Hospital Auxiliary To Be Organized

Persons interested in doing volunteer work at the hospital are invited to attend a meeting of the Lockney Hospital Auxiliary at 2:30 p.m. on July 27 in the hospital building.

The purpose of the hospital auxiliary is to assist in the development of the hospital by providing services, promoting better relations between the hospital and the community, and assisting in financing.

Persons who are organizing the local hospital auxiliary, said several persons have expressed an interest in hospital volunteer work.

The work which volunteer workers do frees the hospital personnel to perform other duties.

Paid hospital personnel speak highly of the work provided by volunteers, and of how their presence makes it possible to concentrate on professional duties.

To many patients, the volunteer is the only person they may see during the course of the day who has time to stop and chat, to offer a smile and a friendly word, or to do small favors which can make a stay in the hospital more pleasant.

Members of hospital auxiliaries may work toward the goals of the medical community, express appreciation to the physicians and other professional medical staff members, and serve as community relations persons in the hospital setting.

Hospital volunteers recently have been distributing information and telling mothers of young children about the state immunization requirements for children enrolled in child-care facilities and schools.

Hospital Board Meeting Short, Routine;

Directors Await Clinic Plans Approval

The meeting of the Lockney hospital board of directors, held last night in the hospital building, was a short one, adjourning at 8:30 p.m.

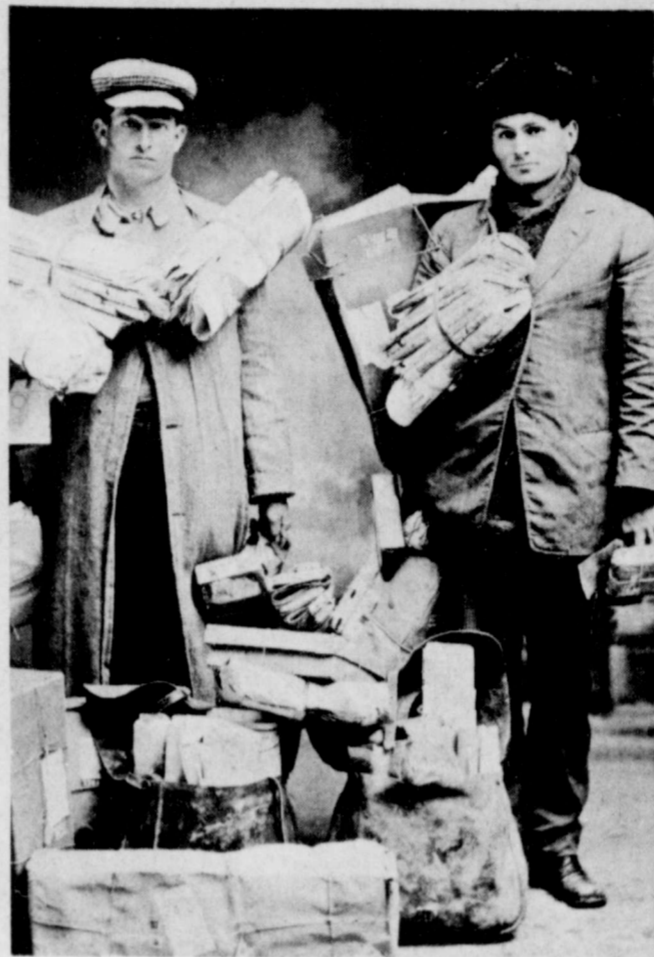

The board is still waiting for approval of the plans for the new clinic by the Texas Health Facilities Commission. The Texas Health Facilities Commission has already approved the clinic's application for the building and Grounds Chairman Kenneth Tate reported on heating and air conditioning equipment recently installed at the hospital, and on the replacement of a cooling unit in the hospital's central supply.

The only other business was the payment of bills and examination of the June financial statement.

Attending the hospital board meeting were directors Leslie Ferguson, Chester Carthel, Rusty Baccus, Kenneth Tate and Helmuth Quebe, hospital administrator Gayle Fortenberry, and Ben Ayres, legal counsel for the hospital district.

'Horns May Surprise Grid Foes This Year

The Lockney Longhorns probably won't be picked to take the District 4-AA football championship this fall, but they're going to surprise a few people if Head Coach Jim Warren's guess is correct.

The 'Horns' offensive line could be the best they've had in several years, with returning experience exhibited in the likes of Mike Ford, Randy Ford, Byron Brock, Randy Welch, Kevin Turner, John Fortenberry and Nick Christian.

Warren said Barney Bill McCarter has showed lots of promise at split end.

Senior quarterback Steve Warren's throwing ability has improved greatly since last year, and the Longhorns boast a couple of capable receivers in Arnold Alaniz and Kevin Evans.

Alaniz also handles punting chores for the Longhorns, and Warren has tabbed him "one of the best punters around."

Two-a-day workouts start August 13. About 85 players are expected to report for the first day of workouts.

Class Of '54 Reunion Set Here Saturday

Those who have indicated that they will be present at the class reunion are Denny and Johnny Quisenberry, Barbara (Carthel) Mathis and Warren, Patsy (Adams) Tannahill, and Charles Huffman, all of Lockney; Jim Myers, Pat (Potet) Turner and Evelyn (Hooten) Mattison, all of Lubbock; Bettye (Vernon) Cruse of Fort Worth; Mrs. Johnnie (Barnhart) Hilliard (class sponsor) of Vernon; Weldon Pickets and Mac Davis of Slaton; Marie (Meester) Rodgers of Tulia; Duane Visage of Azle; Rosemary (McDonald) Salzmann of Mabank; and Allen Ray Pinner of Magnolia, Arkansas.

For a while the parents went to their separate churches. The children went first with one, then the other of the parents. The mother made the decision that brought unity.

Early Floyd County Rural Mail Carrier 'A Man Of Principle'

by Felicia Applewhite

"I like to think of those people back there who worked hard and made plans for the future. They worked to build. I like to think of my father as a man of principle," says Agnes Cooper, daughter of Floyd County's first rural mail carrier.

Her father was Luther A. Cooper, who was "considered one of the best rural carriers in the state" and always gave his many patrons the "very best possible service," according to newspaper reports of him.

"My dad was born in Stephens County, Texas. When he was quite young his father moved the family to near Quanah. I heard him speak of Quanah Parker, the old Indian Chief. They lived not far from Quanah.

LOCKNEY

High School Class of '54 — Their 25th-anniversary reunion Saturday, July 28 in Lockney.

"I saw there was one way to be united and that was for me to join the Methodist," her daughter quotes her mother as saying. "That was the only solution because my father would never have left the Methodist Church," she adds.

"Both my parents were such hard workers. I always dreaded the day when they would retire. The solution for their retirement came when they joined their Lockney couples each year to go to the Valley and to Rockport. I found they could play as hard as they had worked.

"Dad lived ten years after retirement. He died in 1958. Mother lived sixteen years longer. She died in 1974."

Luther Cooper "amassed quite a bit of property." On the days he returned early from the route, he ate lunch and spent the afternoon working on the farm.

"W.T. Cooper, my uncle, who was the only child of Grandfather's second marriage, is making his forty-third crop on the place my dad bought near Barwise."

Because of the record number of years of service and because of his dedication to his work, Luther Cooper was publicized in area papers.

One paper wrote: "The horse-trader mail man has dropped the flag on his last rural mail box. He has made a final trip on Route 1 between Lockney and Silvertown. His forty-year record is believed to be the longest of any rural carrier in the Panhandle of South Plains."

The newspaper continues, "In the horse and buggy days, Cooper was known as a man who would trade horses at the drop of a hat. The only one who ever got the best of him in a trade was on one of those very few days when Luther couldn't deliver mail because of illness, "they picked up some old boy in town" to take his place. This "old boy" messed things up. It seemed, he put a little mail in each box regardless of the name written on the mail. Mail was delivered all over the country.

"That day a little of ours was delivered over near Providence. I don't know whether that boy could read or not," says a man whose family mail box was on the route.

Luther Cooper began driving a car as soon as he could buy one. He still had to use the horse and buggy or use the horse at least during muddy or snow drift days.

"I don't remember what year dad began using a car. Fords and Chevrolets were the ones he used. I remember during World War I when you couldn't get a car. He had a Ford that he drove 100,000 miles and never had trouble with it. He used Amalac oil, and he thought it was the best in the world. I remember he bought a Chevrolet from Mr. Barker."

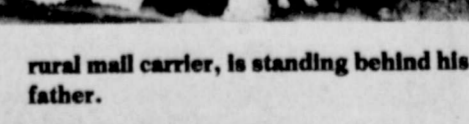

The last vehicle that the carrier used was a Jeep. A Jeep was good on muddy roads. Finally, he sold the Jeep to Langford, another carrier. In all, he had had fifteen or eighteen cars. The Jeep was a little better "Mudder" than any of them. After he bought the Jeep, he said, "Mail carrying is not near so much a nightmare in bad weather." He had had some "rough" experiences at times with weather, regardless of the mode of travel.

"I have been pulled out of mud holes and shoveled out of snow drifts many times. I am anxious to see a big rain when I retire. I have not been in a position to enjoy a good rain in forty years," he said about the time he was retiring.

H.B. Manches, Lockney postmaster, accompanied Cooper on his last trip on the route. Other postmasters he had served under were Homer Howard, Mrs. Dell Fowler and C.J. McCollum.

At the time of his retirement, George Mahon wrote him, "Congratulations on a great job. You have served the people well and faithfully in an important capacity, and I know it must give you much satisfaction to contemplate your work with people throughout the years."

THE COOPER FAMILY moved to Lockney in 1906. Luther, the veteran rural mail carrier, is standing behind his father.

HOME COMING

No one wanted the old country church torn down when the new building was put up across the road. It just didn't seem respectful. Charlie Swenson suggested, "Why not make it a museum?"

You should have seen the activity here one Saturday. Everyone for miles around turned out, bringing mops and paint brushes—and, of course, chicken salad and apple pies. Then we had a dedication ceremony. Charlie Swenson's wife accompanied us on the old piano as we sang "The Church's One Foundation."

Now tourists from the city come out to see the pot-bellied stoves, rustic pews and old lamps in our church museum. Once each summer we worship here.

For some of us there will always be a place in our hearts for this little church where we first learned about the teachings of God's Son. We love the new one, too. It is leading new generations into finding the same enduring values.

LEARN TO READ YOUR ELECTRIC METER AND SAVE!!!

...ine how many kilowatt hours you use in a given hour, a day, a month or a year. That's how electric bills are calculated. By kilowatt hours (kwh) used.

...al electric meter will have either 4 or 5 dials. To read the meter, start with the rightmost dial and read from right to left as you look at the meter. On a dial is between two numbers, write down the number the pointer is directly on a number such as 2. If the pointer is between two numbers, read the number below the pointer. If the pointer has passed zero (0), however, read the number above the zero. If the pointer has not reached zero, read (from left to right) 9-3-1-1-5. If, however, the pointer is between 9 and 0, the number on that dial from the right above was between 9 and 0, the dial would read as a zero.

...s read the same meter 24 hours later.

... 9-3-1-3-8 Subtracting the first reading, 93138, from the second reading, 93138 — the answer is 23. Thus you would use 23 kilowatt hours in the 24 hour period. Each kwh costs 6¢.

...ead your electric meter, you will be able to see how many dollars go to the meter. Then learn to use energy wisely.

...sketched here is made with a long narrow scarf. Place across back so that the ends are even in length. Bring ends to front, criss-cross, then bring them up and tie in back.
To make an evening top, fold an extra-large square scarf into a triangle. With fold placed at waist, separate points of the scarf and tie behind neck. Then tie the long ends behind back.
Add shape to a dress with a belt made from an oblong scarf. Pull it through a handsome belt buckle, pinning one end of the scarf around the center bar. Then wrap scarf around waist, pulling opposite end through the buckle.
For a soft sash, use two scarves in a mix of colors or patterns. Place the scarves together, twist them and then tie in a knot at the side of the waist.
Add sparkle to your dishes by adding vinegar to the dishwater.

Life After 65
For many of America's 23.5 million senior citizens, the retirement years are somewhat less than "golden."

Fortunately, there are places they can go and find the happiness and contentment they deserve.

A program of clubs for the elderly provides recreation designed to renew their zest for life. Sponsored by The Salvation Army, these clubs capitalize on the diverse strengths and abilities of this age group. Salvation Army residences, as well as retirement "developments" for married men and women, offer comfortable living accommodations at moderate cost. The Army also cooperates in federal and state programs to deliver hot meals to housebound people.

Probably the most universal problem for older citizens is loneliness. To fill the need for friendship, the Army offers special camps and centers that involve the elderly in craft programs as well as a variety of special interest classes, excursions to places of interest and opportunities for community service or other activities.

Grain Buyers Who Falsify Weights Robbing Farmers

AUSTIN--Texas grain farmers should be on the lookout for certain unscrupulous grain buyers whose only concern is to reap illegal profits for themselves, warns the Texas Department of Agriculture.

Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown says the Department receives reports each harvest season of farmers being cheated after accepting payment from "turn-row" buyers based on falsified scale tickets. This often occurs after the producer allows a buyer to load his trucks in the field directly from the harvester, with the agreement that he will take the grain to a weighing station, then pay the farmer for the net weight listed on the scale ticket.

However, some buyers supply their own false weight tickets, which indicate far less than the actual weight of the grain. The result, of course, is lost dollars for the producer and unearned profits for the buyer.

"Turn-row selling, or selling directly from the field, is a perfectly acceptable way of doing business, and the majority of buyers are legitimate," Brown said. "Those who aren't hurt not only the farmer, but also the honest buyers whose reputations are damaged."

"The best way for farmers to protect themselves is to know the persons they are dealing with, or take steps to ensure that all grain is accurately weighed, and all scale tickets are authentic," he said.

Brown noted that farmers especially should be suspicious of turn-row buyers who offer prices which greatly exceed going market rates.

Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D.

When you crank up your power lawnmower, your thoughts may be just on the job ahead and the beauty of a well-kept yard.

But you should be thinking safety, say experts at the Texas Department of Health. Often, it's the little things which can cause tragedy. Consider these accidents.

*A 27-year-old man is cutting grass around pecan trees, when a nut ricochets off the blade and strikes his three-year-old daughter who is blinded in the left eye.

*A 25-year-old man is using a riding mower on a steep backyard terrace when it rolls over on him. One leg has to be amputated.

*A 29-year-old mother is mowing with a garden tractor when she backs over her small son who is following the machine. His foot is crushed.

These accidents follow patterns which happen time after time, says Harold R. Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health. These patterns are:

1. Contact with the rotating blade. This often happens when the victim is clearing the discharge chute, adjusting the machine without turning it off and waiting for the blade to stop, or when the machine hits a rock and the victim's foot slips under the housing.
2. Propelled objects — wire, rocks and twigs can be shot out either through the discharge chute or from under the housing.

WHOZITS...

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — This week's Lockney Whozit subject is a familiar face around town. You "auto" be able to identify him from this old picture. Call The Beacon, 652-3318, Monday through Thursday, if you figure out who it is.

Several Identify

Lockney Whozit

The Lockney Whozit photo last week was of Retha Wofford, Dorothy Jarrett and Mrs. Wofford's daughter Jan (now Curtisinger). Mrs. Robert McDonald was the first to call the Beacon with the correct identification of the mystery picture. Others guessing correctly were Van Bradley, Bernice Reynolds and Mrs. B.A. Cunyus.

This week's Floydada Whozit photo is a local school teacher and wife of a well-known farmer. She is the mother of three children. In the photo, she is about 10 years old.

Male Chauvinist Pig Award! An oldie but goodie (though no longer eternal) makes it illegal for a woman to drive in front of her car waving a red warning flag.

The Call of the Wild... O.K. Macomb, Illinois, it's against the law to impersonate a wolf. (We think it's something to do with illegal wolf car horns, or something like that.)

Fatal clockwork:
— In Texas last year one person was killed in a traffic accident every two hours and 57 seconds.
— One person was injured every 57 seconds.
— There was a traffic accident every 57 seconds.

Here's a fascinating, macabre fact: Accidents have killed more Americans than wars combined... Total U.S. casualties since 1975 — 1,156,000. Total since 1900 — 2,250,000.

Consumer tip: Daily short automobile trips reduce your car's gas mileage more than long sustained speed. A vehicle started only four miles may actually average only four miles per gallon. The same vehicle, driven 15 miles, may average 15 miles per gallon. Don't idle your engine excessively; it just drives slowly the first few blocks of a trip, speeds between 50 mph and 60 mph are more economical and efficient than 40 mph. At 70, you are throwing gas away by idling.

Gas gauges first started appearing on cars. Wish we didn't have to look at them every time we fill up.

"I've always been uncertain about where I parked where it stopped after a traffic accident. Does the law require this?" — B.B.

If someone has been killed or injured in an accident, Texas law requires you to stop and remain at the scene. But if the only damage is to your car, the law merely requires that you should remain at the scene "or as close as possible" and call the police. If the accident occurs on a highway, if no one is hurt, and if it is a minor traffic more than necessary, you may leave the scene. # Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D.

When you crank up your power lawnmower, your thoughts may be just on the job ahead and the beauty of a well-kept yard.

But you should be thinking safety, say experts at the Texas Department of Health. Often, it's the little things which can cause tragedy. Consider these accidents.

*A 27-year-old man is cutting grass around pecan trees, when a nut ricochets off the blade and strikes his three-year-old daughter who is blinded in the left eye.

*A 25-year-old man is using a riding mower on a steep backyard terrace when it rolls over on him. One leg has to be amputated.

*A 29-year-old mother is mowing with a garden tractor when she backs over her small son who is following the machine. His foot is crushed.

These accidents follow patterns which happen time after time, says Harold R. Ray, Director of the Product Safety Division of the Texas Department of Health. These patterns are:

1. Contact with the rotating blade. This often happens when the victim is clearing the discharge chute, adjusting the machine without turning it off and waiting for the blade to stop, or when the machine hits a rock and the victim's foot slips under the housing.

2. Propelled objects — wire, rocks and twigs can be shot out either through the discharge chute or from under the housing.

WHOOZITS . . .

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — This week's Lockney Whozit subject is a familiar face around town. You "auto" be able to identify him from this old picture. Call The Beacon, 653-3318, Monday through Thursday, if you figure out who it is.

Several Identify Lockney Whozit

The Lockney Whozit photo last week was of Retha Wofford, Dorothy Jarrett and Mrs. Wofford's daughter Jan (now Curtisinger). Mrs. Robert McDonald was the first to call the Beacon with the correct identification of the picture. Others guessing correctly were Van Bradley, Bernice Reynolds and Mrs. B.A. Cunyus.

This week's Floydada Whozit photo is a local school teacher and wife of a well-known farmer. She is the mother of three children. In the photo, she is about 10 years old.

Protect Yourself Against Glaucoma

Could you have glaucoma, right now, today? Some two million Americans have this disease, a major cause of blindness, and half don't know it. It's the cause of one out of every seven cases of blindness in the U.S.

Often a "silent" disease with no pain or other symptoms, glaucoma can't be reversed but it can be arrested and vision spared if treated in time.

Sometimes glaucoma may give one of these warning signals:

- inability to adjust eyes to darkened rooms
- loss of side vision
- frequent changes of glasses, none of which is satisfactory
- blurred or foggy vision

• rainbow-colored rings around lights

But, since there are usually no noticeable early signs, it is advisable for everybody over 35 to have an eye examination at least every other year. Diabetics, persons with other systemic diseases and those with a family history of glaucoma should be checked annually.

Satellite To Link Marketing Experts

ST. LOUIS, MO — Agricultural leaders on four continents will be linked by satellite to discuss soybean production and utilization in a unique closed-circuit television broadcast planned for the 1979 National Convention of the American Soybean Association (ASA) in Atlanta, August 12-15.

The first World Soybean Report, a 60-minute telecast will link experts in Europe, Asia, Brazil and the United States on Monday, August 13. Sponsored by Ciba-Geigy Corp., World Soybean Report will be a television milestone — the first time four continents are linked simultaneously via satellite for a live broadcast.

Speakers for the hour-long interchange will be Dr. H.H. Wachter, director of the Directorate General of Agriculture for the European Economic Community (EEC), representing the European market; Paulo Vianna, executive director, Commission for Financing Production, representing Brazil; Dr. Hiroshi Nakamura, director of raw materials department Hohnen Oil Company, representing Asia and Merlyn Groot, president of the American Soybean farmers.

During the first half hour of the program, each representative will provide up-to-the-minute status reports and their assessment of the soybean market for the coming year. The second half hour will be open to questions posed by their counterparts and the ASA audience. Orion Samuelson, farm broadcaster of WGN, Chicago, will moderate the program.

Continuing a world soybean outlook, ASA country directors Gil Griffis of Asia, Gil Harrison of Latin America and Ed Quinones of the Middle East, Spain and North Africa will describe rapidly growing demand for American soybeans and ASA's role in these growing markets.

Tuesday morning Siegfried Mielke, editor of Europe's Oil World weekly, will analyze competition facing soybeans from other oilseeds on the world market.

Market-oriented UPDATE breakfasts Monday and Wednesday mornings offer growers a choice of three timely topics — soybean marketing plans; hedging for profits; and soybean outlook for the '80s. Growers can select between research or market development discussions for Tuesday's luncheons.

Other program highlights include special activities for the children Monday and Tuesday mornings. A special women's program features Jeanne Robertson, former Miss North Carolina, and soy oil's spokeswoman, Beverly Barbour, will discuss the secrets of soy oil.

Wheat Board Directors Elected

Three new directors have been elected to the Texas Wheat Producers Board, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown has announced.

Robert Graves of Perryton will represent the Northern Plains area; Leo Witkowski of Hereford, the Central Plains area, and Winston Wilson of Quannah, the Rolling Plains area. Wilson is also president of the National Association of Wheat Growers.

The board of directors oversees the research, promotion, marketing, and educational programs of the Texas Wheat Producers. Three directors are chosen every other year to complete the nine-member board.

Grasshoppers Plaguing West Texas

Hordes of grasshoppers are stripping rangelands in the Texas Panhandle and have their sights on pastures, ranges and crops to the south and east.

Some 1.5 million acres of rangeland have already been treated or will be treated shortly in the Texas Panhandle, report Dr. Mike McWhorter and Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologists with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Counties in the spray area have a grasshopper count ranging from 32 to 54 per square yard. A count of eight adult grasshoppers per square yard is considered enough for control measures.

According to McWhorter and Hamman, the spray program for rangeland involves use of the insecticide malathion and is being conducted on a cost-share basis with ranchers, the Texas Department of Agriculture, and the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. Spray applications are made after grasshoppers hatch and before females start laying eggs.

The entomologists encourage farmers and ranchers as well as homeowners to check for grasshopper infestations along roadsides, fence rows or idle, undisturbed ground where the pests may be hatching. A key to effectively suppressing grasshopper numbers is to treat these hatching areas early before young hoppers begin to migrate.

A bait mixture using toxaphene has been effective in controlling grasshoppers along field margins and roadsides, point out McWhorter and Hamman. The formulation calls for 100 pounds of mill-run bran, 1 1/2 pints of Toxaphene 6E, 7 to 8 gallons of water, and 2 gallons of blackstrap molasses. Sawdust may be substituted for up to 1/4 of the amount of bran. Distribute the bait while still moist at 10 to 20 pounds per acre.

Another product, Hi-Plains Border Bait, is a ready-to-use formulation that is registered in Texas but currently has no distributorship.

To prevent extensive grasshopper damage to crops and home gardens, McWhorter and Hamman recommend the following insecticides:

Corn—Malathion EC or ULV and Sevin 80S;
Corn—Alfatorx EC, Diazinon AG 500, Malathion EC or ULV, Sevimol 4, Sevin 80S, Sevin 50 WP and Sevin 4 Oil;

Sorghum—Malathion EC or ULV, Diazinon EC or ULV, Penncap 4 and Sevin 4 Oil;
Rangeland—Diazinon EC or ULV, Penncap-M, Sevin 80S, Sevin 4 Oil;

Home Gardens—Diazinon Malathion EC and Sevin 80S.

Consult respective manufacturers for specific rates of application. McWhorter and Hamman note that the above insecticides are most effective when used early in the season. In areas of high infestation, control migrating grasshoppers

Personal Protection — Defense Against Injury

Hard hats, protective eyewear, safety shoes—farmers and ranchers are not fully prepared for a day's work unless they're wearing them. Industry has found that safety apparel has paid off in fewer and less serious on-the-job injuries. Farm safety leaders believe that agriculture can also benefit from routine use of protective equipment.

According to William D. Hanford, manager of the National Safety Council's Farm Department, an analysis of data derived from farm accident surveys suggests that nearly half of the work injuries might have been prevented or made less severe if the victim had been wearing appropriate personal protective equipment.

"Rising production costs are forcing farmers and ranchers to look for ways to improve productivity and efficiency," Hanford said. "Accidents add tremendous expense, time loss, and waste of skills. And insurance and compensation costs are soaring, due in part to needless accidents. Farmers and ranchers simply can't afford not to make safety a part of their working day.

"Of course, the best safety device is to work in a way that reduces the chance of accidents. But, for the best possible job of injury prevention, we must urge the use of personal protective equipment."

The cost of the equipment is reasonable and, said Hanford, "downright cheap when you consider the money and misery it could save."

The head is vulnerable to blows from falling objects or bumps from working in low or tight spaces. A hard hat can help the farm or ranch worker avoid head injuries or even a fatal fracture. The bump cap, its light-weight (but less sturdy) brother, is suitable for most everyday farm and ranch work.

Eyes are susceptible to dust, chaff, flying pieces, pesticides, ammonia fertilizer. Several kinds of safety glasses, goggles, and face-shields are available.

Industrial-rated safety glasses can be ground to the wearer's prescription. All regular eyeglasses and sunglasses should have shatter-resistant lenses mounted in sturdy frames.

Farmers and ranchers suffer a high rate of noise-induced hearing loss, usually due to operating noisy equipment for long hours. Recent-model tractors and combines have sound-controlled cabs, but persons running machinery without such protection should wear protective ear muffs or ear canal inserts.

The lungs provide harmful air-borne substances with a prime route into the body. Filter masks and respirators can stop dust, mold, chaff, and paint spray particles. Chemical cartridge respirators and gas masks afford protection when applying pesticides. A device that supplies air is essential in oxygen deficient or highly toxic atmospheres.

Hands figure in a large percentage of farm and ranch accidents. Gloves can help the worker resist avoiding many minor injuries and protecting against abrasions and other irritations.

Safety leaders emphasize that gloves cannot protect from the mangling force of machinery. Remove gloves when near moving parts that could be caught and pull hands into the moving area.

Feet are often punctured, run over, and stepped on. Safety shoes and boots with boxes and reinforced soles are standard farm and ranch footwear. Slip-resistant soles can help.

Impervious rubber offers valuable protection when applying pesticides. Many stores and agricultural communities order personal protection

Crop Potential Still 'Large' In The Southwest

With more than eight million acres planted, the Southwest still has the potential for a large crop. Typical summer rains and normal to later-than-normal frosts would lead to a crop of 5.8 million bales.

In the Mid-South also, wet weather held back planting this spring. Because of the weather problems, cotton acreage in the region is substantially below the three million acres producers intended to plant on April 1. An estimated 2.7 million acres were planted but abandonment probably reduced the standing acres to 2.5 million. These acres have an anticipated potential production of 2.8 million bales.

To the Southeast, acreage planted in cotton is still expected to be in the 600,000-acre range. By late June, the crop was reported to be in fair to good condition in most areas. A 600,000-bale crop is likely to be harvested.

An estimated 2.4 million acres were planted in the Far West and the crop is reported doing well. This year's expansion of acreage, combined with a return to average yields, would produce 4.7 million bales.

On the world scene, Shaw said that larger crops seem likely in both the Soviet Union and China. A crop of 12.7 million bales is expected in the U.S.S.R., up 300,000 bales from 1978. In China, he said, production could reach 10.5 million bales, a half-million more than last year.

"Brazil has been the major news-maker in the Americas," Shaw said. "The yield potential of the new IAC-17 seed was greatly underestimated. With ginnings essentially complete, the 1978-79 crop in southern Brazil was 1.8 million bales, up 300,000 bales from expectations just a month ago.

"Success with the IAC-17 and other new varieties is now expected to lead to expansion of the area planted in improved varieties. The estimated crop from south Brazil is now 2 million bales in 1979-80.

Cotton production elsewhere in the Americas, Asia, Africa and Europe is expected to total about 25 million bales in 1979-80, slightly up from last year.

The Board of Directors of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. July 11 adopted a 1979-80 fiscal year budget of $245,650, elected one new member and re-elected five members to its Executive Committee and appointed five new members to the board from counties where directors had either resigned or moved from the area or become inactive.

In addition members of the 60-man board discussed legislative and regulatory activities and heard a report on a trade mission to the Far East by PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson.

The new budget, only $1,900 above the $243,750 budget for 1978-79, authorizes major expenditures for expansion and utilization research projects, export and domestic marketing development, legislative activities, publications and international advertising.

PCG has one elected member on its Executive Committee from each of six districts. The newly elected member of District 1 committee, chosen to represent producers in District 1 (Cochran, and Hockley Counties) is Claude Nowell of Morton, replacing Lloyd Miller, also of Morton, a long-time PCG member who chose not to stand for re-election to the board in the 1978 Cochran County election.

Re-elected to the committee were: District 1 (Deaf Smith, Garza, and Garza Counties) W.L. Edelman of Deaf Smith County; District 2 (Lamb, Hale, Floyd and Motley) Kenneth W. Bodkins of Lockney; District 4 (Lubbock, Crosby and Dickens) Larry F. Fondren of Lorenzo; District 5 (Yoakum, Terry, Lynn and Garza) Gerald Caswell of Brownfield, and District 6 (Lamb, Dawson, Borden, Martin, Howard and Midland) Frank J. of Lamesa.

Appointed to fill the vacancies on the board were Larry Bodkins and Marvin Payne, both of Hereford in Deaf Smith County; Joe M. Thacker of Roaring Springs in Motley County; and Riley Harris and James Davis, both of Silverton in Deaf Smith County.

Legislative discussion centered around ongoing efforts in Washington to develop and pass a bill which would phase out the current disaster program in favor of an expanded and improved all-risk Federal crop insurance program. PCG is working to get the disaster program extended for as long as possible at least until the proposed crop insurance program has been proven an acceptable alternative.

On a controversial "failure to certify" rule in farm program regulations, Johnson told the board "We have nothing in the rule but we now have reason to believe that the most onerous part of the rule can be avoided."

The regulation in question, if enforced to the letter, would make hundreds of High Plains farm operators and landowners ineligible for farm program benefits for reasons completely beyond their control.
