New Longhorn head coach/AD named

Dewayne Sexton, successful Lazbuddie coach

Dewayne Sexton, 27, was named head football coach for Lockney High School and athletic director for all Lockney schools Thursday night at the Lockney ISD board meeting. The school board hired Sexton following an executive session which was closed to the public and the press.

Sexton was recently voted "South Plains Coach of the Year" in Class B for his work as head coach at Lazbuddie High School. Lazbuddie in 1979 claimed its first football title in 10 years, going undefeated in District 2-B South Zone play but losing to Valley High School in the district playoff. Valley lost 14-13 to Wheeler, the number-one-ranked Class-B team in the state, the following week. The 1979 Lazbuddie team posted a 7-3 season record.

Sexton, who will assume duties at Lockney as soon as a replacement can be found at Lazbuddie, has coached at West Texas State University in 1975. During the 1975 season the Lazbuddie team, using primarily freshmen and sophomores, broke a 29-game losing streak.

The 1976 team compiled a 2-8 record, but four of the losses were by six points or less. It was the first time a Lazbuddie team had won over one game in a season since 1972.

In '77 the team won six and lost four, with two losses by six points or less. It was the school's first winning football season since 1971.

Sexton's '78 team went 6-3, lost to the zone champions by three points, and finished third in the 2-B south zone.

Sexton was an all-district football center at Henrietta High School for two years. During those two seasons, Henrietta won 15 games, lost five, and finished as district co-champs one year. Sexton was awarded a four-year football scholarship to West Texas State, where he was a three-year starter at offensive center. He started on the school's first Missouri Valley Conference co-championship team.

He lettered in high-school basketball and golf, and in track he was a three-year letterman and two-time regional qualifier.

The new Lockney head coach/AD received a bachelor of science degree in education, with teaching fields of history, physical education and driver education, from WTSU in August of 1975. He taught world and American history, civics, and driver education at Lazbuddie High School from August 1975 until the present. Lockney ISD officials have not announced his teaching assignment here.

He is married to the former Karen McDade. They have one daughter, Kelly, born February 16, 1979.

Lockney school superintendent W.H. Hallmark said after Sexton was hired: "I think we're extremely fortunate to find a young man of his caliber. If we had looked all over the state of Texas we couldn't have found one any better.... He's the kind of person we want at Lockney, Texas."

Consumers' digital pumps first in area?

The new digital-readout gas pumps excuse us, electronic gasoline dispensers — at Consumers Fuel Association in Lockney are the first of their kind in the Lockney area, as far as Consumers manager Billy Joe Turner knows. Consumers, looking toward the day when the price of gasoline passed a dollar a gallon, ordered the new pumps nearly a year ago. They were supposed to get here in July, then the delivery date was moved to September, and they finally arrived in December. They're in operation now at Consumers Fuel Association, 200 N. Main St.

Lockney Junior High student receives reply to request for hostages' release

A Lockney Junior High School student has received a reply from the Iranian embassy in Washington, D.C. to a letter she wrote in December asking the Ayatollah Khomeini to free the American hostages in Iran.

All the students in Terry Carlton's junior-high history classes were in the Iranian embassy, but the only reply received so far was addressed to Shandra Bybee, in care of Lockney Junior High sixth grade.

The letter, signed by Ali A. Agah, Charge d'Affaires, expressed appreciation for "...the time and effort you took to communicate to us your concern about the present situation..."

The charge d'affaires' letter "assured" Shandra that the embassy employees "are being treated in a humane way" and talked about international law and the issue of human rights and its "uneven application by the U.S. government in Iran."

The letter said "We are taking every possible step to resolve the present situation in a peaceful way."

Enclosed with the letter were several pieces of pro-Iranian literature which outlined atrocities allegedly committed by the shah, and so-called "distortion of the Iranian situation" by the media.

SHE GOT AN ANSWER! — Shandra Bybee, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delvin Bybee of Lockney, was the only Lockney Junior High student who received a reply from the Iranian embassy in Washington, D.C. All of Terry Carlton's history students wrote letters to the Ayatollah Khomeini, in care of the embassy, asking for the release of the American hostages in Iran. Shandra is looking at some of the literature she received along with the letter from the Iranian charge d'affaires.

School board ups cafeteria workers' pay, asks for bids on driver education car

In addition to hiring Dewayne Sexton as new school athletic director and head coach Thursday night, the Lockney Independent School District board of trustees OK'd trips by the school band and FTA, raised cafeteria workers' salaries, and voted to purchase a driver education car and refurbish the public address system in elementary school cafeteria.

The school board approved the Lockney High School Band's trip to Durango, Colorado, and the local Future Teachers of America chapter's travel to state FTA convention in Houston.

They also approved W.H. Hallmark's trip to a superintendents' conference OK'd a student Valentine dance sponsored by the student council and the board members voiced no objection to use of the junior-high art room for art classes taught by Evelyn Whittington, or to the use of old gym for a women's aerobics class.

raised to above new minimum-wage standards in action taken Thursday night by the board.

The trustees approved the transfer of one student to the Lockney school district from Plainview and allowed the purchase of new equipment for the P.A. system in the elementary school cafeteria.

Having trouble with those tax forms? Bring them to LISD tax office

Lockney Independent School District taxpayers who are having trouble filling out the new tax rendition forms should bring the forms to the school tax office on Main Street and let the tax office personnel help them with the forms. LISD tax assessor-collector Jack Samford announced last week.

"As a matter of fact, we'd prefer that taxpayers bring the forms in," Samford said. "Most of the ones we've received so far have been filled out wrong."

Attending the meeting were board members Tom Duvall, Kenneth Brosech, Jerry Williams, Eugene Tannahill, Kelvin Shaw, Eddie Foster and Eddie Teeter; Halmark; tax assessor-collector Jack Samford; and high-school principal James Poole.

BAND BOOSTERS TO MEET TUESDAY
Lockney Band Boosters will meet at 7 p.m. Tuesday at the band hall, according to Marjorie Ferguson, publicity chairman.

All Band Boosters members should attend the meeting. Members of the organization will make plans for the salad luncheon held each year in conjunction with the school bands' concert.

Appraisal company representative to meet with businessmen

Jim McMorries of McMorries and Co., an appraisal company in Hereford, will meet with Lockney area businessmen at 2 p.m. Tuesday in the Barker Insurance building, 100 South Main Street in Lockney.

McMorries will talk about the county-wide tax reappraisal which was mandated by recent "tax relief" amendments to the state constitution.

The meeting is primarily for merchants and businessmen, but all interested persons are welcome to attend, according to Eddie Teeter, one of Lockney's representatives on the Floyd County Appraisal Board.

Tax appraisers vow professionalism in setting property valuations

Will treat everyone alike

By Jim McMorries, McMorries & Co.

Because of the enactment of Senate Bill 621, it is necessary for all taxing jurisdictions to do a re-appraisal by 1982 every five years thereafter. All of the taxing jurisdictions in Floyd County have recently contracted to re-appraise. The view of the rising cost to do appraisals, the city of Lockney and the Lockney Independent School District decided it was now time to award a contract to appraise the properties in this re-appraisal program. The contract was awarded to save the taxpayers money.

McMorries and Company have been awarded the contract. We completed the re-appraisals for Amherst, Anton, Spade, Olton, Spring Lake, Earth Schools, and have a contract to re-appraise the Sudan School District in 1980. Our appraisal work is to be completed in 1980.

McMorries assures its client entities that the values will be reasonable, that the appraisal will be obtained in this re-appraisal program, and that the program will meet all of the requirements of the State.

The contract price is a turn-key total not a percentage of the value or a commission; in other words, McMorries and Company will be paid only the contract price and the company will provide all labor and materials to complete the job.

There will be many questions asked throughout the program: What is the company supposed to do in this re-appraisal program? The company will inspect each and every parcel of property in the school district. Each improvement of value will be measured and graded (consideration being given for the type of construction, age, condition, location etc.) All rural lands will be inspected and graded by the use of an eight-grade classing system of the type used by the Soil Conservation Service. Cultivated and pasture lands will be noted on soil maps on each tract of land, and irrigation will be a consideration in the final value.

Will the appraisers see all owners? The appraisers will attempt to talk to all owners. The appraisers will definitely inspect every parcel of property. However, in our 20 years in the business, we find it impossible to see every owner when enumerating the properties.

In case the appraiser does not get to talk to the owner when he comes by to measure and classify the property, what can the owner do to insure he is getting fair and equitable consideration? When the appraiser calls a home on business, he will have a business card showing the company name and the appraisers name. The appraiser will present the business card to the person answering the door (this is for identification purposes). He will state his name and business, ask some questions about the improvements, land or irrigation, then ask permission to measure and inspect the property. In the event the owner wishes to talk to the appraiser, he may call the tax office, leaving his name and phone number. The appraiser will within a few days return the call; and if the owner desires, will make an appointment to come back and talk to the owner. We recognize that this program belongs to the taxpayers and we want to be as accurate as possible. We definitely will work with the property owners to insure equal and uniform values, and will attempt to answer all questions.

Will a property owner have an opportunity to see his values before they become final? Yes. A letter will be mailed to each owner in about June 1980, stating a time and place where an owner can meet with the appraiser. At this time, he can review the values put on his property and also review the values placed on the other property owners. Then if an owner feels his property is not valued equitably he can ask for a check of the property. The appraiser will be happy to make a check of the property. If the appraiser finds that an error has been made, he will correct the value; if the appraiser feels the value is equal to other comparable properties, he will tell the owner. Then, if the owner desires, he may meet later with the local board of equalization comprised of local property owners.

Will taxes be increased as a result of re-appraisal? No, not necessarily. In fact, some properties likely will reduce in value. All will depend upon the facts found relative to value in the jurisdiction. The intent of the re-appraisal program is not to raise taxes, only to equalize taxes. The Constitution and laws of the State require an equal and uniform tax base. It is unlawful and morally wrong to tax a property worth only $10,000.00 the same as a property worth $30,000.00. The only thing the re-appraisal program will do is to provide the jurisdiction with an equal and uniform tax base. The total results will not be known until about May, 1980.

Will properties be valued at its cost when purchased or when built? No, the law requires that all properties be valued equal and uniform in accordance with the current market value of the property as of January 1st of the year (in this case, 1980.) As an example: a house built in 1935 with 1,000 square feet of living area cost $3,500.00 when built in 1935. Today it would sell on the market

Cotton prices stable in 1979

The strong use of cotton by the U.S. textile industry was bolstered by a 10 percent increase in export sales, particularly in the sales of denim and jersey, Cox reports.

But the real star of the 1979 cotton market was export sales of the U.S. raw cotton, especially extraordinary sales to Japan. Export sales rose dramatically throughout the year as the United States was the major seller of cotton in the world market. "As a result, he said, export sales provided a strong push in cotton prices during the final months of 1979."

Looking to the new year, Cox says economic activity in the United States has lost its steam and slower economic growth also appears likely in other industrialized nations.

As a result, he said, if the economy experiences the much publicized recession, cotton consumption in the immediate months ahead is likely to decline at rates seen at the end of 1979.

Assessing potential 1980-81 cotton prospects, economists say that foreign production in 1980-81 could reach 52 million bales, about a million less than this season's output. In many foreign countries, they point out, planting decisions are based only on the previous season's prices.

U.S. cotton production in 1980 is an "if" proposition, they add, depending on whether cotton prices remain at present levels, on price movement of alternative crops in some areas, and on factors such as whether the Texas plains have sufficient moisture over the next months.

All "ifs" go according to present forecasts, there would be a U.S. cotton crop of 13 1/2 million bales, Cox said. In this scenario, he added, "world production in 1980-81 would about equal the last ten years. This could be the best, says Cox, that lower prices would be in the cards for cotton in the future."

This year, as always," he concluded, "producers need to keep a close eye on cotton market fundamentals — supply and demand determine commodity prices over the long run. Watch for USDA planting intentions report this month. Consider the likely changes in cotton supply and demand, and assess whether cotton prices at harvest are likely to be higher or lower than at planting time, and make production and marketing plans accordingly."

If selling ahead appear desirable, evaluate probable costs estimating price increases, and then consider all crop contracting and futures market hedging opportunities available," Cox said.

South Plains Blood Services of Lubbock will conduct a blood drive in Lockney Friday (January 18). Athena Junior Study Club is local sponsor for the drive, scheduled from 6 to 8 p.m. Friday at Lockney Junior High School. Lockney High School basketball teams will be hosting Tulia in the school gym at junior high that evening, so basketball fans can donate blood without making an extra trip. Persons age 17-65 can donate blood if they weigh at least 110 pounds and are in good health. Donors should present Social Security cards for identification. It's best to eat a substantial meal before donating. A South Plains Blood Services spokesperson told Athena members that a town's fair share of blood donations is the number of pints per year equal to six percent of the town's population. Lockney, with a population of about 2,000 should according to that formula furnish some 120 pints of blood per year. Recently Lockneyites have given 20 to 25 pints per year.

Tax re-evaluation to begin soon in Floyd County

Field reps out within 10 days

FLOYDADA— Jim McMorries, of the Herford tax appraisal firm that is contracted to re-evaluate agricultural land in the 10 county taxing districts, met with several local groups this week to explain what will be occurring around the county in coming weeks to get the reappraisal completed.

lost revenues from the state is Herford, McMorries said. That is because Herford has kept valuation close to market value.

McMorries concluded his remarks by noting that appraisers would begin work in the county within 10 days.

The appraiser gave the citizens a rundown on how the new tax system came into being and what his company would be doing to comply with the law. "In 1978, a state constitutional amendment labeled 'tax relief' got an 85 percent vote of approval around the state," McMorries said. "It was definitely mislabeled — it should have been labeled 'tax increase,' because that's been the result everywhere it's been tried."

The average loss to school districts through the exemptions, the appraiser said, would amount to about 55 percent of its tax revenue, or approximately $30,000. There would be no reimbursement for losses on agricultural land taxes because the ag value of land was usually higher than the market value.

The Floydada school district was in good shape when compared with other districts, though, McMorries noted. The appraiser did predict some problems in correlating the local valuations with a state valuation schedule. In 14 categories, he said, and based on 100 percent of market value, state statistics consistently showed significantly higher valuations for property than did the Fisd tax rolls.

The 66th Legislature felt mandated in 1979 to enact legislation (House Bill 1060) that is supposed to give tax relief by exempting money in bank accounts, all stocks and bonds, household furniture and family vehicles, depending on the jurisdiction," McMorries said. The law also gave special exemptions to elderly persons for their homestead.

The Austin surveyors valued homes in the district at $21,891,863, for example, while the Fisd figured only show values of $13,244,577. In the largest discrepancy, the state estimated that personal farm equipment (tractors and equipment) in the district was worth $13,228,281. The Fisd analysis valued the farm personal property at $836,161.

"The gap is going to close in 1981," McMorries said. However, taxes will not necessarily increase, he said. Each entity is mandated to budget and set up a tax rate that will support services.

For McMorries' firm's purposes, every jurisdiction in the county must evaluate agricultural land to show both the market value and the agricultural value, he said. The law sets guidelines to arrive at the value.

"If an entity can operate on half of the tax bill then taxes could be cut," McMorries said. "A raise could come in taxes on items not taxed before."

McMorries defined Senate bill 621 as an act setting up a central appraisal concept. The municipalities and taxing districts would elect five members to sit on a board of directors.

All municipalities are required to appraise property by 1982, he said, but the county, which had the option of waiting, chose to come into the district now and thereby save thousands of dollars in costs.

McMorries said, however, taxes will not necessarily increase, he said. Each entity is mandated to budget and set up a tax rate that will support services.

ay and poster contests dates announced

Texas Conservation Program is happy to announce the dates for the essay and poster contests for 1980. Gilbert, chairman of the County Soil and Water Conservation District, announced that the District will sponsor the contests on a county level and the entries will be turned in at your school or the Soil Conservation Service office before February 1.

The title for this year's contest is "Forty Years of Soil and Water Conservation Districts in Texas." This title includes, but is not limited to, the following general concepts: erosion control; soil use and management; water problems; water conservation; flood prevention; irrigation projects; and irrigation management.

The title for year's poster contest is "Food, Fiber and Conservation." This contest includes, but is not limited to, the following general concepts: All life on earth depends on the soil for their existence; erosion control; soil use and management; crop, range and land management; water problems; water conservation; flood prevention; irrigation projects; and irrigation management.

The poster contest is an open contest for boys and girls 12 years of age and under. Each poster should be prepared on standard poster board cut to half size, approximately 22 inches by 14 inches. Judging of these essays and posters will be done first on a county level. The poster contest, Senior division contest, and Junior division contest will each have a first, second, and third place winners. Each of these winners for each contest will receive prize money from Martin and Company in Floydada. The SWCD Board appreciates this generous gift from Mr. Mark Martin. After the judging at the county level, the winning poster and essays will be sent to Temple where regional and state winners will be selected. Plaques and trophies will be presented to these winners.

Charley Berry recent speaker at Floydada High School

CHARLEY BERRY is pictured above in a recent program presented at Floydada High School. The program included a sharing of his experiences of long ago, as well as a demonstration of various bird calls.

Charley Berry, well-known Floydada resident, recently spoke to the homemakers organization at Floydada High School. He was invited to speak to the group about his boyhood days. The presentation was entitled "Fond Memories." Berry told the story of moving from a larger community to McCoy, and that at the time, he was ahead of the students there, so he brought his own books and read them. As the last item on his presentation, Mr. Berry whistled some bird calls, for which he has won some awards.

The F.H.A. enjoyed the entertaining and informative program and expressed their appreciation to Mr. Berry for taking the time to share his experiences with them.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Around the County
By Jett Major
Floyd County Extension Agent

The current inflationary costs of production have been forcing more and more Texas farmers to diversify their operations in an effort to establish new and more favorable sources of income. One such area of diversification which many South Plains farmers have incorporated into their operations is that of Feeder Pig Production.

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Livestock Industry Committee has put together a Feeder Pig Workshop to help inform South Plains producers about feeder pig production and its feasibility as a supplemental source of income for area farmers. The workshop is to be held on Saturday, January 19, at the Texas Tech University livestock arena located at the intersection of Indiana Avenue and the Tech Freeway. Registration for the workshop begins at 9:00 a.m. and there will be no charge for the event, which includes a lunch sponsored by area feed dealers and hog markets.

Speakers and topics for the program include: Marvin Sartin, area economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, giving the group a marketing outlook for feeder pigs; Dr. Don Orr, Texas Tech University animal science professor, with a presentation about improving efficiency from weaning pig to market; Dr. Bob Cohen, area swine specialist with the Texas Agricultural Service, with a related talk on ways of improving efficiency from breeding through weaning. A session on grading market hogs will also be held during the workshop. Highlighting the workshop will be a panel discussion on improving management techniques. Members of the panel include: Lee Christy, feeder pig market manager from Idalou; Jim Judah, Lubbock Christian College agriculture instructor and Floyd Easter, vocational agriculture instructor from Wolfforth.

This is the second feeder pig workshop to be held in Lubbock. The workshop held last year was very informative for all who attended. Any producers interested in diversifying their current operations are strongly encouraged to attend this workshop if at all possible. For further information come by the County Extension Office.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or origin.

NCC supports pesticide use

NCC SUPPORTS PESTICIDE USE: The National Cotton Council has urged the Environmental Protection Agency to continue registration of pesticide products containing EPN. The cancellation of EPN's registered use would do irreparable harm, the statement added, to cotton farmers, the entire industry, and consumers.

MAID IS FARMER'S DAUGHTER: Melissa Mock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Mock of Altus, Okla., is the 1980 Maid of Cotton. The family operates a 2,000-acre ranch, including 700 acres of irrigated cotton. Loyd Cline, Lamesa, Tex., cotton farmer, served as one of the judges.

NO SET-ASIDE REQUIRED: USDA has announced it will not require a set-aside or offer voluntary diversion of cropland for the 1980 upland cotton crop. A preliminary 1980 crop upland cotton national program acreage of 11,602,285 also was announced. In order to be assured of target price protection on their entire planted acreage, producers must also reduce 1980 acreage by 10% from 1979 plantings. USDA will announce the final target price for the 1980 upland cotton crop when final yield and cost estimated for the 1979 crop become available.

AND COTTON YESTERDAY: Cotton was used by Zuni and Hopi Indians in ceremonies in 500 B.C. in the Southwestern United States.

USDA reports grain quality excellent

Record-making grain harvest in the South Plains resulted in more official inspections to move grain to export, according to a U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) report released this week.

Up through November 1979, private firms designated by USDA's Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) to perform official inspections in the South Plains provided 49,061 inspections for grain producers and the industry.

"Quality of South Plains grain has been excellent this year," said Jerry Cotter, Dallas region director for FGIS, whose responsibilities spread throughout Texas, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

"Our three designated agencies serving areas around Lubbock, Plainview and Farwell have performed around 12,600 wheat and 11,500 protein inspections," Cotter said.

Because grain commodities have their intrinsic qualities precisely identified according to official U.S. grade standards, much of the transfer of grain ownership takes place merely on paper, between grain brokers and foreign buyers, who bargain according to grade, protein content of wheat, and other special factors, said Cotter.

Since quality helps determine price, knowing the grade provides a farmer incentive to improve quality and a tool to compare marketing advantages. Few farmers realize this service is available, said Cotter.

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, December 29 took advantage of the House Cotton Subcommittee hearing held in Lubbock to continue hammering away at Congress on the organization's call for substantial improvements in the government cotton program for 1980.

The PCG statement was presented by President Joe D. Unfred of New Home.

Noting that a 1978 amendment to the original loan formula in the Agriculture Act of 1977 has forced the 1980 loan level to be announced at 48 cents per pound, down from 50.23 cents in 1979, Unfred stated "Our costs are literally going up by leaps and bounds and for the loan to go down under these conditions is nothing less than ridiculous."

It has been difficult to get Administration support for a change in the law to even maintain the current loan level, he went on, "and that makes it doubly important that this Committee exert its full influence to override any and all objections to new legislation permitting the higher loan that we desperately need if we are to continue producing for U.S. and world markets."

PCG's position on the expiring disaster program is simple, Unfred said: "The disaster program must be extended until some other form of protection is fully available to producers and proven effective." Explaining, he stated "It is inconceivable that the improved, expanded Federal Crop Insurance the Administration wants can be authorized by Congress, developed and made effective before 1982.

"That means, gentlemen, assuming normal weather patterns, that if the disaster program is not extended for 1980 and 1981 there will be hundreds of us who will not survive as farmers to benefit from any substitute program devised for 1982."

The PCG Board also has voted unanimously to ask USDA for a 15 percent voluntary diversion program, with payments to producers sufficient to attract their participation and achieve a reasonable reduction in cotton acreage for the coming year.

Calling attention to the prospect for a sizable increase in the cotton carry-over on August 1, 1980, Unfred told the Committee "If we are not to see another increase in carryover the following year, we believe it necessary that the farm program provide producers with an incentive to reduce planted acreage in 1980."

Summing up all of his comments Unfred stated "...the future of cotton production in this area and across the U.S. Cotton Belt will be much brighter if you will join us in efforts to secure a higher loan, higher target price, an extension of the disaster program at least through 1981, a voluntary paid diversion program for 1980, an improved climate for cotton exports, and the continuation of an effective cotton research and market development program."

SUBSTITUTING COOPERATION FOR PROFIT?

On December 17, 1979, President Carter signed Executive Order 12185 which has two purposes:

(1) To require all federal agencies to adopt rules which would make the obtaining of financial assistance from the dependent upon the applicant's "conservation of petroleum and natural gas", as interpreted by the administrators; and

(2) To require that no present or future financial assistance will be maintained and/or awarded unless it complies with the new rules, as interpreted by the administrators.

President Carter based his authority for issuing this order on the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act, which was signed into law on November 9, 1978. That act lists the following as its intended purposes in Section 102 (b):

- (1) To reduce the importation of petroleum and increase the Nation's capability to use indigenous energy resources of the United States to the extent such reduction and use further the goal of national energy self-sufficiency and otherwise are in the best interests of the United States;
- (2) To conserve natural gas and petroleum for uses, other than electric utility or other industrial or commercial generation of steam or electricity, for which there are no feasible or alternative fuels or raw material substitutes;
- (3) To encourage and foster the greater use of coal and other alternate fuels, in lieu of natural gas and petroleum, as a primary energy source;
- (4) To the extent permitted by this Act, to encourage the use of synthetic gas derived from coal or alternate fuels;
- (5) To encourage the rehabilitation and upgrading of railroad service and equipment necessary to transport coal to regions or States which can use coal in greater quantities;
- (6) To prohibit, or as appropriate, minimize the use of natural gas and petroleum as a primary energy source and to conserve such gas and petroleum for the benefit of present and future generations;
- (7) To encourage the modernization or replacement of existing and new electric powerplants and major fueling installations which utilize natural gas or petroleum as a primary energy source and which cannot utilize coal or other alternate fuels where to do so furthers the conservation of natural gas and petroleum;
- (8) To require that existing and new electric powerplants and major fueling installations which utilize natural gas, petroleum or coal or other alternate fuels pursuant to this Act comply with applicable environmental requirements;
- (9) To insure that all Federal agencies utilize their authorities fully in furtherance of the purposes of this Act by carrying out programs designed to prohibit or discourage the use of natural gas and petroleum as a primary energy source and by taking such actions as lie within their authorities to maximize the efficient use of energy and conserve natural gas and petroleum in programs funded or carried out by such agencies;
- (10) To insure that adequate supplies of natural gas are available for essential agricultural uses (including crop drying, seed drying, irrigation, fertilizer production, and production of essential fertilizer ingredients for such uses);

(11) To reduce the vulnerability of the United States to energy supply interruptions; and

(12) To regulate interstate commerce.

Executive orders are issued by Presidents for various reasons, but primarily to implement Congressional legislation. For an order to be effective, the President should invoke the statutory delegation of power to him within the text of the order, and he must abide by unequivocal standards that the legislature has set down.

Sections 403 (b) (1) (A) and (B) of the 1978 act specifically list the Congressional standards for Executive Order 12185:

"In order to implement the purposes of this Act, the President shall, not later than 30 days after the effective date of this Act, issue an order requiring each Federal agency which is authorized to extend Federal assistance by way of grant, loan, contract, or other form of financial assistance to promptly effectuate the purposes of this Act relating to the conservation of petroleum and natural gas, by rule, in such contracting or assistance activities within 180 days after issuance of such order and setting forth procedures, sanctions, penalties, and such other provisions as the President determines necessary to carry out such requirement effectively, including a requirement that each agency annually transmit to the President, and make available to the public, a report on the actions taken and to be taken to implement such order."

The "effective date" of the Powerplant and Industrial Fuel Use Act of 1978 is defined in Section 901 as 180 days after its approval, or May 8, 1979. Therefore, President Carter missed the deadline prescribed above for issuing his Executive Order, which was "not later than 30 days after the effective date of this Act", or June 7, 1979. Past precedents, however, indicate that Executive Order 12185 might still be legal, in that it carries out a Congressional purpose, and in that Congress has no constitutional authority to force a President to issue an Executive Order within certain time limits. So there is some doubt about the Executive Order being legal, but if it is, it is very sweeping. It covers every federal agency, with only four exceptions which are listed in Section 103 (a) (25): namely, the Congress; the courts of the United States; the governments of the territories or possessions of the United States; and the government of the District of Columbia.

In particular, there is no doubt that the Department of Agriculture must produce specific rules tying the receipt of financial assistance to the conservation of petroleum and natural gas. Under the order, the first responsibility of the Department will be to review its financial assistance programs, to publish within two months a list of the programs identified as likely to offer significant opportunity for conservation, to allow the public 60 days to submit comments, to publish proposed rules after consulting with the Director of the Office of Management and Budget within 30 days of the close of the comment period, and to adopt final rules not later than 180 days from the date of Executive Order 12185, or by June 14, 1980.

Because the 1978 act provides no clear guidelines to any federal agency, there is considerable doubt as to how broad the rules promulgated by the Secretary of Agriculture might be. For example, would a rule which makes Farmers Home Administration loans and loan guarantees unavailable to farmers and ranchers unless they use gasoline or diesel in their farm and ranch machinery be permissible? The proven fact is, that when Congress delegates to administrators the effect-administrators, and not Congress, will do so. In the weeks ahead, the Research Department will continue to study Executive Order 12185, and the rules which various federal agencies propose in accordance with it.

31, 1979. (If a person only shares proceeds of a sale of cattle or other service fees, they will not be a producer.)

(b) Register at local county office, either by mail or in person during the period January 28 through February 6, 1980. Questions regard to eligibility should be directed to the local county ASCS office.

The basic issue to be decided by producers voting in the referendum as follows: Do I, as an individual producer, choose to accept a government-supervised research and extension program in preference to a voluntary program?

MEALS FOR ELDERLY: The United States Department of Agriculture announced that it will supply nearly $65 million in food stamps and cash to elderly programs during the fiscal year ending on September 30, 1980. This funding indicates an increase of 43 cents per meal.

The program is administered by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare with USDA funds for providing cash in lieu of food stamps taking part in the program. Last year, approximately 150,000 meals were served at community centers, schools, churches and other sites. In some states, hot meals were delivered to the homes.

IMPORT TARIFF REDUCTION: The United States International Trade Commission has announced public hearing in the Commission Hearing Room, 701 East Street, Washington, D.C. 20436, 10:00 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, January 1980, for the purpose of obtaining information for a Special Representative of Trade Negotiations following agriculture commodity: berries, fresh or prepared; grapes, fresh or prepared; papayas, fresh or prepared.

Anyone interested in providing information, or appearing at the hearing, should make arrangements with the Secretary of International Trade Commission, East Street, N.W. Washington, D.C. 20436, not later than Noon, January 14, 1980.

UPLAND COTTON EXPORTS: USDA's Foreign Agriculture Service announced that U.S. upland cotton exports reached the highest level since 1960 at 390,000 metric tons, 38% above the October level and almost twice the 1972-76 average. Current season exports large and medium bales which would be the level in 19 years.

Accumulated August-October land cotton exports total 1.3 million bales, 7% above the 1.2 million bales exported during the same period and almost twice the average. The August-October export value was $413 million, above last year's total for a comparable period.

FARM NUMBERS: The United States Department of Agriculture Economic Statistics Service on December 1979 released the following report regarding the number of farms in farms in the United States and the United States which had sales of agricultural products of $100 or more in 1979 totaled 2.3 million, down 1.6 percent from the 2.3 million in 1978. The 1980 preliminary estimate of farm and ranch numbers is 2.3 million.

Total land in farms and ranches in 1979 was 1,049 million acres, a decrease of .3 percent from a year earlier. The average size of United States farms and ranches in 1979 was 450 acres, compared with 444 acres in 1978.
