Black-eyed peas vs. hamburgers

BY SHELLY HARRIS

It's funny how you get caught up in tradition.

Like eating black-eyed peas for luck on New Years Day.

For twenty-five years, every since I came to Texas, I've been eating black-eyed peas.

I've eaten them with bacon and eggs after the New Years Eve dance. I've eaten them with ham and baked potatoes for dinner on New Years Day, and if I expected something special out of the next year I've even snuck a spoonful or two before I went to bed.

And I don't even like black-eyed peas.

I suspect the whole thing was started by an enterprising pea farmer in East Texas.

Anyway, last year we blew all tradition.

Risky as it was we not only didn't eat the spotted peas, we didn't even have a big ham dinner.

Billy and I were in Austin.

We got Jack-in-the-box hamburgers and went out to Zilker Park.

The park has a big spring-fed lake that's been partially cemented, dammed-up, and fenced. It is the place where generations of Austinites have learned to swim.

The play ground has a real fire engine for the children to climb over. The paint job is new every year, but the model is vintage, and has been stripped of all equipment.

There are different play areas for each age; the toddlers have bucket swings, the intermediates have a merry-go-round, and for the older children is an advanced jungle gym set-up that resembles an army training obstacle course.

A small ampi theater sits at the bottom of a slope. People sit on the grass in the summer for shows brought in from out of town or for plays done by UT drama students.

There is a miniature train that runs through the park in the summer months only.

Last New Years Day was bright and warm. There were even a few hearty souls swimming.

We found a picnic table and spread out the hamburgers, French fries, and soaked up the sun while we ate. It was a marvelous day.

There was a freedom about it. Released from the traditional day of cooking in the kitchen. No more shackled to habit. No black-eyed peas. Daring we were. Breaking tradition.

It was such great fun I think we'll do it again this year. Pick up some fast-food hamburgers and go find a park. We may do it next year too, and the next.

Land Bank boosts interest rates

Don Cranford, manager of The Federal Land Bank Association of Floydada, announced today that the Federal Land Bank of Texas' billing rate on farm and ranch land and rural residence loans will be increased from 9 1/2 percent on farm and ranch loans to 10 1/2 percent. The rural residence loans will be increased from 10 1/4 percent to 11 percent effective January 1, 1981.

In making this announcement, Mr. Cranford stated that the increase in the billing rate became necessary because of the continued high cost of funds to finance the Banks' lending operation.

"While we regret that this action is necessary; even with the increase in our rate, it is still substantially under rates being offered by other lenders."

The Federal Land Bank Association of Floydada, which services all of Floyd County, makes long-term real estate loans on farm and ranch land and rural residences throughout this area.

SPS builds power plant

Southwestern Public Service Company is constructing a new coal-fired power plant in Lamb County.

Although still a year and a half from scheduled completion the Tolk Station unit is taking shape.

The utility company is in the process of switching to coal-power from the more expensive natural gas.

Lewis McDaniel, manager of SPS in Floydada, said "we're going to have to be out of natural gas consumption by the turn of the century."

With the completion of the Tolk station now under construction and another unit planned for the same area, one-half of the total generating capacity of the company will be coal-power.

Floydada Electric Light and Power began purchasing electricity from SPS in April. Fuel costs for coal-powered electricity is less than natural gas.

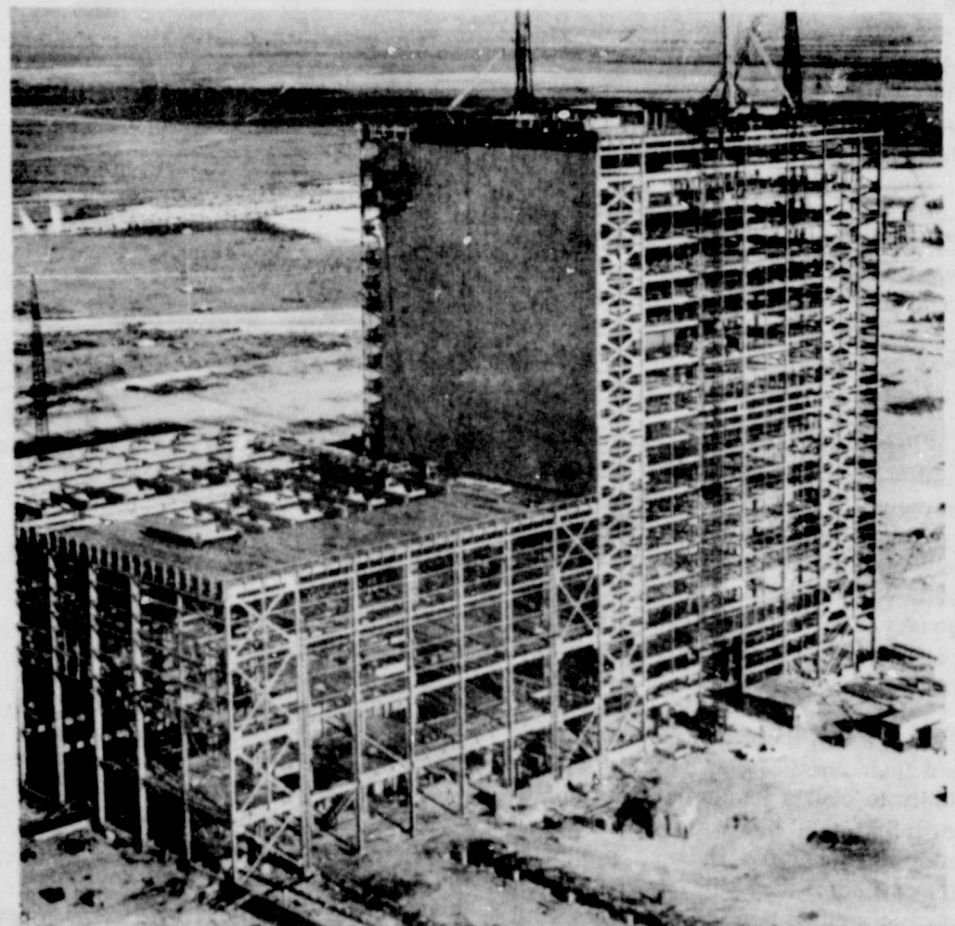

In March, 1980 the city's fuel cost was $38.52 per 1000Kwh which was the year high.

The year low was $7.30 per Kwh in the month of November. This has been a great savings to the Floydada tax payer.

Tolk, 12 miles east of Muleshoe, like all of Southwestern's plants constructed since 1952, is designed and engineered by Southwestern personnel. No two units have been built exactly alike but the first and second unit at Tolk will be very similar. However, if new technology is introduced which would make the second unit more efficient or easier to operate, then changes would be made.

Southwestern is one of very few electric utility companies in the United States that design and engineer their own plants. This procedure has proven to be very efficient and economical -- so economical in fact, that Southwestern's plants are built for about one-half of the national average per kilowatt. And when you consider that the first unit at Tolk will cost well over $200-million, the savings to Southwestern's customers becomes apparent.

For the last few years, Southwestern has put a new unit on the line about every two years but each unit takes longer than two years to construct. When the third unit at Harrington Station near Amarillo, Texas, went on the line last summer, Tolk Station had been under construction for over two years.

CONSTRUCTION ON TOLK STATION, Southwestern Public Service Company's new coal-fired power plant 12 miles east of Muleshoe, Texas, is approaching the half-way point. The first of two 543,000 kilowatt generating units is scheduled for completion in 1982.

Farm tax payment due

Individuals who earned at least two-thirds of their 1979 or 1980 gross income from farming have until Thursday, January 15, 1981, to make a 1980 declaration of estimated tax and pay any taxes due, the Internal Revenue Service says.

However, farmers who plan to file their 1980 income tax return and pay the total tax balance by March 3, 1981, are not required to make an estimated tax declaration, according to the IRS.

Additional information is available in the free IRS Publication 225, "Farmer's Tax Guide," and Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax." These publications can be ordered by mail using the order form in the tax package, or by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, they can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

Cotton Inc. meeting set for February

All U.S. cotton producers and their families have been invited to the second Annual Producers' Meeting of Cotton Incorporated, scheduled for February 13-14, 1981, at Raleigh, North Carolina. Announcing plans for the meeting, L.C. Unfred of Tahoka, Texas, chairman of the Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors, said it will provide the ideal opportunity for cotton producers to get fully acquainted with the company's activities through 1980 and its plans for the coming year.

Financed by producers' per-bale assessments, Cotton Incorporated conducts a full program of research and marketing aimed at lowering producers' costs and expanding cotton's markets. The first Annual Producers' Meeting was held last February and, according to Unfred, proved to be a great success.

"Producers from every state in the Cotton Belt came to that first meeting," he noted. "They went back home and told their neighbors how the meeting helped them get a better understanding of how their research and promotion dollars were being invested. For that reason, we expect an even larger turnout this year."

On Friday, February 13, producers and their families will have the opportunity to visit a leading textile mill to learn first-hand how cotton is processed from the bale into finished products. That evening, they will join the Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors and management for a reception and banquet in Raleigh.

The Annual Meeting on Saturday, February 14, will include special reports on the company's programs in agricultural research, textile research, economic research, domestic sales/marketing, international marketing, and such marketing services as advertising. The program will be followed by a tour of the laboratory facilities of Cotton Incorporated's Raleigh research center.

Unfred noted that producers will be responsible for their transportation to and from North Carolina and their lodging expenses. However, he pointed out, "the company's attorneys have advised us that expenses for both the annual meeting and the mill tour should qualify as a business expense federal tax deduction for cotton producers."

A Raleigh travel agency is assisting with airline tickets, including lower-cost group rate tickets from various points in the Cotton Belt. These will be assigned on a first-come, first-served basis, as will hotel rooms, so interested producers should get their requests in as soon as possible, Unfred emphasized.

Unfred said the company has tried to inform as many producers as possible of the meeting by letter. He said, however, that any producer who has not received the information can get the appropriate forms by writing to "Annual Meeting, Cotton Incorporated, P.O. Box 30067, Raleigh, North Carolina 27622," or by calling Ms. Evelyn Costello at (919) 782-6330.

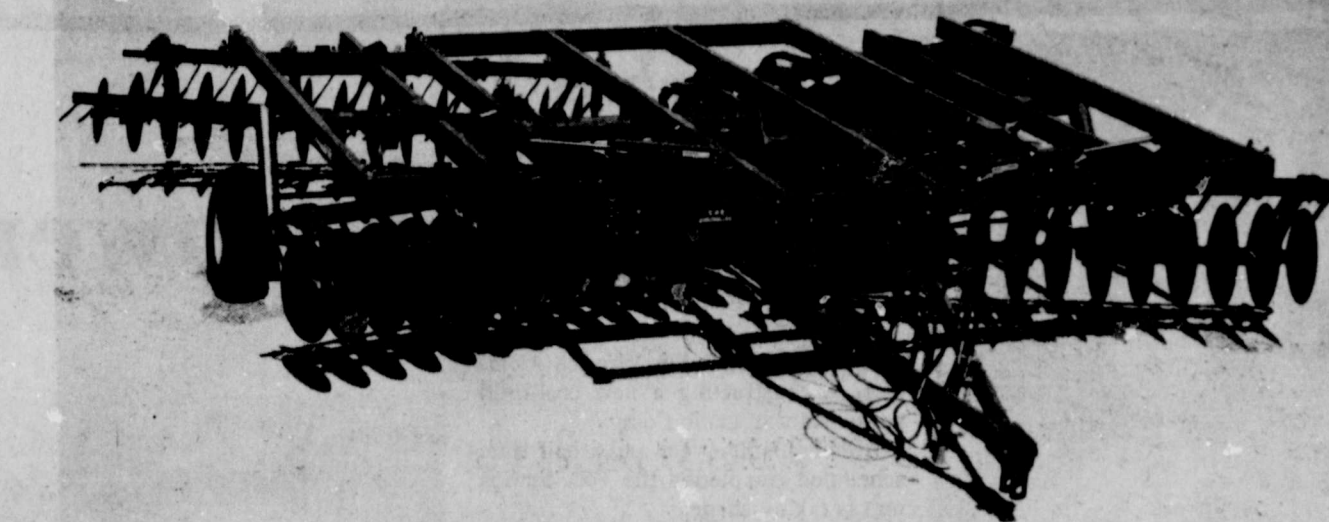

Winter herbicides can prevent weed problems

(COLLEGE STATION)—A winter herbicide application can rescue cropland from pesky winter weeds. Among weed culprits that infest cotton and sorghum land in central and southern areas each fall and winter are henbit, dock and other broadleaf weeds. These often become a serious problem when wet fields prevent tillage.

Herbicides can give good control of these weeds if applied early, points out Dr. Dave Weaver, weed specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Caparol can be applied on fall prepared land in coastal and blackland areas that is to be planted to cotton next spring. Apply about a pound of Caparol 80W in 20 to 40 gallons of water per acre before weeds emerge.

Henbit that is already up but no taller than 3 to 4 inches can be controlled with Caparol provided a surfactant is added (2 quarts per 100 gallons of spray solution). An agricultural oil at one

THE NEW 1200 series disks from Kewanee Machinery Division are designed for greater trash clearance, more aggressive cutting and mixing action, and durability. Width of cut varies from 21'1" to 22'9" depending on model and blade size. All 1200 series disks have a flat-fold design that results in a 13'2" transport width and an 8'1" transport height.

Poisonous plants abundant

Many of Texas' rangelands are boasting poisonous plants this fall due to the summer's devastating drought. Good management is the key to reducing livestock losses from these plants.

Many cool season annuals as well as perennial plants which begin growth in the fall are both palatable and toxic (poisonous) to livestock, points out Dr. B.J. Ragsdale, range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Among major species of toxic annuals are western bitterweed, one of the locos called Garbancillo, and lobelia. These plants germinate in the fall after a rain and make some growth during late fall and early winter.

Some of the cool season toxic perennials which are making fall growth are woolly loco, threadleaf groundsel and perennial broomweed.

As warm season forage plants deteriorate with cooler weather, these toxic plants remain green and animals are forced to eat them, says Ragsdale. In the case of woolly loco, animals become addicted and will continue to eat these plants when other feed is available.

The specialist cautions ranchers to be on the alert for these plants. If animals show poisoning symptoms, they should be moved to pastures free from these species.

To provide a clean pasture, treat areas of toxic plants as deferred pasture during the growing season. This would provide a supply of dry forage on clean pasture during the toxicity season.

Ragsdale points out that an excellent demonstration regarding bitterweed was conducted in the Edwards Plateau recently. The demonstration indicates that death losses can be reduced by deferring a pasture during the growing season, spraying with a herbicide in fall when bitterweed plants are small and before extreme winter temperatures, and then concentrating sheep in the pasture. Several factors are involved in this type of program—most plants are killed, the remaining amount of toxic materials is diluted to a large number of animals, and an abundance of forage is available to carry animals through the critical toxicity period of late December, January and into February.

In evaluating such a practice of deferral and weed control, value of the stock saved must be balanced against cost of the practice, notes the specialist.

Another alternative would be a planned grazing system using deferral and balancing livestock numbers with forage to reduce or prevent losses. Many deferred rotation grazing systems are available to improve ranges and to subsequently reduce death losses where toxic plants are a problem, says Ragsdale. As a planned deferred rotation grazing system is carried out, desirable plants increase and become more vigorous and reduce the number of toxic plants.

While toxic plants are a natural part of native range vegetation, drought and mismanagement can intensify their effect on livestock production, says Ragsdale. Thus good management is critical.

Cotton use holds its own in U.S.

Cotton Use Holds Its Own: Daily U.S. cotton use in October was 4.4 percent lower than in October, 1979, according to the U.S. Census Bureau.

A total of 24,072 running bales was consumed daily in October, compared with 25,188 running bales in October, 1979. The October, 1980, daily figure is 5.5 percent higher than the September, 1980, figure of 22,816 running bales. But on a seasonally adjusted annual basis October consumption fell 2 percent from the September, 1980, figure of 6,308 million bales, according to the National Cotton Council.

Despite the declines, Gaylon Booker, director of economic and market research for the Council, said consumption levels were reasonably good considering the recession. He estimated consumption in calendar year 1980 at 6.2 million bales, compared with 1979 consumption of 6.4 million.

Booker also said that despite decreases in total fiber consumption from September and year-ago levels, cotton's share remained at 25 percent, an indication that cotton was holding its own in the fiber market.

Cotton Farmers Win: The requirement that farmers and ranchers in 1981 remain within their Normal Crop Acreage (NCA) to be eligible for target price protection, price support loans, and disaster assistance has been blocked. An amendment to the agricultural appropriations bill denies funds to administer or enforce the NCA requirement. The amendment was strongly supported by the National Cotton Council. Under the measure, now awaiting President's signature, cotton producers who exceed their NCA in 1981 will remain eligible for all program benefits on cotton, wheat, feed grains, soybeans, and rice.

Exemption Gained: The Senate Appropriations Committee has agreed to an amendment that would exempt farmers, ranchers, and other agricultural employers from the Farm Labor Contractor Registration Act (FLCRA), despite heavy labor lobbying.

Exports Reported: Cotton textile exports were equivalent to 91,500 bales in September, up 4.2 percent from August. The cumulative total for the year through September is 846,000 bale equivalents, 17.5 percent higher than the same period a year earlier. Net new sales for the current marketing year delivery are 31,900 bales. Total exports, plus orders, for the year are 3,649,200 bales.

Dust Research Funded: Congress has approved $975,000 for increased funding for cotton dust research. The National Cotton Council and other groups worked to gain approval of the funding to help solve the cotton dust problems.

Energy Needs To Be Discussed: A special discussion of energy requirements for cotton production will be held in connection with the Beltwide Cotton Conferences January 4-8 in New Orleans. Experts will focus on energy requirements for cotton on clay soils, breakdown of the energy needed for each production practice, and how the amount of energy put into cotton relates to yield for the grower.

New administration Focus of farm meeting

(WACO) — Gaining insight into the approach the Republican administration will take toward a multi-year farm law due for congressional action in 1981 is the central issue of discussion for members of the Texas Farmers Union who will gather in Dallas January 8-10.

The 320 delegates to the 77th annual convention will be equally concerned, however, with the internal question of choosing a successor to TFU President Jay Naman of Waco who, after leading the organization for nineteen years, has stated he will not be a candidate for reelection.

With two announced candidates actively campaigning for the top post, combined with the usual surge of interest that precedes a national farm program debate, Texas Farmers Union officials predict heavy turnout for the January convention.

"Jay Naman has been a dynamic, outspoken and often times controversial figure in our organization," said TFU Secretary Ron Butler. "He has built a solid structure and legitimate power base, and there are some activist factions, not just individuals, that want control in order to maintain our traditional, unabashed challenge of the status quo to respect and act on the critical needs of family farmers and ranchers."

Dr. Ronald Knutson, a policy economist from Texas A&M who has tapped by the Reagan agricultural transition team to serve as a chief adviser, will likely encounter some "demanding questions" when he addresses the TFU meet, according to Butler.

"All of the anger and frustration of farmers over the Carter Administration's disappointing farm policies have translated into a restless impatience in the farm sector," Butler commented. "There's a great expectancy that Reagan will bring about significant change and there'll be a big uproar if he takes the USDA over to white-collar agriculture and big-dollar commodity tradesmen."

The Farmers Union in Texas has a membership of almost ten thousand family members and is one of two states in the National Farmers Union which has around 350,000 members. Their policies center around a populist philosophy of protecting family farm structure, a theme he decries the influence that big energy conglomerates, land speculators and multinational commodity traders have in creating ruinous inflation and cheap farm prices.

In addition to electing state delegates to the Dallas convention, the 1981 policy statement addresses both national and state issues and will elect national delegates to the March convention in Orlando, Florida.

Other speakers on the agenda include State Senators E.L. Short and L. Doggett and Representatives Dan Biak and Bill Haley who will sit on a panel to discuss agriculture, finance and consumer affairs in upcoming Texas legislative session.

Congressman Martin Frost of Texas' 24th District will provide views of the 97th Congress. President George Stone addresses final banquet on Saturday.

It may come as a shock but the hottest new development in meat processing - which is credited with more tender beef, firmer lean meat, speedier carcass processing and more economically fed animals - isn't new at all. Electrical stimulation, now employed by most major U.S. packers, was first accomplished by Ben Franklin, who in 1749, used a simple electrical discharge to kill turkeys, noting that not only did the jolt make the resulting poultry "uncommonly tender," but that he had thus found "the first practical use for electricity". Regardless of the age of the discovery, or its late entry into modern packing houses, Texas A & M tests do indicate that tenderness increases about 21 percent after electrical stimulation. Marbling also appears more distinctly. But, the best news to the cattle raiser is the fact that electrical stimulation will enable them to market leaner, more economically fed animals.

Tolk, like Harrington, will be a coal-fired plant and will use a baghouse filter system for emission control which operates on much the same principal as a vacuum cleaner.

The coal-handling facility at Tolk will feature rotary-dump cars. The railroad cars, moving through a dumping building located over the coal stackout hopper, will be turned upside down while still attached to cars in front and back.

The largest single piece of equipment, the generator, is scheduled to be shipped from East Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, the last of this month. This Westinghouse generator, weighing 385 tons, will be shipped by rail on a special rail car owned by Westinghouse.

When Tolk goes on the line, it will have a capability of 543,000 kilowatts and will be Southwestern's largest single unit. This one will generate more electricity than any of Southwestern's gas-fired plants and considerably more than a single unit at Harrington. Tolk will generate enough electricity to supply a city of 225,000 people.

One unit at Tolk will burn 296 tons of Wyoming coal per hour, 6,104 tons per day, 2,592,960 tons per year. Four trains per week, each composed of 110 cars, will be required to supply coal to Tolk.

When the first unit at Tolk starts generating electricity in the summer of 1982, construction of the second unit at the same location will be well under way.

Memories of a Christmas past

Distribution of gifts from the Christmas Star in Floydada was quite simple. In speaking of the Christmas Eve this shortly after 1900.

"Everybody" covers quite a goodly number of people, but so far as I was concerned and the kids I knew they were all there. (This was childish fancy, of course. My own parents did not attend. Mamma was an invalid for some years in those years.) It must have been established custom because youngsters already here when we came to the country, introduced me to it as one of the things you did — go to the Christmas Star. It was held on Christmas Eve or on a date as near it as possible.

Principal reason one must be there on that important night was the way in which the distribution was conducted. The present or gift was lifted from its place on the Star and the named called out. If you were present you cried out "here." If you were not there — reckon that it was and what became of it?.....

J.C. Bolding looked on
On two different nights in those old days I recall J.C. Bolding coming up the stairway and leaning on the banisters for awhile, taking in things I suppose. He was interested in getting ideas for the Lakeview Christmas event no doubt. One night he did not say anything that I heard. The other night he said, "We have ours tomorrow night."

Mr. Bolding was a bachelor, a young man at that time. He did not tell me ever why he was interested, but I am sure he wanted to help promote a good social life at Lakeview, and he had a soft place in his heart for kids. I think the man was aware of that age old fact — one is always touched, remembers and never forgets — if he is remembered.

Hard, Expensive Lesson
West Texas communities lost many useful men and women in the process of learning the hard lesson of sanitation — just plain cleanliness, absence of filth. In 1900 there was no problem of sanitation. By the end of the decade sanitation was our principal problem. It was hard to learn because we had so much to un-learn.

A look at vital statistics records will reveal many reports of death from typhoid in the period from 1907 to 1912.

We called it slow fever, but it seemed to get into the record books as typhoid. When you had slow fever you burned up alive from fever and you sometimes died. If you didn't die the fever broke on the 22nd day. You gradually regained strength and as you did the 22 days of fasting while you had fever made you ravenous for food.

Somebody had to watch you every minute. Your illness and your hunger left you with no will power. With the attendant's back turned for only a minute the patient stole what food he could find and gorged himself. The resultant shock was almost sure death.

Hard to Realize
It still makes me sick at the stomach to think of it — horses and milk cows and hogs and chickens and open toilets all over town — and no screens. All the communities had the problem. I was right in the middle of it both in Floydada and Lockney. Lockney incorporated in 1908 and Floydada in 1909, both for the purpose of trying to get the situation under control.

How could we have let it go on! Well, at first we didn't grasp the idea, it was so simple. We were used to ownership of these domestic animals and fowls, and your fathers before us as far back as memory or legend goes. And hadn't the world had flies since the beginning of time?

In Floydada we had a newspaper man for a year or two who was a problem. When I went to Lockney in the late winter of 1908 I lent all my 19-year-old fervor to the disheartening battle.

Floydada lost any number of useful people to the plague. I remember Ray Engel, highly esteemed, young man who was bandmaster here for more than a year following Albert G. Hinn. He succumbed to slow fever only a few months after moving to Plainview, sometime in 1909 or 1910. We also lost W.W. Nelson, a hard blow, when four days before Christmas in 1909 he passed from the earthly scene. He was the cashier and one of the moving spirits in the First National Bank. He was a hard man to lose.

Congressman Charles W. Stenholm met with leaders of the Federal Republic of Germany during a four-day conference in Bavaria following the adjournment of Congress recently.

Stenholm, along with 17 other members of the House and Senate, were asked to participate in the conference with their German counterparts by the Heritage Foundation, a tax-exempt public research institute headquartered in Washington.

The bi-partisan group joined members of the German Bundestag from the Christian Social Union party, the more conservative of Germany's two major parties, and representatives of the Bavarian Government in discussions of major issues. Topics included were defense, SALT and the strategic balance; the future of NATO and East-West relations in Europe; economic problems of the West, inflation, unemployment and recession; and energy and strategic materials.

"International gatherings of this type provide an interchange of information that is particularly useful," Stenholm said. "In light of the problems shared by both countries, the discussion were a candid assessment of the interests we share."

A common-sense checklist for the cold

It is "cold" season again with all the old common-cold problems, but most colds are combatable—especially if you use a "common-sense checklist" as ammunition. The "common-sense checklist" has three parts: understanding which treatments do not work, knowing basic treatment tips and spotting "call-the-doctor" signs.

To understand which treatments do not work, understand the common cold first. Most colds are caused by a virus-called "rhinovirus." These tiny cells invade the body any time of the year, but late winter and early spring are the prime times for colds, according to epidemic patterns. Antibiotics, such as penicillin and tetracycline, do not work to cure the common cold, because these antibiotics cannot fight a virus.

To treat a cold, keep its symptoms in mind. They include watery nasal congestion, sneezing, sore throat, sinus pain, cough and fever. Also, remember that colds usually last from just three to seven days—and a low-grade fever often occurs around the third day.

Then follow these basic treatment tips:

- Stay clean—personal cleanliness during a cold may help prevent the virus' spread to those around you.
- Stay warm and rested—avoid excessively cold temperatures and over fatigue. Of course, you should also avoid getting over-heated.

- Drink liquids more—make sure you increase the amount of liquids you usually consume.
- Stop smoking.
- Use oral nasal decongestant—if you need it to relieve pain.
- Check your temperature every day—to make sure it isn't too high. It should stay below 102 degrees.

Although a physician usually doesn't need to know you have a cold, there are certain signs that tell you to call the doctor—to avoid serious complications, such as viral pneumonia. Here are the danger signs:

- a temperature that stays over 101 degrees F. several times every day.
- an increase in throat pain.
- white or yellow spots on the throat or tonsils
- chest pain
- an earache
- coughing that produces a green or gray sputum
- no improvement by the fifth day

Call the doctor if you have one or more of these symptoms.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

It's a savings account in disguise.

It looks like a checking account. It acts like a checking account. It does everything a checking account can do, exactly like a checking account does it. But underneath it all, there's an unbelievable difference. It's a NOW account, so it earns interest like a savings account. It actually lets you make money on the money you could never get a dime for before. Of course, that's not as easy as falling off a log. There's a lot of figuring involved. Because just how much you get, or don't get, involves a few fairly complicated things. Things like the number of transactions, the minimum balance, even the average balance. So it makes a whole lot of sense to sit down with us first. We're A Full Service Bank, which is where modern checking was invented. There's nobody, but nobody, with more professional experience at un-complicating things. Behind every success, there's good advice.

Look for this symbol. We've got the answers.

Final tax payment due soon for 1980

Taxpayers who did not have enough 1980 federal tax withheld, or whose amended income estimates for 1980 changed substantially during the last quarter, are required to pay the final installment of estimated income tax by January 15, 1981, the Internal Revenue Service says.

The IRS notes that there is an exception to this rule for those taxpayers who file their returns and pay all taxes due by February 2, 1981. This exception applies whether the declaration is an original or amended one.

Generally, taxpayers must file estimated tax if their tax is expected to be $100 or more and if they have more than $500 in income not covered by withholding.

For additional information, a free copy of IRS Publication 505, "Tax Withholding and Estimated Tax," can be ordered by calling the IRS number listed in the local telephone directory. If more convenient, it can also be picked up at most IRS offices.

Channel Five Highlights

BY MELISSA CREAMER

This has always seemed a rather uninteresting time of year. I guess it's because it is still winter, but Christmas is over—so it has no redeeming feature. Oh well, we have the West Texas spring to look forward to. We at Channel 5 are beginning to prepare for our annual fund-raiser, Festival '81. We'll keep you informed on special programs that will be aired.

Studies have shown that the two most neglected age groups—as far as television viewers go, include teenagers and elderly. However, these are two of the most difficult in one's life. A new series begins Sunday evenings at 6:00, starting the 11th for teenagers. Each episode is forged by the experiences of the six member staff of The New Voice, a revitalized weekly newspaper of the fictional Abraham Lincoln High School, as they confront a range of issues commonly faced by young people across the country. Some of these issues include pregnancy, alcoholism, personal rivalry, and career choices. This program is aimed toward teens and parents. It shows teens that they aren't alone with the problems they face; and it shows practical methods for parents to use in communicating with their teens without appearing dogmatic or controlling.

"Danger UXB" continues their work on Mobil-funded Masterpiece Theatre at 8:00 p.m. on Sunday. This is a 13 part drama of the pressures on the men who may have had the most dangerous job during World War II—that of de-fusing unexploded bombs. Anthony Andrews portrays Brian Ash in the series, a young man assigned to a bomb disposal unit in 1940 after the London blitz. This is the second in the series.

Tuesday night brings the second in the two part series "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" on Mystery! Last week, Dr. Jekyll unleashed Mr. Hyde's hideous personality and this week Dr. Jekyll becomes engaged to Ann Coggeshall. However, he continues his experiments with his personalities and things little berserk. Watch for Chapter 5 at 8:00. On a lake, you should try Right after that, Soundstage presents the "River Band". TROUT STOCKED

The cold weather in Texas showed most of the trout fishing in the arm for Texas anglers as over 45,400 trout have been stocked in four public fishing areas of the state.

Most of the trout have been stocked in the Guadalupe River below the Canyon. Several thousand trout were stocked in the Poso river below Boykin Kingdam near Jasper, and in the Brazos River at Foston County Park near San Angelo.

The Brazos River and Foston County Park are the two best trout waters for West Texas anglers.

Over 12,000 rainbows have been stocked in the Brazos River with an additional 2,000 to go in when the water rises from the dam are down.

The Brazos river in Palo Verde County downstream from the PK dam is open to trout fishing. One mile of public fishing with a parking area immediately below the dam. Public entrance is available on the State Highway 160 bridge. Normal wide fishing for three miles below the PK dam. You should try Right after that, Soundstage presents the "River Band". TROUT STOCKED

Cold weather in Texas allowed most of the trout on most lakes, but it is not in the arm for Texas anglers as over 45,400 trout have been stocked in four public fishing areas of the state. Most of the trout have been stocked in the Guadalupe river below the Canyon of the Guadalupe. Several thousand trout have been stocked in the Brazos river and Fostontown Park are the two best trout waters for West Texas anglers.

Over 12,000 rainbows have been stocked in the Brazos with an additional 2,000 to go in when the water rises from the dam are available.

Brazos river in Palo Verde county downstream from the PK dam is open throughout the year to trout fishing. One mile of public access with a parking area immediately below the dam. Public entrance is available on the State Highway 16 bridge. Normal good wade fishing for trout extends downstream three miles below the PK dam.

If you prefer fishing for trout in a lake, you should try Palo Verde County Park about 12 miles southwest of San Antonio just south of Tankersley M 2335.

Over 4,400 rainbows have been stocked this fall with 100 of the fish put in the last week. Many anglers, including whole families, were catching their limit week on worms, corn and other traditional trout baits.

The last tip on trout fishing is probably the most important. Keep your hands on your rod and reel as many trout bite very lightly and it is difficult to tell when you fish a bite or are hitting a submerged object. When you feel a hit, strike quickly but lightly as the trout has a very tender mouth and you could pull the hook loose. Also, play the trout lightly to prevent pulling the hook loose and use a net to land the fish as more trout are lost as it is handled or lifted out of the water than at any other time.

As more trout are stocked in the Texas lakes and streams, area anglers should spend an enjoyable time on the nice winter days fishing for a good fighter and an excellent meal right here in our region.

Artificial lure and fly fishermen depend upon wet and dry flies, streamers, nymphs, and small spinners. These lures are normally the same lures anglers use in fishing New Mexico and Colorado trout waters.

The lure or fly can be cast upstream and allowed to float downstream passing near trout hideouts. Trout can be found near release sites for a short period and then they move near rocks, steep banks, stream riffles, or submerged trees or brush.

The creel limit is five trout per day and ten trout in possession in Texas. There is no size limit on the "put and take" rainbows in Texas. Residents of Texas fishing public waters with rod and reel are required a fishing license when they are between 17 and 65 years of age.

Cooking trout is exactly like cooking mountain trout. The fish needs to be gutted, gilled, and washed and it is ready for the pan. Trout may be salted and rolled in flour or meal for pan frying or sauteed in butter over a low heat. Trout, like most fish, need very little cooking before they are tender and ready to eat.

PHOENIX HARVEST UNPREDICTABLE
Reports from pheasant hunters, landowners and personnel of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department indicate a poor-to-good pheasant season so far. Pheasant populations were influenced by the summer drought but many hunters had at least one bird when checked on opening day. Cover is scarce in many areas and a snow similar to the November storms would help the pheasant hunter and the wheat farmer.

The season ends December 28 and it appears that the 1980 pheasant season will go down in the books as an average hunt with some hunters getting their limits and other hunters getting only long-range shots.

Retired taxpayers can avoid estimated tax payments

A retired taxpayer who does not wish to make estimated tax payments can file a special withholding statement to have tax withheld from annuity checks, the Internal Revenue Service says.

Just as they had tax withheld from salary while actively employed, retirees can have Federal income tax withheld from their pensions. All that's necessary is to file a form W-4P, "Annuitant's Request for Federal Income Tax Withholding," with the payer of the annuity.

If the retiree does not have a sufficient amount withheld from his or her annuity, an estimated tax must be paid in installments, which are due for 1981 payments on April 15, June 15, September 15, 1981, and January 18, 1982. Supplies of Form W-4P and information on filing requirements and tax benefits may be obtained by calling the IRS forms/tax information number listed in the telephone directory.

David Seay elected to Historical Committee

David Seay of Floydada was elected to the Historical Committee of the Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) at its 192-member Executive Board meeting December 9.

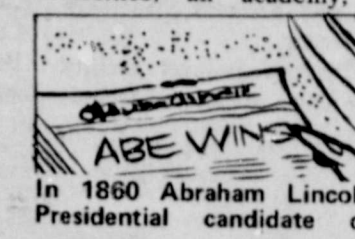

The Executive Board, composed of laymen and ordained church leaders, conducts the business of the 2-million-member BGCT between annual sessions.

The BGCT owns and operates eight colleges and universities, an academy, eight hospitals and four children's homes.

This work is supported by the Convention's 4,400 churches and missions, which will give more than $35 million this year through the Cooperative Program to help share Christ's love throughout the world.

Besides the institutions, the Convention helps support the work of more than 5,000 missionaries in the United States and 94 foreign countries.

In 1860 Abraham Lincoln became the first winning Presidential candidate of the Republican Party.

INSUR-MATION

Floyd County Insurance Agency Jerry Cooper

Keogh pension plans have always seemed attractive to me, even though I'm employed by, and a participant in the pension plan of a major corporation. I also "moonlight" by doing cabinetwork in my home which I sell independently. Would this "side-line" qualify me for the Keogh?

Yes. The Keogh is designed for the self-employed, even if that self-employment is "moonlighting" while covered by an employer pension or profit sharing plan. You can withdraw your Keogh savings in a qualified lump-sum at age 59 1/2 and realize a good tax break or take the money on a pay-out basis. At this time, your income will generally have been somewhat reduced, subject to a lower tax rate, and the income you've invested tax-free over the years, in the Keogh, will be taxed at that lower rate.

SPC registration set for January 5th

Registration for the vocational courses and training programs for the spring semester at South Plains College at Plainview Regional Occupational Center has been set for Monday, January 5, according to Dan Shockey, dean of the local vocational college.

Hours of registration are 9 to 11:30 a.m. and 7 to 8:30 p.m. The registration process will take place in the Wheeler Building, located at 8th and Yonkers Streets in Plainview.

The college-level facility provides vocational-technical-occupational education and training in a variety of fields, Shockey stated. Programs of study presently being offered include Child Development, Human Services, Vocational Nursing, Office Occupations, Mid-Management, Real Estate, Auto Mechanics, Radio and Television Servicing and Welding. Other specialized courses offered during the spring semester include Reading Improvement, Vocational English, Spanish Conversation, Speech for Business, Medical Secretary and Economics.

VHE may put Santa's elves out of business

Toy making isn't limited to Santa's elves at the North Pole. A class of Vocational Home Economics students have been doing their share in Floydada.

The hand-made, stuffed animals and pillows are a popular item and the students have been working double time to keep up with the Christmas orders.

Fur pile fabric is used and comes in a variety of colors. The most popular is green.

The school colors are made up into football and basketball pillows and one large pillow with the school insignia. Green banners are also available.

Each can be personalized with names or initials.

The stuffed animals range from elephants to dogs, and come in all sizes and colors.

A red valentine heart pillow is a good sale item in February.

Prices range from $3.50 to $10.

The profits from the sales go to the treasury of the FHA Hero Chapter the students belong to.

"They're working to get jackets so all students will have one for the area convention and the state convention," Home Economics teacher, Frances Easter said.

The classroom is located at Della Plains school. A morning and an afternoon class is busied from high school and Jr. high.

The VHE curriculum is geared to the industry side of food preparation and of sewing.

"We try to prepare the students to be able to make money at what we're teaching them here," Easter said.

The classes bake and sell decorative cookies as another class project. Anyone in town may order cookies from the VHE department. Thumbprint, sand tarts, and snicker doodles are three of the varieties the class offers.

Two luncheons, served mainly to faculty members, were first semester projects. More are planned later in the year.

A Christmas Tea was given last Tuesday. Times were set in the morning and in the afternoon so that both classes could participate.

The noon luncheons are a joint endeavor of all students.

Orders for the stuffed animals and pillows as well as the home-made cookies may be made by calling 983-5055 during school hours.

STUFFED ANIMALS, and pillows are all hand-made by VHE students and are for sale.

BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

FACTS & FIGURES

...three-fourths of college students surveyed recently by a Gallup poll strongly oppose military draft. However, if a draft becomes necessary, an overwhelming majority of those surveyed believe women as well as men should be called...

...slight majority of the students questioned by the commission by Olympia beer said they thought women should also be in combat roles. The "Polls" were conducted at Northwestern University, University of Oregon, Washington State University and San Jose State University.

...four to one margin, students supported passage of the Equal Rights Amendment. Backing came most equally from each...

...soon do college students think a woman could be elected president? About in three—33.5 percent—it will happen within next ten years. Eight percent believe it could happen as soon as 1984.
