County 4-Hers Visit South Dakota

Seven members of Floyd County 4-H Club got a taste of rural life near Huron, South Dakota Aug. 7-10.

Earl Broseh, Keith and Penny Hight, Jill Whitfill, Melanie and Karvn Foster, all of Lockney, and Amy Jones of Floydada were participating in a 4-H exchange program.

Next June 4-Hers from Huron, Beadle County, will be coming to Floyd County.

Sponsors on the auto trip to South Dakota were Kenneth and Juanita Broseh and Merlene Whitfill.

While in Huron, the group lived in homes of 4-H families. The Beadle County 4-H Achievement Days were held while the Floyd County youngsters were visiting. Earl Broseh and Keith Hight showed a lamb for a boy, and Jill Whitfill and Melanie Foster did some tasting and judging in the culinary department. The South Dakota youngsters also had competition in crafts, canned goods, method demonstrations, livestock, and clothing projects, including the dress revue.

One night a barbecue was given in honor of the Floyd County youths.

Most of the group went on a side-trip to De Smet to tour the girlhood home of author Laura Ingalls Wilder.

The group arrived home Sunday. Enroute home they viewed the Corn Palace in Mitchell, South Dakota. Panels high on the exterior walls of the coliseum-type building hold murals made of ears of corn. Corn stalks also decorate the exterior of the building. One panel was a scene of pheasant walking near a fence. Both red and yellow ears of corn were used to create the scene. Another panel was of ducks flying on a lake. The panels go all the way around the building. The local group was told that the murals are changed each year.

Lockney Receives Sales Tax Rebate

AUSTIN — State Comptroller Bob Bullock announced this week that Texas cities shared $268.9 million in rebates from the one-percent city sales tax during the first eight months of this year.

Bullock also said that the cities' August allocation is $27.3 million, and says that is about 12 percent than August payments last year.

The yearly total is up 25 percent over the amounts cities received during the same period in 1978.

Lockney's payment for August is $2756.04, about twice as high as the 1978 August payment. Lockney has so far received $22,133.26 for the year, up $1329.89 over last year's total for the same number of months.

Lockney Care Center To Award Scholarship

Lockney Care Center has announced the establishment of a scholarship entitled "Investment In Youth" to be awarded to a graduating LHS senior beginning next May.

The scholarship recipient may apply the $100 stipend to either a college or trade school. The money will be sent directly to the chosen school.

Details on the establishing of the scholarship have been worked out with W.H. Hallmark, superintendent of schools. Applications will be handled through the principal's office. The recipient of the scholarship will be announced during the annual program in May.

The "Investment In Youth" scholarship is symbolic of senior citizens' interest in the youth of the community. CSS, Inc. (Christian Services & Scholarship) is a Dallas-based non-profit company and is the parent company of TLK which operates Lockney Care Center. Debbie Griffith is administrator of the nursing home.

CSS is involved in nursing home operations, therapy, educational and work study programs through government grants.

Notice

Lockney students will be starting their school days 15 minutes earlier this year.

Starting time for the first day, Sept. 4, will be 8:45 a.m., according to Supt. W.H. Hallmark.

Rural parents should expect school buses to arrive earlier than was usual last school year.

School dismissal time has not yet been decided says Mr. Hallmark.

Martha Riley Gets Alaskan Coaching Job

Barrow, Alaska will be the destination of Martha Wynn Riley when she leaves Lockney Sunday.

The daughter of John and Elizabeth Riley is taking a position as coach of high school girls' basketball in the northern-most point in the United States.

Barrow has a population of approximately 4000, with a high school enrollment of 350 students. Eskimo youths make up about 85 percent of the enrollment.

There are no roads into Barrow, so the basketball team will be flying to all out-of-town games.

Martha was graduated from Lockney High School and from West Texas State University. She coached girls basketball six years in Natalia and the past three years in Burnet.

VIEWING SIGHT in Mitchell, S.D., is the Corn Palace, a building that was viewed by the 4-H kids. The murals are made of red and yellow ears of corn.

Reunion Brings Stories Of New Mexico Ranch

Myra Applegate

Myra Applegate, Bill Wallace and Susie Wallace handed out an account of their ranch reunion for this year's reunion.

Myra Applegate, Bill Wallace and Susie Wallace handed out an account of their ranch reunion for this year's reunion.

in 1916 to live in sight of Mesa Redonda of Spikes boys fame and of Tucumcari Peak to the north. Saladita was not so broad then.

The creek curves its way across the ranch swinging in close enough at one point to the Wallace house to make an excellent place for play in its less active times. Bill and his cousins, Jim and Joe Wallace, in their young days found the sand there to their liking.

The two cousins joined Bill, once when their parents were not close around in building a "real saloon" on the sand in the creek. A broad board braced on rock was the bar. Wine ciphoned from a bottle brewing in the cellar for Grandmother's ailments, stood in three bottles on the "bar."

Following each "bank robbery" and other types of shoot-outs where they shot each other to death numerous times, they rode their stick horses by the bar and drank. Finally, the stick horses' legs became wobbly and the game broke up. The results lasted game broke up. The results lasted game broke up.

Myra, Goree and I were the first ones to arrive for the reunion, the others all coming the next day. Bill told us that he had had a calf butchered for the get-together.

rest can still be seen. Old Indian camp grounds are all over the ranch. There are places that show that they camped there several years.

Corn-grinding holes are still in large rocks. There was plenty of everything for them to eat, even buffaloes. There was spring and creek water.

Old buffalo wallows are still visible. A buffalo would lie down in a low place that had water in it or in a lake to cool off. When he walked out of that place, he took mud on him leaving the place where he wallowed with little less dirt than when he lay down. Others following him did the same, causing the wallow to grow deeper and deeper.

Along with the Indian and buffalo tales are treasure tales. It's not uncommon for "some old boy" or a group of people to show up with shovels prepared to dig for gold.

Gold is rumored to be somewhere "over in the Bad Lands." It's believed that twenty burro loads of gold are buried over near Bedford Springs. "Way back yonder" Mexicans were traveling across country with that gold when they were ambushed. All 200 of them were killed except one little girl. She told the story, so it is said. Now, they come and they dig and they go — no gold.

A Mexican-American janitor from Tucumcari High School brought his family out three different years on his vacation and spaded for the buried treasure. On his last trip, he hit a buried skeleton which frightened him into leaving so fast he was jabbering excitedly in both English and Spanish. He has not been back.

It's no tale that animal life abounds abundantly on the ranch. Once when Bill was in his car "back over yonder," a deer bounded out of nowhere smack into the car, crushing the door in. He thinks the deer had come up for water and was standing where the sudden appearance of the car light frightened him.

seen five to fifty in a bunch. Several years back, we would see as many as a hundred in a bunch. Antelope crawl under fences. That is the damage they do — the tearing down of the bottom wires on our fences," Bill says.

There is a "permit" season on antelope. The state issues land-owner permits per 1,000 acres. The land owner can give the permits away or sell them for a hundred dollars each. There is no trouble in selling one. Bill believes that as long as there is a permit season, there will not be too many antelope.

"As for smaller animals, the price for pelts encourages trapping for them." Trapping has become very popular in the ranch country. "There is no trapping on our land except what we do ourselves in the winter. We trap around our feed roads, setting about forty or fifty at a time," he says.

Coyotes and bobcats are the main pelts. The coyote pelts will bring around $62. These pelts are made into fur coats or fur collars. A coyote coat sells for around $3,000.

Bobcat pelts bring $200 each. They are easier caught than a coyote, and can be caught just nearly any way. Just hang a little strip of cloth on a cedar limb above a trap. Bobcats are just like house cats. They'll come along and play with that strip of cloth and get in the trap. Also, a good bobcat bait is a sardine.

"On years when there is lots of ground cover bobcats increase because coyotes can't catch them. When coyotes get thick, bobcats decrease because the coyotes catch bobcat kittens and kill them."

Coyotes produce in an unusual way. If there are big numbers, the old females don't have so many little ones — maybe two or three. When they are caught down to a thin population, the old females have eight or ten pups.

It's necessary to find the tracks before trapping for animals. All predatory animals have a certain run that they make in so many days. Once a track is found, a trap is put out. Tat animal will be back in three days or a week. A trap put out where the south-west wind blows the scent across to the track will get the animal.

Wild animals come for water where the cattle drink.

The Wallace ranch depends on earthen tanks, windmills and natural springs for water. Just two natural springs remain "any more." Irrigation "up on top" has cut the natural springs down.

The best well on the place is fifty feet to water. This well furnishes water for two houses and feeds six miles of pipe line across the ranch to two big drinking tubs on the west. The rain water they get is often accompanied by trouble with water gaps. They still have to keep in good shape about forty or fifty water gaps on the creek.

Round-up time comes early in the spring. Stock is gathered by seven or eight men on horse back. "We just gather for branding a pasture at a time. If we are working a big pasture, we get about a pasture a day. If we are working small pastures, we get two or maybe three a day. We de-horn and brand as we go."

Just why does a man want to be a rancher? "I'm one because I wanted to live in the country. There is an independence here. A man has to like loneliness and quiet to like ranching. He has to be a person who doesn't like the "hub-bub" of town or city life. Other people may get an interest in reading a book or going to a movie. I get a bang out of sitting on the end of a feed trough watching an old steer eat. It is just something that soothes the nerves. You have to have a love for animals.

It's a shame that everybody who was coming to the reunion didn't get there the night before for ranch talk. The next day by mid-morning, they began showing up. By that time, there was no trouble in seeing how to follow the crooked road that dodged the wash-outs in the Saladita.

Having just returned from Sterling, Scotland, and the monument of Sir William Wallace, Myra Applegate handed our pamphlets, compliments of Clan Wallace Society (World Wide), on the brave Wallace who became Scotland's national hero. She also gave the Wallace clan who met at the ranch that day samples of Wallace Clan plaid. One pamphlet showed the arms and motto above the entrance doorway of the Wallace family. Attending the reunion from Tucumcari were Susie Wallace, Josephene (Wallace) Giles and E.S. and Maude Wallace.

Bill, Maxine Donnie, Roxie, Matt, Tara and T.D. Wallace all live on the ranch. Scott and Tommye Arbuckle with Scott Jr., Matt and Michelle came from Richardson. Marie Wallace Cooper came from Canyon.

Dr. Jess Wallace, Cathy, Renee, Giles Kelly and Zane from Utah, James, Cyndie and Mindy from Tulsa, Rod and Patti Loper from Comroe, Pat, Chris Windy and Garrie from Amarillo, Myra Applegate from Plainview, Goree and Felicia Wallace Applegate from Lockney.

Club Seeking Members

Lockney Quarterback Club has begun fund-raising activities to help finance the filming of this season's football games.

Membership fee is $5. Persons desiring to join the club may call Charlotte Brock at 652-2652 or Andy Ford at 652-3730.

Club officials are also working on the football programs. Longhorn Boosters are listed on the back page, and fee for having a name listed is $15. Mrs. Ford and Mrs. Brock also may be contacted on this matter.

The Quarterback Club also helps finance the athletic banquet and makes the yard signs for varsity football players.

Other activities planned include the giving away of a shotgun and a quilt.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Dear Sir:
I am renewing my subscription to the Lockney Beacon, and would like to express my enjoyment, reading the Beacon. It's my way of retaining a little nostalgia of Lockney and many fond memories.
I was born in Lockney and attended the school system thru high school, graduating in 1940. There is a small number of people still in Lockney that I went to school with such as Bob Miller, Claude Brown, Art Barker and a few more. Their names appear in the Beacon from time to time and I feel a little like "that's my home town."
I specially enjoy your column's on "Years Ago," Lockney Locals, and Felicia Applewhite articles on people connected with Lockney History. A few weeks ago Mrs. Applewhite's article on "Milt Robbs," who is a distant relative, wrote of a "House at the north end of main street." This house is no longer standing, but that was the house I was born in and was raised in it for 18 years. So thru these articles one still feels close to Lockney.

Thanks for Beacon
Holman G. Owen

Dear Sir:
I have said on several occasions that Lockney has the best M.D.'s in the West.
Words will not express our gratitude for the fine care rendered by each of the doctors and nurses while our Daddy stayed in the Lockney General Hospital. For the personal concern we are very grateful.
I have always said that the Lockney General Hospital has the finest personnel and nurses in the world.
The A.E. Frizzell Family wants each of you, and especially Dr. W.J. Mangold, Dr. Gary Mangold, Gayle Frotenberry, administrator, and Flo Barnes, director of nurses, to know that we love and appreciate you very much.

A true friend to all
Sincerely yours,
H.E. Frizzell

Owen And Kathleen Thornton Would Do Same Bus Trip Again

Owen and Kathleen Thornton believe they have found the way to travel — by bus.
That old bus company slogan that goes "Leave the Driving to Us" just about says it for the Thorntons. Also, the bus company tours make all the accommodation reservations and arrangements for luggage handling.
The couple recently returned from a 20-day bus tour that began July 10 in Amarillo and went through nine states and two provinces in Canada. They signed up for the trip at the urging of Owen's cousin, Roy and Oleta Thornton of Clovis, NM, who also were on the tour.
At most hotels the two couple's rooms adjoined or were close enough to make convenient their nightly bridge games. The women claim the trip championship, "winning for a change" Owen comments.
Including the trip host and his wife and the bus driver, there were 41 on the bus. Each person was issued a pillow and blanket labeled with their name, and each morning they moved to a different seat. Bus tour - veteran Oleta guided the Thorntons to choosing their first seat so that by the time they reached the California coast, seat rotation would place them on the front of the bus on the coast side.

Seat rotation also assured that the people on the bus would get a chance to visit with different people each day. Kathleen says that everyone became a big family and as each person called home he or she would share their news. One couple found out they would be great-grandparents for the first time, and another couple shared the news that they had just been told they would be great-great-grandparents for the first time. That same couple, residents of Ruidoso, NM, celebrated their 61st anniversary while on the trip. (Owen celebrated their 60th anniversary on another bus tour.) Owen and Kathleen got to brag on their granddaughter Ronee's horse show triumphs.
Birthdays of passengers were observed, and a devotional was given each morning by some passenger. En route, song sheets were distributed for group singing, and the bus driver treated them to "concerts" when he had time.
Kathleen and Owen both were amazed that everyone was always so prompt in getting on the bus that they were able to leave five to fifteen minutes ahead of schedule. "We never had to wait on anyone."
No smoking was allowed on the bus, but with a morning coffee break, lunch break, and afternoon break, Owen didn't find that rule a problem.

Both of the Thornton couples were younger than most of the other passengers. The older ones seemed to enjoy all the fun and foolishness that Roy and Oleta, Owen and Kathleen kept going.
Other passengers urged Owen and Kathleen to become tour guides. They find that idea appealing, but for now, they are content to look forward to a bus tour they will go on next year to the northeastern United States and Nova Scotia.
The tour company booked all rooms for the group. The accommodations were always very nice, especially the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco where regular rates would have been $90 a day. The local couple liked the fact that they were usually at the hotels by 6 p.m. if not several hours earlier.
The Thorntons appreciated the way their luggage was handled. "The last time we had to carry all of the bags (except for tote bags) was when we checked out the tour at Amarillo," Owen thankfully recalls. "And no one ever lost any luggage" adds Kathleen.
Meals were not included in the trip fare, except for a dinner in Vancouver, British Columbia, in a 43rd floor revolving dining room, and also a banquet in Denver the last night before arriving back in Amarillo.
In most cities a tour guide was provided and the Thorntons thought the young woman in Vancouver to be the best guide. The weekends were spent in large cities and free time was plentiful for shopping, etc.
Their first night on the trip was spent in Colorado Springs. The next day they toured the Air Force Academy and then drove west through Monarch Pass and the Black Canyon of the Gunnison before staying overnight in Grand Junction.

They were in Salt Lake City by the next night. During their tour of Mormon Square they heard the Mormon Tabernacle Choir during rehearsal.
Traveling through the salt flats of Nevada westward to Reno, the group read a local paper obtained during a lunch stop and discovered that Loretta Lynn was appearing in Reno. At the afternoon rest stop they called in reservations for the dinner show.
Lunch the next day was eaten at Lake Tahoe and by that night they were in San Francisco.
In that city Owen and Kathleen left the tour for most of the weekend to visit her nephew, Morland Gene McManigal at Fairfield. He showed them San Francisco and treated them to a drive down the "Crookedest Street in the World." Some of the curves were so sharp as the road dropped downhill that the car had to be backed up to make the curve. "And looking uphill all you could see were the beautiful flowerbeds." That was a thrill that wouldn't have been possible on the tour bus.
They also rode on cable cars and ate at Fisherman's Wharf before returning to the Nob Hill street hotel. That night

LHS twirlers Tonya Nance, left, Brenda Williams and Julie Ferguson practice their routines daily. They will begin band and marching practices Tuesday with the rest of the Longhorn Band. The band practices will be held each weekday at 3 p.m. until Aug. 31. The twirlers spent two days in a clinic in Plainview conducted by Jeannie Baer with instructors from Lubbock and Las Vegas, Nevada. They also worked two days with Jo Warren Willis of Burnet, a former Texas Tech twirler, and sister of Coach Jim Warren. (Staff Photo)

Lockney Locals

Little Timothy Lane Elam, who was born Tuesday in West Texas Hospital in Lubbock, had to be transferred Wednesday to the intensive care unit in the special neonatal section of Health Sciences Hospital. He had a lung problem but is doing fine now.
Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Cooper this weekend are his great-niece and nephew, Diane and Michael Barnes of Duncanville. Michael, 12, came especially to attend the Old-Fashioned Saturday Night.
They are also visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hardy and Robin, and Glenda Cooper.
Mr. and Mrs. Clar Schacht moved a new house to just south of Lockney this past week. The house is located on the land where Clar was raised. They are former residents of the Irick community.
Ralph Scheele of Providence had surgery this week in Central Plains Hospital in Plainview.
Dismissed Wednesday from the same hospital was Wilfred Stoerner, also of Providence.
Mrs. John [Sarah] Bickley's sisters, Mrs. Lanny Ice of Monahans and Nell Johnston of Greenville, spent the past week visiting here.
"Chip" Smith of Midland spent this past week visiting with her grandmother Mrs. Neva Smith and with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Fowell. She also was a guest of her aunt, Katy and Clarence Ansley, Jody, Amy, and Jim, and visited with her great-grandmother Mrs. H.L. Fowell.
Visiting this weekend with the Bill Fowells are their daughter, Vivian and Harold Snell, Mark and Donna of Brownfield, and a friend of Mark's.

Lockney Freshmen Get Scholarships

WTSU — Four Lockney High School students have each been awarded a $100 President's Honor Scholarship to attend West Texas State University for the 1979-80 academic year.
The scholarship recipients include Roy D. Kidd, Cindy R. Frizzell, Stephanie J. Turner and Karla McCarter. The scholarships have been accepted by approximately 360 graduating high school seniors who are members of national honor societies or their equivalents.
The students, who were selected on the basis of leadership qualities and have superior academic achievement records, were offered the scholarships by campus recruiters under the direction of Keith Winter, WTSU director of development.

Kidd, who is an incoming freshman to WTSU, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kidd of Lockney. Miss Frizzell is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Frizzell. Miss Turner is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Turner. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCarter, McCarter will also be a freshman at WTSU.

Wilbur Mize made his ninth trip Tuesday night after watermelons for the Old Fashioned Saturday Night celebration.
He was accompanied by his son Monty, and by David Jackson who was going for the third time.
They used Omar Burleson's pickup and stock trailer to haul 150 watermelons (20 lb. average) nestled on wheat straw from Knox City.
The Chamber of Commerce pays for the watermelons each year.
Lockney's teachers get one less week of vacation than the students. They report Monday, Aug. 27, while the kids don't come in until Sept. 4.

Around Town by Gayle Jackson

The school board members will meet Monday at 3 p.m. in the board room to amend the 1978-'79 budget.
The Beacon is compiling a list of the college students and their schools to be published Aug. 26.
Please call the Beacon at 652-3318 to include a name on the list. Sharon Jones, our summer bookkeeper, has got a pretty good start on the list. Her last day on the job was Friday, but we think we can finish the list.
Edith Cooper will be returning Monday as bookkeeper.
Josie Hernandez takes all this energy-saving talk seriously — whether she wants to or not. Last week Lockney General Hospital called her after-hours to come back to make X-rays for an emergency case.
Josie went outside, but realized her husband had the car. Then she found out her father, Mr. Ruiz, was not at home. So she grabbed her bicycle and arrived at the hospital from her NE 2nd Street home only ten minutes after she got the emergency call.
This paper is dated Sunday, Aug. 19. But we know our local readers are looking at this paper on Saturday, Aug. 18.
With that in mind, The Old-Fashioned Saturday Night celebration will be held tonight. Be sure to go and participate in the fun. Buy brooms from the Lions Club, shop at the sidewalk and the arts and crafts sale, play games, eat at the IOOF beans & cornbread stand or get snowcones from the Scouts. And don't forget the free watermelon at 8 p.m.
If you aren't confused by this babble about whether this is Saturday or Sunday...and if you are reading this early enough Saturday morning, you might be interested in knowing that the LHS Longhorns are having an intrasquad scrimmage this morning at 10 on the practice field.
The public is invited to attend a reception Sunday, Aug. 26 at 8 p.m. to...at the faculty of the Lockney schools, Athena Junior Study Club is sponsoring the event. More details in Thursday's paper.

Thornton Trip Again

The Thornton couples were in most of the other passenger ones seemed to enjoy all foolishness that Roy and Kathleen kept going. Passengers urged Owen and became tour guides. They were appealing, but for now, went to look forward to a bus trip on next year to the United States and Nova Scotia.

Company booked all rooms. The accommodations were nice, especially the Mark Hotel in San Francisco where a couple liked the fact that it was at the hotels by 6 p.m. hours earlier.

Owen appreciated the way it was handled. "The last trip to carry all of the bags (note bags) was when we went to the tour at Amarillo," Owen recalls. "And no one luggage" adds Kathleen. Owen was not included in the trip for a dinner in Vancouver, B.C., in a 43rd floor revolving restaurant, and also a banquet in last night before arriving in Seattle.

Owen and Kathleen left most of the weekend to visit Morland Gene McManigal. He showed them San Diego and treated them to a drive through the most beautiful of the curves were so beautiful that they had to drop downhill that they backed up to make the beautiful flowerbeds. "I'm sure that wouldn't have been on the tour bus," Owen said. "The bus tour that they were on before returning to the street hotel. That night

Ms. Clifton tried it. This is her story...

I walked into Pat Walker's Figure Salon in Lubbock, ready to try one more time to lose weight. I had tried everything else, even to having surgical staples put in my ears.

After my courtesy treatment, the counselor explained the Pat Walker figure correction program to me. When she assured me that the program was guaranteed, I felt I had finally found the solution to my figure problems.

When I began my program at Pat Walker's Figure Salon, I weighed 178 lbs. and wore a size 20 dress. Today I weigh 126 lbs. and wear a size 8 dress.

Ms. Clifton is now owner of a Pat Walker Salon.

Producer Price Index --July 1979

PRODUCER PRICE INDEXES—JULY 1979
WASHINGTON — The Producer Price Index for Finished Goods rose 1.1 percent from June to July on a seasonally adjusted basis, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. The July advance was considerably larger than the increases in either May or June. Price increases for intermediate (semifinished) goods and crude materials also accelerated.

Among finished goods, prices for consumer goods rose much more than in June; food prices were unchanged following three consecutive months of falling prices, and prices for finished consumer goods excluding foods rose even more than in recent months. The increase in capital equipment prices also accelerated.

Before seasonal adjustment, the Producer Price Index for Finished Goods rose 1.1 percent to 215.8 percent (1967=100). Over the year, the Finished Goods Price Index increased 10.1 percent. The finished consumer goods excluding foods rose 12.8 percent, and capital equipment prices were 8.9 percent higher than a year ago. The Producer Price Index for intermediate goods increased 13.1 percent over the year, and prices for crude materials advanced 17.1 percent.

Dallas Cowboy football fans, Terri Lloyd and Melody Stringer left Friday to attend the Cowboy game in Dallas.

Window shades overcome "fueled" windows to save energy during hot-weather months, says Pat Seaman, housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

One-fourth of the energy used for heating and cooling in the United States — the equivalent of 1.7 million barrels of oil per day — is squandered through windows.

Only an uninsulated attic wastes more energy, she explains. What does this mean in dollars and cents?

Between 40 cents and $1.40 is added to fuel and utility bills each year, according to government experts, for each square foot of single-pane glass in a typical home. For a home with fifteen three by five foot windows, this can add up to as much as $315 each year that is spent on energy — but lost.

That's like throwing money out the window, Ms. Seaman points out.

THE PROBLEM
The problem is that glass is an excellent conductor of heat.

In summer, the blistering sun penetrates through the glass causing heat build-up in the home.

Heat build-up equals more air conditioning equals more energy to cool a home.

THE SOLUTION
Window shades form a barrier against heat flow — substantially more so than venetian blinds or draperies, the other two common interior window coverings.

Standard, inexpensive, light-colored, opaque window shades can "barricade" the flow of heat, the specialist continues.

During the summer, sunlight is deflected by a drawn shade and kept out of the room resulting in dramatic energy savings — all summer long.

HOW TO SLASH SUMMER HEAT GAIN
Window shades are a smart dollar-and-cents investment in these energy-conscious times. They are inexpensive, virtually maintenance-free, have long service life, and perform their energy-saving chores with a minimum of effort.

Equally important, energy-wise window shades can fashionably complement any room decor, Ms. Seaman adds.

For a colorful lift, decorate window shades with fringes, tassels, or glued-on stripes or bright-colored fabric.

INTS FOR HOMEOWNERS
Are you getting all you should from your insurance? If you have possessions such as jewelry, works of art, or a stamp collection, you may want to insure them separately. Protection on these items is normally restricted by the standard amount of coverage is usually limited.

Mrs. Bertha Jeter Dies In Wichita

Funeral services for Mrs. Bertha Irene Jeter, 79, mother of James H. Jeter of Henrietta, were at 2 p.m. Wednesday, Aug. 8, at Westside Baptist Church, Wichita Falls, with Rev. Jim McCurley, pastor, officiating.

Burial was in Crestview Cemetery, Wichita Falls, under direction of Owens and Brumley Funeral Home, Wichita Falls.

Mrs. Jeter died Monday in Clay County Memorial Hospital, Henrietta.

She was born Sept. 9, 1899 in Grayson County, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Preston (Laura) Feagans, and married Jim Henry Jeter Sept. 9, 1923, in Floyd County.

The Employment Situation

WASHINGTON — Total employment rose in July and unemployment was virtually unchanged, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported. The Nation's overall unemployment rate was 5.7 percent, little different from the June rate of 5.6 percent and similar to those which have prevailed since August 1978. The overall unemployment situation for blacks and whites was unchanged from June.

Total employment — as measured by the monthly survey of households — rose by 450,000 to 97.2 million. In contrast, nonfarm payroll employment — as measured by the monthly survey of establishments — was about unchanged over the month at 88.8 million. Over the past year and also since March, however, the two surveys have registered comparable net growth in nonagricultural employment.

Both the unemployment rate, 5.7 percent, and the number of unemployed, 5.8 million, were about the same as in June, and have remained near these levels since last August. An increase in the rate of joblessness for adult men (to 4.1 percent) was about offset by a slight decrease in the rate for adult women (to 5.5 percent). Married women and women who head families both experienced slight declines in their unemployment rate, while the rate for married men increased. The jobless rate for teenagers, which had declined 1½ percentage points in June to 15.3 percent, was unchanged in July.

Survivors include: one son, one daughter, one daughter-in-law, three grand-children and one great-grandchild. Services were August 17 at St. Catholic church in Germany.

Former Lockney Resident Killed In Accident

Funeral services were conducted Friday afternoon in Brownfield in St. Anthony's Catholic Church for Manuel Rios Jr., 29.

Rios was born in Carnes City and had lived in Lockney before moving to Brownfield in 1963. He married Janie Diaz in 1970 in Brownfield.

Rios was dead on arrival about noon Tuesday at Brownfield Regional Hospital. The employee of Service Electric was electrocuted while working near the Brownfield School agriculture building.

Survivors include a daughter, five parents, five brothers and four sisters.

The Employment Situation

WASHINGTON — Total employment rose in July and unemployment was virtually unchanged, the U.S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

The nation's overall unemployment rate was 5.7 percent, little different from the June rate of 5.6 percent and similar to those which have prevailed since August 1978. The overall unemployment situation for blacks and whites was unchanged from June.

Total employment — as measured by the monthly survey of households — rose by 450,000 to 97.2 million. In contrast, nonfarm payroll employment — as measured by the monthly survey of establishments — was about unchanged over the month at 88.8 million.

Both the unemployment rate, 5.7 percent, and the number of unemployed, 5.8 million, were about the same as in June, and have remained near these levels since last August. An increase in the rate of joblessness for adult men (to 4.1 percent) was about offset by a slight decrease in the rate for adult women (to 5.5 percent). Married women and women who head families both experienced slight declines in their unemployment rate, while the rate for married men increased. The jobless rate for teenagers, which had declined 1 1/2 percentage points in June to 15.3 percent, was unchanged in July.

Among the number of their last job rose in July, while their first job rose over 900,000.

The duration of unemployment edged up above the number of people employed between weeks.

The civilian labor force grew by 530,000 in July, up from 103.1 million in June. Most of the growth occurred in March. At 63.8 percent, the civilian labor force participation rate was a year and a half above a year earlier.

The number of women accounted for the over-the-year increase in the labor force participation rate. It was 103.1 million in July, up from 102.7 million in June.

Women's participation in the labor force rose to 63.8 percent in July from 63.5 percent in June.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Texans Plant More Cotton, Less Sorghum

COLLEGE STATION — Texas farmers have planted more acres to cotton, soybeans, rye and sunflowers this year but less to grain sorghum, corn, oats and rice.

The change is largely a shift in different crop acreages, as total crop acreage in 1979 changed little from that in 1978 acreage, points out Dr. Carl Anderson, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. The big shift is a 550,000-acre increase in cotton and a 500,000-acre decrease in grain sorghum, according to the June acreage report of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

More than half the nation's 13.9 million acres of cotton are in Texas, notes Anderson. Farmers in Texas planted 7.5 million acres to cotton, up 8 percent from the 6.95 million in 1978 and 13 percent more than the 6.65 million two years ago.

High cost of irrigation water is a major factor pushing cotton acreage up, believes the economist. With cotton, farmers can stretch water further and still maintain cash flow at a higher level than with grain sorghum or corn. Too, the price of cotton in early 1979 was more favorable than grain.

Anderson contends that the strong interest in growing more corn that arose in the mid-1970's is dwindling. Most of the acreage and yield increase occurred on the irrigated High Plains area. But after reaching a peak acreage of 1.8 million in 1977, growers are planting about 1.3 million this year. Parmer, Castro, Hale, Lamb and Deaf Smith counties accounted for more than half of the 1978 Texas corn crop.

Interest in growing more soybeans continues, with 900,000 acres planted in 1979, up 100,000 acres from 1978 and 1977. In contrast, only 375,000 acres were planted to soybeans in 1976 and only 114,000 acres were planted in 1971.

Anderson explains this tremendous increase in soybean acreage with the fact that the soybean is one of the most versatile crops in America. It is used for animal feed as well as human food and serves as a raw material for many industrial uses. Compared with other crops, soybeans generally cost less to produce, biologically fix their own nitrogen, and are relatively free of crop pests.

Increased interest in growing sunflowers stems from the need for an additional cash crop with low water and plant nutrient requirements, development of sunflower hybrids, and interest by food processors in Texas sunflower oil which has a high oleic acid content. This crop exhibits good cold and drought tolerance, is adapted to a wide range of soil and climatic conditions, and tolerates higher levels of hail, wind and sand abrasion than many other crops normally grown in Texas, explains the economist.

Sunflower acreage is up more than 50 percent in Texas this year from the 45,000 acres planted in 1978. About 30,000 acres were actually harvested in 1978 with a yield of 727 pounds per acre. This production of 21.8 million pounds was valued at $2,214,000. This was a sharp decrease from the 300,000 acres planted and 235,000 acres harvested in 1977.

TO IRRIGATE, OR NOT TO IRRIGATE — Clouds above Floydada this week appear to echo the question that farmers all over the county have been asking themselves.

Pest Management Newsletter

THE REVISED prediction for bollworm egg laying indicates that bollworm activity should increase greatly within the next week. Please note that this is somewhat earlier than what was previously expected. A few scattered eggs and worms are being found at the present in Crosby and Floyd Counties.

Many fields are reaching peak bloom. Cotton has made excellent growth over the last few weeks due to adequate moisture. Unfortunately that's just the way bollworms like their cotton — succulent and blooming. The scene is set for a potentially devastating bollworm year.

Bollworm egg lay prediction — August

With the addition of new data from the light traps we have arrived at a new predicted peak egg lay for August. An increase in bollworm activity should begin about the 15th. Peak egg laying will occur by the 20th and may last for several days after that. The numbers of bollworms that will result from egg laying cannot be accurately predicted. Each field will be different depending on the attractiveness of the cotton and numbers of beneficial insects present. Since most fields are in about the same shape, eggs may be spread thin over the whole area with only a few fields reaching the economic threshold. The intention of this prediction is to alert you that if you are ever going to check your cotton — now is the time to start.

Fields should be checked at least twice a week to enable you to catch egg laying in time. At least 100 1/2 grown or larger squares (not yellowed or flared) should be checked in each field. Since egg lays can be spotty at least four sites, representative of the field, should be checked. While examining squares for damage, egg and worm counts should be made. Count separately the number of white and brown eggs per 100 plant terminals. Eggs that are brown are within 24 hours of hatching. By counting eggs you can determine what level of worm infestation you can expect in the next day or so, and just how much control is coming from beneficials. If you find 20 or more eggs per 100 plants and beneficial activity is low, excessive square damage could result following egg hatch.

Cotton that is next to sorghum that has been treated has a greater potential for bollworm problems due to killing of beneficial insects.

Newly hatched bollworms are difficult to detect. Small worms, 1/4 inch or less, are most easily controlled. Worms up to 1/2 inch can be controlled to some extent. Large worms are usually inside the bolls and are not exposed to insecticides when treated. Prior to first treatment 10 or more small bollworms per 100 plant terminals could cause excessive fruit loss.

In addition to the insecticides mentioned with the attached information are several biological insecticides that will kill worms without harming beneficials. These materials are Dipel, Bactur, Thuricide, and Elcar. These materials have a bacteria Bacillus thuringiensis, as the active ingredient. Elcar contains a virus. Effectiveness can be enhanced if these suggestions are followed:

1. Apply against low to moderate populations of small worms.
2. Use 3 to 5 gallons of water per acre

if by air or 15 to 20 with a ground rig.

3. Use a spreader-sticker such as Bivert.

4. Apply late in the day if possible to avoid as much exposure to ultra-violet rays in sunlight and breakdown of the material.

5. Most effective when beneficials are present in high numbers.

With these microbial worms stop feeding soon after ingesting the material but do not die for 1 to 4 days. Check your fields for results about 72 hours after treatment.

SORGHUM

Greenbugs are reaching the economic threshold in fields that have not been treated. In some fields which were treated too early you can expect these pests to build back up to damaging numbers before the end of the season. Parasitic wasp activity continues to be spotty but a slow increase in these beneficials has been noted.

SUNFLOWERS

Fields that are starting to bloom should be checked early in the morning or late in the evening for sunflower moth activity. Initiate treatment when the field is approaching 20% bloom and the adult moth is present.

I have recently discovered some extremely heavy egg lays from the Painted Lady Butterfly on sunflower leaves. Last year one field in Swisher county was completely defoliated by the larva of this insect. They are also known to feed on developing heads. Fields that have not yet bloomed should be watched. Defoliation at that stage will result in yield loss. In many cases beneficial insect activity usually takes care of most of these eggs and small worms.

Conservation Techniques Told In Report

Techniques and management practices for water conservation in the Texas High Plains area are included in a report just completed as a joint project of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 and the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Titled "Summary of Techniques and Management Practices for Profitable Water Conservation on the Texas High Plains," the report provides combinations of physical and managerial practices for High Plains farmers designed to increase water use efficiency in the area, and to protect the productive life of the Ogallala aquifer, as well as offering a possibility for increased farm income.

The report examines three major areas of field water conservation. The first, rainfall and moisture utilization, discusses limited and basin tillage practices, terracing and leveling measures, and playa lake water storage. A number of types of irrigation equipment systems and efficiency guidelines are offered, and the report also suggests a variety of management practices to be used by High Plains farmers for improved water use efficiency.

Intended to serve, in part, as a "how to" guide, the report includes information about estimating and comparing energy sources costs and consumptions of four different systems, and examines efficiency capabilities of side roll, center pivot, and hand-moved sprinkler systems, as well as furrow irrigation.

Supporting graphs are included to document and illustrate the results of application and conservation techniques for a variety of High Plains crops.

Copies of the report may be obtained free of charge from the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1, 2930 Avenue Q, Lubbock 79403.

Weed Research To Be Highlighted At TAES Field Day

LUBBOCK—During the 70th Annual Field Day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES), weed research will be one of the highlights of interest to area farmers.

The Field Day is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 11 at 1 p.m. at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center, three miles north of Lubbock International Airport on F.M. 1294.

Due to the high amount of rainfall and the late cotton crop this season, there has been a great deal of interest in weed control and the new application equipment, according to TAES weed scientists Dr. John R. Abernathy, Wayne Keeling, and Jess Davis. These weed scientists will be presenting the latest data on weed control on the Texas High Plains.

"We are also going to take a good look at the new types of herbicide application equipment," Abernathy said. Included in the Weed Control presentation will be the different types of rope-wick applicators and spot spraying equipment.

The Weed Control stop on the field tour will also present information on the control of perennial weeds such as Texas blueweed, lakeweed, nutsedge, whitehead, and johnsongrass.

Additional stops on the Field Day tour will include soil fertility, cotton breeding, water use efficiency, and grain sorghum breeding. Grape vineyard tours and soybean research will be among the added attractions this year.

The annual Field Day is a cooperative presentation of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, High Plains Research Foundation, USDA-Science and Education Administration, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and the National Weather Service Agricultural Meteorology Office. Professional staffs of these organizations, state and federal agencies will be on hand during the Field Day to answer questions and discuss topics of interest with farmers, home owners and gardeners.

Cotton Today

SAMPLING CHANGES PROPOSED: The U.S. Department of Agriculture is proposing changes in cotton warehouse sampling procedures. The proposal, to be effective with the 1980-81 crop, would limit sampling to one cut per bale side on initial receipt if the bale had not been sampled previously at the gin. The rule would not prevent cutting additional samples later. If more than one sample is desired when a bale is received, they may be drawn from the initial sample holes. The action was recommended by the Joint Industry Bale Packaging Committee last March.

ENERGY MEETING SET: The National Cotton Council's Industrywide Energy Committee and Producer Steering Committee will hold a joint meeting on energy in Dallas August 16-17. White House Associate Director for Domestic Policy Lynn Daft is scheduled to brief the cotton groups on the President's energy plan and what it means to agriculture.

COTTON EXPORTS: The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported that cotton exports for the week ended Aug. 13, 1979, were 14,800 bales, valued at $1.8 billion. This compares with 15,000 bales for the same week last year. New sales for the week ended Aug. 13, 1979, were 2,632,000 bales, valued at $3.2 billion. This compares with 2,599,000 bales for the same week last year. New sales for the week ended Aug. 13, 1979, were 2,632,000 bales, valued at $3.2 billion. This compares with 2,599,000 bales for the same week last year.

TARGET PRICE: The U.S. Department of Agriculture announced a target price for upland cotton of 57.7¢ per pound. This is a decrease from the 58.5¢ target price for upland cotton in 1978.

AND COTTON: The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported that cotton production in 1979 is 19.8 million bales, valued at $2.4 billion. This compares with 19.8 million bales for 1978, valued at $2.4 billion.

COTTON TALKS FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS INC.

All is not lost, price-wise, for cotton producers in 1979, says Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock.

True, 1979 production in the U.S., assuming "normal" weather, is expected to exceed combined exports and domestic consumption. But production on the High Plains, which boasts about 30 percent of the nation's estimated acreage for harvest, is highly suspect. The crop generally is two to four weeks late, and temperatures in the fifties during September could prove disastrous. And the same is true, perhaps to a lesser degree, of crops in the mid-South and Southeast.

It's true also that crop reports are good from most major foreign cotton producing countries. But there again crops in those countries, as in the U.S., are far from being ready for harvest. The Russian crop for example is about as late as that on the High Plains. And the growing season there is such that the crop's vulnerability to adverse late-season weather is as critical as anywhere in the world.

This may explain why Russia, which is expected to export something like four million bales, has shown no inclination to become an aggressive export seller. According to Cotton Outlook magazine, a "Russian high grades show no propensity to weaken and Moscow is only a seller for deliveries in the year."

Aside from the present, the world's major cotton producing countries are expected to exert a favorable influence on the cotton market in 1979.

One of these, especially mentioned in Tokyo for the Daily News article states that the cotton market is in a "critical crisis" and some industries are "in a state of shock."

"Should the market fibers in Japan find a way to increase its cotton production," Johnson emphasizes, "there will be an impact on U.S. cotton prices. But with a strong wind, plus others, the cotton market should be a better idea of what the predicted price-depression in fact develops."

According to Aristotle's rules of rhetoric, true beauty of expression and power to persuade go hand in hand with sincerity.

"None can love freedom heartily but good men; the rest love not freedom but license." John Milton

"The most important thing in life is never to have too much of anything." Terence

HS Yearbook

1978-79 editor of the Lockney yearbook has been received by the publishers and will be ready Thursday (tonight). Students may come from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. to pick up their annuals on the high school. Advisor Peggy Hallmark says the yearbooks were sold at the school received over 200 orders. The yearbook will be available at a cost of $1.00. If you do not arrive in time, they will be ready for pickup on Friday night for $1 each. The yearbook is a page of information for students.

School Registration

Registration for Lockney High School will be conducted on August 28 and Wednesday, August 29, according to James Poole. It is very important that students register on these days, at the assigned time. Students will register from 9 to 11 a.m. on August 28; juniors will sign up from 1 to 3 p.m. the same day. August 29, students are to register from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Wednesday, August 29. Freshman registration is scheduled from 1 to 3 p.m. that day, August 29. Students should report to Room 102, where they will be given further information. Students must contact Mrs. Poole, 652-3684 (or at the school) before coming to register. All students should contact Mrs. Poole before registering.

NOTICE

Lockney students will be in school 15 minutes earlier than last year. Starting time for the first day, August 4, will be 8:45 a.m., according to W.H. Hallmark. Dismissal time will be at 3:45 p.m. except for children in kindergarten through fifth grade who live in rural areas. They will be released at 3:30 p.m. Rural parents should expect buses to arrive earlier than was last school year.
