Council approves rod plant assistance

BY PATRICK CLARK

The Lockney City Council, meeting in special session this week, unanimously passed a resolution showing its interest and pledging cooperation to the developers of a proposed $6 million steel rod plant just outside the city limits.

Under the resolution, the city pledged to install water, gas and sewer lines to the site at no charge to the developers. The cost to the city would be about $7,000.

However, sources report there has been some indication from private citizens that they would be willing to contribute funds for the site development.

In addition Councilman Gail Kring, who is also Lockney Chamber of Commerce president, was authorized to discuss establishing a county-wide industrial development corporation with the Floydada Chamber of Commerce.

If the two chambers reach agreement, they would then approach the county commissioners court and ask it to approve the industrial development corporation.

The corporation could then issue bonds to finance industrial development anywhere in the county.

The developers of the proposed rod plant are Lockney natives, Nelson and Jake Wofford, cousins who live in Lubbock.

The Woffords own a wooden sucker rod plant in Lockney. The wooden rods are used on windmills while the steel sucker rods are used on oil wells.

The two were pleased with the council's actions.

"I'm real impressed at what happened," Nelson Wofford said of the vote. "That shows a real positive attitude and we're in a stronger position because of the vote."

Jake Wofford said the vote, "swayed it a long way," towards locating the plant in Lockney.

The City of Crosbyton also made the two an offer. However, both Woffords said they'd like to locate the plant in their hometown if it could be worked out.

The Woffords have been negotiating for the purchase of 3.6 acres of land just west of the city limits and south of Highway 70.

The Woffords need five acres of land and Kring has been talking to the adjacent property owner about selling. Kring said he believes something can be done with the adjacent property owner when the Woffords are ready to act.

The Woffords said the plant would employ 45-60 people with an annual payroll in excess of half-million-dollars the first year. They'd like to be in production by the first of the year.

The Woffords are presently trying to arrange their operating capital. The two are looking for investors and considering a stock sale.

"There's a lot of resources we haven't tapped yet and a lot of people we haven't talked to yet," Jake Wofford said.

If they go through the industrial bonds, the Woffords said they would need $4 million to $4.5 million. The rest of the $6 million they would provide.

Kring said he planned to talk with officials of the Floydada Chamber today or tomorrow about forming the county-wide industrial development corporation.

Kring said he hoped representatives of the two chambers could go before the county commissioners next week to ask for a resolution creating the corporation.

Kring has been talking to a representative of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) in Lubbock about assisting the city or county in forming the corporation.

Speaking at a meeting of the Lockney Rotary Club last week, Sylvia Clark of SPAG recommended that the city and/or county establish an industrial development commission now, whether or not it is used for the proposed steel rod plant.

Under state law, a group of citizens may ask either the city council or the county commissioners court to establish a local industrial development corporation.

SPAG, Clark said, works with the local group in drafting a charter and by-laws for the corporation.

The group, Clark said, must then pay an attorney to review the by-laws and charter to be sure they are written properly. That cost $200-$300 according to Clark.

The commissioners or the council must then pass a resolution establishing the industrial development corporation. The corporation must have at least three members.

The county commissioners or the council may appoint people who serve on the corporation, but a SPAG spokesman said it is generally better if the commissioners or council accept the group that wishes to form the corporation.

The Texas Industrial Commission in Austin must then approve the local corporation.

Clark said the whole process of establishing the local industrial development corporation, with a little extra

Water was poured this week for educational building at First Baptist Church in Lockney. It's expected to take about four months to complete the project.

Mackenzie water gets FHA financing

Floydada, Lockney, Tulia and Silverton will have water via the Mackenzie Lake project which received approval of $14,731,000 in government loans on Tuesday.

Water Authority Board president Lon Davis, Floydada, made the official announcement Tuesday that Senator John Tower's office had notified him of the Farmers Home Administration loan for $7,363,000 at 5 percent interest for 40 years.

Davis said, "This is the culmination of a project that began in 1962. A project that has gone through three different bond issues with a certain degree of failure. We have met success now and we feel that we are indeed fortunate to have these two agencies underwrite our project."

The Texas Development of Water Resources Board also granted the Mackenzie project $7,368,000 for the purchase of bonds at a rate of 5.6 percent for 30 years.

Mackenzie officials said $11,326,000 will be spent on the transmission phase of the project which will take water from the reservoir to a million gallon tank at Rock Creek.

Neil Taylor, manager of the water project, said $3,405,000 will be spent on the supply phase of project which will take raw water and treat it at the plant with the use of 24 inch pipes that run from Rock Creek to the reservoir for approximately seven miles.

Taylor said engineers have started preliminary planning and design and estimate 30 months until completion. The firm of Freese and Nichols, Fort Worth, will be in charge of the lay-out.

Taylor said, "Freese and Nichols are the best engineers in the state for this type of project. They have done engineering for water projects for some of the biggest cities in Texas."

Davis said the water board will accept bids in March 1982.

The water project has not been easy to obtain. Inflation and rising cost have been critical in moving ahead with the water pipe lines.

Silverton, the closest city to the reservoir, already is out of water. In go."

The four million gallon per day treatment plant is tentatively scheduled for construction at the base of the dam to utilize workers at both facilities.

The Mackenzie reservoir was completed in 1974, but there has not been a tremendous amount of runoff collected since that date.

O.T. Owen Thornton, vice president of the water authority, said, "These loans are our last hope, we have no contingency plan and no other place to Southwestern Public Service Company announced that it has filed registration statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering its proposed offering of $30 million in first mortgage bonds due in 1991, and 120,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock at $100 par value.

Net proceeds from the sale of the new bonds and additional preferred stock will be used to defray the cost of the company's construction program, including the payment of outstanding short-term debt incurred primarily in connection with such programs.

Southwestern Public Service Company, based in Amarillo, Texas, provides electric service for eastern New Mexico, the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

Dillon, Read & Co. Inc. is the managing underwriter of the bond offering but is the sole underwriter of the preferred stock offering.

Carol Lea Clark's It's Not Easy

I'm afraid that any working mother immediately becomes an accidental workaholic. After all, raising a child is, in itself, a full-time job.

So is whatever you do between nine and five that results in a paycheck, unless you are employed as a research subject for a sleep experiment.

And that is saying nothing about any dishwashing, dusting, or cooking that you do on the side.

I certainly never made a conscious decision that I wanted to do what seems like the work of two, or sometimes two-and-a-half people.

I am basically a lazy person. I like to sleep, take naps, and spend endless hours in a hammock reading in the latest issue of People magazine how other people make a living by working.

Unfortunately for my lazy streak, somewhere in my growing up days between playing with my Barbie and Ken dolls and reading Seventeen magazine, I discovered a typewriter.

I actually liked putting words in a row on a line of paper. One thing led to another.

I also like eating fettucini instead of macaroni and cheese. Also unfortunately for my lazy streak, having two incomes helps pay for the difference.

I'm sure that my husband never expected to be in charge of the dish detail or to have to fold his own socks.

And of course, I can't imagine a world without the pint sized perpetual motion machine that is my daughter.

So, I wouldn't really change anything, but sometimes it just gets a little confusing trying to squeeze everything into the day.

Who's going to read Donald Duck Goes To Hollywood, and who's going to remember to put the roast in the crock pot, and who's not too tired to wash dishes?

The only person who doesn't seem confused by our trial and error division of labor is my daughter. Mommy is Mommy and Daddy is Daddy, no matter who is doing the dishes tonight.

But then, she, too, is probably the only one in the family who wouldn't like to apply for an extended vacation as a subject in that sleep research experiment.

School board hires new coach

Lockney Board of Education has hired Mike Leiby as the new coach of the school boys varsity basketball team.

But, Hallmark said that with the shortage of secondary teachers statewide, they may be forced to have a teacher with a specialty in one field, such as English, get an emergency certificate in order to teach math.

The board also hired Margie Savage, who has worked in the school tax office, as a junior high math aide, and Dovie Davis of Lockney, as a junior high reading aide.

Hired as migrant aides were: Maria Arellano, junior high; Elida Leal, fifth grade; Linda Kidd, fourth grade; Bertha Martinez, third grade; Jose Peralez, second grade; Patricia Vela, first grade; and Millie Delcon, records.

Resignations accepted in addition to Leiby's, were: —Alma Ramsey, assistant coach and science teacher who is going to Slaton. —Sally Fowler, advance high school

School board begins 1981-82 budget work

The Lockney Board of Education began holding committee sessions this week to work out a new budget for the 1981-82 school year.

The proposed budget for the coming school year, as it stands now, totals $1,488,163, an increase of 3.95 percent or $56,000 over the budget of $1,431,573 for the last school year.

School Superintendent W.H. Hallmark said most of the budget hike is due to the increases in school salaries approved by the Texas Legislature.

Those increases, covering a two year period, include:

- 26.6 percent for teachers.
- 24.3 for principals and counselors.
- 24.3 for aides.
- 22.1 percent for the superintendent.

effort, could be completed within a month or less.

The corporation can then work with existing local companies or new businesses on expansion or new industry.

Only manufacturers may receive financing through industrial revenue bonds. Retail businesses cannot participate in the program.

Once the local corporation and a business workout a financing plan, the corporation then approaches a financial institution about buying the bonds. There is a limit of $10 million on industrial bond financing in Texas at the present time.

If the financial institution agrees to buy the bonds and provide the financing for the business, it charges the business interest at a rate now of between 10-and-13-percent, significantly lower than the present prime lending rate which is currently in the area of 20-percent.

The financial institution can offer the lower interest rate because the interest payments it receives from the business for the bond money is tax free.

Once the financial institution agrees to buy the bonds and provide the money to the business, the transaction is entirely between the institution and the business.

Neither the local industrial development corporation, the county nor the municipality have any liability for the debt if the business should fail.

The Texas Industrial Commission has final approval on all industrial bond transactions.

At present, the city and county of Lubbock, Plainview, Hale County and Brownfield already have industrial development commissions established.

A number of surrounding cities and counties are currently going through the process of establishing industrial development commissions.

Lockney TABS results disclosed

Lockney students in grades 3, 5, and 9 joined approximately 700,000 other students in taking the Texas Assessment of Basic Skills (TABS) recently.

The results were presented to the school board at their July meeting and board members were pleased with the results as improvement was noted in several areas of instruction.

The TABS tests measure minimum competencies in reading, writing, and mathematics. Grades 5 and 9 took the test for the second time this year while this was the first year for Grade 3 to take the test.

Third graders performed well on the exam, averaging 88 percent mastery in the three target areas, with math being the highest per cent of mastery with students scoring 92 per cent mastery in that subject. Mastery of an area refers to the number of students who mastered the concepts tested.

Fifth grade students who took the test surpassed last year's scores in all three areas. Math scores jumped from 68 per cent mastery to 93 per cent mastery and slight improvements in reading and writing were seen.

Ninth grade students scored a surprising 94 per cent mastery on the writing exam faring 34 per cent better than last year's results.

Scores in reading and mathematics were slightly lower than previous scores falling from 82 to 78 in math and from 72 to 67 in reading.

The ninth grade tests were designed to assess minimum skills which the Texas Education Agency has deemed appropriate for a high school graduate.

Students who did not master the tests at the exit level (9th grade) will be given an opportunity to retake the tests until they are able to master the skills.

The students in Grade 10 who took the test last year and did not master specific tests were given the tests again this year.

Of the students who retook the tests, approximately 38% of the students were able to master the tests on their second effort.

The greatest gain was seen in the area of writing on the retest as 65% of these students mastered writing skills. A developmental reading course has been added to the high school curriculum to aid the students who were unable to master basic reading competencies at the high school level.

Reading classes were instituted in Lockney Junior High for all students to help improve reading scores.

Superintendent W.H. Hallmark said that the TABS results will be studied in depth during in-service days during the coming school year to pinpoint strong and weak areas of instruction which is the purpose of the tests.

By studying these scores, curriculum changes and programs can be implemented to bring about necessary improvement in critical areas. The TABS test scores will also be studied in relationship to the 5-year goals of the school system which were set out in the five-year priorities plan which is required by the Texas Education Agency.

Results of individual students' scores were released to the students and their parents in May before the end of school.

Kara Carthel drive continues

Funds are still being accepted at First National Bank in Lockney for Kara Carthel.

Kara was chosen to perform in an overseas tour with the Continental Singers, a non-denominational religious musical organization in California. Kara is playing the trombone with the group.

Funding for each student is paid half by the student and half by the organization.

A total of $2,500 is needed and a spokesman for First National Bank said this week that the fund drive is still several hundred dollars short.

DPS warns about car glass

A few motorists may be confused over the use of glass coatings and one-way glass in motor vehicles.

However, the Texas Department of Public Safety reports that drivers should be aware of the law and exercise caution prior to altering the window glass of a motor vehicle.

Captain John Mason of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the DPS in the regional headquarters for this area advised motorists not to put anything on the windshield or front side windows.

"No coatings, plastic, liquid or other materials may be put on the windshield or front side windows of any motor vehicle that has not been approved by the DPS," said Mason.

However, the DPS spokesman says glass coating materials may be applied to the rear window and the rear side windows if the vehicle has outside rearview mirrors.

Spanish Baptists hold school

The Primera Iglesia Bautista, at S.W. 3rd and Shurbert, held its Vacation Bible school July 6 through July 10.

From a first day enrollment of 66 the number of students grew to 133 by the last session.

The director for this year was the Rev. Glenn Smith; Secretary Sally Reyes; and deputy Joe Mendoza.

Mason says no motor vehicle glass coatings are currently approved by the DPS for application on windshield or front side windows.

"Under state law, the DPS has the authority to approve, but due to the variations of the materials and the numerous methods in which they are applied, we simply cannot approve any of the coatings," he said. "Frequently we find these coatings to be dangerous since they often obstruct the driver's vision," he said.

Captain Mason said the glass coating materials are sometimes spray-on tint, metallized mylar plastic or other kinds of applicable materials.

"The use of curtains, blinds or stick-on novelty designs are not prohibited on rear windows, but common sense should be considered when applying these devices to a vehicle," he said.

Teachers and their assistants were: Virginia Del Toro - Francisca Reyes, Gloria Garza, Rosa Garza - Prisca Mendoza, Ester Smith - Patricia Blanco, Sylvia Smith - Glenn Smith, Alicia Smith - Margarita Chavirra, Joe Castillo - Rinaldo Chavirra.

In care of refreshments were: Juanita Smith, Andrea Fierro, Maria Martinez and Cruz Bautista.

"Of Course You Can" canning workshop slated

BY MARILYN TATE
In recent cost comparisons I made on home canning versus buying commercially canned products, I found that even if you have to purchase fresh produce to preserve yourself, you can still can for about half the money it would cost to buy the same food commercially canned! If you have your own garden, you can can for about one-third of the grocery-store price!

If you would like to take advantage of this tempting flavor of home-canned foods, but don't know how to can, call the Extension Office now - 983-2806 - and register for the "Of Course You Can" workshop coming up on July 30. I will be teaching basic canning principles for beginning canners and canners who need to update their skills and gain confidence in canning procedures. Enrollment in the workshop will be limited and a registration fee of $1.50 will be charged to cover the expense materials used. This program is being sponsored by the Floyd County Family Living Committee and is open to everyone, regardless of age, socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin. Call today and register.

GAS WATER HEATER + VACATION = DANGER

Have a gas water heater? Taking a vacation? Take a "hydrogen precaution" when you get home. It's especially important if you've been gone two weeks or more.

Hydrogen Precaution

Simply turn on all your hot water faucets and let the water flow from each for two minutes BEFORE using your dishwasher or clothes washer and DO NOT SMOKE during those two minutes. This "hydrogen precaution" is necessary to avoid a possible explosion from the hydrogen buildup that might have accumulated while you were gone. In addition, it's wise to follow this precaution if you are moving into a residence in which the hot-water system may not have been used for two weeks or more.

In homes with a gas water heater, the hot water system normally and regularly produces small amounts of hydrogen gas as a result of the chemical reaction of water with the corrosive-protection device inside the water heater. This gas escapes continually and safely as the water faucets in the home are used. However, when hot water is not used for an extended period of time, the highly flammable hydrogen gas can build up.

If the time period is long enough, the buildup of gas can be sufficient to possibly cause an explosion when exposed to a spark or flame including a lighted cigarette or a spark from the electric components of dishwashers or clothes washers. Explosions rarely occur, because it takes a considerable period of non-use to accumulate enough hydrogen gas to present a hazard. But it's wise to follow the simple prevention precaution - the "hydrogen precaution" - described above, even if the water system is unused for a short time. It will release any accumulated hydrogen gas.

Royal wedding souvenirs

The marriage of Prince Charles to Lady Diana Spencer on July 29th promises to be the most glittering and memorable wedding of the century. Heads of state and dignitaries from all parts of the world will attend the historic Royal Wedding, while the entire British nation and people around the globe watch the colorful ceremony on television.

In America, millions of well-wishers will join the celebration - and look for appropriate mementos to mark this extraordinary event and pass on to their grandchildren. Collectors and souvenir hunters are already being inundated by a blizzard of mass-produced instant memorabilia, ranging from jigsaw puzzles to cigarette lighters.

Official souvenirs with real potential to become valuable collectors' items are the special Royal Wedding postage stamps to be issued by the British Post Office and more than 20 members of the British Commonwealth to commemorate this historic occasion. Included in the omnibus series are such far-flung countries as Fiji, Mauritius, Swaziland, St. Helena, Vanuatu, and Western Samoa.

Worldwide demand for previous Royal Wedding commemoratives (at right) has made these stamps extremely scarce soon after they were issued. Those to be released July 22 for Prince Charles and Lady Diana are of particular philatelic significance because they will be the first Royal Wedding issue for a potential future King and Queen of England.

As a token of goodwill, a limited quantity of the official postcards of the Royal Wedding stamp shown above is now available at no charge in North America from the U.S. representatives of the British Post Office. A special limited-edition souvenir album, containing the British stamps for Prince Charles and Lady Diana as well as a colorful photographic history of previous Royal Weddings, will also be available for $12.95.

For a free Royal Wedding postcard and/or to order the souvenir album, write: Royal Wedding, StanGib Limited, 1325 Franklin Avenue, Garden City, New York 11530.

older couples celebrating anniversaries, giving hope that the newlyweds on the opposite page might actually make it in spite of the odds.

Even Ann Landers and Dear Abby sometimes carry letters from people who are not having any problems and just wanted us to know that kind of critter exists.

It obviously unrealistic to think we can ever hope to shield ourselves from the ugliness that faces us in the world, but we do not have to dwell on it.

Such a personage as Paul, who had been involved in just about every kind of earthly ugliness had a solution. For himself he declared that his sufferings were not worth comparing to the glory he knew as a member of God's kingdom.

To one of the churches, he sent the advice to center the mind on those things which were good, and true, and lovely.

Escapist?

Perhaps, but it is better than going around looking like we have sucking green persimmons.

I think I'll go have a look at the flowers in my garden.

We know very little about ozone, a gaseous ingredient of smog. Yet ozone plays an important role in the Environmental Protection Agency's efforts to control smog in communities across our nation.

Smog is made up of oxidants or gases resulting from the exposure to sunlight of hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxides. They are emitted by everything from cars and refineries to decaying trees.

When the Clean Air Act was written in 1970, Congress authorized the EPA to devise regulations seeking to control smog. The EPA then focused on the strategy of limiting the amount of hydrocarbons which are released into the air. However, EPA measures the amount of smog in the air by measuring the ozone, since it is a major element of smog.

There is the rub.

In Los Angeles, in 1970, the theory seemed to work fine. Reducing the hydrocarbons resulted in reduced ozone levels.

But for a number of Texas cities ranging from El Paso to Dallas to Corpus Christi, the situation has been far different.

In Houston, for example, hydrocarbon emissions were cut by 40 percent between 1974-78. But when the ozone in the air is sampled it is found that it has not been reduced accordingly.

The disparity between measurements of hydrocarbon emissions and measurements of ozone levels in the air is only one of many problems with current federal strategies for dealing with air pollution.

As second-ranking Democrat on the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, I'm working on revisions to the Clean Air Act, which is due for reauthorization this year.

As now written, the Clean Air Act seeks attainment of an unattainable standard. As a result, a number of Texas cities may never be able to consistently meet oxidant standards under the law.

Houston, for example, currently meets the oxidant standard more than 98 percent of the time. The law, however, requires that it be met over 99.9 percent of the time.

The strategy — to reduce oxidants in the air by reducing hydrocarbon emissions into the air — has failed to produce the ozone reductions we were told it would. Yet, the Clean Air Act compels the state of Texas to continue down this path.

We have reached a critical point in development of this act. We must deal with the issue realistically. We must recognize that — for some areas and for some pollutants — attainment of air quality standards will be a goal and not a reality in the foreseeable future.

We must reflect these realities in the act or suffer the consequences. If we seek the unachievable and disregard the realities, we destroy our credibility.

This is not to say that we should not be moving toward the lowest reasonably achievable levels of pollution. We must do that, but there must be a balance between what we desire and what we can do.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR FOR TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Congress historically has had trouble controlling the overall size of the budget as it appropriates money for various government functions — despite a congressional budget process designed to do that very thing.

This year, through a device called "reconciliation," we are putting teeth into the process, so that the remarkable achievement of cutting the budget by over $36 billion from the federal budget is not undone in bits and pieces.

Let me illustrate what I am trying to say by taking a step-by-step look at the process. The Senate Armed Services Committee, for instance, looks at the needs of the U.S. military, weighs priorities and available resources and recommends a bill "authorizing" the Department of Defense to buy items ranging from jeep parts to missile systems.

When the Senate and the House agree on this procurement bill, the action moves to the Appropriations Committee, which considers how much money actually to spend on defense in the next fiscal year. That bill also must be acted on by both houses of Congress. And for most of the nation's first 200 years, that was the end of the process.

But in 1974, the Congress enacted legislation to force itself to look at the budget as a whole. Under this process, two "concurrent budget resolutions" passed during the year outline an overall budget ceiling and ceilings for each of the government's major departments.

The first such resolution is passed in the spring. Each of the authorizing committees, such as the Armed Services Committee, estimates the total amount that should be spent in its area during the coming fiscal year. The Budget Committee takes all of these recommendations and weighs priorities among them to derive the total figure. This resolution must be agreed upon by both houses of Congress, but the first resolution is not binding upon the committees or the full Senate or House as they go about the traditional authorization and appropriations process.

In the fall, after the bulk of the appropriations are well underway, the Congress considers its second resolution of the year. The practice in past years has been simply to juggle the figures in the second resolution to fit what has already been done by the authorization and appropriations process. The second resolution is binding in the sense that special action is required to override it and spend more money in any area. However, exceptions have been almost routine.

The only vehicle to make the cuts absolutely certain is the reconciliation process. This is a legally binding piece of legislation ordering the committees, and the Congress, to scale back authorizations and appropriations to the agreed-upon ceilings. It has never been used effectively.

Reconciliation originally was envisioned as being a companion to the second budget resolution. But it is easy to see the havoc that could be induced by letting things drift along in a business-as-usual manner, and then trying to enforce reconciliation after all of the work has been largely completed.

For that reason, the reconciliation legislation this year is being acted upon in the wake of the first budget resolution — to protect the budget cuts already fully debated and approved by Congress.

A Conference Committee, made up of members of both House and Senate, has begun work ironing out differences in the legislation produced by these two bodies. I am confident a figure will emerge which will begin the process of bringing the federal budget back under control.

Savage's My Savage World

I searched and searched for a sign. I couldn't find one that said, "No Salesmen." I couldn't find one that said, "No Solicitors." All I could find was one that said "For Rent." But he wouldn't let me put that up either.

Finally, after month of searching and hundreds of salesmen later, I found a sign that said, "No Peddlers." Just the right words on a black background with golden letter. It added a touch of elegance to our door.

When customers came in, they vowed that they were not peddlers. So my boss got to asking if they "piddlers." That led to quite a few laughs.

My boss thought he was quite clever for having thought up such a good joke.

He took his knife and scraped the golden arms from the "E" making it an "L." So the sign really says, "No Piddlers." But what it really means is, "Piddlers Welcome."

So if you're in the neighborhood and have some spare time, come on in.

Jack loves to tell Piddlers about death and taxes. (I threw the part about death in, because if you're a salesman, it will be death if you come in.)

On the other hand, Jack may need a good life insurance policy if he doesn't quit messing with my signs.

Whaley's Capitol Comments

the last and, if my prediction is correct, this is where the big fight will start.

Numerous bills have been introduced that will speak to this big mistake. Peveto now has a new 128-page bill introduced to overhaul what was done in 1979. If nothing is added to the call, the session should be near the end of its work by July 24.

Other less controversial issues could be added: providing additional funding for the Veteran's Land Board, a gasoline bill exempting state gasoline tax, and funding of building needs of colleges and universities. The latter could be tied to the Constitutional Amendment that rescinds State Ad Valorem Tax.

The attempt to take over Conoco Oil Company by a Canadian Oil Company has upset some of the U.S. companies. Restrictions on U.S. business in Canada has irked U.S. businessmen.

Some of the oil company and real estate interests have been largely responsible for killing bills in committee in the Texas State Government that placed restrictions on the ownership of agricultural land by aliens. Maybe the agricultural interest can now get the attention of the oil interest on this issue.

While bringing groceries home from the container of liquid bleach overturned and the carpet in our barely one year old car. Are we covered under our automobile insurance this peculiar type of damage?

It depends. If you carry Physical Damage coverage your automobile policy there is a possibility that would be covered. However, if the coverage Perils, this type of damage would not be covered. "named perils" and therefore would not be covered. However, if your automobile insurance is like mine and includes Comprehensive coverage, the damage carpeting would be covered, less any applicable deductible.

Wright wins tournament

BY TOMMY BAXTER
Once again Doug Wright has collected a first place in the Floydada Open tennis tournament, but this year the Vernon lad had to share a bit of the spotlight with David Galvan of Floydada. In this year's tournament, Wright picked up his second consecutive men's singles crown which gives him a championship in every year he has been old enough to carry a tennis racquet up the Cap.

Wright began winning his titles over five years ago in the junior high division and kept it up in the high school division before turning his attention to the open events.

Galvan put on something of a show himself with three first places in the high school division and another in the open. In all, the Floydada boy entered five events and picked up four firsts and a second.

Galvan captured first in the high school boys singles by defeating Cletus Irlbeck of Abernathy, 6-2, 6-1 on Thursday. He also teamed with Sammy Rodriguez to down Irlbeck and Vincent Kingsley of Vernon for the high school boys doubles title.

Christi Norrell of Floydada joined Galvan for the high school mixed title when they defeated Jill Duncan and Kingsley in the finals.

Esméralda Gonzalez, also of Floydada, was another double winner when she teamed with Stacy Graham for the high school girls doubles crown. They downed Cindy Bunt of Wichita Falls and Duncan, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4 in the finals.

Miss Gonzalez came back on Saturday to take first prize in the women's singles bracket by defeating Lisa Herrington of Quitaque.

Galvan kept his winning streak alive in the open division when he teamed with Bunt to take the open mixed doubles crown and finished second in men's doubles with Rodriguez. They fell to Wright and Todd Thomas of Abilene in the finals.

Duncan came up a winner twice, winning the high school girls singles and joining Bunt for the women's doubles crown by defeating Eleanor and Susan Hendrix of Floydada in the finals.

In the junior high division, Scott Neeley of Plainview won the boys singles by downing Floydada's Scott Smith in the finals. Neeley then joined Smith to take the doubles crown by defeating Roger Allred and Bill Staples of Floydada in the finals.

Virginia Rector of Lubbock won the junior high girls singles after stopping Julie McDonald of Lubbock in the finals. Rector and McDonald also captured the girls doubles by defeating Angie Abell and Misty Lambert of Ralls in the finals.

Proclamation

By the County Judge of Floyd County

all of whom these presents shall be known as the winners of the 1981 County of Floyd County, do hereby declare the week of July 25-31, 1981 as Farm and Ranch Safety Week in Floyd County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, work, play, travel (traffic) and home accidents involving Texas farm and ranch residents accounted for over 330 fatalities, thousands of painful and disabling injuries costing millions of dollars in 1980; and

WHEREAS, the President has proclaimed National Farm Safety Week and the Governor has proclaimed the same period as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety week; and

WHEREAS, during this week, a statewide farm accident prevention education campaign is being undertaken by the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and 4-H clubs, Texas Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, and the Young Farmers and Young Homemakers of Texas and the Floyd County Farm Bureau with the theme, "ENJOY LIFE SAFELY"; and

WHEREAS, the latest National Safety Council Preliminary Accident Survey for 1980 indicates a 1% increase in fatal and non-fatal accidents, (an increase from 103,000 to 106,000 fatal injuries and costing $83.5 billion). The latest Agricultural data being 1979, more than 4,200 farm and ranch residents died and 380,000 were disabled in farm, home, public, and highway accidents with 1,900 (less than half) being work related. Of these, 1,150 fatal and 115,000 injury accidents were farm and ranch residents. The total cost of Agricultural accidents to farm and ranch people in 1979, exceeded $5 billion; and

WHEREAS, the 1980 Texas Farm Bureau Accidental Death Program records show that 330 death claims were paid in 133 different counties. Floyd County recorded one death claim under the Program. Traffic related incidents caused the most claims statewide, with 212 (Auto/Truck-182, Motorcycles, Minibikes and Go-carts-20, Bicycles/Big wheels-2, and Pedestrians-8) other ranking causes of death were firearms, falls, drownings, aircraft crashes, tractors, machinery, fires & burns, choked/strangled, electrocutions, animal accidents and snake bites.

THEREFORE, I urge all farm and ranch families and those who serve agricultural producers to: read safety features in magazines and newspapers, observe product labels and operator manuals, be informed on what to do in emergencies occur such as severe weather, fire, poisonings, bleeding, drownings, etc. by having taken Basic First Aid, and CPR courses. Other preventative life saving courses available are the Defensive Driving and Home and Hunter firearm safety, thus, being more fully prepared to "ENJOY LIFE SAFELY."

Proclamation

By the County Judge of Floyd County

To all of whom these presents shall come:

I, Choise Smith, County Judge of Floyd County, do hereby declare the week of July 25-31, 1981 as Farm and Ranch Safety Week in Floyd County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, work, play, travel (traffic) and home accidents involving Texas farm and ranch residents accounted for over 330 fatalities, thousands of painful and disabling injuries costing millions of dollars in 1980; and

WHEREAS, the President has proclaimed National Farm Safety Week and the Governor has proclaimed the same as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week; and

WHEREAS, during this week, a nationwide farm accident prevention education campaign is being undertaken by the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and 4-H Clubs, Texas Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, and the Young Farmers and Young Homemakers of Texas and the Floyd County Farm Bureau with the theme, "ENJOY LIFE SAFELY"; and

WHEREAS, the latest National Safety Council Preliminary Accident Survey for 1980 indicates a 1% increase in fatal and non-fatal accidents, (an increase from 103,000 to 106,000 fatal injuries and costing $83.5 billion). The latest Agricultural data being 1979, more than 4,200 farm and ranch residents died and 380,000 were disabled in farm, home, public, and highway accidents with 1,900 (less than half) being work related. Of these, 1,150 fatal and 115,000 injury accidents were farm and ranch residents. The total cost of Agricultural accidents to farm and ranch people in 1979, exceeded $5 billion, and

WHEREAS, the 1980 Texas Farm Bureau Accidental Death Program records show that 330 death claims were paid in 133 different counties. Floyd County recorded one death claim under the Program. Traffic related incidents caused the most claims statewide, with 712 - (Auto/Truck-182, Motorcycles, Minibikes and Go-carts-20, Bicycles/Big wheels-2, and Pedestrians-8) other ranking causes of death were firearms, falls, drownings, aircraft crashes, tractors, machinery, fires & burns, choked/strangled, electrocutions, animal accidents and snake bites.

THEREFORE, I urge all farm and ranch families and those who serve agricultural producers to: read safety features in magazines and newspapers, observe product labels and operator manuals, be informed on what to do when emergencies occur such as severe weather, fire, poisonings, bleeding, drownings, etc. by having taken Basic First Aid, and CPR courses. Other preventative life saving courses available are the Defensive Driving and Home and Hunter firearm safety, thus, being more fully prepared to "ENJOY LIFE SAFELY."

Signed Choise Smith

Farm Safety Week

County Judge Choise Smith has proclaimed July 25-31, 1981 as Farm and Ranch SAFETY WEEK in Floyd County, at the request of Delmas McCormick, Floyd County Farm Bureau President.

This marks the 38th Annual National Farm Safety Week, co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The theme for the 1981 observation of Farm Safety Week is "Enjoy Life-Safely."

In his proclamation, Judge Smith said "accidents involving farm and ranch residents, employees and guests at work, in the home, at play and on the highways accounted for more than 330 Texas fatalities and more than 3300 disabling injuries, costing millions of dollars in 1980. Time, Planning, and Educational efforts using engineering ingenuity could help prevent much pain, expense and even death. National Safety Council accident surveys indicate that nearly half the accidents were traffic related, with home accidents, recreational accidents and work related accidents following. With 106,000 fatal accidents in the United States in 1980, and with agriculture accounting for more than 4,200, we need to endeavor stronger to "Enjoy Life-Safely."

In concluding his proclamation, the Judge urged all Agricultural producers, their families, employees, and guests to read, take training courses to prepare for a safer life or to administer to those who become involved in an accident. Therefore, we are more fully prepared to "Enjoy Life-Safely."

Satellite television reception, utilizing a privately owned antenna and reception equipment is very much on the horizon, as we've mentioned, to bring entertainment, information and a new business tool to the farmer and rancher. And, although it's not one of the 90-odd channels you might receive with your own set-up, the U.S.D.A. is benefiting from satellite technology in faster and more accurate information on crop conditions, particularly in Russia, through Landsat and soon through NOAA-6, a meteorological satellite. A constant and accurate eye on Russian weather conditions and crops is a valuable tool in light of reconvened U.S.A. - U.S.S.R. talks on grain sales. And how does the Russian wheat crop look? Good, according to the satellite - about 34 million hectares, down about 3 million from 1980, with an almost ideal winter and almost no snow cover.

your farm depends on you... FARM SAFELY

Safety awareness should be a way of life for farmers . . . and not just on the farm. Your rural community offers many potentially dangerous areas where accidents can happen. When out boating, picnicing or just admiring your beautiful landscapes, be alerted to the fact that careless accidents aren't restricted to the farm. Be safety conscious both on and off the farm . . . during work and recreation. Enjoy life, but do it safely!

SPS plans interconnect

A major, joint electric utility interconnection in New Mexico, linking the Southwest and the Western electrical grid, moved closer to reality with the signing of a formal letter of intent by Southwestern Public Service Company, Texas-New Mexico Power Company and El Paso Electric Company.

Further action awaits completion of engineering studies and is subject to approval of the board of directors of each company and of all regulatory bodies having jurisdiction.

Some 150,000-to-200,000 kilowatts of electrical energy would be provided by Southwestern Public Service Company and fed into a new transmission line, tying the three New Mexico systems together.

Spokesmen for the three involved utilities have announced that their service territories would benefit substantially from the interconnection in two important respects: 1) electric power could be imported for their respective systems as necessary, and 2) surplus or off-peak electricity can be exported for re-sale in the Western grid, outside their systems. Such export sales could prove significant, because the Western grid primarily generates its power using fuel oil, as opposed to the less-expensive coal which fires Southwestern's new generating stations.

The three companies have allocated engineering funds for the project, but a specific work timetable has not yet been finalized.

Southwestern Public Service Company serves eastern New Mexico, the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas. Texas-New Mexico Power Company serves the southwestern quarter of New Mexico and 77 cities in Texas. El Paso Electric Company provides service for customers in south central New Mexico and West Texas.

Care Center News

BY VICKIE HUTTON

Thursday, was like Christmas with the arrival of our new equipment. We received new beds, new wheelchairs, water mattresses, air mattresses, wheelchair pads, shower chairs, and potty chairs.

This new equipment will be a tremendous help to the residents and make the nurses and aides job a lot easier.

Thanks goes to Deputy Olan Poteet for bringing us three movies to view. "Life in a Tropical Rainforest," "Venice," "Morris the Long Eared Moose."

Those movies brought much enjoyment.

Wednesday we held a very successful bake sale. The proceeds will be put in the resident's activity fund. Thanks goes to all the staff who made and donated the baked goods and to everyone who bought the baked items. All the goodies had to be guarded closely or we would have had some volunteer samplers.

After our bus trip to the Providence

Community we enjoyed a juicy watermelon. While enjoying the watermelon, Mr. Charles Starkey of Flomot sent us some more of his delicious peaches. Thank you Mr. Starkey.

Our lucky bingo winners this week were Lee Whitley and Albert Poole. We had a new bingo caller and helper this week. Maria Arellano and Tammy Adams. Our thanks goes to them and to our regular caller DeLinda Glasson. DeLinda was unable to be with us Friday because she and her family went to Six Flags on vacation. We wish them a safe and happy trip and hope she will be back with us soon.

Our second new air conditioning system was installed Friday. A big thanks goes to the residents for bearing with us while the new system was installed.

The only comment we had came from Mrs. Myrtle Payne. "I'm as hot as a firecracker lit on both ends!" Now that is hot!!

IRON DEFICIENCY IN PLANTS:
 Chlorophyll, vines, flowers, and other parts of the plant are prepared by the chemical per gallon of solution. Thus, if you find that you need 25 pounds of ferrous sulfate, the procedure is explained in the section on soil treatment.

ence of a circle is about 3 times as great as its diameter.)
 • Dig each hole deep enough to hold a gallon of liquid.
 • Pour 1 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution (½ gallon if treatment is made during the growing season) in each hole) let it soak away.
 • Fill each hole with water once or twice; let it soak away.
 • Refill the holes with soil.
 The summer after treating the soil, watch for symptoms of chlorosis. If chlorosis persists, take these additional steps:
 • Spray the foliage once or twice to gain temporary improvement.
 • Repeat the soil treatment when the trees are again dormant.
 Treatment holes around tall, slender trees should be 2 instead of 3 feet apart. Apply 1 gallon of solution per hole as for other trees.
 To treat small trees, apply the solution in 6-inch-deep trenches around the peripheries of the trees, but dig the trenches no closer than 1 foot from the base of the tree.

sulfate in water at the rate of 1 pound of the chemical to 25 gallons of water. (A stronger solution could burn the grass.) Apply at the rate of 12½ gallons of solution to 100 square feet of lawn.
Second Method. — Spread dry ferrous sulfate on the grass when the grass is dry; spread it evenly by hand or with a fertilizer spreader. Apply at the rate ½ pound of the chemical to 100 square feet of lawn. Give the lawn a good watering immediately after the application; this is necessary to keep the chemical from browning the grass.

Trees
 To determine the soil in which a tree is growing, determine how much water it will need. A convenient way to do this is to measure the soil in the periphery of the tree at the time the tree is dormant. You will need 25 gallons of ferrous sulfate solution for each foot of the diameter of the tree. For example, if the diameter of the tree is 6 feet, you will need 150 gallons of ferrous sulfate solution. The necessary amount of ferrous sulfate and preparing the solution are explained as follows:
 Dig a trench around the periphery at about 3 feet. (NOTE: The intervals - and hence the holes - will be about the same as the diameter of the tree, because the circumference of a circle is about 3 times as great as its diameter.)

Shrubs and Vines
 Dig a trench 4 to 6 inches deep around each shrub or vine, or dig four holes 6 to 8 inches deep.
 In digging a trench, follow the periphery, or drip line, of the plant, but keep the trench at least 1 foot from the base of the plant.
 In digging holes, place them at equal intervals around the periphery, but at least 1 foot from the base of the plant.
 The amount of ferrous sulfate needed by a shrub or vine ranges from 2 to 5 gallons. The amount needed by a particular plant depends on the size of the plant.
 Pour the solution in the trench or holes. After it has soaked away, refill the holes or trench with soil.

IRON DEFICIENCY IN PLANTS: TREATING FOLIAGE
 Quick but short-lived results are obtained by spraying ferrous sulfate solution on the foliage of plants affected with iron chlorosis. The amount required is much smaller than that required for application to the soil. However, if chlorosis is severe, frequent applications to foliage are required to keep plants green and healthy.

Preparing Spray
 To prepare 50 gallons of spray:
 • Dissolve 2 pounds of ferrous sulfate in 50 gallons of water. (A stronger solution would burn some plant varieties.)
 • Add 2 cups of a mild household detergent. (The detergent acts as a wetting agent and increases the effectiveness of the spray.)
 To prepare 3 gallons of spray, dissolve 2 ounces of ferrous sulfate in 3 gallons of water and add 2 tablespoons of detergent.

Applying Spray
 Spray treatments can begin any time during the growing season but are most effective when started early in the season.
 Thoroughly wet the foliage of the plants with spray. If you spray large trees, you will need a good power sprayer. A compressed-air sprayer is recommended for treating other plants.
 Several treatments are necessary during a season. Spray at 2- to 4-week intervals until symptoms disappear; then spray whenever symptoms reappear.
 If spray solution gets on flowers, it may stain and ruin them. To prevent this, direct the spray away from flowers, or spray when plants are not in bloom.

Early Spraying of Annual Plants
 It is not necessary to wait until symptoms of iron chlorosis appear before spraying annual plants with ferrous sulfate solution.
 If you know that annual plants of a particular species, planted in a particular area or plot, are likely to develop chlorosis, spray them within 10 days after they emerge from the soil. If chlorosis develops, spray chlorotic areas again; repeat in 2 weeks if necessary. This procedure prevents stunting of plants, and it prevents reductions in yield that would result from iron deficiency.

Flowers and Vegetables
 To treat the soil in which large flowers (annual and perennial) and vegetables are growing singly, dig a trench 2 to 3 inches deep around each plant; keep it at least 1 foot from the base of the plant. Pour 1 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution in the trench. After it has soaked away, fill the trench with water once or twice, and let it soak away. Refill the trench with soil.
 To treat the soil in which flowers (annual and perennial) and vegetables are growing in rows, dig trenches 2 to 3 inches deep on both sides of each row and about 6 inches from the base of the plants. Pour ferrous sulfate solution in the trenches at the rate of 1 gallon per 10 feet of row-½ gallon on each side of the row. The rest of the treatment is the same as for plants growing singly.
 If either of these treatments is not fully effective, repeat in 2 weeks.

Lawns
 Choose between (1) applying ferrous sulfate in solution and (2) applying it in dry form, then watering it in.
First Method. — Dissolve ferrous sulfate in water at the rate of 1 pound of the chemical to 25 gallons of water. (A stronger solution could burn the grass.) Apply at the rate of 12½ gallons of solution to 100 square feet of lawn.
Second Method. — Spread dry ferrous sulfate on the grass when the grass is dry; spread it evenly by hand or with a fertilizer spreader. Apply at the rate ½ pound of the chemical to 100 square feet of lawn. Give the lawn a good watering immediately after the application; this is necessary to keep the chemical from browning the grass.

CONTROL WHITE GRUBS IN LAWN
 White grub worms that hatch from eggs laid by May or June beetles will soon be feeding on roots of Bermuda grass and St. Augustine grass in home lawns. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken. Treatment time varies with the particular area of the state and ranges from early July in South Texas to mid-August in the Panhandle. Homeowners in Floyd County will need to treat between late July - mid-August. Timing of application is critical for adequate control.
 White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of 4 inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod.
 Diazinon provides adequate control and should be used at recommended rates given on the chemical container label. The granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than liquid or spray formulations. After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or water hose to knock them down to the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules into the soil.

 Apply diazinon sprays at the rate of 25 gallons of water, including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to wash the insecticide into the soil. Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps. Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry.
 The key to white grub control in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where grubs are feeding.

The Amarillo College Division of Industrial Education, formerly the School of Vocational Arts, located on the West Campus, 6222 West 9th Street, has added some new innovations for fall. This will be the first term on semester hours changing from the quarter system and students now have more options in the various programs.

The newest option is the four day school week either day or evening classes. This will provide the students more time to hold down a job while attending school. Students will also be able to complete the requirements for an Associate Degree now with evening classes in 21 months which previously took four years to do. The five day school week is still available or students can also go part-time day or evening at their own rate. Another example of the AC Motto, "the student comes first". Also for the first time the Industrial Education Programs will have advance registration through August 12th with all fees and tuition having to be paid by August 17th. This will allow students to register for day or evening classes of their choice and assure they will have this schedule without waiting until regular registration. The Industrial Education Programs include air conditioning and refrigeration, automotive mechanics, automotive partsman, commercial electronics, electrical/instrumentation, diesel and industrial engine mechanics, industrial maintenance, industrial welding, and two-way radio repair. A schedule of fall classes can be obtained at the Registrar's Office on the West Campus or the Washington Street Campus. Regular registration for the fall semester will be August 26th in the College Union Building on the Washington Street Campus for all semester hour programs.

New course added at AC

A new course, Women in Management, will be added to the Amarillo College Mid Management curriculum this fall. The demand for this type of course has been shown by the number of women who have attended seminars held in Amarillo and who travel to attend workshops outside of Amarillo.

Because of this need the course, which will be instructed by Connie Sitterly, has been added for the first time to the regular fall semester at A.C. and is offering management principles and techniques for all fields of business as they pertain to women, including: leadership, delegation, planning, assertiveness, success, strategies, and decision making.

The overall objective of this course is to enable women to understand the opportunities, challenges, demands and problems in pursuing a career in the corporate world of work, and to develop their ability to manage more effectively. The course will be problem centered, combining lectures, experiential exercises, guest lectures, audio-visuals aimed at examining trends in the role and status of women ascending the corporate ladder.

This is not a program just for women. Men who deal extensively with women in their work are also urged to participate. Women in Management will meet on Tuesday evenings and can be taken for semester hour credit or clock hour equivalent. Enrollment will be August 26th from 9 a.m. till 9 p.m. on the Washington Street Campus in the College Union Building. Students may advance register through August 12 for this program and others offered at Amarillo College by contacting the Registrar's Office.

American Red Cross is still needed

(The fourth in a series of articles written by S.W. Ross)

The American Red Cross is now entering its second century. It has been a determined survivor, and will be a much stronger organization, providing even better services in the next century because the American people still have need for the American Red Cross.

This second century of the Red Cross will bring forth its legions of hard working men, women and children, who will take the Red Cross to heart, just as their predecessors did. The question has been asked many times: How is the Red Cross supported? The answer is: The American Red Cross delivers a wide range of services to people in need—thanks to the volunteers' contributions of money, time and blood from the American public. Approximately 93% of Red Cross monies received from annual fund appeals are derived in partnership with local United Ways and combined Federal Campaigns. Other sources of revenue range from disaster fund appeals and membership contracts. The financing of Red Cross Blood service comes principally from fees paid by hospitals that receive blood and blood products. There is never a charge for the blood itself, which is donated voluntarily by the American people.

Really, it might be said the Red Cross now is running a $200,000,000 business collecting and distributing whole blood and components and may wind up seeking the same sort of dominance in the manufacture of plastic derivatives.

The Red Cross blood program was originally underwritten by the annual Red Cross appeal; but in the early 1950's as demands for blood began to boom, both in volume and technical sophistication, the Red Cross decided it could no longer afford to support the program's resources and so has been converting to a cash-recovery system. These days the Red Cross provides blood at a price high enough to recover the cost of processing plus a charge for equipment, land and buildings and working capitals.

Today, at its 57 regional centers the Red Cross collects 5 million units of blood a year—about half of the United States total requirements. The Red Cross makes no pretense about the objectives of its regional centers: "To be total suppliers of the product needs of their region" is how the head of the Red Cross blood program puts it. A computerized system matches supply and demand for Red Cross blood on a national basis.

Where will the Red Cross go in the '80's and thereafter? George M. Elsey, president of the American Red Cross since 1970 is confident that the next 25 years will find the organization working energetically to keep its programs responsive to the needs of the communities.

If smoking, drugs, teenage pregnancies and pollution continue to threaten American health and welfare, the Red Cross will identify areas where it can help and develop programs to do so.

Mr. Elsey predicts that the community health needs will take several new twists as more Americans live longer. If he is correct, problems of the elderly may, indeed, become an important focus of the American Red Cross work.

The question is often asked: "Will there be money and volunteers to develop new programs and staff them particularly if inflation continues?" "Of course," says Elsey, "to think otherwise is to say Americans will stop caring and the history of the American Red Cross makes that highly unlikely."

MUCH HAS CHANGED since the Red Cross blood program started in 1947. The original microscopic method of matching blood has been replaced by scientific computerized methods.

REVIS PERNEL (left) receives her diploma from Gary Whittington, instructor, for successfully completing the Allsup's Assistant Store Manager Training Course. Held at the company's home offices in Clovis, New Mexico, the class is a requirement for all Allsup's assistant managers. According to Whittington, "The training prepares individuals for future advancement by teaching them proper food handling, cooked food procedures, store cleanliness and maintenance as well as public relations. It's designed to produce a more professional employee who can better serve the customer and community." Revis will return to her store at 102 E. Houston in Floydada to assume the duties of assistant manager.

Clements, guest speaker at dedication ceremonies

Governor Bill Clements will be guest speaker at official building dedication ceremonies for the new Employment Skills Development Center at TSTI-Amarillo.

Ceremonies are slated to begin at 10:30 a.m. July 24 at the new building site on the campus.

TSTI received a $1.75 million grant from the Economic Development Administration (EDA) matched by funds appropriated by the 60th Texas Legislature for the construction of the Employment Skills Development Center.

The center currently houses Aircraft Mechanics, Auto Mechanics, Diesel Mechanics, Professional Truck Operations and Related Studies. The facility spans approximately 86,000 square feet and will accommodate over 325 students in any class hour.

In addition to Governor Clements, dignitaries participating in the ceremonies will include: Dr. Clifford Trotter, Minister, Polk Street United Methodist Church; Dr. James A. Bird, General Manager, TSTI-Amarillo; Dr. Jack E. Tompkins, President, Texas State Technical Institute; Milton Schiller, Vice-President for Development, Texas State Technical Institute; John Drummond, Director of Projects, TSTI-Amarillo; and Hugh Farmer, Deputy Regional Director, EDA.

Following the ceremonies, the building will be open for public tours and a reception.
