

Minor curfew law enforced

Lockney Police Department has begun strict enforcement of the city's curfew law relating to minors under the age of 18. Chief Tim Thompson states that "due to recent cases of vandalism and theft that have occurred late at night that have been attributed to juveniles, we must begin a more strict enforcement of this ordinance."

"We believe this will help keep our crime rate down during the summer as well as help protect the minors in our city. Young children are sometimes subject to attack and criminal influence by adults who are out late at night. I think both the city residents and our young people will benefit from enforcement of this city ordinance," Chief Thompson says.

City ordinance 118 stipulates that it is illegal to allow any minor under the age of 18 to be out in a public place between the hours of 11 p.m. and 5 a.m.

Exceptions to this ordinance are as follows: If the minor is lawfully employed in a business that necessitates his or her being out past curfew hours, or if the minor is accompanied by a parent or legal guardian or in the event of an emergency requiring the minor to be out in a public place.

Both the minor and the parent or legal guardian can be fined for violation of this ordinance, according to Thompson. The fine is not to be less than five dollars nor more than 200 dollars. Each violation will be a separate offense.

Chief Thompson asks for "your cooperation relating to protecting our young people and residents' property."

HONESTY ALIVE AND WELL

Honesty is alive and well today, although one may have to search for it a bit.

A woman walked into The Floyd County Hesperian office last Thursday morning and placed a newspaper in the rack.

She explained that she had purchased a copy from a newsrack Wednesday night. In the dark, she took two copies by mistake and the next morning she returned the extra copy.

"My Daddy taught me if I didn't pay for it, it's not mine," she explained.

In this day when more newspapers than one might imagine are stolen from newsracks, this woman's action was indeed refreshing!

HELLO, REMEMBER ME?

"Some people call me Old Glory, others call me the Star Spangled Banner, but whatever they call me, I am your Flag, the Flag of the United States of America . . . Something has been bothering me, so I thought I might talk it over with you . . . because it is about you and me."

"I remember some time ago people lined up on both sides of the street to watch the parade and naturally I was leading every parade, proudly waving in the breeze. When your daddy saw me coming, he immediately removed his hat and placed it against his left shoulder so that the hand was directly over his heart . . . remember?"

"And you, I remember you, Standing there straight as a soldier. You didn't have a hat, but you were giving the right salute. Remember little sister? Not to be outdone, she was saluting the same as you with her right hand over her heart . . . remember?"

"What happened? I'm still the same old flag. Oh, I have a few more stars since you were a boy. A lot more blood has been shed since those parades of long ago."

"But now I don't feel as proud as I used to. When I come down your street you just stand there with your hands in your pockets and I may get a small glance and then you look away. Then I see the children running around and shouting . . . they don't seem to know who I am . . . I saw one man take his hat off then look around, he didn't see anybody else with theirs off, so he quickly put his back on."

"Is it a sin to be patriotic anymore? Have you forgotten what I stand for and where I've been? . . . Anzio, Guadalcanal, Korea, and now Vietnam. Take a look at the Memorial Honor Rolls sometimes of those who never came back to keep this Republic free . . . One Nation Under God . . . when you salute me, you are actually saluting them."

"Well, it won't be long until I'll be coming down your street again. So, when you see me, stand straight, place your right hand over your heart . . . and I'll salute you, by waving back . . . and I'll know that YOU REMEMBERED!!"

Insurance costs erase exes football contest

"I guess it's just a sign of the times," one of the organizers of the Longhorn exes football game said in announcing that the '86 contest has been cancelled due to "prohibitive" insurance costs.

In the former Lockney players' first — and possibly only — football game last summer, insurance costs were 75 cents per individual. This year, the same $1,000 "death, liability and health policy" would have been $40 per player.

The exes association offered to have each participant in the game sign a waiver, but legal authorities advised that "this probably would not hold up in court." Since the exes use school football equipment, the association was advised that both the school and the exes organization could have been liable in the event of a serious injury sans the insurance. There was a single injury in the '85 contest: a separated shoulder.

REUNION PLANNED

"We're still looking forward to the reunion" on Saturday, July 19, one of the organizers told The Beacon. The American Legion Hall has been rented, and a barbecue meal and other activities are to be held there. "All former Longhorn football players" and their families are invited to attend the function.

Tickets to the barbecue meal will be the only charge. Tickets will be available at the door.

Films of Longhorn games through the years will be shown, and those attending the reunion are encouraged to bring pictures. Anyone having ideas for activities is asked to contact Jim Bob Martin, president of the exes association, or Kenneth Holt, secretary-treasurer.

Holt says 250 letters have been sent to former LHS graders, inviting them to attend the reunion and participate in the football game. Second letters now have been mailed to these same individuals, informing them of the change in plans.

"If you know of anyone who was coming just for the football game, please help us by contacting these people," Holt says.

Without revenue from this year's football game, the association is now "short of funds."

"We're still looking forward to the reunion, and we're planning other activities (in lieu of the football game)," planners say. Future reunions will be discussed during a business meeting at the July 19 gathering.

Tickets are also available at Dean's

Auto in South Plains and the superintendent's office in Floydada.

Thursday

Thursday, August 21, has been designated as Floyd County Sesquicentennial Day. Members of the Train Day Committee are planning some special things on this day but final plans had not been completed at press time.

Also Thursday will be judging day in the various departments. Those interested in entering foods, sewing, craft and working items in the women's and youth departments should plan to have their entries in the fair barns no later than 11:00 a.m. on Thursday.

This same deadline holds for the art, community exhibits and agriculture departments.

Judging of the community exhibits will take place at 1:00 p.m. on Thursday, followed by judging of the women's department at 2:00 and at 3:00 judging of the agriculture department.

The annual talent show will also be held Thursday in the fair entertainment building. This year the talent show will include both adult and youth talent from the area. Reeda Cay Smith is in charge of the talent show this year.

Friday

Friday, August 22 is again Ladies Day at the fair.

At press time this week three programs had been lined up for the Ladies Day at the fair.

Vicki Chance of Chances Country Collection of Lubbock will also be presenting a program at the fair. Her program will feature the new surge sewing machines.

One program remains to be signed for Ladies Day and details will be announced in a later edition of the Beacon.

Also on Friday at 5:00 p.m. the tractor driving contest has been reinstated. This event had been deleted from fair events for the past few years but has been brought back for the 1986 fair.

The gospel singing will be held at 7:00 p.m. on Thursday and the square dancing will be held at 9:00 p.m. Both of these events will take place in the entertainment building.

Saturday

Saturday, August 23 is the last day of the fair and will hold a wealth of events

Starting at 8:00 a.m. a sanctioned rabbit show will be held in the livestock building, replacing the livestock show which is normally held at this time.

Crappie fishing 'very good' in Mackenzie Lake waters

A trio of Lubbock fishermen learned first hand that "crappie fishing in the late evening hours has been very good" at Mackenzie Lake.

Minnows are the best bait for crappie, and the Lubbock men — Paul Moore, Tom Mann and Mickey Craig — "brought in several nice crappie in the three-fourths to one pound range," according to a lake spokesperson. The fish were caught "up Tule Creek."

Bass fishing at Mackenzie Lake is "still good." Most bass are being caught in shallow water, using buzz bait and plastic worms.

Catfish are "starting to move and feed at night. Several three to four pound channel cat were caught over the week-end, using liver and cut shad."

Walleye and hybrid stripper fishing is described as "slow."

Lake depth was 113.8 feet on Monday. Water temperature was 80 degrees at four feet from the surface.

Confidence and patience

By Pastor Travis Curry

"Cast not away therefore your confidence, which hath great recompense of reward. For ye have need of patience, that after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise. For yet a little while, and He that shall come will come, and will not tarry." Hebrews 10:35-37.

Someone has written, "Hasten Lord the promised hour; come in glory and in power. Still thy foes are unsubdued, nature sighs to be renewed. Time has nearly reached its sum. All things with thy bride say, 'Come!' Jesus, whom all worlds adore, COME and REIGN for evermore!"

And the Bible answers, "For yet a little while, and He that SHALL COME WILL COME, and will not TARRY." The Greek makes it even stronger: "For yet a very, very little while, the Coming One will come and will not delay."

Now after nearly 2000 years of "very, very little while," we hear the scoffers say, "Where is the promise of His coming? For since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation."—II Peter 3:4. Peter goes on to explain that such are WILLINGLY IGNORANT of the fact that God brought judgment on this earth in the form of the Flood and that He has RESERVED this present earth unto FIRE to melt with fervent heat. Peter tells us that the Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some men count slackness; but is LONGSUFFERING TO USWARD, NOT WILLING THAT ANY SHOULD PERISH, BUT THAT ALL SHOULD COME TO REPENTANCE. The Lord IS coming again. His appearance is imminent. He could appear at any moment. The time element has been as nothing on God's scale. It has been a "very, very little while." In view of that certain coming of the Lord, the writer of Hebrews would have us to do two things: 1. Don't cast away your confidence, and 2. Have patience.

Let us consider first of all the matter of "casting away your confidence." The word translated "confidence" here is the same word that is translated "boldness" in Acts 4:13 where it is recorded that the Sanhedrin marvelled at the "boldness" of Peter and John in proclaiming the gospel. It is the same word found in Acts 14:29 and in Acts 14:31 where it is also translated "boldness." So what is God telling us when He says, "Cast not away therefore your confidence, which hath great recompense of reward?" For one thing He is pointing us back to Heb. 10:34. That is what the "therefore" of verse 35 is there for. "Ye...took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a BETTER AND ENDURING SUBSTANCE." God is saying that a small investment here will reap great dividends in heaven; THERE IS GREAT RECOMPENSE OF REWARD. God is also telling us, "Don't get overwrought and discouraged by the adverse circumstances on this earth. DON'T LET THE WORLD PUT YOUR FIRE OUT! KEEP YOUR HOLY BOLDNESS!" When the world is crying, "Where is the promise of His coming?" DON'T LET THEM QUENCH YOUR BOLDNESS, your fearless confidence in the Lord. When they say, "He ain't coming!" We still say, "HE IS!" When they say, "He is dead!" We say, "He is not here, for HE IS RISEN!" When they say, "We don't believe it!" We say, "WE DO!" When they say, "Hush all this talk about Jesus!" We say, "We ought to obey God rather than men. God said, 'PREACH THE WORD!' DON'T CAST AWAY YOUR CONFIDENCE! THERE REALLY IS A PAYDAY SOMEDAY! HANG ON TO YOUR HOLY BOLDNESS!"

But the writer of Hebrews does not stop there. He says that we are also to "possess patience." Most of us know something about that. We pray, "Lord give me patience—AND GIVE IT TO ME RIGHT NOW!"

Now the word translated "patience" here has the primary meaning of "steadfastness" or "endurance." It is used in Romans 2:7 which says, "To them who by PATIENT CONTINUANCE in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life." Our text reads, "For ye have need of PATIENCE, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might receive the promise." Doing the will of God is for the most part still future, so we really have need of patience as we are doing the will of God. We need some steadfastness, some endurance as we do the will of God. Too many Christians serve God like a hiccup! It's there for a second and then it's gone, and nobody can tell where it came from or where it went or when it will return. It is easy to be a flaming star that glitters for a moment and then it's gone; it is something else to have steadfastness and endurance as we do the will of God.

We need some Christians like Shammah in II Samuel 23 who stood in a bean patch and told the Philistines, "This is God's bean patch, and you're not getting ONE BEAN!" He stood when others fled because he had endurance and God blessed him. We need some Christians like Eleazer who fought with the enemy so long that he had to pry his fingers, one at a time, off his sword. We need some Christians with a steadfast streak that will keep fighting and fighting and fighting and fighting the devil, knowing it is really only for a very, very little while.

So as you await the fulfillment of the promise, KEEP YOUR HOLY BOLDNESS and POSSESS PATIENCE. Boldly move ahead for God. You CAN do it! Pick up that foot. Now put it down. Now pick it up. Now put it down. YOU'RE GOING TO MAKE IT!

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

When Air Force One touched down in Indonesia last month the presidential entourage was feasted and ferried about the tropical island of Bali, the tourist hub of the fifth most populous nation in the world. Ronald Reagan had forgone a trip to the capital city of Jakarta on Java. But President Suharto still met the plane eagerly. He had been waiting impatiently for his American counterpart since 1983 when Reagan cancelled a tour after Philippine opposition leader Benigno Aquino was gunned down in Manila. Since then Suharto has grown even hungrier for U.S. support. Plummeting oil prices have strapped Indonesia's economy and political uncertainty is growing.

Suharto's ties to the United States are solid, even though Indonesians believe Washington takes their country for granted. Third world nations, however, do not. Indonesia dominates the six-member Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN) and is a powerful force behind the nonaligned movement, 101 countries outside the East and West blocs.

Suharto also walks a neutral line between fractious elements at home — cracking down on moderate political dissidents as well as Islamic radicals in the predominantly Muslim nation. Although Indonesia voted in the United Nations to condemn the U.S. air strike on Libya, Suharto declined to cancel Reagan's visit, as some Arab nations wanted.

Care Center Capers

Hello Everyone,

This past week I attended the Governor Commission on physical fitness for senior citizens. You might have seen a brief coverage on the news Thursday night. The workshop was very educational and I really believe its going to benefit our activity program. One of the exercise games we learned was with a parachute. The game also can be played with a sheet. You have everybody grab a part of the sheet and shake, while trying to keep a ball on it. Its great fun. The residents here got so tickled, we thought that Mrs. Cuny might laugh herself right out of her chair.

I want to say a special thanks to Mrs. Edwina Hollums for volunteering her time to do the activity program while I was gone. Thank you very much.

Also thanks goes to Mary Ann Gonzalez and Joe Munoz for mowing our lawn. We sure do appreciate it! I want to remind everyone about the wiener roast the 3rd of July at 5:00.

We'll be looking forward to everyone coming. We will be entertained by square dancers!

Mrs. Emma Thomas gave us a "Just For Fun" book and I would like to share food for thought: "Never loose sight of the fact that old age needs so little, but needs that little so much!"

Until next week

Irrigation demonstration Tuesday

Efficiency and water management are two key words in successful irrigated agriculture in today's farm economy. To help farmers understand how new technology can assist them in attaining these goals, an "Irrigation Demonstration Day" highlighting the latest in irrigation water management techniques and equipment, as well as pump plant energy-use efficiency and irrigation application efficiency testing, has been scheduled for Tuesday, July 8, from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. on the John T. Carthel farm.

To attend the field day, producers should drive four miles north of the intersection of U.S. Highway 70 and FM 378 near Lockney, two miles west on the county road, one mile south on the county road, and then one-half mile east on the east-west turn row in Floyd County.

Soil Conservation Service District conservationist Jon LaBaume invites area producers to "come as you are and at your convenience anytime during the field day for a one-on-one discussion of any of the new techniques available to help producers manage their irrigation water to its greatest advantage and help them learn to improve the efficiency of their irrigation application system and their irrigation pumping plant."

Featured attractions during this hands-on demonstration day will include individual discussions and demonstrations of soil moisture monitoring by LaBaume, district conservationist for the USDA-Soil Conservation Service; pump plant energy-use efficiency testing by Leon New, irrigation specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Richie Crow, county Extension agent for Floyd County; irrigation application efficiency testing by Charles Schur, soil conservationist with the Floyd County Soil Conservation Service; and Larry Benjamin, SCS technician, will explain how producers can calculate their pumping costs based on a well evaluation.

Highlights will also include a demonstration of the benefits of surge irrigation by water district agricultural engineer Jerry Funck, a demonstration of soil infiltration rates by SCS soil scientist Dan Blackstock, and a drip irrigation demonstration by Tim Dybala, SCS area irrigation specialist.

Also featured will be a discussion and demonstration by water district agriculturalist David Swearingen of a new rainfall simulator to simulate the effects of various tillage practices on the infiltration of rainfall into the soil profile.

County Extension Agent Crow would like to invite all area producers to see the new innovations in efficiency and water management technology. "There are so many advances being made in irrigation technology that it is hard for producers to stay on top of them all. This field day provides a good opportunity for area producers to see the latest technologies available and discuss with experts how these technologies will work on their farm."

Any time during the day, Soil Conservation Service, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Water District personnel will be on hand to answer any questions producers might have regarding any of the techniques and equipment featured.

Water District Assistant Manager Ken Carver encourages local producers to drop by at their convenience. "This is not a formal field tour. We will be there all day long, so producers can just drop by any time they have a few minutes to see all of the demonstrations or to see just the demonstration that they are particularly interested in."

This irrigation demonstration day is sponsored by the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District, the Floyd County Soil Conservation Service, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1 and its Floyd County Committee.

FmHA guarantee operating loans doubled in Lone Star State

The Department of Agriculture's Farmers Home Administration in Texas has made twice the number of guaranteed operating loans this year as it did at this time last year, according to FmHA Texas State Director J. Lynn Futch.

As of June 4, FmHA had guaranteed 11,024 operating loans totaling $1 billion during fiscal 1986. At the same time in fiscal 1985, FmHA had made 5,951 guaranteed loans amounting to $675 million. Texas has made 386 guaranteed loans for $50 million. At the same time in fiscal year 1985, Texas had made 171 guaranteed loans for $25 million.

"After a somewhat slow start," Futch said, "banks and other private sector lending institutions are participating to a greater extent with FmHA in providing farm operating credit to farmers who need special help.

"For the first time, direct farm operating loan funds have been exhausted in the states," he said. "Additional requests for operating credit in Texas will have to be met through guaranteed loans."

As an example of the "new spirit of cooperation" Futch noted that in just three weeks since the announcement of Operation Assist, private lenders have accepted 232 FmHA loan guarantees nationwide for $17.9 million. Under Operation Assist, FmHA County Supervisors complete paperwork for farm credit applicants and take them to a private lender to try to work out an FmHA guaranteed loan. If the private lender makes the loan, FmHA agrees to reimburse the lender up to 90 percent of any loss which may occur.

The Interest Buy Down program, authorized in the 1985 farm bill, already has resulted in 819 loans for $83 million nationwide. Under the interest buy down, FmHA will match a reduction in interest rates by a bank of up to two points. That agreement can result in a reduction of up to 4 points for the farmers.

The Approved Lender program had attracted 1,300 banks as of April 30. An approved lender is a bank or other lending institution whose forms and paperwork have been approved by FmHA in advance. Guarantee requests from approved lenders are given high priority by the agency.

"Private sector lenders have accepted the new FmHA programs designed to help as many efficient farmers as possible to stay in business," Futch said. "The word is out that the federal government can no longer afford to meet all the demand for operating funds from farmers who are facing financial difficulty. From now on, that's a shared responsibility of both the private and public sectors."

Letter to the Editor

Route 2
Hale Center, Texas

Dear Editor:

Seldom do farmers have the opportunity to express their opinion in a nationwide poll to the U.S. Department of Agriculture, but this week, wheat producers will be able to do just that.

It is imperative that farmers vote a resounding "YES" in favor of mandatory limits on wheat production to achieve prices not lower than 125 percent of the cost of production.

Quantities of wheat sold should not be a high priority but profitability should, not only to farmers but to every America. If farmers produce at full capacity below the cost of production, they will continue to be economically depressed and will have no money to spend on "Main Street, USA." The entire economy will never experience profitability until the farmer has money to spend.

As long as he cannot service his current debt and cost of production, he will not be buying anything he can do without regardless of the amount he produces.

Studies from USDA show that less than 35 percent reduction is all that will be required to bring supply and demand to an equitable basis.

Some people would have us believe export markets are more important than profitability. If we export a billion tons of wheat and lose money, what have we gained? Others say a "yes" vote will deprive farmers of the right to make marketing decisions.

It doesn't take long to decide if you would like to grow 70 acres for a profit or 100 acres for a loss. With every bushel of grain we export, we are exporting our irreplaceable soil and water and ignoring the conservation of our land for future generations.

Will you be able to face your children and grandchildren and explain that their heritage was depleted for the sake of non-profit exports?

Sincerely,
Mildred Brown

The July 15 final date for acreage certification under the 1986 farm program for cotton and feed grains now can be extended to July 25 in counties where an extension is needed.

According to State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, a notice authorizing extensions arrived in College Station on June 27. The extension however is not automatic. County executive directors who see a need for more time have to initiate a request through district ASCS supervisors.

Norvell Breedlove of ASCS's Production Adjustment Division in College Station told Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., that virtually all counties on the High Plains are expected to ask for the extension.

He cited continued weather-related delays in getting crops established, the late issuance of final program regulations and the heavy workload of advance payments and other program activity in county offices as reasons for offering the extension.

Plus, he continued, because of the complexity of this program and the multiple options open to producers, on average it's probably taking at least twice as much time to complete the certification procedure for each farmer.

Meanwhile speculation on cotton acreage that may be left standing a week or two hence in PCG's 25 counties has not abated.

PCG's most recent calculations on that subject begin with a maximum permitted acreage of 3.38 million (75 percent of acres enrolled in the cotton program). But, historical records indicate that participating producers can be expected to plant only about 93 percent of the maximum acres permitted.

This percentage figure for past years allows for estimated acres planted outside the program equaling a little over two percent of acreage enrolled. The current program promises open market prices so low that "wildcat" plantings will be virtually non-existent, PCG says.

Then, there's the matter of the 50-92 provision that gives producers the option to plant only half their permitted acreage, lose only eight percent of prospective deficiency payments and retain other program benefits. Current indications from producers and ASCS offices, according to PCG, are that the acreage-reducing effect of this program feature will be minimal, probably less than five percent.

Therefore actual plantings are expected to be cut to 3.14 million by normal underplanting and further to about 3 million by losses to the 50-92 provision.

PCG believes this 3 million planted acres, although subject to error, is reasonable.

Converting planted acres to standing acres in light of recent weather conditions, officials say, is subject to somewhat greater margin of error. Some planted cotton never made it to a stand, some standing cotton has been lost to hail, some to wind, some to washing rains and some to seedling disease and other wet weather related maladies.

Total losses to the elements to this point, PCG thinks, may have reduced our 25-county ultimate standing acres to a range of from 2.4 to 2.6 million, including acreage still being planted in southern counties.

COTTON

Weather problems continue to dominate the picture for South Plains cotton farmers. We've never seen rainy weather hang in here for so long. Hopefully, skies have cleared by the time you read this so that field evaluations can be made. Obviously, it is too late to replant to cotton, but serious decisions must be made to determine if one can live with the existing plant stand or will need to replant to an alternate crop.

Objective evaluations of stand losses are difficult because emotions seem to interfere every time. You must determine which plants are going to survive and which ones are to be lost to diseases, hail, wind and sand damage. The procedure is to dig up all plants in a 3-foot section of row at several locations across the field.

Examine the root system and throw out those that are obviously dead or dying, those with "big shank", those with watery lesions and those with sunken lesions that girdle the stem at the soil line. Plants that lost terminals to hail will survive if they have live buds below the broken stem. If the stem broke close to the ground or it is severely damaged from sand blasting it will probably die.

Assuming that you come up with 1.5 or more healthy plants per foot of row and there are not many skips larger than 2-3 feet, you must not replant. A stand of 24,000 plants per acre will yield about the same as 30,000-55,000 plants per acre.
