

APPRECIATED FOR SERVICE—Eddie Joe Foster, right, on the school board. Duvall had served as president of the board since 1975. Duvall presented Tom Duvall with a plaque in appreciation for his 14 years of dedicated service.

Duvall presented plaque by Board

Tom Duvall was presented a plaque for his fourteen years of dedicated service at a regular called meeting of the school board Thursday. Duvall was elected in a special election September 1967.

He had served as President of the Board from 1975 until the present.

The board members and their wives ate in Plainview prior to the meeting. The annual affair traditionally welcomes the new members of the board.

The new members of the board were inducted. Eddie Joe Foster was named president; Kelton Shaw, vice president; Eugene Tannahill, secretary; Eddie Teeter, assistant secretary.

The election results were canvassed and approved. Eddie Teeter received 199 votes and Jim Bob Martin 190. There were 6 write-in candidates.

Replacements will be sought on the coaching staff and in the ag department. The board will meet when those interviews have been set up.

Some maintenance will be necessary this summer. Superintendent Hallmark reported to the board. Attention was drawn to the trim on the elementary school and the gym at the high school. Desks in need of repair will be sent to the Huntsville prison while school is not in session.

Typewriters have been leased under a three-year contract. That contract will expire at the end of this term. A decision was not reached as to what options would be chosen for the next year until some figure was secured for a purchase plan.

The contract that Lockney schools have with the Region 17 Service Center in Lubbock was renewed for Title I Reading.

A preliminary discussion was held on the budget for the athletic department. A first draft of the budget should be presented to the board at their May meeting.

Five lunchroom workers and the supervisor were rehired for the 1982-83 school year. Also rehired were all the aides, including Title I subject aides, migrant aides, special education aides, bilingual aides, library aides, and two P.E. aides. Rehiring of those aides with federal funding such as the Title I and migrant aides are subject to funding.

The Floyd County Appraisal District was approved for the appraisal and collection of taxes by the board.

Eight o'clock was approved as the regular meeting time to correspond with daylight savings time.

Also the use of the Jr. High entrance was approved for the Republican Primary, May 1, 1982.

The teacher's contracts had been rewritten to up-date them. The new contracts were approved for the 1982-83 year.

Resignations were accepted from Lynn Cathey, junior high school coach, Larry Williams, band director, Kim Murdock, junior high school English teacher, and Robert Murdock, math teacher and coach.

Oil and Gas Leasing Seminar to be held

A six-hour seminar on MINERAL OWNERSHIP AND OIL AND GAS LEASING will be held at the Floydada First National Bank Community Room on Saturday, April 24, according to an announcement by Southwest Enterprises, sponsors of the program.

Classes will be held from 12:30 to 6:30 p.m. with several breaks throughout the day. Printed notes and needed study materials will be provided to each participant, which will be included in the $60.00 per-person fee for the class.

Topics to be covered will be: Oil, Gas, and Mineral Ownership in Texas; The Oil and Gas Lease; and Determining the Ownership of Oil and Gas from Public Records.

Instructor for the seminar will be Attorney Jim Moore, the In-House

Counsel for Texas-Canadian Energy Corporation. Mr. Moore is a 1971 graduate of Baylor Law School, and is currently actively involved in leasing programs in Texas. Mr. Moore has taught land leasing seminars on the college level.

The course will be a basic one, and will be valuable for landowners by way of making the lease and its' clauses more understandable, as well as being useful for those involved in the oil and gas leasing field.

A registration form may be found at the bottom of an advertisement appearing elsewhere in the Hesperian and Beacon or by calling Southwest Enterprises at 817-442-2500. Late registration will be taken between 12:00 noon and 12:30 at the First National Bank on the 24th.

Volunteer firemen train

Last week volunteer firemen from small towns across the South Plains met in Lubbock for the 34th annual Fire Protection School at the training center on Municipal Drive.

I was reluctant to go and cover the story, but at the overwhelming urging of Dinks Eckert, Floydada Volunteer Fireman, I showed up at the training school Thursday evening about 6:30.

I was sure that I'd be one of the few women there and would spend the evening getting in the way and being yelled at.

Nothing could have been farther from the truth. Families of the firemen, friends, and onlookers were everywhere. There was a friendly acceptance of everyone, and I personally can't remember a situation where I was put at ease more quickly.

The Lubbock Fire Marshall, Robert D. Stokes, was my guide, showing me the training exercises and explaining procedures. At no little personal sacrifice himself, I may add, since his family was there and he had to give up holding his year-old granddaughter to show me around.

There was an excitement in the men and women as they prepared to go through the training exercises. One of the first things I learned was that they are called firefighters not firemen. This may partly be due to the fact that many women have now joined the departments in their respective towns.

The school lasts four nights. Tuesday and Wednesday are classroom or informational sessions. Thursday and Friday nights are devoted to actual firefighting. The combination of the various training instruction helps to certify the firefighters and their departments.

Each individual member of the communities represented profit from this training school by receiving a lower fire insurance rate, or key rate, on their homes and businesses.

Five fire situations were set up. One is a house fire. The house is made of cinder block, has a tin roof and metal shutters on the windows. There is an attached garage with a car in it.

Straw is piled in each room at the places furniture might be found in a house.

The straw is ignited, the rooms fill with smoke and flames. The heat and smoke are unbearable from 10 feet away without the protective clothing and breathing apparatus worn by the firefighters.

A simulated oil fire is set up in a huge pit further down the hill. The pit is filled with oil, and after ignited the flames are fed by gas jets. This is the most awesome of the fires. Flames leap fifty feet into the air and if any of the gas escapes it will explode in a fire ball much higher than that.

The third pit is a simulated LP gas tanker fire. The tanker truck is in the pit. When it is ignited gas jets also feed this fire. This is the "hot fire" and can be felt from 50 feet away.

A pick-up truck equipped with butane tanks is the fourth fire situation and gives the fighters experience in controlling farm fires.

The fifth is a butane tank. As with the others, after it is ignited the flame is fed by gas jets. This one, however, is equipped with a pop valve. When that goes the tank screeches with a loud piercing sound, much like a giant tea kettle. The sound is as near a reproduction of the actual sound made by a tank just before it explodes. Canyon fire fighters experienced the shrill blast in an actual tank fire from a train derailment. They helped design the pop valve to come as close to that sound as possible.

All five of these fires are controlled by the same method. Thirty years of experimentation have gone into the design of the nozzle that controls the water spray. All fires are put out with water. But it is the spray pattern that controls not only the flame, but also the smoke.

The aim of the firefighters is to put out the fire with the least possible damage. Whether the damage results from flame, smoke or from water, it's a loss.

Fires are not drowned, they are smothered. The spray has a fogging effect. The finer the particles of water

Firearms taken in vehicle burglary

For the second time in as many weeks, firearms were stolen during a vehicle burglary at a residence in Floydada. The theft of a shotgun, rifle, and a box of tools, on the night of April 18, is the CRIME CALL SPOTLIGHT CRIME OF THE WEEK, for which a $200.00 reward is offered for information leading to the persons and recovery of the property involved.

Anyone having information leading to the arrest of the person or persons responsible for this crime is urged to phone CRIME CALL at 983-5200. Informants may remain anonymous.

CRIME CALL is supported entirely by private donations, and tax-deductible contributions may be mailed to CRIME CALL OF FLOYD COUNTY, INC., 122 E. California, Floydada, Texas 79235.

This week's SPOTLIGHT CRIME OF THE WEEK occurred sometime between 8:30 p.m., April 18, and 6:05 a.m., April 19, at 801 W. Tennessee. Taken were a Winchester 410 Shotgun, Model 37A, Serial #C733881; a Remington .22-cal. Automatic rifle, Model 5602, Serial #A1763126 with a 4-power Weaver scope; a gray Sears toolbox, with assorted tools, including a socket set. Entry into the pickup was gained by forcing open a wind wing in the door.

Residents of Floydada are again urged to practice basic home security (locking vehicles, taking valuable out of parked vehicles, locking doors, windows, garages, storage houses, etc.) and be alert to strangers and unfamiliar vehicles in their neighborhoods.

Due to the recent increase of neighborhood crimes, a citizens' group is forming a city-wide NEIGHBORHOOD WATCH PROGRAM (see details in additional article in today's FLOYD COUNTY HESPERIAN.)

Lake Mackenzie water line bid-opening July

Bid-opening for the long-awaited water line from Lake Mackenzie near Silverton to Tullia, Lockney, Floydada and Silverton may be delayed from April to July, according to Neil Taylor, manager of Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority.

Taylor said the engineers are still working on the plans, and the Authority is getting easements.

Early last month the engineers from Freese and Nichols, Inc. of Fort Worth visited the sites to see first-hand the treatment plant site as well as the transmission lines route and hook-up locations in the four cities.

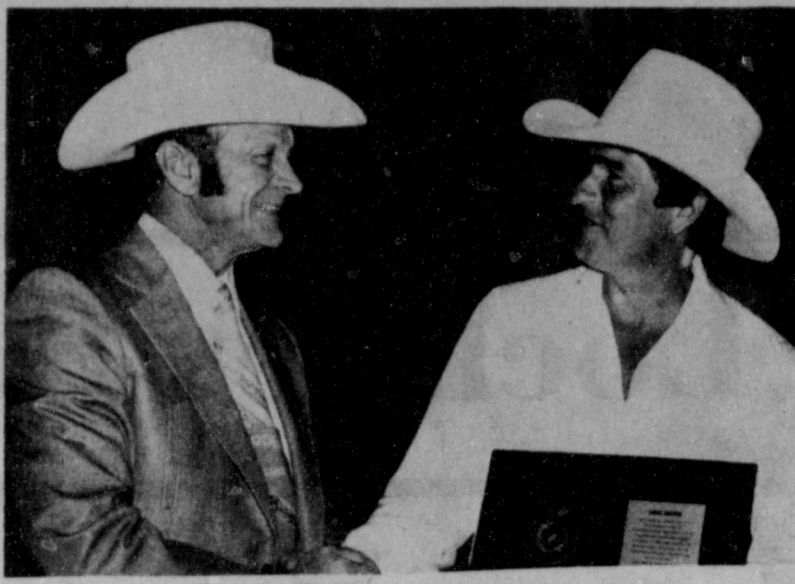

After plans are completed, they must be approved by the MMWA board. The next step will be to present those plans to the engineers of the Farmers Home Administration and the Texas Department of Water Resources.

Approval from those two is necessary because the funding for the $15 million project is coming by means of a $7,363,000 FmHA loan and a $7,368,000 loan from the state agency.

Approval is expected to take approximately three weeks, then bids will be called, with advertising for bids to take about 45 days.

The project will take water from the Mackenzie Reservoir to a treatment plant to be built behind the dam, 3,000 feet from the marina. After treatment, the water will be piped south to the Rock Creek Store area, where a two million gallon water storage tank will be built.

JOE MONTGOMERY of Abilene (left), president, Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation Districts, presents entertainer Mac Davis an award for outstanding public service for his voluntary efforts to promote the conservation of Texas' soil, water and related renewable natural resources. Davis serves as a spokesman for Texas soil and water conservation districts by urging Texans to become aware of and active participants in the state's soil and water conservation efforts.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's

Perspectives

A murder was committed in Indiana this past week. But there will be no investigation, no trial, no defendant, because the murder was sanctioned by the state Supreme Court and the medical profession which perpetrated the act.

If you do not know, up in Bloomington, a child was born with Down's syndrome and some congenital defects which would have required extensive surgery. The parents of the child told the doctors to allow the child to die. The doctors honored that request and did not provide nourishment to the baby, and a few days later the infant died.

The plight of the child was given national exposure when lawyers tried to get the courts to intervene. The courts decided in favor of the parents. Attempts to gain an emergency hearing before the U.S. Supreme Court were unsuccessful. People from all over the nation offered to adopt the child, but their attempts were rebuffed.

Those who have been rabid profilers have told us that the end result of unlimited abortions would be the devaluation of human life. They said that what would happen would be the extermination of people when they failed to serve any kind of useful purpose. They said that old people would be put out of their misery, and that babies who were born defective would be killed. Their critics said these things would never happen.

The decision to not feed the above mentioned child was deemed "a medical decision." Somehow, I just cannot buy that. In my mind, there is just no difference between administering a lethal dosage of drugs, shooting, stabbing, or whatever, and deliberately starving someone to death.

This incident is an ominous sign on the horizon. Once upon a time, doctors circumvented parents decisions, some still do. But increasingly, decisions like this one which were once kept quiet because of the recrimination which might follow, are now openly justified and defended. If we are not careful, the direst predictions of the doomsayers may well come true.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

Thank you, Floydada!

The Easter Seal Society greatly appreciates the generous gifts from the people of Floydada. Without your thoughtful support, we could not continue our many services for the disabled in this community. In times like these, when we all must carefully budget the help we give to others, your donations to disabled fellow Texans mean even more.

Checks ranging from a few dollars to many dollars continue to arrive at the Texas Easter Seal office, as area residents follow through on the record $255.00 pledged locally during the recent Easter Seal Telethon.

Besides those who have donated funds, we thank the many volunteers who gave their time to work for us in the community. We are proud of the Rotary Club's role as our partner in the effort to help the disabled people of Texas. Thanks, too, to the staff of Channel 11, who helped so much with the Telethon. More than 200 volunteers staffed the Telethon set at Channel 11 during the show that we held on March 27-28. Pledges from here enabled the National Easter Seal Society to raise a new record $21 million.

Thank you again, Floydada.

When will last freeze hit?

WHEN WILL LAST FREEZE HIT?

Farmers as well as gardeners get the urge to plant spring crops just as soon as there are a few days of warm weather. But there's still plenty of time for freezing temperatures over much of Texas, according to data compiled by the National Weather Service at Texas A&M University.

The tables below show the last freeze dates for the various districts of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Early" represents a 90 percent chance for a freeze (32 degrees F.) later than the date indicated. "Average" represents a 50-50 chance of a freeze after the date indicated while "late" indicates only a 10 percent chance of a freeze occurring after the date shown.

Despite several periods of extremely cold temperatures this winter, odds favor near normal temperatures through March, according to the National Weather Service's seasonal outlook. Thus the last freeze will probably occur about the average date for most parts of Texas.

So, farmers and gardeners will want to keep that date in mind when planting warm-season crops that could suffer freeze damage if planted too early.

Volunteer Firemen...

the more heat it absorbs. The key is in controlling that spray so that the fire is smothered and there is no flash back behind the men as they move into the flame area.

The hoses carried about 90 pounds of pressured. One cubic foot of water is replaced by 1700 cubic feet of steam. This in effect smothers the fire.

The spray also acts as a giant broom, sweeping the smoke ahead of it and creates a fresh air flow behind it.

Stokes said that at times when breathing becomes difficult in actual firefighting, the men lean down close to the nozzle in order to catch some of the fresh air.

In situations where there is smoke and poisonous gasses the breathing apparatus is used. This is the second major breakthrough in firefighting protection. The mask is air tight and the apparatus is self-contained.

At the training school, each group is divided. First the instructor, of which Floydada had three, goes over the exercise. Then the teams, standing on either side of the hose, go into the fire. In what seems like an astonishing short time, the fire is out. In the enclosed house situation they then move the smoke to the windows with the fog thus clearing the room.

The three instructors from Floydada are: Bobby Welborn, Chief; Larry Guthrie, asst. chief; and Dinks Eckert. Other firefighters at the school Thursday night were Paul Burnham and Ricky Martin. Billy and Jimmy Marquis were also at the school but were not suited in fire protection clothing.

Each 45-minute session was followed by a coffee, soft drink and doughnut break. This was provided by the Lubbock group.

The respect shown by the metropolitan fire department to the volunteers was evident in every phase of the operation.

"The volunteers are the backbone of their communities," Stokes said. "they do a tremendous job."

He also said that for every dollar the city helps their volunteers with, "you can be sure they are paying two or three dollars of their own money to come here."

I was impressed with the group as a whole. They were warm and friendly.

They all seem to have a deep sense caring.

Every time I have to interview the victim of a fire, they have described their feelings with the same word, "helpless."

I believe that the reason the volunteers give so much of their time, not only in training sessions, but in manning the fire hall, and in facing the dangers of a fire, is their desire to help their neighbors.

The only compensation I can see for a volunteer firefighter is his personal satisfaction in being able to come to the rescue when the people in his community are faced with a situation completely out of their control.

A most worthy calling!

Rest Home Birthday Party

BY LORILLA BRADLEY
April is a lovely month...
It often brings us roses.
Along with showers and other things...
And birthdays ere it closes.

We greet our Mr. Dodson...
His friends all call him Bill...
He sits beside the "parlor" door
His special place to fill!

Our Mr. Leon Marble
...His years are 83...
Is a very kindly gentleman...
Just meet him and you'll see.

Now Mrs. Annie Neff we greet
...Her years are 95...
She likes the birthday party
With fun and sometimes "jive".

Lets cheer these lovely people
And do the birthday song...
To let them know we love them...
So join the sing-along.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

BY LINDA EMERT
The weather has been hot and dry.
Windy and cloudy and still no rain. Sure could use the rain on the yards and crops.
Well Monday the residents enjoyed painting ceramics. We had quite a few that like them. Wednesday they played bingo and everyone won. W.C. Cates won 1, Emmit Lawrance won 4, Fay McMahan won 2, Una Clark won 1, Vera Duke won 1, Sue Thompson won 1, and Geneda Roberts won 1 game. The winner got a bag of chips.

We have a new resident, Mrs. Jeffie Smith, if you know her come by and visit with her. She is in 4 west. And our own Juanita Bailey is still in the Hospital. We wish her well and get back home again.

Thursday we had our monthly birthday party for the residents that had April birthdays. They were Annie Neff, Leon Marble, and W.A. Dodson. Most all the residents attend the party. The ones that stay in their room get cake and punch there.
Friday we had two movies for the residents and gave them popcorn. They seem to enjoy the movies a lot.
I think they will be glad when we can start taking bus trips again. They sure do miss the out-of-door a lot.

Visitors for the week were: Estele
Hinkle, Beulah Denison, Worth Gwen
Howard, Dana Ellis, Charley L. Berry
Sr., Hazel Bradley and Kim, Rebecca
Smith, Eldie Bryant, Wanda Davenport, Linda and Joshua Self, Debra, Jason and Justin Bailey and Sherry Colston.
Also, Carolyn Hillman, Bunice Martin, Corky Fullingin, Ruby Burt, Maurice and Ella Goodwin, the Kirk McIntosh family, Wanda Davenport, Linda and Joshua Self, Myria Dade, Lucille Sisson, Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Hart, Rebecca Smith, Frances Badgett and Irene Sherrill.

Thursday, April 15 was birthday party time again at the Rest Home and ladies of the City Park Church of Christ were hostesses.

Residents and guests were ushered into the dining room with the honorees being seated at the "honor" table. We are so sorry Mr. Marble and Mr.
Dodson were unable to attend.

The table was laid with an ecru cloth and centered with a floral arrangement in blue. Special birthday cards in a matching color marked places for the honorees.

Mrs. Neff was happy to have many of her loved ones seated at the table with her. They were Ed and Dorothy Neff, Sherry and Leona Neff, Paul and Hauteen (Neff) Woody and Mary Bell Neff. We do appreciate members of the family of the honorees (whenever possible) being with us to celebrate these special days.

A delicious refreshment plate of iced birthday cake and fruit punch was served to residents, guests and employees.

The next party will be Thursday, May 13, 2:30 p.m. Please make plans to be with us, especially if you have loved ones or close friends being honored.

APRIL BIRTHDAY HONOREES—Residents of the Floydada Nursing Home celebrate their birthdays in April were honored with a birthday party at the home last week. Being honored were Annie Neff, age 95, and Bill Dodson and Leon Marble, who are not pictured.

persons who left Amarillo April 17 via Continental Trailways bus for Salt Lake City, Utah on a genealogical research trip.

Others from this area were Mrs. Joy Denton, Mrs. Nona McPherson, and Mrs. Edith Watts of Plainview.

Genealogical research will be done in the Latter Day Saints (LDS) Library.

illo on Sunday, April 25.

Child abuse can be prevented

Child abuse and neglect can be prevented by Texans building a network of services to help families in distress, the president of the Texas Council of Child Welfare Boards said Friday.

"We can help parents learn how to discipline their children without injuring," said Susan Bush of Athens.

"Where local communities support a wide range of family services, child abuse can be reduced. And, there's a bonus in keeping an abused youngster from repeating the cycle of abuse when the child grows up and becomes a parent," Bush said at a council meeting to plan the 50th anniversary in 1982 of the beginning of child protective services in Texas.

Bush and the Rev. Bill Hughes of Jourdanton head a committee to recognize state-county cooperation in child protection since 1932. Today, more than 1,800 Texans on 172 county boards offer time and service to protect children from abuse and neglect in partnership with the Texas Department of Human Resources.

Bush noted that the likelihood for abuse or neglect goes up in families under great stress from financial difficulties, marital discord, social isolation or poor health.

"Something as simple as talking to a neighborhood father who has lost his job can defuse the frustration and guilt that otherwise might be taken out on the children," Bush said. She said an old-fashioned concern for neighbors could go a long way toward helping families cope with modern stresses that are related to many abuse cases.

"Admittedly, such informal actions aren't enough to help some families who need comprehensive therapeutic services," Bush said. "Even in those families, however, Texans can play a supportive role in programs to protect children."

Texans who want to do more to prevent child abuse and neglect usually find that an effective approach is to serve as a volunteer, or involved citizen, by working with the Department of Human Resources, the county child welfare board, or through a church or civic group.

Ways to get involved:
1. Most importantly, report suspected instances of child abuse, neglect, or exploitation by calling the toll-free Child Abuse Hotline at 1-800-252-5400. It's answered day and night, seven days a week, and callers are not required to give their names.

2. Join an organization that offers caring attention to family groups suffering from frustration and isolation.

3. Increase your knowledge and understanding of child maltreatment, its causes and cures. Local libraries carry books and professional journals that discuss the subject.

4. Contact a local government agency that deals with child abuse and offer your help as a volunteer.

5. Guide a group in which you are active, such as an athletic team, neighborhood group, or church assembly, into doing something to help stem the incidence of child maltreatment in your community.

6. Assist your schools and churches in developing programs and audiences for basic education about child rearing, parent training, and subjects dealing with human development.

7. Volunteer your time to troubled parents, "adopt" a family in trouble, become a parent aide to mothers who are young and inexperienced in raising children, help recruit foster parents and adoptive parents, and reach out to neighbors having problems.

How to get involved: Contact a member of your county's child welfare board or the citizen involvement office in the nearest DHR office.

NEGLECT CAN KILL, TOO.
IT JUST TAKES A LITTLE LONGER.

Child abuse in most minds is synonymous with battered children. But the awful fact is that thousands of parents are abus-ing their children by leaving them alone. It's called neglect, and it can mean a lack of love,
as well as a lack of food, clothing and shelter. And just as in the other forms of child abuse—physical, sexual and emotional —it can and often does result in death. Each year one million children feel the pain of child abuse needlessly. Needlessly because it can be prevented if you help.

Abused children are helpless.
Unless you help.

Visitors Day observed by El Progreso Club

The El Progreso Study Club met in the home of La Verna Sams April 14, 1982 for visitors day. Two visitors, Mrs. Bernice Barker and Mrs. Eva Whitfill, were charter members of the club organized in 1927.

Bobbie Kellison, who arranged the program, introduced another former member, Anna Dell Quebe of Plainview, who gave a delightful review of the book, "A Woman of Independent Means" by Foreythe Hailey Means. This was a journal of a very wealthy woman born in 1899 and living to 1968. This is a very graphic story of the changing America through the first part of the twentieth century. How she manipulated those she came in contact with made a very humorous and interesting study of life as she lived it to the fullest.

Guests present were Anna Dell Quebe, Bernice Barker, Veda Mae Miller, Mary Ansley, Ruth Carthel, Eva Whitfill, Bernice Reynolds, Dorothy Merrill, Ruby Terrell, and Wanda Rogas. Members present were La Verna Sams, Kathleen Thornton, Katherine Ball, Hazel Johnson, Dorothy Smith, Josie Taylor, Linnie Abbott, Faye Holmes, Faye Ferguson, Bobby Kellison, Cornelia Johnson, Alice Mitchell, Arla Copeland, Dimon Schacht, Pauline Sams and Jeanette Marr.

Cherries in bloom at Center Comm.

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN
April 19: We are still dry and windy. But not quite so cold. Grass is green and cherries in bloom. Tumble weeds and trash still decorate our yards, not long after we clean up. A good rain which we look forward to will be fine.

News came last week that Dennis Spense, a former Centerite, had passed away in California. Dennis the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Spence, like several others of that time left Texas 35 or 40 years ago. He was the nephew of Mr. Charley Spence. Our sympathy is with surviving relatives here and in California.

When gardening time came my grandmother got out the Almanac to see when to plant what. My Fannin County uncle made it simple: Plant in the dark of the moon products that grow under the ground like potatoes, beets, carrots, etc. And in the light of the moon plant what produce above the ground like beans, peas, tomatoes, melons and fruit.

Ochoa, Carisales repeat vows

BY JOYCE WILLIAMS

Rebecca Ochoa and Jose Rodriguez Carisales were united in matrimony April 9, 1982 in the offices of Justice of the Peace Walter Hollums, Floyd County Courthouse. The bride wore a light blue knit suit with a blouse of white batiste printed with blue flowers. She attended Floydada schools. She is the daughter of Mrs. Adela Ochoa, Floydada. The couple went to Midland on their wedding trip. Their wedding cake was iced in blue and white in a lattice work design with hearts and love birds. They are at home on the Howard Bishop farm in Lakeview where the groom has been employed several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McLaugh and Marlis went to Roaring Springs Sunday afternoon. They took a picnic lunch. During the day they picked up a load of mesquite wood from the brush that is being cleared away there for additional improvements. The management plans to open a steak house in the large Victorian style house that has been restored over the golf course. It will be open two or three days a week.

Holt Bishop's brother-in-law, Riley Teague, has been taking breathing treatments at Caprock Hospital several times this week. Their home is right east of the hospital and Riley goes over just for the treatments.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartsell went to Carlsbad, New Mexico Easter Sunday afternoon and spent the night with their daughter and family. Mr. and Mrs. H.D. Lamberth and children, returning home Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Williams and daughter, Amanda, were in Floydada for the funeral services of Kellie's great-grandfather, T.S. Brown. They left Lawton as soon as Kellie got through with her college classes and Monte finished his Army work on Monday and returned Thursday.

Greg Bishop visited Monte Williams at the ranch Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lloyd spent Easter week-end as houseguests of Mr. and Mrs. Troy Montgomery near Robert Lee, Texas. The Montgomerys are parents of Mrs. Greg Williams of Lubbock. The Montgomerys have their home beside the shores of Lake Spence. For the comfort of their guests they have moved in and remodeled two large barracks. One barrack is furnished as a dormitory with beds. The other barrack holds kitchen facilities and several tables and chairs. Both the Montgomerys are from large families and they have the accommodations to entertain them all at once. Over thirty guests were present for the week-end. Domino games lasted up to two and three o'clock in the morning, with lots of visiting and good eating going on.

An oil and gas seminar will be held in the Community Room of the First National Bank, Floydada, Saturday, April 24, at 12:30 p.m., conducted by a team of lawyers from the Energy Industries Seminars division of Southwestern Enterprises. An ad appears elsewhere in this week's paper stating costs. Mrs. O.D. Williams and her sisters attended this seminar when it was taught in Wichita Falls several weeks ago. It is planned for the landowners, royalty owners, lawyers and landmen. It teaches how to read an oil lease and know if it's to your advantage. Mr. Williams and her sisters took an oil lease from Northern Michigan Exploration Co. who was wanting to lease their ranch land in the Truscott area. They asked enough questions to know the lease contract was not to their advantage, and what changes needed to be made. With this knowledge they took the lease contract to their lawyers, made the changes, and completed the transaction this week.

The seminar is well worth your time and money. The oil and gas beneath your land are marketable commodities, just like cattle wheat or cotton. Let's learn all we can about how to get the most for them. When the crews get that natural gas line installed across the county, then the companion can lease, drill, and transport whatever mineral is there. We'll be ready for them.

VA News

The Veterans Administration has been authorized to begin collecting monthly interest beginning next November 1 on individuals' debts owed the VA through participation in its benefits program.

The VA also has been given authority to advise consumer reporting agencies when a debtor is delinquent, thus affecting personal credit ratings, said the Director, Waco VA Regional Office.

The new VA rules are to be implemented over a two-year period. They affect those debtors who don't make full repayment within 60 days after notification by the VA district counsel or haven't established installment repayment plans with the district counsel.

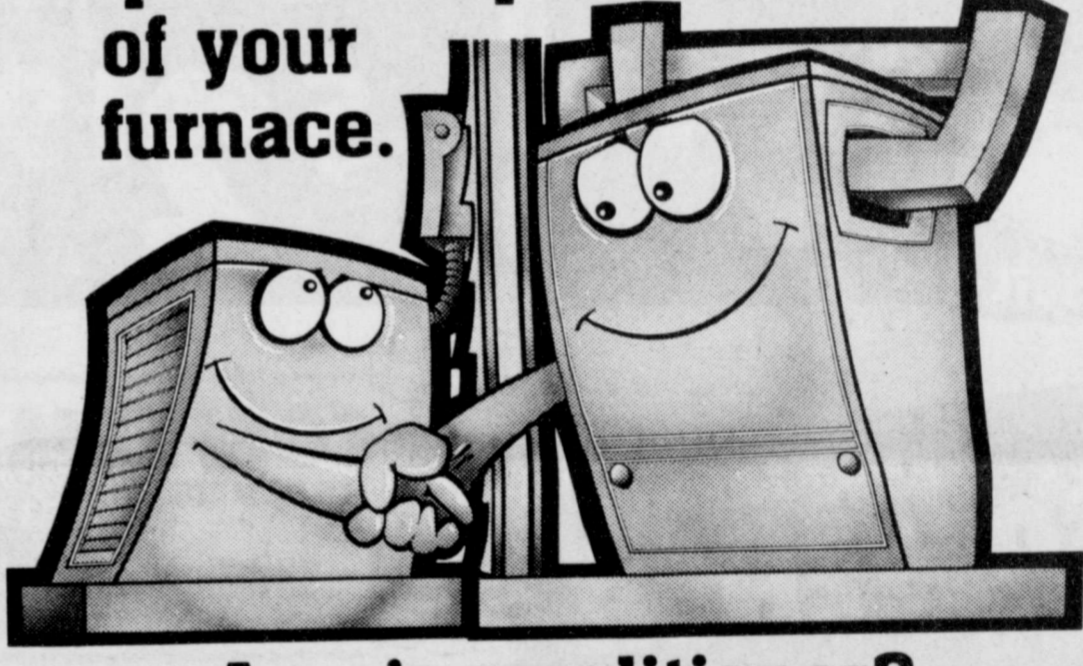

The interest rate will be set by the U.S. Treasury, based on the rate paid for its borrowing. Administrative costs incurred in collecting those debts — much of it in GI education overpayments — also will be assessed.

Such debts currently total more than $1 billion nationally and involve 1.3 million veterans, according to the VA General Counsel's Office.

The VA began legal action nationally 16 months ago to collect debts owed it. The decision to have the VA district counsel collect individual debts of up to $1,200 or less is the result of Congressional legislation nearly three years ago and an agreement between the VA and the federal Justice Department.

Those interested in further information on the debt-collecting program should telephone the Waco VA Regional Office toll free at the number listed in your local telephone directory.

An air conditioner can improve the performance of your furnace.

An air conditioner?

A very special air conditioner called the add-on heat pump. It cools in summer and heats in winter. And it works with whatever kind of furnace you have. The add-on heat pump will improve the performance of your furnace by keeping it off completely during a good portion of the winter. The add-on heat pump can satisfy your home's heating requirements more economically when temperatures are above 30° or so. That's about 80% of our area's normal heating season. Then, when summer comes, the heat pump becomes a cool pump, efficiently air conditioning the home. So, when you're in the market for air conditioning, look into the add-on heat pump.

THIS SHOWS THE SIMULATED OIL TANK TRUCK FIRE. When ignited gas jets feed the fire. Silhouette shows firefighters moving in behind spray. The training school is often the only place that rural firemen can experience oil and gas fire control.

FIRE TEAMS MOVE INTO THE BLAZE of an oil pit fire. Spray pattern of the water smothers the fire. Ordinarily two men would handle the hose. During the training school as many as 16 men will assist with the hose to gain experience.

THE FOGGING PATTERN OF THE WATER is shown here. One cubic foot of water is displaced by 1700 cubic feet of steam. The finer the particles of water the more heat is absorbed.

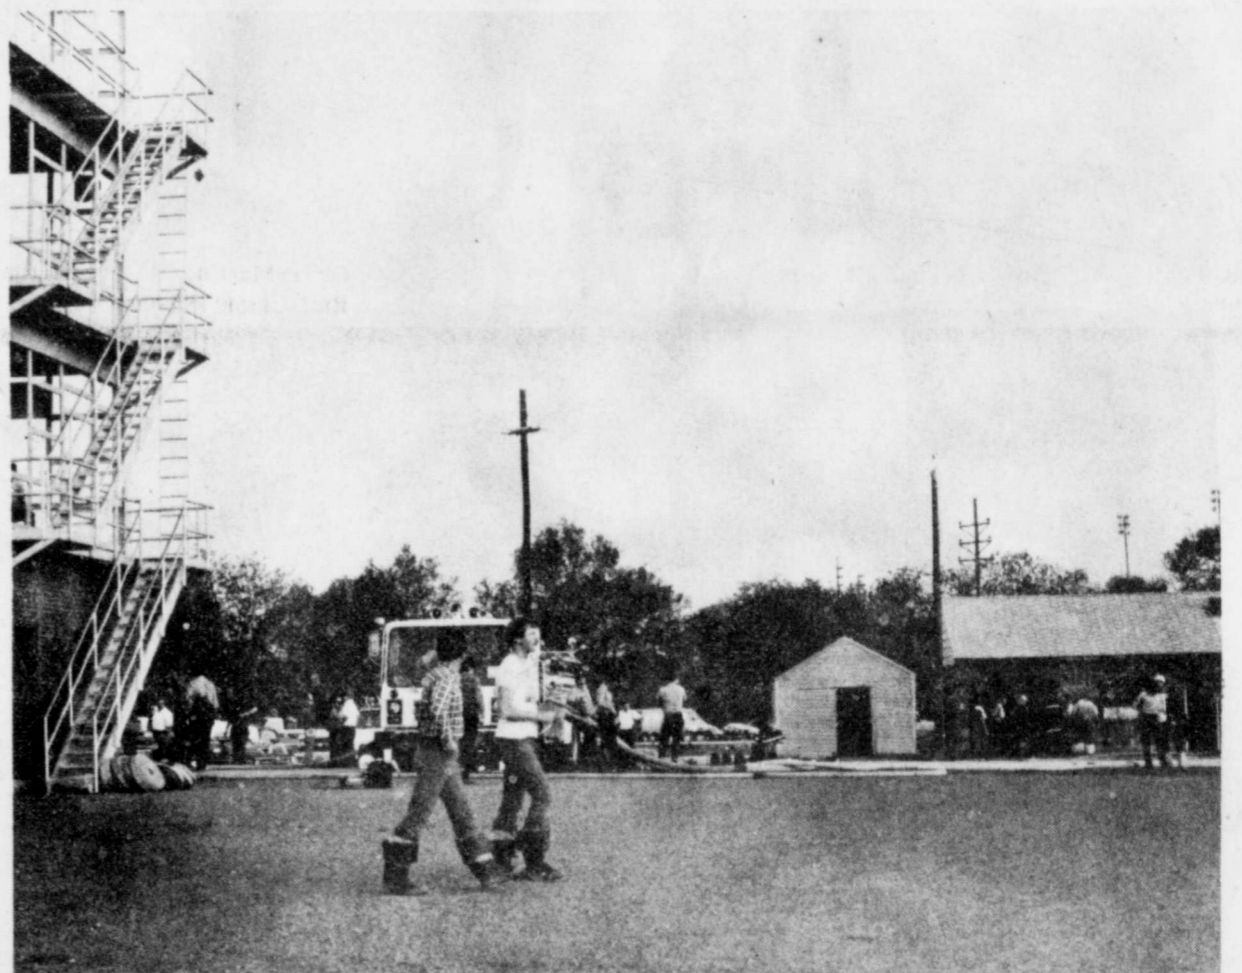

FIREFIGHTER is wearing a breathing apparatus. Car in the garage has just been ignited.

Firefighters attend Training School

by Shelly Harris

FLOYDADA VOLUNTEER FIREMAN, Dinks Eckert is explaining details of the training session in his capacity as instructor.

THESE FIREFIGHTERS ARE PREPARING THE HOSES for the house fire. Stacks of straw are placed in the rooms where furniture would normally be found. A fire is also set in the car in the garage. Breathing devices are worn by trainings in the house fire as protection against smoke and poisonous gasses.

PUMPER TRUCK IN THE CENTER of the picture is attached to a water hydrant. All hoses for the training session lead from the truck. The hoses carry between 50 and 150 pounds of pressure.

Kay Reay to compete in Tennis Regionals this weekend

Kay Reay, a junior at Lockney High School, will be competing in Girls Singles Tennis Regional Meet at Abernathy Friday and Saturday. Her record is 21-6 so far this year.

This is Reay's third time in a row to compete in regional competition, and she has already beaten 2 or 3 of the opposing players she will face this weekend.

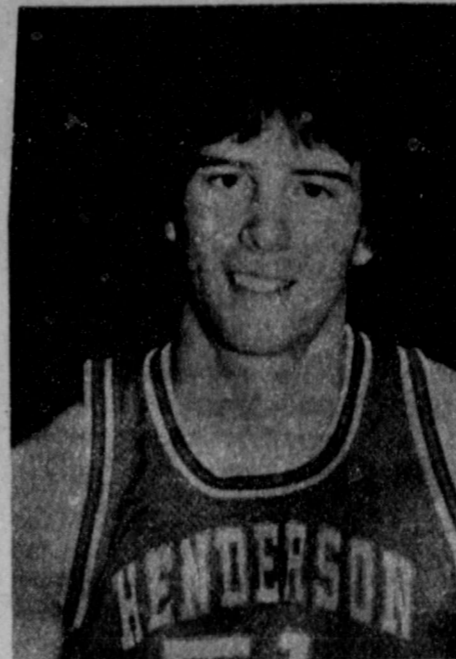

The top two girls of each district will be represented at the Regional I Meet. There are eight districts, with four to six schools to each district.

"Rochelle Cox from Seminole will be some of the toughest competition that Kay will face this weekend," Coach Caffey commented. "She is a very good tennis player."

Another Seminole player and Susan

Hendrix of Floydada was named as some more stiff competition. Reay has been matched with Hendrix before. In the first competition, Hendrix won. In the second, Reay beat her out.

As Caffey commented on what he expected this weekend, he stated, "She should be one of the top girls in the tournament this weekend," referring to Reay.

JOHN CUMMINGS

Cummings helps take Henderson to state

John Cummings, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings, has been playing center position for the Henderson County Junior College Cardinal basketball team.

The team was ranked second and third all year in the nation in the AP poll.

They won conference, zone, and regional. As a result they were eligible for National Junior College American Athletic Basketball competition. It was held in the Sports Arena at Hutchinson, Kansas.

They went into the competition with a 31-2 record. Henderson got to semi-finals, but lost by 2 points. They placed third in the nation.

John, a 6'6" freshman, is a science major. He has been named to the dean's list this year.

Could you use a slave?

The freshmen class of Lockney High School will have a slave week, April 29-May 8. Anyone needing odd jobs completed such as cleaning house, grass mowed, flower beds cleaned, or windows washed, may call Brent Hallmark (652-2158), or Monty Teeter (652-3158). This is the money-making project for the freshmen this year. WE AIM TO PLEASE.

Brawley girl fighting to overcome disease

The pox that puts most children in bed for a few itchy days turned into a life threatening situation that an eight-year-old Brawley girl is still fighting to overcome.

Misty Willis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Willis, Jr., and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Willis, Sr., of Petersburg and a great granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Smith of Floydada, is in a children's hospital in San Diego, still struggling to overcome rare and little understood Reye's Syndrome.

The syndrome strikes children recovering from a virus infection, like chicken pox or the flu.

Like most chicken pox sufferers, Misty did not feel terrific. But on March 17, Misty's symptoms began to deviate from those normally associated with chicken pox.

She developed a high fever, vomiting and weakness. Her mother rushed her to Pioneers Memorial Hospital in Brawley, where doctors recognized the symptoms as Reye's Syndrome and Misty was rushed by air to San Diego.

Mrs. Willis, who says she has received a real education from the experience, said she is grateful for friends who have expressed concern.

"Their prayers and the doctor's skills are pulling her through," she said.

MISTY WILLIS

She urged parents to be especially watchful for symptoms of the syndrome if their children develop chicken pox. The doctors at Children's Hospital said Misty is the worst case they have ever seen.

Misty's address is Children's Hospital, 8001 Frost Street, San Diego, California 92123. Her phone number is 714-292-3111.

Recovery Act includes preservation incentives

The Economic Recovery Act of 1981, passed by Congress late last year, has sparked great interest in historic preservation by offering tax incentives to those who invest in historic properties. Preservation-related portions of the act provide tax credit opportunities for building owners involved in rehabilitation of qualified structures. Buildings at least 30 years old are eligible for a 15% tax credit; buildings at least 40 years old are eligible for a 20% tax credit; and buildings individually listed on the National Register of Historic Places or certified as a Contributing Member of a National Register District may receive a 25% tax credit.

To qualify for the tax credit, a building owner must meet "substantial rehabilitation" standards. These standards require that rehabilitation costs exceed $5,000 or the amount of the adjusted basis of the property, whichever is greater. The rehabilitation must also retain at least 75% of the existing external walls as exposed exterior walls. Residential rental projects and commercial and industrial projects may use the 25% investment tax credit, provided they meet the rehabilitation standards, and have 15 years remaining on their lease. The owners of buildings leased to tax-exempt organizations and governmental entities are also eligible for the tax credit.

Further information on this act, including the Secretary of the Interior's rehabilitation guidelines, may be obtained from the National Register Department, Texas Historical Commission, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711. In order to benefit from this act, property owners must complete a simple four-page form and submit plans and photographs to be reviewed by the THC. Subsequent approval from the Department of Interior then must be obtained. As the Internal Revenue Service has not yet written regulations for the preservation incentives in this act, costly mistakes may be avoided by prior consultation with THC staff and a tax attorney or certified public accountant.

WWII submarine veterans wanted

The Texas Chapter of U.S. Submarine Veterans of World War II is searching for all veterans of WWII who served on U.S. submarines or in relief crews during the period of December 7, 1941 and December 31, 1946.

The Texas State Convention will be in Corpus Christi, May 14-16, 1982. The national convention will be in Hartford, Connecticut during mid August with local and regional conventions during the year. All submarine veterans and their families are invited and urged to attend. For complete information, please contact J.A. Woodall, Texas State Secretary, P.O. Box 1368, Galveston, Texas 77553, phone (713) 765-7910.

During World War II U.S. Navy submarines operated under a news blackout and became known as "The Silent Service." Comprising less than 2% of all the military forces in action against Japan, our submarines accounted for more than 60% of all Japanese naval, military and merchant shipping sunk or destroyed by all forces combined. While doing this our submarined forces suffered the highest losses of any military branch in action against the Japanese.

In addition to erecting memorials to shipmates who lost their lives during WWII, preserving and displaying WWII type submarines for the general public, 52 college scholarships are awarded each year to dependent children of submarine veterans, as living memorials to those 52 submarines and their crews lost during World War II.

If you know a submarine veteran of WWII, please see that he gets this information.

Heritage Center holds dedication ceremony at the Museum of TTU

Pieces of history were remembered, recorded and preserved during a day of dedications Saturday, April 3, at the Ranching Heritage Center of The Museum of Texas Tech University.

The 6666 Barn, representing the ranching empire of Samuel Burk Burnett, flagpoles honoring one of the initiators of the ranching heritage museum, and an elegant harp, a symbol of the stylish, cultural side of ranch life, were dedicated.

Also accepted on behalf of the center were a salt trough once used on the Hank Smith Ranch near Crosbyton and a snubbing post from the Nance Ranch near Justiceburg.

Following a flag-raising ceremony by Boy Scout Troop 404, historian Ernest Wallace dedicated the Claude S. Denham memorial flagpoles. He called Denham a "flagbearer — one who is out front, holding up the flag and refusing to surrender or retreat until he is carried from the field by his comrades."

Wallace said Denham, a first generation native of the High Plains born in a half-dugout near Floydada, was very active in the Ranching Heritage Center, serving in leadership roles of the Ranching Heritage Association.

"Claude Denham helped start this ranching heritage museum about 15 years ago lest our ranching heritage soon be forgotten," Wallace said. "We are here to memorialize Denham for his role in that great project."

"We are what we are because of history and history is what a people remember, record or preserve, presented in a manner that explains or interprets the surviving facts," Wallace said.

numbers on the side mean nothing without the force behind the building — the character of the family that built and is building the Four Sixes," Cavazos said.

"We want future generations to know this man and his family and understand and emulate their character traits — courage, integrity, decency that respects the rights of others, hard work applied to a worthy goal and a disciplined mind."

Cavazos said the center is preserving the heritage of the pioneer spirit. "This barn was built in 1908, but I predict its service has just begun," Cavazos said.

Moved to the Ranching Heritage Center last year, the 3,500-square-foot barn now includes an assembly room with stage, tack room, carriage room, kitchen and restrooms. It was used Saturday for the first time for a luncheon for the Board of Overseers of the Ranching Heritage Association, J.J. Gibson, manager of the 6666, responded to the dedication address.

Ranch visitors mingled in the Edith Whatley McKanna Parlour with coffee and cookies while harp music was performed by Amy L. Fennell, student of Texas Tech harp instructor and music professor Gail Barber.

Dr. Harold Luce, chairman of the Texas Tech Music Department, dedicated the hand-carved Venus harp which will be displayed and played in the parlour of the center's David M.

DeVitt and Mallett Ranch Building. Mrs. McKanna of Fluvana, who has provided the parlour, gave the instrument.

Luce said the difference between early day harps and the modern, seven-pedal harp being dedicated are about as distinctive as differences in ranching techniques then and now.

"It is our hope that performances on this instrument will bring pleasure to the thousands of guests who will visit the McKanna Parlour in years to come," he said.

Georgia Mae Ericson of Crosbyton, who gave her grandfather's salt trough, reminded the audience that Hank Smith, who came to America from Germany in 1848, was the first settler in Blanco Canyon on the Mackenzie Trail. The trough will be used at the Reynolds-Gentry Barn at the center.

Lewis "Sonny" Nance of Azle donated the snubbing post in memory of his father, Elton Nance, who at 10 settled with his widowed mother on the Nance Ranch at Justiceburg about 1905. The post will be part of the horse breaking corral at the center.

Dr. James A. Goss, director of The Museum, accepted the barn, the flagpole monument, the harp, salt trough and snubbing post on behalf of the institution.

The Ranching Heritage Center depicts the history of ranching in America through historic structures on a 14-acre outdoor exhibit site.

TORNADO

Scientists unlock secrets of how tornadoes form

[Reprinted with the permission of the Dallas Morning News.]

By Joe Pouncy
Staff Writer of The News

Their lifespan is brief. Their destructive power is awesome. They touch Texas soil an average of 120 times a year, causing widespread devastation and suffering.

Within the past 20 years, meteorologists have made significant progress not only in enhancing their knowledge of the natural forces that spawn tornadoes but also in how people can best protect themselves from the storms that frequent North Central Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Iowa from March to June.

"A tornado is the most violent wind force on Earth. There's nothing whatsoever that can match its violence," said Alan Moller, meteorologist with the National Weather Service in Fort Worth.

"THESE THREE BASIC factors that create tornadoes are warm air masses coming up from the Gulf of Mexico, warm and very dry air masses coming from the West, and the jet stream," Moller said.

The low-level air masses that come from the gulf and the West cause violent thunderstorms to develop when they meet, Moller said. The greater the difference in temperature and moisture between the two adjacent air masses, the greater the energy content and violence of the ensuing thunderstorm.

Thunderstorms are formed by the violent upward motion of warm air, which as it rises and is cooled produces great towers of cumulonimbus clouds, from which tornadoes are spawned.

Meteorologists say that most tornadoes occur between 3 and 7 p.m. as the ground absorbs heat provided by sunshine.

"The ground heats up rapidly," Moller said. "When the heat is released, warm air rises through cooler air, and the stronger the updraft the better chance for large hail and tornadoes."

At some time during the process the strong updraft of air starts a counterclockwise rotation, Moller said. That is the start of tornadic activity.

In the spring, the jet stream, a narrow band of winds that move more than 100 mph at altitudes from 20,000 to 40,000 feet, blows from the southwest to the northeast across the low-level air masses, Moller said. The jet stream "takes all precipitation developing in the clouds and forces it to the northeast. Rain and hail fall immediately northeast of such storms because this precipitation does not fall back into the updraft where the tornado will develop."

Since the overall thunderstorm is moving in a northeast direction, heavy rain, hail, thunder and lightning will precede the tornado, Moller said.

"About three out of four tornadoes move from the southwest to the northeast," Moller said. "A tornado's movement depends on the movement of its parent thunderstorm and in most cases the upper winds and the jet stream will be blowing from the southwest to the northeast. Thunderstorms and tornadoes likewise will move in that direction."

"THESE CONDITIONS come together most frequently in the spring from March to June," Moller said. "In the summer we get a lot of thunderstorms, but the jet stream has shifted northward into Canada and tornadoes do not occur as frequently."

Last year 178 tornadoes, causing millions in property damage and two deaths, were reported in Texas.

Meteorologists, using an intensity scale developed by University of Chicago researcher Ted Fujita, now place tornadoes in three basic categories.

The first category includes the "weak tornado" with rotating wind speeds up to 110 mph. About 62 percent of all tornadoes are in this category.

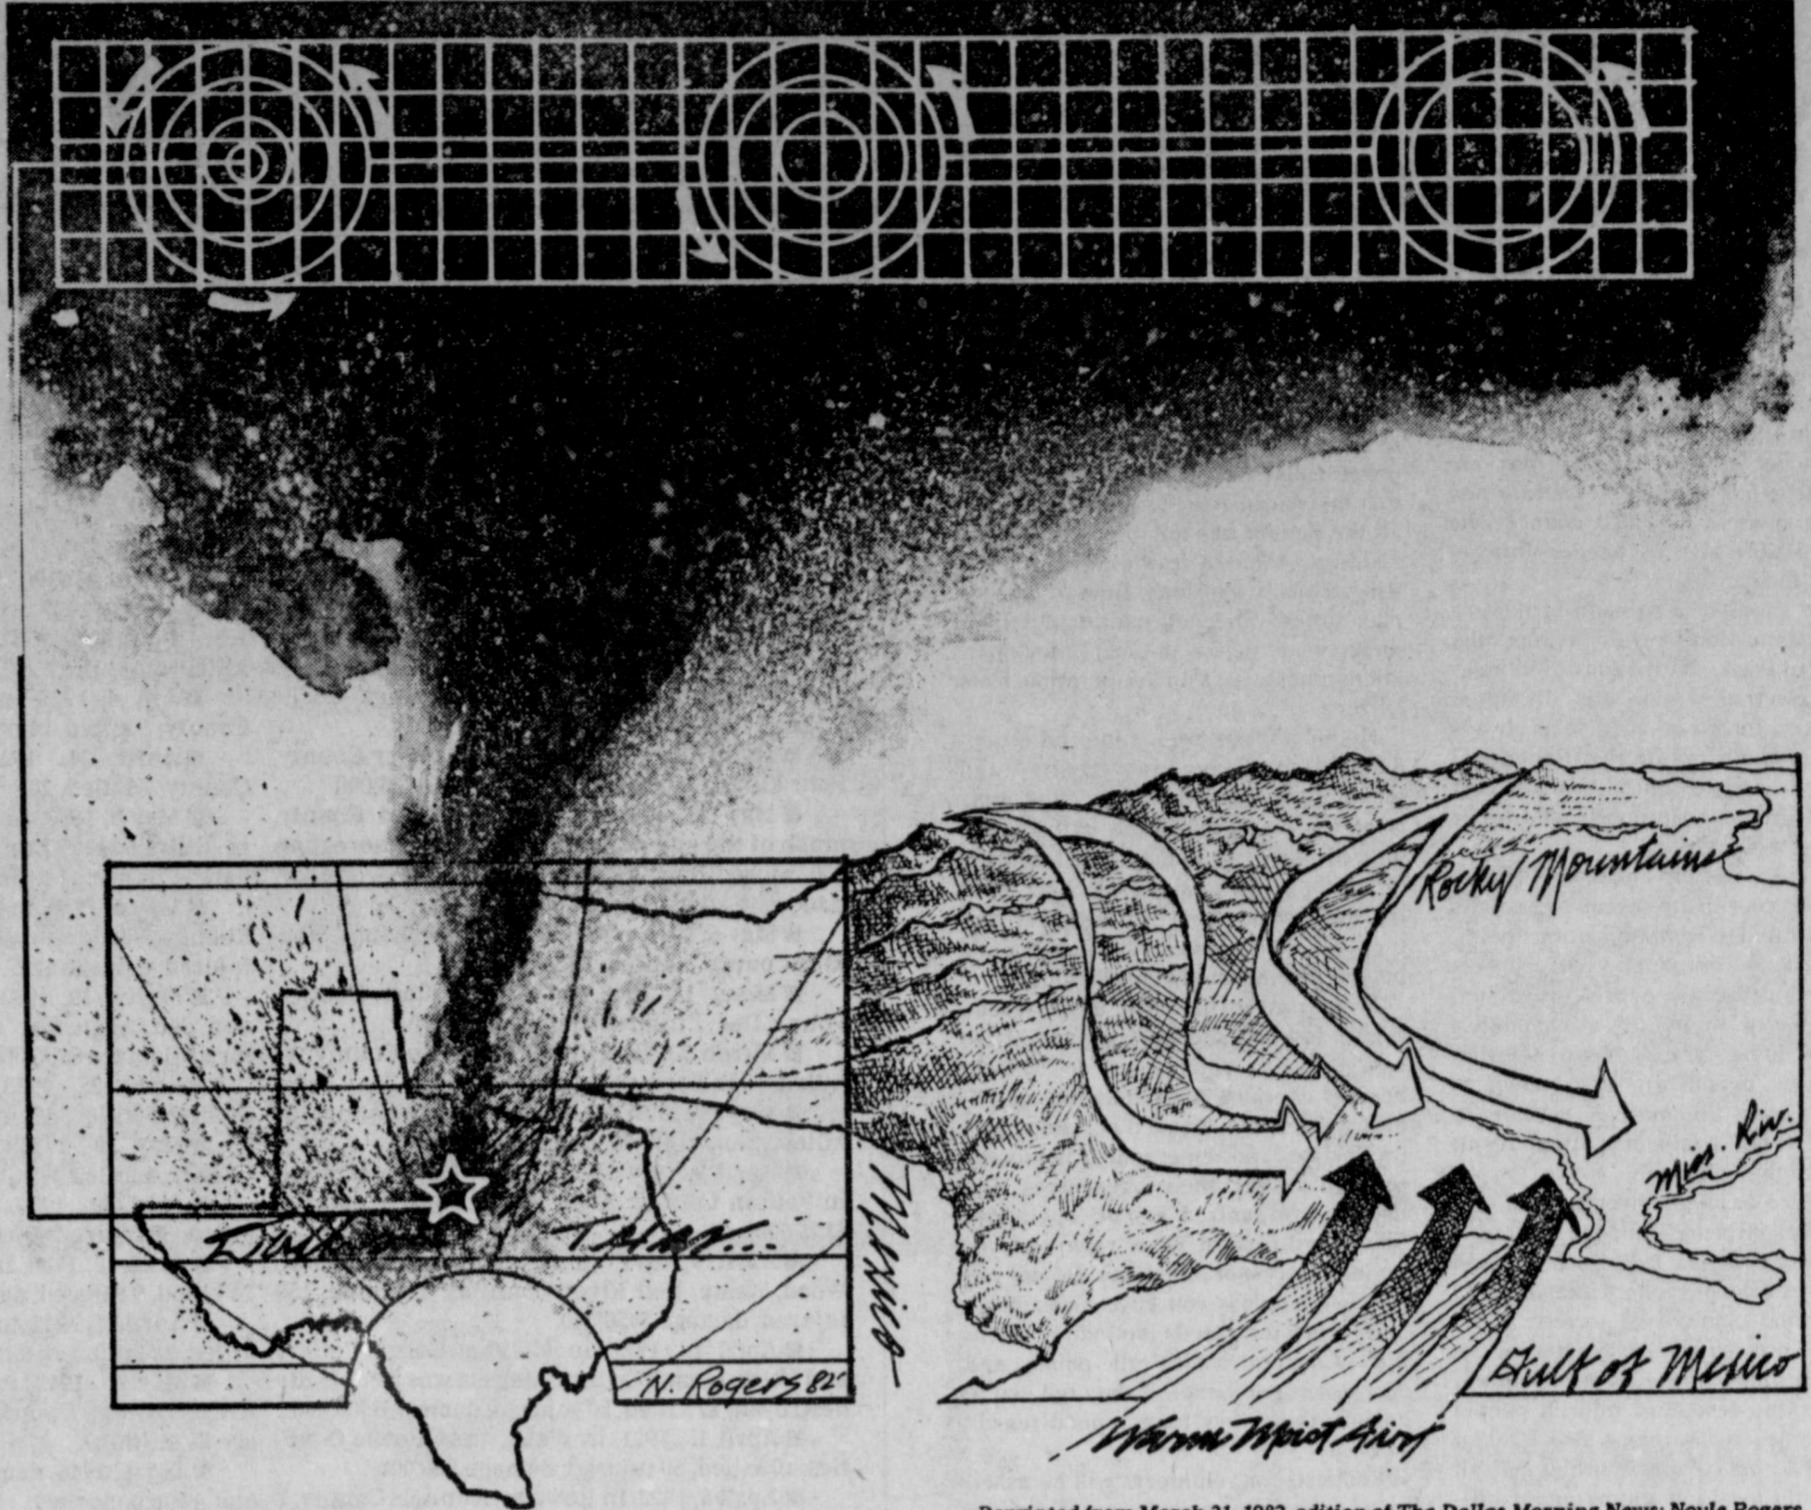

The twister that struck Duncanville last Sunday, causing $250,000 in property damage, was considered a weak storm by meteorologists. Weak tornadoes usually cause extensive roof and exterior wall damage to homes.

The second category is the "strong tornado" which has rotating wind speeds from 110 to 200 mph. This category accounts for about 36 percent of all tornadoes.

Storms included in the third category are called "violent tornadoes." They are the most dangerous. Violent tornadoes have wind speeds of 200 to 300 mph.

Researchers believe that only two percent of all tornadoes are in this category.

Although tornadoes of this magnitude are rare, meteorologists say that violent tornadoes account for

Reprinted from March 21, 1982, edition of The Dallas Morning News: Novle Rogers

The interaction of low-level air masses from the gulf and upper-level winds causes tornadoes in Texas.

70 percent of all tornado deaths.

Violent tornadoes are not only devastating but large. Their funnels range in width from a quarter of a mile to a mile. Their path of destruction is about 26 miles.

The average tornado (one falling in the first category) will have a path length of only 2 to 3 miles, Moller said.

The National Weather Service tracks thunderstorms by weather radar. However, a funnel can't be detected this way. The weather service depends on a network of trained spotters to act as its eyes and ears.

"Radar is the broad focus of the picture," Moller said. "It allows us to see where thunderstorms are and where they are moving. But radar does not allow us to see precisely what type of weather is occurring beneath a thunderstorm. Spotters fine tune the system because they are the ones who inform us about what is occurring in a thunderstorm."

Occasionally radar will show a "hook echo" pattern indicating a large whirling motion, about five miles in diameter in clouds. But this echo doesn't always mean that a tornado is forming.

When weather conditions indicate, the National Severe Storm Forecast Center in Kansas City, Mo., will issue a tornado watch.

A watch is only an indication of where and when the probabilities are highest for tornadoes to form. It identifies an area about 140 miles wide by 200 miles long.

TORNADO WARNINGS are issued locally by the weather service office in Fort Worth when radar or information from spotters indicate severe weather in the area.

When a warning is given, persons close to the storm are advised to take cover immediately.

Mass confusion follows storms

BY SGT. RAYNARD MACHA
Floydada Police Department

Spring is here and with it comes the threat of severe weather. Anyone who listens to the news or has lived in the area knows of the danger. We are fortunate to have some very well trained weather spotters in Floyd county who could possibly give us needed time to prepare for a disaster.

In the event of a tornado striking a city the immediate result is generally mass confusion. With radio, TV, telephone, electricity, gas, etc. disrupted the law enforcement officials always have their hands full. In the first critical 24 hrs. the responsibility of preserving life, and protecting property and order is an enormous task.

Getting added help and assessing the damage to coordinate rescue operations is difficult due to communications being hampered or completely out. Streets may be blocked by debris or excited people trying to get to a hospital a relatives home across town. During such times people are not known to exercise great amounts of caution in their driving. Accidents often result adding to the confusion.

There are downed power lines threatening to electrocute someone or start a fire. There are gas leaks which could cause fires or explosions. Unfortunately the criminal element of society see a chance to prey on helpless victims of the disaster usually in the form of looting. The care and rescue of injured people can become an enormous task. All of these and many more problems all confronting local law enforcement officials all at the same time can severely tax them to the limit.

During times like these people often react with out thinking as emotions run high. The police are rushed for time, overworked, under manned, sometimes injured themselves or lost loved ones or property. The police officer must be prepared to confront all types of situations.

They must deal with sight seeing individuals who may cause traffic accidents or traffic jams causing emergency vehicles to not arrive at their destinations in time to assist injured. He must deal with situations fast and therefore does not have time for any public relations. He does not have time to argue with people or waste on minor police calls. He of all people is aware that just because the tornado is gone not all the danger has left. People can still be hurt or killed by traffic accidents, live wires, fires, explosions. Injured citizens may suffer unneeded pain or death by unnecessary delays in emergency operations due to lack of cooperation from citizens.

He must often protect injured individuals from being moved by well meaning people who panic and may think the best thing to do is throw the injured party in a vehicle and transport them to a hospital. Back and neck injuries are common in tornadoes and they can be aggravated by untrained people moving the hurt individual.

From past experience as a rescue worker in a tornado situation one of the best things a citizen can do to help besides checking his immediate neighborhood is to stay home if possible. Give the police and emergency personnel time to collect their resources and begin an organized rescue operation. Stay tuned to local TV or radio stations for information or directions. Do not call the police unless you have an extreme emergency that needs immediate attention. Cooperate with all police and emergency personnel. If they tell you to do something they have a good reason so do it!

Requests for volunteers will be asked for as soon as emergency operations can be organized and you may then assist in what ever way possible. Remember the police will be extremely busy and will not have time for low priority calls. The sooner people cooperate and take directions the faster a coordinated comprehensive rescue and cleanup campaign can begin.

We hope such an event never happens here, but if it does remember sometimes the best help you can give is to stay out of the way unless asked otherwise.

Bad weather safety tips from the Weather Service

The National Weather Service offers the following safety tips in the event of severe weather:

- *Home basements offer the greatest safety. If possible, seek shelter under sturdy furniture. In homes without basements, take cover in the center of the house, on the lowest floor in a small room such as a closet or bathroom. Try to get into an interior hallway or a portion of the house that has interior walls.
- *Mobile homes offer no protection against a tornado. During a tornado warning, residents should have a safe place to go such as a designated community shelter. If no such shelter is available, residents should not stay in their mobile homes but should seek refuge in a sturdy building, ditch, culvert or ravine. Residents should be alert to flash flood dangers in these low lying areas.
- *In schools, students should follow advance plans to an interior hallway on the lowest floor. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums or other structures with wide freestanding roofs. If a building is not

- of reinforced construction, go quickly to a nearby reinforced building or a ravine or open ditch and lie flat. Be alert to flash-flood dangers.
- *In shopping centers, go quickly to a designated shelter area, not to your parked car.
- *If in an auto, seek other shelter or take refuge in a ditch. Be alert to flash-flood danger.
- *Factory workers should move to the section of the plant offering greatest protection.
- *If in an office building, go to an interior hallway on the lowest floor or to the designated shelter area.
- *In open country, and if there is no time to find suitable shelter, lie flat in the nearest depression (ditch or ravine). Residents should stay clear of windows, exterior walls and large open spaces to lessen the possibility of then being injured by flying debris.
- If you're caught in a level field and you feel your hair stand on end, to avoid lightning, you should drop to your knees and bend forward, putting your hands on your knees.

TORNADO SAFETY RULES

TO KNOW WHAT TO DO WHEN A TORNADO IS APPROACHING MAY MEAN THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN LIFE AND DEATH!

1. IF YOU ARE NEAR A TORNADO CELLAR:

When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave or underground excavation which should have an air outlet to help equalize the air pressure. It should be kept fit for use, free from water, gas or debris; and preferably equipped with pick and shovel. THERE IS NO UNIVERSAL PROTECTION AGAINST TORNADOES EXCEPT UNDERGROUND EXCAVATIONS.

2. IF YOU ARE IN OPEN COUNTRY:

1. Move at right angles to the tornado's path. Tornadoes usually move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour.
2. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine.

3. IF IN A TOWN OR CITY:

1. Seek inside shelter, preferably in a strongly reinforced building. STAY AWAY FROM WINDOWS!
2. In homes: The corner of the basement toward the tornado usually offers greatest safety, particularly in frame houses. People in houses without basements can sometimes be protected by taking cover under heavy furniture against inside walls. Doors and windows on the sides of the house away from the tornado may be opened to help reduce damage to the building.
3. Standing against the inside wall or on a lower floor of an office building offers some protection.

4. IF IN SCHOOLS:

1. In city areas: If school building is of strongly reinforced construction, stay inside, away from windows, remain near an inside wall on the lower floors when possible. AVOID AUDITORIUMS AND GYMNASIUMS with large, poorly-supported roofs!
2. In rural schools that do not have strongly reinforced construction, remove children and teachers to a ravine or ditch if storm shelter is not available.

5. IF IN FACTORIES AND INDUSTRIAL PLANTS:

On receiving a tornado warning, a lookout should be posted to keep safety officials advised of the tornado's approach. Advance preparation should be made for moving workers to sections of the plant offering the greatest protection.

6. Keep calm. It will not help to get excited. People have been killed by running out into streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado. Even though a warning is issued, chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are very slight. Tornadoes cover such a small zone, as a rule, that relatively only a few places in a warned area are directly affected. You should know about tornadoes though, "just in case."

7. Keep tuned to your radio or television station for latest tornado advisory information. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your individual request may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports or to relay advisories to radio and television stations for dissemination to thousands in the critical area.

Changes In Commissioners' and Voting Precinct Lines

The following is believed to be a substantially correct summary of the recent major changes made in Commissioners' and Voting Precinct lines in Floyd County as such changes bear on the forthcoming elections. There are additionally certain minor changes in boundaries, in most instances apparently due to inadvertence on the part of the draftsman, but detailing such minor changes would require too much space for this brief summary.

Baker No. 13 and Southeast Floydada No. 23: The area of the former Lakeview Precinct No. 15, previously added to Southeast Floydada, has now been shifted to Baker Precinct No. 13.

Southeast Floydada No. 23 and Southwest Floydada No. 1: Within the City limits of Floydada, the area South of Virginia Street and East of 3rd Street as far South as Crockett Street has been detached from Southwest Floydada and added to Southeast Floydada.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and McCoy No. 22: The area of the former Starkey Precinct No. 2, previously added to Southwest Floydada, has now been shifted to McCoy No. 22.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and Northeast Floydada No. 24: The area of the former Northwest Floydada No. 19 North of Virginia Street, West of 3rd Street, and West of the Santa Fe Railway, has been added to Southwest Floydada; the remaining area of Northwest Floydada, lying East of the Santa Fe Railway, has been added to Northeast Floydada, in effect abolishing Northwest Floydada No. 19.

East Lockney No. 5, West Lockney No. 18, and Lone Star No. 8: East Lockney has been drastically reduced in size, and, as so reduced, has been transferred from Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 to Commissioner's Precinct No. 3. Except for an enclave extending East from Main Street to include Lockney General Hospital, and a similar enclave one block wide North and South, extending East from Main Street to include the West half of the City Hall, Main Street remains the boundary between East Lockney and West Lockney from the North City limits South to Shurbet Street; all that part of East Lockney South of Shurbet Street, West of the Lone Star Highway, and South and West of the Santa Fe Railway, has been added to West Lockney. All that part of East Lockney North of the Flomot Highway, and East of the Lone Star Highway, plus an enclave on the West side of the Lone Star Highway to include the County Machinery Barn, has been added to Lone Star No. 8.

The boundaries of the following voting precincts appear to be substantially unchanged: Dougherty No. 20, Harmony No. 16, Allmon No. 3, Sandhill No. 4, Providence No. 7, South Plains No. 9, Cedar Hill No. 11, and Goodnight No. 17. Because the changes in lines other than those affecting East Lockney and West Lockney can have no possible impact on any contested race within the County, election officials in other precincts can safely exercise reasonable discretion in determining the residence of voters in view of the unavoidable confusion resulting from the brief time between the changes and the elections.

Candidates erecting signs

Candidates for political office may violate the law if they erect campaign signs on some private property. The highway beautification provisions of the Texas Litter Abatement Act control the erection of signs on property adjacent to Interstate and Federal-aid Primary Highways. Anyone desiring to erect a new sign along these highways must have a state license to engage in outdoor advertising and a permit for each sign.

Existing signs may be repainted or repapered; however, they may not be enlarged nor may lighting be added unless approved by the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation or the city which issued the sign permit. Subject to city ordinances, signs may be erected at campaign headquarters.

No signs except official traffic control signs are permitted within the rights of way of any highways in Texas. Maintenance crews may remove any signs not conforming to state law.

Candidates or their campaign managers are urged to contact the nearest district office of the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation for further information if they are considering erecting campaign signs.

Race and Casey said they would like to "thank all the people of Floyd County for their business and if you have any need for insurance please give them a call."

Race also received two bars, one for 1981 All Star and one for $6,000,000 agency. Race also displays a Multi-Million Agency trophy, along with the District II Annual Fire, Annual Auto
