Hospital Auxiliary To Be Organized Tomorrow

The organizational meeting of the Lockney General Hospital Auxiliary will be held at 2:30 tomorrow (Friday) afternoon in the hospital basement.

All adults who would like to do hospital volunteer work are especially invited to the meeting, according to Dona Winter, who is organizing the local auxiliary.

Several persons have expressed an interest in doing volunteer work at the hospital, Mrs. Winter states.

WHAT IS A VOLUNTEER?

...A volunteer could be any person in the community who possesses a desire to extend themselves into the lives of persons in need of knowing that "someone cares."

...A Volunteer is a person who learns that there are many rewards to be gained from giving of one's self.

...A volunteer is a person who gains inner satisfaction from knowing that she has touched the life of another person at a time of great personal need.

...A volunteer is someone very much like YOU.

The auxiliary volunteer augments the work of trained personnel so that employees have more time for the more technical jobs for which they are trained, thus increasing the services offered by the hospital and broadening the services to the patient. The auxiliary volunteer does not replace any paid employee.

The auxiliary member can be one of the hospital's best public relations mediums. Active well informed auxiliary members can do much to further good public relations in the community by "telling the hospital story."

The auxiliary member can do much to augment the services to patients and staff through money raising projects or other forms of fund raising. Many projects may not otherwise be available if dependent entirely upon the regular programs or budget of the hospital.

However, the auxiliary does not exist only to raise funds. Auxiliary members also provide extra services to patients in the form of manning the information desk, delivering mail and flowers, writing letters for patients as well as many other services which make the patient's stay more comfortable.

Floydada Rodeo Starts Tonight

The usually-quiet 12th Street rodeo grounds will explode with sound and fury Thursday night as cowboys and cowgirls from all over the high Plains begin competition in the 22nd annual Floydada Rodeo.

For three successive evenings, spectators in the dirt-packed arena will cheer their favorite riders, ropers, racers and calf-scramblers, each vying for their share of the prizes.

Among the featured events will be bare back, saddle bronc and bull riding, individual and team roping, a kids' calf scramble and girls' barrel race.

A live western band will entertain for dancing and listening on the slab after each performance.

The action will begin at 8:30 p.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Admission for adults is $3 and $2 for children.

At the Saturday performance, an Alvin Durham saddle, its value conservatively estimated at $750, will be given away to some lucky raffle ticket holder. The saddle has been on display in the First National Bank of Floydada.

One of four young women from the city will be named Rodeo Queen. The one who sells the most chances for the saddle will win first prize, a silver trophy buckle and a $100 gift certificate. The three runners-up will each receive gift certificates for lesser amounts. The hopefuls are Sally Bagwell, Lisa Bice, Shele Morris and Carrie Woody.

In the main arena the dust should be quite a while in settling, as several of the bulls entered for riding were in the national finals last year, according to Joe Cluck, coordinator for the rodeo.

The yearly event is sponsored by the Floydada Rodeo Association and produced by the C-T Rodeo Co., of Lubbock.

The rodeo is expected to just about break even financially this year. The Rodeo Association has been holding fundraisers, publishing advertisements, selling chances on the saddle and taking private donations to fund the event. Cluck said. The dance proceeds will also go to help pay the cost of putting on the rodeo.

The books for contestants in the different events closed Wednesday at 6 p.m. No information on the number of contestants or their identities was available at press time.

Costs more to maintain a mile of line today than it cost to build it

Electricity is a persistent problem with every business but especially the electric business because you must generate and deliver the power. The folks who generate our power have seen construction costs quadrupled and fuel costs skyrocket in the past 10 years. Our own lines cost about as much to maintain today as it cost to build them originally. But, in spite of these higher costs, the price of power from the electric cooperative will never be a penny higher than it has to be. That promise is a 40-year tradition.

HOW TO BEAT THE HEAT

With the gasoline shortage this summer, many people will be traveling home rather than traveling to the beach or the mountains for relief from the heat.

Here are four tips that will help you keep cool this summer.

1. Take neither hot or cold showers. A hot shower or bath can saturate you with a long-lasting and oppressive feeling of heat, like standing in the hot sun. Cold water, on the other hand, shrinks the diameter of the skin's blood vessels, so that your body is trying to cool itself through skin which is now the equivalent of half an inch of cork. Instead, bathe in water of skin temperature, or immerse your hands and forearms in a bowl of cool water.

2. Drink plenty of liquid. The more you perspire, the more you should drink. On a really hot day, you can pour off 15 quarts of water. Interestingly, gin and tonic, a traditional favorite warm-weather drink that provides needed liquid, is also a refreshing thirst quencher. Using Beebeater Gin, distilled and bottled in London, will give you gin and tonic that same identifiable excellence you give your Beebeater martini.

3. Eat slowly, but well. Haste overtaxes your stomach, and the harder it has to work, the hotter you'll feel. But don't forget that you burn up as many calories in hot weather as in cold. Dining only on salads, you starve yourself for energy.

4. Sleep more. Extra rest is important, and doctors advise that you sleep an extra hour during the hot weeks.

King Family Reunion Held In Massie Activity Center

The 10th annual King family reunion was held by descendants of Reverend Robert A. and Ann Bone King at the Massie Activity Center in Floydada on July 14. Seventy-two people registered during the day of events which included a noon and evening meal, memorial services, museum tour and a trip to the cemetery.

During the business session which followed the noon meal, current officers were elected to a second term. Don Marble is president of the King Family Association and Nancy Marble is secretary. The date for the next reunion was set for July 12, 1980.

Raymond King of Lubbock presented a floral tribute sent by Reverend John Hill in memory of his wife, Helen King Hill, who died in February of this year. Also remembered during the memorial service conducted by Reverend Tom Ballard of Cuba, Kansas, was Mary Taylor Johnston who died on April 2, 1979 at Altus, Oklahoma.

Following the business meeting and memorial service, pictures were made of each family group as they were introduced. Family members provided the highlight of the day as they recalled favorite stories.

Recent family weddings included the June 23rd wedding of Carol Lahodny and Mike Ballard in Cuba, Kansas, and the June 2nd wedding of Wendy White and Mike Hoole in Leesburg, Virginia.

Traveling the greatest distance to attend the reunion was Hubert King of Camas, Washington. Others attending were W.A. and Pernice King; Quentin and Louise Burgett; John Burgett, Fort Worth; Rubie Burgett, Weatherford; Tom and Elaine Ballard; Mike and Carol Ballard, Cuba, Kansas; Vernon and Lajuana Henning, Paul Henning, David Henning, Jan Billings, Seagraves; Clarence and Anna Fac Laws, Coleman; H.B. and Zelma King, Morton; Donna Spore, Brian and Laura Spore, Lufkin; Jim and Sandra Sadler, Britt, Julie, David, Dumas, Raymond and Mary King, Lubbock; Nick, Pat and Leigh Brady, Clovis, New Mexico; Phil, Robert and Phil King Jr., Addison; David, Mary Beth and Allison Cranford, Lubbock; Randell King, E.L. Friends Of Library Sponsor Tour Of Chamber's Studios

Friends of the Floyd County Library sponsored a studio and gallery tour of Chamber's Studios Sunday July 22. Guests were guided through the studio area, which has been decorated in such a way that combines the atmosphere of country living in the past with modern uptown living in the present.

Janis Lloyd, representative of the Friends of the Library organization, greeted guests at the door and presided over a drawing held in the afternoon. Alta Smith won an 8 x 10 environmental color portrait.

Photography as an art form dominated the gallery showing. The interaction of shape, form and color was prevalent in many pieces of work. On display were examples of Chamber's portraiture, candid, photo journalistic, commercial, nature and abstract work.

Everyone attending was impressed with the artistic renovation of the home and with the photography work which was displayed.

Special Appreciation

Friends of the Library organization express their appreciation to Tom and Cynthia Chambers for the proceeds, which will benefit the library construction fund.

NEWS 'N' NOTES

(by Sharon Hillis)

Drink plenty of liquids to stay cool during hot summer months.

Drinking plenty of liquids is important because when you perspire, water, vitamins and some minerals such as salt are lost from the body. This causes you to feel tired and lack a hearty appetite. So, drink a glass of fresh, cool water several times a day.

Sweet beverages and frozen desserts may help to cool you down but may cause you to feel hotter later.

Try these tasty, refreshing drinks to stay cool this summer.

—Serve a glass of broth mixed with tomato juice, a dash of hot sauce and a celery stirrer over ice. This tomato drink is high in sodium but low in calories.

—Tea-based punches flavored with fruit juices and left over syrups from canned fruits make tasty coolers to keep on hand for long, hot summer days.

Experiment with a variety of fruit juices.

—Buttermilk in equal parts with fruit juice makes a pleasant cooler or shake. The buttermilk contains sodium along with the extra fluid. Try pineapple or orange juice to enhance the flavor. Add sugar if the cooler is not sweet enough.

—Mix freshly squeezed lemon or orange juice with water or lemon-lime carbonated beverages for a summertime treat. Use artificial sweeteners or low calorie carbonated beverages to restrict calories.

—Another choice might be the commercially available sports drink which has diluted solutions of glucose, sodium chloride (salt) and other salts, citric acid and artificial sweetener.

A homemade salt solution made of one teaspoon salt to six quarts of water would have about the same effect as the sports drink in preventing heat exhaustion and heat stroke during vigorous exercise and profuse sweating.

After heavy rains last Monday and Tuesday, the rural roads are drying up considerably. However, the flooding six inches which hit parts of our area left roads in a bad state, with washed out places as big as cars, and ruts so deep vehicles cannot get through them without difficulty. Some of the roads had just undergone construction work, but the floods took out culverts and left deep gullies, and also washed out much of the new dirt which had been put on the roads.

Several families are gone from our community this week after their fields became too wet to work. Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Kinnibrugh left Friday for Truscott and Vera to spend the weekend with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Simmons, and with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Kinnibrugh. The Kinnibrughs went to Truscott Friday night for the commencement exercises of their granddaughter, Melissa Horne, who stayed there last week with her aunt, attending Vacation Bible School. Melissa lives in Plainview.

Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Taylor were hosts for a 4th of July celebration in the canyon near their ranch to members of their church, the First Baptist Church of Quitaque. Members began to gather about eleven o'clock Wednesday morning, and everyone brought baskets of lunch which were spread together on the cement under the railway which runs through the canyon.

After the dinner was over there was a dune buggy race, and fun for everyone. The group of about forty met at the lawn of the J.P. Taylor home and prayer meeting was held at the close of the day. The meeting was held outside. Rev. and Mrs. Fred Blake left Monday morning for Bronte, where they will be visiting his sister-in-law, sister and other relatives Monday and Tuesday. They will be home Tuesday night. They will also be attending to some business matters.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure left last Tuesday a week ago for Arlington, where they spent from Tuesday to the following Monday with her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Branch.

Mrs. Robert Reeves (Janette) underwent major surgery in Lubbock at West Texas Hospital on Wednesday morning, July 18, and is doing just fine at this time.

Johnny and Jeff Taylor, grandsons of Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Taylor, have been spending the past two weeks here with their grandparents, and will be here another week with them. They are from Afton.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings went to Hereford on Sunday to see her father, Earl Norman, who has been in the hospital at Hereford for about ten days, suffering from phlebitis. We hope to hear he is getting along well.

We send our sympathy to Mrs. Keith Marble and her family in the death of her father, George Henry Robertson, of Plainview, who died in Central Plains Hospital Wednesday morning following a brief illness. His services were held Friday morning, July 20 at 11 a.m. in the Lemons Funeral Home, with Rev. Carlos McLeod officiating. He was buried in Plains Memorial Park in Plainview. There are three children in the Robertson family, Nita Marble, Glenn Hopkins and Jerry Robertson.

Mrs. Nathan Johnson entertained Friday afternoon, July 20, with a birthday party honoring their youngest son, Troy, on his third birthday. Because of the rainy weather, the children could not play. The gifts were opened, and refreshments of cup cakes and cold drinks were enjoyed by the guests. Present for the party with Mrs. Johnson, Tracy and Troy, were Mrs. Rogene Bethel and Amy; Mrs. Royce Bethel, Shelli and Jamie; Mrs. Dwight Teeple, Bryan and Keith; Mrs. Carlton Johnson and Tanner; Mrs. Mark Sanders and Shea; Mrs. Oliver Clark, Angie and Kelly; Mrs. Jesse Evans and Weston; and Mrs. Nancy Young.

Grandparents Mr. and Mrs. R.O. Botkin of Leveland joined the group for the party and then went to the home of Connie and Nathan Johnson and spent the weekend with them.

About 75 persons registered for the annual Merrell Reunion, which was held at the Truman Merrell home, the home of the late W.W. Merrell, near Quitaque. The reunion began Saturday afternoon when about thirty family members gathered to have supper and spend the night. Sunday breakfast was a special event with sourdough biscuits and other good things. Jake Merrell barbecued the meat for the gathering and Sunday there was a real old chuck wagon meal. Mr. and Mrs. J.P. Taylor and their family attended from here.

Congratulations to the Floyd County History Book Committee, who have been working long hours on the final phase of the Floyd County Historical Book entitled "Memories." The book will be out about Christmas. Those from here who have been working at the Museum in Floydada are Mrs. Nancy Marble, Mrs. Norma Welch, Mrs. June Ware and Mrs. Neta Marble.

Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham arrived home from a three week trip with her sister, Mrs. Edith Magnusson, of Amarillo, to Giddings. They went to visit their brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cypert. Another brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Mack Cypert of Columbus, Georgia, joined them at the Warren Cyperts. Warren had back surgery before they all arrived, and he is doing fine at this time. Accent On Health

Texas Department of Health
Raymond T. Moore, M.D., Commissioner

The Heimlich Maneuver, a technique developed for aiding choking victims, is continuing to save lives.

Recently, Dr. Hal L. Harle, Director of the Texas Department of Health's EPSDT Medical Screening Division, and Dr. Cecil Chandler, Director of the Division's Dental and Adult Denture Program, were dining out with their families in Austin.

ministered a variation of the Heimlich Maneuver. While facing the victim and kneeling astride his hips, Dr. Harle placed his hands — one atop the other — below the man's rib cage in the solar plexus area and applied a quick, upward thrust to dislodge the obstruction.

In this particular case, a piece of shrimp was dislodged. Dr. Harle gave external cardiac massage while Dr. Chandler performed mouth to mouth resuscitation. The victim revived and was breathing on his own when the Emergency Medical Service unit arrived and took him to the hospital.

Unfortunately, this incident wasn't unusual. Choking on food causes more accidental deaths in the United States each year than airplane crashes or firearms. Among the most common causes of accidental deaths, choking ranks sixth. Each year, some 3,900 healthy people in this country die because of food stuck in their throats.

Choking often occurs when people are eating too rapidly and are drinking alcohol. The liquor has the tendency to slow down their natural reflexes, such as chewing and swallowing," he added.

If the windpipe is completely blocked, death from choking can occur in four to five minutes. Basically, it involves an abrupt, upward squeeze of the choking victim's upper abdomen to expel the object blocking the windpipe. The technique has been endorsed by the American Medical Association and can be taught to laymen.

The Heimlich Maneuver is easy to learn. "If the victim is standing, get behind him and wrap your arms around his waist," explained Dr. Harle. "Allow the victim's head, arms and upper torso to hang forward."

"Make a fist with one hand, then grasp the fist with the other hand and place the thumb side of your fist against the victim's abdomen. This should be done slightly above the navel and below the rib cage — being very careful that your fist is below the rib cage."

With a QUICK, UPWARD THRUST press your fist into the victim's abdomen. Repeat this several times.

Feasibility Study Launched For Texas Gasohol Plant

A group of Central Texas farmers have worked out an agreement to enter into a feasibility study for the design, construction and operation of a plant to produce alcohol from milo for use in gasohol, it was announced this week.

Kenneth Johnson, a farmer near Hutto and chairman of the Board for Central Texas GPI Cooperative, Inc., made the announcement following signing of a contract with GPI, Inc., a marketing and management consulting firm.

The plant would process 4,200 carloads of grain sorghum into 20 million gallons of alcohol and sizeable amounts of high quality food protein. The cost of the plant will be approximately $30 million and would take 18 months to construct, following groundbreaking. The feasibility study will take approximately three months, and if favorable, an additional two or three months would be needed for site selection and engineering. Officials are hopeful the plant can be in the Hutto area.

The Central Texas plant is one of 25 planned facilities — all farmer-owned cooperatives — to be built in the grain producing states of the nation. Discussions are already proceeding in other areas of Texas and the upper Midwest. The Central Texas agreement was the first signed to proceed with the feasibility study.

"If everything goes according to our plan," Johnson said, "we would be producing alcohol for gasohol fuel within two years."

Other members of the executive board of the Central Texas GPI Cooperative are Roland Wieland, Vice President, of Plufferville, and Wayne Decker, Secretary, of Hutto.

"When the 25 plants are completed, farmer-owned cooperatives would be producing 500 million gallons of alcohol annually and would materially reduce our dependence on Arab oil imports and improve our balance of trade deficits," Ron Wood, Texas Coordinator for GPI, Inc., said.

The gasohol concept is not a new one, but has become more economically feasible with recent increases in the cost of oil imports and resulting increases in cost of gasoline. In the past two years, refining systems for this alternative source of fuel have been developed, processing the grain into alcohol with a yield of fuel far in excess of the fuel consumed in the process.

The mixture of 10 percent alcohol and 90 percent gasoline will fuel any car which normally operates on regular gasoline, leaded or unleaded. It does not require any modification of the automobile and therefore can be readily marketed as soon as production can be attained. GPI, Inc., is an organization of Midwestern grain farmers headquartered in Foreman, N.D. who have conducted extensive research into the economics and marketing of alcohol fuels and related food products. The purpose of the organization is to assist farmers in developing and marketing alcohol fuels and related food products.
