Luther Cooper Carried Lockney Mail 41 Years

by Felicia Applewhite
"For forty-one years my father carried mail on Route 1, north of Lockney. He missed only twenty days because of sickness during that time. He always said that people needed mail worse on bad days, so he didn't let bad weather interfere with delivery," says his daughter Agnes Cooper of Hide-Away-Lake near Tyler.

"I am proud of my heritage from my parents. My mother was as much a part of those times of hard work as my father. She stayed home, raised a garden and chickens and cared for my brother and me," she continues.

'The first day my dad carried the mail, a group of young boys met him on the road near a corner at Lone Star, eleven miles north of Lockney. The last day he carried the mail one of those boys, Clay Fowlee, then a gray-haired man and a postmaster at Silverton, met him at the same corner. He delivered Clay the first letter when he began forty-one years ago and delivered Clay a letter the last day from the same source as the letter delivered that first day. Clay was the only one of the boys who first met the carrier who was near enough to appear.'

Cooper voluntarily retired in 1949. He died at age 71. His daughter tells his

During three years of his time as a carrier by request, Cooper was transferred to Route 3 that went into the Cedar Hill area. It was a tri-weekly route. This gave him more time for his

"I remember going that route with Father," says his daughter, "There was a store called Alsino about two miles west and two miles north of the present still have a vivid memory of the wonderful aroma associated with it. All the store smells mixed to form a cozy atmosphere. There was nothing like it. And, of course, there was always the little paper bag of candy freshly scooped from the store's large, tilted, candy jar. The candy was one of the main reasons that I went with Father on the mail

"My father didn't really like the idea of the Lockney postmaster, Homer Howard, seeing that I had gone with him on the route, so he usually let me out when we returned to town before he drove on to the post office," she laughs

The route to Cedar Hill was changed to a daily route after three years, so he asked to be transferred back to Route 1. Luther Cooper was well acquainted with the ways of pioneer living. His parents came to Lockney in 1906. Luther was one of their family of ten children. His experiences as a rural carrier were typical of the times. The Lockney

Beacon gives some idea of how it was. In an article published by The Beacon at the time of Cooper's retirement, the editor states, "Route 1 out of Lockney was the first rural route on the Plains. Mr. Cooper and five other men took the examination to qualify as carrier for the route. Cooper made the highest grade. It was a grade of 95 which gave him the

"He began work on August 2, 1909 since August first was on Sunday." The Beacon story continues, "The route mail was carried only three times weekly at the time, and the salary was $540 annually or $45 per/month. After six months service, it was made into a daily route. The salary was then raised to $900 annually or $75 per month. "The route was thirty miles long when it first started. It is now (1949) fifty-three miles long.

At the time Luther Cooper took the examination, he was working helping build the Sante Fe track to Floydada from Plainview. He worked with fresno and team. When he received his appointment, he brought the team home and went on his mail route the next day.

His wife is quoted as saying, "We were not married at the time, but when he received the appointment, our prospects for getting married bright-

They were married July 24, 1910, in a double-wedding ceremony with a couple who were very close friends.

At this time, there were no paved roads. When the young carrier began delivering mail on Route 1 the roads were not so much as graded. They were just flat prairie roads bared to the weather and to buggy and wagon traffic.

One man who still lives on the route recalls having seen the carrier come a few times driving a horse to a two-wheeled cart. Only those people who have ridden in a two-wheeled cart can know the jerking, jogging, twisting motion a cart produces. At any rate, the mail was not delivered in this fashion long enough to be generally remem-

In choosing the most feasible delivery vehicle under the existing circumstances, Cooper chose a "light running mail wagon" which could be loosely classified as the forerunner of the modern mobile home without the mobile. It was horse powered. The mail wagon was described as "very comfortable even in cold weather." He used it three years.

This mail wagon was a second cousin to the klondike then in use by school children travelling several miles to school each school day.

It was possible to have a small heater and adequate seating. How many of these features were on the mail wagon is not known.

Luther Cooper left a part of his story written in his own hand on a business envelope that he had carefully split the end and one side to make it into a writing sheet. The postmark, "Plainview, Texas, Oct. 2, 6:30 p.m. 1940" is still clearly stamped on the paper. His idea was to mail the information to the radio program "We, The People," but it was never mailed. It is written in

"In earlier days and at Christmas Eve, the snow drifts were so deep the only way I could go was horse back in order that the patrons might get their Xmas mail. I tied mail sacks on the horse and, holding the horse by the tail and following, we made 2/3 of the trip the first day by dark, finishing the following day.

"I have been on the route so long I have carried birth notices of a child born on the route and later marriage announcement for the same, and then other birth notices for his children.

"I stopped at a house one day. The lady came running out to ask me to wait a while. One of neighbors had just phoned her that their hired hand was coming home drunk.

"He was driving a team and wagon as fast as the team could go. When he got there, he had only a small amount of whiskey left. I tried to get him to pour it out, but he would not. He wanted me to drink it, so to protect the lady, I did and stayed with him about an hour and he began to sober up and I went on my

"I have been in some bad snow storms, have had to walk in while my car was in a snow drift. Have walked as much as a mile at different times to get the mail through drifts where I could not go in a car.

'On the other hand, I have been in sand storms so bad you could not see the radiator. I would stop, of course. I have had to stop and be pulled out of places where the dry dirt drifted in so

He finished writing to the "We The People" letter on the back of a Lockney First National blank check dated 193-.

"In spite of all the hardships, I like the work. I am now nearly----years old and will only be allowed to serve about 10 more years.

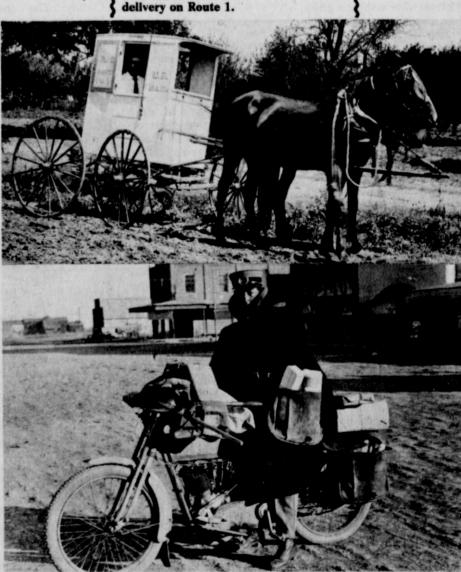

"I think the saddest day of my life will be the day when I am retired. He was to make that mail trip many times after he had written that "We, The People' message. He said later, "Sometimes it was my job to carry messages of tragedy. Lik the time I had to carry the message to parents that their two sons had been killed in Mexico.

One patron still living on the route remembers that some mail boxes were mounted on a cart or buggy wheel that was lying flat attached on top of a post well anchored in the ground. All the carrier had to do was to turn the wheel from one mail box to the next to deposit the mail.

Telephone customers in Lockney can expect a special delivery from the telephone company soon — the 1979 Lockney Telephone Directory.

"A record 1,744 copies of the new phone book are being mailed in the city, according to Jim West, Plainview manager for Southwestern Bell. Mailing began July 12. One copy will be mailed to each residential subscriber, with additional copies available at Southwestern Bell business offices," West

The cover of this year's directory is titled "Redstone Ranch," a watercolor landscape by nationally known San Antonio artist Warren Hunter. A 1939 graduate of the Art Institute of Chicago, Hunter founded his own art school in San Antonio in 1946.

The painting chosen for the cover of this year's directory depicts the kind of scene for which Hunter is famous: a Central Texas farm complete with windmill, water tank, clothesline, barbed-wire fence and plenty of blue-

The Depression And Drought Years

By Mark Martin

Early in September 1929, we began to hear of the New York stock market and the Chicago Board of Trade showing that there might be a depression starting. On September 30, 1929, the bottom fell out of the stock market. Thousands of millionaires were paupers in one day and many committed suicide by jumping out of windows along with other means of taking their lives.

In Texas, we paid very little attention to what was taking place. In 1928 and 1929, we were making a good crop. Then farm prices began to drop. In 1930, merchants in Floydada began to lay off employees because there were no customers.

On May 30, 1930, the merchants in Floydada, in order to try and stimulate more business, issued (to be used only in Floydada) many wooden nickels and one dollar paper script. These were payable in cash on or before May 28, 1959 by the First National Bank of Floydada. I kept a number of these wooden nickels but don't remember what happened with the dollar script.

Also in these days money in bills which the most came to the First National Bank of Floydada, Texas, were in blank and were signed by J.V. Daniel, President and Olin Watson, Cashier. There is one not owned by me in my silver collection on display in the Floyd County Museum.

The farm machinery business was very good in 1928, 1929 and 1930. Because it began to get very dry, the farmers were trading their livestock for tractors. On July 15, 1931, the great depression set in. The Floyd County National Bank closed their doors and on the same date the First State Bank at Lockney closed.

There were many good men and women like Mrs. Farris and Hugh Cannady both being directors in the First National Bank. It was rumored that Uncle Tom Montgomery got his worn black satchel and headed with a driver in a Model A Ford for the Fort Worth National Bank and brought run on the First National Bank. Hugh Cannady, knowclose, had some money there

Their main food was potatoes, bread and cabbage. There was no soap or tobacco. I would send him canned Prince Albert tobacco, Lava soap and canned goods. The only baths they took were at night in the Volga River. He was stationed on a collective farm at Kiev, Russia in the Ukraine wheat belt.

The drought here had set in and Arthur Kreis, an outstanding citizen and farmer, opened up a hamburger place across the street where the Palace Barber Shop is now. For several years, he opened up at 5 A.M. each morning and sold short orers for breakfast, 10 cent hamburgers, 5 cent coffee, and 5 cent donuts until 6 P.M. Many customers wondered why he did this because he was a well fixed man, financially. He seemed very happy doing this and as the years went by there were many good things that Ar-thur did to make Floydada

The farmer was better off financially than the merchant. Most farmers lived on the farm where they would have some chickens and milk cows with a couple of hogs for meat. Every Saturday was a busy day. The farmer would bring a can of cream to sell. Emory Angus and Charley Berry would trade eggs for a few groceries. All farmers had a windmill and they could raise a few vegetables. The barber shops were full until late on Saturday. Lockney was known as the busiest small town in County very cheap. There was one fence row seven miles long, fifty feet wide and five feet high that we called the Hindenburg Line from World War I. There were many high piles of dirt. Some as big as a barn and we knew there was something stored there to catch the dirt.

We would hook a long piece of railroad iron line to one tractor and hook another tractor with a long cable that would go around the edge and drag the tractor with the steel rail through. At one pile of dirt, we found two complete Hart-Parr tractors covered up that had been abandoned some years be-over the Hindenburg Line. All of the fence was covered up and when they finished there was nothing left but the corner post to tell where our land began. Now that all the land has been leveled off. there are just a few reminders of the days of the Okies and the grapes of wrath.

Texas Receives $2,722,500 Grant

DALLAS, - The State of Texas has been awarded a grant of $2,722,500 to continue implementation of a Home Weatherization Program for low-income citizens throughout the State, G. Dan Rambo, regional representative of the Secretary, U.S. Department of Energy (DOE), announced recently.

The grant will allow the State to weatherize an estimated additional 4200 homes of low-income persons under a plan developed by the Texas Department of Community Affairs. This will be the third year that weatherization assistance has been provided to low-income Texans under the DOE Weatherization Program.

Boxed Beef is only the useable portions of the carcass skillfully trimmed and packaged through ultra-modern processing, then vacuum sealed and boxed for ease of handling. Cutting these portions to desired roasts and steaks does not require a trained butcher. In fact, many housewives across the country prepare the boneless cuts to their own requirements right in their kitchens. What a fine way to get just exactly the cuts you need and save dollars on quality beef at the same time. However, on any Boxed Beef purchase you make with us we gladly cut and wrap it to your own specifications.

ADVANTAGES:

1. Boxed Beef is naturally aged, thanks to its patented vacuum wrapping.

2. More sanitary-less bacteria.

3. You buy meat without the surplus waste fat and bone. 4. You save money in buying meat instead of bone, fat, and trimmings.

5. Quality controlled beef. Only the best beef is selected to go in the Boxed Beef program. 6. You can buy only the part of the beef that

Then she discovered Pat Walker's.

Ms. Evans wrote:

"You are going to look so good in a size 9 or 10." That's what my consultant said as I was leaving Pat Walker's after my free demonstration and figure analysis. I remember smiling to myself then, but now I can't help smiling because I'm actually wearing size 10 dresses and my newest pant suit is an 8.

gained 8 pounds

For at least 9 years I've had a creeping weight problem. I was always able to lose 5 pounds but would gain back 8 (or more). Finally, I reached a point where size 16 was getting too small. That is when I realized I needed help. When a friend, who had just joined Pat Walker's, suggested I go in for a free figure analysis, I decided this might be the help I needed.

After 30 minutes on the passive exercise unit I was convinced that it could work for me. Only one treatment helped my posture.

Best of all, my husband is just as pleased as I am, in fact he is my most enthusiastic supporter. With over 30 pounds gone, 42 inches slimmer, and still losing, who wouldn't be pleased? I wouldn't hesitate to recommend Pat Walker's to anyone with a weight or figure problem.

Sincerely, D'Loris Evans

ding anniversary July 1 from 2 - 5 p.m. at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada. Hosts and hostesses were their son Joe and his wife Jovce of Hobbs, New Mexico; their daughter Beth Turner of Fritch, and their daughter Shirley and her husband Ronnie Murray of Midland. The children and Mr. and Mrs. Walker formed a receiving line and welcomed guests as they entered. Mrs. Walker wore an ecru crocheted dress and jacket which she had made especially for the occasion. Her ensemble was completed by a silk rose corsage made by Mrs. Joe Walker. Miss Jill Turner, the Walker's granddaughter from Fritch, presided at the guest book. Guests were registered with an antique quill pen which belongs to Mr. Walker's cousin, Mrs. Ernest Rhodes of Borger.

Houseparty members were Mmes. Elmer Norrell, Gordon Mayfield, F.A. Faulkenberry, Nyle Bryant and Raymond Evans of Floydada and Mrs. Byron Gwyn of Mule-

Mrs. Joe Walker, Cindy Walker of Hobbs and Mrs. John G. Walker of Dalhart presented piano selections throughout the afternoon; and songs were presented by Ronnie Murray of Midland, Mr. and Mrs. John G. Walker of Dalhart and Miss Gaye Turner of Fritch.

Approximately 150 relatives and friends attended.

stayed for about three years, working in production and illustration on accounts such as Shamrock Oil, Pioneer Natural Gas and several bank clients. From Amarillo Larry and Marlene moved to Austin where he worked as a medical illustrator for the Texas Health Department. Shortly after they moved their daughter, Kay Lynn, was born. A year later, he had an opportunity to make a move to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department as the designer of their monthly magazine. "That position gave me an opportunity to get into something I really enjoyed." Larry was referring to magazine and book

Two people who helped Larry with his art career are Bob Helberg, publisher of Southwestern Art magazine, and John Jenkins, owner of Jenkins Publishing Company and the largest rare book dealer in the world. Through his business relationship and friendship with these men, Larry opened his own studio, Smitherman Graphic Design

& Illustration, Inc. in 1970. His new business concentrated almost exclusively on publication design and he soon became the Art Director of Southwestern Art magazine, a position he still holds. "Magazine and book design is challenging and I'm glad I've had the opportunity to work in this field. I still love to do artwork in charcoal, mostly character studies, when I have the chance. I like to do a drawing that tells a story. . .never have been much on landscapes." Today his studio consists of illustrators, designers and production artists. They do a lot of commercial art for ad agencies and businesses but about one-third of the work is of a non-advertising nature. Larry spends about 90% of his time on book and publication design. He and the studio have won local, regional and national awards for design and creativity in commercial and book design competitions. Hints To Lower Utility Bills

Just as consumers can count on a long hot summer, they can count on utility bills rising along with the temper-ature. So this is a good time to ask, "What can be done to hold down rising utility

First, use the air conditioner only when it is really needed. Second, use a whole-house ventilating fan (not an attic fan) instead of the air conditioner when it's 82 degrees Fahrenheit or below outside, or unless it's very humid. This can cut utility bills considerably. Third, use or buy cooling equipment that meets the need. Overcooling is expensive and wastes energy. Select a unit with the lowest suitable capacity and the highest energy efficiency rat-ing available to cool your

If an 80 degree setting raises the home temperature 6 degrees (for example, from 74 degrees to 80 degrees), savings of between 12 and 47 percent in cooling costs can be realized, depending on location. If air conditioning temperatures nationally were raised 6 degrees, the Nation would save the equivalent of 190,000 barrels of oil every

Setting the thermostat at a colder setting to accelerate cooling when the air conditioner is turned on also wastes energy. Set the fan on high speed except in very humid weather. When it's humid, set the fan on low speed which will result in less cooling, but more moisture removed.

Here are some more tips on the efficient operation of an air conditioner:

Clean or replace filters at least once a month. When the filter is dirty, the motor has to run longer to move the same amount of air, requiring more electricity.

Turn off window units when leaving the room for several hours. Less energy will be used cooling the room later than if the unit was left running, even on low speed. Consider using a fan in addition to the window air conditioner. It can spread the cooled air farther without greatly increasing use of electricity.

Don't place lamps or TV sets near the air conditioning thermostat. Incandescent lights or home appliances generate heat, which is sensed by the thermostat. This could cause the air conditioner to run longer than necessary.

For more energy-saving tips, including some on the efficient operation of the home without air conditioning, write ENERGY, Box 62, Oak Ridge, TN 37830.

WHOZITS . . .

Knox, Frizzell Lockney Whozits

R.L. Knox was the older boy in last week's Lockney Whozit. He was holding David Frizzell. Keith Jackson identified R.L., but even Keith was stumped by the "little boy" in last Sunday's mystery photo.

These mystery ladies were on a trip to Port Arthur [probably not just to have their pictures made] in 1943. The ladies are sisters and the little girl belongs to the lady on the left. To make a guess about their idenity, call the Beacon at 652-3318.

Molly Stringer Is Last Week's Floydada Whozit

Monte Covington, Mrs. Floyd Bradley, Bobby Rainer and Edith Ferguson all guessed last Sunday's Floy-dada Whozit as being Molly (Mrs. Bill) Stringer.

This little, blonde doll resides in Floydada and is married to a well-known farmer. If you would like to make a guess as to her identity, give us a call at the Hesperian....983-3737.

Emergency Medical Services Giles C. McCrary, Mayor of Post and Chairman of the South Plains EMS Committee, says the grant will help counties and towns develop a system of emergency care that can respond to medical emergencies anywhere in this 15-county area.

South Plains EMS, a private, non-profit association that will administer the grant, is composed of con-sumers, elected officials and providers of health services. "Competition for this funding was intense," Mayor McCrary said, "because only about 20 such grants combustible material are were to be awarded nationproperly stored or disposed wide. Fortunately, we had of. Varnish, paint thinner and cleaning fluid should be regionwide support that was effectively demonstrated in stored in sealed metal con-Washington by South Plains EMS representatives and nace, water, electric or gas Congressman Kent Hance, (D) Lubbock.

'This grant will help us buy communications equipment and provide training for ambulance personnel," he said. "We'll be able to support the coordination and planning that will help the accomplishments of individual communities combine into a regionwide EMS system. All this will assure the best in emergency medical care for every person in our 15-county area.

Mayor McCrary emphasized that these improvements won't take place overnight. He said this first year of funding will make such improvements possible in the near future, especially if federal funding continues.

Funds from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare are available for development of EMS systems because of EMS Systems Act of 1963. The Act provides grants for up to four years of system development. The grant is channeled through the Texas Department of Health, which helps coordinate several other EMS grants statewide.

Counties that will benefit from the grant are Bailey, Cochran, Crosby, Dickens, Floyd, Garza, Hale, Hockley, King, Lamb, Lubbock, Lynn, Motley, Terry and Yoakum.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas effective August 3, 1979.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 6.09 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas.

Aiken-Meteor Reunion Held Sunday Afternoon The annual Aiken-Meteor reunion was held in the afternoon Sunday, July 8, in Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church, Lockney. Fifty-four persons enjoyed a noon luncheon and visiting afterwards.

This group was first re-united in 1944 as the Meteor school and community exes and has met annually since. In 1950 a decision was made to include the Aiken exes also. In previous years the meetings were held at Aiken, in Plainview and at least once in Amarillo. This is the first time the reunion was held in Lockney.

The Meteor school district was created in 1891 - one year after Floyd County was organized and the first classes were held on September 1, 1892. The school was at the same location all through the years. In 1923 the name of the school was changed from Meteor to Aiken to agree with that of the post office and railroad switch one mile south of the school. In the late forties when rural schools were consolidated with Lockney, the school went out of existence and the building became the sanctuary of the Aiken Baptist Church.

President Faye Holmes presided at an informal meeting and each adult present gave a brief account of their association with Meteor or Aiken.

Present were: Jesse and Floy Thomas, Lubbock; Pauline and Cecil Lady, Hereford; Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Ewing and granddaughter Laurie, Amarillo; Les Ewing, Plainview; T. J. and Eula (Weathers) Bonds, Happy; Roe and Brycie (Kidd) Dalton and granddaughter, Wolforth; Eva (Whitfield) Thornton, Plain-first West Texas Kidney transplant is enjoying more freedom to do the things that 11-year-old boys do. For three years, Patrick was on dialysis (mechanical filtration of impurities from the bloodstream). Since receiving a kidney from his mother in March, he no longer must spend five hours three times a week undergoing dialysis.

Patrick still must take extra good care of himself. To control his body's natural immune response to his transplanted kidney, he takes medications to prevent rejection. These same medications lower his resistance to infection and he must avoid situations which might expose him to infection. Support from friends and family has been important through all phases of treatment.

Patrick is a pretty self-relient individual, according to his parents, W.D. and Eva Miller. He has assumed retion and keeps a notebook of his medication in which he has a picture of each kind of pill and the correct name for it. He writes down how much he takes of each and when. When alterations are made in his medication, Dr. Lawton calls Patrick and tells him. Patrick brings the record with him every time he visits the clinic. Medication is taken daily, or the chances of kidney rejection is great-

Following dismissal from the hospital, Patrick had to make daily trips to the hospital's laboratory for tests to monitor his body's response to medications and to his new kidney. After a few weeks, he was changed to visits every other day, then twice a week. He currently is on a once-a-week schedule of lab visits. Patrick's life is gradually becoming independent of the regulation his condition has imposed. Patrick spends his time these days reading, drawing, gardening and, of course, riding his bike again. He used his artistic talents recently to produce a birthday card for Dr. Lawton, who performed the transplant surgery. The card featured an illustration of "Super-

Patrick says he is happy to be able to do more things for himself. He enjoys his more active lifestyle, and looks forward to being even more active in the future. Someday he hopes to begin playing soccer. He has decided to become a doctor, and more specifically to become a transplant surgeon.

According to Patrick, his greatest inconvenience is having to maintain a lowsodium diet. His salt intake is restricted to help control his blood pressure. For now, the sodium restriction prohibits the pizza Patrick wanted following surgery.

Postal Service Offers Tips For Mailing Film

A little extra care when mailing film for processing could mean the difference in preserving the memories of your summer vacation, Postmaster Doug Meriwether advised today. "Thousands of film packages end up country each year," Postmaster Meri-wether said, "just because the film package was wrapped and addressed carelessly.

He offered the following tips for mailing film:

-Put the film in a sturdy envelope, and when possible use envelopes sup-

—Write the film processor's mailing address, return address and ZIP Code legibly on the outside of the envelope.

—Tape your name and address to the

"... The Only Way To Look, Is Up"

Charley L. Berry

When Charley L. Berry was nine years old, he was employed in job printing for the "Campbell Review," a weekly publication in Hunt County, Texas. From that time on, Charley wanted to be editor of a newspaper. . . a dream that always seemed to remain just beyond reach.

Berry was born January

14, 1899 in Collin County. Texas, which is southeast of McKinney. He married Hattie Velma Pharr in Floydada, January 17, 1920. The couple had two sons, Harold L., now of Amarillo and C.L. Jr., deceased, and one daughter, Arminta Lorraine Cain of Lake Elsinore, California. Mrs. Berry died December 21, 1971.

Before his marriage, Berry attended Amarillo Business College and while there wrote an article entitled Why A Farmer Should Have A Business Education." The article was published in the Hesperian early in 1917, during the time Homer Steen was editor.

...But being in the newspaper business was not what life had laid out for Berry. He spent some time in farming, in the grocery business in Idalou, and for the larger part of his adult working years was in the poultry and egg business in several area towns including Tulia, Post, Olton and Brownfield. He moved back to Floydada in 1941. He is a member of the First Methodist Church, and also a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Berry is now 80 years old and is still drawn in the direction of the printed page. He has written much poetry and free verse about topics ranging from politics and religion to home life experiences. He is one of those persons who has somehow gotten printers ink in his blood stream, a malady for which there is no known cure. His personal writings, which have continued to flow through his typewriter, have reflected the impulses which lay behind the original dream and perhaps have even added to its content. So keep on keepin' on, Charley.... One of Berry's motto's is When you're down, the good Lord's with you and it's all going to be ok. The only way you can look - is up.'

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Pest Management Report

BOLLWORM EGG LAY PREDICTION

Based on catches of adult cotton bollworm moths in a light trap placed in the Mount Blanco community of Crosby County we can not predict when peak bollworm egg lay for July will occur. This method of computer prediction has proved quite accurate in most instances over the last three years.

As shown in the attached graph the peak for July is expected to occur on the 25th. As we collect more data this prediction will be updated to include August and September. We cannot predict the number of eggs to be laid or the problem that will result, but is intended to give you some idea of when a problem may arise.

Growers of sunflowers beware! Heavy numbers of the sunflower meth are being reported all across the South Plains. These moths are light gray and about 1/2 inch long. When not flying they rest with their wings folded so that they are narrow in appearance. When sunflower heads are open enough so that the yellow petals can be seen they are vulnerable to the pest. The best time to check for the sunflower moth is in the early morning or late afternoon when they are most action.

An insecticide application should be made when percent bloom is approaching 20 percent and meths are present in the fields. Once fields start blooming they rapidly pass 20 percent block — so timing of the first application is critical. Methyl parathion, Thiodan and Supracide* are registered for use against the sunflower moth. Fields should be checked with in 2-3 days after the first application. If moths or small larvae can be found another application is needed. A third application will be needed in some cases. Larvae which have tunneled into developing sible to control.

COTTON FLEAHOPPERS

Description: Adult fleahopper is about 1/8 inch long and pale green. Nymphs resemble adults but lack wings, are very small and whitish in color.

Seasonal Biology: Overwinters in the egg stage in weeds, later moves into cotton when squares are present. Life cycle is approximately 4 weeks long.

Damage: Both adults and nymph suck sap out of tender plant parts, especially small squares. Injury is characterized by excessive blasting and shedding of small squares and reduc-tion in the number of fruiting branches. Most squares attacked, range in size between pinhead to match head size squares. Attacked plants can become whip-like or bushy from excessive vegetative brunching.

Management Decisions: Whether or not control measures are necessary depends on three factors: (1) fleahopper numbers, (2) fruiting rate, and (3) where you are in the squaring sequence of the cotton plant. During the first 3 weeks of squaring, if the percent square set falls much below 80% and 25 to 50 fleahoppers are found per 100 terminals - treat. Dry weather will accelerate the drop in fruiting rate and past the 3rd week of squaring, more fleahoppers can be tolerated without yield reduction. GENERAL SHUATION

Cotton ranges from seedling stage to 2-3 weeks into squaring. Insect infestations are generally light. Sorghum has light corn leaf aphid populations. Sunflowers are beginning to bloom and sunflower moth activity is at its peak.

Cotton Scahoppers have been reported in economically damaging numbers in several Crosby County fields by a private consultant. All cotton growers should be on the lookout for this insect pest. The fleahepper is an insect which is a problem only occasionally in our area. However it can cause considerable yield loss when present during the first 3 weeks of squaring. No one can afford to lose squares this year that are normally set during those first few weeks. Since this is an inconspicuous insect producers need to scout their fields carefully. When fleahoppers are found in numbers ranging from 25-30 per 100 plant terminals and square set is 80% or less treatment should be considered. Remember that the first 3 weeks of squaring is the critical time to watch for the cotton fleahopper.
Insecticides recommended for control of fleahoppers include Bidrin, Sevin, dimethoate (Cygon, De-Fend, and Revelate), methyl parathion and Dylox. Only low rates of these materials are needed to manage fleahopper populations. Low rates will also pre serve some beneficial insects. Attached is further information on identification and control of this pest.

Officials of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbeck, are asking for a change in what they call a "totally unfair" rule under which the 1979 farm program is now being administered.

"It's a procedure which, if followed, is going to cause more than a few of our people to be declared ineligible for any farm program benefits for reasons over which they have no control and in a number of instances won't even be aware of until they receive netices of ineligibility," says PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson.

The problem arises when a producer fails to certify all acreage classified as "crephend" by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS). In such cases, his failure to certify, as would be expected, makes that farmer ineligible for any program benefits. "But that is only the beginning," Johnson complains.

"Not only is that form ineligible, but all other forms in which either the operator or the landlord has an interest are also out of the program along with the different landlerds and/or tenants on those other farms.

For clarification, Johnson uses the following exam T.L. Landlord is the owner of Farms A, B and C in Bailey County, on each of which a different operator has program crops planted and is in full compliance with all program regulations: Th. Canadas des ours Furm & to Midland County, operated by another tenant but with grass for a grazing operation photodon all his cropland.

Because the Midhard County farmer is not participe in the farm program in any way, he does not think it necess to certify what his cropland is being used for - a fact which is of no consequence to the operator or Mr. Landlord on the Midland County farm.

However, the failure of the Midland County operator to certify his cropland also causes Mr. Landlord and his tenants on Farms A, B and C in Bailey County to be denied use of the government loan and makes them ineligible for any low yield or price deficiency payments that may become due.

"This means the three Bailey County farmers will be per for the inaction of a fermer in Midland County over whom they have no control and may not even know exists,

And, he explains, the same would be true if Mr. Landlord has a fourth tenant in Lubbock who failed to certify wheat he had growing in borrow ditches, on terraces or on turnrows. In contrast, Johnson notes further, if the fourth furmer overplants his normal crop acreage, fails to have adequate set-aside or is declared out of compliance for any other reason besides non-certification, eligibility of the Batley County farmers would not be affected.

"This is just not a fair way to run the program," Johnson concludes, "and we are asking ASCS officials to recognize the fact and correct the situation before a lot of our people get hurt."

Wheat In Release Statue, Storage Storage

Wheat in the farmer-owned reserve will continue in release status at least through July 31, according to John Goodwin, acting executive vice-president of the Commodity Credit Corp.
Storage stopped in all states June 30.
Wheat was first released on May 16, when the national average market price reached $3.31 a bushel. Wheat is released when the price level reaches 140 percent of the national loan rate, or

On July 31, the U.S. Department of Agriculture will again review the average market price to determine if the release will continue.

After a commodity is released, it may be sold by the farmer holding it after repaying the CCC price support lean. However, release of the reserve does not require farmers to redeem or self their grain at this time, Goodwin noted.

"It inhatter to ask some of the questions than to know all of the and

Police Charge Andrews Man

Floydada police charged an Andrews, Texas, man with misdemeanor theft and unlawful possession of a weapon after a routine check in the early hours of Monday morning.

Patrolman Reynard Macha reported that he stopped Donald Ray Hill, 25, on suspicion of public intoxication at 3 a.m. Monday. Patrolman Macha said he spotted the man walking alone on the Ralls Highway near Reed Ford Co. When the officer discovered a pistol, a .32-cal. revolver complete with cartridges, in the man's possession he placed Hill under arrest.

The firearm apparently was taken from a local wowas a guest in the house.

Facts & Fancies

The first official national amateur golf championship was played October 1-3, 1895, at the Newport Golf Club in Newport, R.I. That was four years before the first golf tee was invented by George F. Grant of Boston.

United States Open golf championship was Horace Rawlins in 1895. The U.S. Open and the U.S. Amateur rank foremost among the 10 national championships conducted by the United States governing body of golf.

International Exchange Students Seek American Host Families

Would your family be willing to welcome an international high school student into your home during the coming school year? By sharing their daily life with a student from another country, the members of your family will have the unique opportunity to learn about a different culture through another person's eyes, while deepening their appreciation of their own country by introducing America to someone new.

The only requirement for becoming a host family is a willingness to accept a young person from another country into the everyday life of your family, so the student and family members can share an enriching experience. The host family provides only meals and shelter, as well as companionship and love. Youth For Understanding, a non-profit international student exchange organization, is now seeking U.S. host families for incoming students from 27 countries. Annually, host families throughout the United States open their homes and hearts to 7,000 international students, aged 14 through 18, who will be spending eleven months as "Ambassadors of friendship" between diverse nations and cultures.

Youth For Understanding received funds from the U.S. State Department in support of its efforts to promote world citizenship and understanding through teenage student exchange opportunities. Youth For Understanding just received endorsement from the Senate of the State of Texas.

For further information on becoming a host family, contact: Mrs. Barbara Aker, 2302 Slide #22, Lubbock, Tx. 79407. Telephone 806-795-1825 or call collect 214-386-

Steve Herber Offers Tips On Plant Care

Indoor plants do not have the advantage of the cleansing effect of rainfall to keep their leaf surfaces free from dust. To keep them looking their best a careful cleaning once or twice a month is

For smooth-leafed plants, a wet sponge or soft cloth rinsed frequently in clean water is a dependable method. For specimens having many small leaves it may be best to take the plant outdoors and syringe with plenty of water.

Plants with hairy leaves require special attention. A camel hair brush used carefully to avoid bruising the leaves works well.

If commercial leaf polishes are used, be sure to water the plant thoroughly several hours before application.

THE Hand NOW

Knitted socks and stockings were not commercially available at any price before the 16th century. Why? Nobody had a knitting machine.

THEN: Although hand knitting of hosiery had been known since the third century it was another 1300 years before a knitting machine was invented.

It's a romantic story; Rev. William Lee of Nottinghamshire, England, was in love with a woman who spent so much time knitting stockings by hand that she had little for him. Although not a mechanic, Lee figured out how to make a machine to knit the hosiery, thereby freeing his beloved so she had more time
