Wheat outlook bright; price cloudy

FINISHING UP—After one more trip down the field, Ted and Larry Robb can relax because they will be finished harvesting their 1990 wheat crop. Wheat harvest is in full swing in the county and local elevator operators hope for a completed harvest by the Fourth of July. The Robbs raised the TAM 105 variety of wheat on the Wade Mills' Estate halfway between Nazareth and Hart. On Monday, Ted Robb reported that the test weight for their wheat is averaging 61 pounds, and their yields are averaging 70 bushels per acre.

There's a cloud hanging over this year's wheat harvest right now, but it's not one that threatens to "dampen" the fields and halt harvest.

The cloud on the horizon is the price—it could be better.

Wednesday's market price stood at $2.84 per bushel, and that's down considerably from last year's price.

"The price is terrible right now," said Bill Clark of Dimmitt Agri Industries. "We feel like it could pick up, though. The wheat is underpriced right now, but there's still opportunity for some gain over time."

Wheat harvest is at its peak right now, and most local elevator operators expect this year's crop to be out of the fields late next week.

"If the weather holds, we'll have about one good week of harvest left," said Jarrell Sewell at Farmers Grain Co. in Hart. "Harvest in our area really got underway Monday with the dryland crop, but most of that's out of the field and they're working on the irrigated now. Harvest should be completed by early next week."

Fred Bruegel of Bruegel and Sons Elevator said he expected the harvest to peak at the end of the week, then fall off through the weekend.

"We're probably over half-way through with harvest now—I'd say we're on the downhill side, said Clark. "Most of the dryland crop is in and we hope to have harvest wrapped up by the Fourth of July."

Eddie Matthews at Easter Grain said harvest in his area is probably three-fourths complete and he expects farmers to finish up by the middle of next week.

"Average to good" is the description most elevator managers give about this year's crop. The yields and test weight are good despite the hot, dry weather which has settled over the Panhandle this spring. The moisture content is good, testing between 8 and 12 on most of the county's wheat.

"We've noticed a little bit of shriveling on some of the dryland wheat, but it (hot, dry weather) hasn't hurt the irrigated crop yet. It (wheat) is drying out faster than some people wanted, though," said

Jeff Dodson of Texas Sesame at Flagg.

Clark also reported his facility has received some shriveled grain, but the test weights have held up "pretty good so far."

Test weights are averaging between the high 40's and mid-60's around the county, and that's close to normal.

"Some of the varieties are testing out good, anywhere from 55 to 64," said Dodson. "As far as yields are concerned, I haven't heard much, but the best so far is 99-1/2 bushels from a patch on the Greg Welch farm at Dodd. That's pretty good."

Clark said he hasn't settled with enough farmers to really know what yields are averaging, but added that the few he's talked to are "satisfied with the outcome" of this year's harvest.

Yields around Hart are up from the previous two years, according to Sewell, with the figures averaging between 45 and 75 bushels per acre. Test weights are running between 58 and 64, with most fields averaging 61 or 62.

Bruegel said the test weight has improved on wheat taken in at his facility, with numbers running between 58 and 62. Yields are averaging between 50 and 75 bushels.

"So far it looks like a pretty decent crop," Matthews said. "Our test weights are holding at 57 to 61 and we've had yield reports ranging between 40 to 60 bushels per acre. The moisture is dry—usually seven, eight or nine."

Bennett is named TDA district chief

Harold Bob Bennett of Hart has been appointed district director of the Amarillo District of the Texas Dept. of Agriculture.

Bennett was appointed by State Ag Commissioner Jim Hightower, and says he will work in the Amarillo office part-time, and will still maintain his farming interests in Hart.

As district director, Bennett's duties include coordinating and communicating district agricultural matters with the Texas Dept. of Agriculture.

Sales tax rate to increase July 1

Castro County residents will be paying a little more for products they purchase starting July 1 when the new sales tax increase goes into effect.

The increase, signed into law by Gov. Bill Clements, raises the state sales tax from 6% to 6-1/4%. With local sales tax added, the new maximum rate will be 8-1/4%.

Locally, each town's sales tax rate will increase 1/4%. For Dimmitt and Nazareth the new rate will be 8-1/4%. Of this, 6-1/4% will go to the state, 1% will go to the city, 1/2% will go to special purposes and 1/2% will go to the county.

The new sales tax in Hart will be 7-3/4%. That figure is broken down to 6-1/4% to the state, 1% to the city and 1/2% to the county.

Retail stores located in the county but not inside city limits will increase sales tax to 6-3/4%. The state will receive 6-1/4% while 2% remains in the county.

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that Texas businesses will have very little time to prepare for the quarter percent sales tax increase approved by the Legislature to pay for public education and human services programs.

"We will do everything possible to help businesses and merchants with this rate change," Bullock said. "The short amount of time puts a very heavy burden on the 467,000 businesses that collect sales tax from their customers."

Bullock said that more than 250,000 retail outlets in the state will have to reprogram cash registers.

City councilmen have light agenda

Dimmitt City Councilmen breezed through a light agenda in less than 30 minutes Monday night.

Reeford Burrous, city manager, reported that overall the city is 6.64% under budget.

Mayor Wayne Collins asked for a short executive session to discuss legal matters but no decision was made.

The city council will meet will meet on June 26 to interview and select engineers for the airport. The engineers will be hired to make sure that the construction is done right.

With the collapse of communism, America's right-wingers are desperate for someone to hate or something to fear.

For one thing, their campaign funds depend on it. Professional fund-raisers have long realized that you can raise more money by playing on people's fears than by appealing to their reason. The right-wingers have been plowing the fear-turf effectively for decades.

The collapse of communism has taken away their longest-running project.

At first they tried to minimize the effect by telling us, "Don't believe Gorbachev—it's a trick."

But as the anti-communism people-quake spread spontaneously from the Berlin Wall through the Eastern Bloc countries to the Baltic states, and then into the Soviet Union itself, they had to back away from that ploy. The collapse obviously was real and irreversible, and to try to pass it off as a trick would only make the far right seem more desperate.

Then, for a while, they even tried to credit Ronald Reagan with the collapse of communism.

(They neglected some basic realities—that it was Harry Truman and other post-World War II western leaders who originally theorized that communism would inevitably collapse if contained, and that the US's policy of containment started with the formation of NATO and continued with wars in Korea, Vietnam, Africa and South America, before Reagan ever thought of running for President.)

They've had to back away from their "Reagan did it" argument, realizing that, for any Americans who do their own thinking, that dog won't hunt.

So with communism on the wane, what are good right-wingers to do?

For a while there, they could only intensify their bashing of gays, minorities, welfare recipients and the homeless. (We're not supposed to notice that they're remaining aloof from the savings - and - loan debacle, the Iran-Contra scandal and the crushing budget deficit.)

Communism, alas, isn't the only issue that has faded for the right-wingers.

They appear also to be backing off of the abortion issue. They'll still take money from those who are morally opposed to abortion, but they've been soft-pedaling the issue since a nationwide poll showed that a significant majority of Americans favor the "pro-choice" approach. When morality clashes with polls in the political arena, well . . .

Then, it was like manna from heaven for them when the scandal broke over the National Endowment for the Arts.

(As Republican consultant Craig Shirley said, "Conservatives ought to light candles and thank God every night" for the NEA scandal.)

They jumped on that one quickly, as if they were the only ones offended by some of the perverse garbage that was being passed off as art by a few NEA-supported photographers and sculptors.

There they have a good, solid cosmetic issue, even though they don't have exclusive rights to it.

And, of course, they're going after flag-burners like chickens after junebugs.

But here again, they don't have exclusive rights to the issue—in this case, a proposed constitutional amendment to make flag desecration a federal crime. Politicians of all shades, who give a higher priority to their own re-election than to the preservation of the First Amendment, are also grabbing for a corner of the flag issue. Meanwhile, other politicians on both sides of the aisle are arguing passionately against compromising the Bill of Rights.

Given all these factors, what are the right-wingers' main bogeymen likely to be during the upcoming election season?

County horse judging team is best in Texas

Castro County's 4-H Horse Judging Team captured the state championship at the State 4-H Roundup June 6 at Texas A&M University in College Station.

Team members Brant Baca, Kim Spring, Justin Gleghorn and Kay Lynn Gleghorn have been practicing with their coach, Scott Bagley for months to prepare for the contest and their efforts paid off at state.

Two of the team members placed among high individuals in the contest. Spring finished as first overall individual while Justin Gleghorn was fifth overall.

In April, the judging team won the district competition to earn the right to advance to state.

The senior team members are required to judge eight classes of horses, four halter and four performance, and then give oral reasons for two of the eight classes.

The senior team has been invited to judge at three major horse shows, two world class shows and the southern regional 4-H show. Because of conflicting schedules, the team will participate at two of the shows—the American Junior Quarter Horse Association World Show August 8 in Tulsa, Okla., and the American Quarter Horse Congress October 26 in Columbus, Ohio.

Castro County's Junior Horse Judging team also won district but is not allowed to advance to State Round-up. These team members included, John Fuller, Kodi Bagley, Coby Summers and Amy Fuller.

The senior team would like to give special thanks to Purina Mills for furnishing the leather notebooks and money to defray traveling expense for the team. The senior team would appreciate anyone who would like to sponsor the team by contacting the Castro County Extension office in Dimmitt.

Conference to address financing

A conference which will help farmers, operators of small businesses and rural communities learn where and how to find financing, will be held in Amarillo June 22.

The conference, sponsored by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will feature federal and state officials, bankers and representatives of several agencies, each addressing question, "Where's the money?" for business and agricultural financing.

The program will be from 9 a.m. to 4:45 p.m. at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center at 6500 West Amarillo Blvd. It is sponsored by the Extension Service and the Potter County Extension agricultural committees. Many agricultural producers, business persons and leaders in smaller communities throughout the Texas Panhandle and surrounding areas are not sure of what help is available, or what steps to take to obtain financial help, said Jim Smith, Potter County extension agent.

Financing holds the key to development of our rural communities, as well as to the survival of farms and small businesses, said Dr. Steve Amosson, Extension Service economist and management specialist.

Following a welcome by Amarillo Mayor Keith Adams, US Rep. Bill Sarpalius, will address work of the House Small Business Committee. US Rep. Glenn English will explain activities in the House Rural Development Committee.

Sources of financing will be outlined by Terry Harman, state director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. Loan programs available through the Small Business Administration will be covered by G. Till Phillips, deputy regional administrator of SBA.

Work of the state's Rural Economic Development Commission will be reported by Dr. Zerle Carpenter, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and chairman of the commission.

Loan programs available through the Farmers Home Administration will be explained by John Kirchoff, assistant state director. Those available through the Texas Dept. of Agriculture will be outlined by Richard Salmon, TDA business development specialist.

The state legislature's perspective on business and agriculture financing will be presented by State Sen. Teel Bivens and State Rep. John Smith.

Loan programs of the Texas Dept. of Commerce will be explained by Reagan Houston, Texas Dept. of Commerce director of finance.

Venture capital and how it works will be explained by Jim Cook, senior vice president of First National Bank of Amarillo. Programs of the Amarillo Economic Development Corp. will be outlined by Richard Brown, its chairman.

Commercial ag loan programs and requirements will be covered by Bill Snure, vice president of First National Bank of Amarillo. David Ellis, senior vice president of Amarillo National Bank, will discuss commercial business loans and regulations.

Loans through the Production Credit Association will be explained by James Ban Pelt, Amarillo PCA president. Services of the Panhandle Regional Planning Commission will be told by Perna Strickland, PRPC director.

Ag loan programs and requirements of the Federal Land Bank will be covered by Greg Loyd, manager of the Amarillo Federal Land Bank.

Don Taylor, director of the Small Business Center at West Texas State University, will show how to prepare a business plan.

County sales tax rebates increase

Castro County's tax rebate for sales during the month of April increased by more than 40%, according to figures released by the state comptroller's office.

County-wide sales tax rebates totaled $31,243.19, bringing the year-to-date total to $149,782.01. The year's running total is up 2.93% over the comparable period last year.

Dimmitt's 1990 payment of $28,650.95 was up 42.57% over last year's rebate of $20,096.16 for the same month. To date, Dimmitt has received a total of $131,823.26 in sales tax rebates—up 1.01%.

The City of Hart received an April rebate check in the amount of $1,570.63, which exceeded last year's rebate ($1,203.85) by 30.47%. A total of $8,807.71 has been disbursed to Hart so far this year, and that figure is up 12.32% over last year's payments of $7,841.92 through the month of April.

A 17.67% change was reflected in Nazareth's rebate check of $1,021.61. Last year's payment for the same period was $868.20. For the year to date, Nazareth has received $9,151.04, up 27.63% from 1989's payments which totaled $7,169.73 through April. This month's checks include taxes collected on April sales and reported in May by businesses filing monthly tax returns.

Merchants collect the sales taxes and send them to the comptroller's office with their tax returns. The state keeps its 6% share and each month sends cities and counties their portion of the sales tax.

All local sales taxes must be approved by local voters and may be used for any legal city or county expenses. Most areas put the money in their general fund and use it for operations like fire fighting, maintaining roads and law enforcement.

Couple is home in Lubbock following June 9 wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery Al Sanders are home in Lubbock after a June 9 wedding and a honeymoon in San Antonio.

The bride is the former Kristi Denine Curtis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Curtis of Dimmitt. She is the granddaughter of W.B. and Pauline Hucks of Springlake and Cecil and Nelda Curtis of Dimmitt. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Marvin "Sandy" Sanders of Katy. The groom's grandparents are Marvin and Oletha Sanders and Bennie Prather, all of Earth.

The couple were united in a double-ring, evening ceremony in the Earth United Methodist Church with Rev. Jimmy Nunn of the First United Methodist Church in Lubbock, officiating.

The registry table was covered with a white eyelet cloth and held the bride's book. A photo of the couple was outlined with teal and mauve leaves and was held in a brass heart-shaped stand. A brass candleholder accented with a teal and mauve candle ring completed the table decor. Presilla Fuentes presided over the table.

Organist Debbie Bills played music as the guests were seated by ushers Danny Randolph and Kyle Jones. The pews in the church were marked with teal, mauve and white nylon tulle bows.

A solo special, Somewhere in the World, performed by David Gaschen and accompanied by Bills on the piano, was played as the couple's grandparents were seated.

The couple's mothers each lit a single candle beside the unity candle, symbolizing the two families about to join. The unity candle stood on a brass candle stand accented with white and mauve flowers and graced the right side of the aisle.

Dimmitt's United Methodist Church Handbell Choir played Praise the God of Heaven Above and Meditation while Malaney Lowe and Ryan Smallwood lit two brass candelabra's featuring double-heart votive candles.

The processional, Trumpet Voluntary, was performed by the Hand Bell Choir, which was led by Jane O'Kelley. Members of the choir included Danice Wright, Sue Stahl, Sue Boozer, Katy Wright, Shelly Rice, Nancy Fuller, Becky Jones, Karen Sheffy, Connie Gilbreath and Lynn Sides.

Special music included a solo by Jo Anna Jacquess, who sang The Lord's Prayer as the unity candle was lit. David Gaschen sang Household of Faith and the recessional, Jessica's Theme, was played by Bills on the piano.

Two white mauve and teal flower fans flanked the candelabra and a large flower fan accented the wall beneath a lighted cross. The church's windows were trimmed with votive cup candleholders containing lighted teal candles surrounded by white candle rings. The Lord's Supper Table featured graduated crystal candleholders with lighted mauve and teal candles next to an open Bible. English Ivy was strung along the choir railing. The altar railing was also covered with English ivy and featured votive cup candles among white tulle bows and scalloped loops accented with mauve candle rings.

MRS. JEFFERY AL SANDERS
... nee Kristi Denine Curtis

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a formal white satin gown featuring a sweetheart neckline and expanded Juliet Shadow sleeves. The gown's basque bodice was embroidered with iridescent sequins and pearls. Pearl and sequin French-cut medallions adorned the front and back of the skirt. Schiffler lace encircled a scalloped hemline which cascaded into a cathedral-length train. A string of pearls and matching earrings completed her outfit.

The bride carried a cascading bouquet of white silk flowers with mauve and teal accents, highlighted by sprinkles of iridescent flowers and pearl loops.

Following tradition, she carried her mother's wedding Bible as "something borrowed" and "something old." "Something new" was her wedding gown and "something blue" was a blue garter she wore. She had pennies minted in the years of the couple's birthdays in her satin ballerina shoes.

Cynthia Curtis, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids included Amy Bolton and Cristy Carpenter, friends of the bride, and DeLynn Peace, sister of the groom. Tracy and Lindy Cleavinger served as flower girls.

All bridal attendants wore identical tea-length gowns of teal-colored moire taffeta designed with sweetheart necklines and heart-shaped open backs. Candy box bows at the waist and shoulders accented the bodice, which featured puffed sleeves, a basque waistline and dropped back skirts. Matching shoes, pearl necklaces and earrings completed the outfits. Each attendant also wore a small teal bouquet with pearl loops in her hair.

The bridesmaids carried lighted candles in crystal votive candlesticks accented with mauve flowers while the flower girls carried white baskets containing teal and mauve leaves.

The groom wore a formal, charcoal gray tuxedo with tails, a white vest, white tie and a teal rosebud boutonniere.

The groom's father served as best man. Groomsmen were Chad Larkin, Mark Foster and Derek Lester. They wore charcoal gray tuxedos accented with teal ties, cummerbunds and rosebud boutonnieres.

Ringbearer was Brandon Jones.

He carried a white satin, lace-trimmed, heart-shaped pillow holding a heart-shaped crystal ring box surrounded by iridescent silk flowers. He wore a gray tuxedo similar to the groomsmen's.

Following the ceremony, the couple was honored with a reception in the church's fellowship hall.

The bride's table was covered with a white satin cloth with a white lace overlay. A teal and mauve silk floral arrangement ornamented with a crystal candleholder and mauve candles graced the table.

The bride's three-tiered white confection cake was adorned with mauve flowers and featured a top-piece of two turtle doves in a crystal heart accented with small wedding bells and lace.

Mauve pineapple and lemonade punch was served with crystal appointments. Teal (mint-flavored) and mauve (strawberry-flavored) heart-shaped candy and mixed nuts were served from a crystal dish.

The groom's table was covered with an ecru cloth and held a large log-shaped chocolate cake with the couple's initials carved in the chocolate bark icing. The centerpiece was a brass framed mirror holding a five votive cup candelabras containing mauve candles and a pair of love doves surrounded by sprays of teal and mauve flowers. Chocolate mocha punch was served from a brass service. Chocolate and vanilla mints and spice and honey coated nuts were also served from the groom's table.

Another table featured a small fruit cascade of white and red grapes, melon balls, strawberries and pineapple, served with fruit cream cheese dip.

Serving at the reception were Amy Moudy, Valerie Coker, Hope Templeton and Pepper Dodson.

For her traveling attire, the bride chose a candlelight silk jacquard tea-length dress and matching high heeled shoes.

The bride is a 1990 graduate of Springlake-Earth High School and plans to attend Texas Tech and Methodist Hospital School of Nursing.

The groom is a senior at Texas Tech University and will graduate in the spring of 1991. He is working as a teller at Liberty State Bank in Lubbock.

EMPLOYEE OF THE MONTH FOR JUNE

Angie Sandoval

The Employee of the Month for June at Plains Memorial Hospital is Angie Sandoval. Angie is the Accounts Payable and Payroll Clerk for the hospital and is also the Assistant Business Office Manager.

Angie is a native of Dimmitt who graduated from high school in 1980. She then majored in business at West Texas State University for two years before returning to Dimmitt. She is married to Rey Sandoval, Jr., who works at American Fructose and they have a six year old son, Matthew, who just finished the first grade. Angie is continuing to pursue her education and is currently enrolled at Amarillo College studying accounting.

Her job as Accounts Payable Clerk requires her to be familiar with invoices, discounts, group purchasing, medical terminology, general ledger, and purchase orders. She worked as a bookkeeper at the Azteca housing complex, as a clerk at Killingsworth's Hardware, and as a case worker for the Texas Department of Human Resources prior to beginning work at the hospital in September, 1986. As Payroll Clerk she computes hours worked and pay checks for all the employees at the hospital. Angie has cross-trained in all the jobs in the Business Office and was selected as Assistant Manager because of her hard work, general knowledge, and positive attitude. She says the hardest part of her job has been learning the special jargon of hospitals and dealing with insurance companies who don't want to pay justified claims. Her hobbies include water skiing and hiking and she likes to get away occasionally to Las Vegas although her work and school keep her too busy to treat herself to hobbies or trips very often.

Angie Sandoval has earned the respect of her co-workers and she richly deserves the honor of Employee of the Month.

Rev. David and Debra Fletcher, Gerald and Pat Elkins and Lillian Carson flew home from New Orleans and the Southern Baptist Convention last Wednesday night.

Hadley Fletcher, Clara Vick and Teeny Bowden had to stay in New Orleans last Thursday night instead of arriving in Lubbock at 7 p.m. as scheduled, because of a mixup at the airport and a four-hour delay trying to get out.

Clara Vick had received a message from Johnny Vick Wednesday night that Clyde's mother, Lavera Buckner of Battle Creek, Mich., had died that morning. Clara left New Orleans Friday and flew to Michigan for the funeral on Saturday, instead of returning to Amarillo as scheduled.

Clara saw Teeny and Hadley off at the airport, even though her flight was two hours later than theirs. Clara arrive back in Amarillo about midnight Sunday and spent the night with Scott and Jamie, who picked her up and the airport; then traveled home Monday morning.

Hadley and Teeny arrived home at noon Friday due to a break in Dallas. (They got an early flight from Dallas to Lubbock).

Gerald Elkins, Teeny Bowden and Rev. David Fletcher gave reports to the church on the convention Sunday night.

R.V. and Bess Bills returned home last Saturday night from a visit with relatives in East Texas, and with a sister who has been in the hospital at Houston for several months. They received word Friday morning that the sister, Mozelle Bunch, had died. The Billses left Monday morning to attend to funeral services in Wichita Falls on Tuesday. Mrs. Bunch had known R.V. and Bess last week when they visited with her, and waved goodbye to them as they left.

Rev. David and Debra Fletcher visited with Kathie Kerr, daughter of James and Joan Norrell, in High Plains Baptist Hospital in Amarillo last Thursday. She underwent major surgery Tuesday and was dismissed Sunday afternoon. James and Joan were with her during surgery and kept the children, Christopher and Amber. They visited with her and helped her get home and settled.

Teeny Bowden talked with both Linda and Leona Blanton Saturday night. Linda did not have her biopsy as planned Tuesday because her blood pressure was too high and her heart rate was too fast. Ronnie is in therapy now and is showing signs of progress, but he is very depressed. Send him a card to let him know you care and are praying for him. They appreciate the prayers, cards and calls. They will be there for a long time in therapy so don't forget them.

Luke Louder spent Saturday night in Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after being taken to a Mule-shoe doctor. The doctors kept him in the hospital overnight to monitor his white count (which was high) and check his spleen. His white count was down Sunday afternoon and his spleen was okay. The doctors diagnosed his illness as mononucleosis and dismissed him.

Guests in Teeny Bowden's Sunday school class Sunday morning were Norma Conard and her guests, Rose Iganaro, her little sister and niece from the Navajo Reservation at Tinian, N.M. Rose gave her testimony on how she was saved from a near-death situation in a snowstorm as a teenager. Her sister did freeze to death. She is active in a small church mission in New Mexico, but said it was very hard to reach the Navaho people because of their traditions.

.35 of an inch of rain was recorded Friday evening with striking lightning.

Betty and Bobbie Sutton, Brandy, Brien and Bret, all of El Paso, spent Father's Day weekend with Billie and Emma Jean King.

Public Notice

TO ALL FORMER AND CURRENT INTRASTATE WIDE AREA TELECOMMUNICATIONS SERVICE (WATS/800) SUBSCRIBERS:

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has instituted a Class Action Lawsuit seeking judicial approval of a settlement reached in Docket No. 7297, an inquiry of General Counsel of the Public Utility Commission of Texas into possible overcharges which occurred between September, 1976, and February, 1987, due to rounding practices, on bills of intrastate WATS/800 customers sent by Southwestern Bell and other telephone companies which concur in Southwestern Bell's tariff. The suit is styled "Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, Plaintiff, vs. MCI Telecommunications Corporation, A Member of the Class of Texas Intrastate WATS and 800 Service Customers Who Paid Overtime Charges From September 1976 Through February 1987, Defendant," and identified as Cause No. 471,460 in the 126th Judicial District Court of Travis County, Texas.

Pursuant to the settlement, while not admitting liability, Southwestern Bell, the other local exchange telephone companies in Texas, and AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. have agreed to pay refunds to those WATS/800 customers who paid overtime charges attributable to the rounding practices for intrastate WATS/800 services at any time between September, 1976, and February, 1987. The refunds will be based upon either the actual or estimated amount of overtime charges attributable to such rounding practices. An exact refund will be determined for customers able to produce copies of their WATS/800 service bills. For customers who do not have copies of their WATS/800 service bills to establish actual overtime charges paid, an average refund of $4.53 to $5.95 per WATS/800 service line per month will be applied. All claims will be subject to verification. The refunds will also include interest at the rate of 7.80% per annum.

Claim Forms And Additional Information

Those customers who think they may be entitled to a refund or who desire more information must call 1-800-782-3026, 8:30 a.m.-4:30 p.m., Monday through Friday, or write to WATS Refund Pool Administrator, One Bell Plaza, Room 670, P. O. Box 650376, Dallas, Texas 75265-0376, to request a WATS Refund Information Package. The WATS Refund Information Package will contain further information regarding the lawsuit and eligibility for a refund, a description of documentation required to support a customer's claim for refund, and a refund claim form to be filled out and submitted requesting a refund. REQUESTING A WATS REFUND INFORMATION PACKAGE DOES NOT OBLIGATE YOU IN ANY WAY.

All claims for a refund must be received by the Refund Pool Administrator by Friday, October 5, 1990, and all rejections of the settlement (that is, requests for exclusion from the class action lawsuit) must be received by the Court by Wednesday, September 5, 1990. Only those who respond by filing a claim or by filing a rejection of the settlement, as explained in the WATS Refund Information Package, will receive notice of future developments in this proceeding.

Persons who wish to obtain further information may also contact the Public Utility Commission, Public Information Division, at (512) 458-0257 or (512) 458-1221, teletypewriter for the deaf.

Fireworks donations are needed

The annual Fourth of July fireworks display in Dimmitt will be held at the rodeo arena as soon as it gets dark, but organizers of the event say donations are still needed to make the event a "big blast."

Delores Heller, Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce executive director, said last year's display, "our biggest ever," cost a total of $1,560.

Heller said that a certain amount of fireworks are reserved each year from a wholesale supplier in Lubbock and any addition funds over the amount needed to purchase the reserved fireworks are used to purchase more for an even bigger display.

"No donation is too large or too small," Heller said.

Bryan to study in New Zealand

Jan Bryan, a second grade teacher at Richardson Elementary School and a graduate student at Texas Tech University, will be going to New Zealand July 12 through August 5.

The New Zealand Study Tour is sponsored by the Graduate Program in Reading and Center for the Study of Childhood Education and the City University of New York in association with Texas Tech University.

While in New Zealand the nine Tech and 11 University of New York students will study the whole language program. This program develops children's oral language skills and teaches them through their own writing.

One reason the group is touring New Zealand is because out of the 150 literate nations, New Zealand is ranked first while the US is ranked 49th.

Another reason is because the New Zealand population is similar to ours. The English language is the dominate language, but the native population, the Maori, do not speak English when they enter kindergarten. But they learn English through the whole language program, which is proving to be more effective than similar programs here.

The group will spend the three weeks teaching with New Zealand educators in Auckland, Wellington and Christchurch, New Zealand, as well as attending the International Reading Conference. During the conference a panel discussion will be conducted between educators from New Zealand, Australia and US.

The Tech graduate students plan to publish a book on what was learned when they return. They also hope that this will be the start of an exchange program with New Zealand teachers.

Bryan, who is a member of the Caprock Area Writing Project and National Writing Project will put on a workshop for local teachers about what she learned in New Zealand after she returns.

DPS Chief offers summer driving tips

Now that school is out and vacation time is here, motorists are heading for the road in droves, increasing their chances of experiencing unfamiliar driving conditions.

"When driving in the rural areas, slow down before, not after approaching a curve. If you wait until it seems urgent to slow down, it is too late," said Major V.J. Cawthon, Dept. of Public Safety commander of Region 5. "Your engine should be pulling your vehicle around the curve. This pulling force aids in directional control when you use a safe speed negotiating a curve."

The major reminds Texas motorists to be alert to the fact that many people lose their lives within 25 miles of departure and/or destination. This fatal fact of the road is due, in great part, to abusing the speed laws.

Plan trips so that you have plenty of time to reach your destination and return in comfort. This means a minimum of night driving, no speeding and no driving when fatigued.

Cargo floating on the water from a sinking ship is called flotsam, while the debris washed ashore is called wreck.

Pesticide traces disappearing in recent groundwater samples

Resampling and analysis of groundwater from irrigation wells shows no trace of pesticides, according to officials with High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

A. Wayne Wyatt, manager of the water district, points out that this sampling effort indicates that the chemicals being used in agriculture within the water district service area are not percolating down through the soil and entering the groundwater.

"Every indication we have says that in this area, the chemicals break down and/or bind up with the soil before they get anywhere near the groundwater. We are very fortunate that our groundwater is deep enough below the land surface that it is somewhat protected from pollution through the percolation of chemicals through the subsurface strata (nonpoint source pollution)," Wyatt said.

This assurance comes as a result of the most comprehensive groundwater sampling effort in relation to agricultural chemicals yet made in the US.

"We were fairly certain that there wasn't a problem," Wyatt said. "However, the general public has heard and seen so many 'scare' stories, that there seems to be a widely-held notion that agricultural chemicals are seeping down and poisoning the groundwater. We thought it was time to have some factual data. If there was a problem, then we needed to do something about it, but if there wasn't a problem, we needed to know that, too, and pass the word along."

During August, 1988, water district personnel took groundwater samples from 90 irrigation wells. These individual samples were combined into 31 composite samples with no more than three individual well samples in any one composite. The composite samples were then analyzed to determine if the 19 pesticides used in the largest quantities over the longest period of time within the 15-county water district service area would be found in the groundwater.

Of the initial 589 analyses (individual analyses for 19 pesticides on the 31 composite samples), 14 analyses showed trace amounts of six pesticides. They were Diuron (Karmex), Bromacil (Direx) Atrazine (AAtrex), 2,4-D, Dicamba (Banvel) and Glyphosate (Roundup).

All trace amounts found were below the US Environmental Protection Agency's (EPA) proposed health advisory limits for each identified chemical. Most chemical amounts were expressed in parts per million or parts per billion. One part per million is equivalent to one ounce in 32 tons while one part per billion is one drop in 10,000 gallons of water.

Other chemicals analyzed for, but not detected in the composite groundwater samples were Alachlor (Lasso), Metolachlor (Dual), Chlorpyrifos (Lorsban), Diazinon, Phorate (Thimet), Propazine (Milogard or Milo-Pro), DDT, Aldicarb Sulfone (Temik), Silvex, Picloram (Tordon or Grazon PC), Arsenic Acid, Trifluralin (Treflan) and Paraquat. The results of all the analyses were published in the November 1988 issue of the water district's monthly newsletter, The Cross Section.

After the initial test results, district personnel collected additional water samples from all but three of the 37 wells contributing to the 14 composites showing contamination. Each of these samples was analyzed for the specific pesticide(s) found in the first test.

Only two irrigation wells continued to show trace amounts of agricultural chemicals after the second sampling effort. These two suspect wells were resampled a third time and the subsequent analyses indicated no chemical trace.

It was important to learn whether or not the amount of chemical found in the samples increased or decreased over time. If the contamination decreased each time a sample was analyzed, the most likely source of the chemical contamination was point source pollution from some use of the chemical at or near the well site.

Point source pollution occurs when contaminants reach the groundwater through wells or other open pathways to the aquifer. Substandard well construction, uncovered abandoned wells, and agricultural spills are among the causes of point source pollution. Usually, when this type of pollution occurs, only a small area of groundwater near the entry point is contaminated. In this case, pumping of the well is likely to pump the contaminants back out of the well, and the groundwater quality is usually not permanently degraded.

Wyatt says that he is relieved to find that there isn't a non-point source pollution problem from agricultural chemicals within the water district.

"We have got to continue to be careful with the handling of these chemicals to be sure that we don't pollute the aquifer directly through careless handling around susceptible areas such as wells," he warns.

"The fact that we didn't find much pollution in our sampling program means that most farmers are handling their chemicals safely. We congratulate the area producers for that; however, the fact that we found even trace amounts means that there is still room for improvement in chemical use handling," Wyatt said.

PVC pipe inexpensive cover for exposed pump drive shafts

Ask any Southern High Plains producer about the dangers associated with exposed drive shafts on irrigation pumps and he will likely shake his head and mention accidents he knows about that have resulted in serious injury or death.

Irrigation motor drive shafts are used to transmit the horsepower produced by the engine to the pump. If clothing, hair or other objects become entangled in the universal joints at either end of the rapidly spinning drive shaft, an arm, leg, hand or the head can be yanked into the shaft in a fraction of a second, snapping a bone or worse.

Installing safety shields on exposed drive shafts is one method producers can use to reduce the risk of injury and/or death when working near irrigation pumps.

Several drive shaft accidents have been reported since the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 was created in 1951. Despite these tragedies, a large number of irrigation wells are still operating without a drive shaft guard in place.

Time, trouble and expense are some of the reasons given by irrigators for not installing drive shaft guards; however, a Bushland producer has found an easy, cheap method to reduce the risk to persons coming near the drive shafts of his irrigation pumps.

Jerry Don Artho of Bushland uses a 10-inch diameter PVC pipe as a guard over his pump drive shafts. A wood saw is used to cut the PVC pipe to fit between the engine and the irrigation pump. Artho completes the guard by making an additional cut down the length of the plastic pipe on one side.

"It takes about 15 minutes to cut the PVC. This may be the best 15 minutes a producer can invest if it helps prevent an accident," Artho said.

He added that the safety of his children was the main reason for installing the PVC shields over the drive shafts at his well sites.

"Also, I know people who have been injured as a result of this type of accident. Since my farm is located so close to town and the Bushland School, I didn't like the idea of having these drive shafts uncovered," he said. "That's just asking for an accident."

Artho says the PVC shield is easy to remove, and this allows him easy access to the drive shaft's universal joints when lubrication is needed.

"It's easy to get the PVC shield on and off when the universal joints need grease. You simply open the split in the PVC and slip it on or off. If a drive shaft shield isn't easily removed or replaced, the producer is not likely to replace it when he greases the U-joints," he said.

"If the cost of installing a drive shaft shield has kept people from doing it, this is the answer," said

Artho. "A 10-inch diameter low pressure PVC pipe may be purchased for about $2 per foot. Most drive shafts are no more than four to six feet long."

Is it worth about $10 per well and 15 minutes of your time to eliminate the risk of an accident.

"It certainly is to me," said Artho.

Nazareth

By Uirgie Gerber, 945-2669

George and Rita Book of Bluffton, formerly of Nazareth, recently celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary in Llano with a special mass, followed by a dinner.

Family members attending the June 9 celebration were Jackie and Steve Koch and boys from Grapevine, Karen and Louis Loyd and boys from Van Vleck, Kelly Book of Stephenville, Gayle Book of San Angelo, Gary Book of Richardson, Loretta and Rick Johnson and children of Kingsville, Joshua Book of Bluffton, and Peggy Birkenfeld and children, Nick Book, Chris and Becky Book, all of Nazareth. A son, Scott Book, was unable to attend due to his Air Force training. He is stationed in California. All 12 grandchildren attended. Other friends attending were May Hochstein, Ann Kern and Willie Faye Huseman, all of Nazareth; and David and Mary Acker of Canyon. It was a very enjoyable time for everyone.

Wade Hoelting, sponsored by the Nazareth American Legion Auxiliary, attended Texas Boys State at the University of Texas in Austin; while Bernie Hochstein and Monica Kleman attended Bluebonnet Girls' State at Texas Lutheran College in Seguin. The Legion Auxiliary and Nazareth Lions Club co-sponsored the girls' state delegates.

Boys' and Girls' state is an intense study of state and local governments, stressing the importance of leadership and building confidence in oneself.

Wade had a special interest in touring the State Capitol, as his cousin, Natalie Gerber, a senior at the University of Texas, has a summer job there in the office of Gary Watkins. He also enjoyed having lunch with his uncle, Rick Gerber of Austin, on the last day of his trip.

Morris Wilcox returned from Austin June 13 after being promoted to commissioned examiner. Morris has worked for the Texas Dept. of Banking since he left the Hart Bank three years ago.

Grace DeCardenas flew from Dallas on Wednesday to care for her mother, Lucille Drerup. Nancy Drerup of Dallas will come today to spend a week with Lucille. Her granddaughter, Gayle DeCardenas and a friend, Shayne Harris, both of Dallas, who are studying at Texas Tech University, visited with her on Saturday.

Lucy Leinen will be a patient at Central Plains Hospital in Plainview for at least another week. She is improving.

Family and friends attended the wedding mass in Umbarger's St. Mary's Catholic Church Saturday uniting Chris Skarke of Umbarger and Lana Voss of Amarillo. Rev. Jim Hutzler, pastor of St. Mary's Church, officiated. A reception was held at St. Mary's Parish Hall following the wedding.

Sandee Hoelting, Beverly Hill and Cince Schulte, all of Nazareth; Malinda Gerber of Plainview; and Phyllis Price of Lubbock drove to Odessa Monday to help Susie Gerber celebrate her 40th birthday.

A bridal shower honoring Leona Gerber, bride-elect of Eric Wilhelm, was held Saturday morning at the home of Stacey Gerber. Family and friends enjoyed the event.

Prayers are asked for Lorelea Acker, who is living at the Ronald McDonald House in Amarillo while undergoing therapy at Bivins Rehabilitation Center. We wish her well.

Calvin Lange and Catherine Gonzales exchanged wedding vows Saturday in Holy Family Church with Monsignor Stanley Crocchiola and Rev. Neal Dee, officiating. Family and friends attended the wedding and reception which followed.

Alex, Mona and Stuart Hochstein of Amarillo spent the weekend with May and Bernie Hochstein in Nazareth.

Insects of Interest

Thrips, mites and borers are emerging in local fields

By KERRY SIDERS
CEA-Entomology

Most cotton in the area is in the 2-4 leaf stage. Thrips are showing up in cotton. Spider mites are relatively light in corn at this time. We are in need of a good general rain.

CORN

Spider mites generally are not causing much of a problem at this time. We must keep an eye on those field margins next to wheat. Just as we are seeing the thrips move out of the wheat so will the mites.

There have been several corn fields with thrips, but this should not be of economic importance. These are the Western flower thrip and will show some signs of rasping on the underside of leaves. These same thrips should be of interest to cotton producers.

The first generation Southwest corn borer moths began emerging May 17. Emergence of the corn borer is on the increase and should peak within the next few weeks.

To illustrate the problem with not destroying corn stubble early for cultural control of the overwintering borers — pheromone traps next to corn stubble trapped over 200 moths last week versus less than 12 moths trapped next to fields in which stubble had been destroyed. Infestations in June rarely justify treatment. The exception to this will be corn immediately adjacent to untilled stubble.

The Texas Corn Producers Board, Texas Corn Growers Association and other entities should be thanked for the major role they played in getting the new herbicide, Beacon, labeled for use in corn. Beacon is available in the area for control of johnsongrass. This herbicide should be used before corn is 20 inches tall. Always read and follow label instructions.

COTTON

Thrips have been moderately heavy in most areas of Castro and Lamb counties. The Western flower thrip is moving out of dry wheat.

You will notice them immediately if you stand near wheat with a light colored shirt.

These thrips are slender, straw colored insects about 1/15th of an inch long. Thrips attack leaves, lower leaf surface, deformed or blackened leaves, terminal loss and square loss. When scouting for thrips be sure to look on the underside of leaves and on new growth.

If at-planting systematic insecticides were used, plants can stand some adult thrips. They will need to ingest some plant material for the insecticide to be effective. When immature thrips are seen with adults then more than likely the systemic has played out. Other control measures may be justified when an average of two to five thrips per cotton plant are found.

Several folks have asked about the moths which we are seeing now. These are mesquite cutworm moths which survived the winter. These should not be of concern to row crop producers.

STANDING PROUD—Flag Day last Thursday featured more flags than ever in Dimmitt, thanks to the "memorial flags" project initiated recently by the Rotary Club. While purchasing new flags and installing new holders for their customers throughout the downtown area, the Rotarians also marketed memorial flags to be set up along the courthouse square. The square now provides an impressive "centerpiece" for the city's flag displays on national holidays. Standing next to flags along the memorial display are (from foreground back) Randy Smithson, Jerry Heller, Doug Ware, Robert Jones, Henry Ramaekers and Reeford Burrous.

Education reform bill approved

Just one week after a state court took over the funding of public schools in Texas, legislators and Governor Bill Clements ended a tumultuous three month standoff last week by approving a $528 million education finance reform plan funded by a sales tax hike and other increased taxes and fees.

The measure must still win approval from District Court Judge Scott McCown at a hearing later this month, but legislative leaders said they are optimistic the plan will be acceptable to the court. McCown ordered court takeover of the school funding in Texas on June 1 after Clements vetoed an earlier version of Senate Bill 1 at the close of the fifth special session.

The rapid compromise between legislators and Clements came on June 1, just hours after court-appointed school master William Kilgarlin unveiled a plan that would have redistributed millions of dollars in state school funding by taking money from property-rich districts and giving to poorer ones.

"This bill beats the master to the punch," said Governor Bill Clements. "Instead of a court-ordered plan that would impose a 'Robin Hood' finance scheme with no reforms, we have a bill that will provide millions of dollars more in state aid to our poorer schools as well as initiate comprehensive changes to our system of learning."

Unlike previous reform bills put forward, the accord would not bind future legislatures to specific dollar amounts. They would be free to use other methods to achieve substantially equal access to funds. As a result, future legislatures would not be forced to turn to a state income tax.

The cost of the accord would be financed through a combination of sources, including a 15 cent increase in the mixed beverage tax, a 1/4 cent hike in the state sales tax, fees and budget transfers.

A portion of the proceeds from the increase in the cigarette tax would also be used to offset projected budget shortfalls at the Departments of Human Services, MH/MR and Health.

The governor agreed to the 1/4-cent sales tax increase as legislative leaders conceded to his proposals for dramatic reforms, as well as increases in the so-called sin taxes and budget transfers.

The governor noted that the sales tax increase was reduced from the 1/2 cent hike he vetoed last month. In holding firm to the lowest increase in the sales tax possible, the governor was able to save Texans $300 million in sales tax payments.

Senate Bill 1, in addition to providing for equitable distribution of state education money, included a number of reforms aimed at improving the quality of the state's public schools.

These included a $5 million appropriation for innovative programs directed at improving the academic programs directed at improving the academic performance of low-performing students and the establishment of programs for parental literacy, child care, dropout prevention, bilingual training, career development and smaller class sizes.

Also, exemplary schools will be exempted from many state rules and regulations. Districts will have the option of pre-kindergarten programs for disadvantaged three-year-olds. $250,000 is appropriated for drug and alcohol abuse programs.

The bill also changes the appointment procedure for the commissioner of education, who is currently named by the State Board of Education. The governor will now have the authority to appoint the commissioner.

Well, the campaign manager for Sen. Jesse Helms (R-N.C.)—the country's leading right-winger—seems to have laid them out in order recently when he said Sen. Helms's opposition was "a coalition of homosexuals and artists and pacifists and every other left-wing group."

Now that has a definite ring of desperation to it.

They'd be funny if they weren't so dangerous.

Sit down for this one. Are you ready? Okay: Summer officially starts today.

half price, a. 1. the value of one at the cost of fifty percent of the whole; a good deal; as in "When you use co-op advertising in the Castro County News, you usually pay only half price for it."

Many manufacturers will pay up to half the cost of advertising their products locally.

Yet many local dealers are missing the boat. More than a billion dollars' worth of co-op advertising goes unused in the US every year.

If you're a retailer, keep up with the co-op advertising programs available to you and USE YOUR CO-OP ADVERTISING.

It's your own half-price bargain. If you don't use it, you lose it.

Many successful businesses do most or all of their advertising through co-op programs.

If you aren't sure of the "co-opportunities" available on specific products that you sell, ask your distributor or manufacturer's rep.

In many cases, the manufacturer (or his advertising agency—keep an eye on your mail) will provide you with prepared ads and commercial scripts. If he doesn't, the News has illustrations of many products that are eligible for co-op advertising. We'll design your ad to meet the manufacturer's specifications, and help you with the forms and tearsheet proofs to qualify you for co-op reimbursement.

Keep your name before the public at half the cost through co-op advertising.

Just give us a call at 647-3123.

Then you won't need to look up the definition of good bus'-i-ness.

Cotton Talks

The 10-year conservation reserve program (CRP) has idled 1.84 million highly erodible acres since 1986—20.2% of the 9.1 million cropland acres in the 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. of Lubbock.

Those figures from USDA's Soil Conservation Service (SCS) were evaluated recently by PCG along with CRP reductions in program crop bases supplied by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS).

Farmers who signed land into the reserve program have agreed to devote the idled acreage to conservation uses such as permanent grasses for a period of 10 years. In return, USDA pays a share of the cost of establishing grasses or other cover crops and will pay yearly rental of up to $40 per acre.

CRP crop base reductions reported by ASCS total only about 1.5 million acres. Although land bid into the program had to be used for program crop production from 1981 to 1985, SCS figures reflect total cropland area while ASCS numbers represent only crop base acres assigned to the same area. Thus, a 100-acre cotton farm planted two-in, one-out would appear as 100 acres in SCS records, but only 66.6 acres at the ASCS office.

The CRP has reduced base cotton acreage in PCG territory by 774,720 acres, 16.7% of the area's 4.64 million acre total base. The remaining 724,634 acres of base reduction cover corn, grain sorghum, wheat, barley and oats; however, bases are not lost. Bases will be restored to individual farms at the conclusion of their respective CRP contracts, beginning in 1995.

Most High Plains cotton acreage in the CRP is found on whole-farm CRP entries, PCG notes, citing ASCS figures showing less than 122,000 CRP acres on farms participating in the 1990 farm program.

With certain exceptions, the farm law limits acreage accepted into the CRP in any county to 25% of the county's total cropland. 11 PCG counties have reached or slightly exceeded the limit, including Bailey, Briscoe, Cochran, Deaf Smith, Dickens, Gaines, Martin, Moddy, Swisher, Terry and Yoakum counties.

Nationwide, about 34 million acres have gone the CRP route through the nine sign-up periods from 1986 through 1989, and USDA has no plans to accept additional acreage unless the program is extended in the pending 1990 farm bill.

The chart below shows total cropland, cropland in CRP, total base cotton acres and base cotton acres in CRP for each of the PCG counties.
