Williams will visit Floyd County

Don Williams, internationally famous country singer, will return to Floydada on September 30 to receive the key to the city.

Williams, born in Floydada, attended school in Lockney, but left the county as a child. This is the first time his busy schedule has permitted him to return to his birthplace.

"Don is really excited about coming to Floydada," said Kathy Gangwisch who handles public relations for the singer. "He is very pleased that the people there are honoring him."

Mayor Parnell Powell has declared Wednesday, September 30 Don Williams Day. In a brief 11 a.m. ceremony on the courthouse lawn the mayor will present the keys to the city for the first time in the city's history.

Sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, Don Williams will be able to spend only an hour in Floydada.

He will be appearing at the South Plains Fair in Lubbock on Tuesday, September 29. He and members of the band will stay in Lubbock that night and then must be in Arkansas for another performance Wednesday night.

Driving via touring bus, they will arrive in Floydada at 11 a.m.

"There won't be time, I'm afraid, for him to sign autographs," Kathy said. "He will have to be on the road at 12 sharp and it would be terrible if he is forced to leave with some still waiting for autographs."

Don Williams is rather unique in the entertainment field with a personal philosophy of being a "proponent of simple pleasures and old-time virtues" as was reported in the Tampa Tribune.

He says of himself that, "My family and my music are really the biggest things in my life."

John Lomax in the Journal of Country Music said, "The most unusual thing to me about Don Williams is that he is a superstar who does not enjoy talking about himself. He is an artist untouched by the personal turmoil common to many of today's biggest names. Few country music artists have ever enjoyed the sort of worldwide popularity Don Williams has achieved. He is a quiet man who chooses his words carefully. He talks slowly, always to the point, and is not given to long-winded answers. Despite his mammoth successes he remains sincere, hard-working, religious and down to earth. Success may have spoiled many artists in the past, but it seems only to have strengthened the will of Don Williams. At heart I think he is a thoroughly decent Texas country boy who remains fully aware that he counts for no more or no less, in the eyes of his Creator, than any other person."

His instrument is the guitar, which Don began playing as a teenager. He would hurry home from school to try and pick a favorite tune he'd heard on the radio.

When Don was three years old he sang in a local talent contest, and won the first prize - an alarm clock.

In 1957 while in high school, Don and a group of friends played and sang for the opening of the Billups Service Station in Taft, Texas. They received $25.00.

Don has worked as a bill collector; he drove a bread truck, worked in the Texas oil fields, in the furniture business, in a smelting plant, and for Pittsburgh Plate Glass.

While in Corpus Christi in 1964 Don formed the well remembered Pozo Seco Singers, a successful trio (Lofton Cline, Susan Taylor and Don) that sang a variety of music from folk to pop and country. Their first single "Time" climbed into the top 10 nationwide, but the Pozos disbanded in 1971.

JMI released Don's first solo record (a single titled "Don't You Believe") on June 16, 1972. He signed with ABC-Dot on May 17, 1974. The Dot label was discontinued in late 1977 and Don continued to record for ABC Records. In March of 1979 ABC was bought out by MCA Records.

Concert dates fill 50% of each month. The Don Williams Show has headlined a variety of prestige venues from the Sporting Club in Monte Carlo to the Roxy in Los Angeles, from a sold-out Carnegie Hall in New York to the larger state fairs, dinner theatres and auditoriums nationwide. Don and the members of his group travel in a late 1970's customized Silver Eagle bus.

Don co-starred with Burt Reynolds in 20th Century Fox's "W.W. & The Dixie Danekings." He also appeared in Universal's "Smoky & The Bandit II."

His trademark is denim Sedgefield jeans and jackets. "It's what I'm comfortable in," says Don. "I put on dress clothes, or whatever you want to call it, to go to church and a few things like that. But I'm just really comfortable in jeans."

Rep. Hightower says it's good to be back

BY CAROL LEA CLARK

Congressman Jack Hightower greeted Lockney businessmen at a joint meeting of the Lockney Rotary and Lions Clubs and stressed he was very happy to have Floyd County in his district.

"I kept quiet during the re-districting process, because if other politicians had known I wanted Floyd County, I might not have gotten it. That is the nature of politicians. But, I'm very happy to be serving Floyd County again," he said.

Hightower served Floyd County before when he was a member of the Texas Senate.

Floyd, Bailey, Kent and Knox counties have just been added to his congressional district in the re-districting as a result of the 1980 population census.

Hightower explained that Lockney will have two congressmen for awhile. Charles Stenholm is still the official congressman for Floyd County until the new Congress is sworn in January 1983. But, Floyd County voters will vote for the 13th District Congressional seat in November, 1982, which is Hightower's seat.

"I'll be happy to help Lockney and Floyd County people anyway I can," said the Congressman. Floyd County was recently added to Hightower's congressional district as part of the re-districting after the 1980 census.

between now and January of 1983, and of course after that." Hightower has Texas offices in Wichita Falls, Vernon, and Amarillo.

Although a Democrat, Hightower has supported the idea of budget cuts for the federal government, though he has not always agreed with the Republican administration's allocation of funds.

"Something had to be done," said Hightower. "Inflation is the number one concern of the American people, and government spending is one of the major causes of inflation."

"It's not easy to find the formula for fighting inflation," continued the Congressman, "but cutting government spending seems to be one necessary factor."

According to Hightower, high interest rates are another major concern of his constituents. The reason for high interest rates, said Hightower is that government is still spending more than it is bringing in from taxes and has to borrow money in the marketplace. This borrowing of money in competition with banks and other lending institutions drives up interest rates.

Yet, cutting government programs is hard. "For every federal dollar spent, there's someone who thinks that dollar is the most important money spent by the federal government. No one wants a program cut that benefits him, but everyone is willing to cut somebody else's budget."

CONGRESSMAN JACK HIGHTOWER and his wife Colleen (left) greet Lockney Rotary and Lions Club members after Hightower spoke at the joint meeting. "I'll be happy to help Lockney and Floyd County people anyway I can," said the Congressman. Floyd County was recently added to Hightower's congressional district as part of the re-districting after the 1980 census.

Hightower explained, "In spending cuts we must set priorities. We cannot shut down the federal government."

The Congressman was not originally enthusiastic about a tax cut. "But we have cut spending sufficiently to justify a tax cut. We're not out of the woods yet so far as the economy is concerned though."

Hightower said, "I feel privileged to be serving as a Congressman in these critical times. I am privileged to be able to contribute to finding a solution for our pressing national problems."

ENERGAS

Gas heating saves $226 per year!

Compared to the heat pump, gas heating can save you $226 per year on your utility bills. So if you hear that a heat pump is "more economical", remember, that is comparing it to other electric heating . . . not to gas! No other heating system even comes close to gas for economy. At Energas, we are committed to help you get the most for your heating dollar. Gas heating, combined with good conservation practices, saves energy, too.

South Plains Fair in Lubbock. The College's new road show of the same name will be spotlighted on the outdoor stage at the exposition at 7 p.m. on September 26 and October 3.

The "Magnum" production, one of several projects for the outdoor stage, will feature approximately 50 classic and current country music hits. The show is fast-paced from beginning to end.

Levi and SPC began its own new road show tours in 1977-78 with "Texas, Cradle of Giants." Admission is free. A complete schedule of free acts has been set for the outdoor stage each day.

After the placings, $50 will be given to the best overall large metal project and plaques will go to the winning FFA Chapters. Best overall winners in small metal projects and finished wood products will receive $40 and plaques also will go to the chapters. The agricultural mechanics exhibits will be on display in the Agricultural Building throughout the eight-day exposition, Lewis said. The works by the Vocational Agriculture students have become a popular attraction at the fair in recent years.

Some programs you will see repeated during the week are Texas Tech's Instructional Television programs. We work with the academic areas of TTU and provide programming that can be used in certain disciplines for course credit. Some examples of ITV courses are Child Development 2303—using the television series "The Growing Years"; Religion 233-Christian Ethics—using several PBS programs; Religion 339—World Religions using the series "The Long Search" and History 4327—study of the American Frontier. These are just a few of the ITV courses we coordinate, but they are all accessible to you and your family for college credit. If you are interested call our ITV coordinator Fred McClung here at the station or the Continuing Education Division of Texas Tech. Remember, we're here to serve you.

We are repeating Washington Week in Review and Wall Street Week on Sunday afternoons now so if you have to miss the Friday night airing you can catch it after your Sunday afternoon siesta.

The uniqueness that sets man apart from other living creatures is explored in "On Being Human" Sunday the 13th at 9:00 p.m. In a century filled with misanthropy, self-doubt, and pre-occupation with man's defects, "On Being Human" investigates the positive aspects of man's nature—the power to make decisions and choices to change the course of individual life, and to build entire civilizations. Hosted by Eric Sevareid, "On Being Human" bring together many accomplished people from the arts, humanities, and sciences. This is a fine program.

Following that are two episodes of Contemporary Health Issues used in the ITV course Health Education 133.

Another public television production of "The Shakespeare Plays" airs Monday at 7:00. Henry VIII, Shakespeare's last play will be presented.

Tuesday at 8:00, the special "Under this sky: Elizabeth Cady Stanton in Kansas" will air. This is a portrait of Stanton, the dynamic woman who with her friend and co-agitator Susan B. Anthony "forged the thunderbolts of the woman's rights movement" in the 1800s. The two women travel to the Kansas countryside to rally support for women's suffrage—an issue on the 1867 Kansas ballot.

Friday at 8:00 is WORLD? The Red Army. How strong is the Soviet Union's Red Army? Its capacities and weaknesses are discussed on this special along with the alcoholism, drug abuse, racial violence, and inadequate training problems that plague the Soviet military.

Kennedy Center tonight will present a complete performance of Leonard Bernstein's "Mass" Saturday at 7:00 p.m.

Let us know what you want to see.

THE NEW ENERGY FRONTIER: Coal. America's new energy frontier. Black Thunder Coal Mine near Gillette, Wyoming, sits on part of 50 billion tons. Tapping this huge new reserve of raw energy is a job that takes a combination of resources and pioneering spirit. The kind that fuels booms of opportunity. And we're here helping.

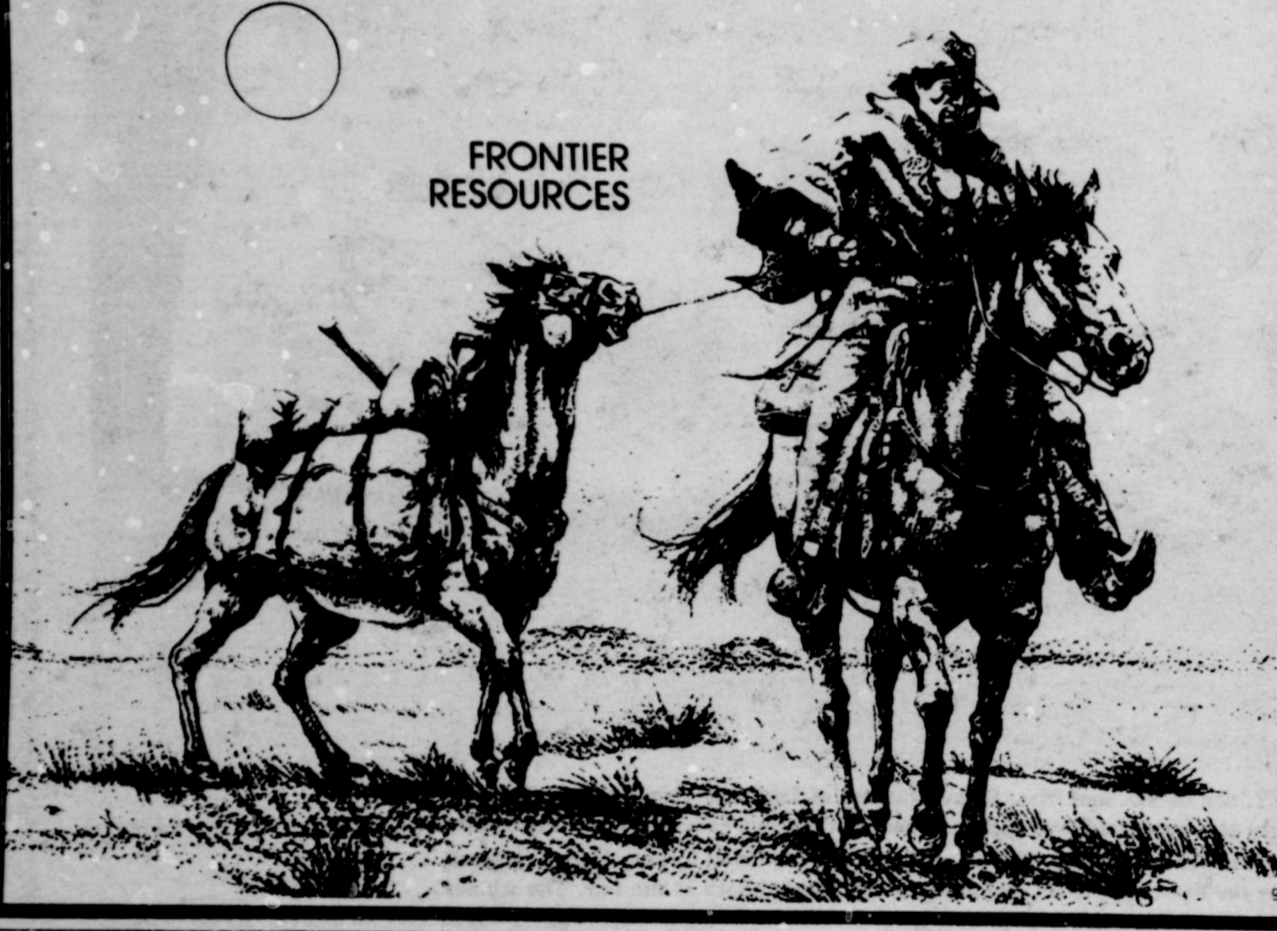

Last year, 3 million tons of this coal was used as fuel to make electricity at Southwestern Public Service power plants. Coal is being used more now because other fuels cost too much.

In Wyoming alone, there's enough coal that some areas of Black Thunder won't be mined until the year 2013. That's a lot of electricity. Coal. It's good to know there are some things you can depend on.

HERE'S OUR MINT NEW PENNY WITH A FIGURE THAT MEANS SOLID GOLD

Dear Pat Walker's,
For years I made excuses for my large arms, saying it was because I'd used crutches for a long time. That 3 figure.
I really do and... I lost a total of 50 pounds and 80 inches in 1 1/2 years and maintained it for 2 1/2 years. That changed my looks, wardrobe, attitude and career. Now I keep up easily with my 2 live wire sons and as an executive in a large international corporation.
And does Ken, my husband, care? I'll say! Now instead of practical "house" gifts I get very personal pretties, like my diamond ring.
Thanks Pat Walker's. We love you.

Allison house honored

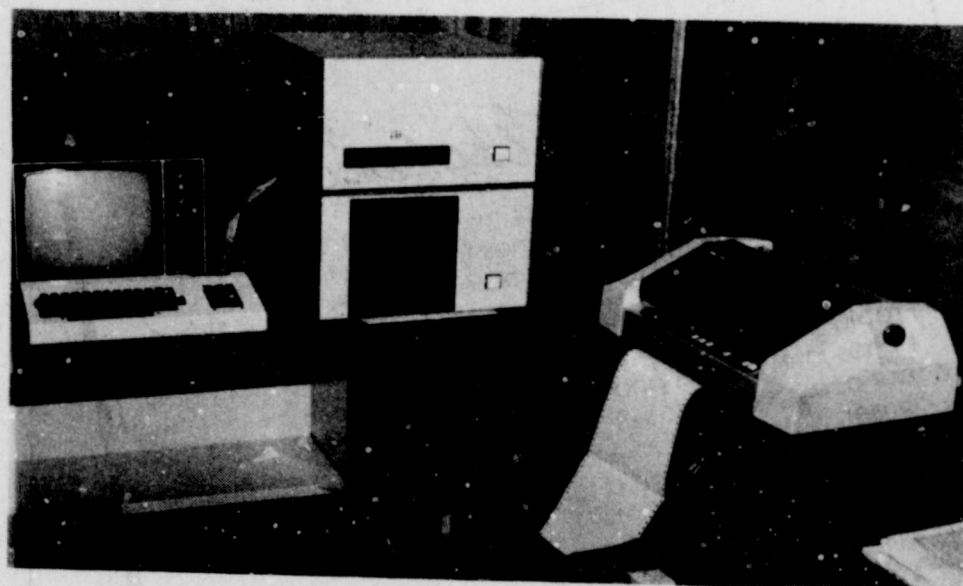

A home recently featured by the Dallas Times Herald as home of the week was designed by Don Allison, son of O.C. Allison of Lockney. Don Allison was born in Lockney and graduated from Lockney High School. He majored in business education at Texas Tech and did graduate work in math. He has been in the construction business for fifteen years, and is now an architect, landscape artist and designer. The English Tudor home has four bedrooms and two and one half baths, and was priced at $169,900. The exterior is tan blend brick, off-white stucco with grey wood trim, and cedar shake roof. The interior includes living-den, dining room, kitchen, breakfast, game room, utility and a two car garage. The home is located in Plano, Texas, a suburb of Dallas.

Residents receiving bogus book offering

Residents of Floyd County and surrounding counties have been receiving postcards in the mail advertising genealogical information about their particular families.

The post cards are signed with the name Beatrice Bayley. In reality, however, buyers receive only a book containing general American history with blanks where the individual can fill in information about his own family tree.

The book is offered for $27 to $29. According to the Better Business Bureau of Lubbock, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin have initiated legal proceedings against the Beatrice Bayley company, and the U.S. Postal Service is investigating the company for misrepresentation in direct mail solicitation.

What should you do if you have been taken in by this scheme, and do not think that a leather-bound book filled with blanks is worth $27 or $29?

"File a complaint," said Better Business Bureau spokeswoman Joyce Cornuud. "We've had pretty good luck getting money back for people who have complained about Beatrice Bayley Inc."

To file a complaint, call the Better Business Bureau in Lubbock toll-free at 1-800-692-4466 and request a complaint form. After you fill out the form and return it to the BBB, they will forward the complaint to Beatrice Bayley Inc. and request the company to respond. "It's a nice bound book on the outside," said Joyce Cornuud, "but most people don't seem to want a book full of blank pages."

Young Farmers Week set

September 20-26 has been officially designated as Young Farmer Week in Texas by proclamation of Governor W.P. Clements, Jr.

The proclamation signed recently gives additional recognition to this rapidly growing farm group. The Young Farmer Association is sponsored under the auspices of vocational agriculture departments in high schools across Texas and the Texas Education Agency.

Over 150 Young Farmer chapters have been organized on local school district or county wide basis to carry out educational activities which will help the members keep abreast of the technological advancements in the field of agriculture and to develop greater skill and efficiency in management, production, and marketing. Governor Clements points out in the proclamation that, in addition to educational activities, Young Farmers incorporate in their planned chapter programs civic and community service projects and leadership activities that are designed to improve their communities, state, and nation, and to promote the welfare of all citizens.

He further points out that through these efforts they are helping to strengthen the economy of our country and are promoting good citizenship.

In closing the proclamation, the Governor predicted that as the organization continues to grow, it will play an increasing important role in the life of rural America.

THE LOCKNEY LONGHORNS were downed on the road by Post 31-0 in Post Friday night. Post scored 24 points in the first half, but Lockney held the Antelopes to 7 points in the second half.

Longhorns are shutout

The Lockney Longhorns were shutout by powerful Post, 31-0, in the opening football game of the season for both teams. Post scored 24 points in the first half and added seven more in the fourth quarter while holding Lockney to just 66 total yards gained.

Post sophomore Milton Williams led the Antelopes' attack, setting up one touchdown with a kickoff return and scoring one himself on a long run from scrimmage. Williams also had a 45-yard punt return but it was nullified because of a clipping penalty.

Post scored on its second possession of the game, pushing 60-yards for a TD. Tim Tannehill got the score on a four-yard dash.

A few minutes later, the Longhorns were forced to punt from their own end zone and Post was awarded a safety when the punt snapped past the end line.

On the following kickoff, Post's Williams ran 35-yards, setting up a 15-yard touchdown run by Will Kirkpatrick.

The Longhorns fumbled to start the second quarter to give Post the ball, on the Lockney one-yard line.

CYNTHIA EDWARDS

Social Security News

BY RAY PURCELL

Last week we covered two of the provisions of the Omnibus Reconciliation Act of 1981 that deals with social security. They were elimination of the minimum benefit and the reinstatement of age 72 as the cutoff of any earnings limitation for social security recipients.

This week I will continue by discussing changes in the student program and benefits paid to the parents of young children.

Student benefits under the old law were paid to the children of social security beneficiaries at age 18. These benefits continued until age 22 if the student remained in full-time attendance at any approved school.

Starting in August, 1982 children of social security beneficiaries who are still in elementary or high school and are 19 years old will no longer receive benefits. For example, if a student is 19 in December 1982 and will graduate from high school in May, 1983, he or she will not receive any social security beginning with January, 1983.

Benefits will continue for those students who received a benefit 9-3-81 and will start college or a vocational school before May, 1982. However, they will no longer be eligible for cost of living increases and the amount of their benefits will decline. In September, 1982 benefits will be reduced by 25%. This will occur again in September, 1983 and September, 1984.

In addition, starting in May, 1982, no benefits will be paid to students for the months of May through August. This will happen even if the student attends summer school. The first check received in the fall will be October 3 for the month of September.

Finally, if a child is first entitled to social security after August, 1981 and is attending college, his or her benefits will continue only through July, 1982.

As you can see, the student program has been changed drastically. Student benefits will be entirely eliminated after May, 1985 on this timetable.

The other change I will speak of briefly applies to benefits received by either a mother or father under age

62 with a child at home. Under the old law, if John Doe starts receiving social security when he retires at age 62, his wife Mary, age 50, can receive benefits so long as their child, Susan, is at home and under 18 years of age. Mary is too young to receive benefits as a wife or on her own record, and is entitled to benefits only until the month of Susan's eighteenth birthday.

The amendments change the age of the child from 18 years to 16 years old. Now in our example, Mary cannot receive any benefits after Susan's sixteenth birthday. All parents who qualify after August 1981 because of a young child will be effected by this ruling. Parents currently receiving benefits with a child will be terminated after 8-83, if the youngest child is 16 or over.

If you have a severely disabled child, you previously did not apply for disability until age 18. Now you will want to check possible disability benefits on the parents record when the child reaches age 16.

An exception in the amendment allows a parent to continue receiving benefits if they have a disabled child under 18 years of age.

Next week we will discuss changes in the lump sum death payment and the other new provisions of the law. If you have questions, call our toll-free number, 1-800-392-1603 and we will be glad to help.

FLOYD COUNTY IRRIGATION FIELD DAY AND FARM TOM TO BE HELD

The Floyd County Extension Service, in cooperation with the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District and Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, will hold its annual field crop demonstration this year on Wednesday, September 16, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

According to Jett Major, County Agricultural Extension Agent, a field day at one of the demonstration plots will be held this year instead of the traditional tom of several crop demonstrations and field tests. The field day will be held at the Warren Mitchell Cotton Demonstration plot located 1 1/2 miles west of Lockney on the Plainview highway. This demonstration plot, located on the south side of the highway, was chosen as the field day site because of the large variety of irrigation, growth and developmental tests being conducted on the cotton. Dr. James Supak, Extension Agronomist from Lubbock, will be on hand to discuss the work being done at this and other similar cotton-incorporated-sponsored demonstration plots scattered across the South Plains. Dr. Supak and his assistants have monitored the "Cotton Profit" demonstration plot on a weekly basis throughout the growing season.

Those wishing to attend this year's field day can either go directly to the demonstration site west of Lockney or meet at the Lockney Co-op Gin parking lot between 9:00 and 9:15 a.m. and follow county agents Jett Major and Ken Langley out to the demonstration site.

All producers interested in learning more about the "Cotton Profit" demonstration or consulting Dr. Supak about any specific problem or questions encountered this year with a given crop are encouraged to attend this annual event.

BEEF CATTLE SEMINAR

The Floyd and Briscoe County Extension Services and Livestock Committees will be co-sponsoring a Beef Cattle Seminar in Floydada on Tuesday, September 15, at the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative Meeting Room, 7:30 p.m.

Speakers and topics selected by the Livestock Committees of the sponsoring agencies include: Dr. John McNeill, Extension Beef Cattle Specialist from Amarillo who will also explain the benefits of feeding whole cottonseed to cattle instead of the traditional cottonseed meal commonly used in this area. Dr. J.F. Cadenhead, Extension Range Management Specialist from Vernon, will discuss current brush control measures now being implemented in the High and Rolling Plains area; and Dr. Mart Brillhart, Veterinarian with the Animal Health Commission, will be on hand to discuss the new Brucellosis Program that has been implemented in Texas.

All livestock producers are encouraged to attend this informative beef cattle seminar.

High Plains Sorghum Producers will elect four directors

Four directors will be elected to the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board in an election which is currently underway. Ballots have been mailed to grain sorghum producers throughout the 29-county TGSPB area of the Texas High Plains.

Every two years, the terms of four members of the Board expire. Current members whose terms end this year are: Ralph Mabry of Lubbock; K.B. Parish, Springlake; C.P. Smith, Hale Center and Larry Witten, Olton. All are incumbent candidates. A fifth nominee on the ballot is Bob Gillespie of Gruver in Hansford County.

All grain sorghum producers within the 29-county area of the Texas High Plains (served by the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board) are eligible to vote. Any producer who does not receive a ballot through the mail may obtain one at his county agent's office.

The biennial election deadline is September 15, 1981. Any ballot that is postmarked after that date will not be valid. In addition to the five candidates listed on the ballot, a producer may also vote for any grain sorghum producer who has agreed to serve on the Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board by writing his name in the space provided for write-in candidates.

Landscape & Gardening
By Ken Langley

The white grub is Texas' most important and most damaging lawn insect. The white grub occurs throughout the State and causes wide-spread damage in lawns and turf areas. Turf areas could also include golf courses, roadside rights ways, and other places.

The white grub is recognized as a C-shaped, white grub-like larvae found feeding on the roots of grasses. I think most everybody will recognize the adult - what we commonly call the June beetle.

During this time of the year, the June beetle is in the process of depositing eggs in the soil. Eggs are deposited, hatch, and the white grub develops. The white grub overwinters in the soil as the last larval stage, matures, and eventually emerges varied periods during the year.

The term critical-treatment period is the period about 2 to 3 weeks after the June beetles have laid their eggs in the soil for the next generation. This is the time that homeowners need to be particularly mindful and during this time, they will be able to decide whether they need some sort of control or not. The critical-treatment period varies geographically in the state. For example, in Houston it occurs some time during July whereas in Floydada it may occur from mid-July clear through late August. However, the best way to determine if you have white grubs is to dig some 3 to 4 inch plugs or cores in your soil to a depth of 3 to 4 inches and examine the soil and the roots of the turf very carefully. If you find as many as 4 to 5 white grubs per square foot of area sampled, then this will indicate that something needs to be done to protect your lawn. There are several insecticides on the market that are extremely effective for white grubs but their effectiveness depend for the most part on when they are applied and how they are applied. The applications need to be uniform, they need to include significant amounts of water such as 20 to 30 gallons per 1,000 square feet of turf area to wash the material down into the soil where it can be effective. Hopefully, this year we may escape serious white grub problems but it will be necessary for you to exercise these precautions in order to have a green, lush lawn growth.

The Texas livestock industry will be better informed about brucellosis because of the Texas brucellosis advisory committee, John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission, said recently. He was speaker at a special orientation committee meeting.

Members of this area's brucellosis advisory committee are: (area 2), Rich Anderson, Gail; J.E. Birdwell II, Muleshoe; J.E. Birdwell III, Whiteface; Jim Boydston, Ralls; S.C. Burleson, Quitaque; Royce Collins, Olton; Travis Jones, Floydada; Roy Neely, Midland; Bruce Rigler, Plainview; Pinky Sellers, Sweetwater; Ellison Tom Jr., Andrews; and William Waldrup, Lubbock.

J.E. Birdwell II is chairman.

There are 15 such committees in Texas, made up of persons actively engaged in the livestock industry. Each committee has 12 members. Names were selected from more than 600 persons suggested statewide from organizations and individuals.

"Purpose of the area brucellosis advisory committee is to establish better communication between the Texas Animal Health Commission and the Texas livestock industry pertaining to brucellosis regulations and the disease itself," Armstrong said.

Committee goals include: providing the TAHC with advice on program related matters from the producer viewpoint, and maintaining a working knowledge and awareness of the current program, especially as it relates within each area.

Commissioners of the TAHC met with the committees. TAHC Commissioners in addition to Armstrong are Bob Baros, Gonzales; Dr. Ben Hopson, Laredo; C.E. Knolle, Sandia; Charles Koontz, Olton; T. Euel Lindner, Lubbock; Mort Mertz, Eldorado; Jimmy Owen, Tyler; and J.D. Sartwell Sr., Houston.

Armstrong discussed federal-state relations regarding brucellosis. "What the Commissioners are doing is determining how the federal program can be made to fit Texas conditions. We are also charged with making sure the program is epidemiologically sound, yet affordable for the Texas cowman; it's like threading the eye of a needle oftentimes," Armstrong explained.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's

Perspectives

Stanley Marsh is a recognized eccentric millionaire who lives just outside of Amarillo.

He has a Cadillac grave yard, some free roaming llamas, and he owns television stations in Amarillo and El Paso.

Mr. Marsh has decided to end religious programming on his stations. According to the various reports of his decision, Mr. Marsh is upset with what he sees as religious hucksterism - people who claim religious aims but who seem to really be after making a buck.

He also feels that too many preachers are being political rather than religious. In an effort to remain "neutral," Mr. Marsh has said he will no longer sell air time to groups seeking time on his stations, and will not renew contracts of those programs currently on the air.

In every television market, there is always one station that seems to get the religious programming business: the prime time telethons for world hunger, Oral Roberts specials, etc.

Mr. Marsh's Amarillo station was not that station. In fact, during the time I spent in that reception area, Mr. Marsh's station was often openly antagonistic to religious groups in the area.

Mr. Marsh is not remaining neutral in deciding to end paid religious broadcasting on his stations. Instead, because he disagrees with the viewpoints of certain individuals who may or may not be masquerading under the guise of religion, he is discriminating against the entire religious community.

What about local churches that seek air time to broadcast their worship services for the benefit of those who are unable to attend in person?

The majority of people involved in religious programming believe they are doing something legitimate. Are they to be punished simply because a few individuals abuse their privileges, if indeed they are abusing those privileges?

Mr. Marsh has made a grave error, the motivation for which is uncertain. I devoutly hope that he will see his error and reverse his decision.

Carol Lea Clark's

It's Not Easy

My little daughter cannot walk the three blocks from our house to the newspaper office without swinging on every lamp post and stop sign.

After a rain she must stop and make faces at her reflection in every puddle. If I don't watch closely, she will also jump into the middle of every body of water over two inches wide.

Needless to say, walking a few blocks with her can consume most of a morning.

I think it's great to find such enjoyment in simple things like lamp posts and puddles, so I try to be patient. But, almost every day I find myself trying to hurry her.

"Don't hurry Amber," she says as I urge her past one lamp post to another. I hate to squash any of her enthusiasms for life.

I hate to make her leave a playground because I know sliding down the slide and swinging on the swings are her favorite activities in life. Left to her own devices, though, she would stay at the park till she was half starved.

At her age there are so many things that she is not allowed to touch and so many ladders she is not allowed to climb.

It seems that every other word I say to her is "no." I try not to sound like a broken record, but I'm afraid I sound that way to her.

Sometimes I try to vary the sound by saying "negative" instead of "no," but the effect is much the same.

Little does she know, that I would love to let her run wild and do whatever she wants. Having to say no is probably my least favorite part of being a mother. I could say that it hurts me more than it hurts her to say "no" to her, but she probably wouldn't believe it.

I have a fantasy, though, that someday she will be old enough that I have to say "no" only once or twice a hour instead of once or twice a minute.

If she can achieve that kind of record, she can swing on all the lamp posts she wants.

I'll even look the other way while she jumps into a few puddles.

Social Security News

BY JANICE ULMER

Before the Social Security law was changed in 1977, retired people who continued to be involved in self-employment could receive a benefit check for any month they did not render what was considered to be "substantial services" in the business. This was possible, even though the person's earnings were over the annual limit. The 1977 amendments eliminated this monthly earnings test, except for one so-called "grace year" (ordinarily the year of retirement). After that "grace year," Social Security looked only at the annual earnings to see how many checks a person could be entitled to, without regard to any monthly services. (The general rule is that $1 in benefits must be withheld for every $2 in earnings above the annual limit.)

It later became apparent that the limitations placed on the monthly earnings test adversely affected some individuals. Persons who continued to receive reportable income from self-employment, even though retired, could lose all their benefits under the annual test. This was true even if they had little or no actual involvement in the operation or management of a business activity.

Some examples are farmers who sell "carry-over" crops in a year after retirement, "silent" partners and retired partners who only receive a distributive share of the business income. Insurance salesmen who get renewal commissions for policies sold before retiring, and other retirees who receive self-employment income solely due to their ownership of an income-producing property or business are also affected by this.

One of the 1980 amendments to the Social Security law seeks to make the annual earnings tests more equitable, by providing that any self-employment income a retired person receives which is not the result of services performed in the business will not be counted toward the annual earnings limit. Services are defined as regular services performed in the ongoing operations or management of a trade or business activity which is related to the income received from such activity.

A retired person who retains an ownership interest in a business which is being managed and operated by others can be expected to take some actions at various times, in order to protect his investment. Such actions would not be considered as performing "services" in the operation or management of the business. Similarly, if a crop were produced prior to retirement, but sold in a year after retirement, the actions taken merely to sell that crop would not be considered as "services" in self-employment.

The intent of the new law is that self-employed persons not be penalized for receiving income that was earned before they became entitled to their social security benefits, nor for income after retirement which is the result of owning a business, or maintaining a ship share.

If you have a question about self-employment income after retirement, contact the Social Security office at 1401-B West 5th, Plainview, or call our toll-free number, 1-800-392-1603. We will be glad to give you additional information.

Capitol Update

One of the most urgent tasks awaiting Congress is the passage of a bill which will set forth federal agriculture policy for the next four years.

The aim of a federal farm policy is to stabilize and improve the predictability of agricultural products are subject to unpredictable free market conditions prevailing in the economy.

Yet, the farmer must rely on many other sources of income besides the sale of his products. A host of industries which manufacture machinery and supplies. That means his costs do not fluctuate with the price he receives for his product.

In order to make it possible for the farmer to continue to produce food for our people and the export market, federal government must provide basic economic support.

From the Great Depression until the late 1950s, farm policy involved direct federal involvement in planting and marketing decisions. During the 1960s, farm policy evolved into a more equitable system of price supports, which allow the marketplace to determine commodity prices.

Under this system, the farmer has a minimum price, which gives him a basis for intelligent market decisions.

This year, farm programs -- as all federal programs -- will be reduced somewhat and subject of greater scrutiny.

The Senate Agriculture Committee has begun to produce a bill which maintains the farm program and still does not result in federal outlays. This is essential, because if we are to control federal spending, the economic chain of command will hurt agriculture just as it will hurt other segments of the economy.

Both the Administration and the Congress are aware of the importance of agriculture, which is the nation's largest industry. In fact, economic activity generated by agriculture accounts for 20 percent of the national product, employs one-fifth of the labor force, and represents about one-fifth of all U.S. exports.

In Texas, every dollar in farm sales generates $3 to the general economy of the state. The nation in production of cattle, cotton and wheat and is the second-leading state in agriculture cash crops.

Therefore, I can assure you I will work for the passage of the farm bill. Failure to pass this legislation by September 30 could cause chaos in agriculture and the overall economy, because on that date, the current law expires and without a new one we will revert to the act. Both the administrative headaches and the going back to the old system make it unthinkable that to happen. While stop-gap action likely will continue the status quo, Congress must not delay action on this vital issue.

What Shall We Do?

When John the Baptist appeared as Christ's forerunner, God's chosen people had lived under the Law of Moses for 1500 years but had not kept it. Hence John's call to repentance and baptism for the remission of sins (Mark 1:4).

John was in earnest, too, for when the thoughtless multitude came to him to be baptized, he sent them back, saying, "Bring forth fruits worthy of repentance" (Luke 3:7-8). Their lives were to be changed and they were to show it.

When the people asked, "What shall we do, then?" he told them to live for others rather than for self (Luke 3:10-11). When the tax collectors asked "What shall we do?" he demanded that they stop cheating the taxpayers and live honestly (vers. 12-13). When the soldiers asked, "What shall we do?" he told them to forbear violence, false accusation and bribery (ver. 14). Clearly, righteousness was demanded under John's message. His hearers were to repent, be baptized and bring forth the fruits of true repentance.

When our Lord appeared, He proclaimed the same message as John (Matt. 3:1,2; 4:17). A lawyer asked, "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" and He replied, "What is written in the Law?" When the lawyer recited the basic commands of the law, our Lord answered: "This do and thou shalt live" (Luke 10:25-28). God was still demanding righteousness. They were all under the law. (See Gal. 4:4; Matt. 23:1,2; etc.)

Some suppose that this was all changed after Calvary by the "Great Commission." This is not so. When, at Pentecost, Peter's hearers were convicted of their sins and asked "What shall we do?" Peter commanded them to "repent and be baptized...for the remission of sins" just as John had done (Acts 2:38). He did not tell them that Christ had died for their sins.

It was not until later that St. Paul was sent to proclaim the death of Christ as the payment for sin. He was the first to say: "But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested...We declare His righteousness for the remission of sins" (Rom. 3:21-26). When the Gentile jailor fell on his knees and asked: "What must I do to be saved?" Paul replied: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved" (Acts 16:30,31). This is God's message for sinners today, "for we have redemption through Christ's blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of His grace" (Eph. 1:7). "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and THOU shalt be saved."

Sherman donates painting to museum

A local artist has responded to a request by the museum board for paintings of historical sites in Floyd County.

Effie Sherman donated an original painting of the J.E. Burns Blacksmithing in Lockney to be displayed at the museum.

"I remember passing the blacksmith shop on my way to town," Effie said. Her family lived on east Locust.

The original Burns Blacksmith was built in 1900 and was located on the site that is now the Lockney City Hall on Locust Street.

J.E. and Nancy Burns came to Floyd County in 1889 and lived here the rest of their lives.

There was a small black and white snapshot of the blacksmith shop at the museum. Effie used that photograph as a model for the oil painting.

Effie Sherman has had an art studio in her home in Lockney for the past 18 years.

She has attended the Froman School of Art, Cloudcroft, New Mexico, for the past five years. She studied under Roman Froman and many others.

She has also completed three courses in Calligraphy, and has studied decorative and tote art from Geraldine Hipp, Tulla.

She is a member of the Lubbock Art Association. She is also a member of the Plains Art Association and has won two citations from that group. She has also won two purchase prizes from a show in Crosbyton.

Effie said that she enjoyed doing the painting because, "It brought back many memories."

A PAINTING OF THE J.E. BURNS BLACKSMITH SHOP by Elsie Meriwether Sherman has been presented to Floyd County Historical Museum as a part of the permanent art collection.
