says. He has a visa from Taiwan, but he will not be allowed to enter Mainland China if it is known that he has a visa for Taiwan.

Next morning, following crepes and strawberries for breakfast, we were in nearby North Park Shopping Center.

Marie tried on some $150.00 shoes that we advertised as "heavenly" but failed to fit her arch. Goree reported having seen some beautiful shoes for men, lizard variety, for $535.000 on the man's side at Neiman-Marcus.

Then we ate again. Lunch time at Church's is having lunch in "another world" they say of themselves, and, they say, "If only for one night (I suppose lunch would have the same effect) you are an evening person! On that one night this is where the action is...food, drink, warmth, hospitality."

When we were seated at a table, a sprightly, young man in black pants white shirt, black bow tie appeared, saying, "My name is Richard. Call me if you want anything."

Richard does more than just wait tables. He is an actor and has been in some nice stage productions. Most of his acting has been with the Haymaker Theater.

Richard came and went in quick precise motion, talking to us in homey conversation.

He brought our orders of sea food—crab, shrimp and "Other delicacies of the sea" and "with asparagus topped with hollandaise sauce. Richard was especially appreciative of the tip which was mathematically correct per centage wise. He asked us to come back.

Later on when Scott had furnished his work with J.C. Penny and "other matters", he came in to announce that he had reservations for dinner at the Lancer's Club.

When the time came, he drove us to downtown Dallas with apologies for not thinking to drive down Turtle Creek Drive with its azalias.

Our destination was the L.T.V. building and the Lancer's Club.

Before we were seated at the dinner table, we looked out over Dallas. Dallas at night presents a colorful impressive skyline.

From our 32-story vantage point, we looked below us at Thanks-Giving Square—a celebration of mankind's gratitude to God in all times and places—a place of humility and gratitude.

"This island of serenity is surrounded by Akard, Etray, Bryan and Pacific streets. It is in the very center of downtown Dallas. It has been open to visitors since 1977."

Thanks-Giving Square was built by business men of Dallas with the Psalm, "This is the day the Lord has made, let us rejoice and be glad in it," as their reason for building.

Three great, bronze bells hang from a 50-foot bell-tower, calling the world daily to celebrate Thanks-Giving.

Our view to the south was in direct line of the Mobile Building with its flying red horse, Pegasus, dominating the scene. This historical building is no longer named in "Points of interest in Dallas" by Dallas Chamber of Commerce.

Once a trip to Dallas was nothing without having gone up in that building to the very base of the winged horse on top.

"Mobile gave the building to the city of Dallas. I hear that some parties are interested in buying it," Scott remarks.

Note: Next morning front page newspaper headlines reported that a San Francisco Company had bought the Mobile Building for the purpose of making it into a historical interest. They plan on developing the area around the building to make it attractive for the purpose.

Also, in our line of view was the Municipal Center designed by internationally known I.M. Pei. Too, the striking, new City Hall with its spacious landscaped plaza stood out. Later, when we drove past, we saw from a side view that City Hall slanted from the base upward.

To the south, we also saw the 50-story revolving restaurant and observation-deck building.

Atop the building is the immense revolving ball which is referred to as "the golf ball" with its sparkling lights all over adding to a golf ball appearance in giant form.

Tommy laid her purse on the rail in front of her as she was looking out over the city from the revolving ball, and found the purse 4 or 5 feet back of her when she reached for it.

Finally, we were seated for a formal dinner. Each woman in our party was given a long-stemmed red rose bud that she put in the vase in the center of the table until the meal was over.

A small black book of matches autographed "Arbuckle" was given each of us. Menus without prices were given to the women.

Bake red snapper, veal and lamb were some of the orders. Pear ice to "cleanse the palate" was served before the chocolate mousse.

As we were leaving, Scott expressed appreciation to our waiter for flawless service.

The waiter responded with an appreciative smile accompanied by the request that Scott mention such "to the maitre'd" as we left out.

When our car was brought, we drove by City Hall, Kennedy Monument, the "monument of 3 separate vertebra."

The 400 employees include 150 salaried personnel. We were given special glasses for eye protection against flying bits of steel and were given visitor's tags to pin on.

"Someone has the zero years will be assassinated or die in office."

We passed Zales' Central Lagoon and Fontains once given to the City of Dallas, but returned to Zales after a time.

When we passed the Mary Kay Cosmetics, we thought of Virginia Taylor.

Back at Shady Cove, we were told the street was once cement, then asphalt and now with groves to make tires grip.

On our way the next morning, we stopped at Valley View shopping center to meet Harry Truman's cousin who owns a cheese shop. Here we found the "something" to bring to Grace and A.O. Foster.

This was the day! We arrived at last at Thorsen Tool Company.

Thorsen covers 400,000 square feet; carries $10,000,000 inventory at any time; ships 600,000 pounds each month.

There are two lunch areas with lunch shifts. There is no practice of discrimidirections given to incoming planes at the airport. The whole idea here had a hernia sand-bagged protection from the hay loft barn. A cow and a pig were at the entrance of the court yard. An old Peter Pan with butcher-knife trim, with hay.

Inside, a tattered American flag post on the battle field, one on the wall. A bullet-strewn German plane was taking the ceiling.

Back at Love Field we saw minutes at Gate 2 to take us back to Lubbock. We were where our large waiting area included 5 stand-bys, waiting in the solid wall at our boarding opened and our boarding attendant the West.

Well, we saw and we were home again writing letters and mailing hostess gifts.

WHOZITS . . .

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — The little girl was three years old, the baby boy eight months, when this snapshot was taken in 1959 or 1960. Call The Beacon, 652-3381, Monday through Thursday, if you can figure out who the brother-sister pair are.

Rainey Davis
Lockney Whozit

The youngster in last week's Lockney mystery photo was Rainey Davis, Lockney Cooperatives manager. Nancy Carthel guessed who it was, with some help from the "cooperation" clue dropped in the picture caption last week.

No Mystery —
Bob Alldredge
Floydada Whozit

Every person who submitted a guess on last week's Hesperian Whozit was correct!
The mystery personality — who was really no mystery to most — was Bob Alldredge, principal of Floydada Junior High School.
Correctly identifying Alldredge were: Audrey Spence, Elmer Norrell, Michael Leatherman, Lee Moss, and Betsy Dempsey, all of Floydada, and Sterling Cummings of Lockney.

FLOYDADA WHOZIT — This fellow, one of Floydada's best known citizens, should be recognized by more than a few people. A pipe in his mouth would make the Whozit even easier to identify. If you would like to guess, please contact The Hesperian [983-3737] Monday through Wednesday.

Floyd Citizens At Conservation Event

Several Floyd County citizens attended the 1979 Awards Program and Banquet for Region I Tuesday night at the University Center at Texas Tech in Lubbock.
Local Soil and Water Conservation district directors attending the awards banquet were G.L. Fawver, R.G. Dunlap, Junior Taylor and Mrs. Taylor, Herman King and Mrs. King. Guests attending with the directors were Mr. and Mrs. Nick Davidson of Lubbock and Jon L. La Baume and James Cox. Soil Conservation Service personnel in Floydada, and the district's bookkeeper, N.S. Abbott and Mrs. Abbott.
Regional I consists of 47 South Plains and Panhandle counties and 269 people from this area attended the awards banquet to honor those "who have done an outstanding job in conservation."
Master of ceremonies was Frank Gray, chairman of the Texas State Soil and Water Conservation Board, welcome was given by Dr. Wayland Bennett, associate dean, school of Agricultural Sciences, Texas Tech University, and presentation of awards was by Charles Wood, vice president of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Jesters Tour
Tornado Area

Mr. and Mrs. A.D. Jester and their daughter, Lois Hodges of Lubbock, left Sunday April 22 for a week long trip through tornado stricken Vernon and several Oklahoma towns.
Mr. Jester reports that they crossed the tornado line several times in the Vernon area and viewed much of the destruction. Torrential rains in parts of the country have left "water seeping out of the ground" and the creeks are full and some overflowing their banks.
The trio spent two nights at Texhoma Lake in Oklahoma and visited many friends and relatives in Broken Bow, Oklahoma, McAlister and near Fort Smith, Arkansas.
They returned home Sunday April 29, from a very enjoyable trip.

Seal Coating County Road Due In 1980

The State Highway and Public Transportation Commission has approved the 1980 Rehabilitation and State Highway Safety and Betterment and Farm to Market Road Improvement Program in the amount of $11,120,000.

George C. Wall Jr., district engineer of Lubbock, says work to be performed in District Five includes seal coating 23.1 miles in Floyd County. This work is to be done on State Highway 207 from the Briscoe County line to US Highway 70 in Floydada.

Cost of this project is anticipated to be $217,000.

SENSE of humor remains with Wichita Falls residents despite the fact that many lost all their possessions in a tornado earlier this year. Sign on this ravaged house displays the attitude of some victims. — Photo courtesy Tommy Baxter

I hated myself fat & every new year I promised to really get with it & lose; however it never happened. Finally my doctor advised me, tactfully, to stay out of his office until I decided to lose weight. He just couldn't help me. Out of desperation, not believing, I called for a courtesy treatment, at Pat Walker's. This was the turning point in my life, with a 51 pound loss & several inches; I began to enjoy my life with my friends & family, especially my 3 grandchildren. The Pat Walker program gave me a positive approach to every day living.

Record World Cotton Crop Seen

A record world cotton crop of 64.4 million bales is in prospect for the 1979-80 cotton year, according to economists at Cotton Incorporated.

If growing conditions continue to be favorable as the year progresses, the crop should exceed the previous record crop of 64.3 million bales in 1974, they say.

Meanwhile, say the Cotton Incorporated analysts, world cotton use should reach a level of about 62.3 million bales in the upcoming cotton year that begins August 1, a 300,000-bale increase over this year's estimated use of 62 million bales.

Lawrence Shaw, CI associate director for supply economics, says nearly 14 million bales of cotton are likely to be produced in the United States this year.

"While changes in cotton prices and the prices of alternative crops have probably reduced the number of acres planted to cotton from the amount likely at the first of the year," Shaw says, "moisture conditions in the Southwest support the likelihood of better-than-average yields and lower-than-average abandonment."

As of late March, Shaw adds, it appears that 13.8 million acres will be planted to cotton in the United States this year, up 400,000 acres from last year. "All of the increase will be in the West and Southwest," he adds. "Due to the recent strength of soybean prices, producers in the Mid-South are now expected to reduce cotton from 1978 levels while cotton acreage in the Southeast will be little changed."

World cotton supply in the 1979-80 marketing year will also be boosted by a significant increase in foreign production, Shaw reports. "All signs point to a 1.5 million bale increase in the foreign crop in 1978-79," he says.

Looking at the picture for cotton consumption, Daniel Troxler, associate director for demand economics, says textile mill production is good at this time but the likelihood of a downturn in the general economy could dim textile business prospects for the last half of this year and early 1980.

"Even a mild recession restricts fiber use, including cotton, by mills," Troxler adds. "Consequently, domestic mill consumption of cotton in 1979-80 is likely to decline 300,000 bales, to 6 million bales.

"This decrease in cotton use may be tempered, however, since synthetic fiber producers recently increased prices and indicated that further increases were likely. The Iranian political situation has spurred oil prices and synthetic fiber manufacturing costs upward. In contrast to a year ago, when cheap prices were being used to encourage the substitution of synthetics for cotton, impending higher synthetic fiber prices could benefit cotton use in 1979-80."

Troxler said foreign cotton use in 1978-79 is estimated at a record level of 55.7 million bales, up 1.2 million bales from last year. Foreign cotton consumption in 1979-80 is expected to show a modest increase of about 500,000 bales.

"An economic slowdown in the United States would be felt in many parts of the world," Troxler notes, "however, most foreign industrialized nations appear to have the business momentum to withstand most of the effects of a mild recession in this country."

While projected increases in foreign cotton production could cut into demand overseas for U.S. cotton, Troxler says, another good year of U.S. cotton exports seems to be shaping up for 1979-80. As of now, he says, the potential for U.S. cotton exports in the upcoming cotton market year is seen around 6 million bales, the same as this year's strong estimated shipments.

The Cotton Incorporated economists say 1979-80 supply and demand forecasts make it appear very likely that cotton prices at harvest this year will be lower than current quotations. In such a year, they say, it is especially important that cotton producers develop marketing plans along with their planting plans.

Energy Needs 'Challenge'

Meeting America's growing energy needs will be one of the nation's greatest challenges, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said.

Per capita energy use has risen 35 percent in the U.S. over the past 10 years, he noted. By 1985, it is estimated the nation's annual energy requirements will be nearly double those of 1971, and by the year 2000 will have almost tripled.

"As competition for energy becomes more intense, we must maintain our sense of priorities," Brown commented. "Adequate energy, whether it be electricity, natural gas, diesel fuel or gasoline, must be available to those industries of greatest importance to the nation's well-being."

He added that the agriculture industry must be placed at the top of the energy priority list.

WINDBREAKS RELIEVE ENVIRONMENTAL STRESS ON SPRING PLANTED VEGETABLES

Young tomato and pepper plants usually wilt to some degree soon after being transplanted into the garden. Imagine the shock to a tender tomato plant that began life in a warm, humid greenhouse, when it is suddenly uprooted from a pleasant environment, planted in cold soil, buffeted by strong, dry West Texas wind all afternoon and "treated" to 12 hours of temperatures ranging from 40 to 50 degrees.

It is no wonder that its stem turns purple, its leaves droop and it gets that ragged look. This plant may take weeks to recover and begin to grow again.

Next to a spring frost, wind is the worst enemy of young vegetables especially tomatoes and peppers. Contrary to popular belief, the tomato plant cannot be hardened to cold or to wind desiccation. So, it makes sense to give it all the protection that you can until the weather calms down.

There are many ways to protect transplants and seedlings from the wind and cold. Hotcaps are reinforced waxed paper domes which are set over young plants or newly seeded crops like squash and melons and anchored down with soil around the edges. You must cut a little hole in the side of the hotcap away from the prevailing wind to keep the temperature from rising too high inside the hotcap.

A cage can be constructed from concrete reinforcing wire and wrapped in plastic film, then placed over the tomato plant to shelter it from wind, cold, and hail while letting in most of the sunlight.

Placing tin cans (with the top and bottom cut out) over the plants is not recommended because the sides of the can shade the plant. Only the upper leaves get enough light. The plant stretches toward the light coming through the top of the can. Soon, the leaves reach the rim and are whipped about by the wind.

Empty plastic bottles (the transparent kind used for milk and distilled water) make good plant covers. Be absolutely sure to cut the top off just above the handle to allow ventilation during the day.

Just breaking the force of the wind will be very helpful to the survival and early growth of newly set vegetable plants or seedlings that have just recently emerged. Shakes (the kind used on roofs) or shingles stuck upright in the soil about six inches to the southwest of a newly set plant will shelter it from the hot, dry afternoon wind. Rows of temporary windbreaks can be set up in small gardens using shakes, snow fence or scrap lumber.

The idea is to stop only about half of the wind volume and let half pass through the windbreak. Each successive rank of wind-break material will further slow down the wind speed until the air around your tender young vegetables plants will be relatively calm.

Crop Planting Intentions Reveal Production Plans

Strong interest in cotton, soybeans and sunflowers has been reflected in the latest survey of producer's planting intentions, the Texas Department of Agriculture has announced.

Wheat Harvest Placed At 150 Million Bushels

Texas wheat producers are expected to harvest some 150.3 million bushels this year, almost twice the small 1978 crop, but still below the 1977 level, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Brown said the latest Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service surveys show increases in all wheat-growing areas, but that expected production would still be 10 per cent below that of 1977.

Many farmers cut back on their planting last year in response to low prices and in compliance with the government's set-aside program. The 1978 yield was 54 million bushels.

The prospects are good for the growth of wheat this year.

Tornado damage to crops in the Wichita Falls and Vernon areas has not been assessed as yet. There are around 200,000 acres of wheat planted in Wilbarger and Wichita counties each year, Brown said.

In an annual survey by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, the total planted acreage will increase in both upland and American Pima cotton, wheat, soybeans, peanuts and sunflowers.

In addition to sorghum and corn, acreage is expected to be less for rice, oats, barley, potatoes, and sweet potatoes, the survey indicated.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown stressed that this is an initial survey taken to provide farmers with information that can help them shape their plans for the season. The acreage could change as weather, fuel costs and marketing conditions dictate.

If full intentions are realized, the Upland cotton crop could be the largest since 1955 with 7.6 million acres in the planting.

Soybean prices have improved in the past year, Brown said, and could be a major influence in the increased acreage which could make a 1.1-million-acre record for Texas.

"Reports from Brazil, a large producer of soybeans for the world market, show that their crop this year has been diminished by adverse weather. That should increase the demand for American soybeans," Brown added.

"In the past, farmers have experienced insect and harvesting problems in sunflower production, but management practices are improving the outlook for successful yields. The demand has risen nationwide for sunflower oil also," Brown said.

This year's sorghum crop could be the smallest since 1949 with 5.2 million acres expected. Corn acreage is estimated to be down to 1.5 million acres.

Wheat seedings are up 2 per cent from 1978, but are still less than the acreage for 1977.

With low sugar prices, sugarbeet acreage is expected to total 22,000 acres, a decrease of 21 per cent from 1978.

FILL 'ER UP — Texas Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown and State Rep. Dan Kubial's plan a gasoline demonstration recently. The project, sponsored by the Texas Department of Agriculture, provided free gasoline for a number of the legislature and state employees to promote the agricultural industry.

HOG NUMBERS INCREASE — Hog production should continue to be strong although marketing is increasing, says a marketing specialist with the Agricultural Extension Service, A&M University System, because Choice steer prices are exceeding pork prices by hundred-weight.

We are "encouraged" that potentially damaging commodity research funds and Commodity Credit Corporation credits, proposed in the President's budget, will be restored by the House Agricultural Appropriations Subcommittee and will have a reasonable chance of survival in the full Appropriations Committee and on the House floor.

This was how officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Lubbock, felt April 25 on their return from Washington, D.C. where they attended a two-day meeting of the Cotton Producer Steering Committee and joined that group in registering opposition to a cut of $3.42 million in agricultural research funds for 1980. Almost half that amount, $1,640,000 would come from research on cotton and cottonseed.

"In view of the overall increase of 7.7 percent in the President's budget," points out PCG Executive Donald Johnson, "we think it unfair that agriculture be singled out for such a drastic research cut. Moreover," he adds, "it seems equally inequitable for almost half the total reduction to come out of cotton money."

CCC credits, if the President has his way would be almost in half. "These are vital to cotton exports," Johnson argues, "and are used for interest bearing loans with an excellent record of repayment, so in the long run they cost the government nothing."

The High Plains area is particularly upset by the proposed research fund reduction because it is almost certain that approval of the President's budget as it was sent to Congress would result in the loss of approximately $170,000 of Federal funds for the 15-year-old PCG Boll Weevil Control Program. The program is conducted each year under a matching funds agreement with USDA's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service.

"So a loss of $170,000 in Federal funds in effect would reduce moneys available for the weevil program by a total of $340,000," notes Ed Dean, PCG Field Service Director. "And such a loss would seriously endanger the effectiveness of a joint producer-government program that has kept the boll weevil off the High Plains and out of Texas, New Mexico and Arizona cotton since 1964."

Johnson, Dean, PCG President Lloyd Cline of Lubbock and Board Chairman W. B. Criswell of Idalou, while in Washington met with Congressman Jack Hightower of Vernon, Kent Hance of Lubbock, Charles Stenholm of Stamford, and visited the offices of Texas Senators John Tower and Lloyd Bentsen. All expressed support for restoring boll weevil control other agricultural research funds and CCC credit money.

Hightower, a member of the Agricultural Appropriations Subcommittee, voiced confidence that the budget would reflect his support when it comes from the Subcommittee.

Each of the three Congressmen has counties in his district that are involved in and/or protected by the boll weevil program.

Early Childhood Learning Festival Tuesday

Bring A Kid And A Kite — The Sky's The Limit

A "kite-fly" will be the opening event of the first Early Childhood Learning Festival to be held in the area. The festival is being sponsored by the Caprock Education Cooperative. Children from Petersburg, Lockney, Floydada and the surrounding area are expected to fill the air with kites between 5 and 7 o'clock, Tuesday, May 8, at Della Plains School in Floydada as the festival begins.

Other activities are planned "to make the evening a happy and profitable one for both children and parents."

The Mize Musical Puppeteers will be performing through-out the entire evening. The troupe of puppets are directed by Mrs. Jan Mize, speech pathologist of Lockney.

The local chapter of Future Teachers of America, sponsored by Mrs. Peggy Neeley will serve as volunteers for kite flying. "Parents who feel this activity is too strenuous for them may sit back and watch how it's done by experts."

ROMPER ROOM

The FTA is also in charge of the gymnasium romper room under the supervision of Mrs. Neeley and Mrs. Iida Vasquez, Floydada Early Childhood aide. This area will include tumbling activities, finger painting, and drawing, and wheel toy races.

Picnic type food will be sold at reasonable prices by the Floydada VEH class under the direction of Mrs. Joyce Williams. The menu will feature sandwiches, home baked cookies, pop corn and soft drinks.

A cradle room will be provided for children under two years of age. The space is being contributed by the Floydada Day Care program, under the direction of Mrs. Betty Fuller.

CHILD DEVELOPMENT

While children are enjoying these activities, their parents will have an opportunity to listen to discussions concerning child development. Dr. Tom Jones and Dr. Julie Jones will offer short sessions on practical teaching methods for pre-school children.

Dr. Julie Jones will discuss behavior management and language development. Dr. Tom Jones will talk on the subject of self-help skills needed before school. The young couple is from Lubbock. They are working with the College of Education at Texas Tech University.

They have conducted successful workshops in this region and are well known for their vigorous and energetic presentations. The Drs. Jones are sponsored by Child Serve Region XVI.

Sessions will begin at 7 and 7:45 p.m. Also of interest to parents will be a showing of a video-tape of Early Childhood students from Lockney, Petersburg, and Floydada. These films were taken by Sonny Holmes in a classroom setting and show the sort of developmental activities involved in the Early Childhood Curriculum. Teachers of the groups pictured are Gean Christopher, Floydada; Jean Slocum, Petersburg; and Vickie Schaffer, Lockney.

The Floydada Four-year-old Migrant Program will be featuring a continuous slide presentation showing students that are enrolled in the current program. Mrs. Shelia Phillips of Lubbock is the program instructor.

MOVIES FOR PARENTS

Reggie Eure will be presenting two movies of particular interest to parents. They are "Free to Be You and Me" and "Resolving Conflict Between Parents and Children." Ms. Eure is caseworker with the Department of Human Resources.

Registration at the door will be in charge of Vickie Schaffer, Mary Martinez, aide, Migrant 4, and Maria Arellano, aide, Early Childhood, Lockney. In conjunction with registration, all children between the ages of two and six will be asked to register for a free airplane ride.

The winner will be permitted to invite his parents as his guests. The plane ride is contributed by Brown Flying Service.

Kites and string will be sold on the school grounds but children who have their own kites may use them. Mrs. Jean Slocum will conduct the sales.

Any questions concerning the festival may be directed to the publicity and community involvement committee. Contact Mrs. Beth Faulkenberry, speech pathologist, Floydada; Mrs. Mary Degge, Caprock Cooperative Counselor, Lockney; or Mrs. Sue Swearingen of Floydada.

CHILDREN INVITED

All children in the area between the ages of two and six are invited. Each child should be accompanied by an adult. All activities will be continuous so that all may come and go at times that are convenient with the home schedule. Casual clothing will be suitable.

"It is hoped that community support will make this festival an exciting event for both children and parents," sponsors say.
