BURNS BLACKSMITH SHOP, as shown about 1910, showed J.E. [John Ellison] Burns [foreground] laboring over the anvil and a horseshoe.

Dedication of blacksmith shop set for Friday April 13 at city hall

Dedication services of the original location of the Burn's Blacksmith Shop will be held Friday, April 13 at the Lockney City Hall, the location of the original shop.

The plaque commemorating the location has been placed on the city hall building.

The Burn's Blacksmith Shop was established in 1900 by J.E. Burns. It was the first blacksmithing shop opened in Lockney. It was later expanded and moved across the street to the east where only vacant lot site. This lot was donated to the city of Lockney by the Burns' heirs to be used for a park after the demise of Mr. and Mrs. Burns, who passed away in 1940 and 1945, respectively.

The Burns family came to the Lockney area in about 1889 and lived southeast of Lockney for 11 years. During that time they lived in a dugout, but later moved into a house. The only fuel available at that time was cowchips which were used for heating and cooking.

While living in the country the Burns primary business was livestock. At one point in time problems with the loco weed forced them to move their stock to

New Mexico and Oklahoma; they returned them to Texas later that year.

Upon moving into the City of Lockney, they opened and operated the first blacksmith shop. They operated the shop for 35 years. At times this shop employed as many as 12 smithies at one time. The house they built near the shop was their home until their deaths when the land was later donated to the city.

The Burns couple reared their family of five children, all of whom were born in or near Lockney, to attend Lockney schools. They were all graduates from Lockney High School.

Three elections to be held Saturday

Three local elections for positions on the city council, Lockney General Hospital board, and the Lockney Independent School District Board of Directors will be held Saturday, April 7. Polls will be open from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m.

The city council election will be held at the city office. Three aldermen will be elected to the city council. Six candidates have filed for the three council seats: incumbents Dub Dipprey, Paul Reecer, and Pat Frizzell and first time candidates Arnold Peralez, Felipe Gatica and Manuel Rendon.

Officials selected for the city election include judge Willis Reynolds, assisted by Bernice Reynolds, Jewel Thompson, and Pat Gonzales.

The hospital election will be held at the east entrance of the Lockney High School. There are two seats on the hospital board to be filled. Two incumbent candidates, Hubert Frizzell and Chester Carthel, have chosen to run for the two places on the hospital board.

Election judge for the hospital election is J.D. Copeland.

The Lockney Independent School District will also be holding its election on Saturday. Two seats on the board will be voted on. Only the two incumbent candidates are running in this election: Keith (D.K.) Jackson and Kelton Shaw.

Election judge for the school board election is G.B. Johnston. He will be assisted by Yolanda Garcia, Alice Mitchell, and Kenneth Wofford. This election will be held at the main entrance of the Lockney High School.

All registered voters are urged to get out and vote in all three of these important elections. Only you, as registered voter, can decide who will make important decisions that will affect you as the residents of Lockney.

Fair board gets new secretary

Members of the Floyd County Fair Board met recently for planmaking for the annual fair to be held this year on September 13, 14, and 15.

During the meeting president John Thacker and secretary Sandra Dorman resigned the offices they held. The Thacker family will be moving to Levelland at the end of the school year. At press time no one had assumed the office of president. Rhonda McCain had been appointed secretary.

Fair board directors have been looking into the possibility of applying for grant funds to either replace or remodel the existing fair facilities.

The next meeting of the fair board is scheduled for April 16 at 7:30 p.m. It will be held at the Lockney High School Homemaking Department. Everyone is invited to attend, especially those interested in helping with ideas or working on projects to help improve the fair.

Seniors honored at First Baptist Church dinner

The 1984 graduating class of Lockney High School was recently feted with an honorary dinner at the First Baptist Church of Lockney. The dinner was sponsored by the Women's Missionary Union and the Youth Committee of the church.

More than 50 seniors heard speaker, Gary Manning, of Wayland Baptist University.

A complete meal of barbecue brisket, beans, tossed salad, baked potatoes, and banana pudding was served to the seniors by the high school youth of the church. The meal was served in the garden room of the church. Tables were decorated with white tablecloths centered with brass candlesticks holding yellow tapers. A garland of fresh jonquils surrounded the base of each candle. Favors of small matted pictures proclaiming "You were bright-Now you're polished" completed the table settings.

Attending with Mr. and Mrs. Bob Purser and Mr. and Mrs. Byron Brock as class sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Hallmark. He is superintendent of schools.

Representing the church at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Merle Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Buck Kellison, and Mr. and Mrs. Randall Stotts.

Members of the Youth Committee who worked on the banquet included James and Shelia Poole, Gail and Mary Ann Kring and Kenneth and Jackie Holt. They were assisted by Melody Wiley, Bill and Ann Race, and Delvin and Sheryl Byoee.

Corina Hermonsson of Sweden addressed Lockney Rotary Club

Corina Hermonsson, foreign exchange student from Sweden, was the guest speaker at Lockney Rotary Club Friday at noon.

Corina began her program with a slide presentation of her native country. The industrialization of the country was exhibited by the iron and copper mines and forests in central Sweden from which paper products are exported.

Corina said this year when she was doing some Christmas shopping, she came across some pieces of crystal made in one of the factories in her native country. Sweden has two such factories. She commented that "even West Texas" sold products made in her native land.

Some of the slides Corina showed included pictures of the historical dress costumes of the Swedish people. She explained the dress, the colorful costumes which are normally seen in pictures, are worn in the evenings at home and for celebrations. Work clothes have traditionally been white.

Schools in Sweden are somewhat different to those in the United States. Students there who complete nine years of regular schooling are prepared for college level study. Students have a choice of attending the last three years of school or going to work, but because of the high rate of unemployment, "99% of most student choose to go for more schooling," she said. If a student chooses school, it is chosen "a line" that best fits their interests.

One of the questions asked Corina was did they have a problem with drugs and alcohol with the kids in schools. She said that at the present it is not a real problem but that it was coming to her country and she said "it has a lot of people scared."

She explained that drinking among the young is not too much of a problem because of the serious repercussions. In Sweden a drivers' license cannot be obtained before the age of 18 and then it costs $500.00. If one is caught drinking even one beer while driving, the license is revoked for six months to one year. One caught drinking and driving will also be fined and may spend time in jail.

Corina also commented that we are a "country of drivers." In her country driving is very limited due to $2.00 per gallon gas. She said, "You think nothing of driving 5 or 6 hours to get somewhere, but in my country it would cost too much to drive that far."

Swedish people celebrate many of the same holidays we do plus some we do not. They have Easter celebrations in which they have an "egg picking." During the egg picking people of the towns compete by hitting real eggs together. The winner is the one who has the most unbroken eggs. Corina said there are some people who try to cheat with china eggs. Anyone caught cheating is "thrown into the harbor. You don't want to get thrown in because the water has oil and dead fish in it and it is very cold," she said.

The Swedish people welcome spring with a huge bonfire. In June they celebrate MidSummer, which is the longest day of the year. On this day families and relatives gather for a time of feasting together. She said that this goes on all day long.

August 8 is set aside for the Lobster celebration, first day of lobster fishing. "Everyone eats lobster all day long," she explained.

Cub Scouts hear program

Cub scouts and parents were captivated Monday night by the fast pace program featuring go cart racing.

The speaker, Barton Cooper, actually demonstrated the operation of go carts and described the various types. He stressed the importance of safety equipment and provided exciting information regarding racing on the grade school level.

The program included a display of two carts. Cooper has entered in races as far away as Florida. Trophies he had won and magazines depicting carts completed the exhibit. Following the presentation a lively question and answer period ensued.

In addition to the program, an awards ceremony was held. Patrick Monroe was awarded the Wolf badge by Cindy Smith. Den two, led by leader Susan Patridge, conducted the Pledge of Allegiance and Den three, with leaders Ninette Zorger and Karla Robnett, entertained the group in song. Refreshments were provided by Belinda Stapp.

The three youths were arrested after one of the two 17 year olds confessed to the crime.

PERSPECTIVES

By The Rev. Michael O'Connor

Some how I expected the furor to be greater. I have heard some disappointment on the part of some television and radio preachers, but the uproar is not as great as it could have been. I am talking about the results of the Senate vote on a school prayer amendment.

I have to confess that I really wasn't too upset over the result. I always hesitate to say something like that because it sounds like I am against prayer. But in reality, I am against prayer in public schools. There ought to be prayer in private Christian schools, because they are trying to teach religious values as well as the fundamentals of education. Public schools are not designed for that.

One of the problems is that there really is no such thing as valueless education. Unfortunately, in the atmosphere of our current society, the schools are expected to provide an education which is pluralistic in its nature, whereas, once upon a time, the values that were being taught were pretty much the same for everyone. Pluralism is itself a value, a value that says everyone's ideas have more or less equal merit. Thus we have lost a sense of absolute values, true for everyone.

Rectifying that situation will not be the end result of introducing legislation permitting prayer, silent or spoken, into the school day. The loss of school prayer was a symptom of a changing society, not the cause of it. We may treat the symptom and never get at the disease behind it. When that happens, all that really results is that the patient gets sicker without knowing it.

What we really want is the guarantee of the Constitution that the government will not interfere with the free exercise of religion. That does not happen when schools are told they must refuse students the space to hold voluntary meetings just because the meeting happens to be religious in nature, or when preachers are not allowed to address classes, or kids are told they cannot wear clothing with religious mottoes printed on them. Sen. Mark Hatfield, who voted against the school prayer amendment, has introduced a bill which would rectify that situation. I hope that measure passes.

Until we realize that our society's values have changed, even such a measure as Hatfield's will just be a bandage on a gaping wound. Should we come to that realization, we will then be faced with a choice, do we return to the way things were, or do we allow that society to go its merry way, and live as a people called apart. Perhaps the latter would be the best course. Someone has said, "In a world where everyone is a Christian, almost no one really is." It may well be that the rejection of school prayer will give rise to an understanding that societies aren't Christian, people are.

In Times Like These...

The relationship between West Germany and East Germany is becoming downright cordial. However, the leaders are as different as night and day. On one side is West Germany governed by Chancellor Helmut Kohl. His policy has been anti-Communism. On the other side is East Germany governed by Erick Honecker, 71, who has followed in the Kremlin's footsteps.

The two met for the first time in Moscow at the funeral of Yuri Andropov. After a 2-hour session they were beaming to declare that their talk had been "ausgezeichnet" - excellent. Such an adjective had never before been used in the cross border vocabulary.

Chancellor Kohl is quite a humanitarian. He wants to get as many East Germans as possible out of the Communist state and into West Germany.

Also it never has been disclosed just how much the Kohl government is paying Honecker's regime for his sanction to a new wave of emigration.

For his part, Hanecker has begun to dismantle some of the thousands of tripwire, shrapnel-throwing devices along the 800 mile frontier between the two Germans.

As a Western diplomat puts it: "The East German government is Communist, but the people are German. And what still matters in West Germany and in the East too is the Germans - German relationship."

VOTE SATURDAY!

Lockney Care Center Capers

By Mavis Barton

Monday, 19th: Well, wasn't yesterday a humdinger. I was getting ready to go home, when my husband came in and said he would not be able to take me out today, he has to take care of three calves that are sick. They were born last week and the biggest one will have to have a shot.

So he visited me for a couple of hours, and all the time, the wind was getting stronger and the dust too. I was glad I didn't go.

Tuesday, 20th: A lady came today and she said I wrote for ladies who had quilt scraps they didn't want to bring them to the home. I want to thank the lady very much. She brought four plastic bags full. Well this afternoon, is "Bingo" time and now, we can only win one fruit.

"Old Glory" the flag has been folded for the last time, dirty and torn and put away. It has been months since a flag was raised here. But we bought a flag and put it outside and now it looks more like it should. Esker raises the flag and at sundown, he lowers it and brings it in and he folds it.

Wednesday, 21st: I am sorry Myrtle Howell is feeling bad, she went to see the doctor this morning and they kept her and put her to bed. Please get well Myrtle and come back home. We all miss you here.

We had Janice Nichols from Plainview and this time we all had leather, gun holsters and boots. We were hammering patterns on them after Janice had got them thoroughly wet and when everybody went to banging their patterns with a wooden mallet and special tools, believe me it was quite a noise and Momma "Edna Thomas" called out "Here, here stop that racket, there is no reason for all that noise." So we had to take her out of the lobby. We were making key chains.

Thursday, 22nd: The fruit trees were blooming across from the home, red and white ones. I hope the freeze didn't get them.
Now and then we get a warm day in between two cold ones, and Esker Pyle does a little gardening on the warm days. The men who sat outside so much last year are returning out again. Esker Pyle, John Smith, Richard Lanham and Lewis Roberts and of course "Granny Self" still feeding the birds and gets around real good and looks great. I almost forgot that Granny had three visitors last week, Minnie Mae Man-kum, Oci Smallwood and Cora Hill.
Friday, 23rd: I don't think very much happened today, it was kind of quiet. The Flomot church group did not come and we had to sing by ourselves, those who would. There was very few of us, but we got thru it, all of us were trying our best.
Then we played "Bingo" I stayed up in the afternoon and went to watch as they were half way through.

Saturday, 24th: Well I am trying my best to get this in time.
It was a beautiful sunny day and warm too. The residents were taking in the sun by sitting outside.
Esker Pyle was pushing Amelia Ashton in her chair up and down the path. Jeanie Palomin pushing Mr. Jones up and down the path taking in the sun. Now she is pushing Jewell Miller.
Until next time.
Sunday, 25th: We had some pretty weather today and I went home. It was nice change. I enjoyed it. We went into the pasture and looked at the stock, and the three little calves are doing fine. One of them had to be fed by the bottle and when put with its mother it didn't know which one to take. But he soon found out.
We had dinner, then we watched a basketball game, we both wanted the blue team from "New Orleans" to win. The other team were from "Chicago," they were neck and neck and ended 35-35. So with overtime, the blue team won 42-35.
Monday, 26th: The sun was shining this morning, but it didn't last long, before clouded up and threatened rain. We did have a few drops splash on the window but that was all. I hate to write about this, but I have to. Momma Ida Rose passed away today at 12:55. I check her before I left the room for lunch and she was breathing. I didn't eat anything so went back to our room and she was still breathing. I started my writing and one of the girls Maria Segovia came in, then she left and came with a nurse, Gloria Shoemaker. The nurse asked me if I would mind leaving and going to the lobby for a while. I did and a few minutes later, daughter, Lucy Dean Record and son, Delver Rose both came and told me, Momma has gone. I couldn't believe it.
Tuesday, 27th: I got up and had breakfast and came to my room to write. It was so windy and dusty yesterday that Esker Pyle did not put the flag at half mast. It was much calmer today so Esker raised it today at half mast. It was Bingo day, but I didn't go, I went to bed. Then I have to get up and realize what I've done, should have been up and getting my writing done. We have a new patient, a gentleman Mr. Jesse Morris. We had exercise this morning and I was a little late as usual.
Wednesday, 28th: Well time to get up. The girls had got everybody up and in their chairs who needed help. I was going down to the nurses desk to wait for breakfast and on the way, I looked into "Momma Thomas's" room. She was in her chair, arms folded and her head leaning back. When I got back to my room, Edna Hunter told me "Black Momma" had died this morning in her room sitting in her chair.
It has been a hectic week, two patients died in three days and Mrs. Ida Rose's funeral at 2 p.m. today.
I don't know when "Momma Thomas" funeral is set.
Mr. Barratt went to the hospital today, so you see what kind of a week it is.
Thursday, 29th: Well this started out alright, nothing drastic happened today. I have a roommate, but she is quiet and won't talk to you. Her name is Weta Hill.
I also had a visitor today. Delver Rose stopped by to see how I was, for a few minutes. I forgot to mention yesterday that Lucy Dean Record saw me yesterday. Thanks both of you for coming.
Friday, 29th: Well another week has gone by. It will be Bingo again this afternoon. I am missing exercise again and soon be time for church. I gotta go.

Tales from Tomi

This last week has really been a hectic week. After working here for a few weeks, I have found that nothing around here is routine. There is never a dull day and it seems that the day is gone before we even know it!

On Monday, March 26th, Mable came by and picked us up for our bus trip. It sure was windy and dusty, but we went anyway. She drove us to Floydada and back. It started to sprinkle on us and we thought it was going to get worse, so we just cut our trip short. Nonetheless, we enjoyed it very much. Residents that went were Mrs. Alma McDonald, Mrs. Bessie Hunt, Mr. Richard Lanham, Mr. Pyle, Mrs. Mary Jo Fielding.

Our residents had their usual activities. On Tuesday, they played Bingo and we had a different prize this time. Mrs. King brought some chocolate Nutty Bars. It seemed that our residents were trying extra hard to win. Many thanks to Mrs. King for bringing us the chocolate Nutty Bars.

On Wednesday, Kim Sherman came and had music therapy and on Thursday, some of our residents enjoyed watching a film called "From the Ocean to the Sky." The movie was very interesting as it was filmed in India. It made us aware how fortunate we were in living in America, as the culture there in India is very different from ours.

After the film, our nail care volunteers came. They spent some time with our lady residents. They did their nails and at the same time visited with them. The residents really appreciated them coming and they hope they will return soon. Those volunteers were Veronica Blanco, Marta Reyes, Paula Solis, Estella Salazar, and Dalia Bernal. Many thanks to them for taking time from their daily chores to be with us.

On Friday, some of our residents played Bingo. I would like to thank Janie Martinez, our med-aide, for standing in on Bingo for me, as I was in a meeting at that time.

Thanks to all the churches, again, for being here. Our residents are always looking forward to your services. We really enjoy them and we appreciate you for taking time to be with us.

We, the residents and staff of the Lockney Care Center, would like to express sincere sympathy to the families and loved ones of Mrs. Ida Rose and Mrs. Edna Thomas.

Also, we would like to say that we welcome Mr. "Buddy" Morris, Mr. Clyde E. Morrison, and Miss Dawn Jasper to their new home. We love having them here. We are also happy to say that Mrs. Myrtle Howell and Mr. Miller are back with us, but we are sorry that Mr. A.C. Barrett is in the hospital. We hope he will get better and return home soon.

Our prayers are with him.

Another week has gone by and for some of us, we feel as though it's the same old routine. But let us stop to think, that we will never have that week again. The days, the hours, the minutes, and the seconds, will never be repeated again. So let us be happy and appreciate the time that we have here on this earth and remember that our Lord has given that time to us. It's our responsibility to do as we wish with it. With that thought, I will close.

Till next time.

Foster, Bybee demolish opposition

By Coach Moerbe

On Saturday, five members of the Lockney tennis team participated in the Hart tournament. Karyn Foster, Stephanie Bybee, Heather Holt, Ronnie Ford and Jackie Cunyus represented Lockney.

Girls singles was a one-school show as Lockney placed first and third. Karyn Foster defeated Acker of Nazareth, York of Olton, and Kern of Nazareth to claim top honors. Bybee defeated Struve of Olton before being upset by Kern of Nazareth. But she came back strong, thrashing York of Olton to place third. Cunyus and Ford survived hard fought matches in the first round to advance to the quarterfinals before losing.

In action held the previous week at Wayland, Lisa Terrell and Julie Davis terrorized the opposition to place second in the prestigious Plains Tennis Association tournament. Elizabeth Solis and Inez Gibson battled their way into the quarterfinals before bowing out of the tournament.

The next action for the Lockney girl netters will be today and Friday at Post.

Official Memorandum

GREETINGS:
Child abuse and neglect is a complex problem which may be transmitted from one generation to the next.

The most successful prevention and treatment of child abuse is provided before a child is seriously or permanently harmed. Preventative and corrective measures provide the child's parents with the strength to make the child's own home a safe and healthy environment.

Many organizations across our state provide and promote services which help families to protect and nurture their children, including education of young citizens before they become parents.

The awareness and support of the citizens of Texas is crucial to the expansion of these services.

THEREFORE, I, as Governor of Texas, do hereby proclaim the month of April 1984 as in Texas, and urge all citizens to report any suspected incidents of child abuse to the appropriate authorities.

In official recognition whereof, I hereby affix my signature this 26th day of March, 1984
Mark White
Governor of Texas

In and Around Lockney

By Felicia Applewhite

The Lockney Fire Department and Lockney Ambulance Service operate in coordinated effort through a volunteer membership.

Some of these volunteers have had twenty to twenty-five years service in the department.

The ambulance service has been with the fire department the last eight years. There are twenty members with the department now. An effort is made to keep the membership to a minimum.

Every week-end one of the men is on duty. Individual duty falls each eight weeks. Staying home by the telephone when Lockney is playing football is "tough." One fireman had his eighth-week duty on Christmas Eve. He stayed home all that week-end.

The boys have fire meetings every week on Tuesday at the fire station.

There are ten fire phones. One is at City Hall. The telephone number for these phones is listed Fire Department Emergency Number and it is just that one of the ten telephones is in the country one mile.

If the fireman is not home to answer the fire telephone, his wife answers and can blow the whistle.

State laws changed this last January. The law demanded that the men now take a 40-hour course and a test from the State Department of Health. The 1943 laws were governed by the Red Cross, at this time and was operated out of a funeral home. Now the enactment is on paid departments or on volunteers as in Lockney.

When the present laws were enacted, Lockney was so well equipped there was nothing to change.

The fire chief, Robert Webb, has an additional responsibility. He is required to be on duty at all times.

Now an emergency care attendant is required. By two more years two emergency care attendants will be required.

The ambulance has the same emergency telephone number as the fire number.

The department is often called on by the police. Particularly if there is a mental case.

If there is a wreck the department calls out the departments four-wheel drive suburban with a stretcher and jaws of life. It can carry air pack and has extra bottles.

If both fire trucks leave at one time it means that there is a fire in town. One truck is here at all times to protect the city.

If there is an emergency the old ambulance is used for backup. If a sick person needs to go to Plainview, they are taken in an ambulance.

A telephone call because of a heart attack might be called on the emergency telephone number which could in turn cause the whistle for fire alarm.

Telephone calls for the Lockney ambulance come from Lockney to Hale County line and from Lockney to the Briscoe County line. Also calls from east of Lockney for the Lockney ambulance are answered.

The ambulance is used over as wide territory as to Lubbock and farther. Some Floydada use of the ambulance is a part of Floyd County use of the Lockney ambulance.

One wife remembers a fire at Co-op one night when the wives took coffee and sandwiches for the men after the fire.

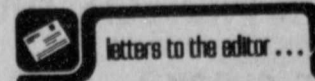

Lockney City Hall keeps records of Lockney Fire Department operations.

One way the city of Lockney and Floyd county show some appreciation for the work down by the men is through an annual gift.

"We get $500.00 from the city and county to use as we please. We have used it for equipment some years. That, that is not used before the end of the year, we split it all up and go fishing. We usually divide into three groups for three fishing trips."

The people of Lockney in their awareness of the willing work done by the Fire Department and the Lockney Ambulance Service feel free to call at some unusual times for the help these two organizations give.

During one real cold spell, a citizen wanted the water turned off to prevent freezing. This emergency call came for the help.

To the Editor:

I would like to express my appreciation to the Lockney City Council and the Lockney Police Department for the firearms safety course for women conducted recently. I believe it was very beneficial to those who attended.

After talking to several ladies who did not take the first course I think there would probably be enough interest to warrant another course.

Sincerely,
Mrs. Tommy Sherman

HIGHLIGHTS

MORNING 8:05 (4) *** "THERE'S ALWAYS TOMORROW" (1956, Drama) Barbara Stanwyck, Fred MacMurray. A middle-aged man looks for extramarital affection...

The following article is a public service by The Floyd County Hesperian and The Lockney Beacon through the cooperation of John R. "Randy" Hollums, District Attorney and The Prosecutor Council.

decide a criminal case is: [A] the preponderance of the evidence. [B] guilt beyond a reasonable doubt. [C] the reasonable-man standard.

[B] Our system seeks at all costs to avoid condemning an innocent person.

Juries should be very sure of a defendant's guilt before they convict.

By comparison, the standard in a civil case is the preponderance of the evidence.

Here the jury simply determines which side — plaintiff or defendant — has the weight of the evidence behind him.

Imagine a balance scale, with the evidence for one party on one side and for the other party on the opposite side.

In a civil case the scale need only tip slightly in the direction of either side to decide the case for that party.

However, in a criminal case, to convict the defendant, the state's side of the scale must be fully weighted down with evidence.

5. How many appeals are filed with the Supreme Court each year? [A] 850. [B] 5,300. [C] 1,600. [B]. The Court is actually able to review in detail only about 200 cases per year.

6. About how many civil suits are brought annually in the U.S.? [A] 2.5 million. [B] 37 million. [C] 12 million.

(C). Only 10 percent of these will actually be tried.

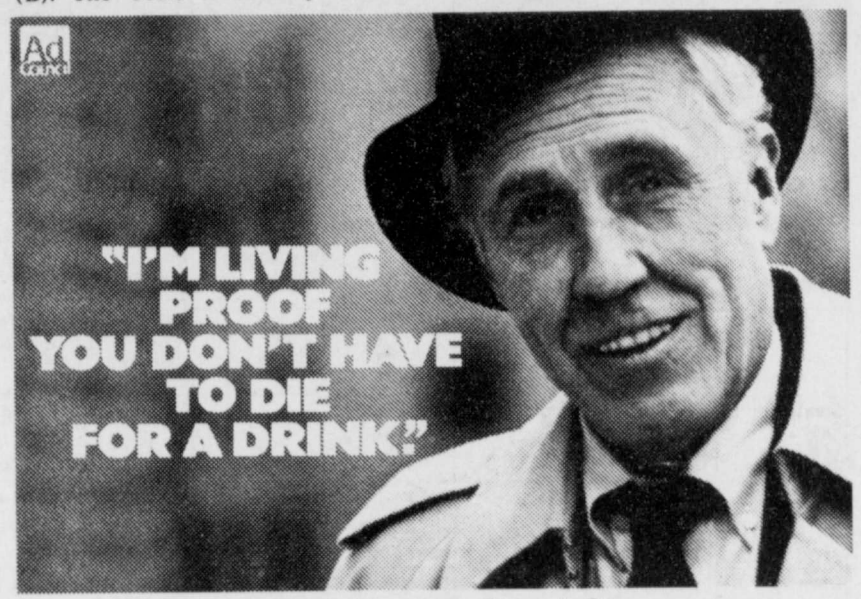

7. Which side wins most often when a civil suit is tried? [A] The plaintiff [the person suing] wins 80 percent of the time.

[B] The defendant wins about 70 percent of the time. [C] Each side wins about half the time.

(C). When you think about it, this is as it should be. It indicates a balance in the way parties perceive the value of their cases, the way jurors and judges decide them, and the way the courts administer them.

Each citizen bears a responsibility to the system of justice in America. Only through information, awareness, and concern can the system be improved.
