Homes are sought for foreign students for foreign high school students to come to the United States and learn about middle income family life are being sought by representatives of the Youth Service (YES).

Mr. and Mrs. Don Jeffreys of Baptist Church. Sweetwater, are Representatives of YES, San Clemente, California. They place one or two students in the Lockney area and are looking for temporary lodging.

Most of the students come from South America and Europe. YES tries to match as nearly as possible the likes, dislikes, hobbies, interests, and personalities to the same characteristics of the host families.

Recent students from the YES have visited Roby, Amarillo, Graford, Oldham, and Hawley. The Jeffreys were among the first families in Texas to host a student under this program with their student coming from Brazil. Other students currently in Texas are from El Salvador, Mexico, Argentina, and Germany.

This is one of the best educational methods available for children in the home—whether young or teenage. Participation in the program as a host or hostess also makes teenage children eligible to become exchange students in a foreign country if they are interested.

The exchange program arranges transportation, medical coverage, and arrival and departure dates for the students. For more information on the program, contact the Jeffreys' at (915) 235-4822, or (915) 235-2991. In order for students to arrive for the fall school term host families need to apply as soon as possible preferably by June 15. Applications need to be in by October 1 for a student to arrive in December or January.

Mexican Baptists mark anniversary

Mexican Baptists all over the state of Texas are celebrating their 100th anniversary this summer.

The first Texas Mexican-Baptist church was organized in Laredo in 1881 after the first Mexican Baptist congregation was started in Monterey, Mexico 20 years previously.

The centennial observance will be held June 29 to July 1 at the First Baptist Church and the Theater for the Performing Arts in San Antonio and is expected to draw thousands of Mexican-American Baptists.

The Mexican-Baptist denomination was introduced in Lockney in the late 1950's, meeting at building known as the Alamo.

There are now two Mexican-Baptist churches in Lockney, the Templo Bautista Salem and the La Primera Baptist Church.

The Mexican Baptist Convention in Texas has 65,000 members in 617 churches.

In 1960 the Mexican-American congregations voted to merge with the Texas General Baptist Convention and the merger was completed in 1978, but the Mexican-Baptists retain their own structure and convention.

Some Mexican-Americans represent the fourth generation of their families as Baptist, but most go back only two generations as Baptists.

Most Mexican-Americans are still Catholic and the heritage of Texas Mexican-Americans are connected with the traditions and practices of the Catholic Church.

The American Baptist traditions, in contrast, are predominately Anglo-Saxon. The Mexican-Baptists have had a sometimes difficult task of combining the two heritages.

"Many traditions that are considered Catholic are really Mexican-American traditions," said Manuel Alaniz, pastor of the Templo Bautista Salem. "We include those traditions in our worship."

Great emphasis is placed on the family, community respect, and celebration of the church life in the Mexican-Baptist churches. Following the practice of cultural adaptation, the family is involved in the baptism of a new member, as is done in the Catholic church, but in the Mexican Baptist church the baptism is performed as an adult rather than an infant.

Instead of infant baptism, babies are presented to the church. In both baptism and infant presentation the extended family of parents, brothers, sisters, grandparents are involved.

Weddings are elaborate celebrations in the Mexican-Baptist church with the use of the "lazos" or silken cords which yoke the couple, and arras, the coins which represent the dowry that the groom gives the bride.

The quinceanera, the traditional Mexican-American celebration of a girl's 15th birthday, is now an accepted part of Mexican-Baptist church life. Where Catholic girls have a Mass and a dance, however, Baptist girls are honored at a special church service followed by a reception.

Of course, many primarily Baptist traditions are included in the Mexican-Baptist worship. Vacation Bible School is an annual event for the Templo Bautista Salem. Children from ages 3 to 14 are attending classes each evening this week for Vacation Bible School.

The growing numbers of Hispanic Baptists have had an effect on Texas Baptists. The Hispanic Baptist traditional "new-believer orientation" has been adopted by Texas Baptist as a whole. English speaking congregations across the state are stressing this program of training for new members.

"We are very proud of our Mexican-Baptist traditions," said the Rev.

Alaniz, who will be attending the centennial observance in San Antonio.

"Mexican-Baptist churches," he said, "have combined the best of three cultural traditions, the Hispanic, Baptist, and Texan, and the denomination is growing. At this time of the centennial it is good to think about what our church represents."

It's Not Easy

The hamburger may be America's greatest contribution to posterity. What other food can be so impossibly greasy and horrible but is yet so addictive? I am an addict. I must have a hamburger fix two or three times a week or I go into withdrawal. Other people are addicted to hot dogs, coffee or worse things, and we all have our faults. My weakness is hamburgers.

If I were the first woman President and were fed beautifully prepared meals by the White House chef, I would have to sneak out for a McDonald's every few days. Do you suppose McDonald's would deliver to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue?

There are so many variations: charcoal, barbecued, swiss, pizza... Throw in a little salad and I could live indefinitely on the all-American hamburger.

Not that hamburgers are particularly good for you, but then anything that is really good for you isn't that good. It may not win any medals for food value, but a hamburger does have a little tomato, a little lettuce, meat and on the good days a minimum of grease.

The hamburger has conquered the globe. You can even buy them in Russia

Sharp takes job at Tech

Lockney High School's Marsha Sharp has been named assistant women's basketball coach at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Sharp resigned as Lockney High School's varsity girls basketball coach this past spring to seek a college coaching job.

During six years as Lockney's varsity coach, Sharp compiled an overall record of 127-60. She led the Lady Horns to two district titles and two second place finishes.

Sharp is a native of South Plains and graduated from Tulia High School and Wayland Baptist College.

Before coming to Lockney, Sharp was an assistant women's basketball coach at Wayland at a time when the Flying Queens were ranked number one in the country.

The head women's basketball coach at Tech, Donna Wick, was pleased and excited at having Sharp join her staff.

"With Marsha's knowledge and enthusiasm for the sport, she will be a valuable asset to our program," Wick said.

The Lockney Board of Education has hired assistant girls' varsity coach Sheri Haynes to succeed Sharp.

Introduces more efficient combine corn heads

International Harvester

has introduced a more efficient, lighter weight series of combine heads 20% lighter than previous models, the new 900 series eliminate or reduce counterweights on the auger to improve overall floating performance and fuel economy to the company.

Production was achieved by overall design and manufacturing machine components from lighter than cast iron. At the auger roll frames were made lighter by using channel sections instead of I-beams.

There are two in-line, longer IH corn heads. The extra wide gathering units to ground, if necessary, when stalks are down and tangled. Longer auger shafts provide the possibility of ears at the bottom of the rolls.

Other yield-saving features include deeper ear pockets and rubberized flaps on the auger to prevent loss of ears from rolling forward.

Corn head drives are individually protected by gear cases that are fully protected by a system further reduce wear and tear.

And service time is reduced by remote lubrication of corn head in contrast to the common method of lubrication from underneath.

The 900 Series combine heads are available in 100 and 120 inch wide. IH heads are manufactured at the company's East Moline, Ill. plant.

For more information on the new combine heads, contact your International Harvester distributor.

International Harvester is a division of International Harvester Corporation, a subsidiary of Agriculture Richland, Ill.

WOMEN FROM ALL OVER the South Plains area gathered for "Breakfast at Mamie's" Wednesday. "Nature Party" was the theme of the breakfast hosted by ladies of the South Plains Hobby Club in Mamie Wood's backyard.

Breakfast at Mamie's

Mrs. Mamie Woods hosted her annual "Breakfast at Mamie's" Wednesday morning.

Guests from the surrounding area joined members of the South Plains Hobby Club for the early morning party.

The gathering had the theme "nature party," and the women began by each guessing the length of a petrified snake as they entered the beautifully manicured backyard. Mrs. Mildred Hamm won the prize of a jar of gel for guessing the correct length of the snake as three feet.

A breakfast buffet of chili cheese squares, sausage pinwheels, and blueberry muffins was served to the guests.

Hostesses were Ruby Lee Higginbotham, Dot Cummings, Glynn Earl Cummings, Letha Mulder, and Mildred Hamm.

The climax of the party was a nature hunt similar to a treasure hunt. The women divided into teams and each team was required to locate certain varieties of trees and obtain leaves of each.

Mrs. Wood said that the party which she has been giving for about 20 years drew some 40 guests this year. "Several of the ladies were here for the first time this year and they asked to be invited back. We all had a good time."

"The primary strength of this program is that everyone benefits from it," says Postmaster Meriwether. "The

Mail ignored in moving plan

"Americans are receiving more mail -- important mail -- than at any time in postal history," says Lockney Postmaster Doug Meriwether. "Yet, when it comes time to call the movers, one of the most overlooked of all procedures is notifying the proper parties of the change of address. In addition to the personal expense and inconvenience to the homeowner and mailers, undeliverable-as-addressed mail has become one of the hidden costs of mailing."

Postmaster Meriwether says the Postal Service spends about $550 million a year to handle an estimated 4.5 billion pieces of mail that is undeliverable. "This is expense that ultimately ends up within the price of postage stamps, and worse, it is unnecessary. Change of address is a simple matter today.

The Postal Service has been urging its customers to inform all correspondents promptly of address changes at least 30 days before a scheduled move. With an assist from moving companies, real estate agents and others, the Postal Service distributes from ten to 16 million change of address kits every year to make it easier to notify correspondents and publishers.

"The primary strength of this program is that everyone benefits from it," says Postmaster Meriwether. "The family that is moving benefits because their mail continues to arrive promptly, stores and other business correspondents can avoid billing problems, and the Postal Service is able to process the mail more efficiently and at less cost."

Postmaster Meriwether says the Postal Service is now launching a new effort to get change of address kits into circulation. A direct mail campaign is asking commercial organizations such as truck rental firms, moving companies and real estate firms and others who deal with people on the move, to help distribute the Postal Service's handy Change of Address kit.

The kit contains convenient cards for notifying the postmaster, publishers, businesses, doctors, state and local agencies and utilities. The kit also includes a checklist of groups and individuals to be contacted prior to a move.

The direct mailing campaign to commercial organizations includes a two-part reply card which firms can use to order supplies of the kits from their local post office.

A stranger Ranger

BY MARGIE SAVAGE

The other evening, my husband decided that we needed "to get more out of life" so we went out to a movie. We saw The Legend of the Lone Ranger.

Although it was not especially well written or well acted, and there were a few choice words that could have easily been left out, it did have some very exciting moments.

In the movie, the bad guys had cleverly side tracked the Presidential car away from the main train and had captured President Grant.

In the meantime, the Lone Ranger and his faithful Indian companion, Tonto, were racing their trusty steeds, Silver and Scout, across the country to catch the derelict train.

The William Tell Overture in the background added to the intensity of the moment. But they were too late! Now all they could do was follow the crooks to their hidden fortress.

Of course, the criminals didn't know they had been followed. So Tonto and the Masked Man were relatively free to roam the premises of the stockade in the dead of night and stumble upon a room full of explosives.

By knocking out one guard and threatening to scalp another, they were able to locate the President. The Lone Ranger and Tonto crept out to relocate the explosives in strategic places so that the fortress could be blown at the touch of a match.

As dawn approached, Tonto was releasing the bad guy's horses. The Lone Ranger and the President were sneaking away and lighting fuses.

All three had almost made their way across the river when they were discovered. Gun fire, explosives, and hundering horses ignited the screen.

The President was shot from his horse. Facing flying bullets, the Lone Ranger scooped up the President and Hi-Hoed Silver Away, but Silver slipped and fell.

Explosives were going off all around. Bad guys littered the air and the ground. Horses were stampeding. The situation was beginning to look hopeless for our heroes. Then... Bugle sounds filled the air. The cavalry had arrived! Hurray! I wanted to stand up and cheer. I was once again transported to the days of heroes and good always winning over evil.

In the old movies, the cavalry always arrived just in the nick of time. Today our young people have no cavalry to look forward to. They have no heroes who never run out of bullets. It seems that today's movies are based on sensationalism. Their heroes are giant sharks, a little girl who is possessed by demons, a boy who is the son of the devil.

Although good does win over evil in Star Wars, the whole film seems to focus on special effects (which are terrific) rather than a strong hero figure.

Without strong fictional heroes to identify with, all the kids have is us--their parents, teachers, religious leaders, relatives, and friends.

If we play our roles right and leave our silver bullets in enough of the right places, who knows, the William Tell Overture might become their theme song.

A child might whisper, "Who was that masked person?" A teenager might mount a white horse and shout, "Hi Ho, Silver, away," as he charges down the path to truth and justice.

Lockney High School graduating senior John Fortenberry has signed a letter of intent to play football with Lubbock Christian College this fall.

John Fortenberry

Fortenberry played for Lockney High School for four years, being selected twice as all-district defensive lineman. This year he was named All-South Plains defensive lineman.

He has been selected to play in the Green Belt all-star game in Childress August 8. Selection of players for the game was made by the Childress Chamber of Commerce based on coaches' recommendations.

Fortenberry was also presented the Fighting Heart award and the team leadership award.

"John's a fine player," said coach Dewayne Sexton. "He's the best player in that position of the six years I've been coach in Lockney. He'll stand a good chance of playing quite a bit for LCC and may even start. He should do well."

County commissioners hire new librarian

Upon the recommendation of Jackie Walls, Floyd County Librarian, the commissioners court officially hired Dolene Dipper as librarian at the Lockney Branch Library.

Helen Holt will be retiring on June 30 after serving as librarian for 12 years.

Other matters before the commissioners court at their regular meeting Monday was the hiring of Behner and Company, certified public accountants, to do the county audit for 1981.

There will be a more extensive audit of the tax office than has been done by Behner and Co. in past years. This in-depth audit is being done to comply with revenue sharing requirements.

At the completion of the audit, tax accountant Fred Thayer has been asked to make recommendations.

"I'm in favor of following through with any recommendations this audit suggests," County Judge Choise Smith said. "It would be foolish to pay for the audit and then not take advantage of the information we get from the recommendations."

The audit is to begin immediately.

Court allowed a new IBM typewriter to be purchased for the County Treasurers office.

The court discussed holding an auction of surplus county goods. The three sheriff department cars that have been replaced recently will be auctioned as well as one or two county pick-ups.

Judge Smith is preparing a list of items that have been stored in the basement of the courthouse that will also be put up for sale.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal, Commissioners Jack Lackey and Thomas Warren purchased four automobiles from the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin about three weeks ago.

The two Dodges, one Ford, and one Chrysler were bought at a total price of $8500. Judge Smith, Lackey, Sam Spence, and Raymond Hamilton traveled to Austin and drove the automobiles back last week.

Court voted to put screens, between the driver and back seats, in two of the cars at an expense of $135 each. The screening is for transportation of prisoners. Lackey was the only dissenting vote.

Is a savings account a dull investment?

Basically, yes. It doesn't give you much to talk about at parties. People don't quote their passbooks.

Your savings account just sits there quietly. Insured. With interest guaranteed. Earning you money, day in and day out.

Now that's not glamorous. But it is sensible. And it should definitely be a substantial part of what you do with your money.

Investments are fine when you can afford them. But remember, the money you save at A Full Service Bank is always available when you need it. And it will continue to earn a guaranteed rate until the day you do.

Keep your savings with us, A Full Service Bank. For party talk, read up on sports or fashion.

Their formal gowns were designed with blouson bodice and A-line flowing skirts. Each wore a matching picture frame hat and carried nosegays of apricot blended flowers with white dogwood and carnations.

A reception following the ceremony was held at the D&M Cattle Company Party House. The reception area featured decorations of white wedding bells and white wedding streamers. A champagne toast by the bride's father preceded the reception serving.

White tulle cloths covered both the bride's and groom's tables. Centering the bride's table was a silver candelabra adorned with fresh and silk flowers and wedding tapers. Silver and crystal appointments were used for serving. Accenting the groom's table was a three tier Ger-

CUT CLOTHING COSTS UPDATE FASHIONS

Cut clothing costs and stay in fashion by updating last year's wardrobe. Update last summer's wardrobe, and with an eye toward fall and winter '81 as you go, you'll be "right in style" at little cost.

Inventory still-wearable items, notice the voids, study current trends, and then begin your own fashion update.

COLOR — Color is the most visible part of a wardrobe, and often it depends on seasonal trends.

Update last season's bright colors with pastels. Colors especially good this summer are corals, peaches, apricots, aquas and turquoises.

DRESSES — Dropped or long-waisted designs are big news for dresses.

Re-do a straight line unwaisted garment by cutting it apart along the hipline and adding a fuller, contrasting skirt.

JEWELRY — Jewelry is bolder and larger than it has been for a number of seasons.

Rummage through your jewelry collection — you may find some ethnic looks or large woods, plastic or ceramic necklaces, bracelets or earrings.

Check by garage sales, too.

In wearing bold jewelry, plan carefully to emphasize desirable features and draw attention away from those less desirable.

SHOES — Shorter heels are definitely the trend.

Some heel heights will shorten easily without changing the arch — ask your shoe repairman about the possibilities and cost.

HEMLINES — Skirt hemlines are shorter now — worn right below the knee or midknee. Trends for fall show even shorter lengths — or much longer lengths, such as mid-calf.

PATTERNED FABRICS — Update last season's solids with fashionable patterns and prints, particularly madras-like plaids, ethnic prints, folk art and splashy florals. Also jungle prints, camouflage military looks and paislies. Border prints also have returned as a popular patterned look.

LACE — Add lace borders or edging to collars, cuffs, belts, and hemlines for feminine detail, or consider a lace applique for a pocket or other focal point.

Often lace can be recycled or reused from garments that are no longer wearable and even from other household items such as tablecloths.

RUFFLES — Some designers are calling this the year of the ruffle.

Add garments with ruffled detail such as tiered skirts, flounce skirts, dresses or blouses with ruffle collars.

A ruffle or lace-trimmed blouse is an excellent update for last year's more tailored, stricter-looking garments.

In general, think "fun" when you start your fashion update. Updating wardrobes can be fun — and challenging. Many possibilities exist, depending on the garments and personal preference.

You can update your wardrobe with little or no expense and, at the same time, create a flattering, workable wardrobe that looks as fresh as today.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or natural origin.

The couple plan to be married July 25 in the Oakwood Baptist Church in Lubbock.

Caren Campbell, Kevin Mitchell married Saturday, June 6

Miss Caren Campbell and James Kevin Mitchell exchanged wedding vows Saturday, June 6 at 7:30 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church in Floydada. Reverend Jim Smith, pastor, officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Campbell of Floydada; and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Mitchell of Wolforth.

Centering the altar area was a brass pyramid candelabra, holding yellow tapers and decorated in emerald foliage. Yellow gladiolas and blue killian daisies flanked with brass hurricane type candelabra also decorated in colors of yellow and blue with a background of tall palms of emerald foliage. Basket arrangements in yellow gladiolas and blue Killian daisies flanked either side of the altar scene. A unity candle decorated with the wedding invitation and blue and yellow flowers completed the wedding scene. The bridal aisle pews were decorated in hurricane candelabra with garlands of silk lily-of-the-valley and blue satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal length gown of chiffonet and re-embroidered chantilly lace. The dress featured a Queen Ann neckline completely outlined with lace sprinkled with pearls, and pleated bishop sleeves with lace cuffs, sprinkled with pearls. The chapel length skirt of chiffonet was accented with a double lace border at the hem and a full pleated over-skirt extending over the chapel train. She also wore a finger-tip, lace trimmed veil held by a lace circlet, sprinkled with pearls.

For something old, the bride carried a satin and lace covered Rainbow Bible used in her parents wedding. For something new, she wore a gold "pinkie" ring with an opal setting, a wedding gift from the groom. Something borrowed was the pearl necklace, worn by her mother in her wedding. She wore the traditional blue garter. In her shoes, she wore a six-pence dated in the year of her birth and a penny dated the year of the marriage. These were given to her by Cindy and Steve Stephens, sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

Serving as maid of honor was Carria Bureson of Levelland. Bridesmaids were Lisa West of San Angelo, Patti and Nina Campbell, sisters of the bride, of Floydada. The attendants wore dresses of alternating blue and yellow. The identically made dresses, had bodices that crossed over in front to form a "V" neck, with soft pleats sewn into the left side. The shoulder fronts were run through the spaghetti straps, making them gather, and then crossed separately in the back. The floor length, pleated skirts complimented the bride's dress. The dresses were topped with circular, chiffon capes, parting on the left shoulder, caught up with a matching silk flower. Each girl wore another silk flower in her hair. The attendants each carried colonial nose-gays in mixed colors of daisies highlighted with blue or yellow lace to compliment their dresses.

The bride carried in addition to her Bible, a cascade bouquet in white starburst poms, stephanotis, and miniature, white, sweetheart rosebuds. For "going-away" the new bride chose a corsage in white Elfin rose buds and stephanotis. The mothers wore shoulder corsages of Mystery gardenias and baby's breath.

The groom was attired in an all white tuxedo. He wore a boutonniere of white stephanotis and baby's breath. The best man and groomsmen and ushers were attired in identical tuxedos of baby blue and ruffled shirts of lighter blue and black bow ties. They had white, carnation boutonnières. James Mitchell served as his son's best man, Leslie Davis of Wolforth, Tony Heath of Abernathy, and Jeff Joiner of Dallas served as groomsmen. Ushers were Mike Campbell, brother of the bride, Steve Stephens, brother-in-law of the groom, Larry Allen of Wolforth and Todd McKee of Wolforth.

Guests were registered by the sister of the groom, Cindy Stephens.

Mrs. Bill Gray, of Floydada, played traditional wedding music at the organ. Mrs. David Battey, Jr. of Floydada, presented vocal selections. She sang "If" and "The Wedding Prayer." The wedding ceremony was recorded on tape by David Battey, Jr. as a gift to the couple.

RECEPTION

A reception in Fellowship Hall followed the ceremony. Ann Campbell, sister of the bride, Kathy and Kelly Logsdon, cousins of the bride presided at the brides table. The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with light and dark blue daisies with yellow centers. The cake had tiny cherubs between the columns. The cake was topped with a single column, atop a round base, decorated with white hearts. Tulle net was attached at the base of the column with blue daisies attached. Atop the single column were three white bells, decorated with tulle net, and blue daisies. The white bells were used on the brides' parents' wedding cake. Yellow fruit punch, yellow butter mints and assorted nuts were served. The bride's table was covered with a white cloth, with tulle net caught up in swags with yellow ribbons. The table was laid with silver appointments and crystal nut and mint dishes provided by Mrs. Jewell Martin. Silver candelabra held seven blue tapers and the bridesmaid's bouquets.

Serving at the groom's table were Tina Wright and Terri Heath of Lubbock and Dawn Hutcheson of Wolforth and Jeanne Joiner of Dallas. A German chocolate cake was served from the groom's table. It was decorated with lighter chocolate lattice work, placed diagonally across the cake. Dark chocolate long stemmed roses adorned the top of the cake.

The groom's table was laid with an ecru table cloth with ecru lace insets, over a baby blue cloth. Coffee was served from brass, copper and gold appointments. A silk flower arrangement in a brass vase.

A gift to the bride and groom by the Wolforth hostesses, graced the groom's table.

The bride is a 1978 graduate of Floydada High School, and a 1979 graduate of Metro Barber College in Lubbock. She is presently a barber stylist at Head Quarters in Lubbock.

The groom is a 1979 graduate of Frenship High School, and a May graduate of South Plains College in Levelland. He is presently through in the development of hybrids and research on nutrition and fertilizer needs for wheat featured during the annual Wheat Field Day at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Conservation and Production Research Laboratory in Bushland.

Wheat Field Day spotlights hybrids

Some 150 producers and agribusiness representatives took part in the program and tour of research projects at the facility on Interstate 40. The event May 28 was sponsored by the Science and Education Administration of USDA, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Dr. Kenneth B. Porter, Experiment Station wheat breeder, displayed 60 irrigated wheat hybrids being evaluated in two tests. Hybrid seeds is produced by growing sterilized strips between desirable pollinators, Porter explained.

The research scientist said many of the hybrids he is testing were produced by using a chemical hybridizing agent. When sprayed on wheat in proper amounts at the right stage of growth, it makes the wheat male sterile, he explained.

Porter said this is a breakthrough in hybrid production, because all future generations will be fertile, with male sterile wheat lines.

Some of the hybrids are expected to produce almost 100 bushels an acre, he said.

Porter also guided visitors through nursery test plots where more than 200 varieties and experimental lines are being evaluated for yield and other characteristics. Oat, barley and a limited number of triticale are also being tested.

Tests to evaluate limited irrigation, plant water stress and water use efficiency of TAM 101 wheat and Post barley were explained to visitors by Jack Musick, USDA agricultural engineer at the laboratory. Eight water treatments, involving amounts and timing of application, were applied.

During the past two good wheat seasons, Musick said, 90 to 100 bushels an acre were produced with two spring irrigations.

"The most important irrigation has been late boot to heading and the least important has been to irrigate during early spring vegetative growth," he said. The need for a grain-filling irrigation during late May can vary a lot depending on late spring rainfall and whether or not hot, dry winds occur, he noted.

Progress in the first year of a study of fertilizer needs and the interaction of fertilizer and water treatments was reported by Dr. Harold V. Eck, USDA soil chemist. The experiment with TAM 105 wheat is studying two planting dates, six fertilizer treatments and four water treatments.

It is designed to determine proper fertilizer elements and rates for maximum production of high yielding, short strawed wheats; effects of drought stress during different growth stages on yield, and interacting effects of fertilizer and water treatments on growth and production.

Prior to the tour, Ross Wilson, executive assistant with the Texas Wheat Producers Board, stressed the need for increasing export markets and explained the marketing efforts of U.S. Wheat Associates, USWA is the market development arm of the wheat industry.

Wilson said the domestic use of wheat hasn't changed much in the past decade. Noting that the U.S. produces 40 percent of the world wheat supply, Wilson said that in 1960, one acre in 10 in the U.S. was produced for export. Today, he said, two acres in every three of U.S. wheat is for export.

"We still don't have enough export markets," he said, stressing that such markets have to be developed.

A special feature of the field day was a bread baking demonstration by home economics agents of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Mrs. Irene Keating, Potter County agent, and Mrs. Barbara Fowler, Randall County agent, explained that similar demonstrations and baking workshops are being conducted throughout the state by Extension agents to teach men and women the skills and the ease of baking homemade bread.

Other tour stops included wind energy research, weed research, pine tree drought tolerance nursery, alfalfa variety trials, sunflower breeding, and genetics, trials of Jose tall wheatgrass for forage, evaluation of high- and low-pressure center pivot irrigation systems, conservation bench terraces, dryland alfalfa seed production and beef cattle research.

Livestock producer committee to help with brucellosis program

A livestock producer committee has been named for this area to assist in implementation of the Texas brucellosis program. Members are:

Rich Anderson, Gail J.E. Birdwell II, Muleshoe; J.E. Birdwell III, Whiteface; Jim Boydston, Ralls; S.C. Burleson, Quitaque; Royce Collins, Olton; Ellison Tom, Jr., Andrews; Travis Jones, Floydada; Roy Neely, Midland; Bruce Rigler, Plainview; Pinky Sellers, Sweetwater; and William J. Waldrip, Lubbock. J.E. Birdwell II is chairman.

The committee is one of 15 throughout Texas. Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission have named one committee for each of the 15 TAHC areas. This group represents TAHC area 2.

"Selection of these committees is a major step forward in the Texas brucellosis program," John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, TAHC, said. "All members are actively engaged in livestock production, and their suggestions and recommendations as to how to improve and implement the Texas Plan for brucellosis control will be invaluable to Commissioners and the entire staff of the TAHC," Armstrong explained. Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease of livestock. It affects the reproductive organs resulting in abortions, partial loss of milk production, weakened calves, and in some cases sterility in bulls. In humans, brucellosis is known as undulant fever.

Members of the committees were selected from names submitted to the Commissioners by various segments of the livestock industry. "These are not 'rubber stamp' committees. We have members who come from all persuasions. We believe we have committees which will provide us with practical advice, which we will incorporate wherever possible in the Texas brucellosis program," Armstrong said.

More than 600 names were submitted statewide for consideration. A total of 180 producers were selected and have agreed to serve for terms ranging from two to six years.

"The entire livestock industry should be grateful to these producers who have volunteered their time in this endeavor," Commissioners said.

USDA cancels settlement date for reserve corn

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said he is "helping move agriculture closer to the market-oriented goals of the administration's proposed farm bill" by granting farmers an indefinite extension on repaying their reserve corn loans.

Under Block's action, farmers who previously had until May 15 to repay loans on reserve corn can continue the loans at the same 15.25 percent interest rate.

"Farmers will immediately feel some benefits that go along with the market-oriented objectives that are woven into the administration's farm bill," Block said.

PROPER EQUIPMENT FOR DEFENSE

It's safe to say that if insects and diseases are not a problem in your garden right now, chances are they will be before long.

You may or may not want to use chemicals for pest control. This is one of the real advantages of growing your own vegetables. You can do it any way you want to! Plant by the moon, sprinkle irrigate, choose your own varieties, or garden without pesticides. It's your garden and you make the decisions.

For the sake of today's column, let's assume that you're one of the large number of local gardeners who will choose to control garden pests using cleared and recommended chemicals. Proper use of chemicals poses no threat to you or the people who enjoy eating vegetables from your home garden. However, if the label on the chemical product you use says one teaspoon per gallon of water, that's what it means. If the label says to wait three days after spraying before harvesting, it doesn't mean you have to wait a week or more. Follow directions on the container to the letter. If you do this, you won't have any problems with possibly dangerous chemical residues.

Using chemicals for pest control generally means "spraying" to most gardeners. Therefore, you are going to need a sprayer of some type depending on garden size, location, layout and intended use.

Sprayers used most often in local gardens are compressed air and hose-on sprayers. Compressed air sprayers are mobile, self-contained units that are pressurized by periodic pumping. They come in various sizes and are made of either plastic, galvanized steel or longer-lasting stainless steel. An obvious advantage of compressed air sprayers is that they are completely portable. However, this portability is directly proportional to your strength. In other words, a 5 gallon compressed air sprayer is heavy and unless you're physically able to lift and tote it around, don't try it. If your garden is small, a 2 gallon sprayer is probably all you'll need.

A hose-on sprayer is attached to the end of a hose, from which it receives its pressure. It's popular because it's light and doesn't need repressurizing by periodic pumping.

The main disadvantage of a hose-on sprayer is that it can only reach the length of your garden hose. Another problem arises in mixing ingredients. These sprayers operate on the principle of siphoning a concentrated amount of material and mixing it with a stream of hose water. To be easily siphoned, the mix must be liquid; yet many insecticides and fungicides are in the wettable powder form. Although these materials are meant to be suspended in water, thorough mixing is difficult sometimes. To avoid some of the problems of plugging up the sprayer, it's a good idea to pre-mix wettable powder pesticides in a small bowl. This helps assure that large particles are broken up and will not clog the siphoning hose.

Regardless of the type of sprayer you use, it's important that you keep it in good condition. Rinse it thoroughly after each use to avoid future problems. If you use a compressed air sprayer, store it bottom side up with the hose drained.

Safe and proper use of garden chemicals can help most of you have a more productive garden. However, you must always use only recommended chemicals, treat only when necessary, follow label directions, and remember to take care of your equipment.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, or national origin.

Grasshopper control program under way

An airborne spray program is under way right now to save farmers, ranchers and consumers money. The Rangeland Grasshopper Control Program has been initiated as part of an ongoing effort to combat this summer's heavy infestations of grasshoppers in cattle-producing areas.

According to Ron Johnson, staff officer with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, as many as 30 million acres of rangeland are infested with high levels of grasshoppers. The result is millions of dollars' worth of losses of valuable livestock forages.

Since 10 to 15 percent of infested acreage normally is treated, Johnson says five to seven million acres may have to be treated this summer. More than 5.3 million acres in 1980 and approximately 7.1 million in 1979 were treated as part of this program.

The spray program is organized on a local area basis and is required to meet certain criteria, including: An economic infestation of grasshoppers (usually eight per square yard) must be present; a proposed spray area must have at least 10,000 acres; everyone in the spray area must participate; and the landowner's money must be on deposit. The key to making the program work on a local level is spraying a large enough block to deter re-infestation of grasshoppers from untreated areas, according to Johnson.

Two insecticides are used in the government-sponsored program: SEVIN 4 OIL carbaryl and ULV Malathion. According to Northwest area APHIS director Dick Jackson, Seattle, these two insecticides were chosen for "their relatively low mammalian toxicity, lack of environmental persistence and excellent grasshopper control capabilities."

Flowers appreciated by residents

BY DOROTHY NEFF

We would like to welcome our two new residents, Mrs. Doyle and Jackie Walls for sharing their beautiful flower arrangements with us. They helped to brighten up our lobby. Our sympathy is with them during the loss of their loved one.

The seventh grade boys and girls of First Baptist Church Bible School class visited in our home Tuesday morning. They brought homemade cards for the residents which they all enjoyed. They also picked up paper around the building, straightened books and all shelves in the lobby, also carried out laundry paper for the aids, and helped with the 11:30 feeders. I hope they enjoyed being here as much as we enjoyed them. I understand they are making more pictures and a mural to hang in several of the residents rooms.

We went to Lorene Lancaster's home for refreshments Wednesday afternoon. Givins and Billie Lawrence were there to help residents from the bus to the house. Strawberry cake with cool whip was served with ice tea.

We made a stop by the drug store to purchase a watch band for Juanita Bailey. Others enjoying the trip were Mr. Emmitt Lawrence, Iva Simpson, Verna McSwain and Velda Pricer also went.

The lobby was full Friday afternoon for the movies. I think there were 30 residents and visitors enjoying themselves. We served popcorn, which is a favorite around here. The movies were, "Aforiccin Sancure" and "Highways of History."

We would like to welcome our two new residents, Mrs. Ora Gilliland and Miss Analee Brown. We hope both of these ladies will be happy with their new home.

The nursing home employees met Friday night in the dining room for supper. Each one brought a covered dish. There was a drawing for prizes afterward. Several of the employees won nice prizes.

We would like to thank Lonnie and Dessie Turner for the beautiful flower arrangement, and send them our deepest sympathy during the loss of their loved one.

Our visitors included: Dena Myrick, Earlene Gilliland, First Baptist Church, Vacation Bible School 6th graders; Leaders: Jenni Su Smith, Barbara Edwards, Iva Sanders, Emma Pate, children: Cynthia Covington, Kim Ellis, Dawn Attebury, Michelle Boone, Ernest Hightower, Scott Watts, Jason Sawyer, Bailey Whitfield, Ricky Benjamin, Dusty Tittle, Laron Cheek, Freeman Jones, Johnny Davis, James Fannon; Flo Ella Jarboe, Maron Bailey, Maggie King, Charley Berry Sr., Brenda Chatham, Joey Johnson, Clara Jetton, Christine Robertson, Lucille Sisson.

Worth Gwendolyn Howard, Mr. and Mrs. O.J. Barker, Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Hart, Mr. and Mrs. Vellie McNeill, Olan Roberts, Otis, Dana, Kim and Jo Lee Ellis, Clara McNeely, Eunice Hardy, Kay Johnson, Hazel Bradley and Kim, Mr. and Mrs. M.H. Hartness, Maurice and Ella Goodwin, Vel Darden, Ruth Gilliland, Marie Baxter and Rebecca Burns.

VA News

President Reagan announced on April 30th his intention to nominate Robert P. Nimmo, former California legislator and state official, as head of the Veterans Administration.

With that title, Administrator of Veterans Affairs, Nimmo will head the federal government's largest independent agency. VA has an annual budget of nearly $24 billion and more than 216,000 employees, making it larger than most departments in the President's Cabinet.

The appointee has been a rancher and businessman for much of his life, and he has served in both the California State Senate and the State Assembly.

Nimmo, who must receive Senate confirmation, will be the eleventh Administrator of Veterans Affairs since VA was established by Presidential Executive Order on July 21, 1930.

Increase in canine parvovirus cases reported by TVMA

Spring's rise in temperature has brought with it an increase in the incidence of canine parvovirus, according to the findings of limited survey by the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

"The survey shows an apparent correlation between warmer weather and the number of dogs infected," said Dr. Ben Johnston, TVMA president. "Much of the increased incidence is possibly due to the increased movement of dogs during the warmer weather."

Close contact between animals is the likely factor in the spread of infection. Cleanup and sanitation are crucially important, since the disease appears to spread principally through contact with contaminated feces.

"Vaccination is still the best protection," Johnston stressed, and this year, unlike last year, there should be an ample supply of vaccine.

He also said, "Runs, cages, food bowls and other equipment should be thoroughly disinfected with a diluted chlorine bleach. One part bleach in 30 parts water is effective, even though the disease is extremely resistant to heat and many disinfectants."

Another possibility being studied is one of a cyclical recurrence of the disease. Agreeing with Dr. Johnston about the correlation with temperature, Dr. Konrad Eugster of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory added, "Over the past two years, a cycling of the disease over a three-to-four month span has been noted in certain localities. We're watching that, too."

Parvovirus is a viral disease that was unknown before 1978. It reached epidemic proportions in 1980, with more cases reported during the spring and summer, followed by a decrease beginning in October. Its incidence of occurrence moved in a generally westward direction.

Symptoms in dogs are depression and loss of appetite, followed by vomiting and diarrhea. Dehydration is the main concern, and death can occur within one day. Dr. Johnston recommended immediate medical attention for a dog exhibiting any of the symptoms.

The regional sampling by TVMA showed Tyler, Lufkin, Conroe, Houston, Beaumont, Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley have had significant flare-ups recently. (Beaumont's animal shelter reported the death of at least 30 dogs that had contracted the disease.)

"A seasonal pattern for parvovirus cannot be established at this time since the historical data is limited," Johnston said, "but we are seeing an upswing with warmer weather and want people to guard against losing their animals."

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
 U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
 142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
 WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

In reading my mail, I detect a growing distrust among my constituents of the news media. Some of those who write me have even suggested various means of regulating the news gatherers.

Though the national media have brought much of this upon themselves, this urge to regulate is unfortunate -- both for the vast majority of news outlets which exercise responsibility, and for our system, which is built on the premise of a free press.

Freedom of the press is guaranteed in the First Amendment. Our Founding Fathers knew that for democracy to work, the people must know what their leaders and their government are doing. Since it is impossible for any one individual to personally watch everyone at every governmental level, the press is the only means by which citizens can learn enough about the affairs of the nation to make informed decisions. And this press must be independent of government control if it is to be free to point out the flaws in the way the system works.

For instance, the people of Texas have the right to know what their senator is doing and what positions he is taking. Since, I can't speak to each of my constituents in person, I must rely on news outlets, such as this newspaper, to communicate with you.

It is unfortunate that some reporters and news outlets have used this freedom without exercising the responsibility that should go with it. But though I have on a number of occasions been angry at distortions or abuses by individual members of the press, that does not mean that the Founding Fathers were wrong.

First, let me emphasize that the vast majority of abuses of freedom of the press have been by the national media, which tends to be highly concentrated on the East Coast, is easily led into "park journalism."

The vast majority of reporters, publishers and broadcasters are conscientious and responsible -- and serve their public well. This is particularly true of Texas media.

Secondly, even if the Constitution didn't prohibit it, I would not be inclined to inject the government into the news process through regulation. We have seen time and time again what happens when the federal government tried to end abuses of one sort or another in the private sector by instituting regulation. In far too many cases, the original problems aren't solved but the regulations become an intrusion on the legitimate rights of business or individuals. The Occupational Health and Safety Administration is a classic example of good intentions gone awry.

It would be disastrous to the American system if we allowed that to happen to the news media.

We have existing protections against libel and violations of national security, and these must be guarded.

But for protection against inaccuracy, distortion or malice, we must rely on pressure from within the journalism community, and on you the discriminating reader, viewer or listener.

When I'm feeling slighted by a particular news outlet, I take comfort from the fact that even Thomas Jefferson, one of the first and strongest advocates of a free press, occasionally had occasion to feel mis-used. He chafed at his treatment, but he never changed his basic belief in the necessity of maintaining the freedom of the press.

Texas have a long tradition of pride in their state, and recent government studies confirm our right to be proud.

The state's population grew by some 27 percent in the 10-year period from 1970 to 1980, to a total of 14,228,000 -- compared to an 11 percent average growth rate for the nation as a whole.

The Texas share of the national paycheck grew last year faster than any other state's, placing per capita earnings in 1980 at $55 more than the U.S. average.

These figures prove what we had already observed, that Texas is experiencing rapid growth in both population and prosperity.

A recent study by two Texas A&M University sociologists concluded Texas could surpass New York in its population by 1990. "Texas can now be compared to a giant magnet, drawing increasingly more people from other regions and states," the A&M researchers noted.

These impressive gains are no accident. The quality of life in Texas is good enough to draw people and business from more stagnant areas of the country. And this quality of life has been made possible by the friendly and hardworking people of Texas, along with reasoned and responsive state and local governments.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's
Perspectives

From Australia comes the news that the world's first "test tube" twins have been born. About the same time we are told that Louise Brown, the first any kind of in vitro fertilized child is doing well, and that she will most likely wind up a rich little girl, due to all the publicity emanating from her birth. The Australians doctors tell us they expect up to seven births per month next year from women undergoing the in vitro process.

This news disturbs me. It strikes me as curious that we should be having so much success in this area of reproduction, at the same time that abortions are taking place at perhaps an unprecedented rate, most of them coming not for medically serious reasons, but rather because the pregnancies were inconvenient for the mother at the time.

The abortion problem has sparked a debate over when human life begins, a question that should be addressed to in vitro fertilization. If life begins at conception, then "test tube" babies will need legal protection as well. The problem is that science has moved rapidly; and ethics, religion, and law have not kept up.

We are doing things simply because we have the technology to do them, without first addressing ourselves to the questions of whether or not we ought to be doing those things in the first place. It is conceivable that God could do greater things in people's lives if they were not able to have children by technological means, if they were not able to be sustained by machines, or if they were perhaps "forced" to have an unwanted child.

The promise of all these advances in medicine and science is that somehow we will all enjoy a better existence, and while I am grateful that I don't have to worry about dying from the flu, I remain unconvinced that the promise has been, or will be, fulfilled.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

If you're looking for a clear-cut example of government overregulation, consider Section 404 of the Clean Water Act. This section, which sets Dredge and Fill Permit policy, has resulted in a bureaucratic nightmare of red tape and delay for private landowners, farmers and ranchers, and state and local governments across America.

As part of the effort to clean up our nation's rivers, lakes and streams Congress included Section 404 in the 1972 law to require permits signed by the Army Corps of Engineers for work on "navigable" waters.

But "a dam broke loose" later when federal courts ruled that the term "navigable waters" extends to virtually all waters of the United States.

As a result, every farmer and rancher who wants to alter the use of his land, every city that wants to lay a water line, every county that wants to build a drainage ditch could wind up needing a federal permit from the Corps of Engineers.

An interpretation this broad is certainly something that Congress never intended when the law was passed.

Since 1976 I have tried to amend this law to define "navigable waters" in the way the term has been traditionally understood. "Navigable" should mean what the dictionary says it means--Deep and wide enough to afford passage to ships and barges.

Congress repeatedly has failed to draw a clear line between those dredge and fill permit requirements that are in the national interest and those that represent federal encroachment on the everyday lives of this nation's citizens.

The process for obtaining a Section 404 permit can drag on for an interminable amount of time, driving costs for even the smallest project through the roof.

Although the current law seeks to restrict dredge and fill permit review time to 90 days, a recent General Accounting Office study of three Corps of Engineers district offices shows that average permit processing time ranges from 120 to 300 days.

And, although the law also lets States take responsibility for granting certain kinds of permits, not a single state has undertaken such duties because the Corps, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Fish and Wildlife Service each retain an effective veto over any State proposal.

In Texas, for example, the Fish and Wildlife Service has successfully joined forces with the EPA to declare private "playa" lakes subject to the Section 404 process. Playa lakes, common in arid parts of the West, are small bodies of water which form after rainfall.

Clearly, with the 404 program loosely structured -- as it is under current law -- it lends itself to misinterpretations in the Courts and abuse by the bureaucracy. The time has come for Congress to re-establish its will and define a clear and workable program.

In the 97th Congress, I have proposed legislation again that would clarify and restrict the authority of the federal government under Section 404. I am hopeful that this Congress will take the action needed to unravel the red tape clogging America's waterways.

Margie Savage's
My Savage World

With all the showers for the young brides-to-be, it seems to me that a shower for us older brides might be appropriate.

If we have survived twenty years of the rigors of husband, children, cats, dogs, neighbors' children, neighbors' cats, neighbors' dogs, and neighbors we should have a little recognition, not to mention a real need for new household items.

For example: One morning I was trying to make my bed. Because of years of discipline from my mother, the first thing I do when I get out of bed is to turn around and make it.

That morning no amount of tugging or pulling would get the lump out of the bed. I pulled, r-ipp went the sheet. I tugged, t-tear went another part of the sheet.

After all, the sheets were 20 years old.

I patted and I smoothed, but the lump was still there. Not to be undone, I stood on the bed and began stomping the lump. I was stomping the best I could, but it was rather difficult to stand still enough on a lump to really stomp effectively.

I heard a low growl. Suddenly a hairy arm reached out from under the covers and grabbed by ankle. I was being pulled down onto the lump. I peered under the covers. Lo and behold! It was a pappabear in hibernation. I wiggled free and tried to beat a hasty retreat, but my toe got caught in the worn sheet. R-ipp. Being an old sheet, it did not offer much resistance and I soon made my escape.

In the bathroom, I washed my terror-stricken face on a recycled wash cloth or a pot holder. It's hard to tell one from the other. Whichever it was, it had been an old towel which I had folded into several thicknesses and sewn through. I think it was a pot holder because it had scorch marks on it.

I dried my hands on a see-through towel. I think every time I take those towels from the dryer, that I must replace them. "Maybe they can be used one more time." I tell myself as I put them on the towel shelf.

After 20 years of use, my cooking utensils are beginning to show wear, too. I have a coffee pot that has lost all its innards. So I use it as a tea pot which means I keep water in it except for when it has tea in it. Sometimes I forget which it has in it, tea or water.

When the chicken gravy turns out brown and sweet, I know the pot had tea in it instead of water. Yes, I really could use some new utensils--a coffee pot, a tea pot, and a water pot.

So, it seems quite appropriate that a 20-year shower would be in order for us older brides.

But, I guess, if we brides had a starting-over-shower, the grooms might think they needed to start over, too--they might think they needed two, 20-year-old brides instead of one 40.

I guess I'll just patch my sheets one more time.

Carelessness blamed for mower accidents

"Carelessness" is the main factor in the more than 50,000 people injured each year in accidents involving power lawn mowers.

Proper mower servicing, observing standard operating precautions, and picking up rocks and other objects from the lawn prior to mowing will eliminate most accidents.

"The lawn mower should be routinely serviced each time before taking it out of the garage to mow the lawn," says Dr. Richard Duble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "A properly operating mower is safer to use and cuts grass better than one in poor shape.

Routine service includes checking the blade for nicks or cracks, checking the blade to be sure it is securely attached to the shaft, checking the crankcase oil level in 4-cycle engines, and filling the fuel tank with fresh regular gasoline.

"Always disconnect the spark plug wire before examining the blade," cautions Duble. "The condition of the blade is critical to the mower's operation and safety. Remove, sharpen and balance the blade several times during the mowing season. Replace damaged blades.

Burial options for vets

Families of veterans who select a burial site for a deceased veteran in a private cemetery have two options for Veterans Administration assistance in marking the grave. Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director, reminded today.

VA will provide a headstone or marker free of charge and ship it to the consignee designated on the application. Cost of placing the marker in a private cemetery must be borne by the applicant, however.

A second option is that VA will reimburse part of the cost of a headstone or marker bought privately and placed on the grave of a veteran. The current amount is $59.00 which is the average cost of headstones purchased by VA.

Application for the VA headstone or marker should be addressed to Director, Monument Service (42), Department of Memorial Affairs, Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420.

Application for the $59 reimbursement for a marker other than the VA standard should be filed at the nearest VA Regional Office. Proper routing of the application will expedite service.

Toll-Free numbers to regional offices are listed in the white pages of the telephone book under "U.S. Government."

"Break-bone fever" returns to Texas

COLLEGE STATION — A mosquito-borne virus called "break-bone fever" not only threatens to invade Texas again this year but also other portions of the South, warns a Texas A&M University entomologist. Called dengue (dan-gee), the disease has been described as "so painful you wish you could die." The disease is known as break-bone fever because it's extremely painful in the joints.

Olson had predicted the disease, carried by the yellow fever mosquito, Aedes aegypti, would come into Texas. Last year, cases were reported not only in Texas, but also Louisiana, Florida and North and South Carolina, as well as states along the Western Coast and Hawaii. In addition, cases have been reported as far north as New York, he said.

Auto accidents top child killer

Motor vehicle accidents are the leading cause of death and a major cause of epilepsy and paraplegia for children under the age of five. In fact, after the critical early weeks of life, a child is more likely to die in an automobile crash than from all of the common childhood diseases combined, diseases which parents protect their children from through immunization.

There is an effective immunization against this epidemic -- the crash-tested child restraint (or car safety seat). A recent study showed that proper use of these safety seats can reduce deaths by up to 90 percent and injuries from 50 to 75 percent. The tragedy is that over 90 percent of all child passengers ride in cars completely unprotected.

In a crash, an unrestrained child becomes a missile, projected forward until stopped by something, usually the dashboard or windshield. It doesn't take an accident to injure a child. Even more children are injured by being thrown around when the driver has to brake suddenly or swerve to avoid an accident.

Contrary to what many parents believe, they cannot safely hold and protect a child on their lap. This is often more dangerous than letting a child ride unrestrained. In a 30 mph crash, a ten pound baby becomes a 300 pound force. If the adult is restrained, the child can be torn from their grasp; if the adult is not restrained, the child can be crushed between the dashboard and the adult.

A new federal standard requiring all child restraint systems intended for use in motor vehicles to meet certain strength and performance standards went into effect January 1, 1981. All car safety seats manufactured after December 31, 1980 must pass dynamic tests that show they can provide adequate protection for children in actual crashes.

A crash-tested child restraint spreads the crash forces evenly over a child's fragile body. The seat is fastened to the car by the seat belt already in the car and the child is secured in the seat by a built-in five-point safety harness (with two shoulder straps, two waist straps and one crotch strap) and/or a protective shield. Lightweight, plastic feeder seats and baby carriers are not designed to protect an infant in an automobile and should be used only in the home.

There are three types of child restraints:

 Infant carrier — Babies should ride in an infant carrier beginning with the first ride home from the hospital until they can sit up by themselves. This usually occurs between nine and twelve months, or when they weigh about 20 pounds. The seat has an internal safety harness and is used in a semi-reclining position, facing the back of the car so that in an accident, the collision forces can be spread over the baby's entire body.

 Child seat — Children from toddler size (who can sit up by themselves) to about four years old (about 40 inches or 40 pounds) should ride in a child seat. It is used in an upright position and is forward facing. There are two basic systems for safely spreading the force of a crash in a child seat: 1) the five-point harness and 2) the C-shaped shield. Some seats rely on the harness or the shield alone; others use the shield in combination with the harness. Several seats require the use of a top tether or anchor strap.

 Convertible seats — Several of the child restraints on the market are easily converted from infant car-

Medical school is accredited for five years

COLLEGE STATION — Texas A&M University's medical school has received full national accreditation for five years, a period longer than expected and said to be "highly unusual" for a newly established program.

Dr. Charles Samson, acting president of the university, said the organization responsible for such decisions, the Liaison Committee on Medical Education, was originally considering four-year full accreditation for Texas A&M, but the period was ultimately extended to five years.

riers to child seats making it necessary to buy only one seat.

If it seems like every spring is annual paint-the-wood-siding time it's probably because moisture has collected behind the siding causing the paint to peel. After your annual repainting this year, take one more step which may end the yearly ritual. Vent your siding. This can be done by boring holes in the siding and inserting aluminum vents, or by driving small aluminum wedges up under the laps on the siding. Both the vents and wedges are available for this purpose. Plastic vents are also available which are inserted in holes bored through the bottom of the siding section. A jig is available to properly angle your drill. Perhaps the simplest siding vent is a nail and metal sleeve set. The whole thing is driven into the siding - the nail comes out and the vent remains.

White, age 17, Mr. and Mrs. Gail White of Granddaughter, State of Floydada, selected for competing in the 1981 Teenworld to be held at the City in Fort Worth on July 3, 4, and Teenworld has selected outstanding young women from all over the state to participate in the three days of activities. The program is designed to recognize young women, 14 to 18, who excel in scholastic achievement and community involvement. Contestants are judged on poise, personality, grooming, and a speech or talent presentation, as well as scholastic and civic achievements. Entrants must have a "B" or better accumulative grade average and document at least ten hours of volunteer service to a community or charitable organization. The statewide Teenworld competition is coordinated by State Director Carol Connerly at the Teenworld Regional Office, 4550 W. 109 St., #300, Overland, Park, KS 66211, phone 913/341-5588.

The competition is the official state preliminary for the Teenworld National Finals to be held in Atlanta at the Omni International Hotel in December, 1981. Teenworld finalists from all fifty states will compete for $18,000 in cash and scholarship awards; a new automobile for the national winner's reigning year; a $2,000 wardrobe; a $5,000 personal appearance contract; and many other special prizes. Throughout the year, the National Teenworld Scholarship Program will award over $80,000 in scholarships and tuition grants across the nation.

two such officials in the West Texas area.

A past member of the Dallas, Houston, and Commerce chapters, Bill is now serving as the secretary for the Plainview Chapter. He is also known as one of the better officials in Texas.

Bill had always dreamed of officiating basketball not just part time but as a full time career. In December, 1980, he received an invitation to apply to the National Basketball Association to become a professional official. In February, 1981, he received a letter stating the preliminary investigation had been completed and he had been accepted as an applicant.

On May 19, Weir received an invitation to the NBA try-out camp.

He will leave on June 13 and will be in Chicago, Illinois for a week. Weir will attend Malcom X College where he will study rules, floorwork, critique, assignments, exams, and have games each night.

The following weekend he will return home.

TWO STUDENTS AND ONE INSTRUCTOR from Floydada attended the 21st Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium at the University of Texas in Austin which ended Friday. Local participants from left to right are: Deon Zumwalt, Sammy Rodriguez and Ronnie Dunaway. The four day symposium is presented by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation (TAERF) and the University. Top science students and teachers were present, including a South Plains delegation of 42 sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company, a charter member of TAERF.

Floydada students receive degrees from Angelo St.

Three Floydada students were among 397 students to receive degrees during spring commencement at the University.

Brenda Gay Bartlett received a bachelor of science degree with a major in health and physical education. Thiess Martin Brown received a bachelor of science degree with a major in computer science, and also received the U.S. Air Force ROTC Commission as a 2nd.

Lt. and Kelvin Lewis Ratliff received a bachelor of science degree with a major in health and physical education.

Graduates heard Texas Attorney General Mark White during the ceremonies in the physical education building at ASU.

Regional book on lore out this fall

Floydada edges the Panhandle area richest in supernatural lore, according to Kerrville author Ed Syers, who has spent two years researching the state's fifty major stories of the eerie and inexplicable.

Several regional tales came under consideration for his book, "Ghost Stories of Texas," which Texian Press publishes this fall. The novelist-historian, noted for works on Texas heritage, has written such award winners as Off The Beaten Trail, a comprehensive state guide, Backroads of Texas, and a bicentennial historical novel, The Devil Gun.

The ghost herd of Stampede Mesa, below Lubbock, is featured, as is a macabre tale of a beheaded settler on Presslar's Draw near Spur. Several other stories were close contenders, according to the author.

"The old Will S Ranch below Crosbyton, the Hutto Rance across at Shamrock, and Tullia's ghost horses at Bone Ford were among them," Syers said. "I couldn't develop enough background for solid stories."

The author's research required some 15,000 miles of travel and more than two hundred interviews, all resulting in the state's first collection of supernatural tales. Television's "That's Incredible" already has filmed one of his stories, and another is planned, Syers says.

He hedges on Texas' ghostliest story. "They're too different," he contends. "The Marfa Lights, south in the mountains, are best known. But you'd get argument from Lake Espantosa, centuries old in the brush south of San Antonio. An North Texans would insist on the McDow waterhole, near Stephenville - those whoknow what's happened there."

What's happening today, and a lot is, Syers says, is hard to shrug off. The ghost hunter admits that his search may not be over. "If more people would reveal their own experiences, we'd be astonished. Fear of ridicule stops most of them."

Gala opening of "Texas"

In preparation for the Gala Opening of the sixteenth season of "TEXAS" on the seventeenth of June - Wednesday, there is excitement and action in every department.

In the office, the box office staff is answering constant phone calls. Bus reservations are higher than for any previous year, and the boxes of tickets for seats already reserved cover four feet of space on the cabinet.

Much of the rest of the staff is working on the Souvenir Program: matching pictures to stories, getting the credits for last minute arrivals, checking the spelling of names, laying out the pages, reading the proof, checking and typing the names on the lists of members, finding pictures for the memorials.

The publicity department is preparing names and pictures of all 140 people in the company so that stories may be sent to each of the Home Town papers involved. They are getting ready to package 250 short videotaped and filmed spots for TV and another 250 for radio which will be delivered Monday and be sent all over the country to stations which have requested them. These are made by Bill Rhew and many stations request them because they are so fine that they help the programming of the stations.

There are many calls to the President of the Texas Panhandle Heritage Foundation, George Lokey of Amarillo, concerning the program for the Gala which will honor New Mexico this year. The twelve New Mexicans in the cast will be spurred by the presence of their Governor, Bruce King and his wife in the audience. There will be a short reception for the Kings in the theatre patio at 7:30 and they will be saluted with a drill by six of the honor guard drill team from West Texas State University carrying the flags of New Mexico, Texas and the United States.

Meanwhile in the two fine arts buildings for the show go on. At 1:00 o'clock and at 6:00 each day, the whole company meets for exercises and warm ups. In three weeks all members of the staff have to develop enough stamina to run a quarter of a mile from the dressing room, down into the passageway behind the stage which the actors call the dipping vat, and back up on the far side ready to sing and dance as they run out on the stage.

After the warm ups and announcements, the company

OVERTURE TO "TEXAS", the musical drama of the Texas Panhandle, which plays in the Palo Duro Canyon in the summers. Write Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2181. Bill Rhew Photograph.

scatters. Dancers go to the studio in the May Moody Northern Building for intensive work on their numbers. Orchestra members go off to practice, or join the singers to accompany them. Actors go through their scenes in the intimate theatre. And everywhere in the halls people are studying and practicing as they wait for their scenes.

Meanwhile in the Canyon, the technical crew is painting, designing and repairing, putting the seats in order and putting them out, cleaning the stages, working on the trail to the top of the cliff with the aid of staff of the Palo Duro Canyon State Park where the theatre lies.

Members of the Sound and Light crew are climbing up and down the face of the 600 foot cliff which backs the stage, stringing lights and putting them where they will bring out the interesting rock features of the wall, checking the path where the cords for the lighting lie, and staying late at night waiting for full darkness to test the lights and work out the various effects.

The manager and his crew spend many evenings getting the Souvenir shop ready: cleaning, painting, pricing and arranging merchandise, ordering supplies and carrying them in, testing the ice machines.

The company has already held several rehearsals in the Canyon.

Last, but not least, the staff of the Park is working on the grounds: watering, mowing, thinning, so that the area will be at its best when the show opens.

When the first audience member of this sixteenth season takes his seat, he may know that thousands of hours have been spent getting ready for him.

For tickets and information, call 806-655-2181 or write "TEXAS" Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015. Tickets are also available in Amarillo at Montgomery Wards, in Canyon at 2010 Fourth Avenue and in several area towns, including Ansaphone in Lubbock.

Season runs through August 22, nightly except Sunday. There will be a single Sunday performance on July 5. It is well to make reservations in advance.

BY MELISSA CREAMER
JUNE 14-20
We certainly aren't complaining about all the rain we've had, but it does make it difficult to get out at night. That is an excellent reason to turn to Channel 5 and watch the fine 'Summertime' programs that have begun.
This Sunday at 4:00 brings us Evening at Pops with Lionel Hampton. The jazz great teams up with the 'Pop' for a great hour of music.
Great Performances is doing its usual fine production. Monday at 7:00 p.m. a trilogy begins with one of John Cheever's stories. Monday is "O Youth and Beauty" with Michael Murphy and Kathryn Walker. John Cheever's expulsion from an exclusive prep school was the subject of his first published short story. Since that time, he has set most of his work in America's affluent suburbs, populated by cocktail party-goers, and golden boys who have lost their luster.

"O Youth and Beauty" is the story of a man's attempt to recapture the glory of his youth. Murphy plays Cash Bentley, a former college track star who, at every cocktail party in Shady Hill, vaults over the furniture in a tipsy recreation of his hour of athletic glory. Bentley's wife feels his desperation and loneliness, yet is unable to reach out. The actors are award winners, and the television adaptation of the stories are beautiful. Remember 7:00, Monday the 15th.
Following Great Performances is the 3 act opera "A Bayou Legend". Award winning composer William Grant Still composed 'Legend' in 1941 with the help of his wife Verna Arvey, who wrote the libretto. Thirty-three years later "A Bayou Legend" made its world premiere in Jackson, Mississippi. Still died in December 1978 while the Mississippi Center for Educational Television and Opera/South were preparing the opera's television production which got underway in October, 1979. He received the Governor's Outstanding Mississippian Award for "having brought honor to his native state for over 60 years as the nation's most outstanding black composer." This begins at 8:00 and lasts an hour.
Tuesday at 10:30 p.m., the "World Gathering of Holocaust Survivors" will be aired on PBS. Approximately 5000 survivors of the Holocaust will gather in Jerusalem to pay tribute to those who perished and to express their commitment to the next generation.
Saturday evening at 8:00, another KTX-TV production will be on. Jazz Biz features members of a local jazz band performing their original jazz compositions. Senior producer Claudia H. Wehrmann has put a great program together for your enjoyment.
Watch and support public television; you and your family will be proud.

V.A. begins effort of debt collection

The Veterans Administration's legal office in Waco has begun an area-wide effort to collect debts of under $1,200 owed to the VA where the veteran has not made repayment arrangements. District Counsel Richard J. Jones said today. This action is being taken pursuant to Public Law 96-466 and a Memorandum of Understanding between the VA and the Department of Justice. According to Jones, most of the money owed to the VA is the result of educational overpayments to veterans attending school.

try getting away

It's a glorious time of the year! Why not get out your bike and leave that stuffy car in the garage for the weekend? What better way to enjoy the newly budded trees and wildflowers than by getting out in the open air and cycling. After all, springtime is bike time. Not only can cycling provide an enjoyable family outing, but regular biking also can improve your health, says the Texas Medical Association. Good cycling workouts can help protect you from heart and circulation problems. The rhythmic leg movements involved in cycling squeeze the blood vessels and pump blood more efficiently from the arms and legs to the heart. An additional system of blood vessels is also built, creating a back-up system to the blood vessels which could save your life when your heart is under stress. However, like any other active exercise, don't overdo it. Start off slowly and gradually build up your endurance. And don't forget to be safety conscious. Bicycles are the number one cause of recreational injuries in the United States. And the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) ranks bicycles as the second leading cause of product-related injuries last year. In 1980 an estimated 514,000 accidents occurred involving bicycles or bicycle accessories. In part, this high rate of injury is reflecting the large number of people of all ages who ride bikes. But CPSC notes that there are accident patterns associated with bicycle accidents, and there is
