V.A. begins effort to collect debts

The Veterans Administration's legal office in Waco has begun an area-wide effort to collect debts of under $1,200 owed to the VA where the veteran has not made repayment arrangements. District Counsel Richard J. Jones said today. This action is being taken pursuant to Public Law 96-466 and a Memorandum of Understanding between the VA and the Department of Justice.

According to Jones, most of the money owed to the VA is the result of educational overpayments to veterans attending school.

Bill. Also, there are debts due from defaulting loans. Before a suit is filed, the District Counsel tries to get the veteran to pay or her in Jones emphasizes. A veteran has 30 days to receive the letter. If not, or if payments for payment court action is taken. Debts in excess of $1,200 are referred to the Department of Justice for collection, the D.C. said.

For something different try getting away on a bicycle

It's a glorious time of the year! Why not get out your bike and leave that stuffy car in the garage for the weekend? What better way to enjoy the newly budded trees and wildflowers than by getting out in the open air and cycling. After all, springtime is bike time.

Not only can cycling provide an enjoyable family outing, but regular biking also can improve your health, says the Texas Medical Association. Good cycling workouts can help protect you from heart and circulation problems. The rhythmic leg movements involved in cycling squeeze the blood vessels and pump blood more efficiently from the arms and legs to the heart. An additional system of blood vessels is also built, creating a back-up system to the blood vessels which could save your life when your heart is under stress.

However, like any other active exercise, don't overdo it. Start off slowly and gradually build up your endurance. And don't forget to be safety conscious.

Bicycles are the number one cause of recreational injuries in the United States. And the Consumer Product Safety Commission (CPSC) ranks bicycles as the second leading cause of product-related injuries last year. In 1980 an estimated 514,000 accidents occurred involving bicycles or bicycle accessories.

In part, this high rate of injury is reflecting the large number of people of all ages who ride bikes. But CPSC notes that there are accident patterns associated with bicycle accidents, and there is finding anything to fit our needs when we finally found the car of our dreams, or at least my dreams.

A 20-year-old Lincoln Continental. It was so beautiful. Metallic brown, leather upholstery, electric windows, plenty of leg room.

You'd figure if you bought a car from "Fly by Night Used Cars," on the Mojave desert, it would be air conditioned, right?

Wrong-o. It only got nine miles a gallon. We wouldn't buy anything so preposterous, would we?

Wrong-o.

We bought it.

The car was a mechanic's dream and an owner's nightmare.

Not only did it burn oil by the gallon, but it used a quart of power steering fluid and a pint of brake fluid every two days.

The only time the car ever ran well was when it was parked. And that wasn't always true.

The Lincoln had a horn given to going off without the slightest human help. Especially in cold weather.

We would be sitting at the breakfast table when the horn, twin beauties, would start to blow.

In the middle of the night the horn would blow and neighbors would curse.

As the weather got colder, the horn would blow whenever you'd turn the steering wheel to the left. But not to the right.

I wondered if that was a sign of its political leanings.

I always wondered if the horn going off was some kind of mating call for another Lincoln. Or if the horn went off only when it was hungry or in need of attention.

We finally sold the Lincoln and came to our senses and bought a subcompact.

The day we drove the Lincoln to the new owner's home it was raining.

I guess the Lincoln was mad at being put up for adoption.

The last day we had it the windshield wipers wouldn't work and the electric windows wouldn't go up past half mast.

After I parked the Lincoln in the new owner's drive-way and started to walk away, the horn started blowing.

I guess it was sad, too.

Teacher shortage is plaguing Lockney

The Lockney Independent School District is having a difficult time finding secondary teachers.

The problem, however, is not unique to Lockney.

Superintendent W.H. Hallmark said there is a shortage of secondary teachers state-wide as more and more new teachers enter the elementary education field.

Hallmark said two of the main reasons more teachers are entering elementary education are discipline and extra-curricular activities. Elementary students, Hallmark said, pose less of a disciplinary problem and they are involved in less extra-curricular activities requiring a teacher's time.

At present, Hallmark said, Lockney needs five secondary positions filled for the 1981-82 school year: counselor, and math, science, English and social studies teachers.

Money is another factor, Hallmark said. The starting salary next fall for a new teacher in Lockney Hallmark said, will be about $10,500 plus a small bonus.

Larger school districts, Hallmark said, offer larger bonuses.

New teachers, who are mostly single, are also more attracted to larger metropolitan areas for social reasons, Hallmark said, rather than more isolated school districts such as Lockney.

Houston is the first choice for new teachers in Texas and the Dallas-Fort Worth area is second, according to Hallmark.

Lockney teachers, Hallmark said, are recruited through colleges and universities in the region. The teaching jobs need to be filled by August 1.

At the monthly meeting of the Lockney Board of Education, five people were hired for the coming school year.

They are: Raul Vera, high school special education; Kathy Grissom, assistant girls' coach; Annette Weil, home economics; Barbara Carthel, elementary physical education; Felicitia Castro, bilingual aide.

The resignations of three people were accepted: Melva Dorman, junior high school science teacher; Anne Carthel, junior high English teacher; and June Sherman, high school history teacher.

Doylene Dipprey

Dipprey takes library post

The Lockney branch of the Floyd County Library has a new librarian, Mrs. Doylene Dipprey, who is a Lockney native.

"I've always liked to read," said Mrs. Dipprey. "I love the idea of being surrounded by books every day."

She previously worked for Consumers Fuel doing bookkeeping for about ten years.

Mrs. Dipprey is the wife of Dub Dipprey, vice president of the First National Bank in Lockney.

They have three children: Todd, a pharmacist in Lubbock; Tyke, a Lockney

High School student; and Tina Graves who also lives in Lockney. They have one grandchild, Ryan Graves, who is nine-months-old.

The change in librarians is because of the retirement of Helen Holt who has been the librarian in Lockney for over 12 years.

"I've been serving the children of the children who checked out books when I began," said Mrs. Holt. "I'll really miss the people and the fellowship."

Mrs. Holt plans to spend the summer with her son Bob Holt who lives in Chappagua, New York, and will return to Lockney in the fall.

Mackenzie Water gets conditional okay

The Texas Water Development Board Tuesday approved nearly $7.37 million in water development loan funds to the MacKenzie Municipal Water Authority, but if certain loan conditions are not met, four South Plains cities literally could dry up.

The TWDB action was not a major change from last month's postponement of the request by the MacKenzie MWA for the loan. However, this month TWDB officials said the loan commitment extends until the July meeting and officially stated the conditions for loan approval, which include:

— availability of sufficient uncommitted water development funds at the time of the closing of the loan;

— extension of the commitment for a reasonable period of time past the July meeting date if the board feels the authority is able to go forward with the project; and — submission by the water authority of revised water supply contracts between itself and the member cities.

The MacKenzie MWA plans to use the TWDB funds in conjunction with $8.63 million in grant and loan funds from the Farmers Home Administration to construct a water treatment plant and transmission facilities to Tulia, Lockney, Floydada and Silverton.

"It is imperative that it come to a head now," said O.T. Owen Thornton, vice president of the water authority. "Another year or so, and these four cities won't be able to afford it."

Inflation and rising costs are not the only critical factors the four cities face.

Silverton, the closest city to the MacKenzie Reservoir, already is out of water. Last month the city council approved funds to drill five new water wells on the townsection in an effort to provide enough water until the treatment plant and transmission lines are in operation.

Some sights and sounds around Lockney have virtually disappeared.

The sight that is gone is that of packs of dogs prowling the streets.

The sound that has disappeared is that of dogs barking and howling at all times of the day and night.

The reason for the change is Mayor J.D. Copeland's highly successful bounty program on dogs and cats.

In just three weeks, 40 dogs and 29 cats were brought in for the $5 per animal bounty.

Copeland said he is "pretty well pleased," at the program's success.

"It's a lot different now than from what it was," Copeland pointed out.

Copeland said the bounty program is being halted now for the time being but will be reinstated if need be.

"But we want people to still keep their dogs tied up," Copeland said. "And if people get new dogs they need rabies shots and city licenses."

Rabies shots cost $5 at veterinarian Paul Glasson's and city dog tags are $2.

First Baptist Church of Floydada is seeking names and addresses of former members so that invitations can be extended to the church's 90th anniversary celebration on Sunday, August 23.

"All of our former members are a part of the great history of this church," said Parnell Powell, publicity committee chairman. "We want to invite them to join us for this celebration of what God has done through this church these past 90 years."

Anyone in the community who knows the names and addresses of former members are requested to send them to First Baptist Church, P.O. Box 610, Floydada 79235, or to call the church office at (806) 983-3755.

Highlighting the celebration will be the return of two former pastors to participate in the program. Dr. R. Earl Allen, who was pastor from 1950-56, will preach in the morning service on August 23. Following dinner on the grounds, Ed Bowles, pastor from 1957-61, will lead in a special afternoon service. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley has been pastor since 1961.

West said the addition of touch-tone calling will in no way affect regular dial telephone service. Special equipment has been added at the telephone company central office.

The equipment changes musical tones generated by Touch-Tone sets into electronic impulses that telephone switches "understand."

HISTORIC MEETING — The presidents of five Texas agricultural organizations and a representative from the National Live Stock and Meat Board met recently to give final approval of plans for implementing a voluntary 25-cent-per-head beef promotion program in Texas, beginning July 1. The leaders (left to right) are Joe Hathoot of Texarkana, Livestock Marketing Association of Texas; R.L. Bliss of Tulla, Texas Cattle Feeders Assn.; Roy Wheeler of Pleasanton, Independent Cattlemen of Texas; James Mullins of Corwith, Iowa, chairman of the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board; John Cargile of San Angelo, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers; and Carrol Chaloupka of Dalhart, Texas Farm Bureau.

Beef investment program to aid the Beef Industry

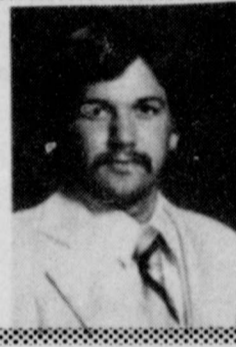

On July 1, the Texas cattle industry will implement a voluntary 25-cent-per-head beef promotion investment program. Under the new system, 25 cents will be collected on cattle and calves sold through participating markets, packers, dealers and order buyers. The funds will be remitted entirely to the Beef Industry Council of the Meat Board for use in national programs of research, education and promotion. Endorsed recently by five Texas organizations, the investment plan is designed to generate additional funding needed for aggressive beef market development. The organizations initiating the 25-cent investment are the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Assn., Texas Cattle Feeders Assn., Texas Farm Bureau, the Independent Cattlemen's Assn. and the Livestock Marketing Assn. of Texas.

At a meeting in Irving, Texas, these groups agreed to put the investment program in motion and also to form a beef promotion coordinating committee which will oversee the implementation of the entire effort.

PROTECT LEAVES FOR TOP VEGETABLES

Plant leaves provide a source of food used in the development of fruit. Thus it's important to protect foliage from diseases.

Although plant foliage is subject to attack from bacteria and fungi, losses from fungal organisms are by far the most common in this area. Fungicides to control diseases caused by fungi include: captan, folpet, zineb, sulfur, copper, maneb and other maneb combinations.

Two new fungicides being used in the area are benomyl and chlorothalonil. Since these are more specific in their actions, they will often out-perform older standard fungicides when used properly.

Bactericides are used to control bacterial diseases. Those most effective contain some form of copper or an antibiotic (streptomycin sulfate).

Following is a list of commonly used pesticides for disease control and what they are effective against. This list does not include the host plant, so you need to read the label closely before purchasing the product to make sure it can be used on the particular vegetable that has a problem in your garden.

PESTICIDE	FUNGAL DISEASE				BACTERIAL DISEASES
	Fruit Rot	Foliage	Powdery mildew	Fruit	Foliage
Benomyl	Yes	Yes	Yes	No	No
Captan	Yes	Yes	No	No	No
Copper containing pesticides	Yes	Yes	No	Yes	Yes
Chlorothalonil	Yes	Yes	No	No	No
Folpet	Yes	Yes	Yes	No	No
Maneb and maneb combinations	Yes	Yes	No	No	No
Streptomycin sulfate	No	No	No	Yes	Yes
Sulfur	No	No	Yes	No	No
Zineb	Yes	Yes	No	No	No

Combination products or those listed as general purpose materials, should be examined closely to make sure they contain a fungicide, if one is needed. Often general use products contain only an insecticide and thus would have no effect on any disease problems.

Numerous growers prefer to use a dust rather than a spray. In tests done in other areas, no difference can be demonstrated between a dust or spray application.

The secret of good disease control with either of the pesticide formulations is early detection of the disease, thorough pesticide coverage, and continual applications as long as weather conditions favor disease development. When using dusts, apply them in the evening to get better distribution of the pesticide over the leaf. Dusting when leaves are wet with dew can result in an uneven distribution since dust will be attracted to water droplets. Sprays can be applied at any time.

What effect does rainfall have on a spray or dust application? If leaves have dried for two-three hours after the application, little pesticide will be removed by rain. However, if foliage has not dried, then repeat spraying or dusting.

For a pesticide to be effective against a disease, it has to be on the leaf during the time when the pest is present and developing. For most diseases, that is during and immediately after rainfall or heavy dews. During periods when diseases are severe, it may be best to apply the pesticide before a predicted period of wet weather. This will protect foliage and fruit during this critical period. The secret to disease control is to use the proper pesticide, apply it at the proper time, and continue applications as long as the weather favors disease development.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Ethanol alternate fuel for agricultural producers

(COLLEGE STATION) — When the availability of fuel becomes more important to agricultural producers than the price, Texas A&M engineers will be able to tell them all about an available alternate fuel — ethyl alcohol or ethanol.

The engineers have been running a research and demonstration ethanol production plant for the last five months. It produces 184 proof alcohol from grain through a series of fermentation and distillation processes. It's just a matter of cooking the alcohol up, as Henry O'Neal explains.

"To this point we have used only grain sorghum and corn as the feedstock for making alcohol," O'Neal says. "The general process is to, first, grind the grain, put it into a cooker, add water and add an enzyme to keep the mixture liquid during the heating process."

"This mash is heated to just below boiling and cooked for about an hour. Then it is cooled down to between 95 degrees and 100 degrees F. Another enzyme is added to change the starch to sugar, then yeast is added to begin the fermentation of the sugar."

It's allowed to ferment for three to four days, after which we have an alcohol concentration of about 10 percent," explains O'Neal. "Finally, the alcohol is distilled so we can get a high enough proof to use as a fuel."

The production plant at Texas A&M is a small-scale model and has less cooking and fermenting capacity than an actual on-farm plant would have. The demonstration model has four cooking tanks, each with a 12½-bushel grain capacity, which gives the plant a 30-gallon per day production rate. Its distillation capacity is 10 gallons per hour.

"There are some residues left which are a good protein source for feeding livestock," O'Neal says. "We are easily recovering 8 pounds of 27 to 28 percent protein per bushel of grain that went into the cooker."

Many products can be fermented to produce ethanol, including wheat, potatoes, sugar cane, sweet sorghum and sugar beets. The engineers plan on testing the production potential of several feedstocks. Thus far they have found that grain sorghum and corn both produce 2½ gallons of 184 proof ethanol per bushel.

"We will be using the alcohol we produce in a 1,000-hour engine test," O'Neal says, "so we can get a feel for any out-of-the-ordinary wear or maintenance that might have to be taken into account if we're going to use this alcohol as a fuel under long-term conditions."

The energy requirements of the plant and environmental and safety aspects of alcohol production are also being studied.

Research and demonstration data are available to the public, and tours of the plant can be arranged through your local county Extension agent.

Annual Swine Short Course offered at Texas Tech

Swine producers feeling the pinch of high production costs will find sound tips on increasing efficiency at the 29th Annual Swine Short Course sponsored by Texas Tech University June 25.

The course will be held at the College of Agricultural Sciences Livestock Arena at Indiana Avenue and Brownfield Highway. Professor Donald E. Orr Jr. of Texas Tech's animal science faculty said the short course will cover a range of topics, including sow management, nutrition and management of pigs, animal behavior, production efficiency and swine marketing.

The registration fee for the one-day seminar is $10. Registration will be 8-9 a.m. Commercial exhibits in the Livestock Arena will be open.

The program will begin at 9 a.m. with Dr. Samuel E. Curl, dean of Texas Tech's College of Agricultural Sciences, giving the opening remarks. Sessions end at 3:15 p.m.

Morning session speakers will include Dr. Gary L. Allee, professor of animal science at Kansas State University, Manhattan, Kansas; Dr. Ray Hanks, swine producer at Thrushwood Farms, Fairbury, Ill.; and faculty and staff from Texas Tech's Department of Animal Science. Dr. Leland F. Tribble, swine specialist and member of the Texas Tech faculty will preside.

KCBD-TV to air "The Key to Prosperity" June 20

BY ARNOLD SCHWERTNER

"The Key to Prosperity" is a film documentation study into the nature and causes of the wealth of nations. "The Key to Prosperity" shows how a balanced economy provides a strong base for a healthy nation. Working inversely, an imbalanced economy can become a painfully increasing burden whereby debt, credit and interest become the name of the game. Economic chaos and hunger will surely follow if this is not corrected, and it never will be corrected as long as our Agriculture Policy will allow exporting below the cost of production. For every measure of man's production exported below the cost of production, the difference is made up by stealing equity from our great country; for once the product is gone, the farmer has but one source to replace it, and that is through borrowing. No country or person can borrow itself out of debt nor can any country print wealth. Earned money which would be used to purchase machinery, merchandise and goods in our communities is now replaced with debt money and must first service the unearned interest and debt.

As over 2000 U.S. farmers, the most productive in the world, are forced to liquidate each week and have since 1953 it is small wonder rural communities achieve no growth and soon decay into a non-functioning society. Future generations will soon be unable to pay even the interest on the debt our nation has created. The greater this debt, the higher inflation.

Corporations now owe about $1 trillion, up $100 billion since 1970, three times what they owed since 1970. In 1980, corporations paid 51% of all pre-taxed profits to service their debt! Fully 44% of the corporate debt is short term as compared to 10% a decade earlier. As bankruptcies proliferate, debt money is forced upwards.

This nation depends on production in all segments of society. As interest rates escalate, production is given the back seat. Projects too risky for the bankers are on the asking end of government funding. As the government competes for borrow money, inflation takes another turn. Once more production takes the back seat till we are dependent on hungry nations completely or we succumb to socialist dictates through receivership.

In the Senate hearings held this year in Washington, D.C., the CBO and the GAO jointly announced that one ICBM missile could wipe out the production from 75% of this nation's refinery capacities. Congressman Berkeley Bedell called attention to the fact that if the factory system fails, agriculture-as now structured, as now almost totally dependent on fossil fuel technology-would also fail. A ruptured factory system could not supply the fuel, the fertilizers and the agri-chemistry now used.

Control of the monetary system, energy and food will bring control of nations, governments and people as Henry Kissinger Stated. Karl Marx endorsed and supported free trade because he said free trade is destructive and free trade would hasten the day of social revolution. Free trade must be replaced with equity of trade in order to restore the sovereignty of our nation.

The wealth of the people must be returned to them in order to upgrade human dignity. "The Key to Prosperity," produced by the National Organization of Raw Materials, will explain in simple terms how our nations can return to its moral, structural and financial soundness we once experienced.

The film will be shown on Channel 13, KCBD-TV, Saturday, June 20, 2:30-3:30 p.m.

If the production of this film causes any question, any need for explanation or desire for more information, please contact the Texas State Headquarters, American Agriculture Movement, P.O. Box 1601, Hereford, Texas 79045, phone 806-364-7820.

Lockney Care Center news

BY VICKIE HUTTON

We had a ball this week! Monday, we journeyed to Mackenzie Lake for a picnic we thoroughly enjoyed. We stuffed ourselves with fried chicken, potato salad, barbeque beans, and all the trimmings. Despite all the fun, the flies and ants found us but it wouldn't have been a picnic without them.

Those enjoying the trip were Lewis Roberts, Sam Lide, Richard Lanham, Donnie Hester, Thomas Jones, Myrtle Payne, Mary Jo Fielding, Euna Bradshaw, Bertie Bradley, Rosella Trowbridge, Alma McDonald, Julia Garrett, Laverne Christian, Anna Zubia, Joe Castro, Estella Castro, Mabel Foster, Virgie Smith, Lena Brotherton, Jo Hamilton, Travis Maples, and myself.

Our bingo winners this week were Bill Holt, Myrtle Payne, and Phillip Glasson. Our bingo cards are really getting worn with all the looking over they get. The anticipation grows and grows as the weeks go on.

Wednesday, we enjoyed the films, "Animal Parents" and "Prairie Land." The films were very informative. Thanks goes to Deputy Olan Potec and Floyd County Library for adding an extra enjoyment to our lives.

Thursday was game day. I really learned a lesson playing checkers with Richard Lanham. I thought he was doing me a favor when he told me I could have the checker he moved but as it turned out when I jumped one of his he jumped two of mine. You really have to watch these fellows, they'll trick you every time!!!!

We really missed Chuck Shockley Thursday. He has made our ceramic class more enjoyable week after week. We hope he has a nice vacation and hurrys back.

CLOTHING BUDGET 'STRAINED AT THE SEAMS? ADJUST QUALITY LEVEL

Clothing budget "strained at the seams?" Maybe your wardrobe is too high quality. That may sound "funny," but it's true. All clothing need not be of the same quality—high quality—to give good value. Several factors can help you decide quality levels for various clothing items.

Before looking for high quality or lower quality, it's wise to understand a basic quality-price fact of life: quality and price are not always related. For example, an expensive fabric or garment may be of poor quality but costly because of some unique characteristics. You can't always rely on a manufacturer's brand name, either. Although the maker may have a reputation for a certain quality level, it still varies from garment to garment. And everyone can make a mistake now and then.

In deciding on quality needs, consider "wearable time span" as a major factor—how long the item will be worn. This depends, also, on who will wear it and for what kind of activities. Then you can determine how "good" the quality must be to meet your needs. For example, a pre-school child's play clothes receive hard wear. The child's activities strain every seam and button and grind soil into the fabric. So, even though children out-grow play clothes quickly, the wear, tear and many washings make high quality in these items a good value. That means high-quality construction and high-quality fabric.

On the other hand, adult party clothes may not require such "high" quality. These items usually are not worn often, and they're worn in dimly lit rooms in many cases. So the best buy in formal wear (usually) may be the least expensive, even if that means poor construction and not-very-durable fabric. Fashion trends are another major factor in deciding quality level for various wardrobe items. A garment that is faddish or highly fashionable today may not be so tomorrow. Buy, knowing that these will need replacing more quickly than the more basic styles in your wardrobe.

Finally, here's a rule of thumb: Invest more time, money and effort in searching for good quality when it comes to clothes you'll wear the most. Select lower-quality items, usually less expensive, for spice and variety. When you follow this rule of thumb, your clothing budget will "fit" better.

Bible students visit residents

BY DOROTHY NEFF

This has been the best week of my four years as Activity Director.

Having the First Baptist Church hold Bible school in our home has been the most rewarding experience for our residents.

It gave them a chance to forget their problems and to make something for their very own. They made waste baskets from egg cartons, covered coat hangers, coffee cans and juice cans with beautiful bright colored crocheted thread. It was a week we will not forget for a long time.

Those coming every day were Bobbie Miller, Nettie Adams, Kelly Colston, Barbara Cocanougher, DeLyn Ramsey, Greg Thompson, Lana Fannon, Karen Lloyd, Shawnda Sanders, Steve Stringer, Sherese Cannon, Mae Garrett and Mrs. L.E. Crabtree.

Mr. Charlie Spence also brought some of his art work out to share with the residents. One item was a 1935 license plate decorated with flowers and greenery. He also brought a 60 year old shingle from his barn with a beautiful poem glued on.

We made a quick stop at the Tastee Freez to get a frosted coke before going to Plainview to shop Wednesday. Those enjoying the bus trip were Emmitt Lawrence, Juanita Bailey, Verna McSwain, Sue Thompson and Velva Pricer.

Mr. A.G. Eubanks was top winner in bingo with three games. Mrs. Iva Simpson and Emmitt Lawrence won two games each and Mr. Cates, Clara Williamson, Verna McNeely and Geneda Roberts won one game each.

We have Mr. James Moore living with us again. Mr. Moore lived with us once before. He is in room eight down the West hall.

Many thanks to the Calvary Baptist Bible school class for coming out Friday to sing some beautiful songs they learned. Leaders Jo Payne, Carla Schneider, Rilla Sue Woody, Gertie Warren, Deota Odam, Linda Turner, Kayla Emert, Linda Smith, Bertie Faye Drummond and Worth Howard and 45 children entertained our residents for about 20 minutes.

Visitors this week included, from the Calvary Baptist Church, Estelle Gilbreath, Rilla Sue Woody, Gertie Warren, Deota Odam, Linda Turner, Kayla Emert, Bertie Faye Drummond, Worth Howard and 45 children entertained our residents for about 20 minutes.

Imagine the possibilities... of sitting in your own living room, tuning a channel on your television set, and having the August cattle futures... or the debate on the new agriculture bill from the floor of the U. S. House of Representatives... or the listing of a combine someone wants to sell - at exactly the price you're looking to pay... or the December wheat futures, ... all right there, where you need them, when you need them. According to experts in the field, that's exactly what's in store, in the very near future, for the farmer and rancher via satellite communications. The satellites are already in stationary orbit, the receiving equipment is available, some of the agricultural information is already being transmitted, with much more in the planning stage, and the time may be at hand when, next to a tractor, a satellite receiver will be the modern farmer's most valued piece of equipment.

FIX-IT FACTS If it seems like every spring is annual paint-the-wood-siding time it's probably because moisture has collected behind the siding causing the paint to peel. After your annual repainting this year, take one more step which may end the yearly ritual. Vent your siding. This can be done by boring holes in the siding and inserting aluminum vents, or by driving small aluminum wedges up under the laps on the siding. Both the vents and wedges are available for this purpose. Plastic vents are also available which are inserted in holes bored through the bottom of the siding section. A jig is available to properly angle your drill. Perhaps the simplest siding vent is a nail and metal sleeve set. The whole thing is driven into the siding - the nail comes out and the vent remains.

Rev. Michael O'Connor's Perspective

It seems a new study on intelligence has been completed which has determined there is a correlation between religious upbringing. The study was brought up in a "fundamentalist" background as people brought up in more liberal or more religiously free environment. Paige Patterson would be pleased to hear that the "fundamentalist" category is not especially pleased to hear that we are not heard far too often these days. Under if the person making the study had a more liberal background, who has examined the results of the study, and other contributing factors, such as economic conditions, a smidgen of statistical work in college, and just about anything, if you use the right data, you will be the results of such a study? It is inevitable we could see a renewal of religious education in the religious schools could be denounced for people who runs the school: if it is Catholic or Baptist or Methodist or Presbyterian, it is on your hands. about adding a new line to job applications. "I'm sorry, we cannot hire you at this time because of your religious background. You are smarter than you are." I certainly hope none of that comes to pass. So, we, and wise people I have known were people who are "fundamentalist" groups. Those qualities often make a person on a standard IQ test. Well, somebody may well do a study some day. I think it is bigger wisecracks than anyone else.

In fact, they were talking and waving to other people as they moved. "Well, I guess it will be all right, take my hand." The child tentatively stuck their right foot on the stairs and pulled back. The child giggled. They stepped on their right foot on the step. Having accomplished that, they stepped on their left foot on the same step. The step disappeared at the top. They looked down and saw the step in the opposite direction. They felt a sense of relief. As they neared the top, Mother said, "Well, it's off." They each raised their right foot and stood on it to each other for balance. At last they were off before they disappeared into the place.

A Lockney victory

Bravo!
Let's hear a large round of collective applause for Lockney Mayor J.D. Copeland and the City Council for the amazingly successful dog and cat bounty program.

In less than three weeks the $5 per animal bounty program netted some 70 dogs and cats.

And there also should be some cheers for Lockney's enterprising teenagers who were most responsible for rounding up the strays.

At a cost of less than $400, Mr. Copeland and Councilmen Kring, Wofford, Holly and Reece put an end to a problem posing a threat to the safety and health of everyone in Lockney.

Aesthetically the results are pleasing, too: no more dog packs running the streets, no more dogs chasing cars down the street and it certainly is more quiet, especially at night.

Now that the stray problem has been remedied, it's up to the citizens of Lockney to keep it that way as Mr. Copeland points out.

City ordinance requires that all dogs and cats have rabies shots and city licenses. It only costs a total of $7 for the shots and license.

And, city ordinance requires that all dogs and cats be kept penned or tied up.

Let's do it Lockney.

Perspectives

It seems a new study on intelligence has been done, and the one doing it has determined there is a correlation between your intelligence and your religious upbringing.

People brought up in a "fundamentalist" background tended to be not as intelligent as people brought up in more liberal denominations, or in a more religion-free environment.

My Southern Baptist friends tend to be not as smart as I am with my Methodist upbringing.

Paige Patterson would be pleased to hear that the Southern Baptists made it into the "fundamentalist" category.

Not especially pleased to hear that we Methodists are liberal, a fact heard far too often these days.

Whether the person making the study had a particular religious bias, or whether he has examined the results of the study say it fails to take into account other contributing factors, such as economic advantages.

Just about anything, if you use the right data.

What will be the results of such a study? It is hard to say, but it is not unreasonable we could see a renewal of religious discrimination.

Some religious schools could be denounced for poor quality in education if they run the school; if it is Catholic or Baptist your child will come home, but if it is Methodist or Presbyterian, then you have a potential problem on your hands.

Just about adding a new line to job applications under the education category: "I'm sorry, we cannot hire you at this time. You see you're not really of God, and we have an equally qualified atheist here who would be smarter than you are."

Somebody hope none of that comes to pass. Some of the finest, most wise people I have known were people who grew up in those "fundamentalist" groups. Those qualities often make up for a lack of ability to perform on a standard IQ test.

Somebody may well do a study some day that shows that fundamentalists are bigger wisecracks than anyone else, and then where would I be?

"What are those funny looking stairs, Mom?" the child asked.

"Stairs, Child. I don't know. I've never seen such a sight before. They move. Wonder where they're going? They just get so high and then they come out over yonder. How strange."

"Where are people standing on them and being taken up. May I go?"

"Where are they going to Heaven?"

"Mother hesitated, carefully watching the people to see if they would be taken up. They seemed to come to no harm. In fact, they seemed not at all afraid. They were talking and waving to others just like they were out on a Sunday drive. 'Well, I guess it will be all right, but I'm going with you, take my hand.'"

Life in the country
Is it as healthful
as many city residents think?

LIFE IN THE COUNTRY often evokes visions of blue skies, clean air and wholesome value systems among Texans who live in more congested urban areas.

In fact, the mental and physical health of rural Texans is markedly worse than that of city-dwelling citizens, according to a lecturer in the School of Nursing at The University of Texas at Austin.

Dr. Mary Walker directs the Texas Rural Health Field Services Program at UT Austin. The program was established in 1978 to provide information, technical assistance and monitoring services to rural Texans. Dr. Walker also serves as a liaison between Federal and State health agencies, interested private groups, rural residents, health-care providers and policymakers.

If "health" is defined in terms of environmental, physical, mental and social factors, Dr. Walker believes it is inaccurate to say that rural residents are receiving health care.

"Rural residents do have some access to medical care, but even this is often limited by poverty, lack of health insurance or coverage under public programs, cultural barriers, racial discrimination and limited education," she reported recently.

Rural Texans are less educated, poorer and likely to die sooner than urban Texans, Dr. Walker has found. In general, she continued, rural residents can expect more days of disability and chronic illness than their urban counterparts.

So-Called City Problems Also Occur In The Country
Even problems often associated with city life, such as drug abuse, occur just as frequently in rural areas as in urban areas, she said. The same is true for child abuse, battered wives, depression and teen-age pregnancy.

In 1980, the Texas Rural Health Program issued a report titled "Rural Health Care in Texas: The Facts - 1980." Among the findings published in the report are:

- As of August 1978, there were 97 counties in Texas where nutrition projects serving meals to the elderly were nonexistent. All of those counties were nonmetropolitan. (Nonmetropolitan is defined by the Census Bureau as all farms, open countryside and places of less than 50,000 residents outside Standard Metropolitan Statistical Areas.)
- Of Texas nonmetropolitan counties, 94 counties or 47 per cent had no public family planning service.
- In Texas in 1978, the maternal death rate for the state was 11.8 per 100,000 live births. When nonmetropolitan areas were compared, researchers found 15.5 maternal deaths per 100,000 live births in rural areas, against 10.96 in Texas cities.
- The tuberculosis death rate in nonmetropolitan counties was 24 per cent higher than in metro areas in 1979.
- Cerebrovascular disease death rate for rural counties was 86 per cent higher than in metro counties, and pneumonia and influenza death rates were 60 per cent higher.
- Of 31 counties in Texas without hospitals, and 32 counties without nursing homes, all are in nonmetropolitan areas.
- Health resources and services, like other resources and services, follow people," Dr. Walker commented. "Where the population is sparse, there have also been few or no health professionals, facilities or services."

Information Requests Show Marked Increase
However, she added, consumers and providers are becoming increasingly interested in improving the delivery of health care in rural areas of Texas. In 1980, the Texas Rural Health Field Services Program had 600 requests for information, a 300 per cent increase over requests received in 1979.

"These requests ranged from 'where can we get money to build a clinic?' to 'how can we get rabies shots for the dogs in our community?'" she noted.

More than 20 health professionals looking for employment in rural areas were counseled and directed to rural communities and clinics in need of health providers, she added.

Other activities conducted through the program in 1980 included publication of the first issue of the Texas Rural Health Journal; preparation of a policy paper on Federal health programs and their impact on rural Texas; serving as a resource on rural health needs to three State Senate committees, including the Senate Human Services Committee, and sponsorship of workshops and seminars on all aspects of rural health-care delivery throughout Texas.

Located in the UT Austin School of Nursing, the Texas Rural Health Field Services Program is funded by the Sid Richardson Foundation, the Moody Foundation and the Meadows Foundation.

Collage

BY PATRICK CLARK

One time while in my early teens I had a knock-down fight with my best friend over something terribly significant, such as who was the best first baseman in the National League (Stan Musial, of course.)

After a couple days of moping around the house I was beginning to drive my mother crazy.

"You two ought to make up," she said. "You've been friends too long for this."

"Who cares," I said. "You will when you get older," she said.

She was right, as usual. Although I'm not exactly ready for a wheelchair yet, I find that as I get older I value my friends more, especially the ones that go back more than a couple years.

A couple of weeks ago I lost a friend I had valued dearly.

He was only 34-years-old when he died in a traffic accident in St. Louis County. To compound the tragedy, two of his three boys were killed with him.

We had been friends for most of ten years. We had met when we were both hired by the same company within a few weeks of each other.

We worked together on a lousy midnight to 8 a.m. shift together for a long time. In the quiet time near dawn on many night after most of our work was finished, we used to share our hopes.

He wanted a successful career, a happy personal life.

He was doing pretty well at accomplishing it, too.

I remember when each of his boys was born; he was among the first of my contemporaries to have children.

After each boy was born he passed out bubble gum cigars with a big grin on his face.

He was a man of remarkable integrity without much patience for injustice and unfairness.

I marveled one time when he took on an upper level executive of our corporation over a contract matter. He won, too.

He had the proper mix of humility, too. He used to joke frequently about the fact that it took him five years as a full-time student to get a four-year journalism degree. The extra year, he'd say, was spent getting a minor in partying.

He was one of those people with a storybook life...until the end.

He was the son of the chairman of the board of a nation-wide finance company. He was good looking, popular with almost everyone. He married a beautiful woman and had three beautiful sons. He was almost instantly successful in the broadcasting industry. In a few more years he might have been on a par with Dan Rather.

Now it's all gone but the memories.

Social Security News

BY VIRGINIA DEWITT

"Money's worth" continues to be a subject of debate regarding social security benefits. Understandably so, when taxes this year can reach almost $3,000 for a self-employed person earning $30,000.

Social Security is a social insurance system under which workers and their dependents are insured against the risk of losing earnings as a result of death, disability or retirement. The monthly checks that are paid partially replace lost earnings.

Now I won't dispute the fact that some people are more likely to get a better bargain than others; that is if you can call it a bargain to become disabled at a young age so you can collect Social Security checks for a long time based on a very small tax contribution.

The social insurance feature of Social Security means that the amount of a Social Security check is weighed in favor of the low earner. On the average, a low-earner's Social Security check will amount to about 60 percent of his pre-retirement earnings. The highest earners can expect checks to equal about one-third of their earnings which were subject to Social Security taxes.

Thus, you can see that under our current system the low earner who is married, with spouse who is not working, and who has several young children, can expect the greatest return on Social Security taxes. Conversely, the unmarried worker with no dependents, paying maximum Social Security taxes throughout a long career stands less of a chance of getting a favorable return on tax dollars paid.

In real life, of course, most people fall somewhere between the two extremes. That's why for the majority, we can expect our money's worth and more from Social Security.

Life expectancy tables show a male at age 65 is expected to live 14 years, a female 18 years. By now it should be clear why people who are currently getting retirement checks receive a total amount equal to 10 times what they paid in taxes.

If you are still skeptical, send me your name and address and I will mail you a booklet called "Your Social Security" along with a list showing the maximum amount of taxes since 1937 as well as the amount of tax that went to the three separate trust funds, Old Age and Survivors, Disability, and Hospital Insurance. My address is Social Security Office, 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview, Texas 79072. If you have any questions concerning social security, call our toll-free number 1-800-392-1603.

Floyd County Insurance Agency Jerry Cooper

In a Buy-and-Sell Agreement involving life insurance purchased on the lives of partners or stockholders to fund an agreement to purchase that portion of the business, are the proceeds taxable as included in the insured's estate?

If proceeds of the agreement policy are not payable to the insured's estate, and the insured has no incidents of ownership in the policies or his life, the proceeds are not includable in the gross estate and, therefore, not taxable. The value of his partnership interest or the corporate stock which he holds is includable in his estate, however, and is subject to Federal estate taxes. Incidents of ownership would be precluded by a provision in the agreement prohibiting the insured from surrendering or borrowing on the policy or changing the beneficiary.

Weather and mosquitoes torment Center

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN

Monday, June 15:
Today is very different from last week. This morning is cloudy, rainy, and windy, where as last week we had some temperatures as high as 106 degrees. Today is 64 degrees. And mosquitoes were getting bad.

Our sick are some better. Mrs. Carpenter is fine, back in the Lockney Rest Home, as is Mrs. Clarence Ashton.

Mrs. Ashton had company Sunday in the Rest Home, her family, Bobby from League City also her husband and daughter, who probably see her most every day.

Miss Vera Meredith who has been very ill in the Lockney Hospital is reported much better today.

Visitors Sunday at the Henry Brewers were a daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson of Mt. Blanco.

Thursday was a good day at Senior Citizens.

Mrs. Fred Battey had company from Amarillo over the weekend. Mr. and Mrs. Verlan Martin. Mrs. Martin is the former Vida Battey Cook.

recently remarried. Congratulations.

Mrs. Flora Warren visited Mrs. Battey Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Gilmer Denison of Lubbock visited Sunday week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Denison.

Last Monday Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Denison were in Dimmitt attending last rites for a cousin, Clinton McCormick.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Mensch of Lubbock spent Friday night and Saturday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas. They returned home Saturday evening.

Their small son, David, who had spent the week with his grandparents, returned home with them.

Mrs. Charline Finkner of Lubbock visited Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Fulkerson.

Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Goss and son of Alabama are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Plumlee. Mrs. Goss is the Plumlee's daughter.

Sunday dinner guests of Mrs. Ava Jackson were Mrs. Lois Durham, Mrs. Leo Frizzell and Mrs. Ethel Warren.

Two of our visitors in Calvary Baptist Sunday were former residents of this area, Mr. Clarence Foster of San Angelo accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Calahan of Abilene. Mr. Foster, a former member of Calvary, gave us an interesting picture of life in this San Angelo home for older citizens.

Mrs. Anthony Latta visited Mrs. Green one morning last week.

The Clyde Green's of Peralta, New Mexico, who are having a vacation in Europe, remembered us last week with news of visits in England of places of historic fame and were soon to cross over to the mainland. Having a wonderful time.

The sun is coming out. I guess farmers in the wheat harvest had rather see the sun out a while longer.

Holmes reveals saga of early Della Plain families mes' father, a brother of Mrs. Mickey. The year is believed for sure to be 1890. However, the families may have landed in the county in 1889.)

BY ALMA HOLMES

Swift moving cars scuttle along like hungry bugs, on the smooth grey pavement called highway 207. Folks who ride in the cars do not know, do not care, and do not see, the small fenced half acre of grass that lies just east of the highway, about five miles north of Floydada. Yet this small plot of grass holds the heartbreak, the tragedy of a Floyd county pioneer family. Because this is the graveyard at the crumbling head stones we find these names:

Annie: Infant of Mr. and Mrs. George Mickey;

ZEPH AND JULIA MICKEY settled in Della Plains in 1890. Pictured with them are children Ethel and Zeph. Baby Zeph fell into the dugout fireplace and was burned to death. He was buried in the Della Plain cemetery.

Mrs. Georgia Mickey and baby, wife of Frank Mickey; Mrs. Ella Mickey and baby, wife and baby of Lew Mickey; Zeph, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Zeph Mickey.

The stories of these graves are taken from a history of the Mickey family, written by (aunt Sallie) Mrs. George Mickey. The original handwritten manuscript history is now in the museum at Texas Technological college in Lubbock. A copy is also in the State University at Austin.

Copied From The Mickey History

"In November of 1890, Frank, and Lew Mickey with another Bosque man by the name of Dock McVicar came to the Plains, and of course we all went to Charley's place (Charley was C.W. Smith, founder of the Lockney Christian College.) first and stayed until the men folks could go to Childress for lumber to fix our dugouts. McVicar didn't stop. He went on to a small town called Plainview.

When George, Frank and Lew came back with the lumber they went to their land about twelve miles west of Charley's and fixed up one dugout and then they all took their families and stock and went home. How good that word sounded to me. I had wanted a home of my own for so long.

I think Charley lost quite a few of his cattle that winter, not that they died but run off. He didn't have a pasture to put them in and not much food for the cattle, but Charley didn't have quite so hard a time as we all had that winter. It now seems like a horrible dream. Frank's wife was sick when we left Bosque county, and I was expecting another baby in February. Lew's wife was with child also. So we were all in a very sorry condition to come to a new county such as this at that time.

Frank's wife had serious kidney trouble and her baby was still nursing and of course drawing the poison from her mother. My baby was born the 26th of February, but only lived until the 7th of March. Georgia, Frank's wife, was sick at the time my baby was born and kept getting worse until Frank put a bed in his wagon and took her over to Charley's as there was a doctor close there. He had the doctor with her the next day. But she died that night.

We were all so shocked for we didn't think she was seriously sick. Her baby was sick also. I did so want the baby to live, for I thought I'd get to keep her and I did want a baby so badly after losing mine, but the baby died in my lap while they took her mother to bury her.

When we all went home, just before we got there we could see "a fire out", as we used to say. The grass wasn't very long, but when a fire started it was almost impossible to stop it. That fire was burning slow, as the grass was damp and not very long and the boy's put it out until it didn't damage anything but very little.

But in working at the fire George stepped in a prairie dog hole and wrenched his back so bad he didn't get out of bed for a month and much of that time he couldn't even turn himself over in bed.

That was about the first of April and George kept seeming to get worse and, of course, we didn't have any money. The other boys had to go to the breaks and haul out wood for us, until finally I wrote to my father the condition we were in and he sent me $20. That looked like a mighty lot of money to me.

ZEPH AND JULIA MICKEY settled in Della Plains in 1890. Pictured with them are children Ethel and Zeph. Baby Zeph fell into the dugout fireplace and was burned to death. He was buried in the Della Plain cemetery.

Jacky Ward and The Kennells, bright new faces in the country and western music field, will be making their debuts at the 64th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock this fall.

Ward, who is being described as a "high energy performer" with a string of top 10 hits on Mercury records, will team up with the father-daughter duo for two performances on October 3.

Shows will be at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., according to general manager Steve L. Lewis.

Earlier, Lewis had announced that Slim Whitman and Box Car Willie would star in a pair of shows at the same times on October 1.

Ward, an accomplished impressionist as well as a singer, had two big hits last year. "Save Your Heart for Me" was on the charts 14 weeks and "Cowboys Way to Rock and Roll" made it 15 weeks.

Among his other hits were "Big Blue Diamond," "Rhythm of the Rain," "Wisdom of a Fool," "Lover's Question" and "Fools Fall in Love."

Cashbox Magazine has called him "the super star to be reckoned with in 1981" and Performance Magazine labeled him both a "buzzbomb" and

"cyclone." The industry has dubbed him "Nashville's answer to the energy crisis" due to his hyper shows.

Ward will be on stage with Royce Kendall, a former barber, and his daughter Jeannie, who make up The Kennells.

Both jumped into the field about eight years ago and haven't slowed down yet. Their first record, John Denver's "Leavin' on a Jet Plane", quickly zoomed to top 20 on the country charts.

Their second Ovation single, "Heaven's Just a Sin Away", was a 1977 Grammy award winner and has been followed by two No. 1 records, "It Don't Feel Like Sinner to Me" and "Pittsburg Steelers".

The pair has made appearance on a number of national and syndicated television shows.

All four acts headlining the first two shows announced for the 1981 exposition will be in the fair limelight for the first time.

Slim Whitman, country and western star who has been experiencing a rapid resurgence in popularity for the past two years, has been signed to appear at the 64th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair this year.

Fair general manager Steve L. Lewis said Whitman has been signed for two appearances — 5 p.m. and 8 p.m. — on October 1, which also is senior citizens day.

He will be appearing with Box Car Willie, America's favorite hobo, a native Texan who still resides in Arlington.

It will mark the first appearance on the fair card for both performers, Lewis said. "We feel very fortunate to get them, due to their tremendous popularity now," he added.

Entertainers being booked for six other fair dates will be announced later, Lewis said.

Whitman has been a country and music favorite since 1948. He had his first top 10 hit four years later and has been recording and touring ever since.

In all, he has recorded more than 50 albums, with combined sales of 50 million worldwide. He has garnered 19 gold records, most of them in the United States. His "Rose Marie" held the top spot on the British charts for 11 consecutive weeks, something even the Beatles were unable to achieve in that country. The song also is the all-time best-selling 45-rpm in Australia.

His increased popularity followed the release of a new album on television less than two years ago. The album became an instant hit and has now sold more than two million copies.

The album includes such favorites as "When", "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine", "Where Do I Go From Here?" and "Beautiful Dreamer", as well as "Rose Marie".

He is scheduled to appear on several national television programs this year.

Box Car Willie also has been on the C&W scene for many years and, like Whitman, also has been popular throughout Europe and England.

More than a million of his albums were sold in Britain alone. His last album, "King of the Road", won him a Gold Album award.

The son of a railroad man, Willie cracked the all-time attendance record at Gilley's Club near Houston.

Mail order requests for tickets will be accepted by the fair association at P.O. Box 208, Lubbock, Texas 79408. Requests will be filled in the order in which received and orders will be mailed in early August. Mail order requests must be accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope. All seats are reserved and tickets are $6, $7 and $8.

The fair is scheduled September 26 through October 3.

It's Not Easy

CAROL LEA CLARK

I can't redesign the whole slide to make it safe for my little girl. At least I'd like to make a change in all the playgrounds my daughter is likely to find, but I guess it's possible either.

I watched my daughter, little as she is, stand at the top of the slide I'd let her climb. It looked as if she were from where I was watching. I gauged all the slides in my mind, from any point on the slide. I looked in her eyes. An Olympic champion would have the same look. She was happy, and scared only enough to want to do it again and again. She did.

I counted when she had reached the top and looked down I could see her falling.

I didn't have the slide to test on, she would find some-thing. I understand that look on my daughter's face I saw so many times when she would say, "Be careful" and I would respond "Oh, I can do it."

I understand how she must have felt. After rehearsal, she would leave on to under the slide.

Each year instrumentalists, dreds of musicians. Each summer chosen for where they rehearsal.

After rehearsal, she would leave on to under the slide.
