Light turnout expected in second Democratic primary Runoff election to be held June 5

Since there are no local runoff elections this Saturday in the second Democratic primary, voter turnout is expected to be light.

Statewide races will decide Democratic nominations for attorney general, land commissioner and two criminal appeals court seats.

Change of precinct lines led to some confusion in the May 1 primary as Floyd County voters tried to find the correct box in which to cast their vote. Some who turned up at the wrong places of election simply gave up and didn't vote at all.

This confusion of precinct lines is also expected to render a light voter turnout on Saturday.

Eligible voters for the statewide runoff are registered voters who did not vote in the May 1 Republican primary. A registered voter does not have to have voted in the Democratic primary to be eligible to take part in the Democratic runoff.

There are no local or statewide Republican runoffs, and state law prohibits anyone from voting the primary of one party and then voting in the runoff of the other party the next month.

The statewide runoff in which there may be the most interest in Floyd County is that between Austin attorney Garry Mauro and Midland state Senator W.E. "Pete" Snelson.

Snelson, a 20-year veteran of the state legislature, led a four-man field in the primary with 30.8 percent of the vote. Mauro, a 33-year-old former executive director of the state Democratic Party, was close behind with 28.9 percent.

State Representative Dan Kubiak of Rockdale and Paducah rancher George Fore trailed in the primary and both endorsed Mauro after the primary.

U.S. Representative Jim Mattox of Dallas and former assistant U.S. Attorney John Hannah of Tyler meet in the attorney general's runoff to see who faces Republican state Senator Bill Meier of Euless in the November election.

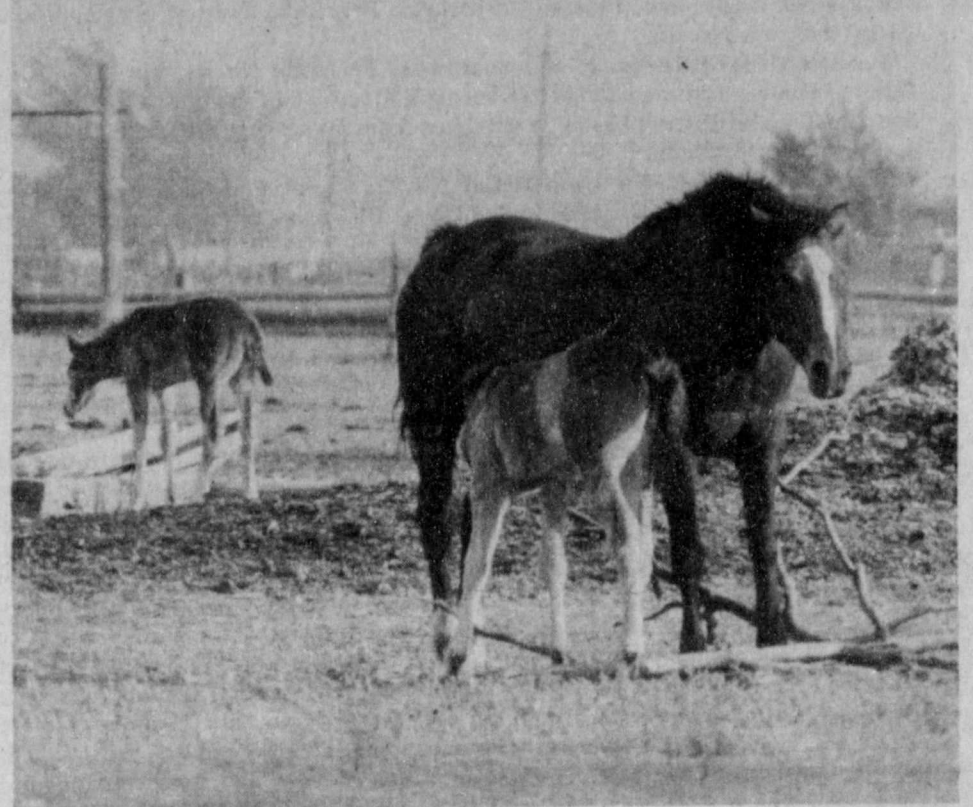

Mattox got 35.8 percent of the vote in a four-man field to Hannah's 29.5 and may be helped if a runoff between two republican candidates for Congress in Dallas brings a heavier turnout there.

Former state senator and former West Texas State University president Max Sherman, who finished third to Mattox and Hannah, has endorsed Hannah in the runoff.

Charles F. "Chuck" Campbell of Austin and Dallas attorney John Humphreys are in a Texas Criminal Appeals Court Place 1 runoff.

Campbell, a former Hill Country district attorney, and Humphreys got into the runoff over incumbent Carl Dally in the primary.

District Judge Bill Black of Belton and Dallas County Court-at-Law Judge Charles "Chuck" Miller finished atop a five-candidate field to gain runoff spots for the Place 2 criminal appeals court seat.

Handicapped to receive homebound training

This community is about to join others in a nine-county area which receive the services of a homebound teacher provided by Central Plains MH/MR for children from birth to three years of age.

Central Plains MH/MR recently received additional grant money for its Rural Infant Education Program (RIEP) and is able to reach new towns in the region it serves (Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Motley, Parmer and Swisher).

The children who are the special concern of the Rural Infant Education Program are those who need education and habilitation because they are physically and/or mentally handicapped or because they are high risk infants. They must be in the age range of newborn to three years of age and live in one of the nine counties served to receive help.

The program itself is geared to teach parents and their children in the following areas: daily living skills (such as dressing, feeding and toilet training); gross motor skills (physical abilities, like sitting alone, crawling, walking, etc.); fine motor skills (grasping and releasing objects, use of small muscles to manipulate objects); language (beginning with the development of cooing and babbling and learning to speak in sentences); cognitive skills (developing thinking skills and problem-solving skills); sensory training (training in developing the five senses), and many other areas, according to the child's needs.

Mrs. Pam Baker, the homebound teacher who will serve this area, explained the services also include a transdisciplinary assessment by a team of professionals working with the parents. Mrs. Baker said the team includes a speech pathologist, physical and occupational therapists, a physician, a social worker, a psychologist and an education specialist.

In explaining the focus of the program, Mrs. Baker said a high risk infant was one "born as a result of a problem or high risk pregnancy. Often the mother is under 17 years of age or over 35."

"Sometimes, too, there are problems with diabetes or high blood pressure in the mother, or a family history of inherited disorders. In some instances," the teacher continued, "there might have been a structural problem in the mother's pelvis, or the mother might have been very underweight or overweight. Sometimes a mother and child do not have the same RH blood factor and there are severe problems at birth. Then, of course, there are infections, addition or consumption of drugs, a history of previous miscarriages or stillbirths or unwanted pregnancies — all of these are high risk factors."

Those are some of the problems in a pregnancy that may bring a child to RIEP. Others are present at the birth itself.

"If a child is premature or has a very low birthweight," continued Mrs. Baker, "there may be a slower than normal maturing process. We can help to stimulate the child to achieve his or her best. Sometimes, at birth, a child doesn't breathe at once and the deficiency of oxygen can injure him. Other conditions include breech births, the unusually large size of an infant or even an extremely long labor. Cesarean sections often mean some complications in the health of the infant."

Mrs. Baker also said that, during the first four weeks of life, a child may become one designated "high risk" because of serum bilirubin over 20 mg/100 ml or an exchange transfusion, a toxemic mother, maternal diabetes, sucking or swallowing difficulties, failure to thrive, convulsions, cyanotic attacks or severe apneic spells (babies sometimes "forget" to breathe). PKU, abnormal neurological signs and severe illnesses and injuries.

Mrs. Baker noted that, during the postnatal period, a single parent or a very young mother (under 17 years of age) may have special problems with a newborn. Additionally, the premature child or a sick newborn who has had a long hospital stay, a child from a large family or from low socio-economic class, or one who suffers from physical or emotional abuse — all my benefit from the specialized educational techniques offered by the program.

"Sometimes neighbors or relatives see poor mother-child interaction, know of a history of psychiatric illness in one or both parents or see a child with injuries or severe illnesses. Sometimes they just note the peculiar appearance of a child and think, 'Isn't that too bad, I wish there was something I could do,'" Mrs. Baker said. "That's why the Rural Infant Education Program was begun. We can come and help families get adequate medical care or counseling and training for that very special child who is important to all of us."

Mrs. Baker urges anyone interested in the program to contact the Mental Health Office nearest his home (Floydada at 983-2584) or write to the Rural E Infant Education Program at 214 W. 11th Street, Plainview, Texas 79072.

Energas rates increase

Irrigation customers served by the West Texas System of Energas Company are being notified that a 10 percent rate increase will be put into effect July 1, company officials said. This includes Lockney and Floydada.

Letters explaining the rate change have been mailed to all affected customers. The area involved extends from the central Panhandle to south of Odessa.

"It has been three years since we last raised the irrigation rate," Charles K. Vaughan, Energas president, said. "In December 1981, the general service rate for customers on the West Texas System was increased by 10.6 percent replacing a rate that had been in effect for nearly three years."

The new irrigation rate is identical to the West Texas System general service rate through the first 50,000 cubic feet of monthly gas usage. Additional volumes will be at rates that are lower in price than the general service rate.

Vaughan said Energas historically has provided service for irrigation purposes at or below the general service rate in effect in communities it serves in the surrounding area.

"We are confident that the new rate is quite favorable as compared to the prices charged by other gas companies and by alternate energy suppliers for irrigation purposes," Vaughan wrote in his letter notifying customers of the increase.

Energas is the major supplier in the Texas Panhandle-South Plains region of natural gas to fuel engines used to pump water wells for farm irrigation. About 10,500 irrigation customers served by the company will be subject to the new rate.

Energas Company serves more than 280,000 residential, commercial, industrial and irrigation customers in 43 counties of Texas.

Changes In Commissioners' and Voting Precinct Lines

The following is believed to be a substantially correct summary of the recent major changes made in Commissioners' and Voting Precinct lines in Floyd County as such changes bear on the forthcoming elections. There are additionally certain minor changes in boundaries, in most instances apparently due to inadvertence on the part of the draftsman, but detailing such minor changes would require too much space for this brief summary.

Baker No. 13 and Southeast Floydada No. 23: The area of the former Lakeview Precinct No. 15, previously added to Southeast Floydada, has now been shifted to Baker Precinct No. 13.

Southeast Floydada No. 23 and Southwest Floydada No. 1: Within the City limits of Floydada, the area South of Virginia Street and East of 3rd Street as far South as Crockett Street has been detached from Southwest Floydada and added to Southeast Floydada.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and McCoy No. 22: The area of the former Starkey Precinct No. 2, previously added to Southwest Floydada, has now been shifted to McCoy No. 22.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and Northeast Floydada No. 24: The area of the former Northwest Floydada No. 19 North of Virginia Street, West of 3rd Street, and West of U.S. Highway 70, has been added to Southwest Floydada; the remaining area of Northwest Floydada, lying North of Virginia Street, and East of 3rd Street and East of Highway 70, has been added to Northeast Floydada, in effect abolishing Northwest Floydada No. 19.

East Lockney No. 5, West Lockney No. 18, and Lone Star No. 8: East Lockney has been drastically reduced in size, and, as so reduced, has been transferred from Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 to Commissioner's Precinct No. 3. Except for an enclave extending East from Main Street to include Lockney General Hospital, and a similar enclave one block wide North and South, extending East from Main Street to include the West half of the City Hall, Main Street remains the boundary between East Lockney and West Lockney from the North City limits South to Shurbet Street; all that part of East Lockney South of Shurbet Street, West of the Lone Star Highway, and South and West of the Santa Fe Railway, has been added to West Lockney. All that part of East Lockney North of the Flomot Highway, and East of the Lone Star Highway, plus an enclave on the West side of the Lone Star Highway to include the County Machinery Barn, has been added to Lone Star No. 8.

The boundaries of the following voting precincts appear to be substantially unchanged: Dougherty No. 20, Harmony No. 16, Allmon No. 3, Sandhill No. 4, Providence No. 7, South Plains No. 9, Cedar Hill No. 11, and Goodnight No. 17. Because the changes in lines other than those affecting East Lockney and West Lockney can have no possible impact on any contested race within the County, election officials in other precincts can safely exercise reasonable discretion in determining the residence of voters in view of the unavoidable confusion resulting from the brief time between the changes and the elections.

Applicants may join Heritage Program

"This year we're hoping to surpass the 1,500 mark in the total number of Texas properties registered in our Family Land Heritage Program," Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown said recently.

"And we certainly hope individuals interested in history or agriculture in Floyd County will help us by bringing as many qualified applicants into the program as possible."

"James Word, Floyd County Historical Commission chairperson and Floyd County Judge Choise Smith, will be working with us on the program," Brown said.

Since 1974, the program has honored 1,443 Texas properties.

The Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) is entering its eighth year in sponsoring the program which honors "those families that have persevered for a century or more in the cultivation and production of food and fiber," Brown said. "Undoubtedly, these families, with their unflinching determination have been the backbone of Texas agriculture."

The registration period will extend until August 15.

Those who qualify are honored in state ceremonies and receive a certificate and a copy of the Family Land Heritage Registry. The publication has a brief history of each farm or ranch and includes old photographs of the families and homes.

Basic requirements include the following: Continuous agricultural production on the farm/ranch for 100 years, land ownership within the family, complete operation or supervision of the farm/ranch production by family members who are Texas residents and a size of 10 acres or more with agricultural sales of $50 or more a year, or if less than 10 acres, sales of at least $250 a year. County judges must approve all applications.

Persons who meet the basic qualifications and wish to enter can obtain an application from the county judge, county Historical Commission chairperson, the nearest TDA district office, or by writing to Commissioner Reagan V. Brown, Texas Department of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78711.

Spray Deposit Analyzer System tested

Dickey Lambert tests plane in A&M Fly-ins

Dickey Lambert was among the more than 40 area aerial applicators who worked last week, as they met at the fly-ins to test and refine their planes and spraying equipment for greater operating efficiency. The testing equipment, used for the first time in Katy, is an experimental device developed by Texas A&M. It is the only automatic testing device of its kind.

West Texas pilots met at four points, beginning Monday, in Brownfield, Plainview, Friona and Dumas. The events were sponsored by the Texas Aerial Applicators Association, ICI Americas Inc., Tri-State Chemical and Growers Ag Service.

Texas A&M's Spray Deposit Analyzer System, the equipment used at the fly-ins, utilizes a computer. The device tells the pilot his wind speed, his swath pattern (deposition of chemical falling from plane) and the amount of chemical released from the plane. With this information the pilots can adjust their equipment for better efficiency, and in turn, provide the grower exactly what he pays for.

To start the test, each plane is loaded with a red dye that replaces chemicals normally used during the growing season. The plane circles the air above the airfield until the Texas A&M crew signals with a white flag. The pilot then drops his plane to a five-foot height over the ground and releases the dye as he flies over the equipment. The dye settles on an inch-wide strip of clear acetate tape spread 105 feet across the runway. As the plane again climbs high into the air and begins circling, the film is wound mechanically through a distilled water wash and a colorimeter before it is fed into a computer. Then the pilot makes two more passes over the tape before landing.

Walter Walla, a plant pathologist from the Texas Extension Service, was one of the specialists on hand to explain the results to the pilots. "Basically," Walla said, "we explain how to get more uniformity out of the aircraft."

Those results helped Roger Horan, the host of the Plainview fly-in. He tested one of his planes and found he had forgotten to turn on a few spraying nozzles. "Looking at the tape," he said, "we knew something was wrong. I didn't know we had missed the nozzles until we looked at the airplane. We found the tape didn't lie."

While the days were long, and wind at times caused problems with the equipment, the pilots feel satisfied in what they had learned. "Primarily, the reason the applicators are here," said Gary Gaar, sales supervisor for ICI, "is to become more professional at their jobs applying pesticides to crops. They are already doing a good job in a high percentage of cases, but this gives them the chance to check their planes, and make sure they are putting out the right amount of product." He adds, "Ultimately, it is the grower that it helps out, because he will be reaping the benefits of better application techniques."

Veterans seek help from their VA Service Officer

According to Margaret Herrera, Acting Veterans Service Officer for Floyd County, the U.S. Veterans Administration is now involved in the very serious matter of seeking payment on thousands of debts and overpayments existing in the accounts of veterans and their dependents and survivors. Many of these VA debts were created many years ago when veterans sold their GI loan homes which were later foreclosed due to non-payment of the mortgage.

In many instances, the VA made efforts to collect the debts years ago, and decided they were uncollectable at that time. Until such time as a legitimate debt to the Federal Government is paid in full or otherwise properly disposed of by waiver, etc., there is no statute of limitations. In many cases at this time, veterans have long forgotten about the old educational overpayments or loan default debts. When such veterans now apply and are found eligible for VA disability pension or compensation, the monetary benefits are withheld until the full amount of the overpayment has been recouped.

When a person is advised of any overpayment in VA benefits, the initial action should be to be sure the debt is legitimately owed. If so, and there were any mitigating circumstances, perhaps a waiver of the overpayment should be requested. If the waiver is denied, such decision may be appealed if the claimant desires to go that route. In many instances, debts are incurred administratively due to the lack of information or evidence. When such a case is encountered, local Service Officers should determine what evidence is required to clear the debt. In no instance should a debt or overpayment be accepted without argument unless the claimant is convinced it was incurred through his or her own fault. All persons involved in these debts and overpayments should discuss their cases with their local Veterans Service Officers.

REVIVING WICKER FURNITURE

Reviving wicker furniture takes only the proper cleaning, repairing and refinishing techniques that almost anyone can do.

Wicker, used at one time only for porch furniture, has found its way into every room in the house. Because it is cheerful, lightweight and easy to maintain, it blends with almost any style of furniture. Its open work construction also makes it a popular choice for furnishings for small areas.

Wicker is a "generic" name for any furniture made of woven reeds. Rattan, for example, is a reed that belongs to the palm family. Unlike bamboo, which is hollow, rattan is a solid wood. The core of rattan is used in furniture for structural support, while the peel is used to lash the supporting elements together.

Unfinished rattan or wicker has a pleasant tan-ivory appearance, although it can be painted and repainted as needed. Designs range from whimsical reproductions of Victorian motifs to modern. It can be shaped into chairs, tables, stools, mirror and picture frames, headboards, baskets and other items.

Wicker or rattan furniture is made by wrapping or weaving strips of reed over a wood or steel framework. As in other types of furniture, there is a great deal of variation in quality and price in both new and used wicker pieces. Overall strength of the piece should be carefully checked by close examination and by applying weight from different positions. Flimsy, wobbly pieces are difficult to strengthen where a light-weight wood frame is used. Better quality new wicker may have steel framework.

Used wicker that has been abused, that sags, has holes or slits in several places, or that appears to be generally bad condition is rarely a bargain at any price. Because of the way wicker is made, it is difficult to repair severe damage. Used wicker that's in reasonably sound condition, however, may be restored to use quite easily.

Begin by giving the piece a thorough cleaning. Wicker collects dirt, dust and grime quickly, so chances are few pieces should be spared a good cleaning.

Wicker that has been neglected may be dry and brittle. A good scrubbing will give the reed flexibility and make repairs easier. Remove loose paint, and ready the surface for a new finish.

Use a good stiff scrubbing brush and a solution made of one gallon of warm water, one-fourth cup detergent, and either one-half cup TSP (trisodium phosphate) or one-half cup sal (washing) soda to wash down the wicker. Add one-half cup household bleach to the solution to remove any traces of mildew.

Work out-of-doors or on a plastic drop cloth to protect the surrounding area from splattering. Rinse well with clear water to remove all traces of the washing solution. If you work outside, rinse with a fine spray from a high pressure water hose.

Allow the furniture to dry thoroughly since any dampness is the interstices of the wicker will prevent a new finish from adhering. An air compressor, handheld hair dryer or vacuum cleaner can be used to speed up drying at joints and from around the frame.

In restoring wicker furniture, after a careful cleaning, the piece should be studied carefully from top to bottom, inside out, to determine repairs that need to be made. The most common types of repairs that are required by old wicker furniture include (1) regluing and strengthening framing, (2) reattaching loosened reed wrappings, and (3) reweaving or mending holes and slits.

Old glues in joints can easily release if the furniture piece has been used outdoors or in high humidity. New glue can be forced into loosened joints by using a glue needle or a hypodermic syringe filled with a tight-bonding furniture glue. Joints should be clamped or bound with strips of rope or an old tire tube until thoroughly dry. Don't attempt to break apart a solid joint to apply glue to a loose one. With a hand drill and a small bit, insert a hole into the loose joint so that glue may be forced in with the syringe. Sections of the woven wicker should not be removed from the frame since it may fray out or the shape become distorted.

Through use and drying out of the wood, the reed in wicker furniture often becomes brittle, breaks and unwinds from the frame. Reattaching loosened reed is a repair that can be easily made by the do-it-yourselfer. If the loosened strip of reed is still strong and is all there, reattaching it to the frame is simple. Begin by pulling a warm, wet cloth along the length of the reed for several minutes to make it more flexible and to prevent its breaking while being rewrapped. Coat the portion of the frame to be rewrapped with a tight-bonding furniture glue and begin carefully wrapping the length of reed around the exposed frame. Secure the end of the reed in place with a staple or a small nail.

When reed bindings have broken loose to expose sections of the framing, new replacement reed must be purchased. For smooth wrappings, soak the new binding in warm water until it is pliable. Remove the old loose reed, cutting it off at the point where still securely attached to the frame. Cut it off at the underside or in the least noticeable place. Apply glue to the exposed frame, attach one end of the reed strip with a brad or staple, and wrap the remainder around the glue-coated frame.

Woven sections of wicker are subject to splitting and damage by punctures or holes. Where damage is not extensive, it is usually possible to weave in a patch or replacement reeds that will not be conspicuous.

Short strands of reed can often be found underneath the furniture piece. If loose, they may be clipped and used as replacement reeds for small repairs.

Begin by soaking lengths of the new reed in warm water to make it pliable. Towel dry it and on the underside of the piece, glue the new strip onto one of the old ones. For added strength, wire or bind the two pieces together and follow the weave as closely as possible.

Rewave holes as you would darn a hole in a sock. To end off the patch, attach the end of the strip to one of the original reeds by gluing and binding the two together. Where one or more of the reeds is severed but still intact, work glue around over both sides of the damaged area, being careful to force glue between the broken strands.

Next week I'll continue with Refinishing Wicker Furniture.

South Plains News

Bible School to be held at South Plains

BY MRS. MURRAY JULIAN
South Plains, May 31:

Commemorative services are being held this day, over the country, to honor the dead; those who have given their lives for their country and this is Decoration Day, a holiday for many, with schools being out for the summer; and post offices are closed. This is the last day of a long week-end. Many from here have gone to lakes, while many farmers are busy in their fields, after the heavy rains of last week. On Friday night many in our community got as much as 3 inches, while to the south-east and to the north they got about an inch. Some hail was reported around Ira Henderson's home, but there was no damage to speak of, just floods or rains across fields.

Sunday visitors at the South Plains Baptist Church included the pastor's grandchildren, Jennifer and Jaime Somers of Mineral Wells, Ruby Higginbotham's granddaughter, Shea Higginbotham of Lubbock and Mrs. Bessie Bradford of Amarillo who was there, as were the others, for the morning and night services. Mrs. Bradford spent the weekend with Mrs. Mamie Wood.

South Plains Baptist Church held the services for the Lockney Convalescent Home Sunday afternoon May 30 at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. Jerry Chappell was at the piano and Reverend Cecil Osborne spoke to those at the home. It was a beautiful day, with lovely weather, and those who were there from the South Plains Baptist Church were Rev. Osborne, Mrs. Mamie Wood, Mrs. Bessie Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Lillie Maye and Grigsby Milton Jr., Mrs. Daria Chappell, Mrs. Bonnie Julian and Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham.

Miss Deneen Johnson was among the forty-eight students of the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing who received their diplomas at graduation exercises Friday night, May 28th, at the First United Methodist Church, July 13th. Deneen will take the State Examinations. We extend our congratulations and best wishes to Deneen.

South Plains Hobby Club will have the June meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. Mamie Wood with the annual, "Breakfast at Mamie's," Wednesday morning June 9 at 8:00 o'clock. This will be the last club meeting of the spring, as there will be no meetings in July and August during the summer months.

Vacation Bible School will be held at the South Plains Baptist Church June 7th to June 11th, from 2-5 each day in the afternoons. Family night will be at the church on June 13th, at 6:30 p.m. Kay Bethel will be Director of the Vacation Bible School; Nelda Staples will be director of the pre-school children; Connie Johnson is Director of the kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grades, and Janis Julian is Director of the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Cookies and punch will be served to everyone during the afternoon, and you are asked to help, please, with the refreshments. Please bring cookies to church, or punch ingredients. Call Nina Sanders if you can help.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean and Pat Stewart had the privilege of keeping their beloved 8 month old twin granddaughters last week while the children, Teresa and husband were on a little vacation. Those little girls are a delight to behold, and growing like weeds.

Mrs. Rufus Young entered the Central Plains Hospital in Plainview Monday night of this week where she is to have eye surgery this Tuesday morning. She will be in the hospital for a few days while she recovers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamm returned home Sunday night after being in Amarillo since last Wednesday. They were called there early Wednesday morning by their daughter, Jeaneva Huff, because her husband Pat Huff, had fallen through the attic ceiling, and faced emergency surgery. Pat is still there in Northwest Texas Hospital, but he is doing fine since surgery, we are glad to hear. Mildred and Harold brought their 4-year old grandson, Duane, home with them while Pat is in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard and Nelda Staples and Bill, Stacy and Kevin went Friday to Dallas, and while there visited sister, Mr. and Mrs. Arlaine and Mike Berkes, and also visited friends.

From South Plains Elementary School the students who will be going to Floydada Junior High next school term are: Ofelia Becerra, Mitzi Beedy, Adolfo Chavarria, Fernando Gonzales, Rogelio Gonzalez, Dalila Solis, Jesse Lopez, Martin Lopez, Michael McAdams, Irma Perez and Leticia Perez. These are the students from Mrs. Jimmie Hunter's 5-6th grade room. The highest ranking students in the 6th grade were: Rogelio Gonzalez, with a yearly average of 91.5 and Dalila Solis with 90.4. The 6th grade finished the year with an attendance record of 98.82.

Mrs. Lois Lyons of Plainview, formerly of South Plains, entered Central Plains Hospital last week, and Tuesday May 25, underwent major surgery for a gall bladder operation. She is getting along fine at this time we are glad to say.

Mrs. I.N. Parks (Maurine) is in the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock where Tuesday, May 25th, she had surgery under Dr. Gill. Sparky has been there with her since her surgery, and she will be there for about two weeks now, doing therapy on the knee.

Mrs. Cecilia Spivey of Navasota went to Truscott where she visited and then brought her sister-in-law Mrs. Sybil Simmons here with her to Sybil's sister, Mrs. Bobbie Kinnibrugh and Sylvan's, where they spent Thursday and Friday. Latham Dickens of Plainview spent the weekend with his grandparents, the Sylvan Kinnibrughs.

Mrs. Kendall Cummings (Dot) is suffering with a case of shingles at her home, we are sorry to learn, and we hope she gets relief from the trouble soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred and Jessie Cox who have lived in Denver, Colorado the past few years have moved this past week to Arlington, where they plan to make their home. They visited here Wednesday with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest and Ruth Smitherman as they moved to Arlington.

Silverton FFA to renovate facilities

The Silverton Chapter of the Future Farmers of America has completed a year of work on a project to renovate community summer recreational facilities.

"The students have contributed a great deal to their community by diligent labor and skillful knowledge," says FFA advisor George Martin.

The project is part of the FFA's Building Our American Communities (BOAC) program, sponsored nationally by R.J. Reynolds Industries, Inc. The company's food and tobacco subsidiaries make it one of the largest purchasers of U.S. agricultural products.

The BOAC program seeks to develop youth leadership skills while providing volunteer services to rural communities, where much of the agriculture industry is located.

This is the first year the Silverton FFA chapter has carried out a BOAC project. Their program in renovation of community summer recreational facilities has earned the chapter top honors in Area I competition and is presently competing for state honors.

Old Settlers Day Memorial

(Ed. note, the following is the memorial speech given by Judy Allen at the 1982 Old Settlers Day ceremony. The Memorial List is included.)

As we gather at this time to reflect on the past year and remember those who have passed away since the 1981 Old Settlers Reunion, I think of various individuals and what they have meant to this community. It seems to me that when Nina Copeland died suddenly in June of last year soon after the reunion that the entire community was affected. She was such a good person and was loved by everyone who knew her. Her musical talents were enjoyed through the years by so many. She had played the piano and organ for many weddings, church services, civic functions, and funerals and every person present was blessed by her quiet control of any and every situation and the contributions her talent made to the occasion. Her passing was a great loss to Floydada.

People of all ages have died during the past year — children, middle-aged and elderly. Two teenagers died from long illnesses, Michael Cawley of Lockney and Sheryl Perry of Floydada, formerly of Lockney. These youngsters were brave to the end and have made lasting impressions on their fellow classmates as well as on the adults who were fortunate enough to know them and to witness their examples of courage.

As I know many of you have, I, too, have lost family members. Aunt Sally Reeves, an aunt on my mother's side of the family, died in August. She had lived a good life and was happy to the last, living on her ranch and being able to enjoy each new day there. Were she alive today, I feel sure she would be sitting out there with you enjoying seeing old friends again.

Then it was a great loss to me when Uncle Woodrow Wilson died in February. He was a fun person to be around as so many individuals from all walks of life here in Floydada and all around the county would testify. Whether on the streets downtown, in church, at the gin playing dominoes, on the farm, at the sale barn, or at home, he could come up with something to say to lift your spirits. Just a few days ago Daddy was recalling stories of their growing up and some of the experiences of their younger years. Uncle Woodrow's passing leaves only one brother (Walton) and two sisters (Winnie and Edna Beth) of a longtime Floyd County family.

There have been some die who were born in Floyd County and lived all their days here, whereas some were newcomers to the area. Some were born in Floyd County, but since moved away.

There were some who lived long and fruitful lives, some who had only begun to live. Some who had been sick for a long period of time, some who were healthy up to a sudden death. Whatever the case, we know that we miss these who have gone on during the past year, but we also know that our loss is their gain. Each one has made his mark on our lives.

VIII. All conditions precedent to the institution of these proceedings have occurred or been performed.

PRAYER
 WHEREFORE, Plaintiff respectfully prays that three disinterested freeholders be appointed as special commissioners to assess the damages of the owner and file their decision all as provided by law, to the end that Plaintiff may have a final judgment or decree of condemnation vesting in it the fee simple title to said land, and for such other relief to which it may be entitled.

Center News

Green returns to Center Comm.

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN
June 1st, 1982:
Hello, everybody! I am home again after being away three weeks. We were met Friday by a very wet yard, tall grass and weeds!

Sorry I missed the Old Settlers. Maybe I'll make it next year though three graduations of my grandchildren are scheduled for 1983.

But we are proud of the rain Thursday, tho I did not mind missing the storm.

When I am away I worry about my sick friends or relatives and they are always in our prayers.

We hear Mrs. Ashton in Lockney is doing very well, that Wiley Rogers is better, but sorry to hear that Otis Anderson is in Caprock Hospital and hope he will soon be better.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson visited Sunday with her parents, the Henry Brewers.

Monday the parents accompanied by some of their clan left for Levelland to visit her brother, Buren Forman, who resides in the Levelland Rest Home.

The Massie Activity Center was host of the Annual Huckabay Reunion Sunday. A part of that are Mr. and Mrs. Burl Huckabee, Mrs. Ola Warren and Mrs. Fred Battey and former Centerites, the Earl Huckabees of Dumas. All these and descendants were present, 70 in all. This also included the Thomas Warrens and other local members. A good time was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson had their own family Reunion Sunday, when their children and grandchildren all came. These included five young grandsons, but no granddaughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mayfield arrived home Sunday, May 23 from a visit to Henrietta with their son, Gene and family. They attended the Henrietta High School graduation where their granddaughter, Paulette was Valedictorian.

Mrs. Helen Melton of Plainview visited Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Roe Jones.

Weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Carpenter were a grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Boteler of Dallas.

Mrs. Hal Thomas is home from a Lubbock hospital where she had been for several days. Their children Sue and Milton Mensch and son, David, came Saturday and returned to Lubbock Sunday.

Mrs. Ethel Warren is visiting her son John and family near Lubbock.

My sister Mrs. Gertrude Mass-ingill of Phillips and her daughter, Mrs. Annette McDaniel and daughter Jamie of Amarillo just dropped by on their way south to Lake Whitney and other Hill Country points. They are to be back with me later.

On Sunday May 9th, Mother's Day, my granddaughter and family, Doug and Sara Chandler and small son they call Bo came over from Lubbock after church. Sara said she planned to fly to Albuquerque Monday and she thought I should go along. Tho I had never expected to get on a plane I decided to go. When we reached Lubbock I knew a friend of yesteryear who had lived in Lubbock for years, Mrs. Elsie Latta, had died and Sara and I visited at the daughter's home, Mrs. Alice Teeple and family. Interment was to be in Floydada. Our sympathy.

We were scheduled to fly Monday morning, left after 11 and headed for N. Mex. via El Paso. It was a beautiful day only windy. It didn't excite me tho I sat by a window. There were about 100 people - like riding on a bus. To be guests of the Clyde Greens of Peralta where we would also see, Elmer and Gretchen Shore and one week old daughter, Sara Louise, my second great-grand! She is so beautiful! How we enjoyed them all.

Another trip was scheduled that week. I had meant to accompany the Clyde Greens to Waco for the Baylor graduation on Friday where Kenneth Mark was to get his degree, so we all but the baby and parents, Sara and Bo flew to Dallas Tuesday; we drove Wednesday to Plainview, then Thursday to Waco and Hubbard. Friday to Waco and one of the biggest of two biggest graduations ever. We went back to Hubbard later and I stayed 2 weeks with Margaret and family. Donna and Jamie and Beth brought me home, then they went to Lubbock. Be it every so humble.

Four Graduate from Dougherty School

Graduation exercises held

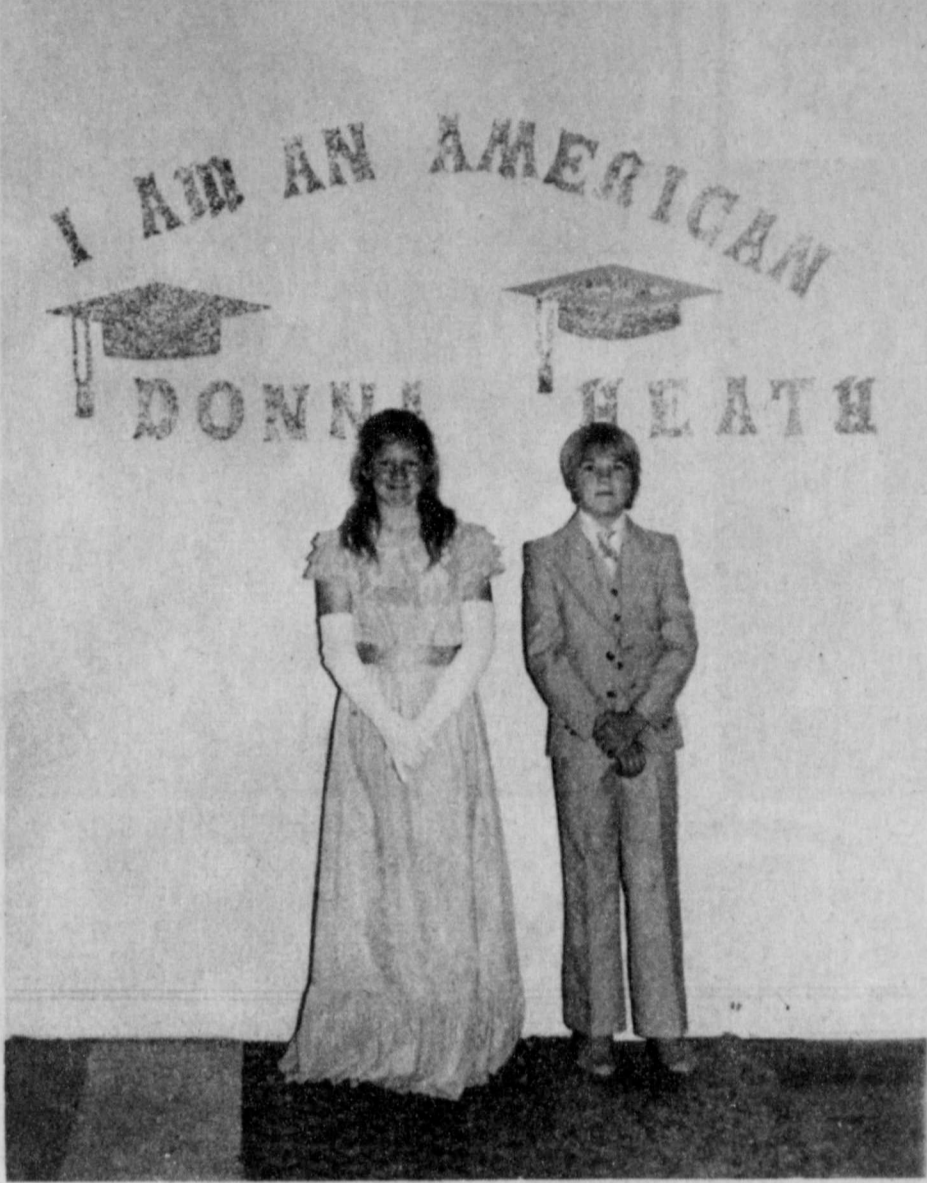

Graduation at Dougherty School was held Tuesday night with four sixth-graders completing their elementary requirements. They will attend Floydada Jr. High School next year.

Valedictorian of the class is Chad Pernel with a grade point of 95. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Pernel. Salutatorian is Heath Robertson, grade point of 94, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Robertson.

The other graduates are Donna Campbell, grade point of 93, and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Campbell; and Bobby Martinez, grade point 89, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Martinez.

The graduates along with members of the Honor Students Association went on a field trip to Lubbock Saturday. They visited the Planetarium, the Air Base, and several other businesses. They were then treated to dinner at the Red Lobster. The group also bowled and played miniature golf.

Sponsors were Principal and Mrs. Dennington.

DONNA CAMPBELL and Heath Robertson, salutatorian, pose under class slogan lettered on the auditorium wall at Dougherty School.

I Am An American

SALUTATORIAN SPEECH BY HEATH ROBERTSON

More than two hundred years ago the great and wise men of my Country met and wrote down the things Americans believed. They were starting a new nation. They wanted the whole world to know that this new Nation believed about the way people should be governed.

They put their ideas in a letter to the world. They called the letter the Declaration of Independence. This is how the letter began:

We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable Rights. That among these are: Life, Liberty and the pursuit of Happiness. To secure these rights, Governments are established among Men deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. What does this mean? First of all, it means that every person has the same rights as everyone else; the right to be chosen President of the Class, a right to use the playground equipment--no one is born with the right to rule others. I can be free. No one can put me in jail, or lock me up anywhere unless a Court says that it must be done.

I am an American.

If you ask me what that means

I'll answer:

I love my country and my God;

I love my parents and they love me.

I respect my neighbors and deal with them fairly.

I am strong, I am happy, I am free.

I can speak without fear and act without shame.

And walk tall among the children of earth.

All the rights that I have I am willing to share.

I am proud of my Nation--my birth.

I can work as I wish and play as I wish,

And think what I wish and say what I wish,

And do as I wish and pray as I wish,

So long as I am decent and true.

My school is free and my church is free,

My Country's laws are made for me,

And all in all it is good to be

An American.

I am glad that I am an American.

I am proud of my birthright, but humble too.

And being an American

These things I must do.

I must speak the truth as I see the truth;

I must play by rules that are fair.

I must not laugh at another's ways,

Or take more than is my share.

I must do no thing that will cause me shame.

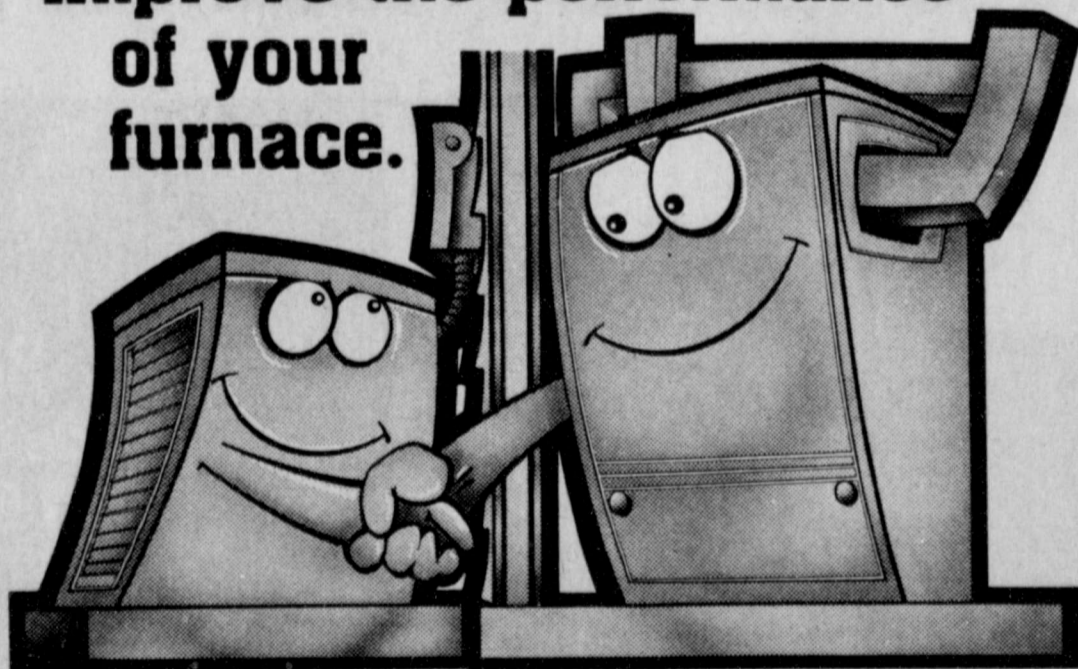

I must walk tall and brave and free,

And I must help others to have

The rights that mean so much to me.

An air conditioner can improve the performance of your furnace.

An air conditioner?

A very special air conditioner called the add-on heat pump. It cools in summer and heats in winter. And it works with whatever kind of furnace you have.

The add-on heat pump will improve the performance of your furnace by keeping it off completely during a good portion of the winter. The add-on heat pump can satisfy your home's heating requirements more economically when temperatures are above 30° or so. That's about 80% of our area's normal heating season.

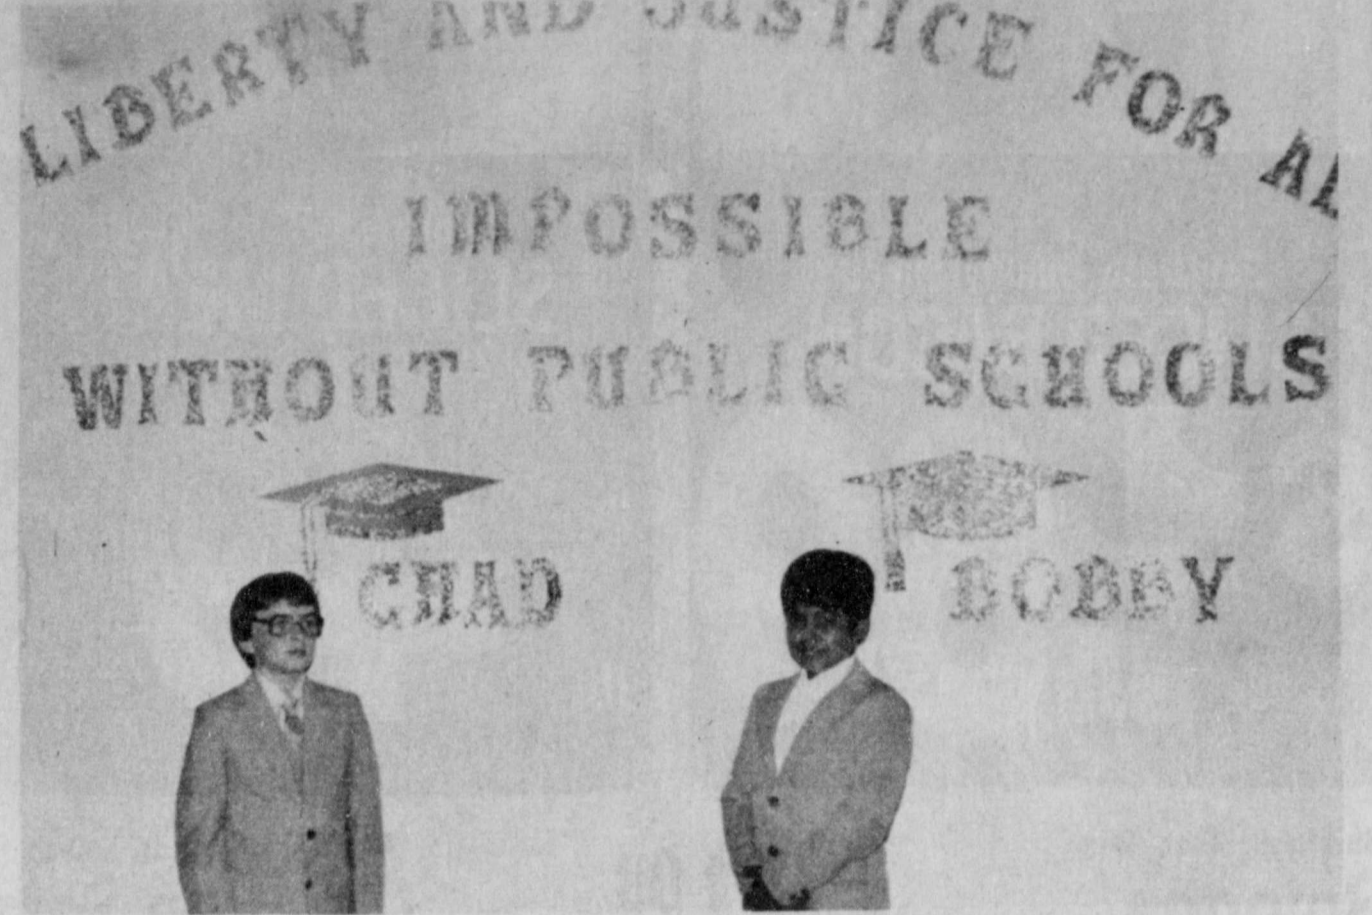

Then, when summer comes, the heat pump becomes a cool pump, efficiently air conditioning the home. So, when you're in the market for air conditioning, look into the add-on heat pump.

Liberty And Justice For All - Impossible Without Public Schools

VALEDICTORIAN SPEECH BY CHAD PERNELL

Ladies and Gentlemen:

I picked the subject of my speech tonight from an essay I was asked to write in English Class. The Texas State Teachers Association, for which Mrs. "D" is a member, sent out the material from Austin for students, to challenge their thoughts, on the topic: Liberty and Justice for all--Impossible without Public Schools. After having done research on the topic, I thought it would be a good and interesting topic to share with you, tonight. We sixth Graders have completed our requirements for graduation. This completion means a new beginning for us in our Educational ladder. With the education we have received in Elementary School, it is very evident that Liberty and Justice for all is definitely impossible without public schools.

We, as American Citizens, realize that liberty is one of the greatest assets that any Nation in the world can possess. When we compare our Nation with Russia, and other foreign countries, we can immediately see a vast difference in Liberty and Justice in Public Education. We also realize without the help of public schools and teachers, our young people would not have respect for their country. It would be very difficult to maintain liberty and justice.

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the government. I therefore believe that it is my duty to my Country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

Our public schools are good examples of liberty. Liberty means the condition of being free to express our thoughts and opinions. My Country's future lies in my hands and in the hands of my schoolmates and friends. Before very long we shall be choosing our leaders by voting in town, state and national elections. Before long, we shall be dreaming the dreams that result in wonderful new inventions, or doing the work that produces new things. We shall be riding the planes and manning the rockets and spaceships. It will be our job to decide what role our country will play in world affairs.

For many years my country has stood before the world as a symbol of freedom. Now people in less happy lands are saying, "We too want to be free." Personal liberty has proved a good thing for America.

Our America could never have been so GREAT without good schools, good teachers, good parents, and good public officials.

I think I have made a point to ponder over--Liberty and Justice for All--Impossible without Public Schools.

Spurgeon named Extension County Entomologist

A new county Extension agent for pest management has been named to serve Crosby and Floyd counties.

Dale Spurgeon, a native of Quincy, Illinois, and a graduate of the University of Missouri, will begin his duties June 1. It was announced by Billy C. Gunter and Dr. Catherine B. Crawford, district directors for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Spurgeon will be headquartered at Crosbyton.

Spurgeon comes from a farming background and has extensive experience in corn, soybean and grain sorghum production, said Dr. Mike McWhorter, Extension entomologist and pest management leader, College Station.

He holds a B.S. degree in pest management and an M.S. in entomology from the University of Missouri. While at the university, Spurgeon supervised field scouts and was involved in other activities in the pest management program.

A former 4-H'er he is a member of the Entomological Society of America. He will work with county Extension agents Andy Vestal in Crosby and Jett Major in Floyd to give leadership to boll weevil and other pest management programs in the two-county area.

Landscape & Gardening

BY BENNY J. BUTLER

CONTROL BAGWORMS NOW

Bagworms are one of the major pests of jumpers and other trees and shrubs in the South Plains. Insecticide control is most effective in late May and early June when the bagworms are small.

In the spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last year's bags and begin feeding on leaves. Soon they begin to construct their own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult.

Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bag until the bags are about 1 1/2 inches long. In the fall, the bagworms become adults, mate and the females lay eggs inside their bag. They then overwinter in these bags in trees and shrubs.

Since the bagworm only completes one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help a lot toward controlling this pest. But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this spring.

Insecticides which can be used on control bagworms include sevin, dursban, diazinon, malathion, dylox, and orthene. The biological insecticide, Bacillus thuringiensis, can also be used. To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important. Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides.

Reference to commercial products or trade names is made with the understanding that no discrimination is intended and no endorsement by the Cooperative Extension Service is implied.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

TOMATO VARIETIES

A number of high quality tomato varieties are available with resistance to many diseases. Two of the more important diseases are fusarium wilt and root knot nematodes.

Fusarium wilt is a fungal disease that causes wilting followed by rapid death as plant reaches the fruiting stage.

Chemical control is not effective. Use resistant varieties if this disease is to be eliminated.

Root knot nematodes are another serious problem in many Texas gardens, including Floyd County gardens. They form galls or swellings on the root system that stunt tomatoes and make them appear poorly fertilized. Planting resistant varieties and fumigating insure the best production. If tomatoes are the only vegetable to be grown, planting resistant varieties is sufficient for control.

Three important letters follow certain tomato variety names. "VFN" means they are resistant to verticillium wilt, fusarium wilt and root knot nematodes. Examples of VFN tomatoes are Biggest, Bonus and Better Boy. If only "VFN" is used, the varieties are resistant to fusarium wilt and verticillium wilt but not nematodes. Spring Giant is an example of a VF tomato.

COTTON INJURY FROM HAIL

Last week's severe weather which brought anywhere from 3 to 6 inches of heavy washing rains and some hail to the Floyd County area caused heavy damage to cotton acreage in the County. Wheat, corn, onions, and sunflowers were also damaged by hail in the Southern half of the County during the heaviest rain which fell last Thursday.

If a producer's cotton crop suffers hail damage, he will have to consider several factors in determining whether to replant. Among these are growth stage, type and extent of injury, and seasonal conditions. A first point to consider is how much of the field was damaged. A hail storm can reduce the plant population to only two seedlings per row foot in 40-inch row, or about 25,000 plants per acre, and the crop can still produce a normal yield, unless, of course the crop is poorly distributed or has long skips. Another point in determining whether to replant is how much damage there was to plants. Plants having only traces of leaves will recover better than those with no leaves, but a seedling with no leaves can still make a crop. If the stem is intact, free of breaks in the bark and the seedling has sound buds, recovery is still possible, although it will be slower than plants having at least some leaves. However, if the stem is shattered and the bark loosened or broken at points below the leaf buds, then recovery is impossible. Any regrowth hinges either on the sound terminal bud (the growing point) or auxiliary bud located at the point of leaf attachment. Because of the young seedling's ability to recover, hail injury in late May or early June will cause less yield loss than in July or August when the plants are more mature and replanting becomes impossible.

A crop can recover from damage in early to mid-June to the point that the injured plants are difficult to distinguish from undamaged plants. Also young cotton that survives early hail damage is often more mature at first frost than a crop that has been replanted. When a cotton field is destroyed, the producer has no choice but to replant. But in most hail storms, the crop is usually only partially injured, making the decision more difficult.

REPLANTING HAIL DAMAGED COTTON

are faced with the task of replanting their crop, realizing that planting in June usually means less than average yields even with normal growing conditions for the remainder of the growing season. For these producers, the most important decision is which cotton varieties to use and what cultural practices might be applied that will accelerate the maturity of the crop. Producers in Floyd County should consider varieties that are early to very early in maturity. Some of these varieties are listed below:

As for planting rates in late planted cotton, remember that germination and emergence will be enhanced by warm, moist soil conditions. Generally, seedling rates of 15 to 18 lbs. of good quality seed per acre—or 5 to 6 seed per foot of drill—are more than adequate for optimum stands.

Residues of preemergence herbicides can be a problem in replanting especially in sandier soils. Caparol and Lasso can be leached downward by rainfall and can cause seedling injury in replanted cotton. Normally, this problem can be avoided by replanting in the furrows (not in the original bed). The replant incorporated herbicides are not a problem in replanting to cotton.

Later decisions concerning irrigation must also be considered after late cotton is up and growing. Because the yield potential for late planted cotton is reduced, fields having adequate moisture at replanting may not require additional summer irrigation. In fact, yields of late cotton can be reduced by too much water. Keep in mind that when yield potential is down the need for water and fertilizer is reduced.

Growers in the fringe areas of these storms also face a tough decision: should they try to save the existing stand or replant? All too frequently, this critical decision is made the day following the storm when the extent of damage appears much worse than it actually is. Keep in mind that the cotton plant has a remarkable capacity to recover from almost any adversity. It is important to wait two or three days and then critically evaluate the type and extent of injury.

If any producers in the county need assistance in making such a decision, please call the County Extension Office and we will try to get our Extension Cotton Agronomist from Lubbock to look at the field or fields in question.

Blister beetles can be serious problem in Texas

Blister beetles can be a serious problem to different classes of livestock, but their toxicity is most severe in horses.

The beetles cause severe blistering of the esophagus, stomach and intestinal tract of animals.

"Blister beetle poisoning in horses is manifested as a severe colic," points out Dr. Clifford Hoelscher, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Cantharidin (toxic chemical produced in the beetle) causes severe blistering of the mucus lining in the animal's digestive tract and other internal tissues," explains the entomologist. "The chemical is not broken down in the digestive process and must be excreted in the urine."

Positive diagnosis of animal poisoning is possible by tissue or urine analysis at the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory in College Station.

A local veterinarian can suggest treatments for poisoned horses, says Hoelscher. Drenching animals with mineral oil to help protect the digestive tract lining is a first step in treatment.

"Clinical symptoms in other livestock types include a general depression, loss of appetite and constant urination," Hoelscher says. "Expressed symptoms depend on the amount of cantharidin in the feed (mainly hay), general vigor of the animal and its species."

About 35 species of blister beetles occur in Texas, notes the entomologist, and all produce varying amounts of the toxic chemical. This area is presently under study.

If a horse eats just two to five blister beetles of a certain species, the animal can die within 12 to 24 hours, emphasizes Hoelscher.

"It's important for hay and feed producers to determine if beetles are present in a field before hay is cut," explains Hoelscher. "Infested hay fields can be treated with insecticide, but the effectiveness of this has not yet been determined."

So, Hoelscher recommends these producer management strategies to reduce losses: inspect individual hay fields for adult blister beetles before harvesting, don't harvest beetle-infested areas of hay fields, and be sure a field scout can readily distinguish blister beetles from other insect species.

"Knowledge about the problem is the key to reducing animal losses from blister beetles," he says. "Know what blister beetles look like, what to do with an infested field, and how to get help in treating poisoned animals."

Floyd County will be well represented at Texas A&M University June 8-10 at the 1982 State 4-H Roundup, Project Show and Congress. The county's 4-H members will be among some 2,000 from across Texas taking part in a host of activities, says Benny Butler, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University system.

Competing from Floyd County will be Shannon Smith, Shannon Edwards, Jenny Keen, Chris Fulton, Tom Ross, Rick Hefflin, Norman Allen, Karyn Foster and Earl Broseh. Activities will get under way with the State 4-H Show on June 8 followed by 39 Roundup contests and the Project Show on June 9. State 4-H Congress also begins June 9 and continues through the next day.

The opening assembly for Roundup will begin at 7 p.m. June 8 with the recognition of 72 outstanding 4-H members who will receive scholarships totaling $350,000. Five long-time supporters of the 4-H program also will be recognized with special awards from the Texas 4-H Foundations, says Butler.

A special luncheon on June 9 will recognize 29 outstanding 4-H adult volunteer leaders from across the state who will receive special plaques from the Texas 4-H Foundation. One outstanding 4-H adult volunteer leader to be honored is our own Kenneth Broseh from the Lockney 4-H Club.

The program for Texas 4-H Congress will feature a look at various career field and opportunities.

4-H'ers competing in the State Food Show and Roundup contest must qualify by winning in county and district competition, points out Butler. The State Project Show is open to all 4-H youth who are interested in preparing exhibits about particular project areas in which they have excelled. Congress is a leadership event for senior 4-H members (14 to 19 years of age) that annually addresses certain key issues.

Gulf Coast Angus Assn. Field Day set

The Gulf Coast Angus Association field day is scheduled for Saturday, June 26, at Carl and Dorothy Lohmann's Gulflands Angus Ranch at Hampshire, Texas.

Registration will begin at 9 a.m. followed by a tour of the ranch. A judging contest is planned for the men, women and juniors.

After a presentation of forage and nutrition in the Gulf Coast area by a Jefferson County extension agent, lunch will be served.

All registered and commercial Angus breeders are invited to attend.

For more information, contact Carl Lohmann, Hampshire, Texas, 713-243-2105 or Nancy Sivyver, Houston, Texas, 713-468-2151.
