Honors Retiring Employees At Dinner

Employees of Acco Seed and employees gave Dickson a slide projector, Richardson a stationary bicycle-exerciser, and Webb a watch. The wives were given Art's Originals birdhouses personalized with the family name and length of service with the company.

Dioger, manager of production and processing.

Acco Seed and employees gave Dickson a slide projector, Richardson a stationary bicycle-exerciser, and Webb a watch. The wives were given Art's Originals birdhouses personalized with the family name and length of service with the company.

Frank P. Dickson was sales manager of Paymaster Cotton Seed when he retired. He began his 43 years of service in Temple in 1936 with Southland Cotton Oil Company after attending a business college in Waco. His first job with Southland was as a secretary, weigher and clerk. He transferred to the Corsicana Oil Mill in 1949. In 1953 he became mill manager. Dickson transferred to Paymaster in 1965. He says that his earlier training as a seed buyer was good experience for his job as cotton seed sales manager.

Dickson and his wife Virginia will move from the Acco farm to Albuquerque, New Mexico, Monday. Their "five reasons for moving to Albuquerque" are his son Frank Jr., his wife and three children who are residents of that city. The Dicksons also have a daughter, Mrs. Steve Saines who lives in Annandale, Virginia, with her husband and two children.

Bob Richardson
Bob Richardson will be moving with his wife Sybil to Mt. Vernon on Lake Cypress Springs, but will be available as a consultant for another year. His position was general manager of the southwest operation of Acco Seed division of Anderson-Clayton.

His 42 years of service began in Oklahoma City in 1937 when he was hired as a scale clerk by Southland Cotton Oil Company. In 1958 he transferred to Jackson, Mississippi, with Southland and worked 3 1/2 years in soybean research and as assistant mill manager.

From Mississippi he moved to Lubbock to do research in soybeans and safflower. Richardson moved to Aiken in 1961 as business manager for Paymaster Seed Farms. From 1967 to 1977 he was in Belmont, Iowa, as director of production and processing of corn, cotton and sorghum.

Mrs. and Mrs. Richardson have three children: Carolyn Cobb, R.J. Jr. and Reuel, all of Dallas, who have given them two grandchildren.

Granvel Webb
Grain sorghum processing plant manager Granvel Webb retires after 22 years in that position. Webb and his wife Jo live in Lockney on West Locust Street. He began employment with Paymaster/Acco in October, 1951, with the delinting plant. He was then employed at the gin for one year, and worked four years as a hand on the Acco farm at Aiken.

Since 1957 when he was put in charge of storing and processing grain sorghum seed, he has supervised the construction and helped build the storage units pictured in a large, colored aerial view of the farm that was given to him at the retirement party. He had asked for the picture as a memento of his years with Acco.

Granvel and Jo Webb are parents of four children and they have one grandchild, Coy Holley. The children are Linda Holley, Ruby Wardlow of Plainview, Randy Webb and Arlene Anderson of Amherst. Linda and her son Coy and Randy live with the Webbs, although Randy is employed in Plainview.

Webb likes to fish, but also hopes to spend some of his retirement time repairing and refinishing old furniture.

Cooperatives Manager Resigns

Directors Seek Replacement

Lockney Cooperatives manager Rainey Davis submitted his resignation during a meeting of the board of directors Saturday morning.

Manager since September of 1974, Davis explained to the directors that his family is homesick and wants to return to Georgia.

Davis plans to remain with the Cooperatives until a new manager can be hired and acquainted with the business.

However Martha Davis and daughter, Kim, 11, will be leaving for Atlanta at least by mid-August so that Kim can be there in time to enroll in school. Martha will resume her career in real estate, re-joining the firm in which she worked before coming to Lockney.

Davis expects to become an independent cattle buyer when he returns to Georgia.

The board of directors met Monday night to make plans for securing a replacement for Mr. Davis. Word of the need for a new manager went out Tuesday to cooperatives, so it is still too early for applications to have been received.

Board president W.J. Lee said Thursday night that Rainey Davis is respected both in Lockney and in cooperative circles, and that no discord exists in the board, with management or with employees. He added that while the board accepted the resignation with regrets, the board members wish Davis well as he goes to his new home.

Lockney Cooperatives has 392 farmers members, and is either the "second or third largest cooperative in the state" according to Mr. Lee. The organization's fiscal year ended March 31 with a record net of over a million dollars. Lee praised Davis for taking Lockney Cooperatives from a weak to a sound financial position in the five years since he came to Lockney.

The cooperatives operate two gins in Lockney and one in Sterley, elevator points in Lockney, Sterley and South Plains, and owns a 30,000 head capacity feed lot north of Lockney. Seed, feed, chemicals and fertilizer are sold through the elevator department.

LOCKNEY VARSITY cheerleaders display some of the Watkins products they are currently selling for a fund-raising project. They have pepper, vanilla, barbecue sauce and cinnamon available, and can order household and gift

Public Invited To Attend Dress Revue

Girls in Lockney 4-H Club will conclude their clothing project work with the county dress revue Tuesday afternoon.

The public is invited to attend the event which will be held this year in the home-making cottage on the north side of Lockney High School. The dress revue with modeling by each girl completing a garment, will begin at 3 o'clock. Judging will be conducted an hour earlier.

Punch and cookies will be served afterwards.

Kay Williams and Sharon Kinard have been adult leaders for the project, assisted by Darlene Broseh, junior leader. The clothing project is about 20 hours of instruction in classes and the dress revue. The girls were taught sewing, proper construction and selection of ready-made garments, price comparison, proper accessories, recycling of old garments, modeling, personal grooming, coordinating garments in a wardrobe, differences in natural and synthetic materials, and selection of fabric for specific uses.

Girls participating in the project have been the following: Lisa Terrell, Rachelle Ford, Sherre Kinard, Amy Mize, junior I (ages 9-11); Elizabeth Guerrero, Belinda Vasquez, Heather Holt, Libby Williams, Crissy Carthel, junior II (ages 12-14), and Jill Whitfill, senior (14 and over).

Sales Tax Rebates Announced

AUSTIN, Tex. — Texas cities shared $218 million in rebates from the one-percent optional city sales tax during the first six months of this year. State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday in announcing the city's June tax allocations. Lockney's check will be for $6,256.54, compared to last year's $5,362.32 June rebate. Lockney's 1978 payment to date have been $18,035.83, three percent higher than last year's $17,449.51

In Again-Out Again Merle Mooney Here To Stay

by Felicia Applewhite
There is no better way of spending a fine, spring morning than by taking the first paved road west off the Lockney-Rock Creek Highway to the C.L. Mooney home.

Merle Mooney herself in morning dress will answer the ring of the door bell. Cheerfulness punctuates the flow of her talk from the time of your entrance to her house.

She has just returned from a "hectic club convention" you find out as she ushers you into a redecorated, refurbished family room made not long ago by knocking the partition out between the living room and dining room.

"I have always wanted a place to entertain," she says after you say that you love the room.

"This room is for entertainment and for comfortable living," she continues. "We have had all our children here at one time. We had such a good time Labor Day. It was the first time for all three of my children to be together after they were all married."

"We have also had the church board dinner meeting here as well as the Business and Professional Women's Club."

She has been a member of the Business and Professional Women's Club since 1960. It's a membership that means "so much because of the many friends." At the recent state meeting, she was the registration co-chairman, the "work horse" of the group.

"The year Mike and I married, I was the District Director. The district reached from Lubbock to Perryton. Mike went with me in visiting each club in the district. They named him "Mr B and PW."

Her membership as a professional woman was due to her position as a public school teacher. For 20 years she taught various subjects in the Lockney public schools but is now leaving the teaching profession. She handed her statement of resignation to the school board at the end of this school year.

Merle has spent most of her life around Lockney. Of her early years, she says, "My father had an itching foot that made him rather a nomad." She named the various moves her family made during his lifetime. "He was killed by an accidental, gun-shot wound in 1937 while we lived in Oregon. He was out hunting."

"I started to school in San Angelo. Dad was a brick mason there. Things were going well for us until the crash of 1929. Over night he lost everything. We stayed on there until 1931 before we came back to Lockney to my grandfather's place." The grandparents had come to Floyd County in 1900 and had first lived in a dug-out.

"When we came back, I started in the fourth grade at the Roseland School. J.B. Allen, who had taught my mother and father, was my teacher."

In the 5th grade, she had Elizabeth Easley who became Mrs. George Myers, her aunt.

The next move was to a rented farm in the Muncy community. She finished the fifth and sixth grades there.

"One thing I remember about Muncy. We played marbles. We even had marble tournaments. My sister and I rode an old horse to school. We wore pants over our dresses. When we got to school, we went behind an old pot-bellied stove to pull the pants off."

Once again they moved back to the home place near South Plains. They were not there long until they moved to Chama, New Mexico.

"In Chama, Dad worked with Mother's brother. It was during the worst part of the depression. Those were difficult years for everyone."

I finished the 7th grade in Chama and began freshman work in high school. Our move to Chama was in April. It was easy to adjust. Others our age used to say, "Let's hear you talk Texas."

Summer in Chama was beautiful. The people were so friendly. There was a dynamic, young pastor who knew how to get along with youth.

"In Chama, we had some cows, so we rode horses. Our job was to herd the cows across from the Chama River. We rode horses all summer — just lived on them. It was real fun to swim the horses across the river. I had an old horse named Nell that wouldn't let another horse get ahead of her."

"We lived in Chama one year then moved back to South Plains. Even though South Plains had only eleven grades, they had graduation exercises for those who finished the eleven grades. They also had senior trips."

"I finished top in my class. For our senior trip, 17 of us got on a bus bound for Carlsbad Caverns. Bea Phegley and Wayne Coleman were our sponsors. The highlight of the trip was getting to spend the night in a hotel."

For her high school senior year, she rode a bus to Lockney. Frank Brown drove the bus. It was a 60-mile a day bus ride. Each one brought his own lunch in a lunch pail.

"Eunice Coleman was basketball coach at Lockney High School. Mary Leeta McAdams was homemaking teacher. That was why I became interested. Willie Merle Halthcock was senior English teacher. Somewhere during this time, we moved to town in the house Mother lives in now."

"Willie Merle Halthcock told me if I wanted to badly enough I could go to college. I believe her. Since Merle was the top of her class, she was given a scholarship. Willie Merle Halthcock helped her to get a job. The week after graduation she went to Canyon to college. Her grandparents helped. "Everyone was having a struggle. I thought I was doing great."

"I was a member of Alpha Chi honor society and was president one year. We had one lovely trip to San Antonio that I will never forget..."

It so happened that Lockney was in desperate need of teachers in 1942, so she became a teacher at Lockney for two years. Her students were about three years younger than she. Barry Barker, R.V. Webster, Charles Whitfill, Bryon Ford, R. L. Knox and the Dagley twins were some of her students. They were all "so full of fun."

"All of them still say that they paid R.V. to eat my fish and that I cried."

"One thing that I won't forget — we had this big sink in the back of the room. During noon, someone filled the sink with water. Then sodium was wrapped with theme paper and put in the water. The paper had just enough time to dissolve by class by class time. When the class began, a white smoke boiled up from the back of the room."

When it came time for a senior trip, they loaded into a cattle truck and went for a day and night to Palo Duro Canyon. This was war time and gas was rationed.

Once again she was to leave Lockney. This time as the bride of commissioned officer Ben Brotherton, who had just come home from a bombing mission in Europe. After their marriage, they were first sent to California for a "wonderful two weeks." Then they went to Peyote, Texas, where all the B-29's were stationed. Their first child, Bob, was born there in the base hospital. Their hospital bill was $13.

After the war, among the first to be discharged was Ben. He decided to go back to Canyon for his degree. He then took his masters at Texas A & M before accepting a position at Bozeman, Montana State Agriculture College in the agriculture department.

When Ben Brotherton was called back into the service because of the Korean War, Merle again became a teacher in the Lockney school system.

"In 1952, I taught fifth grade math, sixth grade reading and eighth grade civics. I had Kay Williams and those of her class that worked so well in the sixth grade. I had to study harder than the kids did."

From Montana to Colorado to Washington D.C. the Brotherton family moved. Now there were three children with the births of Debbie and David.

Then in 1960 Merle came back into the Lockney school system as "one-half homemaking teacher" and freshman English.

"I had Paul Barker, Dennis Griffith and Larry Golden as the fun makers."

Larry told Johnny Lewis to set off a stink bomb in the room and Johnny was about to be punished. Larry confessed and took the punishment."

Finally, the years "just sort of ran together." Sometimes it was homemaking, then it was health, then it was typing and so on.

At last Supt. John Peck asked Merle to certify for librarian and she did in the following summer.

As a librarian, she notes the trend that has brought about criticism of schools in the basic skills. "Libraries are bombarded with high interest-low reading level literature. Many best sellers are fourth grade reading level."

You'll find while visiting with Merle that retirement plans include travel and entertainment — a full and active life. To begin with she and Mike have six children and have grandchildren. Their children are all graduates from high school and college.

"When I came back to Lockney from Washington, D.C., I could never have made it on my own. Then it was that I became impressed by the closeness of the people of Lockney."

"The highlight in my life is getting to know Mike. We have been very happy since our marriage on May 31, 1975."

Future plans certainly include time away from Lockney, but you don't have to talk to Merle long before you are aware her heart is where she calls home, which is a place for "entertainment and comfortable living."

MERLE MOONEY is pictured near the desk in the high school library.

Album

Our wedding day! We all have cherished memories. In fact, the one thing no one can take away from you is your memories. Which is true . . . but also just a little sad.
 Sad, because memories are another word for the past. Fine in its place. But we need to live today, and to look toward tomorrow.
 So, don't linger over the snapshot album too long, don't bog yourself down in what was. Get in the mainstream, here and now! A great place for a launching is in the Church.

Owen and Kathleen Thornton spent Friday through Monday at Clovis, New Mexico, with his cousin, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thornton. They all attended the Thornton family reunion.
Tom Taylor of Alto, New Mexico, and a former Lockney resident were in Lockney Wednesday to visit his in-laws, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Lee Smith, and to pick up his horses.
Tom is a newly-licensed real estate salesman associated with Lincoln County Real Estate in Ruidoso, New Mexico.

Team Wins Two

The Lockney 15 and 16-year-old baseball team stands 5-3 for the season after picking up two wins from three games this past week.
 Coach Roy Turley and Coach David Quisenberry's boys beat New Deal Saturday night in a make-up game. Score was 11-3 as every man crossed home plate once. Victor Villalon was winning pitcher and also hit a home run.
 Troy Turley and Lon were pitched Saturday night in another game. New Deal, Lockney 11-8.
 Next game for the Monday night at 8 p.m.

Ty Williams Show Grand Champion

Jerry and Kay Williams, Ty, Libby and Matt participated in the Texas Angus state field day activities at Schulenburg Friday and Saturday of last week.
 The events were held on the Rosharon Farms. Junior Angus association members, ages 9 through 20, held a heifer show. Matt's calf was first in its class; Libby's was reserve champion, and Ty's was grand champion.
 In the showmanship contest, Libby was second, and Ty was awarded second in the fitting contest.
 A five-mile hayride to the creek and a wiener roast Friday night concluded the youth activities.

Wilson Daughters Have 4.0 Grade Point

Lesia Aaron and Melinda Thompson, daughters of Chuck and Joyce Wilson of Lockney, both had 4.0 grade averages for the spring semester at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.
 The young women's grade point averages entitle them to be listed on the Dean's Honor Roll.
 Lesia is married to Joel Jeffrey Thompson, who is a sophomore, and Melinda is a sophomore, and both are registered nursing students at the university.

Mrs. Christy Vincent

Monty Meriwether, Christy Vincent Marry June 9

A double ring ceremony read at 7:30 p.m. Saturday, June 9 united in marriage Miss Christy Vincent and Mr. Monty Meriwether. The Rev. Hugh B. Daniel of Quannah United Methodist Church officiated the candlelight service. The newly-married couple's parents are J. D. and Jean Vincent, and Doug and Donnie Meriwether, all of Lockney.

The altar area of the church was decorated with two spiral candelabras and a candle arch trimmed in daisies, pink carnations and greenery. Pink bows were attached to the pews, marking the aisle. The candles were lit by Angie Shurbet of Floydada, cousin of the groom; Pam Bradley of Lubbock and Beth Risley of Amarillo. Angie's dress was of a mauve-colored satinback material with a gathered yoke and a self-belt tied at the waist. She wore a half garland of daisies and carnations. The other candlelighters were silver satinback dresses styled identically to those of the bridesmaids, and their flowers were wristlets of daisies and carnations.

Wedding Ring Ceremony Unites Couple

The groom's mother wore an orchid chiffon dress with three quarter sleeves and orchid corsage. The bride's mother's dress was a pastel green print chiffon with a red rose border accent. She had a red rose corsage. Best man was Otis B. Scott, uncle of the groom, of Graham. Groomsman were Allan Draper of Dallas, Mark Dempsey of Breckenridge, and Sam Walker Jr., also of Breckenridge.

Robert Jackson, brother of the bride of Fort Worth; Bryan Jackson, brother of the bride, of Paradise; David Beamon, brother-in-law of the groom of Graham; and Tommy Edmondson, brother-in-law of Arlington, served as ushers. Candlelighters were Bryan Jackson, brother of the bride, and Tommy Edmondson, brother-in-law of the groom.

Following a wedding trip to Acapulco, the couple will live in Paradise during the summer and in Joshua in the fall, where each will teach. The bride is a 1978 graduate of Tarleton State University, was girls basketball and track coach at Rider High School in Wichita Falls the 1978-79 school year. The groom is a 1979 graduate of Tarleton State, an Industrial Education major.

Guests were registered by Kellye Ford. The bride was attended by matron of honor Mrs. Laura Wilson, bridesmaids Mrs. Kristie Tooley of Slaton, Mrs. Cindy Miller of Houston and Mrs. Barbara Hunter of Arlington. Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Hunter are the bride's sisters. Their daughters, Andria Miller quiana knit. The Victoria neckline was outlined in pearls and embellished with lace flower motifs which also were sewn on the long sleeves of the dress. The sleeves had pointed wrist cuffs. The train was fastened at the shoulders of the dress with gathers.

Her veil of illusion was caught by a Juliet cap embroidered with pearls and accented with pink carnations and daisies. The bride's bouquet was a lace nosegay holding cymbidium orchids surrounded by daisies and English ivy, enhanced with gypsophila and lace streamers.

Rusty Wilson was best man, and groomsman were Tim McCain, Lawny Cannon of Lubbock and Johnny Doran. Serving as ushers were Shannon Shurbet of Floydada, cousin of the groom; Robert Murdoch of Lubbock and Randy Wilson of Leveland. Ring bearer was the bride's nephew, Brad Hunter of Arlington.

The male attendants and the fathers of the bride and groom wore silver Chaucer tuxedos. The groom's tux was of the same style but had "tails". All wore pink carnation boutonnières. The mother of the bride wore a long dress of deep rose quiana. Her corsage was of pale pink carnations. The groom's mother was gowned in a long dress of pale pink quiana. Her corsage was of deep pink carnations.

Given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Vincent was dressed in white quiana knit. The Victoria neckline was outlined in pearls and embellished with lace flower motifs which also were sewn on the long sleeves of the dress. The sleeves had pointed wrist cuffs. The train was fastened at the shoulders of the dress with gathers.

Miss Leatherman Honored

Miss Stacy Leatherman, bride-elect of Mike Reeves, was honored with a gift tea Thursday evening, June 14, in the home of Mrs. Robert Garrett.

Guests were greeted by Mrs. Garrett. In the receiving line with the honoree were Mrs. Jerry Leatherman, mother of the bride-elect, and Mrs. Russell Reeves, mother of the prospective groom. Miss Leatherman wore a corsage of pale blue daisies, and mothers of the honored couple wore corsages of blue carnations. Miss Angie Turner presided at the guest register. Special guests were Mrs. C.M. Leatherman and Mrs. Floyd Anderson, grandmothers of the bride-to-be. Refreshments of frozen banana punch, dainty tea cook-

Know the Splendor of being Slender

Take a tip from golf enthusiast Margaret Moore: Pat Walker's can give you the sure stroke you need to drive straight through to a winning figure. She writes:
"Since joining Pat Walker's... I have lost 21 1/4 pounds and 25 1/2 inches. I had tried fad diets on and off for years but always gained back all the weight I had lost. At Pat Walker's there are no strict, rigid diets—you learn to eat sensibly in a way that you can live with to keep the weight off."
"I really look forward to my weekly visits. The [passive exercise] unit used in treatment is very relaxing and does all the work for you; therefore, no strenuous exercises are necessary."
"This, along with the friendly, helpful atmosphere, makes losing weight and inches fun instead of hard work."
Find a lovelier you
If excess weight keeps you from looking and feeling your best, do something nice for yourself: achieve a slender new figure at Pat Walker's—safely, pleasantly and effectively. You'll benefit from these important advantages:
• individualized program to meet your needs
• sensible, healthful eating plan
• trained professional counselors
• complete privacy
• safe passive exercise
• luxurious salons

Floydada, Lockney, Petersburg Youngsters Attend 'Food Fun'

Nineteen students graduated from Lighthouse Electric Cooperative's "Food Fun for Juniors" class this week. The three day cooking school is offered to boys and girls in the fifth and sixth grade. They learn the basics of cooking such as measuring, reading recipes, cooking terms, and kitchen safety. Also taught is good nutrition, meal planning, table setting, manners and proper use of small and large appliances. Energy conservation is also stressed. Graduation certificates were presented to participants by Alton Higginbotham, manager of Light-house Electric Cooperative. Those graduating from Floydada were Anna Leta Bradshaw, Darryl De La Cruz, Maria Garza, Stacey Hillis, Joey Kemp, Benita Martinez, Van Moore, Gwen Smith, Lisa Smith and Greg Thompson. Graduates from Lockney were Betty Kay Cates, Varie Annie Harris, Coy Holley, Amy Mize, Mike Salas, and Susan Stansell. Dana and Dede Watson were from Petersburg.

FLOYD DATA
Mrs. Wesley Adams has returned from a trip to the San Francisco and San Jose areas of California. She was there visiting her sister and other relatives.

Floydada Nursing Home

I spent several days in East Texas visiting with my mother and other members of my family. I really did enjoy the trip. The residents enjoyed having Faye take over for me. We played bingo Monday, and Mammie Gray was our big winner with three games. Mr. Eubanks won two games and Ray Reed, Emmitt Laurence, James Moore, Anis Franks, Clara Murry, Clara Williamson and Victoria Asher won one game each. Tuesday Mammie Gray, Anis Franks, Victoria Asher, Clara Williamson, Mr. Lawrence, Edwina Kenner and I finished four owl wall hangers we had been working on the last two weeks. Wednesday several of the residents went to Matador on the bus. Green Bostick visited with friends. Juanita Bailey had a short visit with her daughter. Anis Franks also visited two of her good

WHOZITS...

THIS YOUNG WOMAN and man were able to put aside their prejudices about the other's hometown long enough to say "I Do." She's from Floydada, and he's from Lockney. He's in the business that is receiving lots of publicity nowadays.

Only One Guess -- And It's Correct

Only one guess came in this past week in the Lockney Whozit "contest."

Only Keith Jackson recognized the young Lowell Bilbrey.

Thomas Warren Was Last Week's Floydada Whozit

The young man in last week's Floydada mystery picture was Thomas Warren, as several persons guessed. Neil Ferguson was the first to correctly identify Warren. Others who guessed the "Whozit" were Monte Covington, Sam Spence, and Duard Reves of Lockney.

Plans For McCoy Reunion

The invitations are in the mail and plans are being made for the annual reunion of McCoy residents and all who formerly lived in that area or attended church there. Two churches and a school originally were just west of the gin-elevator and store area to form the community activities. There was a Baptist and a Methodist church which had services on the "every other Sunday" basis with the members of each attending the other worship services when their preacher was not present. These churches were attended by people from the adjoining communities of Starkey, Blanco, Allamore and others. The annual reunion will be at the Lighthouse Electric kitchen and party room with visiting and registration beginning at 10 a.m. and lunch at 1 p.m. Everyone remind their relatives and former residents of this date in case they have not received a card since it is impossible to have a complete list of names and addresses of everyone involved. Flora McNeill, secretary, urges that you mark July 15 on your calendar for a great day of fun, fellowship and food for all present and past McCoy related persons.

COTTON TALKS
FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, learned June 7 that the 1979 cotton loan rate at High Plains warehouse locations will be 50.35 cents per pound, basis Strict Low Middling inch-and-a-sixteenth, 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire. That's 12 points (.12 cents) above the national average 1979 loan rate of 50.23 cents announced earlier.

The loan rate at various U. S. warehouse locations is adjusted each year to reflect differences in freight rates from each area to mill sites and ports. Last year's average rate was 10 points above the U. S. average, but in 1978 the Lubbock area rate has been from 3 to 5 points below the average.

Premiums and discounts that will apply to cotton grades and below the base quality were announced by USDA in mid-May, revealing increases over last year of 25 points in discounts applicable to a majority of cotton qualities. Discounts on low micronaire cottons are from five points for 3.3 through 3.4 to 40 points and below.

Premiums and discounts assigned to the loan according to USDA, are calculated from spot market quotations for the August through April period of the marketing year.

The chart below shows a comparison of cotton loan values on predominant qualities of High Plains cotton for the 1978 and 1979 crops at High Plains plus a comparison of micronaire discounts.

RESEARCH IS ANSWER: The cotton dust problem requires research, not rules, according to textile executive Morris M. Bryan, president of Jefferson Mills. In a recent speech, Bryan called on the federal government to launch an adequately funded program to eliminate cotton dust as an occupational hazard. He said the problem should be addressed through research rather than the costly and inflationary standard proposed by the Occupational Safety and Health Administration.

CONTROLLING WEEDS IN HOME GARDENS
Weed control in the home garden depends on garden size, kinds of vegetables being grown, and weeding systems. They have been developed for various conditions. Weeds (any unwanted plants) compete with vegetables for soil and nutrients. They have root systems and flourish under various conditions. Effective control of weeds depends on how they spread. Crabgrass and annual weeds survive by seed, while perennial weeds such as bermudagrass and johnsongrass survive both by seed and underground plant parts. Seeds are transmitted by wind, water, or animals. They may also be carried in improperly disposed manure, manure or other organic matter added to the soil. Some weed seeds remain dormant in soil for years. They and other storage parts control weeds by surviving to support weed emergence and are often sunlight. Herbicides or chemical weed control are the least desirable long-term weed control. While they are effective in commercial crop production, they are not enough chemicals to use in home gardens. Also, most herbicides are not safe and successful in home gardens. To reduce the size of the disposal area, Sweeten suggests more runoff storage capacity than the minimum required by the Texas Department of

HOW QUICKLY THEY FORGET! Corn stalks north of Alken where the May-June rainfall was over 13 inches already need to be watered less than two weeks after the last rain. The recent hot, dry winds did nothing to help the plants retain moisture.

Needed: Conservation

More than half of the nation's cropland, forests, pastures and rangeland need increased conservation treatment to reduce soil erosion and improve water quality, Assistant Secretary of Agriculture M. Rupert Cutler said today.

Announcing the first results of a 1977 national inventory of land resources by the department's Soil Conservation Service (SCS), Cutler said nearly 900 million acres of non-federal land need conservation work, about the same as a decade ago.

"But there has been significant changes in the kinds of land needing treatment," he said.

Cropland acres that need conservation treatment declined from 64 percent in 1967 to 58 percent in 1977, he said. But forest lands needing treatment climbed from 62 to 67 percent in the same period, and the pasture and range land needing treatment rose from 71 to 75 percent, Cutler said.

The SCS National Resource Inventories, which cover all non-federal land in Puerto Rico, the Virgin Islands and the United States except Alaska, are being conducted in three phases.

Phase 1 is now complete; phase 2 will be completed later this year, and phase 3, in 1980.

Data was collected by SCS field employees at more than 200,000 sample points.

Other highlights of phase 1:

—The amount of rural land available for farming, ranching, and forestry declined nearly 37 million acres between 1967 and 1977, while the proportion of good, fair and poor agricultural land remained about the same. Of the total rural non-federal land, 414 million acres are fairly level, while 1 billion acres have gentle to very steep slopes. Nearly 270 million acres are wet, while about 402 million acres are droughty or lack enough water to grow agricultural crops or trees. Many of these conditions, singly or in combination, limit the use of land.

—Land available for grazing has increased sharply since 1967, rising to 541 million acres in 1977. Today more than half the non-federal agricultural land is used for native pasture, pastureland or rangeland. There has been a corresponding decline in non-federal forestland.

—Homes, businesses, roads and ponds are swallowing rural land at the rate of about 3 million acres a year. Most of this irreversible change is related to urban expansion. Nearly one-third of the rural land lost to development is cropland. Small water areas increased by more than 1 million acres in the 1967-77 decade.

—Flood prone areas in the non-federal land area of the United States total 175 million acres. Nearly half this land is farmland of good quality for crops.

—There are 42 million acres of wetlands in the United States, of which 97 percent are in uses other than cropland. Forested wetlands account for half the total acreage.

—Average rates of soil erosion on cropland range from less than one ton per acre per year in some states to more than 41 tons per acre in the Caribbean area. Twenty-two states, mainly in the midwest and east, have average annual cropland erosion of 4 tons or more per acre.

How Much Land Area For Feedlot Runoff Disposal?

COLLEGE STATION — How much land area is needed for a Texas feedlot or stockyard to properly dispose of runoff?

Through the use of a computer model, agricultural engineers with Texas A&M University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture have come up with the answer.

The disposal areas required are as follows — same size as the feedlot surface in Far West Texas, twice the feedlot size in the High Plains and West Central Texas, four to five times the feedlot size in the Rolling Plains, Central and South Texas, and nine times the feedlot surface size in East Texas.

"These surface land areas were computed to meet the letter of the law under the worst climatic conditions on record with no secondary discharge," points out Dr. John Sweeten, agricultural engineer in waste management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Sweeten explains that the land areas needed for runoff disposal were calculated from daily rainfall and evaporation data and that feedlot runoff volume was based on 24-hour storms expected to recur only once every 25 years. Three assumptions were made: a 14-day period for dewatering holding ponds; application rate equals evapotranspiration rate; and no deep percolation.

The agricultural engineer also notes that the recommended land areas have some built-in conservatism and that the entire areas would seldom be needed.

To reduce the size of the disposal area, Sweeten suggests more runoff storage capacity than the minimum required by the Texas Department of Byssinosis, an occupational respiratory disease which affects some cotton mill workers, is thought to be caused by inhalation of dust present in cotton mills. The major constituent of these dusts, aside from the cotton fibers themselves, is broken parts of the modified leaves (bracts) below the cotton boll.

Byssinosis Study Released

Scientists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station did a study.

Extracts were prepared at the end of the growing season with field-dried bracts of glanded and glandless varieties. When tested on sheep lungs, both extracts inhibited the lungs' normal response to foreign material.

(The lung has a variety of defenses against invading microorganisms and non-living material. This is evident since vast quantities of air-borne particles enter the lung each day, yet the alveolar spaces of a healthy individual are normally sterile.)

The alveolar macrophages (part of the lining of the bronchial tubes in the lungs), when contacted by invading particles, can rapidly produce a variety of powerful oxidizing agents. These chemicals can react with most invading particles to render them harmless.

However, compounds extracted from cotton bracts evidently inhibit this reaction and weaken lung defenses.

WEEDS
Weeds (any unwanted plants) compete with vegetables for soil moisture and nutrients. They have extensive root systems and flourish under a variety of conditions.

Effective control of weeds depends on how they spread. Crabgrass and annual weeds survive by seeds. Bermudagrass and johnsongrass survive both by seeds and underground plant parts.

Seeds are transmitted by wind, or animals. They may also reach a garden in improperly prepared soil, manure or other organic material added to the soil.

Some weed seeds remain viable in soil for years. They are undisturbed until they are pulled up. This is why or by hand pulling. This is why effective when done regularly and weeds are small.

Mulching makes weed control easier. A three-inch mulch layer (weeds set) controls annual weeds and prevents many weed seeds from reaching light. Also, mulches that do push through are easier to pull out.

Several types of mulches can be used. Grass clippings work well but they do not include weed seeds. Plastic is effective except against grass which readily penetrates plastic. Ineffective since it does not reach soil.

Planning garden crops so they do not have excessive space between them helps control weeds. Open areas become infested with weeds. Proper management, prevention and a little hard work all add to effective weed control. The better the weeds, the better.

Story Hour Continues Through July 24

Second story hour at Lockney Branch Library drew 29 youngsters and 12 of them were new "listeners". Athena Junior Study Club members Karen Koonsman and Jill Golden were in charge Wednesday morning as the story hour continued emphasizing Texas. The women discussed the legend of Grandma and the first corn crop in Texas. Each child was given an envelope with popcorn seeds and encouraged to plant it at home. Small blank maps of Texas were distributed and red stars were placed where Lockney was located, with gold stars used to mark

Austin. The children were told about the state capitol and the capitol buildings. The hour closed with the reading of "Johnny Texas". The twelve children who came for the first time were Heath and Wyman Rexrode, Kip Holt, Martha, Christy and Patricia Garcia, Valerie Gallegos, Donna and Tami

Vernon, Boyd Jackson, Shanna and Andy Stapp. Forty-four children have registered since the weekly story hour began June 13. If Penderoso and Athena Junior study clubs cooperate in presenting the story hour each Wednesday — excepting July 4th — from 10 to 11 a.m. through July 25.

Teachers Continue Education

Several local teachers will be receiving school credit for workshops they have completed recently.

The Lockney school system requires teachers with master's degrees to have six hours of additional study every seven years, and teachers with bachelor's degrees to have the same number of hours every five years.

Bettie Knox and Judy Schacht attended the Living Textbook Workshop Sunday through Wednesday on the campus of West Texas State University. The workshop was sponsored by Amarillo Globe News. Participants were taught ways to use newspapers to supplement textbooks. Both women are fifth grade teachers — Bettie in math and science and Judy in language arts. Two hours of credit will go on record for the teachers who recently have completed a 30-hour calligraphy course in Lubbock.

Elementary teachers Rita Burleson, Sheila Poole and Jody Baccus, and aide Rita Webster took the course June 11-15. Junior high teachers Lela Warren, Melva Dorman, and Ethelyn Vernon, and aide Leo Montandon went Monday through Friday of this past week.

The course was taught by Jerry Darby Carper in Lubbock View Christian Church. The course was sponsored by the Region XVII Service Center.

Lockney Locals

Mrs. Gene Collins returned Monday from Ruidoso, New Mexico. She accompanied her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Ricker of Lubbock. Her daughter, Mrs. Ronnie (Shelley) Gammage of Plainview and Sandy Riley of Burnet also spent the week in Ruidoso.

Lockney Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Samford went to Aspermont Saturday to be with her father, Oscar A. "Ott" King who had a heart attack that day. Jack returned home Monday and Mrs. Samford came home Tuesday. Mr. King is "doing as well as can be expected" in Aspermont Hospital.

Melissa and Brent Rogers of Nacogdoches visited Sunday through Wednesday with their uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cawley, Gary and Michael. Their mother, Mrs. Vance (Sarah) Rogers and their grandmother, Mrs. John (Ivy) Drennon of Lubbock came after them.

The French Connection

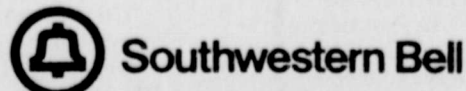

The glamorous French cradlephone has been reborn in America, where it's known as "Antique Gold". Its carved gold-colored figures and rich ivory trim make it the last word in period-style decor.

And, because it's genuine Bell, you know you're getting top quality. You never have to worry about repairs, either, because the Bell System retains ownership of your phone's working components and repairs them without additional charge anytime there's a problem.

Make your French Connection at your nearest PhoneCenter Store, where you can also choose from a variety of other colorful and attractive styles. Or call your local Southwestern Bell business office. Choose a phone that's genuinely you and genuine Bell.

The Antique Gold. $24 a month for five months or a one-time charge of $120. Prices do not include taxes or, if applicable, installation and recurring charges. If necessary, hearing aid adapters are available from your telephone company.
