Council Members To Take Office

Council Expected To Take Action On Rate Increase

Council is expected to take action on the Southwest Public Service application for a rate increase at the regularly scheduled meeting Thursday April 10. The rate increase was approved by the City Council on March 27 and the application on March 27.

gave the service company's views and reasons for the request. Notification of the presentation was publicized. No citizens attended that meeting. The request was tabled to be considered at the April meeting.

When the City Council convenes at 9:00 a.m. Thursday, at the City Hall they will first consider old business. Then the members will canvas the results of the City Election held Saturday, April 5 and are expected to approve the election as rendered to the council. They will then swear in the new Council Members.

The new City Council will discuss the seal coating of the streets in Lockney. On a five year plan the city will coat a percentage of the streets each year. Engineer A.C. Bowden from Lubbock will be at the meeting.

Council is also expected to approve the city budget at the April meeting. A public hearing on the budget was held in March with no citizens attending. As soon as the budget is approved by the Council it will be sent to the State Comptroller of Public accounts in Austin.

Set Deadline For Student Financial Aid Applications

Although he feels that students and their parents will bring more of their educational needs in the 1980s, Glenn Pounds is an increase in the number of students who will qualify for financial aid. Pounds is the financial aid officer for the past two years at South Plains College. He also forecasts an increase by 1985 both in payments and the number of students participating in the Basic Educational Opportunity Grant (BEOG) program, a major federal source of financial aid for students.

"Federal regulations on aid are loosening in an attempt to get more middle income students into college," said Pounds. "This in effect cuts down on the number of dollars each student will get." The current state of the

April Is Cancer Control Month

Governor William P. Clements has proclaimed April Cancer Control Month in Texas. Governor Clements met at the capitol with Dr. Jim C. Terrell, Jr. of Stephenville, state president of the Texas division, American Cancer Society and Dr. James R. Walker, an ACS cancer research scientist from the University of Texas at Austin.

In an executive statement the governor urged all Texans to heed the lifesaving messages of the American Cancer Society and to provide generous support for its 1980 Crusade.

Dr. Walker is one of 40 American Cancer Society researchers doing work in Texas. Over $4.4 million of ASC research grants are currently in effect at 11 Texas institutions.

BBB Warning

The South Plains is currently being saturated with the ever-so-popular chain letters. The Better Business Bureau knows of at least four different kinds being circulated. Some of the letters or memos, involve the mailing of $100 to the next person in the chain. These letters or memos promise all sorts of wealth. Various Federal, State and local authorities and the BBB have issued warnings concerning the chain letters.

The BBB is concerned over the fact that people usually lose all of the money they "invest" in such schemes.

The chain letters violate several laws including Texas Penal Code 32.48 called the "Endless Chain Schemes." Postal laws are also violated even if the letter itself is hand delivered. Some of the letters instruct the purchaser to send money through the mails, which is illegal, but when it furthers a scheme to defraud, it is illegal.

Present indications are that Lubbock, Amarillo and Abilene are experiencing a great deal of chain letter schemes.

If you are approached by someone wanting you to join a chain scheme, the BBB advises that you contact either your local district attorney or the BBB, because just becoming involved makes you, the participant, subject to prosecution by all the authorities mentioned above.

Presently the following agencies are seeking information that should lead them to the authors of these letters - Attorney General's office, Postal Inspector, Securities and Exchange, local district attorney's offices and the Federal Trade Commission.

Water District Meeting To Be Held In Hereford

The High Plains Underground Water District meeting will be held in Hereford on Tuesday, April 8. The Board is scheduling their April meeting outside of the Lubbock headquarters to give the people in a northern county of the District's service area a convenient opportunity to meet the Directors, ask questions, express their opinions.

The Board will meet beginning at 10 a.m. on Tuesday, in the Medallion Room of the Deaf Smith County Electric Cooperative which is located at East First Street in Hereford.

One order of business will be a manager's status report on several District programs of particular interest to the Board and public. In other business, the Board will consider approving applications for water well permits, extensions and amendments received since last month. They will review several District rules and regulations related to non-compliance with these rules. Board members will also consider granting the request by a landowner for a well spacing exception.

Instructional Materials Available To Schools

Films and other instructional materials available to the public schools through Region XVII Education Service Center, will be shown to interested citizens during a quarterly one-day review session set for Friday, April 25.

The open house is scheduled for 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Media Division of the Service Center, 1218 Fourteenth Street, Lubbock.

"Persons wishing to view certain materials should notify the Media Division at least 10 days in advance," said Gerald Rogers, director of media and technology, "so that they can be made available."

Requests may be made by calling 763-5014, the Media Division of the Education Service Center.

Grandson Of Gilberts, Johnsons Killed In Wreck

Garry Michael Gilbert and Steve Reynolds were killed April 3, shortly before 1 a.m. Thursday in a one-car accident on Interstate 35 nine miles south of Belton, about midway between Austin and Waco.

Garry Michael Gilbert was the grandson of Lockney couples Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Johnson.

Gilbert and Reynolds were students at Southwest Texas State University, San Marcos. The boys were heading home from college for the Easter holiday when the mishap occurred. The driver, Stephen Don Reynolds, 19, and Garry Gilbert, also 19, lived in Lubbock. Both were pronounced dead at the scene by Bell County Justice of the Peace Floyd Campbell.

According to the Department of Public Safety, Reynolds' small foreign car was traveling north when it apparently went out of control at 12:55.

Services for Gilbert and Reynolds were held at 4 p.m. Friday at Lubbock's First Baptist Church. Burial will be in Resthaven Memorial Park.

Both young men had attended Evans Junior High School and had served together as student council officers there.

They were graduated from the same class of Monterey High School and were freshmen at Southwest Texas State University.

At the university, they were members of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity and were roommates at the fraternity house there.

Gilbert is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orland Gilbert of Lubbock; two brothers, Greg and Gavin, both of Lubbock; and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Gilbert and Mr. and Mrs. Ike Johnson, all of Lockney.

The families suggest memorials in the form of donations to Pi Kappa Alpha Memorial Scholarship Fund at Southwest Texas State University, in care of Lunell Anderson, San Marcos.

MITCHELL MCLAIN, 4, of Taylor marks April, Prevent Blindness Month, by sharing with his young sister Melania the Home Eye Test that alerted his parents that he had a very serious eye problem known as amblyopia or "lazy eye." If the problem had not been caught in time, Mitchell could have been blinded for life in his "lazy eye." Now, however, with treatment, his vision is rapidly improving.

Enrollment Sets All-Time Record At Wayland

Final totals released this week by the Office of the Registrar show Wayland Baptist College again set an all-time enrollment record this spring.

Some 1,382 persons were enrolled for classes at the beginning of the spring term, according to Mrs. Audrey Boles, WBC registrar. That figure includes 1,333 credit students and another 49 who are auditing courses at the main campus.

The 1,333 people receiving college credit from Wayland for spring course work includes 848 students on campus—also another all-time high—and 485 at Wayland extension centers in Amarillo, Reese Air Force Base, Sheppard Air Force Base and Honolulu, Hawaii.

The spring totals reflect an increase of 22 students above last fall's record 1,311 credit students and a jump of six above the overall total of 1,376 who attended class in the fall.

However, the spring registration totals do not include another 851 persons auditing Aerobics classes through Wayland at 12 separate locations around the area, and another 145 people enrolled in short-term continuing education courses this spring.

"That brings the total number of people being served academically by Wayland Baptist College this spring to 2,329," said Dr. Dan McLallen, vice-president for academic affairs.

Sen. Lloyd Bentsen

RIGHT NOW THERE ARE four terrorists in U.S. prisons whose sentences could be reviewed anytime by the parole board. If that board gives the nod for release, these terrorists could be back on the street again, even though their bomb killed a police officer and disfigured another.

The time was 1976, the place was New York's Grand Central Terminal. The four terrorists were part of a Croatian separatist movement. Besides depositing a bomb in a terminal locker, the terrorists also hijacked a TWA airplane the same day.

The four were later convicted and given stiff prison terms for their roles in this bloody and brutal crime. However, a few years later, a federal judge reduced their sentences, allowing them earlier review before a parole board. This flexible, indefinite sentence mocks justice and openly invites future terrorist acts of violence.

For several years, Congress has tried to reform such sentencing procedures and re-do our system of federal laws. We've seen lots of setbacks since work started on the complex revision project nearly 30 years ago, yet it keeps moving forward.

Next month, a criminal law reform bill will reach the Senate for a vote. I'm especially interested in the bill's provisions for setting tougher, more effective sentencing procedures in our federal courts. I first introduced legislation on this back in 1975, and I'm pleased to see that the current bill retains my provisions.

THIS BILL WOULD ABOLISH the existing, "indeterminate" sentencing system under which federal judges sentence persons convicted of a crime to an indeterminate number of years in prison, then leave it up to the parole board to decide how long any individual should actually serve.

The "indeterminate" approach gives a judge few guidelines to follow. He could give a convicted felon no jail sentence; he could sentence the man to 20 years in prison; or the criminal could receive a 10-year term.

As a result, our system of criminal justice is not working as it should. Mass murderers like Charles Manson and Richard Speck are eligible for parole. Other dangerous offenders go unpunished and create a danger to the public.

sentences of those who are punished lead to numerous and great injustices.

Law-abiding citizens are distressed by this troublesome pattern. This was reflected in a recent Harris survey. People were asked if they felt that our system of law enforcement works to really discourage people from committing crimes or if it doesn't discourage crime. Of those polled back in 1967, 56 percent felt that law enforcement wasn't stopping crime. But in 1978, 73 percent felt that way.

Comparably, the survey also reports that in 1967, 49 percent felt that the courts were too lenient in dealing with criminals; the number rose in 1978 to 77 percent.

We've simply got to see that the guilty are punished, and that the punishment is just.

THE NEW APPROACH WOULD set up a system of fixed, specific sentences for specific crimes. It will take the uncertainty out of justice.

The dangerous criminal should no longer be able to feel that even if he is convicted, the odds are in his favor that he may do violence at will to the lives and safety of innocent citizens, without fear of commensurate punishment. Certainty of punishment, the fact that the criminal believes that punishment will be imposed, is a deterrent. The criminal — especially the career criminal — should know in advance the cost of the crime.

Certainly the proposed criminal reform bill now pending before the Senate falls short of perfection.

There are, and will be, flaws in any undertaking of this size. But as the late Supreme Court Justice Benjamin Cardozo said: "The flaws are in every human institution. Because they are not only there but visible, we have faith that they will be corrected...The tide rises and falls, but the sands of error crumble."

Unlike most countries in the world — and many states in this country — the United States government has never had a uniform, consistent set of criminal laws.

Our goal should not be for streamlining's sake. It should be a goal for attaining a system of justice in the words of John Greenleaf Whittier: "the hope of all who suffer, the dread of all who wrong."

Home Eye Test Prevents Blindness

April is Prevent Blindness Month in Texas and no parents in the state appreciate its message more than do Mr. and Mrs. Larry McLain of Taylor. Their four year old son Mitchell almost became one of the 1,300 Texans who needlessly lose their sight each year. The tragedy was prevented, however, the day that Mr. McLain just happened to pick up at his office a Home Eye Test for Preschoolers distributed by the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness.

"Until that day, we had no idea that Mitchell had an eye problem," says Mrs. McLain. "His eyes always looked all right and he never complained that he couldn't see. That's why it was such a shock to us when we gave him the test and he failed it. The doctor to whom we took him diagnosed the problem as amblyopia or 'lazy eye' and said that if it hadn't been caught and treated early, Mitchell could have lost all sight in that eye by the time he was seven or eight."

"I am so grateful to the test for preventing such a tragedy that I've made it a personal project to distribute the test wherever I can. At the office, in the library, through local stores. My hope is that every parent whose child has an eye to discover it early."

"My husband and I are also monitoring the test very carefully since we've learned that amblyopia can run in families."

The test that alerted the McLains to Mitchell's problem was one of 100,000 Home Eye Tests distributed last year by the Texas Society to Prevent Blindness on a grant from Soroptimist International of Houston. Many of the tests were sent to companies in the Society's industrial eye safety program. Among them is the Texas Power and Light Company in Taylor where McLain is employed as a Supervisor.

Early detection of problems is a major objective of the Society to Prevent Blindness. In addition to distributing Home Eye Tests for Preschoolers, the Society trains volunteer prescreeners in communities and is working with the Department of Health to establish a vision test for every school-age child in the State. The Society also works to prevent blindness with programs for cataracts, and macular degeneration, as well as eye safety in industry. It is a member of the National Society to Prevent Blindness.

So says the VA...

In the most definitive statement on Agent Orange yet made by a high government official, Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland told Congress that "despite major efforts by many agencies and individuals it remains unclear: whether exposure to the herbicide used in Vietnam can cause 'any long term effects on human health.'"

But Cleland, a triple amputee veteran of fighting in Vietnam, told a House Veterans Affairs subcommittee, "I want you to know, as one who has a personal stake in this question, that we at the VA, including the 39,000 Vietnam veterans employed by VA, are committed to obtaining and disseminating accurate information as soon as humanly possible. In the meantime, we shall continue to provide every eligible veteran in need of treatment appropriate medical care regardless of causation. We owe them no less."

Cleland and VA's Chief Medical Director, Dr. Donald L. Custis, testified orally on February 25, and also presented an exhaustive, 99-page report on Agent Orange findings to date.

Cleland told the committee that most of the available data on the effects of a toxic element of Agent Orange called dioxin or TCDD, comes from experiments on animals, not humans.

He said that while these experiments have shown that harmful and even fatal effects can be produced by concentrated doses over a prolonged period, "the relevance of these animal studies to humans is unclear at the present time."

"The only way to determine their relevance," he said, "is through meticulously designed, long-range epidemiological studies of humans exposed to TCDD in industrial or laboratory accidents or, as in this case, possible exposure in Vietnam."

Noting that human studies on TCDD exposure so far have been very limited in size and do not resolve questions concerning human toxicity, Cleland said,

"Thus far, no human study has shown any evidence for a delayed syndrome of toxicity of any Agent Orange constituent encountered under accidental conditions. In fact, the only long term disease in humans clearly associated with such exposures in the skin condition chloracne. Therefore there is not now any proof that a definitive 'Agent Orange Syndrome' exists in our Vietnam veterans."

He outlined the results obtained in a recent VA Study of the levels of dioxin in the fat of veterans known to have been exposed to Agent Orange compared to a control group of unexposed veterans.

"In this study we showed that small amounts of dioxin could be found in the fat of some but not all of the veterans included in the study who were exposed to Agent Orange. At any rate, the correlation could be a study between fat levels and the occurrence of disease."

Dear Editor:
Your newspaper recently ran an article mentioning the potential hazards of disposable butane lighters. According to a widely circulated rumor, two workers (either Union Pacific or Canadian Pacific Railroad — depending on the version of the rumor) were killed when welding sparks ignited the disposable lighters they had in their pockets.

Please be aware that spokesmen from both railroads have gone on record to assure the public that NO WORKER at either company has EVER been killed or injured in accidents relating to butane lighters. In fact, checks with the Consumer Product Safety Commission and the National Fire Protection Association and the Federal Railroad Administration, Interstate Commerce Commission and the Association of American Railroads have determined "that no employe of any American or Canadian Railroad had any accident of any kind with butane lighters." I quote the Director of Safety, C.D. Mayer, of the Union Pacific Railroad.

Letter To The Editor

According to a research report from the National Fire Protection Association, the explosive power of a butane lighter is 0.0175 of 1 stick of dynamite — a far cry from the reported 3 sticks!

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) of the U.S. Department of Labor has issued a press release, dated January 11, 1980, retracting its earlier memorandum on the subject. That retraction is enclosed, along with a press release issued by Union Pacific.

Please help to kill this diheard rumor by printing a retraction. The public does have a right to know the truth, after all. This rumor has received more than its fair share of the limelight. We hope the truth receives equal billing.

OSHA RETRACTS MEMORANDUM
The Department of Labor's Occupational Safety and Health Administration today retracted a memorandum it circulated last May drawing attention to a report of two alleged serious accidents involving disposable butane cigarette/cigar lighters. Later detailed investigation by OSHA could not confirm the reported accidents.

OSHA, on May 8, circulated among its regional administrators a safety alert on the lighters issued by the Chicago and Northwestern Transportation Company. That alert stated that a welder with the Canadian Pacific Railroad was killed when a butane lighter exploded in his vest pocket and that in a second case, another CP employee was severely burned when a butane lighter in his trouser pocket was ignited.

Sparks from a "welder's torch" in the first case and from a "Nearby torch" in the second) were the cause of both accidents, according to the Chicago and North-western alert.

In its memorandum retracting its earlier one last May, the agency said, "...investigation by OSHA into the accuracy of the information contained in the Chicago and Northwestern transportation Company's safety alert revealed that the alert was based on hearsay and that no one could confirm that the two reported accidents took place."

RUMORS DIE HARD!
What happens when a major U.S. corporation is mentioned in wide-spread rumors about industrial safety? The backlash of misinformation can be staggering.

In the past five months, Union Pacific Railroad has fielded numerous inquiries regarding the safety of butane cigarette lighters. A story is making the rounds that two UP welders were killed in railroad shops when lighters exploded in their pockets. Most of the accounts end with the statement that a butane lighter contains the same amount of force as three sticks of dynamite.

The accounts are false. No one at Union Pacific has sustained any injury, much less died, as a result of this type of accident. In fact UP has no record of any accident involving a cigarette lighter of any sort. Checks with the Federal Railroad Administration, the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Association of American Railroads have failed to turn up any evidence of an accident on any American Railroad. Further inquiries to the Consumer Products Safety Commission and the National Injury Information Clearinghouse have also drawn blanks. But this has done little to stop the rumors.

Two major U.S. newspapers, with a combined circulation that reaches 1,322,934 people have carried the story, complete with Union Pacific's name. The story has also turned up on a widely listened-to, nationally syndicated radio news program. Many major businesses, associations and agencies are circulating the story via internal safety bulletins and executive memos.

When asked to verify the story, UP safety director, Carl Mayer has said, "It just didn't happen. UP certainly doesn't endorse butane lighters, or any other product, for that matter. But we are deeply concerned when our name is used in such a reckless story."

A fairly straight forward statement. But in many many cases the story ran without anyone ever calling to check. Most calls have come after a safety bulletin or memo was released. Extensive research by UP has failed to turn up an original source for the story. In each case it was based on hearsay and personal opinion. Not much to go on for such a serious charge.

And the stories persist. Calls still come regularly to UP from concerned safety directors and reporters alike. It seems that some rumors die hard.

That's all there is . . . I just gassed up the car!

BAGWORM CONTROL ECONOMICALLY IMPORTANT

Bagworms are among the most economically important pests of many wood ornamentals in Texas. Although there are at least 16 species of bagworms in Texas, the most damage is done by the evergreen bagworm. Although the evergreen bagworm seems partial to evergreen ornamentals such as arbor vitae and junipers, it will also attack plums, sycamores and a bewildering range of other Texas plants if conditions are right.

Control of the pest often receives natural assistance from various native parasites and predators. Of the several hundred bagworms that may complete development on any tree, most or all may be destroyed by parasites in the spring. Pest management research at Texas A&M Research and Extension Centers has identified two types of wasps as parasites which destroy many bagworm eggs in Texas. Of those pests escaping parasitism, many fall prey to mammals, birds, and predatory insects.

There are essentially three means of controlling bagworms when parasites and predators are not adequate. The first is hand-picking bags from the infested plant. Where only a few per cent of that total would have been denied aid if the formula change had been in effect this year.

If increasing numbers of students are denied aid because of the change, Pounds, who's a member of the Texas Association of Student Financial Aid Administrators, plans to work through his organization to notify the area's national Congressmen concerning the matter.

However, some students don't get aid for other reasons.

Pounds said that of an estimated 1,200 students applying for aid this summer and fall at SPC, 25-33 per cent of those won't get it simply because they didn't complete the application properly or provide other necessary information.

"Applications must be filled out correctly and promptly, and it takes about six weeks to process them," said Pounds. He encouraged students to bring their application forms to the office and let financial aid personnel doublecheck to see that all information is provided. "My assistant, Vicki Mixon is fully qualified to discuss the applicants and to provide help in any way. Students and their parents should contact our office if they have any questions," said Pounds.

Another source of aid for the 1980s,

Pounds feels, will be from business and private sources. "They are seeing more and more that there's a definite need for students who do not receive financial aid," he said.

Organizations and individuals interested in providing scholarships and other aid should contact Pounds office.

"We can set up an account for them in the scholarship fund and dispense the scholarships any way they wish," he said.

The second means of control is through the use of chemical insecticides. Effective insecticides on the market include malathion. Control is complete if the insecticide is applied following egg hatch in the early summer when the bugs are young. Older and larger bugs are more difficult to kill.

Bagworms can also be controlled by disease-causing sprays. Diplolepis is commercially prepared for use on a bacterium which kills the worm. The bacterium eats a leaf treated with the bacterium and the worm dies. Death results after several days. Bacterium affects only insects and is not harmful to mammals.

All insecticides should be used according to label instructions. Given active ingredient may vary. The user must pay strict attention to package directions. Use as soon as possible after purchase. Most sprays should be used more than a few hours in

In accepting the proclamation Dr. Terrell announced that the chairman of the Division Crusade Committee, Mrs. James (Juandelle) Lacy of Midland, had recently made a $27,500 contribution toward one of those research projects; a new anti-tumor substance known as Interferon.

Mr. and Mrs. Lacy have also announced a special statewide campaign to raise an additional $2 million for research on the promising drug.

According to Dr. Terrell the National Society has already committed over $5.4 million toward Interferon research; some of which is being carried out at M.D. Anderson Hospital in Houston.

Funds given to the American Cancer Society are used to support its three-part program of research, service to cancer patients and education.

29,536 patients were given assistance such as sickroom equipment loans, transportation, blood, rehabilitation and counseling last year.

2.8 million Texans attended ACS Public Education programs; including 580,000 who participated in "Actions" programs, such as stop smoking, free cancer screening clinics and personal instruction in breast self-examination.

The fund raising goal of the Texas Division for 1979-80 is $7,000,000.

Lock Your Car and Take the Keys!

It's that simple because last year 80 percent of all stolen cars had unlocked doors. 40 percent had their keys in the ignition! No wonder one million cars are stolen in America every year. And one-third of them are never recovered.

Fatal clockwork:

- In Texas last year one person was killed in a traffic accident every two hours and 12 minutes.
- One person was injured every two minutes and 57 seconds.

It's easy to see where many of our priorities are.

The children of today are looking to us for ways they can prepare for their own style of life... families... and job opportunities.

To help, we'll need more electricity. It's true, electricity will play a big role toward helping expand the job market to include these adults of tomorrow.

The modern use of electricity has contributed to a better educational system to prepare our young people for the new experiences yet to come.

Almost 10 years ago, the folks at Southwestern Public Service wanted to make sure there was enough electricity to keep today's wage earner working. They decided that the fuel used in their power plants should be coal because, coal would be more abundant and cheaper to use than the conventional fuel... natural gas.

Now, Southwestern Public Service has a new coal plant in operation and more on the way. Yes, coal plants will help stabilize fuel costs while providing a long-term, reliable, energy source to provide electricity.

It's good to be able to tell someone what they can depend on.

Create A Recovery Period

Put a "recovery period" in each day, a family life education specialist suggests.

"Use the after-work-through-dinner hours in your family as the time to regroup from each day's busy and complex activities," Diane Welch says.

"As family members return to the home, make the end of the day a time of family tranquility."

Mrs. Welch is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

FAMILY FOCUS

Focus on pleasant news and actions.

After family members have had a chance to settle down, you can settle problems with far less stress.

Avoid using mealtime as a time to handle disputes or make "heavy decisions" or "solve problems."

SHARE TASKS

Share tasks related to the evening meal.

When tasks are shared, family members often "visit with each other" and no one feels the "overload."

LISTEN

Make a special effort to listen to other family members and allow them to share information about their day's activities.

Work toward utilizing this time as a time of communicating with each other.

"RECOVERY A MUST"

As a result of today's lifestyles, family members are being affected more by stress and pressures, Mrs. Welch says.

"With children involved in more and more activities and more mothers entering the labor force, family life becomes more hectic in terms of demands upon family members' time and energy."

"In many families, a special effort is needed to bring family members back together."

"Try putting a recovery period in each day, and see if it isn't just the 'cure' for 'pressured' family relationships," the specialist says.

A Rare Look At Opera Captured in 'Maestro'

"I believe that opera will become the most important of all performing arts in America, just as it already is in Europe," explains Moritz Bomhard in MAESTRO, a documentary portrait of the founder and musical director of Louisville's Kentucky Opera Association.

The maestro demands perfection, a trait he considers common, yet understands the individual needs of his entire company. During an informal dinner at his home with the production's lead singers he notes, "We always take them home with us after the final dress rehearsal to create a camaraderie, so that each singer will perform not so much for himself, but for each other."

Bomhard is personally involved in every phase of the opera's creation. "You cannot be a painter, a writer or a musician without the burning desire to make something as close to perfect as possible," he insists, as he fusses over stage props and works late into the night painting part of the set.

be both appreciated and enjoyed by the general public. "There may not be much fame or glory in Louisville, but I believe that it is more important to create something that will continue after I'm gone," he adds.

MAESTRO is provided to public television stations by Kentucky Educational Television.

When Will The Last Freeze Hit?

Farmers as well as gardeners get the urge to plant spring crops just as soon as there are a few days of warm weather. But there's still plenty of time for freezing temperatures over much of Texas, according to data compiled by the National Weather Service at Texas A&M University.

Keith Hayes, NWS agricultural meteorologist, has compiled information on the last freeze dates for the various districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. In the table below, "early" represents a 90 percent chance for a freeze (32 degrees F.) later than the date indicated.

 LOCKNEY Jerry Cooper

We have just acquired a rather large dog (an Irish Setter). Are we responsible for any damage the dog might cause? If so, is there insurance for such situations?

Legally, any animal owner is responsible for the actions of that animal. Property damaged by the dog would be paid for under a basic Homeowner's Policy or a Comprehensive Personal Liability Policy. If the dog should bite anyone, you would be protected by the medical payment coverage under either of the policies. Medical payment coverage would generally include all reasonable expenses such as medical services, surgery and x-ray. With most policies there is a basic limit to the medical payment per person. However, should you decide you need it, this limit may be increased with an additional premium charge. This coverage applies to any animal owned or in the care of the insured.

In order to make one thing perfectly clear, the American farmer is not the cause of inflation. . . in fact he is probably the number one contributor to the nation's economic well-being. . .

Labor Department Proposes National Minimum Wage In Farm Work Employing Aliens

The Department of Labor has proposed setting a national minimum wage rate for all foreign temporary farmworkers admitted to the United States.

Such a nationwide rate would also equally apply to all domestic farmworkers employed on the same farm with alien workers.

It would be adjusted each year to correspond closely to the national average hourly earnings of piece-rate-paid farmworkers predicted for that year.

The proposed rules, published in the Federal Register of March 11, 1980, concern the so-called "adverse effect wage rates" as they apply to the Labor Department certification for temporary employment of aliens in agriculture.

Under a single minimum wage rate (now established separately for each state) employers cannot offer lower wage rates to foreign workers, which would have a possible adverse effect on the pay of domestic workers seeking the same or similar work.

Adverse effect wage rates are currently paid in 14 states where aliens have been legally admitted to work in agricultural jobs. These states are: Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Florida (sugar cane only), Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New York, Rhode Island, Texas, Vermont, Virginia, and West Virginia. The rates differ for each state.

The adverse effect wage rate in Texas is $3.25 an hour.

The proposed rule states that a worker in employment under the temporary alien labor certification program must be compensated at the highest of the applicable wage rates, whether that highest rate is the adverse effect wage rate, the prevailing wage, or the Federal, state, or local statutory minimum wage.

The Labor Department would continue to set the adverse effect monthly wage rate for shepherding as it has in the past. Such rate would be guaranteed to the worker unless the local prevailing wage for such work is higher.

The current methodology for wages in logging employment would remain unchanged in the proposed rule, since loggers' wages have equalled or exceeded the annual average hourly wages of nonagricultural production workers. The adverse effect wage rate for logging is the prevailing wage for the occupation in the area of intended employment.

Written comments on the proposed methodology should be sent before April 10, 1980, to David O. Williams, Administrator, U.S. Employment Service, Employment and Training Administration, U.S. Department of Labor, Room 8000, 601 D Street, N.W., Washington, D.C.

D.C. CONSTITUTIONAL SEMINAR
The Washington, D.C., Freeman Institute Constitutional Seminar previously scheduled for March 7, 8, 14 and 15, 1980 has been changed to May 2, 3, 9 and 10, 1980. The Friday sessions on May 2 and 9 will begin at 7 p.m. and conclude at 10 p.m. The Saturday sessions on May 3 and 10 will be from 9 a.m. to 12 noon and 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. The sessions will be at Georgetown University, Washington, D.C. and the contact person is Mr. Lynn Fluckiger, telephone number (716) 223-1357.

getting the program started appears that it will be at least two months before the program is actually launched. The program will complete its advisory committee appointments and rules must be published in the Register and bonds must be received.

CORRECTION—FARM LEGISLATION
In an earlier Farm Bureau Facts column an item entitled "Farm Legislation" indicated that H.R. 6291, designed to extend the Economic Emergency Credit Act, had been approved by Congress and is now awaiting the signature of the President. This information regarding H.R. 6291 is incorrect.

H.R. 6291 passed the U.S. House of Representatives on March 5, 1980 as amended. Subsequently the House passed bill, (H.R. 6291) was vacated and S. 2269, a similar bill, was passed, after being amended to contain the language of the House bill.

The bill (S.2269) is tied-up in a Senate-House Conference Committee and there are no reasonable estimations as to when the bill will be approved.

SOIL AND WATER RESOURCES
The Soil and Water Resource Conservation Act of 1977 was approved on November 18, 1977 and labeled as Public Law 95-192 (16 USC 2001 through 2005) This law is scheduled to terminate on December 31, 1985.

There is a movement in Congress in the form of H.R. 6664 by Congressman Ed Jenkins of Georgia, which would, if approved, place the resource conservation and development programs on a permanent basis. There is a companion bill in the Senate, S.1942, introduced by Senator George McGovern.

The current law (P.L. 95-192) is divided into three primary parts: 1. a continuing appraisal program on soil, water and related resources; 2. a recommended soil and water conservation program and 3. a report to Congress.

In summary, the law directs the administrators to go to the country through the various organizations, government agencies, etc., appraise the nation's soil, water and related resources, develop a program to Congress, Part of all the seven recommended alternatives in the present draft of interest against the program can be implemented without additional legislation, but it is doubtful the administration will implement the program without congressional approval.

This program is an attempt to manage soil, water and related resources of the nation.

REGULATORY REDUCTION ACT
U.S. Senator Orrin Hatch has introduced in the Senate, S.2295, designed to establish a periodic review of federal regulatory agencies and to reduce the size and scope of federal regulatory policies and procedures.

WHITE HOUSE CONFERENCE ON FAMILIES
President Carter has called a White House Conference on Families. The President announced: "...this conference will serve as a catalyst for continuing an expanding action on family issues in the federal government." Three White House conferences are scheduled for the summer of 1980 as follows: June 5, 6, 7, Baltimore, Maryland; June 19, 20, 21, Minneapolis, Minnesota; July 10, 11, and 12, Los Angeles, California. These three conferences are designed to develop specific recommendations for continuing expanding action on family issues by way of federal government programs.

The National Advisory Committee chairman is Jim Guy Tucker, Texas' Governor William P. Clements and George Willeford, Jr., M.D. are listed as state coordinators. Texas contact address: 720 West 34th Street, Austin, Texas 78705, telephone number A/C (512) 472-1073, or (512) 454-7741.

FARM AND RANCH SECURITY PROGRAM
Governor Clements has appointed two of nine Family Farm Advisory Council members: Dr. John A. Hopkin, College Station, and James Robertson. The Family Farm Advisory Council is to assist with the administration of the Family Farm and Ranch Security Act.

Information about the program can be obtained from the Texas Department of Agriculture, Family Farm and Ranch Security Program, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Committee Meets To Establish Guidelines

The Cotton Board and Cotton Incorporated Joint Program Education Committee met Tuesday, March 25, in Dallas to establish and redefine Program Education guidelines and policies for implementing the educational activities of the producer-financed cotton research and promotion program.

"I'm quite pleased with the sincerity and cooperation that both groups exhibited during this important meeting," said Cotton Board Chairman, Murray Williams, who attended the meeting along with Cotton Incorporated Chairman, L.C. Unfried.

The meeting was called by Cotton Board Committee Co-Chairman, Wayne Griggs, in order that new policies and guidelines for the Program Education activities could be established due to the Cotton Board's recent action of assuming total responsibility for the Program Education.

One of the main topics of discussion at the Joint Meeting was the establishment of a new policy establishing guidelines for meetings where Cotton Incorporated staff members are asked to present the program.

The new guideline now states that Cotton Incorporated staff members may accept invitations to speak before producer, or producer-related meetings. Cotton Incorporated may also accept invitations to speak before small groups while traveling from one point to another and specifically attending to other Cotton Incorporated-related business. The central benefit is that this will permit those who frequently do not attend meetings in central cities, or other organized "Leadership Meetings" to have personal contact with Cotton Incorporated, learn of its programs and accomplishments.

When an invitation is extended to a Cotton Incorporated staff member to speak before a producer or other cotton industry group for the express purpose of informing the group of overall Cotton Incorporated programs and activities, the Cotton Board will be notified as far in advance as possible.

"These kinds of meetings," Chairman Williams stated, "are one of the best methods of telling producers of the successful results in research and promotion that they are getting for their per bale assessments, for example, the many new 100% cotton no-iron products like sheets, men's shirts and women's blouses that are coming out to the market."

Two Private Letter Rulings (PLR's) from the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) and a promised "published ruling" could impact heavily on the financial affairs of High Plains cotton producers, according to Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

At issue is the fate of farmers' long standing and much used ability to level tax liabilities from year to year through the use of deferred payment sales contracts.

PCG's accounting firm, Main Hurdman and Cranstoun, advised PCG recently that IRS is questioning the validity of the formal Revenue Ruling 58-162 which stated in 1958 that proceeds from a crop sale by a farmer using the cash method of accounting could be deferred to the year following the year of delivery through a bona fide arms-length contract stipulating that the payment be made in the subsequent year.

In the first of two PLR's (8001001) the IRS addressed the question of a two-year deferral and held that formal ruling 58-162 was not applicable. For federal tax purposes, IRS said, the contract calling for deferred payment at a later date had a fair market value when signed and must be considered as income in the earlier year.

The second PLR (8004004) came January 30, 1980 in reply to a request that IRS rule on whether a one-year deferral of pay by a farmer could shift income to the following year for tax purposes.

The IRS answered that the "... request presents an issue that is currently under study. When the study has been completed it is anticipated the results will be published in a revenue ruling."

In the opinion of Main Hurdman and Cranstoun, "If the forthcoming published revenue ruling follows the IRS position in PLR 8001001 it will take the position that even a one-year deferral is not allowable."

If this happens, Johnson says, the tax burden on cotton producers and other farmers will be significantly magnified. And, he points out, unless there are some transitional rules to phase in the burden of the ruling over a period of several years, hundreds of farmers will be faced with the prospect of paying taxes on two years' production in a single year.

Main Hurdman and Cranstoun noted in its report to PCG that PLR 8001001 cited a court decision in the Warren Jones case to support its position. The Jones case, however, was not related in any way to agriculture. It involved the sale of an apartment house and does not obviate the recognized necessity of farmers to level the wide differences in income from year to year caused by weather and extreme market fluctuations.

COTTON TODAY

A NATIONAL COTTON COUNCIL SERVICE

Cotton export shipments during the week ended March 16 totaled 291,000 running bales, including 131,000 to China, to hit the second largest weekly level on record. This brought the total to 5,237,200 compared with 3,506,100 bales a year ago. The week's new sales for current-year delivery amounted to 134,300 and pushed the total commitments to 8,899,900 bales. The major buyers were Korea, 45,800, and Japan, 31,300. Sales of 368,300 bales for 1980-81 delivery were primarily to China — 357,200.

Maid of Cotton Melissa Mock of Altus, Okla., departs this week for an around-the-world tour promoting U.S. cotton. Stops will include Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, Singapore, India, Greece, and England. During her seven-week tour, the Maid will visit major mill customers, participate in store promotions and media events, and make courtesy calls on top government and textile officials. In some countries, the Maid's activities will be filmed by staff members of the National Cotton Council public relations department. The crew also will film activities of a Cotton Council International trade team in the Far East during the same period. The footage will be included in a CCI film on cotton exports scheduled for completion later this year.

The seasonally adjusted annual rate of cotton consumption in U.S. mills was 6.6 million bales in February, up 2.8% from January and 7.4% above the weather-depressed consumption rate of February, 1979. Cotton's share of U.S. mill fiber consumption advanced to 26%, highest market share since April 1978. A part of the market share improvement stems from increasing number of spindles on 100% cotton. Another factor was the reduced consumption rate for man-made fibers, a significant part of which related to weakness in floor-covering market where cotton is minor factor.

Arab traders brought cotton calico and muslin fabrics to ports on the Red Sea as early as the 1st Century.

RABIED IN TEXAS
The State Department of Health reports 92 confirmed cases of rabies in January and February, 1980. This is about a 33 percent increase over the same period in 1979.

FARM LABOR UNIONIZATION
Jack Angell, Communications Director, Farm Labor Activities, American Farm Bureau Federation, says the following information from the Sunday "pioneer Press" of March 3, 1980.

Farm Workers Union Head Becomes A Tyrant
It saddens me to have to report to the United Farm Workers union that so many of its leaders are violent, prone to physical attacks, and prone to the iron-fisted rule of Cesar Chavez. The able, articulate Chavez has nationwide fame and sympathy. He has determined efforts on behalf of the nation's down-trodden grape and citrus harvesters. Years of fighting the fight earned him and the UFWW respectability.

But, somewhere along the way, Chavez seems to have lost sight of the people whose welfare earned him respectability. Instead, he is concentrating on consolidating his personal power by purging dissident elements within the UFWW, often with strong-arm methods reminiscent of the corporate raiders of the 1930s.

Even worse, organizers in Arizona, New Jersey and Florida of whom asked to remain anonymous, told me that the UFWW meets secretly with growers to negotiate to sabotage agreements with other unions. Members of the chartered Arizona Farmworkers charged also that the UFWW has tension between local and national leaders, and has gone so far as to use the Border Patrol locale and illegal immigrants from Mexico.

One allegation was particularly disturbing, but there is evidence to back it up. An investigative reporter took a look into charges of violence against Cesar's cousin and longtime aide, Manuel Chavez, who was shot in Arizona, where he had gone in 1974 to interview Chavez. Both Manuel and Manuel's brother, Manuel, but did nothing to stop it. The shooting was finally rescued by a private security force.

The reporter was able to obtain the same complaints about Manuel Chavez's fund-raising tours, but serving as a UFWW organizer and director, was himself engaged in cultural business ventures in which he exploited the unorganized Mexican farm workers. Many of Chavez' senior aides have left the union recently, chanted with what the organizers have said. One who spent time with Chavez in the UFWW's period said that "unfortunately, in recent years the UFWW has become ugly, destructive of blood and rigidity, centralization, hierarchical nepotism and even violence and purges."
