DOG TAGS JUST LIKE DAD'S -Arthur Gonzales Jr., who lives in Lockney with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Garza, wanted to have dog tags like his father in the Army when the senior Gonzales came to visit. So his grandparents had him some made at a local jewelry store [Schacht's], just in time for the visit. The elder Genzales just re-enlisted for three years and is in Lockney on a 15-day leave [he arrived last Saturday] before being transferred from Fort Louis, Washington to New Jersey. He'll go to Germany from there. Arthur Jr. has two brothers, Lawrence, age four, and Michael, two, both living in Washington. Linda [she is the Jessie Garzas' daughter] and Arthur Gonzales Sr., are former residents of Lockney.

Children's Theatre touring company owner is also producer, director, cast member

It takes a lot of towns to fill a seven-week schedule for the National Children's Theatre Association, which was in Lockney recently to give the school children a taste of culture.

The production of "The Little Lame Prince" will play its final date about Thanksgiving after touring in Texas, Oklahoma, Kansas, Arkansas, Missouri, Wisconsin, Mississippi, Louisiana and Tennessee. Next spring, the tour will also take a play to Florida.

Il Penseroso Junior Study Club of Lockney has been sponsoring the plays for children for about five years. Former club member Linda Terrell obtained information about the touring group from her sister at Mason after Linda's daughter Lisa saw a play while visiting Edwin Child is owner of the touring company, and also acts as producer, director and cast member.

Joining him for "The Little Lame Prince" were Allison Clemmer, Beth Goodwyn, David Chestnut and Mike Schuler. Child employed the four young people after working with them this past summer in Galveston on the historical drama "Lone Star" (written by Paul Green who also wrote "Texas") and "Annie Get Your Gun." Child was assistant to the producer.

Beth and Allison are both 23 years old and are both North Carolina natives who graduated from the University of North Carolina in dance education. David, 21, attended a junior college. His home is in but is now living in New York City.

All except Mike were chosen for "Lone Star" after auditions in Atlanta that were sponsored by the Southeastern Theatre Conference. About 60 young people displayed their talents in the session that was convenient to both the actors and to play directors.

Mike auditioned for the "Lone Star" director at Fordham University. Mr. Child foresees that the next experience for his youthful actors will be in dinner theaters. All except Mike plan to be in Nashville in March for more of the SEC auditions. The troup travels in a van which Child bought this year. Previously he used a station wagon to hold his play cast, scenery, props and costumes.

This is Child's 22nd year with the National Children's Theatre Association. He bought the touring production six years ago and just made his last Child does all the driving as the group makes about 1000 miles a week. (His station wagon was four years old with 240,000 miles on it when he bought the van.) The young people all bought lots of paperbacks to read while traveling and one of the girls has a latch hook rug she works on. Beth said that she thought she would hate the miles of riding, but has found that the time passes fairly quickly.

The group stays in motels, eating most of the time in their rooms from While in Lockney for the two play perfomances, the cast ate lunch in the cafeteria with the children who were thrilled to see the actors "in person." Beth says that they are "always

Child said that this play cast is congenial, which is not always the case. They are planning a party to celebrate Allison's birthday this month.

Temporary helpers with the scenery. curtain-pulling, etc. were two Lockney fourth-graders, Troy Bigham and Boyd Jackson. Besides getting a back-stage view of a play, the boys enjoyed missing classes. Mr. Child promised to recom-mend them for the job when he returns

Scenery for the play, including a baby cradle and a throne, is collapsible, so will fit nicely in the van. The backdrops are on canvas and can be rolled up. Each of the actors had several parts in the play, which necessitated careful scripting to give time for costume changes. Repairing of costuming is done in spare moments between performances.

The cast worked five days in rehearsal before leaving on the tour, but haven't had a rehearsal since. However, after the final curtain of the second performance in Lockney, the group stayed in place a few moments to work out a rough spot.

While giving the play to children, the actors and Child in particular almost exaggerate their acting to be sure that the children understand the play.

The Lockney audiences are very receptive to the plays, clapping when Only in Lockney do junior high students attend the plays. "Your Lockney children are unusual in their attention to the play," Mr. Child says.

One of the Lockney teachers praises the selection of the plays which Mr. Child brings twice a year. "There is always a lesson to be learned, and even in our first grade class we have discussion after the play."

About 300 children see each performance at Lockney, but the cast sometimes plays to much larger audiences while on tour. In one small town in Wisconsin, the town population was only about 300, but the auditorium held nearly 1000. Children had been bussed in from surrounding towns.

Mr. Child and another group of young actors will return to Lockney late next winter to do "Rip Van Winkle," with Child in the lead role. "By then I will have done the part over 400 times!"
When asked if he still might muff his lines, he said that it would be possible if he weren't concentrating. "If I was on stage but was wondering if I had made the motel reservations for that night, yes, I might miss my lines."

Besides the two plays that Child brings to Lockney each school year, he also makes a tour with a third play. This year the third one is "Pocahontas.

Il Penseroso Club charges only 50 cents for the children's play tickets, making no profit on this project. However, in many towns Child receives a percent of the gate when the ticket admission is higher. He could still take bookings in this area. His address is P.O. Box 8044, Dallas 75205.

The holiday shopping scason will be on us in little more than a week. Many of the gifts we purchase will be charged - we truly are a credit society. The problem with credit purchases, of course, is that the bill soon follows; and frequently, the bill we receive does not match the good we purchased. The billing disputes which result are a major consumer problem.

In 1975 a federal law was enacted to insure that billing disputes are fairly resolved. This law does not apply to all credit purchases, however, but only to open-end credit plans such as credit cards and charge accounts.

Basically, the law provides that a creditor must respond to billing disputes brought to his attention by a consumer by correcting any errors on the bill or by explaining why the bill is correct. The creditor must also explain the dispute settlement procedure so the consumer can resolve the problem as quickly and efficiently as possible.

The billing dispute procedure mandated by the federal law is set in motion when a consumer sends a written notice to the creditor dexcribing the error. This notice must be sent within sixty days of receipt of the billing statement. Any of the following are considered billing

-Accounting errors

-Failing to credit payments or the return of goods

-Incomplete billings -Unauthorized charges or charges not

-Charges for goods not delivered as agreed or which were not accepted -Incorrect dates, descriptions or amounts on bills -Sending the bill to the wrong address provided that the creditor was given a change of address notice at least 10 days before the bill was sent.

A consumer's billing dispute must be acknowledged within 30 days and settled within 90 days. Before the dispute is settled, creditors cannot send harrassing letters or close a consumer's account or take other steps to collect the bill. Bad credit reports cannot be issued unless the consumer is notified and ter, Plainview, Littlefield, Kress, Lockcredit bureaus are informed that the bill ney, Dallas, Temple, Oklahoma, are is in dispute. The Consumer Alert

by Mark White Attorney General

of all who received notice of the delinquent debt. If the bill is later determined to be in error, everyone who received the bad credit report must be notified that the bill was settled.

When a bill is disputed, it is important to remember that a consumer may withhold only that portion of the bill which is in dispute. And, once the bill is settled, a consumer may be required to pay finance charges which have accumulated on the disputed balance if the bill was correct. If the bill was incorrect, however, then the consumer must be given the usual amount of time to pay the corrected amount without finance charges or late payment

If a creditor fails to follow these dispute settlement procedures, the first $50 of the disputed amount cannot be collected, even if the bill was correct. And, the creditor may be sued for violating the law and be held liable for minimum damages of $100, court costs and reasonable attorneys' fees.

Hopefully, your holiday credit shopping will go smoothly and you will be billed only for those items you purchased. If, however, you experience a billing problem and are unable to resolve the dispute, contact the Attorney General's Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division nearest you.

Floyd Philosopher thinks he has figured out why networks won't sell political time early

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on White River has become aware of the Presidential campaigns, it appears.

Some of the 12 candidates - 10 Republicans, 2 Democrats - now running for President are mad at the TV networks because they wont sell them time to make their formal announce-"It's too early," the networks say.

"Wait till after January 1."

Some political experts say there's another reason, that a network gets only $180,000 for a 30-minute political announcement, while it can get $900,000 for its regular show with $150,000-a-minute commercials thrown in every few minutes. These commercials are necessary to pay the inflated salaries of TV perfomers. A pound of bacon would have to sell for $100 for its price to equal the inflationary price of some TV personalitites. AUSTIN — In the midst of anti-Iran non-immigrant see ian demonstrations in some Texas U.S. laws. cities, Texans are also concerned that a shutdown of crude oil from Iran will cuate the classifier cause more long gasoline lines at streets in politic service stations.

Last week Gov. Bill Clements said reinstatement of odd-even gasoline sales in Texas is possible, but it depends on whether "drivers panic and start topping off" their tanks. Clements instituted the odd-even rationing plan this summer based on license plate numbers.

"I'm confident we have enough supply of gas, but if we get into a panic situation, we'll go back to it," Clements

In a gesture of true statesmanship, Clements also urged citizens and officials alike to back President Jimmy Carter in his efforts to rescue some 62 Americans held hostage in Iran. Lady Horns in Classic

Plainview — The Plainview Queens Classic may well be one of the most unique tournaments in the nation as far as women's basketball is concerned.

The Classic, sponsored by the Sports Committee of the Plainview Chamber of Commerce, is the only tournament that combines a High School Division with a College Bracket to form a three day, 24 game tournament. The Classic will be played Thanksgiving weekend, November 22-23-24, in Hurcherson Center of the Wayland campus in Plainview.

All eight teams in the High School Division were in the state play-offs last season. Three defending state champions are in the Classic: Slaton in Class AA, Hale Center in Class A, and Nazareth in Class B. Three other teams reached the state tournament. Dallas South Oak Cliff, the defending PQC champ, lost only one game last year in the state finals in Class AAAA. The Plainview Bulldogs, making their first appearance in the Classic, reached the semi-finals in Class AAAA, as did Dumas in Class AAA. In addition, Dimmitt advanced to the regional finals and Lockney copped a district title.

Three Kodak All-Americans and the nation's leading scorer headline the field in the College Division. Tina Gunn, a 6-5 junior from Brigham Young, finished the season as the leading scorer in the country. She will lead her Cougars into their first-ever Classic. The Hutcherson Flying Queens of Wayland Baptist College, under the direction of new head coach Cathy Wilson, will be bidding for their fourth championship. Kathy Harston, a Kodak All-American, will direct the attack for Louisiana Tech University, the run-ner-up to national champion Old Dominion last season, will be making a bid to take the Classic away from Wayland. The Lady Techsters, led by 6-5 Elinor Griffin, finished the '78-'79 campaign with a 34-4 record. The University of Kansas, featuring Kodak All-American Lynette Woodard will make a serious run for the title, as may Ohio State University, led by Kodak All-American Frani Washington. The University of Missouri, Memphis State, and up-and-coming San Jose State round out the

Save on Fruits

Don't buy fruits that have been reduced in price unless you plan to use them immediately. If you find ripe bananas at a good price, stir them into bread, or purchase apples to make into sauce.

Buying Cheese

Cheese prices vary with choices to suit all tastes and needs. Aged natural cheeses are the highest priced, the process varieties are medium priced, and the "cheese food" is thriftiest of all - often 25 cents a pound less than natural cheese.

Chicken Saver

If you're planning to make chicken salad, buy a lessexpensive stewing chicken.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

Collins Appliance

111 West California Sales & Service

If you're one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on.

The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11pm and 8am.

Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it. You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end. Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can't wait for the week-end. Or you don't want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.

Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day.

Reach out and touch someone.
