

STATE WINNERS—The Lockney Cross Country team again came home from the State championships with first place. This is the second year that the Lockney boys cross country team has won at state. Team members include Javier Bernal, Cory Luna, David Rodriguez, Jorge Bernal; [front] Albert Martinez, Mark Gatica, Eddie Garza and Coach Patti Purser. Congratulations to these young men on the State title and for representing Lockney so very well.

Runners win state... again!

By Patti Purser

Lockney's boys cross country team repeated its surprising feat of 1985 by capturing another upset victory for 1986 when they took 1st place at the State Cross Country Championships, Saturday at Georgetown.

It was definitely a wonderful feeling to know that these young men became the two time state champions. The senior leadership of encouragement and direction to the younger and newer members of our team created a strong unifying factor. This team determination was what I feel was our key to success in the end.

The runners seemed confident and ready to run. The beautiful weather was a good start for a great ending. The excitement really started whenever we arrived at the meet site and found a larger than ever crowd waiting to cheer for us. The support is such a strong motivational factor in any sport and was indeed great Saturday.

Individual times were not very impressive at the meet, but I had already expressed to the young men that placing in the top 30 would be a bigger factor than a great time.

Cory Luna came in 1st teamwise finishing 6th overall in 18:39 followed by Eddie Garza 9th (18:53), Jorge Bernal 19th (19:27), Albert Martinez 30th (19:41), Mark Gatica 55 (20:41) Javier Bernal 67th (21:25) and David Rodriguez 68th (21:29). The first place individual, Brad Patterson, of Albany also ran a much slower race in 17:25 compared to a 16:34 for 1985. The course had been changed from previous years by adding a longer hill incline at the finish and a steeper incline at the start of the race. It will be interesting to compare all of the race results to last year times, whenever they are mailed to us later.

The excitement of a victory was not present until after a "long" 30 minute wait. The team finish was one I was very scared about even though the Eldorado coach had congratulated me on a victory. I was not as sure as I was last year, because I was not able to see all of the finishers this year and could not really get an accurate team point total. The team finish point difference was 119 to 130, but the point totals ended up to 76 to 80 and were those four points ever wonderful.

To have gotten beat at regionals by nine points was hard to take, but getting to the state meet was a goal, and winning back to back there was what we had aimed for since September.

The Track and Field magazine had picked us to finish in 3rd place as a team and I had made it a point to show the young men. This was probably good fuel for the fire also, because these kids in Lockney have become quite competitive ready to overcome obstacles at any cost. And that they did!

Congratulations again to our state champions (Cory, Eddie, Jorge, Albert).

Community Thanksgiving service slated Sunday at Methodist Church

The community is invited to participate in a service of praise and thanksgiving at the First United Methodist Church in Lockney on Sunday, Nov. 23, at 7 p.m. A nursery will be provided.

Pre-service inspirational music will be presented by Don Barrick, minister of music at First Baptist Church. Robert Kirk, pastor of the host church, will bring the message. Other area pastors will also be participating.

Funds received in the offering will go into the local Salvation Army Fund, to be used "in meeting the needs of folks in the Lockney area and to provide for emergency needs of others traveling through our community." This fund is under the administration of Don Vernon, local Salvation Army unit chairman.

Non-perishable food items will be collected at the door for distribution to needy families in the community during Thanksgiving and Christmas. The Salvation Army will add a meat item to each food basket delivered.

Names of needy families should be submitted to Don Vernon, Pat Adams or Gayle Jackson.

A reception will be held in fellowship hall following the worship service. "Everyone is welcome!" sponsors say.

Early deadline for Thanksgiving

Due to the Thanksgiving holidays, The Beacon will be printed one day early next week. Copies should be received by local mail subscribers Wednesday morning and Beacons are expected to be placed on newsstands the previous night.

Deadline for both news article and advertising copy will be 3 p.m. this Friday.

Decorated homes due recognition

An outstanding Christmas-decorated home will be recognized each week during December by Lockney Chamber of Commerce.

Nominations for seasonal decorations of either city or rural homes may be made to the chamber or by calling Gayle Jackson at 296-5079.

Owners of the three most outstanding homes, chosen by judges, will be presented gift certificates to be redeemed at Lockney Chamber of Commerce-member merchants.

School board approves textbook committee

In the regular monthly meeting of the Lockney school board, members approved the textbook committee for the 1986-87 school year.

On the recommendation of textbook custodian James Poole the board approved the 15 member committee to examine and select State-adopted textbooks for the Lockney school system.

Serving on the committee will be school superintendent W.H. Hallmark, Glenda Jones, Sheila Poole, Leslie Patterson, Nancy Henderson, Zelda

Ellison, Karla Josey, Linda Terrell, Virginia Fillingim, Carolyn James, Kevin Meyer, Douglas Degge, LaDora Auffer, Patti Purser and Peggy Hallmark.

In other action the board accepted the bid of Danny Bollman in the amount of $11,035.00 for the renovation of the high school windows. Windows will be covered with book shelves and bulletin boards and all work will be done after school hours to keep from interfering with student class time.

Sunken cemetery graves filled

Early October floods, which caused extensive crop and property damage, almost created problems at Lockney Cemetery. Approximately 150 graves, some sunken by as much as two feet, sustained damage.

These have been refilled during a long work session.

Assisting cemetery association president J.D. Copeland with the work were Eddie Joe Foster, John Lee Carthel, Laverne Carthel, Dickie McCarty and Shorty Clark. Three front-end loaders were used in the project.

Copeland says some of the older graves had sunken for the first time during the heavy October rains. However, it is not unusual for the older graves to sink in as it was common years ago to use wooden caskets, which decompose eventually.

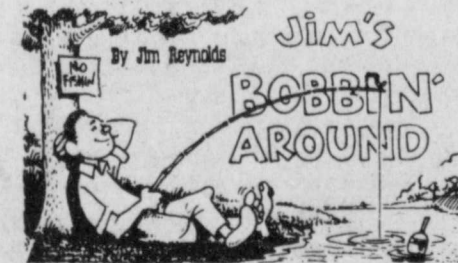

Joe Zorger of Moore-Rose Funeral Home in Lockney expresses appreciation for the work done by volunteers. He had received calls of concern about the sunken graves from both local residents and from area people who have loved ones buried in Lockney Cemetery.

Zorger explains that the work had to be delayed until the fill soil was dry enough.

The board also approved the ordering of a new 20 passenger bus. Cost of the bus will be determined when it arrives but the board had budgeted for the purchase of at least one new small bus this year.

During the meeting a plaque was presented to Clar Schacht who recently

HI THERE, TEXANIANS

Oliver Wendell Holmes once observed: "Pretty much all the honest truth-telling there is in the world is done by children." Having taught in elementary school in Missouri for 30 years, I certainly agree.

Each year we study a unit on Texas. The children's comments prove to be unexpected, unconventional and undeniably true:

"Texas has many imports. One of its best of all imports is tourists."

"They call their water a natural resource. Here, we call it rain."

"Texas is for living in or passing through, depending on whether you are people or Highway 80."

"Several natural resources have been found in the outer skirts of Abilene."

"One of the larger suburbs of Dallas is Texas."

History may repeat itself, but members of the grade school set can usually add some unexpected twists to it. Consider some historical "facts" you probably never suspected:

"Texas was founded by four fathers."

"Early forefathers had many exciting times discovering strange places like Austin. What made it so strange to them was they had never seen things like tall buildings before."

"Actually, Texas' history is very interesting if you happen to be interested in it."

"Sam Houston was a frontier hero before he was a city in Texas."

Houston has certainly come in for his share of comments through the years. Four examples:

"Samuel Houston was born in 1793, supposedly on his birthday."

"When they asked him if he would like to be governor of Texas, he rolled his eyes and flashed his teeth and said sure."

"In a uniform or not, Sam Houston

Dr. W.J. Mangold Sr. has served Lockney for almost 35 years and during this time the community has had "continuous medical coverage 24 hours a day, seven days a week."

Dr. Gary Mangold will continue to carry on that tradition of service to all Medicare patients at the Lockney General Hospital and Cogdell Clinic.

He practiced medicine at Lockney General Hospital from 1960 to 1972, according to Dr. W.J. Mangold. He moved from here to Corpus Christi and later studied in the field of radiology at Dallas before moving to Palestine.

Dr. Lane Glenn, a former practitioner at Lockney General Hospital, is recovering from a heart transplant done at a Houston hospital.

Now a radiologist at Palestine, Dr. Glenn was the recipient of a transplanted heart about two or three months ago "after his second heart attack," according to local friends.

'Buckling up' spells fewer fatalities

The first year under the mandatory safety belt law brought Texas through a very busy tourist season with 10 percent fewer fatalities in the seating positions covered by the law.
 "We have good reason to be thankful this November," said George Gustafson, president of the Texas Safety Association and spokesperson for the Texas Coalition for Safety Belts. He reminded motorists to buckle up during the four-day Thanksgiving weekend as they head for dinner with family and friends.
 Preliminary figures for September 1, 1985 through August 31, 1986, just released by the Department of Public Safety, show 2,005 drivers and front-seat passengers killed on Texas highways, as compared to 2,234 during the 12 months before the law went into effect.
 Incapacitating injuries were down about 3 percent, from 16,454 to 15,919. Non-incapacitating injuries dropped by more than 15 percent.

 "The law has made a difference. These figures prove it," said Gustafson. Texans are buckling up at unprecedented rates. On September 30, Texas Safety Association and the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation completed a three-year Traffic Safety Awareness Project focusing on state employees. The final report, released this week, put safety belt usage at 81 percent in Austin's capitol area complex. A separate study of 14 cities, done by the Texas Transportation Institute in the first six months of 1986, showed usage rates ranging from 57 percent to 77 percent. In 1984, only 10 percent to 15 percent of the state's motorists used safety belts, Gustafson noted.

 The anniversary of the belt law came at the end of the summer of 1986, when low fuel prices and special Sesqui-centennial events led state residents and visitors to hit the road in record numbers. By the end of July, according to SDHPT estimates, 88 billion vehicle miles had been logged on Texas highways—a 6 percent increase over the previous high recorded in 1985.
 "With more vehicles traveling greater distances, the risk was unusually high," said Gustafson. "Our citizens rose to the challenge, obeyed the law and reduced fatalities by more than 200."

Lockney Cooperative members receive 1985 crop dividend

For the second time in as many months, cotton customers of the Lockney Cooperative have received a check in the mail paying them for part of the 1985 cotton crop.

This month customers received checks on a seed adjustment from Plains Coop Oil Mill. Checks averaged $10.00 per ton for cotton seed. The total divided by cotton customers who used the co-op to gin their 1985 cotton crop was $77,181.00.

In October cotton customers of the co-op split $504,000.00 in dividends from Plainview Cotton Coop. This money amounted to $3.87 per bale to customers who delivered cotton to the Plainview facility.

Co-op manager Delton Stone commented "by using the cooperative that they own, customers not only gain dividends from the co-op but also from other co-op owned facilities."

True urges letter writing

Texas Farm Bureau President S.M. True is urging Farm Bureau members and other interested citizens to take action that would put an end to a 42-year-old federal prohibition against the employment of persons in their own homes for the purpose of making certain handcrafted items.

True noted that U.S. Labor Secretary William Brock published in the Federal Register a proposal to lift the ban on employment of persons to produce women's apparel, gloves and mittens, buckles and buttons, embroidery, handkerchiefs and jewelry at home.

True called the existing law a "hangover from the 1930s." He said the law may have had a good purpose in those days, but that there is no need for such a prohibition today.

"Secretary Brock needs and deserves the support of the people who agree that the ban on such employment should be ended," True said. Many people need extra sources of income to help them hold onto the family farm. If they can produce one or more of the currently prohibited items in their homes, why should they be denied the right to do so?" True said.

True urged citizens to write to Paula V. Smith, administrator, Wage and Hour Division, U.S. Department of Labor, Room-S-3502, 200 Constitution Ave., NW, Washington, D.C., 20210. The letters must be postmarked no later than Dec. 4.

Russian wheat aphid update

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology [PM]
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Crosby/Floyd wheat producers are probably wondering what has become of the Russian wheat aphid since it was first discovered here last spring. The newly introduced pest is now present from the U.S.-Mexican border to southern Wyoming. Its presence has also been confirmed west of the Rocky Mountains, which opens the Pacific Northwest to attack. Wind has been a big factor in the aphid's rapid dispersal. The aphid can now be found throughout the lower half of the U.S. wheat belt. The pest can survive and reproduce at higher altitudes. Some infested fields in Colorado and Wyoming are 7000 feet in elevation. Many entomologists speculate that the aphid may reach northward to Canada during 1987.

Russian wheat aphid (RWA) activity has been noted since late-September in young wheat in New Mexico. I have looked at a few fields in our area, and have not yet found any infestations; however, I am sure that you could find the RWA in area wheat if you sampled intensively. The RWA is generally considered to be a spring-time pest, and I have no doubts that we will see problems again this year beginning in February or March.

Insecticide trials conducted on the High Plains last year showed that we can easily and effectively control the RWA with most all of the chemicals labeled for small grains. However, these chemicals are expensive.

At the current wheat prices, many farmers will find it hard to justify spending very much money for chemical control. The South Africans, who have been dealing with the pest since 1978, have found that wheat can stand some early damage without suffering any significant yield loss.

The most effective time for chemical control in our area has not been determined, but a single application would probably be most effective in the pre-boot to booting stages.

I suspect that our most practical means of combating this new pest will be through proper plant maintenance. South African literature and last year's observations in the High Plains area show that the most heavily damaged fields were the ones in which the plants were already under some other stress. These aphids seem to thrive under adverse conditions. Therefore; if you have wheat intended for harvest, adequate fertility and moisture levels will help prevent heavy RWA infestations and will insure decent yields as well.

Tax relief available on farm debt income

Farmers with taxable income from debts discharged are eligible for some tax relief.

Such farmers will not have to wait until the new tax law takes effect to complete a debt forgiveness plan, points out Dr. Wayne Hayenga, an economist and attorney with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Under final language in the new law, the Internal Revenue Service will treat farm debt discharged after April 9, 1986, as if the farmer was insolvent. In general, that means debt relief will reduce a farmer's basis in earnings or assets down to the level of his total liabilities but won't trigger an immediate tax bill, Hayenga explains.

Thus, in most cases, a farmer who faces capital gain recognition from liquidating a farm under a restructuring plan should now get it done before year-end, advises the economist. Also, a farmer can still benefit from the old 60 percent capital gain exclusion which will be eliminated after 1986.

If a farmer is insolvent before the restructuring, he can also avoid the alternative minimum tax on capital gain, adds Hayenga. This provision applies to any sale after 1981.

The new law lifts the statute of limitations on filing an amended return if a farmer is stuck with the alternative minimum tax for post-1981 sale while insolvent.

For further details relating to the taxable income from debts discharged and to the alternative minimum tax on capital gain, Hayenga advises producers to consult an accountant or tax specialist.

FARM NEWS

Strip-cropping practice on South Plains

Through a cultivation practice called wind strip-cropping, amber waves of grain may soon be showing up in High Plains fields that were once totally devoted to cotton production.

Wind strip-cropping consists of placing rows of a tall-growing crop such as sorghum or wheat intermittently between rows of a shorter crop that is susceptible to wind erosion damage, such as young cotton. The practice protects the shorter plants from blowing winds and sand's, thus reducing wind damage to the plants and soil erosion.

Crosby County District Conservationist Silas Flournoy of the USDA Soil Conservation Service explains, "We use them as a barrier to cut down wind velocity and thus soil erosion. Blowing sand particles can damage cotton considerably. Using wind strip-cropping, we're trying to hold soil movement down to a minimum from the time the cotton is planted until it comes up and is established."

Flournoy expects that the provisions of the 1985 Farm Bill will make wind strip-cropping a necessity for farmers who wish to continue receiving their

USDA program benefits.

"I expect that the use of wind strip-crops will be the most logical and economical solution for farmers who must comply with the conservation compliance and sodbuster requirements to be eligible for farm program payments." Wind strip-cropping is fairly easy to adapt to and will actually do the producer a good job of controlling wind erosion, Flournoy comments.

Wind strips can dramatically reduce soil losses from wind erosion, according to SCS figures. For example, on one field of Amarillo Fine Sandy Loam soil farmed under straight cotton, soil losses were cut from 15 tons of soil per acre year to four tons of soil per acre per year after a wheat wind strip-crop was planted using a pattern alternating 27 rows of cotton with eight rows of wheat. On another field containing a loam soil, erosion was reduced from 12 tons per acre per year to one ton per acre per year when straight cotton was replaced with a cropping pattern of 24 rows of cotton and six rows of wheat.

Wind strips provide other advantages as well. They will act as barriers to help control water erosion after a hard rain. Wind strips also influence the temperature between the rows of different crops. The strips reduce air movement, which causes the temperature between the strips to rise and improves heat unit accumulation. In addition, the reduced air movement reduces evapotranspiration losses, increasing water-use efficiency. These factors are beneficial to cotton production.

Advance preparation is all it takes to implement wind strips. The main objective with a wind strip is height so that the strip can protect the smaller crop. "Timing is real important on wind strip-crops. You have to get the strip-crop planted in time to get it up tall enough to provide the wind protection needed," Flournoy explains.

For instance, sorghum must be planted in early April so it may gain height before the cotton is planted. Small grains such as wheat and rye also make effective wind strips. Wheat and rye planted in the early fall have completed their growth by the time cotton is planted and thus have attained their full height.

When planning row spacing using wind strips, soil type should be considered. Clayey soils, which are less subject to wind erosion, may allow wider row spacing than sandy soils, which require closer row spacings to

'87 COULD BE GOOD YEAR FOR PEANUTS

Farmers looking for a glimmer of hope for improved profits in 1987 might keep peanuts in mind, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The crop should offer a good potential for profit if additional peanuts (those produced in addition to the government quota) can be contracted above $400 per ton. Ending stock likely will be lower in 1986 due to weather problems in major peanut growing areas, particularly the drought in the Southeast.

Although the practice of wind strip-cropping has been promoted for more than 10 years, it has gained widespread attention recently as producers seek ways to reduce soil erosion to comply with the new farm programs.

Free farm program analysis offered for local farmers

Local farmers are invited to use a new computer program at the Terra location, Muncy, to help figure their options under the 1987 farm program. The service is free.

Farmers can use the Terra computer to quickly compare the results of participation versus non-participation in the feedgrain, cotton, rice, and wheat programs. For the feedgrain program, the computer can also calculate results of participating in the diversion program as well as the required set-aside program.

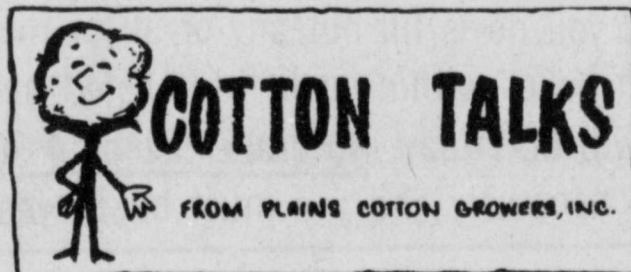

Using this service at Terra, farmers can look at expected pre-tax net income from full or partial participation, cash payments at sign-up, generic PIK certificate payments at sign-up, and a list of tax considerations due to the new tax regulations going into effect in 1987. The farmer's tax situation is an important consideration in deciding when to sign up for the new program. The computer program for the analysis is based on worksheets and formulas from the Extension Service and ASCS. With the computer doing the arithmetic, however, it's easier and quicker for farmers to explore all the options.

The service is confidential, no appointment is necessary, and there is no obligation. It will be available through the 1987 program sign-up period, November 1986 through March 1987.

For the computer to make calculations, farmers will need some of their own numbers. They'll need their ASCS crop base and yield, expected 1987 yields from acres planted (under participation and non-participation), projected variable costs per acre, and an estimate of maintenance costs for idled land. Fixed land and machinery costs are optional.

For more information, contact Ted Roberts at 652-2393.

The hard freeze that hit cotton on both High and Low Plains November 10 officially closed down one of the most hectic of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.'s 23 years of conducting a boll weevil control program.

According to Ed Dean, PCG field service director, the last spraying in the program occurred on October 30, but had the freeze held off and weather permitted, another dose of insecticide was scheduled. Dean and other program officials however are not overly concerned about missing the final application because the freeze destroyed the food supply that otherwise would have enabled weevils to reach the state of diapause necessary to winter survival.

Recurring rain made program operations difficult throughout the season. "But by altering the surveying, flagging and other procedures we were able to stay close to preplanned spray schedules and the program's effectiveness wasn't greatly reduced," Dean says. That means, he continues, that with normal winter mortality there shouldn't be an exceptionally high weevil emergence next spring.

Ideally the control effort calls for applicator planes to put on 12 ounces per acre of low volume malathion at 10 to 14-day intervals from late September until harvesting or a freeze eliminates the pest's food supply.

An aggregate total of $325,638 acres were treated this year in four applications beginning September 22, October 6, October 13 and October 27, using 30,519 gallons of malathion. Fields were located in Motley, Dickens, Kent, Garza, Crosby, Floyd, Borden, Lynn and a single field in Lubbock County. Only about 234,000 acres required spraying in 1985.

McAdoo Flying Service of McAdoo was awarded the spray contract this year for the fourth year in a row. Cost of the program is borne jointly by High Plains cotton producers, the U.S. and Texas Departments of Agriculture.

Through this year, USDA has matched the contributions of producers and the TDA, but beginning in 1987 its share of the cost will be reduced to 30 percent, the same percentage paid by USDA in weevil eradication efforts in the Midsouth, Southeast and Far West areas of production.

Yet another example of the fear weevils can strike in the hearts of cotton producers is a communication from the Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service (APHIS) of Las Cruces, New Mexico. Referring to previously uninfested Far West Texas and New Mexico, APHIS says weevils are now "breathing down our collective necks."

Prompted by the mid-October discovery of weevils destroying cotton on the outskirts of Juarez, Mexico, APHIS and its Mexican counterpart, Sanidad Vegetal, quickly moved into the area and developed a multi-point eradication plan. It calls for spraying, handpicking infested green bolls, shredding field trash, deep plowing and flood irrigation where possible.

DILUTE SULFURIC ACID DELINTING
[A Delinting Method Which We Feel Is Less Harmful To The Seed]

IS YOUR FUZZY COTTONSEED TESTED FOR QUALITY BEFORE DELINTING?

Oilseed Systems tests for quality on your fuzzy cottonseed before it is delinted.

A. MOISTURE TEST: If moisture of fuzzy cottonseed is 9.5 to 10% moisture the quality of the delinted seed will probably be marginal. The fuzzy seed needs to be in the 7 to 8% moisture range for good quality planting seed.

B. FREE FATTY ACID TEST: The free fatty acid of fuzzy seed, to be used for planting seed should be below .9 to 1.0%.

C. TETRAZOLIUM TEST: This test is used to determine the percentage of live seed before delinting. This test can be completed in 24 hours.

D. WARM GERMINATION: This test is used to determine the percentage of fuzzy seed that will germinate before delinting.

All of these tests help determine the quality of the seed BEFORE delinting and BEFORE you have delinting charge on marginal seed.

Oilseed Systems Inc., also repeats the tests that are mentioned above on all delinted seed, plus an additional test to determine vigor.

VIGOR TEST: This test was developed by Dr. Norman Hopper of Texas Tech University to determine if a certain lot of planting seed has excellent, good, fair, or poor vigor. This test is done with a combination of warm and cold germinations.

These tests in combination with a seed count per pound will help you determine the amount of good quality seed per 50 lb. bag, which in turn will help you determine planting rates.

We have some good quality carryover seed of popular varieties for sale.

Bring us samples of your carryover seed for a germination test and a vigor test before planting next spring.

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

When U.S. Ambassador Arthur Hartman stepped from his Moscow residence, his limousine was nowhere to be seen. He climbed behind the wheel of a blue Mercedes and drove himself through traffic in central Moscow. American reporters, suddenly unwelcomed at the embassy snack bar, caught glimpses of gloomy diplomats munching cold sandwiches instead of the usual cheeseburgers and daily specials.

So it goes for 250 American diplomats at the Moscow embassy and Leningrad consulate. The reason: Some 200 Soviet employees abruptly quit on orders from the Soviet Foreign Ministry after the U.S. expelled 55 Soviet diplomats. Among resigning employees were drivers, including Hartman's, maids, cooks, secretaries, maintenance workers and laborers.

While inconvenienced the Americans were not completely unprepared. "We had been talking about Soviet staff reductions for some time, mostly due to pressure from conservatives in the U.S. to get the Russians out of the embassy," an American diplomat explained.

Too, while the comforts are demonstrably fewer, some diplomats actually welcomed the removals. "In the 1960s, before the Soviets let us have maids, we used to entertain informally, doing our own dishes and relaxing with guests," said one diplomat in his second tour in the Soviet Union. "Now, with the maid gone, maybe we can get away from the stuffy dinner party, which has become the trademark in Moscow, and back to American basics."

FFA turkey shoots slated

The Lockney FFA Chapter is planning two different turkey shoots for this year. The first will be held this coming Saturday, November 22 at the school farm building at 9:00 a.m.

Cost of the flights was not known at press time but those shooting in the contest will be trying for turkeys, hams and boxes of shotgun shells.

The second turkey shoot will be held on December 6 at the same time and again the chapter will be awarding turkeys, hams and shotgun shells to the winners.

Correction

In last week's edition of the Beacon we incorrectly reported that the resolution passed by the city council was to permit the cashing in of bonds on the Mackenzie Municipal Water Authority.

In actuality the resolution permitted the buying back of those bonds.

We apologize for any inconvenience or questions this might have raised.

Monday, November 10. We went to Plainview today in our bus that comes in from Floydada to take us. This is a weekly activity for us and we certainly enjoy it. Every Monday afternoon we go to Plainview where we are treated to our choice of ice cream or a soda by alternate restaurants every week which include McDonald's, Sonic and Wendy's. We appreciate these businesses for their kindness.

Tuesday, November 11. Bessie Jackson came home from the hospital today. She is looking very chipper and we are glad for the opportunity to see her smiling face again. We had some big winners in our Penny Toss game. Those participating and those watching got a big laugh over those penny's rolling all over our living room floor.

Wednesday the 12th. Oh it is so-so cold today. We've got our fireplace going today thanks to Rosalinda Arjona, and Irene Cruz. These wonderful ladies went out into the cold to bring in some firewood to keep us warm. We also found another purpose for our fire, we roasted marshmallows. We each took a stripped tree branch, stuck a marshmallow on the end, put them in over the fire and roasted them to a golden brown. After we started to eat them we realized that they were gooey and messy and stuck to our noses, but oh what fun. Our good friend Andres Pena came home from the hospital in Floydada today. It sure is good to see him.

Thursday the 13th and Friday the 14th. These two days flew right by us this week. On Thursday we sat around the fireplace all afternoon. Our gentlemen set up a dominoes game that lasted for hours while us ladies gathered around to make Christmas wreaths out of yarn. It was such a warm, cozy scene. On Friday we got our ladies and gentlemen together for a good ol' game of Bingo. Our group of players was larger today which made it lots of fun.

On Saturday Mrs. Olive Myers came home from the hospital. We had surely missed her all week and are proud to have her with us again.

This week we will be starting a new project in our article. It will be a "New Staff Member Profile." Highlighting this week's profile is our new Director of Nurses, Vickie Diane McCarty. Vickie has been with us for two months now. Vickie's educational background consists of two years of education at Wayland Baptist College and one year at South Plains College. She has been an LVN for six years and has two years of previous experience as a Director of Nurses in a nursing home. She comes highly recommended and great improvements in our home have been made since her arrival. Vickie and her husband General Roy McCarty make their home in Plainview with their two daughters, Twyla, age 14, and Gail, age 11, and with Vickie's grandmother Callie. We are proud to have Vickie as a member of our staff and she is deeply cared about by our residents.

We have some new, bright faces living with us. We have Ottis Couch from Silverton, Guy Tyler from Turkey, and Oliver Billington from Lockney. We are very honored to have these gentlemen with us and glad for the opportunity to make them a part of our growing family. See you next week.
