For What It's Worth

By Nancy Carthel

Well, things are picking up around town. Band practice, football workouts, school starting, and people returning from vacations have certainly made by job easier. When I first started, and we were having two papers a week, I would panic each deadline day. There was nothing going on and therefore very little to write about. I even tried to talk a few good friends into robbing the bank just to liven things up.

of the arrangements and they did an excellent job. Everything went very well. Jim Bob was elected as president of the organization for the upcoming year. We extend our congratulations to him. It has been a nice experience to talk with Jim Bob and Beth. They have both been so willing to share their knowledge with a beginner.

Board Changes Meeting Night

The Lockney Independent School District Board met on Monday night August 25. They approved the 1979-80 budget as amended. The amended budget was for $1,477,906.00 a deficit of $41,435.00.

Now I have another problem. There is not enough room in the paper to get everything in that needs to be printed. There have been a few instances that something had to be left out and I apologize for that. I'm trying to learn how to gauge how much news I have before press day so that this can be avoided.

Board Changes Meeting Night

The board also voted to change their regular meeting night from Monday to Tuesday. Present for the meeting were Tom Duvall, Kelton Shaw, Eddie Foster, Bill Race, W.H. Hallmark, Jack Samford, and Claudette Hulcy.

After Carpeting New Clinic Will Be Completed

The Lockney General Hospital Board of Directors met in regular session on Monday, August 18, and heard a report from Kenneth Tate that the new clinic will be completed after two more offices are carpeted.

The Martha Ann Cogdell Clinic was begun in March 1979 with a $150,000 grant from the Cogdell Foundation. Further plans call for the paving of the area around the building and to increase the insulation in the old part of the building. The grounds are scheduled to be landscaped and two new signs are to be erected. LOCKNEY GENERAL HOSPITAL in satin finish bronze letters will be placed on the left side of the south-west front of the building and COGDELL CLINIC will be put on the right side.

Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange was named to write all insurance coverage for the hospital. This company is owned by the hospitals who have coverage with them. The board approved the contract with Joe Carver, Registered Pharmacist, to be the pharmacy consultant for the hospital. Mr. Carver is from Dimmitt and is associated with Pharmaco, a contract unit dose system in the hospital.

All deficiencies of departments and personnel in the hospital from "Direct Federal Survey" were reviewed along with the corrections. Mrs. Juanita Chua Tuan, R.N. and Mrs. Carolyn Turner, G.V.N. are new hospital employees from Silverton. Mrs. Lilly Phillips, R.N., from Plainview, retired on August 23. W.J. Mangold, Jr. M.D. will be holding a plastic surgery clinic the last Friday of each month beginning in September or October of this year.

Purcell Honored At Banquet

A banquet was given Friday night in honor of Cecil Purcell on his retirement from the Board of Directors of the Soil and Water Conservation District. He has served 36 1/2 years. The surprise dinner was held at the Quitaque Community Center. The five directors and their wives were at the center to greet Purcell and his family on their arrival. Representing the State Soil and Water Conservation Board was Bill Reese, field representative from Lubbock, and his wife. Also present from the Conservation Service were: Jon La Baume, his wife, and Mike Carter.

Purcell was presented a plaque of appreciation by Gilbert L. Fawver. "We just want to thank you for the service you've given to the county all these years," he said.

Telethon Benefit Planned For Labor Day Weekend

It's time again for the Jerry Lewis annual Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. For the second year the Betas will be taking the pledges for Floyd county. Headquarters is at the Farm Bureau Office in Floydada.

Once every hour the Lubbock center calls to get the accumulated pledge number from Floyd County and puts it on the board in Lubbock. Then once every hour the Vegas center calls Lubbock and that figure is entered in the national total. Funds raised through the Telethon help support MDA's worldwide research program and its network of free clinics throughout the U.S. and Puerto Rico and Guam. The South Plains Chapter of MDA provides clinical services at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. These services include initial diagnosis, genetic counseling, and follow-up medical management. Evaluations are done to determine need for orthopedic aids such as wheelchairs, braces and hydraulic lifts. All MDA services are provided free of charge to patients and their families.

The local chapter is also funding a $24,134 research grant at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center in Lubbock. The tech project, being conducted under the direction of Dr. John Morrow, is one of 762 research programs totaling $20 million that the MDA is supporting.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Farmers Faced With Problems

Among major problems faced by the agricultural industry during the 1980s will be the cost-price squeeze, the decline of small, independent farms, and the threat of having no succeeding generations of young farmers and ranchers.

Those threats to continued food and fiber production were outlined by Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, while addressing an awards banquet during the annual meeting of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association in San Antonio August 5.

More than 625 people registered for the annual professional meeting.

The banquet honored seven outstanding agricultural leaders who were each named a "Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture" by the state county agents association.

Award recipients were Carrol G. Chaloupka, Dalhart farmer and rancher and president of the Texas Farm Bureau for the past five years; J.T. Smith, former farm editor with the Abilene Reporter News; Harvey W. Loupee with the Lloyd Justiss Farms, Inc., of Daingerfield; Joe Mertz, San Angelo rancher and newly elected president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association; Jerry D. Nichols, Nacogoches County farmer and banker; Don Jobs, Jr., assistant general manager of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo; and Susan Gurley McBee, state representative from Del Rio.

Pfannstiel tabbed the award recipients as the "cream of the crop" among Texas agricultural leaders and noted that they have provided strong and effective leadership in dealing with the problems agriculture is facing in the '80s.

"The many contributions of these leaders to improving agricultural production efficiency, improving practices adaptable for small operators, and inspiring young farmers and ranchers have led to this honor," he said.

"To cope with day-to-day problems and issues, people still look to their leaders for assistance," noted the Extension official. "Leaders are people who care about other people and who try to consider as many positive and negative consequences as they can before acting to the greatest benefit to the greatest number."

To deal with the cost-price squeeze, production agriculture needs solutions which can help reduce or at least stabilize its dependency on the highest cost forms of energy, said Pfannstiel. He pointed out that practical applications of energy research for agriculture are needed not more than ever before.

Pfannstiel also emphasized that agricultural producers are vulnerable to highly inflationary, speculative land values and that political leaders need input from agricultural leaders on this situation.

The Extension official noted that medium and small-sized farm and ranch operations continue to be the hardest hit by unparalleled agricultural production cost increases. "Quietly but surely, these operations have been absorbed by either large agricultural conglomerates or into nonagricultural ventures," Pfannstiel said.

For those unconcerned about this situation, he rephrased the adage "Don't cry over spilled milk" to "who will cry when there is no milk?"

This dilemma is depicted in the threat of having no succeeding generations of young farmers and ranchers.

Many of today's children are receiving a negative image about agriculture, Pfannstiel said. The large salaries and seemingly glamorous lifestyles of non-agricultural occupations are held up to youth from agricultural families as being "ideal."

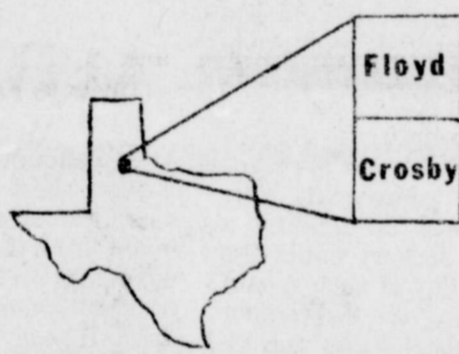

Pfannstiel challenged farm and ranch parents and leaders to actively emphasize the positive values of following agricultural occupations. "Our country's well-being, indeed the world's present and future well-being, depends largely on the success of American agriculture," he emphasized.

Bollworm activity is increasing in most irrigated cotton at this time. The level of activity varies from one area to the next with the highest levels being found in recently irrigated fields. Worm counts recently reported range from 0 - 24 per 100 plants. A light to moderate bollworm egg lay continues for most areas. Fields in corn producing areas apparently are receiving pressure from corn earworms (bollworms) since egg counts of up to 99 per 100 plants are still being reported. Cabbage looper eggs can be found in high numbers in some fields.

As long as warm weather and irrigation continues we can expect to see bollworm activity in cotton. When evening temperatures start dipping to the mid - 50's expect egg laying activity to decrease. Also when cotton reaches a point when few new squares are being produced bollworm populations often collapse and cease to be a problem. Mature bolls can now be found in all fields. When considering trying to make cotton from blooms at this point in time consider the following chart that shows the probability of producing mature bolls from flowers at different dates. This information is from research conducted at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Lubbock over a 14 year period.

Floyd County Farm Report

BY NANCY CARTEL

Corn harvest has started in some fields this week. Most of it has only been sampled and is still too wet to cut. More should be cut next week. The prospect on the yields is looking more favorable now than it was several weeks ago. Corn farmers are now hoping for the yields to be around 7,000-8,000 lbs.

Cotton is still being plagued with bollworms. Some of the lower bolls are opening now. One farmer said that he had open bolls on the bottom of the stalk, bollworms eating in the middle of the stalk, blooms on the top of the plant, and water running down the rows.

Some talk of defoliation has started in the area south of Lubbock.

The cotton prices are really looking good. Contracts of 3000 points over the 1980 loan are being offered and the talk from buyers is that prices could hit $1 this fall. We have heard that kind of talk several years ago and it didn't materialize but hopefully this year it will come true.

Wedding Vows Repeated By Turner-Kinast

Wedding vows were repeated by Brenda Turner and Bruce Kinast, Saturday, August 23, in a candlelight ceremony read in the First Baptist Church. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley performed the double ring vows at 7:30 in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Turner of Floydada, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kinast of Abernathy.

Palms of commodore heights formed the background for the wedding scene. Palms at either side were highlighted by a branched candelabra bearing apricot colored tapers. Apricot glads and pom pom mums, touched with Eucalyptus, were entwined in the candelabra. Hurricane lamps, with apricot satin streamers, held bridal ropes. A brass kneeling bench, decorated with foliage and apricot satin completed the setting.

Hurricane lamps with apricot satin streamers holding garlands of silk Lily of the Valley, marked church pews.

As guests arrived for the wedding they were registered by Debbie Guffee, Floydada, cousin of the bride. A ceramic engraved wedding invitation of the bridal pair, graced the register table, along with the brides' book and a white quill pen and holder.

Seating guests were Robert Turner and Si Medley of Floydada, and Virgil Boyd of Houston. All are uncles of the bride.

Mrs. Kay Crabtree, soloist, was accompanied at the piano by her husband. Selections included "The Wedding Song," "Longer Than" and "The Lord's Prayer." Piano and organ selections were also played by Mrs. Bill Hardin and Mrs. Mack Hickerson.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white luster sheer and chantilly lace. The fitted basque bodice was also of lace and highlighted with iridescent, styled with Bishop sleeves and a Queen Anne Neckline. The lace peplum was overlaid with rows of sheer Chantilly lace ruffles, descending from the waist to a semi-cathedral train of matching lace. Her fingertip lace trimmed veil of illusion fell from a lace bandeau. She carried a white pearlized Bible topped by a cascade bouquet of white butterfly rose buds, stephanotis and baby's breath. The Bible, borrowed from her paternal grandmother, Mrs. V.D. Turner, was brought back from her trip to the Holy Land. Inside the Bible was something old, a lace trimmed handkerchief which belonged to her great grandmother Medley. The bride also carried out the traditional something new and blue, and had pennies in her shoes bearing the birthdate of she and the groom.

Mrs. Craig Turner of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Janis Marr of Lockney, a cousin, was bridesmaid. They wore floor length gowns in apricot color fashioned from Coupe de ville and styled with straight skirts belted with matching color ribbon. The round necklines held ribbon drawstrings which were tied at the shoulders accenting open short sleeves. They carried nose gays of apricot pom pom daisies touched with brown.

The candlelighters, Shelli Irwin of Lubbock and Shandra Young of Amarillo, cousins of the bride, wore matching styled gowns only in brown. They wore wristlet corsages of apricot mums and carnations.

The groom wore a brown formal tuxedo with an off-white shirt ruffled at the front and cuffs in brown. His brother, Bobby Kinast of Abernathy, was best man, and the bride's brother, Craig Turner of Lubbock, was groomsman. They also wore brown tux with apricot colored shirts. The bride's father wore a brown tux with an off-white shirt, and the ushers also in brown tux, wore off-white shirts with brown trim.

Little Miss Candace Guffee, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Master Coby Marr, also a cousin was ring bearer. Candi wore an apricot color floor length gown styled identical to bridal attendants, and a matching ribbon in her hair. She carried a white net basket filled with rose petals. Candlelight Ceremony Unites Joan Grady-Michael Kotrous

A candlelight ceremony uniting Joan Loraine Grady, of Hereford, and Michael Eugene Kotrous, of Liberty, Missouri, was held Friday, August 29, at 7:30 p.m. at St. Anthony's Catholic Church in Hereford.

Reverend Paul Haefner S.A., pastor, of Hereford performed the ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Grady, of Hereford and the groom the son of Mr. Alvin J. Kotrous, of Verdigris, Nebraska.

An all white floral arrangement of large chrysanthemums interspersed with gladiolus, carnations and pixie carnations was illuminated upon the altar of Saint Anthony's Catholic Church by a symmetrical grouping of an arched brass candelabra and candlesticks, which were accented with asparagus fern.

Flanking the altar were a pair of seven branch candelabra, also adorned with fern.

Large white bows accented the church aisle and marked the pews. Completing the church decoration was the couples kneeling bench, which was trimmed with satin bows, streamers and greenery.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was gowning in a formal length wedding dress of white quiana appointed with an A-lines skirt and fitted empire bodice.

Alencon lace, sparkling sequins and seed pearls created a Queen Anne neckline and highlighted the bodice.

Pearls and lace enhanced the shoulders, falling down onto the upper portion of the long fitted sleeves, as well as edging the wrists. From the point d'esprit detailing, edged with alencon lace, on the bodice back, softly flowed a round Watteau chapel length train.

Crowning the bride, was a wreath of white, silk orange blossoms with a double-tired chapel length veil of bridal illusion.

She carried a large symmetrical bouquet of white roses and baby's breath.

Accenting the bride's trousseau was a pearl and diamond teardrop necklace, borrowed from her mother. She also wore the blue garter, which was worn by her mother as a bride and fashioned by her paternal grandmother.

As part of the ceremony, the bride's father read two scriptures from both the Old and New Testaments of the Bible, scriptures which the bride and groom had chosen: Genesis (2:18-24) and Paul to the Ephesians (5:2a, 21-33).

Attending her sister as matron of honor was Mrs. James D. Hamby Jr., Miss Donna Grady, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid.

The bride's sisters were gowning in identical sleeveless, floorlength dresses of maize colored angel knit fabric, patterned with blouson bodice and sunburst pleated skirts.

The bateau neckline was touched with lace and the shoulders gathered and accented with ties.

Attendants carried an airy bouquet of baby's breath accented with maize colored carnations complimented with satin streamers.

For her daughters' wedding, Mrs. Grady chose a full length ivory quiana satin dress which was slightly shirred at the waist, with a fitted bodice of lace, long sleeves, a satin soft belt and a circular neckline. Accenting her dress was a string of opera length pearls.

Her corsage consisted of sonja colored carnations.

Bestman was Richard Kotrous, brother of the groom, of Kansas City, Missouri, Emmitt Barnes III of Russellville, Arkansas served as groomsman.

Robert Grady, brother of the bride, from Andrews, and James D. Hamby Jr., brother-in-law of the bride, served as ushers.

Candlelighter was Robert Grady, brother of the bride, from Andrews.

The groom, groomsmen and ushers all wore traditional gray strollers, striped trousers, gray vests, white soft-collared shirts, and gray and white striped ties.

Music for the occasion was provided by Mrs. Jim Cramer, organist; and Mr. Ralph Detten, vocalists. Principal selections were "You Made Us For Each Other," Lohengrin's traditional, "Wedding March," "Hosea," and "Wedding Prayer." All selections, except the wedding march, were sung.

The bride is a 1972 graduate of Hereford High School, a graduate of West Texas State University, graduating with a Magna Cum Laude degree and a Studio Art B.F.A. She also taught art in the Floydada Independent School District for three years.

The groom is a graduate of West Texas State University with a degree in Psychology. He played varsity football for WTSU. Having served four years in the United States Army he presently holds rank of Captain in the Army Reserves. He is employed by Information Inc. of Kansas City, Missouri as a corporate recruiter.

RECEPTION

A reception, following the ceremony, was held in the parlor of the First Christian Church.

A small circular table covered with a lace table cloth held the bridal guest book and white plumed pen. A crystal bud vase holding a stem of white flowers accented the table.

Mrs. Dennis Sweargin of Floydada, presided at the bride's table which was spread with a sheer patterned white nylon cloth featuring a maize underlay.

Centered on the table was the bride's colonnaded white fluted three tiered cake, topped with an arrangement of white silk roses, carnations, apple blossoms and a pair of wedding bells. Smaller groupings of flowers trimmed the bottom tiers, while its base was encircled with greenery. Floral arrangements were fashioned by the bride.

A grouping of three tapers in crystal holders illuminated either side of the bride's table. The pair of bouquets used by the attendants complimented the candles.

Silver and crystal appointments were used.

Miss Roxann Schwertner presided at the groom's table, which was spread with a maize linen cloth. It featured a circular fluted double layered chocolate cake with an inscription of the couples names. A large wedding candle, circled with greenery, centered the table. The bridal bouquet was placed on the groom's table.

Miss Cathy Koelzer served the guests punch and Mrs. Eric Boettcher, of Amarillo, served coffee.

As a traveling attire, the bride chose a two piece sheer nylon blend jacketed sundress with a navy blue background, which was accented with fine diagonal stripes of red, white and yellow, and finished with a red collar, matching red cuffs and a hemline bordered in red with a sidekick pleat.

She also wore a corsage of white roses and bone accessories were used.

All Ages Appear As Freshman

Loading cars and pickups with all their worldly belongings, college students are returning to campus. Freshman are looking forward to more independence and possibly worrying a bit about how they will get along with that new roommate. For most the fear of the unknown will quickly fade as the anticipation gives way to the routine of settling into a different life style. Being away from home gives a heady sense of freedom and most will cope well.

While across the land another group is gathering courage to assault the hallowed halls of learning. Growing in number and courage, these students have a different focus and perspective. They are beginning a college education after a 20-year lapse, during which they married and raised a family. Some are picking up an interrupted college career and others are "first-timers."

How will they fare? Comparatively well, say most educators. These students are more serious and committed. Their goals are clearly defined. The mature students bring a wealth of experience that challenges the instructors to offer their best.

The largest influx of more mature students occurred after World War II when Veterans flooded the campus, impatient to finish their education and get on with the business of making a living. Eighteen-year-old freshmen said many classes became much more difficult as the instructors raised the level of their teaching to meet the needs of the more serious student.

While the "season" for learning has traditionally been for youth, more and more persons are returning to school with reasons as varied as the people who return.

"A middle-aged freshman was most unusual in 1958," said Dr. Vera Simpson, associate professor of speech at Texas Tech University, "but I have no regrets about not going to college earlier."

Dr. Simpson married returning serviceman Bob Simpson immediately after World War II. During the war she worked, turning down a scholarship to study drama at any school in the country.

"Women only went to college for one of two things when I was 18 - a MRS or a teachers certificate. I didn't want either one," Dr. Simpson said.

Her early dreams of a career as an actress were encouraged by her high school principal in Memphis, Tennessee.

"In those days it was quite acceptable for a girl from a good family to be involved in amateur theatre," Dr. Simpson agreed, "but to become a professional actress would have been scandalous."

Parents of two sons, the Simpsons moved wherever Simpson's work as an insurance adjuster took them. When Bob Simpson traveled in the Southwest area he liked it so well that he moved his family to Plainview and then to Lubbock in 1958.

Mrs. Simpson continued to develop and use her talents, participating in drama groups wherever she lived. She sometimes made radio commercials.

"Wherever we moved, there were two places I always found friends and acceptance," Dr. Simpson said, "one was my church and the other the local theatre group."

Friends in Plainview and Lubbock urged her to go to school and her husband encouraged her to enroll at Tech.

Mixing marriage and family with college studies was not easy but with the help of her husband and sons Mrs. Simpson went on to earn a B.A. at Texas Tech in 1962, a M.A. in 1965 and her Ph.D. at Wayne State in 1972.

Described by one student as "the most outstanding instructor I have had at Tech," Dr. Simpson poetry interpretation and Reader's Theatre at Tech. High school speech students in the area will recognize her as an active promoter and judge of many forensics events on the South Plains.

Dr. Simpson does not believe Texas Tech University is taking an active enough role in encouraging continuing education. She noted that the smaller schools in the area are far ahead of Tech in offering courses to attract the mature student.

Widowed three years ago, Dr. Simpson has found her work to be a great help in adjusting to her single status. She remembers with gratitude the support and encouragement of her husband and family to enter the academic world.

"If a person can survive the 'paper chase' and cope with the necessary bureaucracy, the instructors and fellow students are generally helpful and sympathetic toward the returning student," one late-bloomer commented. "Still, the program is geared to the on-campus youth, and scheduling adjustments and lab requirements can prove difficult," the returning student said.

Courses offered by the community junior colleges have been helpful in enabling the mature student to enter a degree program. These colleges have made extension and night classes available in basic subjects as well as offering opportunities for technical training.

Several Floydada residents have attended classes at the Crosbyton extension of Western Texas College in Snyder. Many high school seniors in Crosbyton have taken the opportunity, with permission of the high school, to get some of their basic freshmen required courses during the school year or in the summer following graduation.

In Floydada, Texas Tech University offered Spanish 141 and 142 during the 1979-80 school term and is offering Spanish 231 for the 1980 fall semester at Floydada High School. Enrollment will be at 6 p.m. September 10. Other courses may be made available through the division of continuing education at Texas Tech University upon request.

THE SATURDAY WALKATHON drew participants of all ages. The weather was beautiful as most of the walkers paced off five miles at the time of the event.

Walkathon Held For Purchase Of Billboards

The High School Track was a busy place Saturday morning as the members of the First Assembly of God participated in a walkathon around the track while the Whirlwinds were doing calisthenics in the center area.

Approximately 30 walkers were on the field at 9:00 a.m. Some of the younger and more energetic were running, several were jogging, but the majority were strolling leisurely, chatting with each other and subconsciously keeping strictly within the track lane marks.

A table had been set up with pel tracts, radio spots that will be heard at 8:00 every day, newspaper ads and bumper stickers.

Rev. J.W. Guess, pastor, said that they already have the billboards paid for, "I think we have it all paid for, but I haven't figured it yet. People are still pledging," he said.

by the gate and volunteers were accepting pledges from Church members. The pledges were for about $1.00 per mile. The money will be used "to saturate the community with the message that when your hurting, God cares." Billboards will be purchased also, 1000 Gos-

Letter To Parents

Dear Parent or Guardian: The Lockney Schools serve nutritious meals every school day. Students may buy lunch for 55 cents and breakfast for 25 cents.

Children from families whose income is at or below levels shown on the attached scale are eligible for free or reduced-price meals. The reduced-price for lunch is 10 cents and for breakfast 10 cents. If your income is greater than those shown, but you have unusually high medical bills, shelter costs in excess of 30 percent of your income, special education expenses due to the mental or physical condition of a child, or disaster or casualty losses, your children may still be eligible.

The school children of parents or guardians who become unemployed are eligible for free or reduced-price meals during the period of unemployment, provided that the loss of income causes the family income during the period of unemployment to be at or below the levels shown on the scale.

To apply at any time during the year for free meals or reduced-price meals for your children, complete the attached application and the school. This information will be used for the purpose of determining eligibility for free and reduced-price meals. Within ten days of receiving your application, whether or not you are eligible, the school will let you know. If you are not eligible, you may appeal to the school's decision. This is a right to a hearing. This can be calling or writing Mr. Hallmark, Box 100, Lockney, Texas 75756, 652-2104.

In certain cases, children are eligible for these benefits if foster children in your home and wish to eat such meals. Please notify the school.

All children in the same region are eligible to participate in the operation of child nutrition programs, no matter what the cause of unemployment or national origin.

If we can be of further assistance, your family size changes during the year, please contact W.H. Hallmark, Superintendent, Stamford Lake, where we fish while there.

Bob Gilliland returned to Floydada in 1978 to manage Script Printing and Office Supply. He began his printing career in 1964 when he was a freshman in Floydada High School.

"We try to furnish our customers with anything they need in the line of office supplies and equipment... and furniture."

The store carries a complete line of supplies. "If there is an item we don't have in stock we can ordinarily get it within one week depending on the availability of the item," Gilliland said.

The shop does all types of printing, both business and for personal use.

The First National Bank of Floydada was organized in 1890 as a private bank. It has been in continuous service ever since. John N. Farris was one of the original founders of the bank. His grandson, Tom, now serves as President; his son, Kinder, is now Chairman of the Board.
 The bank was first located in the middle of the block. In 1912 it was moved to the present corner site.
 "With the fine customer base we have, we have continuously striven to provide the best service we can for our community." Tom Farris said.
