Recent reports out of Washington seem a little more hopeful regarding the possibility of a decent farm bill being enacted by this Congress.

Needless to say it will not be a bill that causes extreme happiness in all segments of agriculture. But perhaps it will at least find acceptance in the broad area of interests that make up the agricultural scene in America. It seems too much to ask, for instance, that cotton farmers in Mississippi's delta, or the Rio Grande Valley of Texas, will be completely happy with a bill that would also please our farmers in the South Plains, or in Arizona or California, for that matter. It is never an easy matter for Congress to reconcile all those varying concerns, along with the concerns of ranchers, wheat growers and Nevertheless Congress seems to be groping toward a solution that may help reduce the over supply of commodities that now depresses the market place. And the decision of Secretary Block to support an expanded soil conservation program, will, I believe, be very helpful in this regard. We have written before, in these columns, of the seeming inconsistency in governmental policies that have one department draining swampland in order that it may be placed in cultivation, while subsidized surpluses mount in the warehouses, paid for by another department, but all of which is paid for by the taxpayer. And to compound the problem we have encouraged, over the years, the development of modern agricultural techniques in a number of countries that formerly provided an overseas market for our own products. Now those countries not only do not buy our produce, they actively compete with us in world trade. We know, of course, that many of those policies had their origin in problems unrelated to agriculture. And that is part of the rub. Policies having a direct impact on our farmers and ranchers have been adopted to address problems having little to do with agriculture, and American agriculture has suffered as a result.

Somehow, someday, somebody is going to have to get a handle on all this. Now may be the time, while Congress is considering an agricultural bill that our farmers and ranchers will have to live with for years. I don't know how the idea is going down within the agricultural community, but I find somewhat heartening the proposal that we expand our soil conservation program by taking a great deal of marginal land out of production. If everything works as it should work, the proposal would save many acres that should never have been put to the plow, save a great deal of money that would be spent on warehousing, and boost the price of commodities by bringing supply more in line with demand. That, combined with a more aggressive policy of foreign sales, of which we see signs, just might do the Obviously those are not the only building blocks that will go into a long-range farm bill. There will be details on top of details, and exceptions on top of exceptions, and options on top of options for a whole host of crops. Nor is it likely to be the last word, or the whole picture. For while Congress is wrestling with the problem of oversupply, and proposing to take land out of production, our own Commissioner of the General Land Office, Mr. Gary Mauro, is proposing to turn some 800,000 acres of arid, brush covered, state-owned land into cropland. One can hope that somewhere along the line he gets the message. In the meantime he can reap a harvest of press releases and campaign contributions.

Perhaps we are being overly optomistic about all this. As this is being written the various subcommittees of the House Agriculture Committee have still to report on their recommendations. Then they will have to reconcile their own differences, then their differences with the Senate, and finally with the Department. Still, hopeful signs are afoot.

Floyd County fair tickets to go on sale soon

Tickets for the Floyd and Surrounding Counties Fair will go on sale soon. Information on the tickets was announced at the July 2 meeting of the fair

No gate fee will be charged this year as in years past. The tickets for the carnival will be $7.50 for all the rides one wishes to ride for one night only. These are advance tickets and will not be sold during the fair. During the fair those who have not purchased advance tickets will be paying from 75 cents to $1.00 for each ride.

Several other plans were discussed during the meeting. A new date for the workday at the fair grounds was set for Saturday, July 13, starting at 9:00 a.m. Those coming to help are asked to bring a sack lunch and stay the day to get the grounds in shape. The drinks for those coming to help will be provided by the

During the workday several things are planned. The buildings are to be cleaned out and the women's department will be painted. Also the office will be cleaned out and painted, and the broken windows in the office will be replaced. The entertainment building storage areas and the area behind the stage are going to be cleaned out. It is important that any and all residents who possibly can help to clean up the fair grounds turn out for this workday. To make the fair a success it takes the help of many individuals, not just the members of the fair board.

The scheduled slate of events for the fair this year includes a square dance sponsored by the Whirlers. There will be a $2.00 fee for those dancing, but spectators are welcome at no charge.

Friday's events will include the Ladies Day programs, and the gospel singing which will feature mostly local talent from 7:00 to 8:30 p.m.

Also on Friday the Younger Brothers will be featured in a free public concert from 5:45 to 6:30; they will also play for a dance on Friday evening from 9:30 to 12:30 p.m. Fee for admission to the dance has not been set at this time. To round out the activities on Saturday, the final day of the fair, the events will include the parade, a chili cookoff, the children's playday, the stock show and the queen pageant.

This year's fair promises to be exciting and fun for the entire family. Because this is a family event and young children will be present the fair board has asked that no alcohol be brought to any of the scheduled events.

The next meeting for the Floyd and Surrounding Counties Fair has been set for August 6. This meeting is open to

EARL MINTER

Minter named city judge

Effective July 5, 1985 Earl Minter was appointed the new city judge for the City of Lockney. Minter will be working at the city office two hours each weekday. At the present time Minter has set his office hours between 9 and 11 a.m. This is temporary until he finds the best hours for his serving the citizens of Lockney.

This is the first job of this nature Minter has taken. In the past Minter specialized in working and managing department stores. He began working in that area in 1939 in Oklahoma City. From there he went to Seagraves for a couple of years before returning to Walters, Oklahoma, where he worked until 1949. He then went to Sudan where he operated another department

In 1953 he moved to Lockney and went to work for the J.C. Jones Company for two years before he went to work for Claude Brown. There he worked for Brown's Department Store for 5 years. Later he worked for Hagood's in Floydada until he retired in 1977. He commented that he still works part time for Brown's when they need

Of his new position as the judge for the City of Lockney. Minter cor ted, "This is a totally new venture for me. I am working with some very fine people: city secretary, Erma Lee Duckworth, J.D Copeland, and the city council. I think I will enjoy this position, but I hope that I don't have to seen very many of Lockney's citizens during my office hours."

Minter is presently a member of the Lockney Rotary Club and serves on the board of directors of that organization. In the years that he and his wife Betty have lived in Lockney, he has been a member of several civic organizations.

Thyens hold 4th of July celebration

The time-honored practice of making a big noise on July 4th was observed at the Bloom Dairy, this Fourth of July when Ken and Marlys Thyen, managers of the dairy, asked friends to enjoy the traditional noise making with them.

Bryan and Heather Thyen very capably took care of the fireworks igniting varied luminaries that exploded brillantly leaving no doubt that these noise makers were Americans proud of their heritage.

Small wonder that a guest recalled that Abraham Lincoln is said to have asked his father once why he had stepped outside their door early that morning and fired a long rifle in the air. The father explained that it was July Fourth when all Americans should be making a big noise, because it was Independence Day-the day of American Independence from England. Special guests of the Thyens were Hugh and Shirley Strait of Castlewood, South Dakota, Mrs. Thyen's mother and father. Tab Bloom was a guest from Indiana who plans entering Perdue University as a freshman, when he returns home soon.

Also visiting from Indiana was David Bagley who will soon enter his third year of college in Kansas. Other guests were Betty and Randy Cypert who are employed by the dairy.

Felicia and Goree Applewhite, neighbors to the dairy also attended.

Plans progress for August extravaganza

The 1985 Lockney Chamber of Commerce sponsored Main Street U.S.A. Entertainment Extravaganza, planned for Saturday, August 10, promises to hold much excitement and fun for the Lockney residents.

This year as last, several of the Lockney area merchants are donating door prizes to be given away that day. To win these door prizes the citizens may register at the individual businesses. Some of the prizes include 20 gallons of gas from Consumers Fuel, two gallons of anti-freeze from Texas Energy, two bars of Redkin soap from Eddie's Beaty Shop, a free hair cut from Witches Hut, a free painting from Elfie's Studio, and a stuffed toy and some stemware from Schacht Flowers and Gifts.

Other merchants that will be giving prizes include Brown's Department Store, the Outlet Store, and Mize Pharmacy. The signup for these prizes will begin on August 1 at the various merchants places of business.

The highlight of the day will be the entertainment provided by Lockney citizens. Thus far Terry Keltz, Lisa Mosley, a group headed up by Lockney residents Dowell Brewer and Louis Ray Stapp, and the team of Mary Lindsey Poole and Jennifer Poole have signed up to entertain those attending the event. Also highlighting the entertainment portion of the day will be a performance by the Westwind Band.

Throughout the day local merchants will be having "Dollar Day" sales. Refreshment booths will be set up in the downtown area.

This day is set aside by the Chamber of Commerce to spotlight local talent of all kinds. Anyone wishing to take part in the event may call Cindy Smith at 652-2170. The day will provide fun for the entire family, so make plans now to attend.

Couple arrested on arson charges in Hale County

A Lockney couple, Don and Helen Pigg, were arrested by Floyd County law enforcement officers at their home southwest of Lockney at 7:00 a.m. on Wednesday, July 3. The arrest of the couple was the result of charges filed by the Hale County District Attorney's office charging them with arson in the April 23 blaze which destroyed The Fig Leaf, owned and operated by the Lockney couple.

The blaze which broke out at about 6:00 p.m. in The Fig Leaf, located at 607 Broadway in Plainview, apparently started in an office and hallway of the store. It caused extensive structural damage and destroyed about $30,000 worth of merchandise in the store. It took about one hour to bring the blaze under control. In addition, it caused some smoke damage to the adjacent buildings.

After their arrest on July 3, the Piggs were held in the Floyd County jail on $10,000 bond each. They were transferred to the Hale County facility the same day. At press time they had posted a $5,000 cash bond each. At this time, the Piggs and their attorney were unavailable for comment. The case against the Piggs will go before the Hale County grand jury on July 22 where it will be decided whether there is enough evidence to indict the couple.

The evidence against the couple includes floor covering samples which were sent to a special arson lab in Boston, Massachusetts for testing. The tests concluded that a flammable liquid was used to start the fire. According to assistant Hale County District Attorney, Becky McPherson, "The test results and the opinions of several arson experts will be presented to the grand jury."

Persons convicted of arson, which is a second degree felony, could face punishment of up to 20 years in prison and a maximum fine of $10,000.

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

The bloody June 19 massacre of six Americans in San Salvador was viewed as the first volley in a new round of urban warfare. Gunmen dressed as Salvadoran soldiers raked two sidewalk cafe's in the capital's plush Zona Rosa nightclub district with automatic weapons fire, killing four U.S. Marines and two American businessmen. Also slain were seven bystanders, all Latin American civilians.

The Marines were members of the U.S. Embassy guard detail. They were unarmed, off duty, and in civilian clothes. Witnesses said as many as 12 gunmen poured out of a truck and opened fire, focusing on the Americans. The killings were seized on by a White House frustrated by its inability to act boldly to resolve the Beirut hostage everywhere in the world."

President Reagan moved quickly. He directed the Pentagon and U.S. spy agencies to give "whatever assistance is necessary" to capture the gunmen. He moved to speed delivery of 128.2 million dollars in military aid and equipment designated for Salvadoran forces this year. Reagan warned he was ready to use his emergency powers to give the government all the aid it needs to "help prosecute their campaign against the Communist guerrillas."

Pentagon officials have expressed fears that U.S military men are increasingly being singled out in such violence. One official said, "American servicemen seem to be the target of terrorism

Howdy Neighbors,

It is with sadness that I let you know the latest. Herman Francis Stallone, our resident turtle is missing. No one knows how he got out, but he's gone. If anyone knows the whereabouts of Herman, please notify the Care Center. We'd love to have him back. Well, on to happier news. The past week flew by. Here's a rundown of the weeks activi-

Monday we went on the bus ride. The R.S.V.P. van came by and our first stop was at the John Griffin farm. There we looked at some antique tractors and his herd of horses. Then, it was on to Silverton where we were treated to ice cream at the drive-in there. On to Quitaque we went. We drove around the lake and returned home at 5:00 p.m. The staff was beginning to wonder if we had skipped the country.

Tuesday, we had ice icream and cake at a bridal shower honoring Terry Luna. She received some really beautiful gifts. Terry works in dietary and is getting married July 20th. Afterwards we watched the movie, The Warrior and the Princess, set in the dark ages. This stimulated conversation and the residents really got into the movie which starred Kung Fu artist David Carradine.

Wednesday, we celebrated the Fourth of July early with bar-b-qued hamburgers, and ice cream cones served on the front lawn. That afternoon we had the monthly birthday party for Vivian Morris, Johnnie Newman, John Smith, and Myrtle Howell with the residents enjoying the party as much as the honorees.

Thursday was Independence Day. No activities planned so that residents could visit with their families.

Friday was the all-time favorite bingo game. The competition was hot and everyone won prizes of bananas and cookies.

Well, I guess it's time to begin another week. See you next week. Herman's quote for the week-

I have no romantic feelings about age. Either you are interesting at any age or you are not. There is nothing particularly interesting about being old - or being young, for that matter.

Richard Wiley and Dave Sechrist attended a meeting June 29 in Floydada at the Masonic Lodge for a luncheon and program on York Rite Masonry. James W. Carter of Fort Worth, grand high priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas; and John C. Callahan, grand master of the Grand Council

Bill and Jinna Sue Turner recently of Royal and Select Masters of Texas, were on the program.

Open installation of officers of the Lockney Masonic Lodge No. 867 will be conducted Saturday night. The meeting wil begin at 7:30 o'clock with a meal. All members, their families and friends are invited to attend the installation.

Kenneth Holt, Jim Bob Martin and Richard Wiley will be ordained as deacons August 4 during the morning service of First Baptist Church of Lockney. The three were chosen by a church-wide ballot.

David Fletcher, youth minister of First Baptist Church, and Jeff Race were sponsors for a group of youth to attend the June 29-30 Youth Evangelism Conference in Fort Worth. With Fletcher and Race were Chad Frizzell, Brent Hallmark, Todd Hallmark and Scott Poole. They were met at the conference by another group from Lockney who had been in Waco earlier in the week to participate in "Super Summer" on the campus of Baylor University.

Faye Holmes was a patient in Central Plains Regional Hospital in Plainview last week.

Visiting several days last week with Marjorie and James Ferguson were Marjorie's sister, Mary and Charles Ruffin and Shelli of El Paso. They all went to Palo Duro Canyon to see a performance of "Texas" on Tuesday night.

Bruce Ruffin, son of Mary and Charles, was drafted recently by the Philadelphia Phillies baseball organization. In the nation, Bruce was the 15th pitcher and the 34th player taken. He is now playing with the Phillies' class A team in Clearwater, Florida. Bruce played college ball three years at the University of Texas in Austin. The UT team recently was runner-up in the College World Series. Bruce completed the season with the team before turning professional.

Edith Johnson of Lubbock visited this past weekend in Lockney with her sister, Agnes and Hubert Frizzell; and brother, G.B. and Naomi Johnston.

Bigham earns third American Farmer Degree ever

In November Gary Bigham, son of Bill and Anita Bigham of Lockney, will be receiving the prestigeous American Farmer Degree award, the highest FFA award from the National FFA organiza-

This award entails lots of hard work in addition to participation in many FFA activities.

The first qualification toward the American Farmer Degree is receiving the Greenhand Degree. To become a Greenhand a student must be enrolled in an FFA program for agricultural occupation and have made plans for a supervised agriculture occupation program. One must also learn and recite the FFA creed, motto, and salute in addition to learning and explaining emblem, colors, and symbols.

The next step is the Chapter Farmer Degree which entails participation in at least three official functions in the local chapter, in addition to the Greenhand degree and earning and investing $50.00 productively in a supervised ag occupation program. One must possess the ability to lead a group discussion for at least 15 minutes, demonstrate parlimentary procedures, and show work toward achieving a proficiency award at the local level.

The State Farmer degree, a degree that is much more involved, is the next step. To receive the State Farmer degree one must have been enrolled in FFA for 24 months, must have completed two years of instruction in a vocational course for agriculture occupation, in addition to a supervised ag occupation program.

One must also have earned and productively invested $500.00 net income by one's own efforts from a supervised work program and must also exhibit leadership abilities by performing ten parlimentary procedures, giving a 5 minute speech and serving as an officer of the local chapter.

The state degree is awarded at the state convention in the summer months. In addition to achieving the above three degrees, to receive the nationally awarded American Farmer degree, one must have been out of high school prior to the national convention at which the degree will be awarded and have earned and productively invested at least $5000.00 through the member's own efforts in supervised vocational agriculture work program. The member must also have an outstanding supervised farming of other related occupational experience program in operation which must show comprehensive planning, continuation, growth, and an increase in scope with records to substantiate these accomplishments. It can be readily seen that achieving the American Farmer degree, is not an easy task, and those who earn it are deserving of special recognition.

When asked how he had earned the necessary funds for achieving each level degree, Bigham said, "I worked on the farm with my father and grandfather. Also some of the money was raised in the sale of the animals I raised and showed at the local and county livestock shows. When I was in school, I had certain acres that were mine to tend and the harvest of those crops made up some of the money."

steers in the local stock shows. He showed pigs for four years and showed steers during his senior year. During his sophomore, junior and senior years in school he raised cotton, corn wheat, and sunflowers. Awards for his efforts in showing animals in the stock-shows included having the county breed champion Duroc his freshman year, the year, receiving the Herdsman Award at the county for pigs his sophomore year, and winning the Steer Showmanship Award in Lockney and the Steer Herdsman Award at the county level that same year. He also exhibited at the Houston Stock Show his last three

In the FFA program Bigham was a very active participant in all activities. He held the position of reporter his junior year and president of the local chapter during his senior year. He was the recipient of three proficiency awards in FFA including crop proficiency his sophomore and junior years and beef proficiency his senior year.

In other areas Bigham exhibited his leadership skills by leading the chapter conducting team and the quiz team during his freshman, junior and senior years. He was a member of the soil judging team and a member of the livestock judging team for two years. He attended the state convention his junior year to receive his State Farmer degree.

When asked why he chose to go for the American Farmer degree, Bigham said, "I had thought about it some starting with my first year of ag. I kept a record book throughout those four years but kind of forgot about it after I graduated. Then Mr. Robbins called and asked if I would be interested in applying. We worked to get my record book in shape and submitted it."

The more than 20 page record book is completed by the students and school advisors and submitted at the state level. Once approved by the state, they are then sent to the National organization for approval at the national meeting in July. If approved there, the award winners are presented their degrees at the National FFA Convention in November in Kansas City.

Bigham joins only two others from Lockney to ever receive this nationally recognized FFA award. James Morris was the first Lockneyite to receive the award in 1956. Marvin E. Wells was presented with the award in 1958.

Bigham is a 1984 graduate of Lockney High School and is presently enrolled at West Texas State University in pre-agriculture education. Bigham began his studies with several scholarships to help further his education. They included $100.00 from the Elvin Lyon Scholarship fund, $300.00 from the Lockney Rotary Club. $200.00 from the Don and Sybil Harrington Scholarship, and a $200.00 scholarship from the Houston Livestock Show. This year he has been notified that he will be receiving another $400.00 from the Houston Livestock Show. In addition to being an active member of the Lockney FFA in high school, Bigham was a member of the National Honor Society.

Clar and Judy Schacht share their recent trip to the Orient

Editor's Note: The following is the story of Judy and Clar Schacht's recent trip to the Orient.

by Dottle Stansell Our trip to Hong Kong, began with a flight out of Lubbock at 7:00 a.m. on Saturday, March 31. It seemed rather ironic that five hours later we again passed over Plainview, enroute to Los Angeles. The Trans-Pacific flight was a long, fourteen-hour flight. Since we crossed the International date line, it was daylight all the way. Even with the 747 plane's capacity of over 400 people, the longer we flew, the smaller the plane got. To make us even more uncomfortable, about an hour out of Tokyo, the pilot reported heavy thunderstorms and hail in Tokyo. We were rerouted since we were running low on fuel to Hokodote. As far as we were concerned, he could have left out the part about running low on fuel: We were not allowed to deplane there, and immediately upon refueling, took off again for Tokyo. The runway at Hokodote looked quite short and ended at the water's edge. Later we heard that it was the first time a 747 had ever landed

We finally reached Hong Kong at about 2:00 a.m. Monday morning, Hong Kong time. Their time is fourteen hours ahead of Central time. Total travel time was about thirty hours.

Upon reaching our hotel room at the Shangri-La, we were greeted by the sight of a wonderful turned down bed with kimonos laid out at the foot. There was also a basket with hot, fragrant jasmine tea awaiting us. After a short sleep, we attended a shopping seminar the next morning. The main theme was "Let the buyer beware!" Our hostess warned us about vendors switching merchandise, "omitting" certain information or parts, or stretching the truth a mite. Prices vary widely, and one is expected to bargain vigorously.

Regarding tailor made suits, it was a definite "thumbs down" for Indian tailors, Cantonese tailors "so-so" and Shanghai tailors considered "the best", the main difference being the length of stitches. The tailors are extremely prolific, strolling the streets, lolling in the doorways, all waiting to escort you into their ships. "Business been a little slow today, I make you special price," was a common greeting. Some would even escort you down the street. jabbering all the way. There was probably an average of three tailor shops per block, so competition was

Hong Kong, has its own monetary system in which they deal in dollars and cents. The real rate of exchange at the time we were visiting was the U.S. dollar equals K-K$7.80. The most common bill was the H-K $10.00. One had to be wary in asking a sales clerk how much the merchandise was in U.S. currency, because often times they might make a mistake, naturally in their favor. All the sales people are equipped with calculators and we soon found it avoided "mistakes" to get one too.

There are many banks in Hong-Kong to exchange travelers checques and money, but we found it unnecessary as the merchants are willing to take U.S. money and checques and could make change easily. We embarked on a half day tour by bus. Most of the Chinese we encountered spoke English quite well, so we had no communication problems. The roads in Hong-Kong are comparatively narrow, and, of course, crowded. Therewere several places on corners where there was a short lane of buses to pull over to let traffic around before pro-

It is not unusual because of the space shortage. Business for more than one family living in an and residential sections are all mixed apartment. together. A typical apartment is ap-

MOST OF THE APARTMENT BUILDINGS we saw were older, and all had laundry hanging out the windows or strewn across a balcony. Hong Kong is not an especially pretty city; their main trade is definitely tourism.

An interesting note from history is that Hong Kong is a British colony and will remain one until 1997 when it will be returned to China. The governor of Hong Kong is appointed by Britain, and they have their own legislature. China has promised they will continue this policy, but many Chinese people are wary, and several businesses are relocating in free countries.

to travel between Hong Kong and Kowloon. One is by ferry, which is mostly for foot traffic, and the other is the Cross Harbour tunnel, a tunnel seventy feet below the water. It handles nearly all the motor traffic, which is a lot. We saw a few brave souls walking in the tunnel, but I don't know how they stood it because of the overpowering fumes. Roads around Hong Kong Island

A COUPLE OF CEMETERIES we saw were fascinating because the terrain is so hilly, they are built in tiers. The government encourages cremation because of land shortage. If one chooses to be buried, the plot is 3'x8' and they may remain there only seven years. After that, the bones are dug up and rearranged so that the corpse is placed in a standing position and reburied.

Additional federal funds made available for grasshopper control

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block has declared an emergency to make an additional $15 million in federal funds available to help control the serious infestation of rangeland grasshoppers that threatens agricultural production in many western states.

The $15 million will be transferred from the Commodity Credit Corporation immediately to supplement the $10 million announced by the Secretary on

"Hot and dry weather conditions throughout much of the West have caused the infestation to be much larger than was initially projected," said Block. "In order to meet this very serious threat to western agriculture, I am taking the necessary steps to make additional federal funding available."

Senator Alan K. Simpson (R-WY) is back with what has now become a perennial shot at rewriting U.S. immigration law.

Similar efforts by Simpson and Representative Romano L. Massoli (D-KY) fell victim to pressures from various interest groups, including the National Council of Agricultural Employers (NCAE) in 1982, 1983 and 1984. The newly introduced legislation, S-1200, contains revisions designed to improve its chances for passage by the 99th Congress.

Representative Mazzoli's colleagues in the House are said to be sharply divided over the immigration reform. issue and Mazzoli, who was conspicuously absent from a recent Simpson press conference, has not yet introduced a companion bill in the House.

Passage of the Simpson bill in the Senate, which approved earlier versions of the measure by large margins in 1982 and 1983, appears likely. Simpson has said he would hold brief Judiciary Committee hearings this month before pressing for a Senate vote prior to the August congressional recess.

According to Ed Dean, a former NCAE board member and Field Service for charter-member Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock, S-1200 is only "slightly less onerous" to agriculture than previous bills, although some of the changes can be described as "improvements."

For one thing, Dean says, criminal sanctions against employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens have been dropped from the new bill. Civil penalties remain, however, ranging from $100 to $2,000 for first offenders to as much as $10,000 when a "pattern or practice" of violation can be shown.

Also, he continues, Simpson for the first time has made the employment verification and record-keeping provisions of his bill voluntary. This is an obvious concession to employers, Dean says, "but it's tarnished by the fact that

Farm population shows an increase

According to the Bureau of the Census, the number of persons living in farms in rural areas of the United States averaged 5,787,000 for the 12-month period centered on April 1983. The 1983 estimate of the farm population is about 167,000 greater than the estimate of 5,620,000 for 1982. About one out of every forty persons, or 2.5% of the nation's total population lived on a farm. In 1920, when the farm population was first indentified separately, 30.2% of the nation's resident population lived on farms; by 1950, this proportion had fallen to 15.3%.

The farm population estimates for 1983 are based on the farm definition that was introduced into this data series

Under this definition, the farm population consists of all persons living in rural territory on places which had or normally would have had sales of agricultural products of $1,000 or more place in the reporting year.

And with the annual influx of migrant and seasonal hoe-hands underway, notes PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, a review of those requirements is in order.

Until early in 1984 when a state district judge ruled the exemption unconstitutional, farmworkers generally were exempt from compensation coverage requirements in Texas law. The ruling was appealed by Attorney General Jim Mattox, after which the Workers' Compensation for Farmworkers bill was passed during the Texas Legislature's 1984 special session.

The new law, which became effective January 1 of this year, provides that all "migrant" workers, those whose work requires them to be away from home overnight, are to be covered, as are seasonal workers doing the same work regions contained just 15 and 6% of all farm residents. The farm population has an older age with 35%. The West and Northeast structure and a higher median age than the non-farm population. In 1983, the median age of farm residents was 35.7 years compared with 30.7 years for the non-farm population.

Only 44% of the average 3.6 million persons employed in agriculture lived on farms in 1983. The remaining 56% lived in non-farm areas. The decline in the proportion of agricultural workers who are farm residents is largely due to the general trend among farm wage workers to commute from non-farm residence to jobs. In 1983, about 8 out of 10 wage and salary agricultural workers did not reside on farms. ### Cotton Today

Cotton's share of the U.S. apparel market held firm at 38 percent in 1984, according to the National Cotton Coun-

James T. Howell, the Council's senior market analyst, said apparel continued to be the major end-use for cotton, accounting for almost 56.6 percent of its total consumption.

He attributed cotton's continuing strength in apparel to the increasing number of items that are made from either 100 percent cotton or from blends that are predominantly cotton.

"Had it not been for serious drops in denim and corduroy jeans production -major markets for all-cotton and cottonrich blends -- cotton likely would have made a competitive gain in apparel," Howell said.

Despite the decline in jean production, the men's and boys' slacks and jeans category again was cotton's No. 1 end-use. It consumed some 811,000

Other major apparel end-uses included men's and boys' shirts -- 615,000 bales; women's slacks and jeans --356,000; men's and boys' underwear --311,000; and women's blouses and shirts -- 168,000.

Over-all, cotton's competitive share of total fiber consumption was 25 percent, a decline of one percentage point from 1983. Last year's total U.S. consumption of cotton in all major end-uses was 5.90 million bales compared with 5.91 million in 1983 and 5.30 million in 1982.

Howell said the decline was not totally unexpected due to anticipated gains in home furnishings and industrial sectors -- categories in which cotton is weakest competitively. Preliminary data indicate total fiber volume increas-Q0000000000000000000000000000000000 ed about 2 percent in home furnishings and 7 percent in industrial uses while apparel uses dropped about 1 percent.

In the home furnishings sector, which accounted for 30.9 percent of cotton consumption, towels were the main cotton-consuming product. They used some 690,000 bales -- the second highest over-all.

Other major home furnishings uses for cotton were sheets -- 375,000; drapery, upholstery, and slipcover fabrics -- 305,000; and retail piecegoods --

Industrial uses accounted for 12.5 percent of cotton usage, with the major end-use being medical supplies which consumed 166,000 bales.
