Fair board makes plans for 1985 event

By Pam Armstrong

Board members and committee chairmen in charge of the 1985 Floyd and Surrounding Counties Fair met for their regular monthly meeting on Tuesday, August 6.

Plans for the upcoming fair were discussed and finalized. Olan Poteet has been hired as the night watchman for the event and will be on duty from 10:00 p.m. to 8:00 a.m. It was also stated that the rabbit show would not be held due to being unable to have the show sanctioned. It was announced that Tye Company has agreed to donate several large fans for use in the entertainment building and also in the main buildings if they are needed.

The board has approved a $500.00 expenditure for the construction of a portable runway ramp for the entertainment building. This ramp will be eight feet wide and twenty four feet long and will remain in the building permanently. This will keep the fair board from having to borrow the flatbed trailer from the Lockney Coop. It is also smaller and will allow for more seating in the building during the queen and little miss pageants.

The needed trophies and ribbons were discussed and were to be ordered this week. The major awards for the stock show are already in and some of these needed in other areas are ready.

There is one major change in the schedule which is in the fair catalog, that being in the queen and little miss pageants.

The Little Miss Pageant will be at 1:30 in the entertainment building. At this time the entrants will be interviewed and they will be required to model a sportswear outfit and a party dress. There are three age divisions this year and they include ages three to six, ages seven to nine, and ages ten to twelve.

There is no entry fee and the young ladies need not have a sponsor.

Final judging in the queen contest will be at 7:30 Saturday, September 7. Interviews will be conducted the same day at 2:00 p.m. in the entertainment building.

Entrants in the queen contest must be between the ages of 13 and 17 and never married. Each entrant will be required to model a sportswear outfit and a formal of their own choosing.

Deadline for entries in both contests will be Saturday, September 7. For more information contact Cindy Dudley at 983-5320 after 5:00 p.m.

New rules were also established in the chili cookoff. See the separate article in this edition of the Beacon.

The board members have also set the dates for two more workdays to get the fairgrounds and buildings ready for the 1985 Fair. August 17 and 24 will be workdays and all those who can are asked to attend and help with the work.

Both days will begin at 9:00 a.m. Those coming to help are asked to bring a sack lunch and plan to stay all day. To make this year's fair a success it takes the work of everyone in the community. We are lucky to have one of the few remaining county fairs around. Let's all take an interest and help the fair board.

Main Street U.S.A. draws large crowd

Citizens who were not in Lockney last Saturday missed a fun filled day as the Lockney Chamber of Commerce sponsored its second annual Entertainment Extravaganza, Main Street U.S.A.

The day began early as local merchants had sidewalk and other sales at the business locations. It continued with the setting up of various booths in the downtown area.

Booths included stuffed potatoes by the Athena Study Club, lemonade, hot dogs, frito pies, snow cones by the Lockney High School junior class. Also, Il Penseroso Junior Study Club had a go fish pond for the children and iced tea.

The entertainment for the day began with the Miracles of Christ from Hale Center at 4:00 p.m. They were followed at 5:30 by Allison Mangold, six-year-old daughter of Dr. Gary and Brenda Mangold.

Lisa Mosley followed at 6:00 p.m.

DOWNTOWN LOCKNEY was filled with fun and entertainment for the entire family last Saturday as the Lockney Chamber of Commerce presented its second annual Main Street U.S.A. event.

Lisa sang several contemporary songs as well as two selections by Amy Grant.

The Panhandle Ramblers, featuring Lockneyites Dowell Brewer and Louis Ray Stapp, followed at 7:00. They played for one hour. Joe McClendon followed them. He sang and played the guitar for a thirty minute program.

Closing out the evening was the local band Westwind, who performed until after 10:00 p.m.

All in all there were approximately 200 people in town for the event which is down slightly from last years attendance. However, there were some very good performers and lots of fun for everyone who did come out.

Drawing for several prizes donated by local merchants were the highlight of the day. There were twenty-three prizes in all given away. There will be a complete listing of those in next weeks edition of the paper.

NICKI RACE, editor of the 1984-85 Longhorn Roundup, and Jacob Charles, incoming editor for 1985-86, prepare to distribute the annuals for the 84-85 year. Annuals will be distributed this Thursday evening from 6-8:00 p.m. at the high school. There will be 20 extra annuals available for sale at a cost of $16.00. Covers will also be sold for $1.00 each.

Coaching staff addresses Rotary on 1985 season

Guest speakers at the Lockney Rotary Club on Friday, August 9, included the Lockney school system coaching staff. The coaches discussed the upcoming football season and the players who will be playing on the Longhorn team this year.

Coach Bob Purser opened the program by telling Rotary members that the coaching staff is excited about this year. "Last year was very exciting, we had a winning season which was good for the boys and the entire community. We hope to continue that winning tradition in the upcoming season," said Purser.

This year there are thirteen returning lettermen with three starters back on both offense and defense. "A lot of the luck we have this season will depend on how many boys we lose after two a day workouts and also how many we lose after the six weeks with the no pass no play situation," said Purser.

This year's district is the same as last year and Purser said he is expecting an even district race with Ralls given the edge. The Longhorns will also be playing the same non-district schedule this year. It is expected that most of the teams Lockney played last year will be about the same as last year. Purser did comment that Tullia has all of its backfield receivers back and they are expected to be a tough team this year and will have a slight speed advantage.

Purser also commented that he is expecting Floydada to be improved this year. "This should make for an interesting game between our county teams this year," said Purser. He also said that the rivalry in the county is good for the teams and makes football exciting for the members of both communities.

Purser commented on the no pass no play situation. He said, "In the case of having to sit out for six weeks in the event of a subject failure, I am opposed. In the past the boys grades were checked each week and if they had failed they did not play until the next week. In the case of no pass, no play the boys are forced to sit out for six weeks and in this situation we lose contact with the players. The players hurt from the six weeks out of workouts in that they lose discipline and contact with the coaching staff. The way I look at the problem, one week out is motivation, six weeks out is elimination."

Purser then turned the program over to his assistant coaches and they discussed the players and positions on the Longhorn team for 1985.

Mickey Crowe, defensive coordinator reviewed the players he works with. Linebackers for the 1985 team will be Trent Gant and David Rodriguez on the weak side, George Basaldua and Chris Rodriguez on the strong side and Dickie Hernandez in the middle of the line. The above mentioned players are the first string and their backups, respectively.

Offensive receivers include Rusty Teeter, Ronnie Ford, and David Lemons lining up at tight end and Johnny Torres, Steve Torres, and David Sutterfield setting up.

Corner and defensive backs for 1985 include Johnny Torres, Allen Stallings, and Steve Torres at left corner. Right corner backs include Monty Means, Tony Banda, David Lemons, and Jimmy Ballejo.

Quarterbacks for this year will be Steven Cates, Todd Hallmark, and Ronnie Ford. Filling the fullback positions will be Dickie Hernandez and Matt Mitchell.

With no returning safties this year, four young men will be working to fill those spots on the Longhorn varsity. They include Ronnie Ford, Steven Cates, Todd Hallmark, and Javier Bernal. Halfbacks for the year will be Tony Banda and Allen Stallings at the left side and Javier Bernal and Jimmy Ballejo on the right. Chris Rodriguez will be backing up on both the left and right sides at halfback.

Walters to present concert

The First United Methodist Church of Lockney will present Laura Walters in concert on Sunday, August 18.

She will be singing several songs in the morning worship service at 10:45 a.m. and will present a concert at 6:00 p.m. at the church.

Walters is a young, energetic, contemporary musician from Midland, Texas. She will appeal to all age groups as her repertoire includes both original compositions and beautiful arrangements of some of the great hymns of faith.

Make plans to attend both the morning worship and the concert at the First United Methodist Church to hear this inspired young lady. This is the final in the series of summer concerts presented by the church.

Following the evening concert there will be a spaghetti supper in the fellowship hall of the church. The supper is sponsored by the Explorers and the youth organization of the church. There will be no charge but donations will be taken.

First Baptist Church to celebrate 95th anniversary

Members of the First Baptist Church of Lockney are preparing for the 95th anniversary celebration of their church this Sunday.

Services will begin with Sunday school at 9:45 a.m. followed by the morning worship service at 10:45 a.m. Lunch will be served at the church following the morning worship service and all past and present members are invited to attend the event.

The afternoon worship service will begin at 2:00 p.m.

Three former pastors including Rev. Gene Hawkins, and Rev. John Jenkins, both of Lubbock and Rev. Charles Broadhurst of Littlefield will be on the program during the day. Also former music directors Joe Cargile of Crosbyton and Eddie Turner of Plainview will be on hand.

This is a very special event in the history of the church and all former and present members are urged to come.

FIRST CHURCH—This was the first building for members of the First Baptist Church of Lockney. It served the church from 1906 to 1917.

Chili cookoff rules revised

The rules for the 1985 Floyd County Fair chili cookoff have been revised somewhat from those printed in the catalog.

The entry fee this year will be $10.00 per team; however, if ten or more teams enter, the entry fee will be reduced to $5.00 per team.

Each team must supply their own heat source. They will be required to cook at least ten pounds of meat, no bowls will be allowed and no inedible ingredients will be used.

Deadline for entering the chili cookoff is 10:00 a.m. Saturday, September 14, and the spaces will be given out on a first come first served basis.

All chili must be ready for judging by 4:30 that afternoon and after the judging all chili will become the property of the fair board. The chili will be sold at a price of $1.50 per person for all you can eat.

Cash prizes will be awarded for the first, second, and third place winners of the cookoff. First place will receive $20.00 and a trophy; second, $15.00, and third place, $10.00. There will also be a plaque awarded for the showmanship award.

Events being held along with the cookoff will include horseshoe and washer pitching contests. There is a $1.00 entry fee for each of the teams in these two events and the first place winners in each contest will receive a trophy.

THIS WEEK

COMMODITIES

The American Agricultural Movement will be distributing commodities at Baccus Ford House from 9:00-12:30 a.m., August 20. All persons must bring proof of residency.

SCOUT UNIFORMS

Anyone having old Cub Scout uniforms that they would like to donate to the Lockney Cub Scouts program should take them by the J and K Insurance office or contact Ed Marks after 5:00 p.m.

GARAGE SALE

Employees of the local Allsup store are holding a garage sale to benefit Muscular Dystrophy. The sale will be August 9, 10, and 11. If you have items which you would like to donate for this sale call Colean at 652-8876. They will be glad to pick up any items donated for the sale.

PTA MEETING

There will be a planning committee meeting for the 1985-86 PTA on Monday, August 19, at 7:00 p.m. in the high school library. This meeting is to plan the programs for the upcoming year. All interested persons are asked to attend.

NOTICE PARENTS

The following is a notice to parents of children who will be attending school this fall.

The shortage of D.T.P. vaccine has ended, and any child whose booster was postponed should be given the dose before school starts.

Minimum immunizations required for admission to school are:

DTP - 3 doses, with at least one dose received after the 4th birthday.

Polio - 3 doses, with at least one dose received after the 4th birthday.

M.M.R. - (measles, mumps, rubella.)

The school must have a record of your child's immunizations before enrollment can be completed.

SCHOOL SUPPLY LIST

Attention teachers and principals please contact the Beacon with the lists of school supplies needed for students starting school in September.

We would like to run these lists to aid parents in getting children ready for school.

FARM NEWS

Focus On Entomology

by James F. Leser

The South Plains cotton crop is really getting the heat units it needs to make a good crop. All fields should be blooming now although some fields may be as much as 7-10 days behind schedule. Most fields have plants loading up very well. We could use some more rains about now, but other than that, we couldn't ask for better growing conditions.

Irrigation is a critical decision right now. If you have a pivot-you'll have much less of a problem figuring out what to do. Furrow irrigators, especially in the weaker water areas have some tough decisions to make. If you filled the soil profile last month, you may be able to skip this irrigation. If not then the time is at hand to water. I don't like to see furrow irrigators watering past August 20th since this usually results in reduced yields and fiber quality, increased vegetative growth, barkly cotton and last but not least—increased bollworm problems.

The aphid problem is has increased greatly across the area. Lots of fields have already been treated. Infestations in many fields literally exploded in a week's time. A field I am working with at New Home averaged 10 aphids per leaf on July 31st. On August 7th, aphids averaged 190 per leaf. Obviously, the infestation in this field shot past my treatment level in less than a week. Incidentally, I initiated an 11 treatment test in this field. Hopefully, we'll gain some more information to help manage this pest.

Don't wait too long to treat aphids! Some of you are doing just that, hoping they'll go away or that you can wait for the bollworms to build up and do a double-in-one spray application. In my opinion this is a major mistake. The explosive nature of aphids necessitates a quick management decision and twice-a-week scouting. All tests I have conducted (1982, 1984) have shown yield returns for aphid control. Also, all tests I have conducted have involved treatments going on much later than is advisable. If you wait too long, then yield losses have already occurred and actual treatment benefits have decreased. I recommend that you spray when aphids average about 25 per leaf across the field. This is a composite average of top, middle and bottom leaves.

As predicted, bollworm activity increased this week. Egg numbers as high as 50,000 per acre have been reported. Larvae numbers up to 26,000 per acre have been found. Most fields have yet to see these high numbers, with bollworms generally averaging less than 2,500 larvae per acre. Where are these infested fields? Well, they're everywhere. Even up in corn country. If you are concerned about the imminent bollworm problem, scout your fields but don't delay needed aphid treatments because of the bollworm threat. It may not materialize. Also, my experience indicates that aphid control improves, not hinders the situation as far as bollworms go.

Agriculture is the life-blood of Floyd County. Let's all support it.

Clay Hamilton views agriculture in Norway

The following is an account of agriculture in Norway as seen by Clay Hamilton, son of Charles and Bobbie Hamilton of Floydada. Hamilton is on an International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) Representative Program to Norway.

For a boy raised in the flat, dry Panhandle, it's quite an experience to live right in the middle of a country where there are blue fjords, cold, clear rivers and a view of the ocean from every window in the house. The mountains here are another rarity for someone who grew up being able to see someone coming to visit three miles down the road. What I call mountains, they tell me are really just hills. What they call mountains, I can just describe as huge! They are tall, steep and beautiful. The switchback roads have flocks of sheep ambling across and picture-postcard towns are nestled down at the bottom.

The country looks like a fairy tale and it's hard for me to believe it's real sometimes, but the people here are good, solid farming folk just like the ones back in Floydada, Texas. Rogalams, where I will be staying from June to September, is the main Ag, producing county out of 19 counties in Norway. It is made up of farmers with holdings of 100-200 acres that raise pigs, sheep, beef, vegetables, or operate dairies. Agriculture is very important to all of Norway, but especially so here in Rogalams. The people are proud to be farmers and most things revolve around

net $8,240

Premiums totaling $8,240 will be offered during the Angus Cattle Show at the 68th annual Panhandle-South Plains Fair in Lubbock September 21-28, general manager Steve L. Lewis has announced.

Lewis said Jerry Hawkins of Clarendon will judge the entries. The entry deadline is September 9 and judging will get underway promptly at 9 a.m. on September 24 in Fair Park Livestock Pavilion.

Other show officials include John Farris, Superintendent and Andy Vestal, assistant.

Competition will be in 46 classes, and payoffs range from $40 for fifth place to $100 for first, including portions paid by the American Angus Association for premiums offered for open class Angus breeding cattle.

Grand champion female and bull entries each will receive a banner and $75 while reserve champions will collect banners and $25 each.

Tim Longan of the 77 Ranch in Wichita Falls had the top bull and female entries at the 1984 exposition.

Trade office opens in Iraq

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block has announced the opening of a U.S. agricultural trade office in Baghdad, Iraq. This is the fifth such office to be opened in the Arab World and the twelfth such office in operation worldwide. The purpose of these offices is to increase sales of U.S. food and fiber by facilitating contacts between local and U.S. business firms.

In announcing the new office, Block said that Iraq is a market of considerable potential in the Middle East. "There is a major surge of economic activity in the country right now, and it is to the U.S. agricultural exporter's advantage to get a foot in the door as soon as possible."

Iraq last year imported about $530 million worth of agricultural products from the United States, chiefly wheat, feed grains and soybean cake and meal. This was up by more than half from the 1983 level.

the farm lifestyle. During harvest time, you see almost as many tractors on the road as you do cars. In fact, it's not uncommon for someone to wheel up to the bank or grocery store in his tractor as he is on his way home. It's good to see a community where farmers are a viable business and a source of pride to the people who live here.

More than half of Norway is above the tree line. 96% is mountainous, rock, water or forest. Only 3% is tilled land. This, coupled with a short growing season and cool summer temperatures has limited the variety and size of Norwegian farms. All crops are short seasoned and hardy.

Root crops are very common including carrots, turnips and potatoes (lots of potatoes). Grains such as barley and oats are grown but little wheat because of the short summers. The vegetable and grain crops are limited but berry production flourishes. Raspberry, blueberry, strawberry, blackberry and red and black currants are easily grown. The farmers use a lot of mechanical aids, especially in harvesting. It's not uncommon to see four medium sized tractors on a 200 acre farm. Irrigation is relied on heavily here. The summers are dry and the rivers plentiful, so the farmers all have good sprinkler irrigation systems for the crops and pasture.

Most pastures and fields were originally covered in large rocks and boulders. Before the ice age, centuries ago, this land was only bare rock. The glaciers brought good soil here, but left literally tons of stones. In the past, the fields were cleared of the smaller rocks by hand and production went on around the larger stones. The cleared stones were used to make steingars (rock fences), islets and small harbors on the coast, or just big hills at central dumping grounds. Heavy machinery and automated rock pickers have helped clear a lot of fields allowing the use of modern farming methods. The pastures are made up of rye or native grass that is cut and put into silage for the winter. Baling hay in square and round bales is just now becoming popular.

The livestock in Norway is an interesting mix between old and new. Several modern breeds have been introduced here, but a lot of the old native animals are still used. All of the herds are small compared to Texas standards, but a farmer can only keep what he can stall inside over winter. The barns here are big, roomy and use space well. The standard breed of cattle, both dairy and beef, is the Norwegian Red. In the late 1950's, the agriculture college in Norway gathered the cattle with the best milking records and crossed them together. The resulting progeny were introduced into the herds across Norway until almost all of the cattle are of this breed. The Norwegian Red is seldom red. In fact, they can be almost any color, but they are all similar in structure, size and milk production. The beef producers have started introducing English breeds such as Charolais and Angus to add more muscle and weight, but these crosses are still fairly rare.

Pigs are found on almost every farm in this area in numbers anywhere from 50 to 200. The native pig is lop eared and slightly swaybacked. It is a sturdy pig, but not anything like what is grown in America. A lot of farmers have gone to the Yorkshire pig from England. The grandfather of my current host family was one of the first to import Yorkshires to this area. Since then, the breeders have developed a very strong breed association and use it. It is used not only as a forum to promote their product but to also disseminate new production methods and to check the progress of their herds.

There are a lot of things that are done differently in Norway because of the weather, land conditions or economy. However, there is a lot that is done the same as I was brought up. The pigs still have to be fed, the barns cleaned and the farmers still worry about crops in the field and selling their grown pigs. It's things like this that make me feel at home among all the mountains and fjords. It's a beautiful country, filled with people worth knowing and things worth learning.

The International 4-H Youth Exchange (IFYE) Representative Program is conducted by the National 4-H Council in support of the 4-H Program of the Cooperative Extension Service. Friends of 4-H in Texas, Nacogdoches County, D.K. Caldwell Foundation, and the National 4-H Council assisted in financing this exchange.

NEW 2157 2165

Superior grain yields with a good grazing bonus. Excellent straw strength, too!

Our researchers were impressed by the tremendous pasture production and grain yields from these new varieties during testing. And now that the varieties have stood the test of actual production on many farms under many conditions, the proof is in!

They grow off well and show strong resistance to SBMV, leaf rusts, fungal leaf blights, and the Hessian fly.

• New 2157 gives you good, early grazing, then stays with you through the winter. And the grain yields are right up there with anything you care to compare it against. Choose 2157 for dryland or limited water production.

• New 2165 works with your irrigation program to make the most of all you put into the crop. Pasture comes on strong in the fall and grain yields are among the best you'll find, bar none.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE
COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT BLOCK GRANT PROGRAM
CITY OF LOCKNEY

The City of Lockney will hold a public hearing on proposed changes in its 1982 Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program at 3:00 o'clock P.M. on Monday, August 26, 1985, in the Lockney City Hall at 215 East Locust Street, Lockney, Texas.

The City is considering possible changes in its original CDBG program which will allow currently unobligated funds to be used for minor renovations/repairs of the City facility currently being used as offices by the Caprock Community Action Agency (the building on which the water tower rests). The balance of funds not used for this project will be used by the City to implement an emergency home repairs program in the 1982 CDBG Target Area in northeast Lockney. Approximately $30,000 will be involved in the two programs.

All citizens are invited to be present at this public hearing to comment on the proposed CDBG program changes. The City will accept written comments on these proposed changes up until the time of the public hearing. Any handicapped persons requiring special assistance to attend this hearing should contact City Hall.

"Our Hong Kong Trip"

By Dottie Stansell

Editor's Note: The following is an account of Judy and Clar Schacht's recent trip to the Orient. The series will be continued through several issues of The Lockney Beacon.

Wednesday evening we took a sunset harbor cruise by junk around the island to the Jumbo Floating Restaurant. This is a large three story lighted boat that seats several hundred people. We had a ten course meal over a period of two hours. The first course was crab meat and sweet corn soup. Next came boiled prawns (with heads), then diced chicken with cashewnuts, fillet mignon (Chinese style), baked lobster, hot lettuce with crab (yuk!) zaroupa fish, fried rice, fried noodles and coconut pudding. It was an interesting meal, not particularly delicious, but interesting. The restaurant was anchored in a typhoon shelter among the boat people. As we passed these junks you could see kids playing soccer on board, cooking supper in woks and waving to us like crazy.

The next day we were completely on our own. We shopped and managed to find a tiny McDonald's for lunch and a hotel restaurant that served some Western food. We were chicken to try "authentic" Chinese food off the streets. They emanated quite an odor and usually just had small tables with wooden chopsticks in a cup. The nice restaurants seemed to favor having large fish swimming around in tanks where you picked your own. They say Hong King is a gourmet's delight but I believe you would have to be an Eastern gourmet to try sharks fin or bird's nest soup.

Our last evening's banquet had for entertainment the Royal Hong Kong Police Band. This band included several bagpipe players and was directed by a Scotsman. It was rather unusual to see a Chinese dressed in a kilt, playing a bagpipe. They were quite humorous and put on a good show.

We left Saturday morning for the return journey. It was a much quieter group coming back, believe me. By the time we reached Seattle it was evening and continued to be evening for the next eight hours, as we traveled. It took only 24 hours to come home because we traveled with the jet steam. D-FW airport saw several people stretched out in the lounge, snoring during the three hour layover. We got home about midnight Easter morning.

We were certainly glad to be home among people that looked familiar to us and stores where you could just go in and purchase something without bargaining for it.

We enjoyed the trip and felt like we got some great bargains. Our Christmas list is already taken care of! As soon as we got home we were already regretting not getting such and such or so and so. However China will have to suffer not seeing us for a good long while yet. After all, they're just now recovering from one Cultural Revolution, we don't want to rush them too much.

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

On the eve of its 100th birthday the Statue of Liberty is getting a complete overhaul. The project began on May 18, 1982 when President Reagan announced the formation of the Statue of Liberty-Ellis Island Centennial Commission. It is headed by Lee Iacocca, the chairman of Chrysler Corp.

Iacocca has written, "a century of exposure to the corrosive salt air of New York Harbor has severely damaged the internal structure of the statue. One by one, each of the nearly 1,200 iron bars that make up the statue's armature must be removed and replaced by hand."

The Statue of Liberty is the master work of sculptor Frederic Auguste Bartholdi. It was France's gift to the nation that had inspired its own revolution for freedom in 1789. "The statue's steel skeleton is simply amazing," says Harold A. O'Callaghan, Jr., president of Universal Builders and Supply. It was designed by Gustave Eiffel, who later built the famous tower in Paris. Hundreds of copper sheets are hung from it to form the statue's skin.

A new torch is being forged in a 5,000 square foot workshop built at the base of the monument. Based on Bartholdi's original design, its gold-plated exterior will make it gleam brightly by day while floodlights keep it shining at night. Outside the workshop men cart materials around the base of the massive granite pedestal.

By next July 4th the statue will be a national topic of conversation. A magnificent centennial celebration will feature a flotilla of over 300 historic naval vessels sailing up the Hudson. In cities across the country, the traditional Independence Day festivities will be marked by special salutes to the statue.

Chamber holds breakfast meeting

Lockney Chamber of Commerce met Tuesday morning week for a breakfast and business session at Strickland's Restaurant.

Last-minute plans for the chamber's Main Street U.S.A. celebration were made. After plans were completed, the date of the 1986 event was discussed. The board members decided to hold the event to coincide with the arrival in Floyd County in early August, 1986, of the Texas Sesquicentennial Train.

Chamber president Jack Covington reported that the security specialist who works with the crime prevention unit of South Plains Association of Governments was in Lockney Monday, August 5, and made security checks at the schools, hospital and several businesses.

Lockney Care Center Capers

By Tina Brockman. Howdy neighbors, Another exciting week has gone by and it's time to start another. Herman still isn't back but we keep hoping he will return to us. Speaking of animals, a friendly little kitten has adopted us. We have named him Tiger and all of the residents love him. He likes the attention and love he receives from them, too. We'd like to thank 24th Street Mr. Burger in Plainview for treating us to cokes before we began our long journey home on a hot summer day. Thanks also go to the lovely ladies from Main Street Church of Christ who host our birthday party each month. We appreciate all of the goodies they bring and the residents look forward to the party each month. Laughter by the buckets was ours this week as we watched Don Knotts' antics in Walt Disney's "Hot Lead and Cold Feet." Our sides were aching by the time the movie was over. We are still working on crafts for the fair which is just around the corner. If anyone has any ideas or would like to donate craft supplies contact us at the home. Gino's Quote For The Week! Unmentionables -- Those articles of ladies apparel that are never discussed in public, except in full page, illustrated ads.
