Santa Claus is coming to Lockney December 1

Santa Claus will visit youngsters in Lockney from 2 to 4 p.m. Saturday (December 1). Santa will come into town aboard a fire truck provided for the occasion by the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department. He'll be on Main Street for two hours, taking Christmas gift requests and handing out bubblegum and suckers to the children.

Outstanding 4-H Club members honored, challenged

Outstanding youths from 20 South Plains counties were saluted and challenged to continue to achieve and accept leadership at the annual District 2 4-H Gold Star Banquet in Lubbock Monday, November 19.

FHA BEAU — The 1979-80 Lockney High School FHA Beau, Randy Ford, accepts congratulations from FHA Members Kristi Edwards (left) and Melody Wiley.

Forty boys and girls received the highest county award offered in the 4-H Club program—the Gold Star Award—at the banquet at Coronado High School. With it, each youth received the acclaim of parents, fellow 4-H'ers, government officials, Extension leaders and other community leaders.

Honored from Floyd County were Shele Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Morris of Floydada, and Kyle Brock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Byron Brock of Lockney.

John T. Montford, Lubbock criminal district attorney, challenged the award recipients to continue to accept roles of responsibility as they become adults.

Montford gave the 4-Hers "four R's" to remember to help them continue to be good leaders. The key words, he said, are retain, resist, respect and responsibility.

He urged them to retain the fundamental values they already have formed. "Your heritage," he said, "stems from what has been the backbone of our nation, the family unit." And he said 4-H is based on the values of the productive, cooperative family.

Resisting peer pressure brings to the forefront the strongest aspect of leadership ability, the district attorney said. "Saying 'no' is not always the popular thing, but it may be the right thing," he noted.

Respect for the law, "the very foundation of our society," also is needed, Montford said. "The place to change the laws is in the legislative process," he stressed. "Accept the responsibility the future holds for you," he urged. "Through your leadership, we'll regain our self-sufficiency as a nation."

"No organization can do more to equip you to become our leaders than this organization you are currently involved—4-H."

Master of ceremonies was State Rep. Jim Rudd of Brownfield. Four-Hers Steve Smith of Yoakum County and Kim Reese of Terry County narrated the awards presentation.

Hosts for the banquet were 12 member-owned electric cooperatives serving the counties in Extension District 2. Welcoming the guests on behalf of the cooperatives was Jim Payne general manager of Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Tahoka. Chuck Senter of Dawson County, District 2 4-H Council chairman, responded.

Dinner music was provided by 4-Hers Suzanne Gillespie and Ricky Neal, both of Cochran County. Other 4-Hers on the program were Lisa Zuber, Cochran County, and Sandra Mims, Hockley County.

Sheriff's office investigates stabbing incident

Details remained sketchy late Friday of a stabbing early this week near Lockney.

Floyd County Sheriff Fred Cardinal Wednesday confirmed that his office had investigated a stabbing incident but declined to release any further information.

Unconfirmed reports claim that two persons were injured in the incident. Misdemeanor charges reportedly were filed against a third.

It was learned late Friday that one of the persons in the alleged stabbing was in stable condition in a Lubbock hospital. No information was immediately available on the other person.

QA&P depot wanted for Floyd County Library building

Floyd County Judge Choise Smith this week drafted a letter to the Q.A. and P. Railroad Co. officially asking that the Floydada depot be turned over to the county.

The judge in his letter noted that the building would provide a substantial cultural and economic benefit to the community if the depot could be taken over and used as a library.

Judge Smith told Jim Sowell, vice president of the railroad company, that the present library location in the courthouse was not in the best interest of the county. The present site had outgrown its ability to provide reasonable service to the public. The location, the judge said, made it inconvenient for many persons in the county to use the library facilities.

Judge Smith requested further instructions on how to proceed in acquiring the depot for the county.

Several months ago, Sowell indicated that the railroad would consider turning over the building and grounds to the county for a worthwhile community project.

A school district group also considered asking for the depot but withdrew their petition in favor of the library.

Lockney Cub Scouts hold 'Olympics'

Lockney Cub Scouts of Pack 259 recently had their own Olympics contest at the school track. On Saturday, November 17, fifteen Cubs and their brothers and sisters participated in bicycle racing and foot racing. They were grouped according to age for the competition.

Winners in the eight-year-olds division were: In the bicycle race — 1. Jerry Klein 2. J. Perez 3. Greg Sparkman 4. Jeff Webb. In the foot race — 1. Jerry Klein 2. Greg Sparkman 3. Herman Ballejo 4. Jimmy Gomez.

Winners in the nine- and ten-year-olds division were: In the bicycle race — 1. Chad Jackson 2. Efran Perez 3. Clay Harrison 4. Aaron Kidd. In the foot race — 1. Jimmy Ballejo 2. Chad Jackson 3. Clay Harrison 4. Karla Hutton.

Other Cub Scouts who participated in the Olympics were: Tommy Hutton, Lalo Rodriguez and Eric Anderson. Local Cub Scout Master is Jerry Klein. Den leaders are Vickie Hutton, Janie Carter and Janie Klein.

Former Lockneyite on A-J staff

Former Lockney resident Richie D. Reece is a new staff writer for the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

The son of Donald and Mavis Reece of Lockney began work with the Lubbock newspaper Monday. Another former Lockneyite, Milton Adams, is also employed with the A-J; Adams is photographer.

Reece was a 1974 graduate of Lockney High School, and earned a degree in journalism from Texas Tech University in 1978. He formerly was employed with newspapers in Farmington, N.M. and Amarillo.

Lockney woman is 'plumber's helper'

Janette Workman assists husband David in the family business

When Lockney plumber David Workman arrives home from a hard day at work, his wife is probably more sympathetic than most wives for she knows firsthand his problems.

Janette Dodson Workman is David's helper, particularly when he is installing heating and air conditioning duct-work. That job is especially hard during the warmer months when attic temperatures can soar over 120 degrees! Then David and Janette prefer to work early in the morning or late at night.

Janette's job is to cut the installation and help him wrap the duct-work. Besides the itchy insulation and the heat, she has noticed another job-related problem. "He really doesn't appreciate me saying that it looks like there could be a better way to do certain things. So I have learned not to make those suggestions while we are working in a hot attic."

She has assisted in plumbing work, and is usually near-by whenever his has to go under a house. "I hand him tools or maybe help hold up a pipe. The only time I ever had to go under a house it was clean."

The plumber and his helper will be especially busy in the coming months for their firm was awarded both the plumbing and the heating/air conditioning jobs in the new Lockney General Hospital building project.

Janette's other work for the firm includes scheduling of plumbing repair jobs, bookkeeping and going to Lubbock and Plainview supply houses for needed parts. The supply house clerks don't always load up what she has asked for, so now she warns them that if they give her the wrong parts her husband will be unhappy which means she will be back to the supply houses to "kill" them.

David and Janette Workman have a daughter, Sundai, who is eight years old, and a son, Matt, who is five. In her "spare time," Janette gets Sundai to piano lessons and both children to gymnastics classes in Plainview.

The couple married in 1970 in Columbus, Georgia, where he was stationed with the U.S. Army after having served in Vietnam. Janette drove by herself to Georgia for the wedding.

After graduation from Lockney High School, Janette attended West Texas State University, and then spent a year as a flight hostess with the charter airline American Flyers which was then based in Ardmore, Okla. She thinks she has been in most of the states plus Iceland, Greenland and the Bahamas — or at least in the airports in those places.

When the airline made plans to move to Pennsylvania, Janette decided to return to school, enrolling at Texas Tech for a year. She had a job as a bookkeeper when they married, but didn't work the six months they were in Georgia.

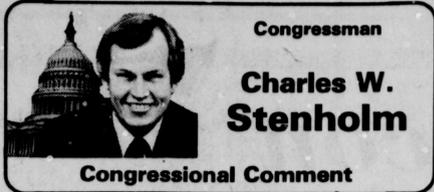

They lived in Plainview several years while David was a car salesman and Janette worked as a dental assistant and receptionist. They returned to Lockney to work for his dad Harley Workman and then bought Workman Plumbing and Heating.

David keeps the children while Janette is active in II Penseroso Junior Study Club, and he makes crafts for her to contribute to the club's fair-time sale. (This past fall he made a copper church "sculpture.") And II Penseroso's fair float won first in its division with a small "cotton-stripper." David built and welded to son Matt's small tractor.

So what does the plumber's wife (and helper) do when her sink leaks? "No, I don't fix it. And I don't tell him about it until he has a slack day and isn't so tired. Recently my sink leaked for nearly a week before I told him."

Janette Workman

WASHINGTON, D.C. — The shock of continually rising inflation has blinded most Americans to one bright spot in our economy. Agricultural exports hit an all-time high of $32 billion during the fiscal year 1979, which meant a $15.8 billion positive contribution to the total U.S. balance of trade.

In simple terms, that means that without those agricultural exports to smooth things out somewhat, we would be experiencing even higher inflation rates. All of us who have felt inflation's bite owe the American farmer a word of thanks, for without them, things really "could be worse."

Those agricultural exports are the direct result of agricultural productivity, which has been rising steadily since the 1950s. Agriculture is probably the only industry in this Country that can make that claim.

But, there are warning signs on the horizon.

That productivity — the relationship between resources used and production — is slowing. USDA economists report that agricultural productivity (Not including labor productivity) has been growing at an annual rate of only 1 percent to 1.5 percent since 1974, compared to more than double that during the past two decades.

Those gains in productivity can be linked directly to technology developed through agricultural research in the areas of hybridization, improved machinery, chemicals, and fertilizers.

Not only are researchers in our universities and other institutions feeling the sting of inflation, but research budgets are prime targets for those unaware of their continued importance to the overall economy.

There are those who say those cuts are justified since limited production gains can be expected from research in the future. To those I would have two replies:

First, that's like telling Columbus, "Sorry, but we've already discovered more than we can handle." No one can predict research discoveries and those familiar with agriculture know there are many areas of production-oriented research projects nearing completion that are vitally important to the industry — hybrid cotton varieties, for instance, or glandless, high-protein, edible cottonseed, just to mention two offhand.

Secondly, increases in productivity can be gained in other ways than by production increases alone. Remember the relationship that "resources" play in increasing productivity. We need research programs to improve our efficiency in using such vital resources as water and energy. Gains in these areas alone would mean tremendous boosts to our overall productivity, and therefore our national economy.

No one is more determined to eliminate frivolous government giveaway programs than I am, but we must retain a sense of priorities. Agricultural research must be judged on project merit, but we must beware of "throwing the baby out with the bath water."

SPS, GE to study 'solar repowering'

A half-million dollar solar repowering study for the Department of Energy (DOE) by Southwestern Public Service Company and General Electric to determine the feasibility of a solar powered electric generating an $80-million solar-powered unit at SPS's Plant X near Earth, Texas.

A great deal of research has been done on solar-powered plants but not much has been done on the concept of adding solar units to existing plants. This study will determine the engineering and economic factors of repowering an electric plant — it if can be done on a large scale and if it would be more economical than building new solar plants.

In recent years, as the search for feasible alternatives became more intense, Southwestern Public Service Company began an effort to assess those options that might have practical utility application. Solar power was one of the alternatives selected for consideration. The Company's involvement began with a data collection and literature review program of the latest developments in solar energy. As early as 1975, Southwestern became an active participant in a solar program called the Southwest Project. The objective of this study was to examine the technical, economical and institutional barriers to the rapid implementation of solar energy. A final report was drafted in January, 1979.

Southwestern's second solar project involved participation in a General Atomic study (sponsored by DOE) of a 100 MW Line Focus Solar Central Power System (LFSCPS). General Atomic's Fixed Mirror Solar Concentrator tracks the motion of the line image of the sun. Southwestern provided information on utility load profiles, the present and future worth of conventional power generation, utility requirements that could affect the design of the LFSCPS and performed an assessment of the limitations of the proposed system configuration. This study was completed on October 1, 1979 and a final report from the doe is expected soon.

Six utility-industrial groups, including SPS and GE, were chosen by the DOE to develop designs for combining a solar energy plant with an existing electric generating plant. Six similar contracts were awarded by the DOE for research on repowering units for industrial use.

The repowering of existing plants, both for electric generation and industrial use, is a relatively new idea and is being developed more as a fuel saver than an alternate fuel source. The proposed plan calls for about 60 percent of the thermal energy of the retrofit unit be supplied by the sun, and, if feasible could save approximately 1-billion cubic feet of gas annually. It could also increase or recapture the life of an existing plant. By adding an alternate fuel supply to an existing plant, that plant could last beyond the use of restrictive fuel supplies.

The proposed solar unit at Plant X would produce enough energy to drive an existing steam turbine. The steam turbine would, however, be capable of using natural gas or a combination of natural gas and solar power.

The solar portion of the plant would consist of a mirror field, a central receiver mounted on top of a 300-foot tower, a liquid sodium heat transfer system and three steam generators. The mirror field would include approximately 5,000 steerable sun-tracking mirrors called heliostats, occupying 276 acres.

The central receiver of the system will be cooled by constantly flowing liquid sodium, which will maintain a constant temperature. GE has been interested in the use of liquid sodium for many years and has found it to be a highly efficient source.

The liquid sodium as a heat transfer agent, could be a major area of consideration by the DOE when it begins reviewing the repowering proposals. Similar plant designs are expected to use water, molten salts and gases as cooling agents.

Other factors DOE will be considering are efficiency, price and geographical location, for amounts of sunshine.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

The holiday shopping season brings with it many special problems because of the volume of consumer buying that occurs during this time of the year. One of these problems is knowing what to do when broken, damaged or wrong goods are delivered.

Most of us expect, and rightfully so, that when we select a product and pay for it we are entitled to have the product selected delivered to us. Although this is true in most transactions, a consumer's conduct, once the product has been delivered, may well dictate the extent to which we can insist on this "right."

There are three "legal" terms that must be understood if consumers are to take advantage of their rights when the wrong goods are delivered: acceptance, rejection, and revocation of acceptance.

Even though the wrong product is delivered the law will presume that you accept the product, that is, take it like it is, if you do any of the following:

—If you indicate to the business that you will take the product as it is;

—If you say nothing, or —If you use the goods, damage them or refuse to allow the business to reclaim them.

If a product is accepted, then it can no longer be rejected and you are required to pay for the product at the price which was agreed upon when you made your original selection.

Of course, if the wrong product is delivered, you do not have to accept it. A consumer may reject the product by notifying the business within a reasonable time after the product has been delivered. As is true with all important communications, however, the notice to the business should be in writing and should explain why the product is unacceptable.

If you reject a product that has been delivered, you normally have to give the seller the opportunity to cure the incorrect delivery if the business has reason to believe that the product delivered would be acceptable to you. For example, assume you selected a brown hunting jacket for your favorite uncle but told the salesman that the color was not all that important. When the jacket is delivered, you discover that the store substituted a green jacket instead. Because of your indication that the color was not critical, the store has the right to cure its incorrect delivery by delivering a brown jacket within a reasonable time.

Once a consumer rejects a product, he cannot exercise ownership over it in any way other than to take reasonable care of the product and give the seller a reasonable opportunity to reclaim it.

Even though you have legally accepted delivery of the wrong product, some situations allow you to revoke (or cancel) your acceptance. If the defect in the product substantially reduces its value, then you can revoke your acceptance under either of two circumstances:

—When you have accepted the product on the reasonable assumption that the defect would be repaired; or —When the product was accepted because the defect was unknown and could not reasonably have been discovered before it was accepted.

If you decide to revoke your acceptance of a product, it must be done within a reasonable time and you must communicate your decision to the business immediately.

Finally, if a broken or damaged product is delivered, it may be rejected by either refusing to take delivery or by holding the product and having it repaired at the seller's expense unless the seller wants to deliver a product that is free of defects.

When broken, damaged or the wrong goods are delivered, there is frustration enough. With these important legal rights and responsibilities in mind, your chances of correcting the problem are much better than they otherwise will be.

HELPFUL IDEAS FOR SUCCESSFUL RETIREMENT

Senior Rules

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has recently published final regulations describing how the functional capability, age, education and work experience of an applicant affect the decision on awarding disability benefits under the Social Security and Supplemental Security income disability programs.

To qualify for disability benefits, a person must have a medically determined physical or mental impairment so severe that it prevents performance of any substantial work for at least 12 months or is expected to result in death.

The new regulations, according to HEW and Social Security administration officials, clarify standards for evaluating the person's age, education and work experience and their effect on the ability to do any kind of substantial gainful work in the light of the limitations caused by impairments.

Whozit.....

LAST WEEK — Last week's Lockney Whozit subject was Charlotte McCulloch. Nobody called to identify her. Week before last, the Whozit editor missed one — that was Martin and Cynthia Stoerner, not Martin and Kathy....

This week's Floydada Whozit is a farmer who works land east of the city.

Only David Kirk guessed last week's Floydada Whozit as the 1927 second-grade class at South Ward School. In the lineup, Kirk identified his brother, Truman, and Worth Gwendolyn Shipley.

Hunters: check playa lakes for ducks

LUBBOCK—If you are interested in hunting mallard ducks on the High Plains of Texas, check the playa lakes with visible vegetation. Pintails, however, prefer playas without any vegetation.

That information comes from a cooperative study between Texas Tech University researchers and those of a federal wildlife unit. Dr. C. David Simpson, Department of Range and Wildlife Management at Texas Tech, directed the duck habitat study.

The federal wildlife unit is one of nine satellites of the Rocky Mountain Forest and Range Experiment Station, Forest Service, U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA).

Primary purpose of the USDA research unit, headed by Dr. Fred Stormer and located on the Texas Tech campus, is to generate information on wildlife resources of the southern Great Plains. Stormer and his assistant, Dr. Samuel L. Beason, hold adjunct appointments at Texas Tech.

Other studies conducted so far have focused on diets and habitats of game birds and mammals. Results indicate that corn constitutes more than 90 percent of the fall and early winter diet of waterfowl. Other seasonal diets are being studied now. The game bird uses playa lakes for resting with minimal feeding activity.

Ring-necked pheasants, according to another study, appear to have strong association with irrigated grain farming areas.

The data being gathered now will help in putting together a comprehensive picture of the wildlife scene on the southern Great Plains.

Stormer and his colleague are concerned about the lack of wildlife information available in the area.

"Income from hunting leases in the southern Great Plains could vary from a dollar per acre year on some range land to $10 per acre per year in quality areas, and the wide margin can be attributed, in part, to lack of management information available to landowners and to hunters," Beason said.

The problem is not just one of transferring information to landowners; most of the information is not available, even to the experts, he added.

The southern Great Plains, and the 200,000-plus acres of playa lakes provide habitat for approximately 1,000,000 wintering ducks of about 20 species.

"Yet, research and development of the significant wildlife resource base in the region have been spotty," Stormer said.

More than 30 research projects are currently being funded cooperatively by the Forest Service, Texas Tech and other universities in the area. Most of the work, however, is done by Texas Tech researchers.

The USDA wildlife program at Texas Tech will focus on developing conservation and habitat management methods for the southern plains to increase income from the land, to develop recreational opportunities and to improve the amenities.

Emphasis is being placed on biological information to assess habitat management potentials and on developing preliminary management plan. Evaluation of socioeconomic potential and opportunities for wildlife management are also being studied. Stormer emphasized that the Service program at Texas Tech is aimed at promoting or conserving wildlife in the southern Great Plains. "Our job is to generate the information that could be used by landowners. The option to landowners obviously rests with them."

Besides Texas Tech, the wildlife research unit also works with the Bureau of Land Management, Soil Conservation Service, Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

LCC Associates meet

The L.C.C. Associates met in the home of Jane Archer on November 19. Marilyn Cates was co-hostess. Wynona Allison presented a devotional on "Music."

After a short business meeting, the fun began. The officers displayed their math and science knowledge and musical ability by performing a skit complete with frogs, bugs, logs and a "cool pool." When everyone had recovered from this, they were asked to write down three adjectives to describe the person on their right and their name. These were placed in a hat, and as each one was drawn out, that person was asked to perform a musical talent. Some of the talents were: Row, Row, Row Your Boat; 10 Little Indians; Rock-a-bye Baby; Old Grey Mare; Three Blind Mice; May Had a Little Lamb; and Old Joe Clark. Mixed in with these spontaneous talents were things planned by the officers including Dr. Suess, poetry and an operatic concert by Laura Jane Carter and her accompanist on the violin, Jane Ellen Klein.

After all this work everyone needed refreshing. There was a rush to the table and the cheese, crackers, apples, pineapple and cheese sticks, and cookies disappeared, along with the coffee and spiced tea.

Those enjoying this fun evening were: Cheryl Bradley, Madge Huff, Annabel Bramlet, Mavis Reecer, Alma Baxter, Mildred Gammage, Tommie Williams, Mary Glenn Dege, Myrl Wofford, Cindy Ward, Miss Carter, Mrs. Allison, Mrs. Klein, Mrs. Cates, Mrs. Archer, Mrs. Huggins, and guest Janie Archer.

Mrs. Newton Borth drove 270 miles a week to get her slim new figure!

And the results have been worth every mile, Mrs. Borth says: she has lost 47 pounds and 71 inches on Pat Walker's proven program of weight reduction.

Suddenly she was miserable, too tired to enjoy dancing or other favorite activities, but now she's feeling great again, with "more energy than I've had in years."

Pat Walker's can work for you, just as it did for Mrs. Borth, even if you have failed repeatedly in previous attempts to lose weight and keep it off. You can achieve your goal pleasantly, safely, privately—and without rigid diets or strenuous exercises.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Fiscal 1980 U.S. agricultural exports may reach $38 billion

U.S. agricultural exports are expected to increase almost a fifth in value in fiscal 1980, to a record $38 billion. Agricultural imports are expected to rise less rapidly, resulting in an agricultural trade surplus around $20 billion.

Export tonnage is expected to increase about 16 percent. The 18-million-ton gain forecast for grains will account for over four-fifths of the projected growth, but increases are also likely for exports of soybeans, protein meal, and cotton. Total export tonnage is currently forecast to approach 160 million tons in fiscal 1980, up from 137 million last year. This more inclusive tonnage series includes all farm product exports that are recorded by weight. It excludes products reported by liquid measure, such as fruit juices, and by number, such as cattle hides and live animals.

Much uncertainty still surrounds the outlook for agricultural trade in fiscal 1980. U.S. exports may fall in the range of $35 to $40 billion, depending on world supply and demand developments as well as logistical considerations. Exports could total around $35 billion if the slowing in economic activity in major importing countries is more severe than anticipated, if grain and oilseed crops are larger than expected in the Southern Hemisphere, and if an unusually severe winter or other difficulties disrupt part of the U.S. transportation system. On the other hand, exports could move toward the upper end of the range if demand abroad is stronger than anticipated, reflecting a higher rate of economic activity and/or smaller crops in the Southern Hemisphere and India. Still, achieving the upper end of the forecast would require U.S. transportation systems to function at a sustained high performance level which could be difficult to achieve.

Export unit values for grains, especially wheat, are expected to average significantly higher in fiscal 1980. Lower unit values are anticipated for soybeans, protein meal, and fats and oils.

A major cause of the expected strong growth in exports is the shortfall in the Soviet grain harvest. The 1979 USSR grain crop is now forecast at 175 million tons, down 62 million from last year. Under the U.S.-USSR grain agreement the United States agreed to sell the Soviet Union up to 25 million tons of grain in fiscal 1980. U.S. grain exports to the USSR totaled 15 million tons in fiscal 1979.

Farm Bureau News Summary

PRICE SUPPORT

The U.S. House of Representatives, on November 8, 1979 approved a bill (H.R. 3398) increasing government target prices for 1979 crop of wheat and feed grains by 7 percent. If finally approved by the Senate and signed by the President, the legislation would raise the target price for corn would be raised from the existing $2.20 a bushel to $2.35 per bushel. Grain sorghum support prices would be increased, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, based on factors and guidelines established by law.

ALCOHOL PRODUCTION

Texas produces 60 percent of all alcohol produced in the United States, but it is referred to as "recapturing" alcohol from petroleum rather than distilling it from petroleum.

FARM LABOR

The Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act of 1963, as amended, was designed by Congress to regulate "crew leaders" and to prevent abuses of migrant workers by them. In Section 3 of the Act, entitled "Definitions as Amended to Date," there are a number of exclusions or exemptions. The term for farm labor contractor does not include any farmer, processor, canner, gin, packer, operator, or nurseryman who personally engages in the activity of supplying migrant workers solely for his own operation, or any full-time or regular employee who engages in such activity solely for his employer or on no more than an incidental basis.

UNIONIZATION OF TRUCKERS

Truckers who own and operate their own vehicles cannot be forced to join a union as if they were employees of their contractors, an administrative law judge of the National Labor Relations Board has ruled in a San Diego, California case.

PARITY PRICES

Parity ratio, as computed by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and announced in their AGRICULTURAL PRICES of October 31, 1979, is established at 92 based on a 1967 index.

FEDERALLY GUARANTEED LOANS

The U.S. NEWS AND WORLD report of November 19, 1979 reported that the federal government will be liable for $34.8 billion in loan guarantees as of next September 1980 ($1,562.75 per capita - based on 220 million population). This will more than double the 1972 level. The prediction is that approximately $72 billion in new loan guarantees is likely to be issued this year alone.

AGRICULTURAL EXPORTS

Agricultural exports reached a record high of $32.0 billion during the fiscal year ending on September 30, 1979, as reported by U.S. Department of Agriculture.

THE SECRETARY'S REPORTS

The Secretary's reports indicate that for the year ending on September 30, 1979, agricultural exports were up $4.7 billion or 17 percent from the fiscal year ending on September 30, 1978. There were substantial gains in export vol-

Cotton Today

DUST STAY URGED

The National Cotton Council has asked the District of Columbia Court of Appeals to continue the stay, in effect since October, 1978, of the cotton dust standard. NCC gave the following grounds: (a) likelihood that every sector of the cotton industry would suffer irreparable harm if the stay were lifted, (b) strong showing that petitioners are likely to prevail on merits, and (c) extreme improbability that continuation would substantially harm other parties or the public interest.

EXPORTS CONTINUE CLIMB

New sales of 267,800 running bales of upland cotton during the week ended November 4 pushed the season's total to 6,264,100. The principal buyer was China, 165,100 bales. Taiwan purchased 19,400 bales. Eastern European countries bought 20,000 bales, and Greece, 16,600. The week's exports totaled 125,900 bales, and moved the season's shipments to 1,354,300.

"Strong and vigorous opposition is expanding rapidly to the unreasonable and punitive interpretation and enforcement of the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act (FLCRA)... by the U.S. Department of Labor's Wage-Hour agents."

Under those interpretations both farmers and ginners on the High Plains have been either cited for FLCRA violations or threatened by attorneys for Texas Rural Legal Aid, Inc. (TRLA). In at least one instance an attorney for TRLA has called on a producer to pay penalties far in excess of what would appear to be justified by the provisions of FLCRA. TRLA accused the same producer, notes Ed Dean, Field Service Director of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, of violating the minimum wage law after the Labor Department's Wage-Hour Division already had checked his records and found no fault.

Earlier this year the Department of Labor's unwarranted actions under FLCRA were discussed with some 60 legislators and their staff at a "Congressional Awareness" breakfast sponsored in Washington by the National Council of Agricultural Employers (NCAE). Dean, a director and member of the NCAE executive committee, goes on to say that PCG and NCAE have continued to take an active part in the effort to modify the Department's actions.

TIGA attorneys and cooperative ginners' attorneys also have been in constant contact with Labor Department officials and legislators in the same effort, as has the Washington staff of the National Cotton Council, the Texas Cotton Ginners Association and others.

Cattle Feeding Off Beef Supplies Down

Grain production is down in several other regions, including India, Eastern Europe, and Western Europe. Outside the United States, the 1979/80 grain crop is forecast at 86 million tons (7 percent) below the 1978/79 record. In addition, transportation constraints in likely to increase about 6 percent in value. The share of U.S. agricultural exports to the developed countries will drop below a half, down from an average 58 percent in 1970-78.

Increase Forecast for Agricultural Imports

U. S. agricultural imports are expected to reach $17 to $18 billion in fiscal 1980. Coffee import volume may decline about 4 percent, but prices are rising. Import volume of cocoa beans and products is expected to increase about 5 percent while the unit value declines. Expanded volumes and higher import unit values are expected for most other non-competitive import items.

some constraints in some competing grain exporting and meal supplies are low, and U.S. exports will remain strong through the winter. Economic growth is expected to continue in 1980

Meat import volume is expected to increase slightly, and unit values will likely average higher. Sugar imports are expected to increase substantially in both value and volume.

U.S. agricultural exports to the centrally planned countries are expected to increase $4.7 billion to over $7 billion in fiscal 1980. Exports to the developing countries are expected to increase a fourth over fiscal 1979's $10.3 billion. Exports to the developed countries are

Farm Bureau News Summary

PRICE SUPPORT
The U.S. House of Representatives, December 8, 1979 reported a bill (H.R. 398) increasing government support for 1979 crop of wheat and grain by 7 percent. If finally passed by the Senate and signed by President, the legislation would raise the target price for corn from the existing $2.20 a bushel to $2.35 per bushel. Grain sorghum support prices would be increased, as determined by the Secretary of Agriculture, based on factors and guidelines established by law.

ALCOHOL PRODUCTION
All products 60 percent of all produced in the United States, is referred to as "recaptured," and from petroleum rather than from molasses.

FARM LABOR
The Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act of 1963, as amended, was passed by Congress to regulate "crew" and to prevent abuses of workers by them. In Section 3 of the Act, entitled "Definitions as added to Date," there are a number of exemptions. The term "labor contractor" does not include a farmer, processor, canner, packager, operator, or nurseryman who personally engages in the production of agricultural products for his own operation, or any other or regular employee who is in such activity solely for his year or on more than an annual basis.

ADMINISTRATORS are, in some cases, assigned a parcel of land to visit and convince farmers that they are covered by the law. If any of employees recruit migrant labor, this is not necessary so.

IONIZATION OF TRICKERS
The U.S. Department of Agriculture and the National Labor Relations Board have issued a joint statement that if they were employees of their own, an administrative law judge would have ruled in favor of the National Labor Relations Board as it stands in San Diego, California.

PARTY PRICES
Party ratio, as computed by the Department of Agriculture and used in their AGRICULTURAL ACTS of October 31, 1979, is established at 92 based on a 1967 index.

REALTY GUARANTEED LOANS
U.S. NEWS AND WORLD REPORT reported that the Federal Reserve Board in 1979 reported that the government will be liable for billions in loan guarantees as of September 1980 ($1,562.75 per acre based on 220 million population). This will more than double the level. The prediction is that nearly $72 billion in new loan guarantees is likely to be issued this year.

article listed the ten largest agricultural loan programs guaranteed by the Federal Reserve Board. Estimated amounts outstanding as of September 30, 1980: Federal Agriculture Administration (housing) $11.2 billion; Veterans Administration (housing) $9.5 billion; Farm Credit Administration (farming) $8.4 billion; Farmers Home Administration (farming) $4.1 billion; Rural Electrification Loan $12.6 billion; Small Business Loan $8.9 billion; Ship Loans $6.6 billion; Loans to governments to buy U.S. arms.

ARTICULAR EXPORTS
The U.S. Department of Agriculture reported a record of $43.0 billion during the fiscal year ending on September 30, 1979, as compared to $39.9 billion in 1978. There is a 7.8 percent increase in agricultural exports in export volume.

COLLECTIVE BARRING

The United States Department of Agriculture, as announced last week, has barred the Cooperative Program from participating in the Family Farm Program (FFP) in three southern states in which small, low income farmers will be training and an opportunity to own land.

The program is expected to be completed by the end of 1980. A new corporation will be formed after the "barring" of the Cooperative Program. The new corporation will be operated by the program. ### FOUR KEYS TO AN ENERGY EFFICIENT HOME

THERMAL RESISTANCE
Insulation rated at R11 to R13 in walls—R20 to R30 in the attic. Thermal glass windows—insulating doors.

EFFICIENT HEATING/COOLING
Air conditioners with an energy efficiency ratio (EER) of 9 or higher. A heat pump if you heat electrically.

ATTIC VENTILATION
Summer and winter to prevent moisture buildup.

AIR LEAKAGE REDUCTION
Caulking—sealing—weatherstripping of windows, doors, floors and ceilings.

These four basic keys are cited by the Texas Energy Extension Service of Texas A&M University as the major areas of energy conservation in new homes.

Are Bollworms Eating Your Profits?

Call Palmer.

Palmer can help stop him from eating up your profits. When is the best time to treat your cotton for bollworm? Which chemical should you use and how often should it be applied? For the answers call Palmer and Associates, Independent Entomologist, they can assure you maximum return for each dollar spent, by:

FIRST—Regularly scheduled field monitoring procedures by trained entomologist will establish the most economical point to initiate control measures.

SECOND—Since Palmer is not connected with any chemical sale organization, they independently analyze each chemical on the market and choose the ones best suited for each job.

THIRD—Routine monitoring throughout the season assures good control. For example: This year through careful monitoring, 42% of the acres under Palmer control was judged not to need treatment at all. Average cost per acre treated and untreated was only $7.15. This resulted in an average net return on treated fields of $18.79 per acre. Don't let bollworms damage your cotton again next year. Call Palmer and Associates today and put the bollworm problem behind you. They can show you case histories of how they have helped farmers in your area control bollworms and increase their net income.
