

Della Plains marker dedication

Friday was an important day for history buffs and Floyd County history as well.
A historical marker noted the site of the cemetery, the only remaining evidence of the first community in Floyd County, Della Plain.

The dedication was opened by prayer from Milton Smith. Jim Word introduced the first speaker, Tillman Reeves, who said that he felt honored to speak at such an occasion. He also added that the families of Della Plain left and gradually lost contact with one another just like we have lost contact with this cemetery. He was pleased to see the fence and marker.

The second speaker, Dr. Kline Nall, mentioned various histories and compared them with the history of Della Plain. The closing prayer was by J.W. Bedingford. Before closing, he mentioned that he was glad that the ceremony was opened by prayer because at times it was only with prayer that the early people of the area survived.

Della Plain was the site of many firsts for Floyd County. The first post office was opened in 1888 and it closed in 1893. The first church in Floyd County was in 1887. A Reverend J.H. Stegall, a Methodist minister from Dickens, preached in the dugout of Jim S. McLain.

The first college was organized in 1890 and closed in 1891. The first newspaper, the Della Plain Review, was founded in 1889.

Della Plain was named for Jim McLain's daughter, Della. McLain was one of the founders of the town.

The history of Della Plain was short, yet significant. The first people settled there in 1886 and by 1900 the site was plowed up to plant cotton. The houses were moved to Lockney.

All that remains is a new fence and the historical marker to remind us of the hardships these people fought.

Broseh, Foster appointed officers

Wednesday night Earl Broseh and Karyn Foster were installed as vice president and president, respectively, of the 4-H District Council. As officers of the council, they will serve as delegates, voting on issues and helping to schedule the year's activities for the district.

Ten 4-H members from this county will exchange a trip with some Missourians for a visit in their homes for a week and the first part of August. Those going to Missouri will be Rusty Teeter, Matt Mitchell, Lisa Terrell, Keith Hight, Karyn Foster, Earl Broseh, Heather Holt, all of Lockney, and Ward Brooks and Shannon Edwards, both of Floydada.

Broseh and Foster spoke of their trip to the 4-H Roundup held at College Station June 8-10.

Foster and Broseh, State 4-H Dairy Contest winners with their demonstration "Embryo Transfer in Dairy Cattle," left Lockney Monday, June 7.

Accompanied by their parents, they spent the first night at Brownwood at the 4-H State Center. There was a get-acquainted session and a dance for the young people.

Shannon Edwards and Shannon Smith of Floydada, competing individually in the State Range and Pasture Grass Identification Contests, and the Floyd County 4-H Rifle Team (Chris Fulton, Norman Allen, Tom Ross and Rick Heflin) also attended the Roundup from this area.

Each competitor must have won at the county and district level to qualify for state competition.

The Texas A&M University campus was a hive of activity June 8-10 when some 2,000 4-H members from all over the state gathered for the State 4-H Roundup and State 4-H Congress.

Theme for the three-day event was "Discover Your Tomorrow." Roundup is traditionally held on the A&M campus each year, but this year the State 4-H Congress, a leadership event for senior 4-H members, was scheduled to coincide with Roundup activities.

The Dairy Contest winners competed against six other teams at state in the Senior Division (age 14-19). First place winners are not eligible for competition in the same competition again, but they may compete in another area.

Activities at the Roundup included movies, assemblies, demonstrations, dances for getting acquainted, and tour and visits in various academic departments of A&M.

Roundup first place contest winners were recognized at a special assembly the last evening.

Scholarships totaling $350,000 were awarded during Roundup, the largest monetary value in scholarships ever presented by the 4-H Foundation. The scholarships ranged in value from $500 to $6,000. All recipients are graduating seniors.

Upon being asked, Broseh and Foster agreed that "it is a lot of work, but it pays off."

They said the most enjoyable part of competing at Roundup is that they get to meet so many people from all over the state and get to renew acquaintances with those that competed in the previous years.

They also said they had gained confidence and were able to get up in front of a group from their training.

They each expressed gratitude for their parents and a big thanks to Linda

Local school board studies year's budget

In a recent meeting the trustees of the Lockney Independent School District studied the first draft of the 1982-83 proposed budget. August 20 is the deadline for an adoption of the budget. Because of the loss of 13 million in tax value on exempted farm equipment and cattle, the district expects an actual tax loss of $93,000 for the next tax year.

The board voted to adopt the yearly evaluation of the five-year priority plan for improvement schoolwide in reading and math. Most goals were met in those areas.

In a review of the school tax collections, it was observed that 91 percent of the total taxes assessed has been collected. This is about 2 percent behind the average collection for this date. Delinquent taxpayers have received second notices from the attorneys retained by the school.

Bids were invited to be submitted through yesterday, June 30, for the repair on roofs damaged by recent rains.

They will be opened this morning at a breakfast meeting of the board.

Cates named new Beacon Publisher

David Cates has been named publisher of the Floyd County Hesperian and the Lockney Beacon. He assumed duties July 1. Cates will continue as advertising manager of both newspapers.

Former publisher, Shelly Harris, will move to Burnet, Texas as manager of the Burnet Bulletin. She will retain an interest both financial and personal in the Floyd County newspapers.

The Bulletin is part of the same newspaper group as the Hesperian and Beacon.

Wes Brown, who recently joined the staff of the Hesperian, has been named editor.

Cates is a native of Floyd County. He has held managerial positions at All-state Insurance Agency in Dallas, and Floyd County Farm Bureau. He is a partner in Cates and Dawson Insurance Agency in Floydada, but will take a less active part in order to manage the newspapers.

Wayland Baptist University. He has held advertising positions with Sears

Bids are also being accepted for the remodeling of the old gymnasium. The bids are due by 4 p.m. on July 7. Specifications for the project is available in the superintendent's office. The board reserves the option of accepting all, part or none of these bids.

Painting of the football field bleachers and the trim on the elementary school is being conducted among other repair work on the schools.

Resignation of Lana Jarry, junior high English teacher, was accepted. Linda Terrell was hired to replace her. Mrs. Terrell, a resident of Lockney for several years, has a bachelor's degree from Texas Christian University and a master's degree from Baylor University.

The school system is still in need of a junior high math teacher and an assistant coach.

Teacher assignments in elementary school have not been made as yet. The school has 16 IBM electric typewriters for sale for $400 each. Anyone interested may contact Principal James Poole at the high school.

and has been associated with a Hale County Farm Bureau publication.

Brown took his journalism training at Amarillo College and is an award winning photojournalist. He was a 1977 graduate of Iraan High School.

Harris, along with her daughter and son, Melissa and Bill, and her mother, Kay Heskett, will move to Burnet this week.

"It is with mixed emotions that I leave Floyd County," Harris said, "the challenge of a larger paper, and the advantage of being close to my other children is strong, but I will certainly miss my friends here and consider this home, too."

Harris will be returning to Floydada on a regular basis to fulfill her capacity as president of Floyd County Publishing Company.

"I feel that I leave these newspapers in the best of hands," she said. "It is important that the papers continue in the same strong tradition that they have enjoyed for over 80 years."

County weather damage extensive

Just as the South Plains weather seemed to start to cooperate, last Wednesday, June 23, the skies turned once again on the area. High winds, tormenting rains, and relentless hail mingled with an apparent torando left much of Floyd County struggling to recuperate.

Damages were varied and numerous. Perhaps the most costly damages were to the area crops. One report stated that out of 210,000 acres of cotton planted only 50,000 acres remain. These remaining acres are "sick and heavily damaged." An estimated loss of approximately 22 million dollars. Also wheat and vegetables suffered heavy losses. One onion field, as an example, was leveled.

Broken tree limbs were a common sight. Many limbs were several inches in diameter. But, the damages to the trees did not stop at just limbs. Many larger trees were broken in half. And some were uprooted, such as the 75-100-year-old Cottonwood tree at the Floydada Country Club.

The apparent torando swept its way through Floyd County, causing various structure damage. Shingles were blown off the roof of houses and at least one house had one corner of it torn off.

Grain storage bins were smashed and garages were collapsed.

Edith Marrs, her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Ferguson, sat through this apparent torando. It tore a garage that had only been repaired the week before, and a storage house just north of their home nine miles southwest of Floydada.

Mrs. Marrs' car and pickup were damaged when her garage blew down. Only the four corner posts were what remained of a storage barn. The boat inside was left unharmed.

Mrs. Ferguson gave credit of the fast clean up and return of electric power to the Lighthouse Electric Co-op workers. One workman said that he had only six hours of sleep in the last 72.

The winds wrecked many utility poles and lines. Southwestern Public Service had eight two-pole structures and eight other structures that were either broken or blown over.

Lighthouse Electric Co-op lost from 75-100 poles in the areas of Harmony, McCoy and Lakeview.

Alton Higginbotham, of Lighthouse, said that this year they had lost about 200 poles due to storms. The cost, including the time to clean up the damage, would be around $100,000. He also said that he appreciated the help, cooperation and patience of the people in the service area.

Ma Bell requests rate hike

Southwestern Bell requested $471.5 million in new rates Monday with the Texas Public Utility Commission. The request represents an overall increase of 13.4 percent in statewide revenues. The need for adequate earnings on Texas investment was the major factor for requesting the increase.

The company is seeking the increase "to assure our continuing ability to provide quality telephone service in Texas," Paul Roth, vice president-revenues and public affairs said. He pointed out that the revenue need stems from continuing cost increases, changes in rules on depreciation and other capital expenses, and general growth in the state.

"We must have adequate earnings on our Texas investment," Roth said. "Yet, the rates in effect today do not even produce the 11.79 percent return authorized by the Public Utility Commission. We're earning only 9.27 percent on our investment, which is far below our real need." The company is asking for a return of 13.09 percent on Texas investment.

"We've increased sales, we've improved productivity, and we've worked at holding down expenses," Roth said. "However, continued cost increases impact our cost of doing business. And recent regulatory changes by the Federal Communications Commission require speeded-up recovery of expenses for depreciation and other dollars invested in equipment and facilities."

The new rates proposed in Southwestern Bell's request center in two areas:

- Increasing charges for services where current rates are below cost
- Seeking to recover expenses from customers who directly benefit from a service.

"Today's telecommunications environment requires us to price each category of service more nearly in line with the cost of the service," Roth said. "Meanwhile, where possible, it's only equitable to ask the causer of an expense to pay the cost rather than place the burden on all customers."

In the request, Southwestern Bell seeks:

- An increase of $4.60 per month for one-party residential service.
- Increases in one-party business rates ranging from $1.55 in Houston to $6.55 in smallest cities and towns.
- A decrease from 10 to 3 in the monthly allowance of calls to Directory Assistance. Calls over 3 each month would be billed at 25 cents each.
- A $6 charge to cover the expense of handling dishonored checks.
- A statewide increase of $45 million in rates for private line service.
- Increases in rates for some PBX's, and some miscellaneous services.

Roth said the company is not requesting any increase in long distance rates, nor coin telephone rates. Neither is the company proposing a local measured service plan.

"We're asking for an increase in basic local residential rates because they are priced far below the cost of providing the service," Roth said.

"Currently, on a statewide average, the monthly cost of providing local residential service is about twice the basic monthly rate we receive for the service."

One-party business rates are close to paying their own way, Roth said. He pointed out, however, that increases proposed in rates for multi-line business service are substantial because increased usage increases costs.

"The decrease in Directory Assistance call allowance, the increased one-time installation charges, and the dishonored check charge are examples of our efforts to assure that the customer who benefits from a service, or who causes a cost, pays for it," the vice president said.

"The volume of calls to Directory Assistance has more than doubled in the past six years. As those volumes go up, we must add equipment and people to handle the calls. That increases cost. If that expense isn't paid for by the customers who create it, then the expense must be recovered from all ratepayers," Roth explained.

He said the increased service connection charges are designed only to recover the full costs of installing and moving phones.

He noted that customer checks which are returned unpaid create administrative expense for Southwestern Bell just like any other company. "We've always absorbed that expense in the overall cost of doing business. But in fairness, that cost should be paid by the customer whose check doesn't clear," Roth said. The dishonored check charge probably will produce about $1.3 million per year in revenues to help cover the costs.

"Private line rates have been priced well below cost for many years," Roth said. "Just as we've done in the past, we're seeking to reprice those rates more nearly in line with the cost of providing the service."

"We know full well that rate increases are not popular," Roth said. "We make every effort to improve earnings without new rates. But we come to a point where a rate increase is the only choice. We're at that point now."

TILTMAN REEVES, speaker at the Della Plain historical marker dedication, with Jim Word.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's

Perspectives

One last thing needs to be said about the whole nuclear issue. I am convinced there are many folks out there who will never be convinced by any argument put forth. This is true for those on any side of any issue. But even though we may not be convinced by someone else's arguments, there is something that we can do, and that is to respect the other guy's opinion.

Recently, I had a discussion with a friend, and because I know he is easily riled, I often interrupted his argument, his points were declared invalid without listening to them, and generally gave him a hard time. Needless to say the effect was what I had hoped for, he got upset, and suggested we not talk about it.

In a discussion as sensitive as the arms debate, we often do the same kinds of things to each other that I did to my friend, but without the same kind of friendly attitude. We need to be willing to listen to each other, even though we don't agree. Sure, you may have already made up your mind not to be persuaded by anything anyone says, but they are entitled, in this supposedly free country, to have their opinion and express it, even if you are convinced they are absolutely wrong.

One other thing we need to learn to do, and that is to quit name calling. This kind of action only compounds the problems and the divisions. To call someone in the peace movement un-American, or pinko, or to imply that all peace people are duped and used as a tool of the communists or Satan, is not only inflammatory, it is not true. Pacifism is, for Christians at least, as old as the time immediately following the Lord's departure. The new Christians had to face serving in the army, and most refused. As a matter of fact, at that time, it was those who served who were suspect by the church, rather than those who refused. Among the issues involved were the requirement to worship Caesar, and whether they could bear arms and kill.

On the other hand, those who advocate peace through disarmament should not be calling the others "Warmongers". Not all pro-defense people are ready to go out and blow up the other half of the world. They honestly believe their way is the only way to maintain peace, and they may prove to be right.

We must be willing to listen and respect each other, or something far worse than war amongst nations may occur. We may find ourselves at war with each other, and destroy ourselves.

We are having our 80th birthday!

4-H Council.....

Terrell, who had critiqued them, helping them avoid mistakes the judges would notice. "Without all of them we could not have made it," they added.

Brosch has been a 4-H member since he was 9 years of age, preceeded by a sister who was also a member. His parents are actively involved in the organization, serving as leaders. He has been involved in livestock judging teams, wildlife conservation, sheep, steers, method demonstrations for six years, rifle teams, food and nutrition, and record books. He was elected president of the county council for the coming year.

Foster has also been a member since she was 9 years old. Her brothers and sisters have been members before her, and her parents also serve as leaders. She has participated in clothing, food shows, livestock judging teams, sheep, and record books. She has received the Gold Star Club award, the highest award bestowed on a member. She is the vice president of the county council for the next year.

They concluded that anybody can find an interest in 4-H. They listed other areas in addition to those they had participated: trap and skeet, archery, horticulture, companion animals (cats, dogs, birds), grooming, landscaping, hiking, photography, veterinary science, child care, and exchange trips.

PUBLIC NOTICE HOUSING AND COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT CITY OF LOCKNEY

On or about July 15, 1982, the City of Lockney will be submitting an application for $455,000 in 1982 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds to be provided by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). The tentative budget established by the City is as follows:

Acquisition/Relocation:	$ 41,000
Street Improvements:	$254,000
Clearance Activities:	$ 12,000
Housing Rehabilitation:	$ 73,500
Code Enforcement:	$ 13,500
Administration & Contingencies:	$ 61,000

- dirt streets will be paved, curbed and guttered;
- vacant, dilapidated structures will be demolished and cleared
- and accumulations of junk, debris, etc., will be cleared;

BY SHELLY HARRIS

I'm not very good at good-byes. Proof of that is...this is my fourth try at writing this column. The others, x'ed through, re-written and far too sentimental are rightly wadded up in the waste basket.

What can I say to you who have given me so much support, and friendship. The gratitude I feel, not only for myself, but for the warm acceptance of my daughter and son, Melissa and Bill, and of my mother, Kay Heskett.

I must tell you that when I first came here, two and a half years ago, I felt like one lost lady. We'd left family, friends and a part of Texas that was home.

But it didn't take you-all long to make us feel at home here.

Now, it's time for us to go back. The move to Burnet will not only be an advance for me career-wise, but will let me spend time with children and grandchildren.

The position was open six months ago. But I felt a tremendous responsibility in choosing a successor who is familiar with this area and who will be a strong supporter of Floyd County.

I am gratified that so many of you have called to say that my choice of David Cates as publisher is a good one. He has the managerial abilities necessary to run these two newspapers, and he has a deep sense of community. Besides all that, he does catch on fast.

From comments these past three weeks, I can see that our choice of Wes Brown as editor is also meeting with approval. He is small-town oriented and his enthusiasm is certainly the mark of a good country-newspaper editor.

Carolyn Redding will continue as editor in Lockney. Her interests in school and community activities and her willingness to travel the 18 miles from her rural home to Lockney to cover evening events has brought much favorable comments from Beacon subscribers. She has found the people in Lockney to be supportive and easy to work with.

But let me tell you who really puts out the newspapers here. The staff. I'll match this bunch against any newspaper anywhere. They know their jobs, are conscious, and aware of all the quirks and special concessions tradition has pledged these papers to.

They have certainly made my job pleasant and I would like to thank Rosemary Gonzales, Marjorie Holcomb, Carolyn Redding, Treva Hambright, Nancy Barker, and the mail-out people, Jill Willson and Lane Cheek.

I believe I'll get out of telling you-all good-bye because I'll be coming back here periodically, especially during this transition period. So, see you-all later.

Candlelight ceremony unites Nance, Stansell

The First Baptist Church in Lockney was the setting for the candlelight ceremony of Jody Jean Nance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nance and William Scott Stansell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pat Stansell, all of Lockney. Saturday evening at 7:00 p.m.

John Jenkins, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Morton and formerly at Lockney, officiated at the ceremony as the couple exchanged vows.

A brass candelabra accented with a brass candelabra with white candles formed the arched background for the altar scene.

Imported greenery baskets of white gladiolas, orchid mums, baby's breath and palms created the altar setting, complete with the unity candle.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a traditional white bridal gown of Chantilly lace featuring a fitted bodice, sheer yoke and split neckline, trimmed with Venise lace, pearls, and sequins. Lace V-shaped insets extended to the full lace sleeves over fitted sheer under-sleeves. A full tiered skirt joined at a raised waistline caught by a Beilion belt trimmed with Venise lace. The back fullness of the skirt swept into a chapel train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride chose a veil of illusion edged in Venise lace and pearls which fell from a pearl and lace caplet to chapel length. Her bouquet was a cascade of white cattleya orchids and white daisy mums.

Keila Hill of Lubbock attended the bride as maid of honor. Tonya James, sister of the bride, was matron of honor, and Amy Nance, also the bride's sister, and Lee Ann Calvert of Lubbock were bridesmaids.

Julie Stansell, niece of the groom, and Andrea McCandless of Abilene, cousin of the bride, were flower girls.

They all wore Priscilla gowns of lavender crepe caught at a fitted waist with a satin bow, sheer sleeves and skirts in mid-calf length.

Each carried a nosegay of orchid pixies and daisy mums accented with baby's breath and tied with lavender streamers.

Music was presented by Mrs. James Ferguson, organist, and Mrs. Bill Race pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Terry Keltz were vocalists.

Richie Reecer of Lubbock served as best man. Groomsman were Paul Cooper of Lockney, Lyle Suggs of Amarillo, and Darrell Huntsman of Lubbock.

Ushers were Steve Stansell, Tim Stansell, and Rodney Rigby, all of Lubbock, and Ross James of Plainview. Heath Blair of Odessa, cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

The reception was held in the Garden Room of the church. Mrs. Lee Frazier, Mrs. Rodney Rigby, Mrs. Mike Dietrich, Jan Ragland, and Cindy Read assisted with the courtesies.

A three-tiered Cameo wedding cake and a candelabra with orchid and white daisy mums centered the bride's table. It was laid with a white lace cloth over lavender.

The groom's table, spread with a lavender cloth, featured a memory candle surrounded with fresh flowers and a chocolate cake.

Both the bride and groom are seniors at Texas Tech University. The bride attended Lockney High School. She is a elementary education major. She is presently the director of Kinder-Care Learning Center in Lubbock.

The groom also attended Lockney High School. He is an engineering major and is employed by the Lubbock Avalanche Journal.

After a wedding trip to Puerta Villarta, Mexico, the couple will be at home in Lubbock.

A rehearsal dinner was given in honor of the bride and groom by the groom's parents at Strickland's Restaurant in Lockney.

Other recent pre-nuptial courtesies included a bridesmaid luncheon which was given in the home of Mrs. Claude Stallings. She was assisted by Mrs. Mike Dietrich.

Robertson, Hatley joined during ceremony May 29

Miss Julie Ann Robertson and Michael Lynn Hatley were united in marriage at 8 p.m. Saturday, May 29 in the Cooper United Methodist Church of Woodrow. The Rev. Floyd Bradley, pastor of The First Baptist Church, Floydada, performed the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Clifford Robertson of Route 4, Lubbock and Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Hatley of Floydada.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a full length white nylon organza gown with empire waist and bodice embellished with lace. The long full sleeves were double puffed, gathered at the elbow and wrist with lace trimmed cuffs. The neckline was square, scooping low in the back and accented by gathers of full skirt which fashioned a chapel length circular train etched in lace.

Pear-etched net accented by Alecon lace created a cathedral cap which held the floor length veil. The gown was designed and fashioned by the bride's mother and was worn by all four of her daughters.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of white glamelia on a cloud of baby's breath accented with streamers of lace and picot ribbons.

Terri Smith, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Deniece Schaffner and Beverly Schaffner, both sisters of the bride, and Kayla Jones Morrison.

They wore floor-length fan-pleated skirts of royal blue topped by matching camisoles with spaghetti straps. Overlays of sheer light blue shoulder coverups dipped low in the back. The brides attendants carried silk nosegays of varying shades of blue lilies, cornflowers and status with streamers of blue ribbon tied in love knots.

Shana Schaffner, of Slaton, niece of the bride, served as flower girl, wearing an A-line cotton dress of light blue with short puffed sleeves topped by a white with blue embroidered eyelet pinafore. She wore blue flowers in her hair, and carried a small basket of mixed shades of blue flowers.

Robbie Schaffner, of Wolfforth, nephew of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Mark Hatley, of Floydada, served his brother as best man. Groomsmen were Steve Waller of Albany, David Sanders of Dallas, and Sean Byrne of Dallas. Ushers were Dee Wickson of Seminole, Ray Evans of Memphis, Tennessee and Kirk Dooley of Dallas.

Musical selections for the ceremony were played by Mary Helen Jones, organist, of Slaton and Kay Thomas, pianist, of Lubbock. Mike Siler was soloist.

The newlyweds received their guests in the church fellowship hall soon after the wedding ceremony. Serving at the bride's table were Shara Fredenburg of Lubbock and Susan Roberts of Dallas.

Serving guests from the groom's table were Suzie Smith of Canyon and Sue Hancock Brown of Hobbs, New Mexico.

Registering guests was Sarah Combs. The bride is a graduate of Cooper High School and is a senior home economics student at Texas Tech University.

Mike is a graduate of Floydada High School and Texas Tech.

Following a wedding trip to the Bahamas, Mr. and Mrs. Matley will make their home in Lubbock, where the groom is employed by Gifford Hill & Co.

The rehearsal dinner, hosted by Mr. and Mrs. Charles (Buddy) Hatley, for the wedding party was held at the Gridiron Restaurant in Lubbock.

COME ON OUT AND ENJOY THE FUN AT THE Women's Slow Pitch Tournament July 4 and 5 Lockney Care Center Capers

BY VICKIE HUTTON
 Our week started off and continued to be very pleasant. Monday we really had a hot domino game going between Mary Green, Albert Poole, Bill Holt, and Mamie Wofford. Mr. Holt and Mrs. Wofford won out in the end. Another game has been planned and I bet it will be a real doosie.
 Mamie Wofford and Myrtle Howle were our bingo winners. The games continue to have many different twists and turns. Thanks again to our wonderful volunteers, De Linda Glasson, Almeda Phillips and Linda Holley. When these lovely ladies are unable to be with us, they are truly missed.
 All the residents were able to exchange views Wednesday during Current Events. Our topic this week was "Life After Death." Most agreed there was life after death and that if we would read the Bible it would give us the answer to this and many other things.

A special thanks is sent to Clara McCain. Mrs. McCain treated all the residents to oranges Wednesday afternoon. Her kindness and generosity is very much appreciated.
 We lost two special members of our family, Lavelle Edwards and Evie Henderson. They will truly be missed. Our sympathy to the families.
 Until next time, cherish your loved ones!

LOCKNEY LOCAL
 Mel and Marjorie Holcomb and Mel's mother, Ruby Holcomb of Roaring Springs went to Childress Saturday afternoon to attend the wedding of Mel's nephew, Andy Holcomb and Tracy Lancaster. Supper was served at Ray and Marilyn Holcombs' after the wedding for the Holcomb and Gwinn families.

More wind and rain

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN

June 28, 1982, late in P.M.: It is clear today, but sometimes one doesn't want to do anything, but rest. Sorry, when there are things that need doing, summer has come.

And people still get sick — home or at a hospital. Mrs. Clarence Ashton seems doing very well in the rest home. Alma Ruth Nelson feels a bit better than Sunday. Mrs. Henry Brewer spent most of last week at home in bed. Aches all over.

Gordon Mayfield's brother's wife of south of Lubbock is ill in the Methodist Hospital.

Mrs. Leo Frizzell is not feeling well. We have had more rain, and wind. Trees have lost limbs, and windows their screens. But still things mostly look pretty. Lawns need another mowing. And weeds! Lakes running over, crops damaged.

Mrs. Margaret Balios and daughter Melissa of Lubbock spent Sunday with Margaret's mother, Mrs. Frank Dunn. Melissa is staying a few days with her grandmother.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hartline and son, Blake, of Levelland spent Sunday with James's mother, Mrs. W.L. Hartline.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren visited Sunday in Lubbock.

Mrs. Hal Thomas had word today that her sister, Mrs. Price Scott of California, who has been sick is much better.

The Milton Mensch's of Lubbock and son David came Sunday to visit her parents, the Hal Thomas; also to visit other guests, Mr. and Mrs. Carley Ellard of Orange, California.

They were visiting her aunt, Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Thomas.

More sick people passing on — last rites Sunday for Mr. Muncy, and today for Mr. Jim Owens. Our sympathy is with the loved ones. And our prayers for these and those who are sick.

REMEMBER your loved ones with a living memorial to the Caprock Hospital Auxiliary Memorial Fund. Mrs. Ben Whitaker, Treasurer.

A copy of these applications and supporting exhibits are available for public inspection during normal business hours at 106 S. Main.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios con el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de ésta unión se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectaría a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN CLUB OFFICERS for 1982-83 were installed by Merle Mooney, past district director and president of the Lockney club in an impressive candlelight ceremony at K-Bob's in Plainview on Cedar Hill News

Tuesday night, June 15. In-coming officers are Gladys Ragle, president; Nora Bybee, vice-president; Zora Reece, recording secretary; Dorothy Shipp, treasurer. Special guest attending the activities was Martha Riley of Barrow, Alaska.

Holiday weekend to leave 47 dead

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Texas Department of Public Safety said, "The two most dangerous things the driver of a motor vehicle can do is to speed or drink and drive. Those two violations will account for most of the traffic deaths during this July 4th holiday."

The population in Texas is increasing, so is traffic on the highways. More people are expected to be on our highways this 4th of July weekend than ever before. An estimated 47 will be killed this holiday weekend.

The Department will be conducting "Operation Motorcade" during the weekend, trying to make everyone aware of the traffic problem. Every available trooper will be working, trying to help cut down on the needless traffic death but will need the help and cooperation of the entire motoring public to be effective in reducing accidents. "We don't have enough people to stop all traffic violations. We need the voluntary compliance by the motoring public, in obeying the traffic laws, in order to be successful in reducing accidents," Major Bell stated. "If people will just slow down and not drive if they have been drinking, many of the deaths that occur on our highways can be prevented," Major Bell concluded.

Mary Jo Sherman named to Deans List

Mary Jo Sherman, wife of Bill Sherman, of Lockney was included in the spring 1982 Dean's Honor Roll at Weyland Baptist University.

Mrs. Sherman, a freshman, posted a 3.80 grade point average (GPA) on a 4.00 scale for this recently complete term.

She since has completed a summer course in English and will be enrolled later in the summer in Marriage and Family, a sociology course.

She is a former Lockney High School graduate. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E.A. Bonner and is a sister to Danny Quisenberry.

Besides being interested in art and psychology, Mrs. Sherman is the mother of five children: Kay, a daughter, who is taking an EMT course through Lubbock Christian College and working for Aide Ambulance in Lubbock; Mark, a son, who is engaged in farming in the Sterley community; Karla Prater, the mother of two small children of Lockney; Mac, a 1982 graduate of Lockney High School, who will be enrolled in Clarendon Junior College studying range management this fall; and Billy Bob, a son, who will be a sophomore at Lockney High School this fall.

The Dean's Honor Roll is announced by Dr. Dan McLallen, academic vice president and dean of the university, at the end of each semester and lists the names of students who carried at least 12 semester hours during the term and whose GPA was 3.50 or above.

A total of 120 students from 13 states and one foreign country were named to the Honor Roll for the spring term.

Wayland Baptist University is a four-year coeducational institution of liberal arts and sciences which recently began its 74th year of operation. Last fall's enrollment of 1,509 students set an all-time record for the 12th consecutive year.

Youth invited to swine evaluation clinic

4-H and FFA swine exhibitors along with their parents and leaders as well as swine breeders are invited to a Swine Evaluation Clinic July 19-20 at the Gillespie County Fairgrounds on Highway 16 south of Fredericksburg.

The opening session begins at 9 a.m. The two-day clinic will feature discussions in all areas relating to a successful barrow project for 4-H and FFA members, points out Dr. T.D. Tanksley, swine specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, which is sponsoring the program along with Texas A&M's Department of Animal Science and the Texas Pork Producers Association.

Discussions will center on swine selection, facilities, nutrition and feeding management, health, training and showing plus planning more educational swine shows.

The nutritional aspects of pork also will be discussed along with cooking pork in a microwave oven. Pork recipes and other information will be featured at a special educational booth.

Three prominent swine judges will headline the program, notes Tanksley. They are Dan Hoge of Blackhawk East Junior College in Illinois; Dr. Lauren Christian, Iowa State University; and Jim Rucker of Lexington, Oklahoma.

Several prominent Texas swine breeders also will be on the program plus a host of county Extension agents and vocational agriculture teachers who have supervised highly successful swine projects.

According to Tanksley, one of the clinic highlights will be an exhibition and evaluation of 37 self-fed barrows that will represent wide differences in skeletal makeup, looseness of structure, muscle design, length of leg and finish. The pigs, entered by 29 Texas breeders, have been on test since April 9.

These test barrows will be slaughtered and their carcasses evaluated so that clinic participants will be able to see what self-fed barrows look like and what differences exist in the carcasses of various kinds and shapes of pigs, says Tanksley.

County Extension agents have additional information and registration materials for the clinic. A $15 registration fee should be sent to Ken Cook, District Extension Director, Rt. 2, Box 950, San Angelo, Texas 76901.

Landscape & Gardening

BY BENNY J. BUTLER

GROUND COVER: PLANTS SUBSTITUTE FOR LAWN GRASSES

Although grass is generally regarded as the most desirable groundcover for the home landscape, there are situations where it may not be the most practical landscape covering.

In steeply sloping or heavily shaded areas of the landscape where grass will not grow well, other methods of covering the soil must frequently be selected. One of the most satisfactory methods is the use of groundcover plants.

Groundcover plants may range from woody vines to dwarf shrubs, depending on individual needs.

Some of the more prominent uses of groundcovers in typical situations are to cover bare areas of ground, prevent erosion of the soil, give variety in the yard or garden, regulate foot traffic in the yard or garden when used as edging for pathways, and to unify unrelated shrubs and flowerbeds in the landscape.

In addition, groundcovers are frequently used under or around trees where grass grows poorly or where exposed tree roots make mowing a problem. Groundcover plants eliminate the need for mowing as well as concealing the exposed tree roots.

Many possibilities for living groundcovers are now available. For shade or partial shade, vinca, Algerian ivy, English ivy, monkey grass, liriopie, ajuga, and hypericum can all be used. For sunny locations, Asiatic jasmine, monkey grass, creeping jumpers, purple leaf honeysuckle, liriopie, daylilies, santolina, sedum, dwarf yaupon, and dwarf nandina are among those recommended.

Proper soil preparation is needed before groundcover plants are planted. Dig the soil at least six inches deep. Rake thoroughly to remove grass roots. Spread two to three inches of organic material such as peat, well-rotted manure, or leaf mold over the ground and spade it into the soil.

It is essential to remove all grass and to be assured of a weed-free planting area. Once the groundcover is planted, it is difficult to eradicate undesirable weeds and grass.

On rocky or uneven soil where the entire area cannot be so worked, it is advisable to dig individual holes. Dig these deep enough so you can back fill partially with the soil mixed with organic material before you set the plants.

Groundcover plantings will profit from a mulch to hold the soil in place until the planting is established.

Groundcovers can be planted anytime during the growing season. Fall and spring plantings give best results if potted or canned plants are used. Keep the new planting well watered until it becomes established.

TOMATO PROBLEMS

A lot of satisfaction comes from harvesting plump, red tomatoes from your garden. But nothing is more frustrating than finding a dead or wilted plant.

What problems can gardeners expect this year? And more important, what can be done about them?

Here is a checklist of problems, causes and cures:

Young plants dying soon after planting. Cause: Fertilizer burn or soilborne disease. Cure: Thoroughly mix fertilizer into soil; treat for soilborne diseases and do not overwater.

Stunted plants that are pale to yellow. Causes and cures: Low soil fertility, poor soil drainage (drain and add organic matter), shallow or compacted soil (work soil deeper), insects or disease (identify and use control measures) and nematodes.

Stunted plants with purplish color. Causes: Low temperature and lack of phosphorus. Cures: Plant at recommended time and add phosphorus fertilizer.

Spots, molds, darkened areas on leaves and stems. Causes and cures: Disease (identify, spray or dust and use resistant varieties), chemical burn (use recommended chemical at recommended rate) and fertilizer burn (keep fertilizer off plants).

Wilted plants. Causes and cures: Dry soil (water), too much water in soil (drain), nematodes and diseases (use resistant varieties if possible).

Weak, spindly plants. Causes and cures: Too much shade (remove shade or quit gardening), too much rain (hope for sunshine), plants too thick (thin out plants) and too much nitrogen (avoid excessive fertilizer).

Tomato leaf curl. Causes and cures: Heavy pruning in hot weather (do not prune in hot weather) and diseases or insects (identify and use control measures).

Misshapen tomatoes [catfacing]. Cause: Cool weather during blooming. Cure: Plant at recommended time.

Abnormal leaves and growth. Causes and cures: Hormonal-type killer (don't use sprayer that was used to apply weed killer and don't allow spray to drift to garden) and virus diseases (remove infected plants to prevent spreading; control insects that transmit).

Agriculture - gambler's game!

Low commodity prices together with weather, crop surpluses and high interest rates make agriculture a continuing gambler's game.

The government's Acreage Reduction Program, which enrolls producers to withdraw 15 percent of their land from farm production, will make the farmer's hand stronger than it would have been otherwise, but basic economic problems will still be there.

Dr. Don E. Ethridge, agricultural economist with Texas Tech University, said that even with normal weather the actual decrease in U.S. cotton production this year probably would have been close to 6 or 7 percent from the 15 percent acreage reduction.

Farmers, Ethridge said, will withdraw their lowest yielding land from production which will not significantly lower total production.

But the major factor affecting production in West Texas now is severe weather. Rains and hailstorms threaten the immediate existence of the crops.

For every dollar of cotton not produced by West Texas farmers, because of weather or the reduction plan, the regional economy loses $3, Ethridge said.

"The Acreage Reduction Program may make some difference. Let's say the U.S. produces 12 million bales of cotton a year. The plan may reduce that amount by one-half million bales. We probably still have three to three-and-a-half million bales from last year still on the market," Ethridge said.

Acreage plan benefits for those who participate include a commodity loan program. The program is an attempt by government to provide some kind of price floor for agricultural goods, Ethridge said.

The guaranteed price floor is, however, below most farmer's cost of producing cotton and some West Texas farmers have simply thrown in their hand.

"Some farmers who are share leasing land have said they cannot afford to grow a crop on the land and pay rent," he said. "It has left some landowners unable to find people to rent to."

The farmer's hard economic times have changed the business of share leasing. It is becoming more common for the landowner to assume share leasing.

"Rental arrangements are changing. There are reports of some landowners having offered to rent free or just have tenants pay the taxes on property," Ethridge said.

In the cotton king area of West Texas, many farmers have been bitten by severe weather. They have been forced to replant fields, only to have them wiped out again. Replanting costs run approximately $8 an acre dryland and $12 per acre irrigated.

"There has been a lot of replanting in West Texas because of the weather," Ethridge said, citing pounding rains, torrential rains and cool nights. "The replanting will mean the cotton will not likely mature, affecting both the quality and quantity. From Lubbock north, farmers would find better odds in Las Vegas rather than plant cotton at this date."

Softening the cotton price outlook for next year is decreased textile mill activity worldwide due to recessions and large 1981 crop inventories still on the market.

With many West Texas farmers wiped out of the cotton market because of weather, Ethridge said crop alternatives need to be closely examined.

"For cotton farmers who have been hailed out, it is simply too late to replant. The time is even marginal for the southern portions of the Plains," he said.

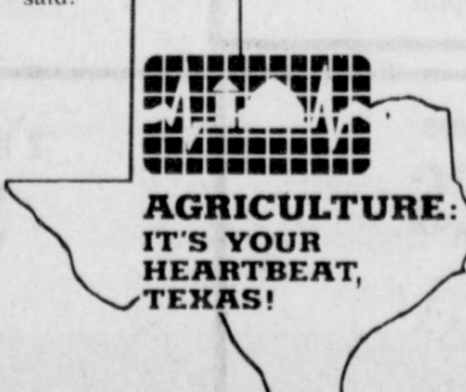

Grain sorghum, sunflowers, soybeans, winter wheat and even vegetables, on limited acreage, could serve as alternative crops for weather beaten farmers. But, the profit outlook for most other crops is not bright either.

Money, a constant concern for producers, may still prove too expensive in financing replanting or crop alternatives.

Despite a drop in the inflation rate, Ethridge does not see interest rates declining enough to aid the hard-hit farmers.

"The people with the money to lend obviously don't expect the inflation rate to stay down," Ethridge said. "The public has gotten so accustomed to high rates of inflation that they will believe the problem is beaten only after the inflation rate continues to stay down for an extended period of time."

Fear of large government deficits reviving high inflation rates is probably one factor holding interest rates up, he said.

Administration blocking farm crisis bill

Congressman Jack Hightower charged that intense Administration opposition and last-minute defections from three key Republican supporters resulted in the failure of the House

Agriculture Committee to pass the emergency Farm Crisis Bill. The bill was introduced in May by Hightower and several other farm-state congressmen in an attempt to provide help for farmers going out of business in record numbers. Yesterday, the Agriculture Committee deadlocked 21-21 and thereby failed to pass the Farm Crisis Act of 1982 on its first attempt and after extensive and speedy hearings.

"I am extremely disappointed that the Committee failed by one vote to move the bill out of committee," Hightower said. "There's no doubt that the Administration's opposition was the deciding factor." The Committee held two days of hearings on the bill with numerous farm group representatives and Congressmen, including Hightower, speaking in support, and Agriculture Secretary Block and others speaking in opposition. In his testimony on June 9th, Block urged the Committee to defeat the bill because he claimed it was unnecessary and that the farm situation would improve without congressional action.

"Although there were three Democrats who voted no, I was mainly surprised that three of the farm bill's main Republican sponsors who had been with us the whole way changed their mind and voted no at the last minute," Hightower said. "Apparently they couldn't resist the Administration pressure. I think this clearly demonstrates that the Administration opposes giving farmers a greater say in their own production decisions. I guess that means they believe that our farmers should continue to be at the mercy of decisions made at the State Department and the President's Budget Office." Hightower was referring to the fact that farmers were hurt financially by the Carter Administration's grain embargo against the Soviet Union, and that the Administration has opposed any emergency action on the agricultural front claiming budgetary and policy reasons.

"Even though the U.S.D.A. officials admitted our bill would both save taxpayers money and help raise farm income, they actively opposed our efforts all the way," Hightower said. "For a long time, farm legislation was largely bipartisan; however, this Administration has consciously played one agricultural faction off against another and has broken that bond among people who once worked together in the country's best agricultural interests. We've got to put that coalition back together."

Hightower indicated the House Farm Crisis Group, which he helped organize earlier this year, would probably meet in the next few days to plan further legislative strategy.

FLOYD COUNTY REPRESENTED WELL AT STATE 4-H GRASS I.D. CONTEST — Shannon Smith, above, and Shannon Edwards, below, of Floydada placed 21st and 22nd out of over 40 contestants at the State 4-H Range and Pasture Grass Identification Contest in College Station.

Hightower, others invite ag secretary to Texas to review crop damage

Congressman Jack Hightower, Charles Stenholm and Kent Hance have issued an invitation to Agriculture Secretary John Block to conduct a personal inspection of hail-damaged areas of West Texas as part of their efforts to convince Block to provide emergency disaster assistance to farmers whose crops were ruined and who are on the verge of bankruptcy. Some eighteen counties in the 13th District were hit by hailstorms in the past several days causing severe damage to cotton and grain crops to the area's important commodities.

Hightower, Hance and Stenholm on Wednesday, June 23rd, wrote Secretary Block an urgent letter requesting that he use his discretionary power under the 1981 Farm Act "to reinstate the disaster payment programs" for some farmers in light of the serious damage to crops in their West Texas areas. The storms "have destroyed up to 75% of the crops in some counties," the three Congressmen wrote. "To compound the losses suffered from natural disaster, most of these farmers either have no crop insurance or an inadequate amount of coverage due to the high cost of the greater yield coverage and other transitional problems."

"Many of these farmers already have a substantial debt load due to the last several years of low commodity prices and ever-increasing cost of production," the letter continued. "We also recommend that these farmers be allowed to participate in any set-aside and CCC loan programs available to their replacement crops even though no acreage base has been established. "Finally, we must ask that you protect the payment yield for deficiency payment purposes," the Congressmen wrote. "Many producers will find their base yields dramatically reduced next year if they are forced to use a zero yield for this year."

"We hope the Secretary will be concerned enough to come see the damage and that this will convince him that these actions are urgently needed," Hightower told the press. "Many counties in the 13th District were really hit hard, and for some of these farmers who are just barely hanging on, this hail damage could literally push them over the edge into bankruptcy for good." Early estimates indicated that counties damaged by the hail in the 13th District included Briscoe, Childress, Collingsworth, Cottle, Dallam, Floyd, Gray, Hall, Hansford, Hartley, Hutchinson, King, Moore, Motley, Ochiltree, Potter, Randall, and Swisher. More counties may be included in updated reports.

Breihan urges help for farmers

National Cotton Council President Ed Breihan urged Agriculture Secretary John Block to aid weather-stricken West Texas farmers by immediately implementing the 1981 farm law's disaster provisions for the area.

In a telegram to the Secretary as well as members of the Texas Congressional delegation, Breihan said extensive hail and other adverse weather had caused a crop disaster of "unprecedented proportions" on the Texas Plains.

Estimates of cotton severely damaged or destroyed in the High and Rolling Plains range from 1.5 to 2 million acres, and in much of the area it's too late in the season for successful replanting.

Under current farm law, the Secretary of Agriculture has the authority to make the payments if (1) a natural disaster creates an economic emergency for producers, (2) federal crop insurance does not cover the crop because of "transitional problems" attendant to the insurance program, and (3) additional assistance must be made available to such producers to alleviate the economic emergency.

Breihan told the Secretary that the current situation in West Texas meets all three of these conditions.
