THIRTY-THREE SENIORS completed 13 years of schooling on Monday, May 21 when they graduated from Lockney High School.

33 receive diplomas

As their last act as high school students, 33 Lockney High School seniors participated in the graduation exercises held Monday, May 21 at the First Baptist Church.

The seniors were lead into the sanctuary by marshalls Betty Kay Cates and Brent Hallmark and were seated in the choir pit.

Following the invocation by senior class vice president Stephanie Bybee the gathering was addressed by salutatorian Libby Williams, who urged all her fellow classmates to believe in themselves and to set goals and strive to reach them.

Members of the senior class then provided special music, lead by band director James Whitis and accompanied by Mrs. C.L. Record on the piano and by fellow senior Earl Brose on the guitar.

Valedictorian Paul Castro then spoke to his classmates. In his message he asked his fellow seniors strive to make something of their lives. He stated that "the road to success is never easy, but on that road people develop character, dignity, and self esteem." He also challenged his fellow classmates to retain the friendships they have made in their years in the Lockney school system.

High school principal James Poole reviewed the awards and scholarships had been presented at an awards assembly held the prior week.

Superintendent W.H. Hallmark addressed the seniors and asked of them to "dream of things you wish to accomplish and strive toward those dreams and don't give up. You can be anything you wish to be," he told them.

Diplomas were then presented to the seniors by school board president Eddie Foster, W.H. Hallmark, and James Poole. Graduating seniors include Paul Castro, Libby Williams, Gary Bigham, Estella Blanco, Moses Blanco, Shawnda Brock, Earl Brose, Stephanie Bybee, Jackie Cunyus, Hope Cantu, Randy Emert, Kim Carthel, Mike Floyd, Sandra Cavazos, Jason Hill, Julie Collins, David Martinez, Judy Davis, Carlos Molinar, Karyn Foster, Keith Owens, Aurora Garcia, Robert Rendon, Sylvia Hernandez, Glenn Sutterfield, Beckie Mathis, Refugio Vasquez, Jerri Ann McCormick, Norma Perez, Becky Pitchford, Dana Poole, Carmen Rodriguez, and Karen Wofford.

Processional and recessional music was provided by Mrs. C.L. Record.

"PIONEER COUPLE OF THE YEAR" was awarded to the G.C. Applewhites by Hubert Frizzell Saturday. Mrs. Felicia Applewhite is shown accepting the plaque, accompanied by the couple's daughter, Myra Applewhite of Plainview.

Memorial services held

Monday morning the Lockney VFW Post #7993 held a memorial service at the Lockney Cemetery. The flag was flown at half mast. A firing squad was on hand to salute the war dead who fought to protect the United States in past wars.

The Lockney Cemetery Association held its annual meeting May 28 at the Lockney Community Center.

The memorial service was lead by the Rev. Murle Rogers. He spoke on the present changes going on in the United States and the differences in young people. He stressed all the things for which we have to be thankful now including the fact that the United States was founded on Christian beliefs, the natural resources we have, and the many freedoms we have including freedom of speech, prayer, and press. Rogers also asked that we remember those who have fought for our country and have made it possible for us to have those freedoms.

Secretary Arla Copeland then read the minutes of the last meeting and they were approved. Mrs. Copeland also informed those present that the trees planted earlier in the year by the IL Penserose Study Club are doing very well and of the original 97 trees planted only one did not survive.

President of the association, J.D. Copeland, then gave the financial report and concluded with the net worth of the association of $9174.96.

Following the financial report the officers were elected. All officers from 1983 were reelected by acclamation to their offices. They include president J.D. Copeland, secretary Arla Copeland, and vice president Ronnie Thornton.

Directors of the association are Owen Thornton, John T. Carthel, Ronnie Thornton, O.C. Allison, and Madge Huff.

Mary Lou Bollman informed the group that Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, caretakers of the Lockney Cemetery have in recent weeks been marking several of the unmarked graves at the cemetery with the small, metal markers used by the cemetery association. The markers give the name and dates of birth and death on them. They are being set in concrete and placed on the graves. Mrs. Bollman explained that they are by no means large marker stones, but at least the graves are being marked so that they can be located."

Rodeo slated tonight

An amateur rodeo is scheduled to begin tonight in Lockney, with about 250 contestants expected.

There will be a full slate of rodeo events including bareback riding, bull riding, calf roping, team roping, bronc riding, steer wrestling, and barrel racing. Entrants will compete on Thursday and Friday nights and the winners on those two nights will return to compete on Saturday night.

A businessmen calf dressing contest will be held during the rodeo in which teams of three men will be attempting to dress a calf in a T-shirt and boxer shorts. Competing will be a team of volunteer firemen including David Workman, Marlon McDonald, and Danny Bollman. Members of another team are: Kenneth Holt, Billy Joe Turner, and Sam Fortenberry. Also signed up are at least two mystery teams. Two teams per night will compete, with the winners of Thursday and Friday night competing against each other on Saturday night.

Also being held is a chili cookoff on Saturday. The cookoff is being sponsored by the Floyd County Fair Association. The deadline for entering the chili cookoff will be Saturday morning. Entry fee is $15.00. Anyone wishing to enter should contact Laura Wilson at 652-2456 or Denise Blanchard at 652-2712. Gates will open Saturday morning at 8:00 a.m. for those entering to start cooking. After the chili is judged at 4:30, chili will be served, starting at 6:00 p.m., at $1.50 a bowl with beans and tortillas.

Saturday night will be highlighted by the naming of the rodeo queen. Contestants are Amy Ansley and Cindy Cooper. The contestants are selling tickets and the girl selling the most tickets will be named the rodeo queen and will receive a gift certificate. Tickets are $3.00 for adults and $1.50 for children 12 and under.

Also scheduled for Saturday night is a dance in the entertainment building at the fair grounds. The band playing for the dance is Mal Function Junction from Dickens, to begin immediately after the rodeo performance.

There will be a concession stand open for all three nightly performances of the rodeo.

The stock for the rodeo is being provided by the Terrell Rodeo Company of Roaring Springs.

Everyone make plans to come out and have a good time, see local cowboys and girls compete, and enjoy some good old fashioned family entertainment.

SIXTY-TWO MEMBERS of the eighth grade at Lockney Junior High became official freshmen during the graduation exercises held last Thursday afternoon.

Ford recognized as Pioneer Man

A blustery overcast morning did not dampen the spirit of the large gathering re-united to commemorate the annual "Old Settlers" day in Floyd County.

The Pioneer Reunion was held Saturday, May 26, on the south side of the square in Floydada. The business meeting was conducted by 1983 President Sam Spence. R.G. Dunlap led the crowd in the benediction.

J.D. Copeland read the nominating committee's report. The following officers were elected by acclamation: President, Raymond Martin; Vice-President, Lon Davis, Jr.; Secretary, Ann Swepston; and Treasurer, Hubert Frizzell.

Judy Allen led the Memorial Service. Residents of Floyd County, deceased within the last year, were eulogized in a brief ceremony.

A medley of gospel songs including, Jesus, Jesus and More About Jesus were sung by the trio of Judy Allen, Janet Lloyd, and Ester Parker and accompanied by Penny Giesecke on the piano.

Hubert Frizzell introduced the guest speaker, Felicia Applewhite, from Lockney. Mrs. Applewhite spoke fondly of pioneer life in early Texas. (See related article.)

Hubert Frizzell recognized the oldest man, Wamie Hilton, who is 103 and Eva Newsome, who is 96.

Mrs. Newsome was also selected as Pioneer woman of the year. Accompanied by children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, Mrs. Newsome reminisced of her first view of Floyd County and Floydada.

Henry Clay Ford was chosen as Floyd County Pioneer Man of the Year by the Floyd County Pioneers. Hubert Frizzell stated that Ford arrived in Floyd County in 1920 and raise a community.

Outstanding Pioneer Couple of the Year was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. G.C. Applewhite of Lockney. Hubert Frizzell noted that 60 years had been spent in preaching the gospel and 59 years spent on the public schools. Frizzell emphasized that the Applewhites had influenced thousands during their lifetime.

Betty and Gil Shirey of Torrence, California were presented a plaque stating that they had traveled the farthest distance - over 1100 miles.

Raymond Martin, as incoming President, addressed the crowd, welcoming them to the Floyd County Pioneer Reunion.

Eighth graders graduate

The 1984 8th grade graduating class of Lockney Junior High School held their awards assembly and graduating exercises last Thursday in the high school gym.

Several awards were presented by the teachers for most improved students, those with 90 or above averages, those who participated in UIL events, and many other awards. For a list of these awards look inside the Beacon.

Sixty-two eighth grade students graduated and are now classified as freshmen.

Principal Raymond Lusk recognized the honor students who all had 90 or above averages for their two years in junior high school. The honor graduates include valedictorian Margie Torres, salutatorian Joel Mitchell, Maria Saucedo, Julie Hernandez, Pat Briggs, Rosellen Arjona, Matt Williams, Kathy Davis, Clay Adrian, Boyd Jackson, Ruth Elaine Wilson, Virginia Silva, Linda Cruz, and Donna Vernon. Lusk commented that this is one of the largest groups of honor graduates for Lockney Junior High ever.

Diplomas were presented to the 62 graduates by Lusk and school superintendent W.H. Hallmark.

Graduating from the 8th grade were Margie Torres, Joel Mitchell, Maria Saucedo, Julie Hernandez, Pat Briggs, Rosellen Arjona, Matt Williams, Kathy Davis, Clay Adrian, Virginia Silva, Boyd Jackson, Ruth Elaine Wilson, Linda Cruz, Donna Vernon, Mary Lou Alcozer, Amy Ansley, Martin Ascencio, Jimmy Ballejo, Tony Banda, Javier Bernal, Troy Bigham, Veronica Blanco, Tracy Carlton, Joann Castro, Ron Cates, Lupe Cortez, Chad Diepenhorst, Jolie Diepenhorst, Fernando Elias, Michael Gatica,

Police chief resigns post

Lockney Police Chief Ken Farrow has resigned his post, effective May 31.

Farrow and his family will be moving to Colorado City.

In his resignation he thanked the city council and the citizens of Lockney for their support during the past eight months, and he expressed his thoughts that the Lockney Police Department has improved in efficiency and also had made great strides in community relations.

Farrow stated that "living in Lockney had been very enjoyable for both me and my family and is with great sadness that we leave Lockney and the friends we have made here." He said that the people in Lockney can be counted as "some of the friendliest in the United States."

In his resignation Farrow has recommended that the city council appoint Ray Macha as the next police chief. He recommended Macha for the job for several reasons including his seven years of law enforcement experience, his knowledge of the Lockney area, his leadership abilities, common sense and stability, and because Macha owns property in this area, he is likely to stay in this area. He also stated that Macha is "known and well liked in this area."

HENRY CLAY FORD, accompanied by sons Byron and Henry, Jr. and daughter-in-law Alice, was awarded Pioneer Man of the Year. Ford settled in the Lockney Community in 1920.

This Week

EX STUDENTS MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Lockney Ex-Students Association to be held on May 31 at 7:30 in the Home Ec building.

WOMENS FIREARMS COURSE

Another women's firearms course is set for June 8 and 9. Those wishing to sign up should contact Ray Macha at 983-2401.

CLASS OF 1975

Attention class members of the 1975 graduating class of Lockney High School: There are seven pictures of classmates that are missing from the showcase at the high school. Possibly if you have pictures of these people or if these people have old senior pictures please get them to the Lockney High School so that they can be in place for the 1984 Homecoming. Those pictures missing include Rudy Molina, Sylvia Mata, Albert Gonzales, Scott Stansell, Wilmer Archer, Archie Jones, and Ruben Guerrero.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Vacation Bible School at First Baptist Church, 401 S. Main, Lockney, is scheduled for June 4-8 for children in grades 4-8. Preparation day is June 2 from 10:30-12:00 at the elementary track. Kids need to bring bikes and sack lunches.

SOFTBALL WORKSHOP

There will be an American Softball Association rules workshop held Friday night at 7:30 at the Lockney Elementary school cafeteria. Mike Heneger, an umpire from the Plainview League, will be conducting the workshop. He will review the rules and answer questions for coaches and players.

All women playing in the Lockney League are urged to attend as the Lockney women will be playing by ASA rules this season.

MARKERS REPLACED

A number of markers have been replaced at unmarked graves in the recent weeks by Mr. and Mrs. John Turner, caretakers at the Lockney Cemetery.

JESSE PERALEZ received his lifelong wish to dance on the Soul Train dance show in April when the Make-A-Wish Foundation of Dallas sent him to Los Angeles, California to be filmed dancing on the show which aired last Saturday afternoon.

Jesse Peralez granted wish, dances on Soul Train show

Lockney youth, Jesse Peralez, was featured on the television dance show "Soul Train", which aired on Saturday, May 26 on cable channel 9.

Jesse was able to fulfill his lifelong wish to dance on the Soul Train show through the Make-A-Wish Foundation in Dallas. The foundation grants wishes to children who are terminally ill.

When the foundation found out Jesse had leukemia, they made plans to fulfill his wish. On April 13 Jesse, his mother Tommie, and his sister-in-law, Virginia, were flown first class to Los Angeles, California, on a American Airlines jet.

Once in Los Angeles they stayed at the Sheraton Universal Hotel. Jesse still comments on the hotel being so "fancy," and he could not believe he could stay in a place like that. While there they were waited on "hand and foot," and did not have to do anything but have a good time.

The Soul Train show was filmed on April 14, and the threesome were flown home on April 15.

Currently Jesse has to go to Dallas once a month for blood tests and bone marrow tests. He is receiving his chemotherapy treatments at home. His doctor says Jesse does better getting the treatments at home than in the hospital. Jesse state of remission ceased in November. Despite this, he insists on living as "normal" as possible.

He is playing baseball on the VFW team this summer. His mother told coaches Greg and Susan Patridge that Jesse wanted to be treated like any normal child; to play him in any position they could. Jesse has a good time playing ball, even though he suffers some pain afterwards. Evidently, he persists in acting as normal as his illness will allow.

TRADITIONAL SONGS were led by a group consisting of Floyd and Florence Montgomery, Ada Ellis, Olive Myers, J.D. Copeland, John T. Carthel, Grace Lemons, Joyce Wilson and Ruth Carthel accompanied by Sylvia Yeary.

Tales From Tomi

By Tomasa Banda

May is about gone. I bet the kids are happy since school was over Thursday. There's a lot of happy faces around with school being out and because we finally got some much needed rain.

We had a surprise visit on Monday and Tuesday by our Lubbock TDH staff. We had our license and contract renewed for another year by the Texas Department of Health. Thanks to all of our staff for a job well done.

We really had a quiet week. On Monday, our residents enjoyed their bus trip. They went to Matador and went by Granny Self's home. Those that went on the bus trip were Billie "Granny" Self, Betha Cunyus, Richard Lanham, Bessie Hunt, Esker Pyle, Mary Jo Fielding, Donie Hanson, Hassie Arnold and Alma McDonald. They returned home just in time for ceramics.

On Tuesday, Simona Blanco came to call out Bingo for our residents. Thanks to her, Palonia Gomez and Blanca Blanco for taking time to come to be with our residents.

On Wednesday, we had our first spanish class. Those who attended the spanish class were Lewis Roberts, Mary McCracken, Mary Jo Fielding, Richard Lanham, and Mavis Barton. We are having this class once a week and I am hoping that we will be having more residents involved.

On Thursday, our residents enjoyed a lazy afternoon by just doing anything they wanted.

On Friday, we had Bingo. Prizes were bananas. Some of our residents enjoy playing Bingo not only for themselves, but for those residents who are unable to attend. I think that's wonderful about our residents because they think about each other.

Thanks to all the church groups for coming. We appreciate each of you and our residents are always looking forward to church each day. Thanks to Mr. McAda and Sylvia Yeary for coming in to help us last Tuesday.

Thanks to Don Vernon for the pajamas she brought us for our residents.

I would like to take time to encourage everyone in the community to think about coming to visit our residents. Our residents enjoy it when someone comes to talk to them. They especially enjoy young children or teens. If you find yourself with nothing to do or you think the day is boring, please consider to come and spend some time with our residents. They enjoy games, exercise or just plain talking.

We, the residents and staff of Lockney Care Center would like to express sincere sympathy to the friends and loved ones of Mrs. Jewel Miller.

We are happy that Hallie Roberts is back home from the hospital. Till next time.

Applewhite addresses old settlers

Felicia Applewhite featured speaker of the Floyd County Pioneer Reunion Saturday, May 26, recalled pioneer days of Texans and life on the staked plains. Highlights of her entertaining speech has been reproduced for the benefit of those not attending the celebration.

Floyd County stands out among the 254 counties in the state of Texas as a contributor to its colorful history. The fiftieth edition of the Texas Almanac states that Floyd County is located in the northwest Texas Panhandle.

The County was created from Bexar district in 1876 and was organized in 1890. Floyd County was named for D.W. Floyd, an Alamo martyr. Also the Almanac reports that the physical features are flat; broken by the Caprock on the east and by the White River on the south. The soil is black and there are many plays. For recreation there is hunting, fishing, the museum and local events.

If you would like further information turn to the Texas General Land Office records -- one of the oldest government entities in the state dating back to the Republic in 1836.

Interest in Texas public lands was temporarily suspended during the War for Texas independence from Mexico. Following the War, settlers were demanding free or cheap land. The new Republic needed money to become stable, so it wanted to attract and keep these settlers.

In 1844 negotiations for Texas to join the United States resulted in a proposal that the United States pay $10,000,000 of the Republic's debt and acquire 175,000,000 acres of free land. Opponents to statehood in the U.S. Congress felt that Texas lands were not worth the assumption of the $10,000,000 debt, so they refused to make the trade.

So, in the final resolution Texas kept its public lands and the U.S. disclaimed any of Texas' debt. Texas officially came into the Union December 1845, keeping both its debt and its public lands.

In the early days of statehood, Texas established the precedent of using the vast public lands for public benefit. The first act was to sell or trade off land to eliminate the huge debt remaining from the war for Independence and the early years of a Republic.

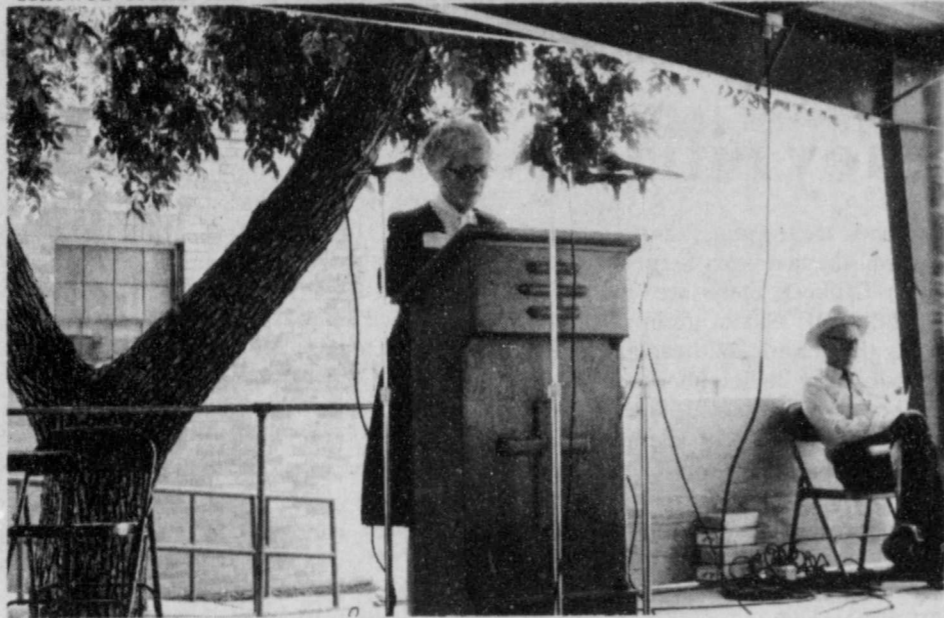

The Homestead Act gave to settlers 4.8 million acres of land. The land was given away to settlers who would occupy the land by building homes.

Now this is where we come in. The first to arrive here and many who followed found this to be a land far different from that U.W. Congress who said Texas lands were worthless.

One early arrival wrote home in the summer of late 1800. "It is a beautiful country. There is a future here. You can see as far as your eyes will let you. The plains are covered with knee high grass, waving in the breeze like a wheat field. Scattered over the prairie are pools of water called lakes. The people have a device called a windmill, run by the wind, which pumps out of the ground the most tasty water you ever drank."

Another said, "I have heard papa tell about how it was possible in 1882 when you come up on the 'Cap' to see the rolling sand hills of the Callahan land-20,000 acres--the mirage was so good. Grandad owned all of it."

"OUR EARLY FATHERS and mothers put roofs in this land," explained Felicia Applewhite as she addressed the "Old Settlers" Saturday in Floydada.

Attending the Jeffrey McCormick-Amy Loudermilk wedding Saturday night in Stephenville were Billy, Karl, Ann and Randy Race, Andy Ford, Barbara Cawley, Cheryl, Eddie, Monty, Rusty and Wesley Teeter, Kenneth, Jackie Lou, Heather and Kip Holt, Lisa Mosley, Johnny and Julie Dorman, Delvin, Sheryl, Shandra and Jason Bybee, Pat, Ronnie, Ronee and Ritchie Thornton, Paul and Zora Reecer, Ann McCormick, Joann and Tobi Carthel.

Memorial Day guests of Jerry and Andy Ford and Ronnie were their children: Curt and April Ford of Lubbock, Brad and Kristie Tooley, Kristopher and Shanna of Canyon, Glen and Kelley Lane of Lewisville.

Glen and Kelley also visited with his parents, Bob and BooBoo Lane and Gwen, at Sterley.

Guests of John and Retha Fortenberry last week were her sisters, Hayley and Natalie Anderson, and Hayley's friend, Barbara Clinton, all of Ozona. John and Retha returned the girls to Ozona over the weekend, visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Anderson.

John Cummings of Austin spent the Memorial Day weekend visiting his parents, Sterling and Gleyenn Earle Cummings.

Air Force Captain Bob Brotherton of Honolulu, Hawaii, who is attending a 10-week school at Montgomery, Alabama, came for the Memorial Day holiday to visit his parents, Merle and Mike Mooney. Bob was a 1963 graduate of Lockney High School.

Sunday luncheon guests of the Mooneys were another son, David and Lana Brotherton, Chase and Brandon of Crosbyton; and Merle's mother, Mrs. Olive Myers.

The Brothertons also visited with her parents, Max and Marty Smith.

Other guests of the Smiths were their sons, Bob Smith of Wolfroth and Danny Dorcas, Michelle and Clayton of Mayfield; and another daughter, Robin and Martin Stoerner and Heath of Providence.

Lockney Care Center Capers

By Mavis Barton

Friday, 11th: Well another week has gone by already. We had a class of home economics students tour the home. One of the girls said "she would like to live here."

This afternoon we had a much larger class of Home Economics come to tour the Home. While they were going all over the place, the bus driver, C.L. Record, visited with me a few minutes. He was Mrs. Ida Rose's son-in-law.

They played Bingo later on and Mary Jo brought me an orange this time. I am in bed nursing problem skin from sitting too much and while I am asleep, Mary Jo brings me a fruit and puts it where I can see it. And I know who put it there.

Saturday, 12th: The first half of the year has almost gone and everybody needs rain. My husband had pre-watered the cotton ground and he was going to get busy and plant cotton. And do you know the first part he watered, was dried out down to eight inches, so he hasn't planted anything yet. He can't start watering again, because the dumb well sanded down again, so we have to have rain.

There are visitors coming to take residents home for "Mothers Day" or are bringing them gifts. I got a beautiful "Mothers Day Card" for our daughter last Thursday who went through surgery the week before. The doctor told her to rest for another month, but knowing Ann, I am afraid, she won't be able to do that.

Sunday, 13th: Well it is Mothers Day and I went home, but there was nothing special, it was just another day. When I got home, my husband rolled me all around the house in my wheelchair, and we saw big cracks in the ground. We need some rain in a bad way. We sat outside in the shade of the trees, until the shade was on us no more and the wind stopped. So we moved into the house to eat T.V. dinners. Then my husband took a nap in his recliner and I watched a football game on T.V. I call that a good old fashioned Mother's Day, but I enjoyed it.

Monday, 14th: The photographer from "Lockney Beacon" came today for the balloon lift off. They all had messages in them. We hope they will be found and anybody finding one would get the message and contact the Lockney Care Center and tell us where they found it. We wanted to see how far they would go.

Tuesday, 15th: We had some balloons left over and the dining table had two balloons taped to the cloth. Some of them got twisted so tight. But by this mornings breakfast all of them had lost their omph and were all droopy.

Well they had their Bingo game as usual, I was in bed as usual.

Wednesday, 16th: After breakfast I took a shower and being a good girl said I wanted to go to bed. They said you can't go to bed now, you would only be in bed about twenty-three minutes and we would have to get you up again, we are eating at 11 o'clock, we are having an enchilada dinner and oh boy it was good. They put on my plate just the amount, I would have on regular days. I didn't overeat, it was just right. When they rolled me past the table with all the goodies on, I wanted another plate. I am glad I didn't. They put me in bed right after dinner and it seemed the longest day I can remember.

Also they had a bake sale going on in the lobby. Dawn Jasper said Richard Lanham bought a cake and cut it in slices and she had a slice and it tasted real good. Ya see! I missed out on that too.

Thursday, 17th: When all the employees came to work this morning, all of them came dressed tacky. It was Tacky Day, and when each one came in, it caused some good laughs for so early in the day.

Last year and the year before that, the residents who wanted to join in the fun, put on a wig. Even the men were such good sports and we were laughing at each other. And they took a picture to put in the paper. I don't know what they did with those wigs.

Friday, 18th: Today is the windup of "Nurses Association Week." Visit a Nursing Home this week. It has been a lot of hard work and fun. But we had another luncheon today. Everybody brought a covered dish, and I sat facing a window and a train came by and after another train that was waiting there for several days suddenly started going too, the other way.

I didn't overeat this time either. I am proud of myself.

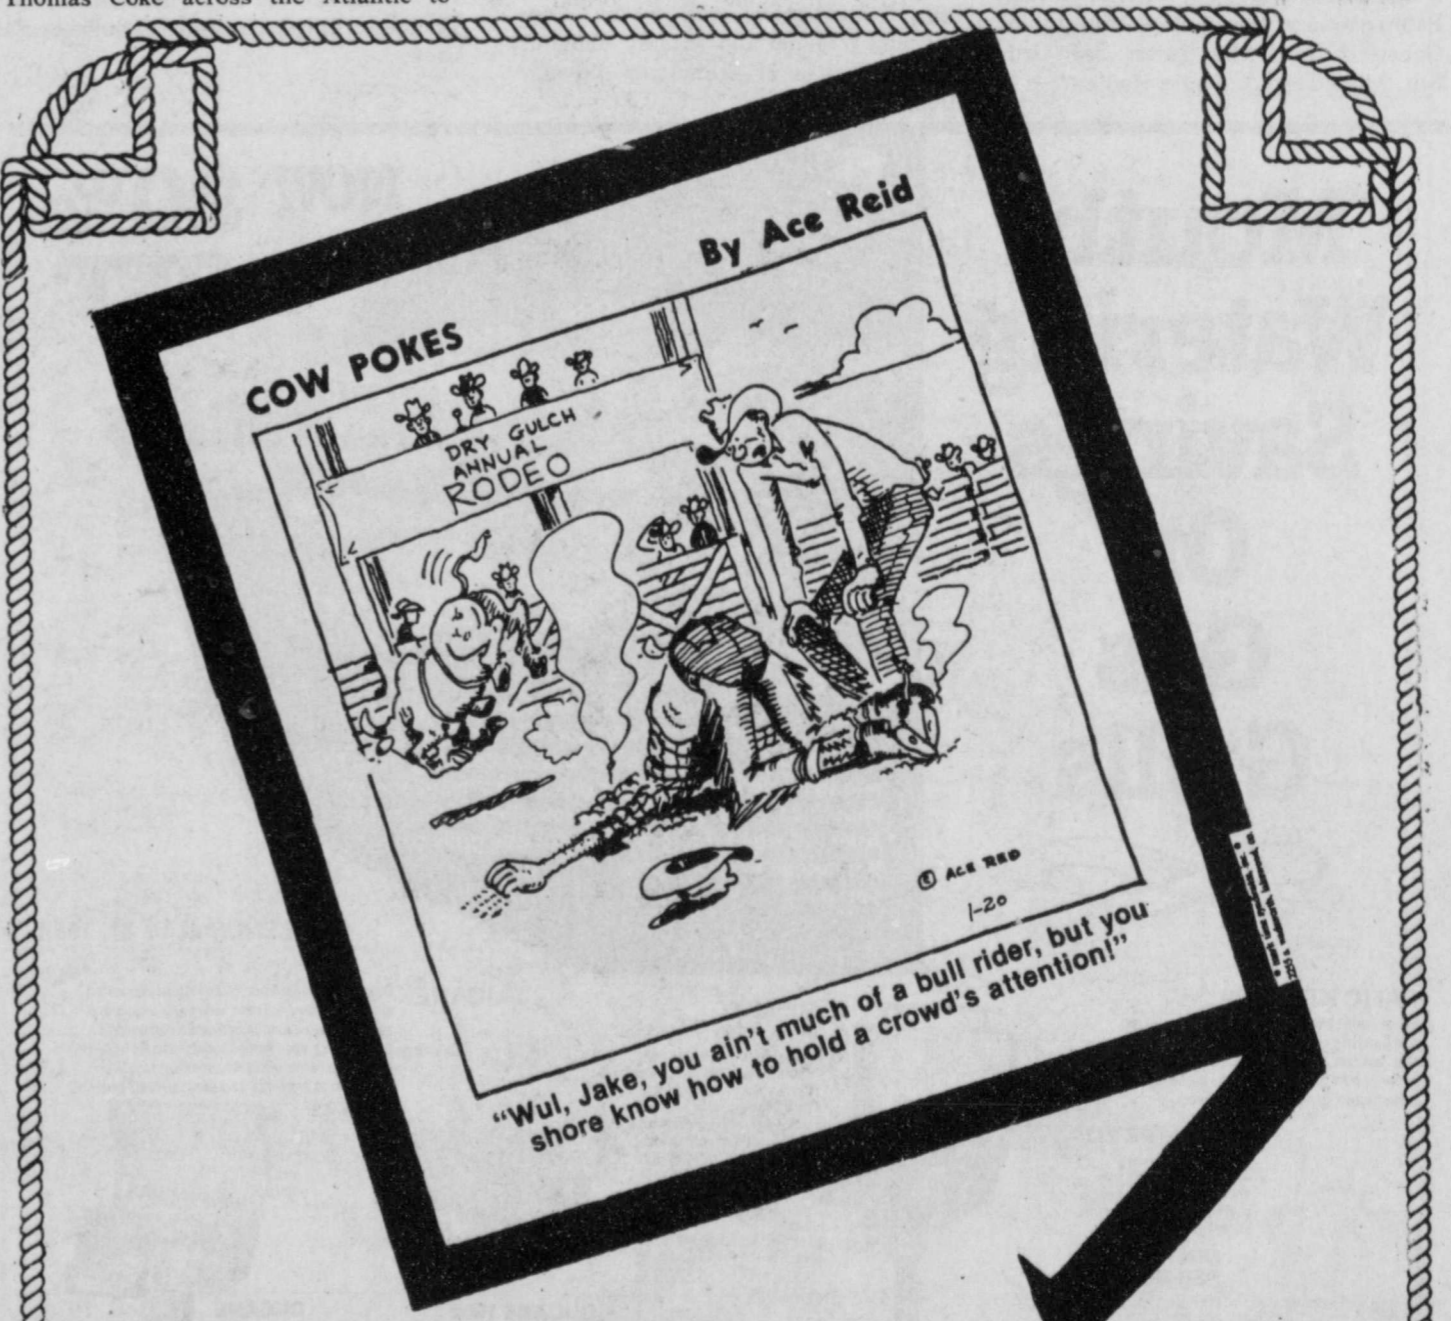

Rhodes' donate print

A framed 20-by-28-inch print of the oil painting, "Offer Them Christ" by Kenneth Wyatt of Tuila, has been donated to First United Methodist Church of Lockney by Mr. and Mrs. L.L. Rhodes.

The painting captures the moment in history when John Wesley sent Thomas Coke across the Atlantic to ordain Francis Asbury, a decision which prompted the coming together of the various Methodist societies in America to form the Methodist Church. The painting was commissioned to celebrate the 200th year of American Methodism.

Proceeds from sale of the prints will be used exclusively for evangelism.

Sergeant Ussery speaks to concerned Lockney citizens

"The citizens of Lockney cannot afford crime," Sergeant Bennie Ussery of the Lubbock Police Department declared. "It results in higher insurance rates, higher costs in merchandise, not to mention the loss to personal property and lives." Implementation of the Neighborhood Watch was the topic of the town meeting held Thursday, May 24, in the grade school cafeteria.

Sergeant Ussery emphasized that the Neighborhood Watch is one neighbor looking after another. One example illustrating how the program is working in Lubbock are the statistics on burglaries within the last year. Sergeant stated that in Lubbock there are 368 active Neighborhood Watch groups. Within the city there were 262 burglaries, only four took place in Neighborhood Watch neighborhoods. Two of these burglaries were solved because of vigilant neighbors.

The Lockney Chamber of Commerce will begin collecting donations for this new program. For more information, contact Cindy Smith at 652-2170 or Gary Marr at 652-3706.

THE TRUDIE TAYLOR MEMORIAL AWARD was presented by Virginia Taylor to Stacy Beth Lloyd, daughter of Steve and Judy Lloyd at the Floyd County Wildflower Show.

Mathis injured by gunshot

Terry Mathis was slightly injured in a shooting accident last Thursday afternoon at about 3:00 p.m. in the parking lot of the Main Street Church of Christ.

Mathis was standing outside a pickup belonging to Romeo Araujo visiting with seven other boys when a .22 caliber rifle in the back window of the pickup discharged. The bullet traveled through the right side of the pickup and struck Mathis in the right shoulder. Mathis was loaded in the pickup and taken to Lockney General Hospital where he was treated by Dr. Gary Mangold.

Mathis was treated and released. "The bullet did not cause any internal damage," according to Dr. Mangold, "and Terry should be fine for football season."

Women's softball begins

By Karen Quebe

"Mom, you're too old to be doing this." "It's how far between bases?" "If you get hurt this summer..."

These are some of the comments I'm sure many women have heard since the teams of the Lockney Women's Softball Association have begun their practices. Seven teams from Lockney and one team from Floydada have signed up for league play. The Lockney Women's Softball Association, newly formed this year, is excited over the number of women interested in the 1984 softball season. The Association has written a set of By-laws that outline certain specific objectives that hope to be accomplished. They include: coordinate inter-league activities, give necessary assistance in the organization of new teams; acquaint teams and members with the purposes of the ASA and association; promote the interests of Women's Softball in Lockney and Floyd County; and to extend opportunities to members of the Association through participation.

In order for these specific objectives to be accomplished, officers have been elected along with committee chairpersons and team representatives. This year's officers, elected to supervise the league, are: Trudy Hazlett, president; Karen Quebe, vice-president; Tammy Zachary, secretary; and D'Lyn Morris, treasurer. The different committees and their chairpersons include: Fundraising Committee, Rise Ford; Tournament Committee, Anna Anderson; Field Committee, Arcenio Martinez; and Concession Stand Committee, Tina Graves.

The eight teams represented in the league include the:

Orange Crush coached by Jr. Rendon, Roy Saucedo and Armando Vasquez. Their team representatives are Rosie Rendon and Dora Gonzales.

K.B.W., sponsored by Kellison Spraying, Brown's Department Store and Webster Service and Supply and coached by Arcenio Martinez. Patti Pursler and Julie Hickerson are their team representatives.

Peacemakers sponsored by Raz Ford and coached by Mike and Randy Ford. Darla Ford and Donna Stotts are their team representatives.

Providence sponsored by Providence Farm Supply and coached by Louie Bybee and Herbert Smith. Cynthia Bybee and Sharon Smith and team representatives.

Bad News Broads sponsored by Alton Barnes Farms and coached by Arleen Hayter. Team representatives are Lorraine Keeter and Pam Armstrong.

Hale's sponsored by Hale's Department Store in Floydada and coached by Michael Hinsley. Linda Hinsley and Dena Hinkle are team representatives.

The two High School Teams are sponsored by Lockney Meat Co., Tye Co., and Patterson Grain.

New projects in the making include a new concession stand and the reorganization of the women's softball field. Anyone interested in helping with these projects either with suggestions or donations is asked to contact any of the officers.

A complete copy of the By-laws that lists the objectives, policies, officers and responsibilities, and committees is available to any interested party from any of the officers or team representatives.

Team play begins on Monday, June 4th. Come out and support the Lockney Women's Softball Association.

Before the sled was plowed up everyone had a sled to go places and to haul feed for cattle. The sled runners would get as slick as glass, running over the dry grass.

Before the sod was broken, the tarantulas were very thick. A game was played by children when going places with the family in a wagon was to count tarantulas. They would hang over the side of the wagon to see how many tarantulas the wagon wheels mashed in the deep runs.

There are many recollections of the pioneer days recorded for history.

Nearly every early settler put up a windmill and put down a dugout. One settler relates, "Uncle John had only one child. She got sick. We had our wagon behind Uncle John's coming here. It had rained all day, so we covered only about seven miles all that rainy day. Mother and I waded at times. We finally walked on ahead of Uncle Hohn's wagon and stopped at a dugout and asked the woman if we could put our cows in their lot. We told the woman about having a sick child in the wagon. So the woman said, 'Bring her in.' We went back and got the folks. About the time we drove up in our wagon, the woman's husband drove up. They fixed food for us. They divided everything they had with us. They were sure fine people."

Another wrote, "Betty did not come here in a wagon, she did not live in a dugout. The neighbors 'pitched in' and built them a small house -- her mother was a widow. Betty often walked five miles to school.

One pioneer said, "We lived just like everybody else. We burned cow chips and maize stalks. We did not have a heater. We warmed by the cook stove. With the oven door down, it was a good place to warm your feet. Mother used to tell us Civil War stories. She said the Union soldiers took their things after the war. Some soldiers were leading her sister's horse away. The sister just followed along with the soldiers holding onto the rope that was around the horse's neck. Finally, the officer in charge just said, 'Let her keep the horse.'

A boy said, "I always heard that when lightning hit a mule, it would make the mule's teeth loosen. One day after it had rained and thundered, I was about two miles from home when I saw a dead mule. The mule had a streak down his forehead where the hair was burned off by lightning. It excited me about the teeth. I got off my horse and examined his teeth. Sure enough, they were all loose."

A woman wrote, "for years there were no doctors. The maternity cases, the sick of varying illnesses, the dying and the dead were cared for by friends and neighbors. A woman in our neighborhood, in a year's time, delivered and helped nurse 13 babies born in her neighborhood. My mother made large biscuits. We poked a finger down through the middle of one to make a hole to put syrup in for school lunches. Everybody did. We called it 'syrup in a hole'."

Summers were hot and scorching at times. The milk that was milked mornings was not good by noon. "I asked my husband to come in with the post hole digger and dig a sizeable hole on one side of our dugout. Then I put the milk in a jar with a tight lid and put it in the hole. The dirt in the hole was cold. It kept the milk fresh. A plank was put over the cover."

One man related, "a preacher came into a community and asked the school trustees permission to hold a meeting in the school house. The trustees refused permission. A neighbor heard about it, followed the preacher and brought him back. The neighbor then put his gun on and took the preacher all over the community. Each trustee had a special invitation. They had a well-attended meeting."

An early settler had his cow staked out not far from the half-dugout he and his young bride had just moved into. He was bringing the cow in when he became tangled in the rope. The cow drug him making a strawberry effect of raw skin on his hip. The wife poured her hand full of turpentine and dashed it on the raw skin. He circled the half-dugout about three times before she could catch him and put lard on his hip to relieve the burning.

Another pioneer related, "My mother and father lived on land bought in 1890 from the state of Texas for one dollar an acre and 40 years to pay. Before I was born, my mother and dad went on the running gear of a wagon to the brakes to get a load of wood. When they camped, he raised the tongue of the wagon and put a wagon shut over it to make a tent. Some time in the night something grabbed my father by the hair of the head and pulled him out of the tent, a bark and yelped, and the dog began barking and whatever it was turned him loose and ran. It was too dark to see what it was, but Dad always thought it was a cougar."

Once in an Indian scare, everyone went to Koegers near Lockney to their big underground barn covered with cottonwood poles and dirt. The woman moulded bullets in the barn. The men kept a lookout near the wagons. The Indians didn't come.

Neighbors had no difficulty getting to Koeger's barn. Mr. Koeger had ploughed a furrow with a sad plow from the barn almost to Floydada. He had also plowed a furrow from the barn the same distance to the northwest. He had been lost a time or two, so he made the furrow to guide him. It was easy to get lost on the prairie.

The home of an early settler was built on the northeast side of a lake. Air conditioning was provided for the half dugout when the southwest wind blew across the lake. It was on the window sill of that half-dugout that his grandmother found a rattlesnake stretched out in the sun. There were no window screens in those days to keep rattlers out. Such plains lakes were a wonder to people coming here. The size and amount of water was impressive.

What is the story up to date on that land the 1884 U.S. Congress found worthless?

Our early fathers and mothers who brought with them their dreams of a land with homes, schools, and churches under a democratic government put roots into this land.

In the process of time some of the loveliest pages of American history have been written. The vitality and freshness of our pioneer fathers colored those pages with a confident individualism.
