Women's softball concession stand burglarized . . . again!

Love offering for Nettie Williams

Friends have initiated a "love offering" for Mrs. S.J. (Nettie) Williams. Individuals who wish to assist may leave money or a check at First National Bank, where a special account was opened Tuesday.

The "love offering" will help the medical and other expenses incurred by Mrs. Williams who is seriously ill.

S.J. and Nettie Williams are longtime Lockneyites.

On or about Tuesday, July 28, someone broke into the concession stand at the women's softball field and took several boxes of chocolate candy and "trashed the place," according to one softball organization official.

In addition to the candy, several Blue Dot softballs were also taken. According to the softball official and local law enforcement the suspects in the incident are migrant juveniles. Anyone having information about this incident is asked to report it to the local law enforcement officials.

This is the second summer that the concession stand has had problems with breaking and entering despite the installation of deadbolts and padlocks on the building.

Horns open football drills under new coach

Jim Clark and his staff were greeted by 38 Longhorn gridders Monday morning during Clark's first practice session as head mentor of the team.

In addition to the 38 players reporting Monday morning, coaches expect "about 10 more" for evening workouts. This number includes freshmen.

Lockney's footballers are continuing their two-a-day schedule with both morning and late afternoon drills. They will continue to follow this format until "probably the 20th."

Conditioning drills will be on the agenda until Friday, the first day UIL allows footballers to work in pads.

The Red and White's two scrimmages are against Roosevelt and New Deal, both powerful squads. The regular season will be launched at 8 p.m.

Friday, Sept. 4, in Ralls.

Clark succeeds Bob Purser as athletic director and head football coach. The two men formerly coached together at Bishop.

Tommy Kelly and Marcy Kemp are also new members of the Longhorn boys coaching staff.

Third consecutive profitable year posted by Lockney Cooperatives

Stockholders in Lockney Cooperatives gathered in the Lockney Elementary Cafeteria on Thursday, August 6, and learned that, for the third year in a row, the co-op showed a sizable profit.

Hal Sandefur of Sandefur and Swindle accounting firm of Lubbock reported to the gathered stockholders that the Lockney Cooperatives posted a net profit of $253,651.71 for the 1986 fiscal year which ended March 1, 1987. One additional note Sandefur pointed to was that in actuality the Coop posted a total profit of $304,836.69, however $77,164.52 was paid out in cotton seed adjustments to customers in October of 1986.

The net profit from the 1986 year is up considerably from the $101,506.71 that was posted for the 1985 year.

During the meeting stockholders were presented with their dividend checks which totaled $55,376.90 collectively. This dollar amount represents 25 percent of the current earning for the 1986 year.

Also paid to stockholders was $200,000.00 in the retirement of old stocks.

Of the $253,651.71 profit for the 1986 year, $165,056.00 was attributed to the operation and $88,595.00 was from the elevator department.

In closing his report, Sandefur commented to the group "You have a good, strong cooperative. You have no long-term debts and are in a good position at this time."

People of all ages welcome to join trip to see Cowboys game

"We don't care what age people are," they are invited to participate in a Senior Citizens charter bus trip to watch the Dallas Cowboys-Philadelphia Eagles football game on Sunday, Oct. 11. Kickoff is scheduled for 12 noon.

"Senior Citizens or anyone else" is welcome to participate.

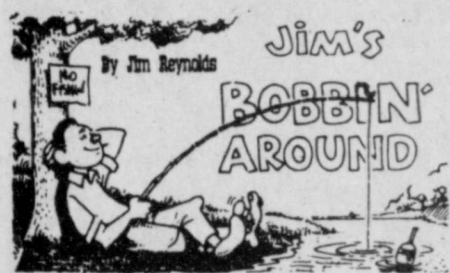

W.L. Carthel, president of the Lockney Senior Citizens, says "10 or 12" persons are "definite" about attending the game. Charter buses for either a 32 or 47 passengers are available.

The group "may or may not" spend Saturday night before the game in the Dallas area. This depends upon the desires of a majority of the participants.

If a full 47-passenger bus is used, the cost will be $25.50 per person for transportation and $24.67 for tickets, a total of $50.17. Should a 37-passenger bus be used and fully loaded, the transportation cost would be $37.50 each or a total of $62.17 for the bus and game ticket.

Anyone wishing to make reservations or secure additional information should phone Laverne Carthel at 652-2674 after 7 p.m. August 20 will be the deadline for reservations.

WHICH CAME FIRST?

An engineer and a politician were arguing over which of their professions was the older. The engineer said, "Before Adam and Eve were around the world was created in six days out of chaos, and that's an engineer's job." "True enough," replied the politician, "but who do you think created the chaos?"

Square dancing termed 'wholesome, family fun'

"Some people claim an evening of square dancing is equal to a four-mile walk," says Jim Huggins, a member of the Floydada Whirlers Square Dance Club.

With a grin he admits, "There are plenty of refreshments during the breaks, so not much weight is lost here."

Membership in the Whirlers includes farmers, school teachers, businessmen, a doctor and others. They hail from Floydada, Lockney, Silverton and Roaring Springs. Although the club's name is "Floydada Whirlers Square Dance Club," a majority of the members are Lockney residents.

Massie Activity Center (MAC) in Floydada is the site of first Friday and third Saturday square dances each month — plus "workshops" or practice sessions each Thursday. However, the dancers can always improvise when the MAC is being used for another activity.

"It's not uncommon for the dancers to do their thing in a member's barn, at a school gymnasium, under the pavilion on the courthouse square, at the group shelter at Lake Mackenzie and other sites.

'AMERICAN FOLK DANCE'

Square dancing is "the American folk dance," according to Huggins. It is a favorite leisure activity for millions around the world, and is "always in English."

"All ages — from eight to over 80 — dance together. However, at large festivals and conventions there may be special halls for youth, "solos" (dancers without partners), "advanced" and "challenge" dancers.

Members of the Whirlers club — not unlike other square dancers — can always find a dance. They frequently visit other clubs, including the two in Plainview, "a dozen or so" in Lubbock, in Tulia, Childress and other sites. Several locals enjoy vacationing in Red River, N.M., and Fun Valley, Colo., where opportunity for their favorite recreational activity abounds.

"Some Whirlers regularly travel 100 miles to dance," according to a spokesperson. One couple attended the 36th National Square Dancers Convention in Houston in June.

"If you can square dance in Floydada, you can square dance anywhere," Huggins says. Caller-lab, the international square dance callers organization, has standardized moves worldwide. "So, if a dancer dances the "Mainstream" program here," Huggins says, "he can be pretty sure he'll be able to dance at a Mainstream dance anywhere in the world."

DIVERSIFIED

Activity known as "square dancing" includes "modern American square dancing, like the Whirlers do." There also is "cued round dancing (couples dancing in a circle to directions from caller, somewhat like ballroom dancing), clogging (seen on the Hee Haw TV show) and contra (square dance movements but in lines rather than squares.)

Whirlers "dance about 100 calls or movements. There are about 50 'basic' movements on which all the others are based. 'Advanced' and 'challenge' dancers dance many more. The latest square dance encyclopedia lists more than 4,300 named movements, all a combination of the 50 basics."

Still, square dancing at the local level includes simple, traditional calls like Do-Sa-Do, Allemande Left, swing and promenade, "as well as newer, made-up calls such as "Relay the Deucey," which takes 20 beats of music to complete and 110 words to define.

Music ranges from old-fashioned hoedowns to contemporary country-western, rock and roll and Broadway show tunes.

Whirlers dance to "Mainstream and some calls from the Callerlab Plus program."

Old-time fiddler and live musicians have been largely replaced by special square dance records, powerful portable PA systems especially designed for square dancing and professional callers.

Huggins explains that "The square dance step is a smooth, gliding shuffle of the feet. Feet are never supposed to leave the floor."

Between square dance "tips," the group may do two-steps, waltzes, Cotton-eyed Joe, Put Your Little Foot and others.

The area dancers are most accustomed to the calling of Sid Perkins of Plainview, who calls for third Saturday dances and the Thursday night workshops. Guest callers from Lubbock or Amarillo normally conduct the first Friday dances.

NO CONTESTS

"Contests" are never a part of square dancing. "Everybody tries to do the best he or she can," Huggins says, "but there's no competition, no prizes for the best dancer, etc. We want everyone to have fun; there are no winners and losers. We all make mistakes and try to overlook the mistakes of others."

A particular bond exists between square dancers. "We wear name badges to be on a first-name basis with other dancers," Huggins points out.

Purpose of the club, according to by-laws, is "to enjoy clean entertainment and encourage fellowship by square dancing." The local organization considers that "wholesome, family fun."

The policy of no alcohol before or during dances is "very strictly enforced. Drinkers are asked to leave the dance. We think alcohol reduces reaction time, making us poorer dancers. Besides, square dancing is a wholesome, family-oriented activity where alcohol — or drugs — has no place."

Also, "We pride ourselves on being friendly and courteous on and off the dance floor."

'DISTINCTIVE APPAREL'
Members of the Whirlers believe

"our distinctive apparel identifies us as square dancers and makes every dance special." Men "always" wear long-sleeve shirts, usually western style, and the women's attire is a dress or skirt and blouse, "usually, a full, full petticoat; some have 60 yards of material."

"We're used to stares and whispers when we go into a cafe or other public place before or after a dance because we're wearing our dance clothes," members note.

Club members emphasize that "Guests are welcome at any time. Spectators are always welcome to watch, free of charge. Visiting square dancers are admitted free except for a few special dances during the year."

Whirlers Square Dance Club usually sponsors beginner lessons, starting in January.

Whirlers was organized in February 1969 by 13 couples who had never before danced. Prior to that time, there had been square dance clubs in Lockney and South Plains.

First lessons were given in the old American Legion building and the initial Old Settlers Dance was held in the Boren Furniture Building in Floydada.

Membership presently consists of "about 26 couples and four singles."

Officers include: Bill and Jinna Sue Turner, president; Bill and

Mary Louise McCarter, vice president; Byron and Charlotte Brock, secretary-treasurer; Annabel Bramlet, social chairman; Jim and Carol Huggins, reporter; Paul and Zora Reecer, Jim and Carol Huggins, delegates to Lubbock Dance Federation. All are Lockneyites.

The public will have an opportunity to watch the Whirlers dancers perform at the Floyd County and Surrounding Counties Fair. They will appear at 8 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 20, in the Entertainment Building on the fair grounds.

Third consecutive profitable year posted by Lockney Cooperatives

MANAGER'S REPORT

Delton Stone, manager of the Lockney Cooperatives since 1984, lead off his report by thanking the patrons of the co-op. "Without your support and the business you do with us we would not be where we are today, 30 years after the co-op was established in Lockney," he said.

Stone also said that the co-op's efficiency is due to the board members who are elected by the membership as the decision makers.

Stone introduced the board members and their wives who included president Paul Schacht, vice president Charles Huffman and his wife Molly, secretary Bill Bigham and Anita, Sterling Cummings and wife Gleyenn Earle, John Lee Carthel and Ruth, and added after the approval of the membership last year junior board member Ricky Mosley and his wife Lisa.

Stone began his report with a list of highlights of the thirty year history of the Cooperative.

It is interesting to note all the purchases, additions, and new equipment which have been added to the facility and to note that the co-op has no long term debts. The beacon was told.

Stone closed his address on the 30-year history with this comment, "I feel that this Cooperative has been good for the Lockney area and even for the county in its 30-year history."

He then discussed the 1986 year. "The new program we established last year which enables farmers to put their grain in the loan in our office rather than having to go to the ASCS office in Floydada seems to be working well for our customers. Those who were in the program had an approximate return of 64 cents per 100 pounds of grain."

He commented that "1987 looks bleak with the hail damage but we are not going to despair over it. With the seed adjustment and the bales delivery to PCC we should be ok."

ELECTION RESULTS

At this point in the meeting John Lee Carthel took over to conduct the election of directors. Charles Huffman was up for re-election to his seat on the board and the nominating committee chose Buck Ford to oppose him. Bill Bigham was also seeking to be re-elected to his seat and the committee had selected Craig Gilly to oppose him. After ballots were counted both Huffman and Bigham were re-elected to places one and two, respectively.

A new nominating committee for the 1987 meeting was selected and they include Warren Mitchell, Zach Cummings and Joe Cunyus.

OTHER BUSINESS

Paul Schacht addressed the group and reported that two minor changes were necessary in the by-laws to accommodate the USDA and allow the co-op to continue its program with the grain loans in the Coop office. These were approved, after discussion. Also the minutes of the 1986 meeting were approved by present members.

DOOR PRIZES

Charles Huffman and Sterling Cummings then conducting the drawing for the door prizes with the help of Stacy Bigham and Kimberly Widener.

Included in the door prizes again this year were several 100% cotton towel sets. Winners of these included Mrs. A.L. Bigham, Audrey Cox, E.A. McLeod, Durward Jack, Gleyenn Earle Cummings, Francis Montandon, Myrtle Gibson, Lisa Mosley, Wayne Ashburn, Anita Bigham, Mr. Craft, and Jimmy Cecil.

Other door prizes and winners included a Polaroid camera won by LaDora Auffil, a tire inflator to Harold Hamm, a food processor to Dahlia Hight, a set of wooden t.v. trays to Willie Billington, a three piece luggage set to Jerry Chapman, an Elgin clock to Shelby Calahan and a $400 gift certificate to the Coop was won by Warren Mitchell.

It was also announced that several of those in attendance had won the centerpieces that decorated the tables. These centerpieces were made by the wives of the board members and featured mini cotton bales, cotton bolls, wheat stalks, barbed wire and country ribbon on wreaths and flats. Winners were those who had pieces of ribbon taped to the bottoms of their chairs. Everyone was quite pleased to win these centerpieces.

PROOF

While we are all more or less foolish, why do so many insist on trying to prove it?

for the drive and will be dressed for the part. Refreshments of non alcoholic pina colodas will be served to those donating.

Also for those donating, you may sign up for a trip for four (4) to Washington, D.C. The trip will include round trip airfare, hotel accommodations, and $2000 in spending money. You may sign up for your own donation and if you bring another person with you, you may sign up again.

Sr. Citizens News

The board of directors for the Lockney Senior Citizens Center met for the regular monthly session on Tuesday, August 4 with Vice President W.L. Carthel presiding in the absence of President O.C. Allison.

Current bills were approved for payment. Also during the meeting R.C. Mitchell and Verner (Squealer) Hodel met with the board. They explained that they are trying to raise the funds to purchase a 12 inch tall formed sign which will read Lockney Senior Citizens Center-1987 in red lettering. They informed the board that they are raising the money and cost of the sign will be about $485.00, installed.

Cement bumper rails will be installed on the parking lot rather than the pipe rails earlier discussed. Also a ramp on the west side of the porch will be completed soon. It will have a rail and will be used for those who will need a ramp to enter the center.

DONATIONS OF EQUIPMENT

Recently the Lockney school board donated 10 of the 12 foot long tables from the elementary cafeteria. The school has replaced the old one and gave the center ten of them.

Also, recently the Lockney General Hospital board voted to replace their ice machine and they have donated the old one, which works, but has a small leak, to the senior citizens center.

FAIR BOOTH

Plans for the booth at the fair are coming along nicely, however they are still in need of more workers for the booth. If you are willing to help out with the booth and have not been contacted as yet, call Kathryn Cooper at 652-2389 or Leona Watson at 652-2179.

APPLICATIONS ACCEPTED

The board of directors is still accepting applications for a cook for the center. Resumes may be sent to the Lockney Senior Citizens Center, Box 82, Lockney, Texas 79241.

QUILT TO BE GIVEN AWAY

The members of the center are presently selling tickets for chances for quilt, made by the ladies of the center which will be given away at the fair. The quilt will be on display at the senior center later this week. Members of the center have tickets, or they may be obtained from Leona Watson, Edna Workman, Hazel Johnson, or Myrt Hill. You may also call the Senior Citizens Center at 652-2745.

About 70 members and visitors were present for the covered dish supper.

There are now 172 members of the center and they are working toward a goal of 200.

SMALL FIRE—Lockney volunteer firemen were called to the Gerald Rascoe home in northwest Lockney Monday morning after a trash fire got out of hand. The fire began when sparks from a trash barrel caught the grass and some old papers and tires on fire. Firemen were quick to respond to the call and extinguish the blaze. Residents should be cautious when burning their trash at this time. It has been a while since we got any rain and small fires like this one, if not caught soon enough could become large fires, and destroy much, firemen note. —Staff photo

In times like these...

By Mary Jo Fielding

After graduation from high school in 1961, Oliver Lawrence North attended the State University College at Brookport, N.Y. He majored in English but dreamed about a military career. He enrolled in a campus Marine officers training course and spent a summer at Camp Lejeune in North Carolina. When he returned, he was dead set on being a leatherneck and a friend's father helped him to gain admission to Annapolis.

North's dream, however, suffered a nearly crippling collision. On Washington's birthday weekend in 1964, North was driving home in New York with four friends. He was asleep in the backseat of the rented car they were traveling in when it plowed into an 18-wheel truck. The driver of the automobile was killed and North suffered knee and back injuries so severe that his doctor initially thought he might never walk again. After three months in the hospital, North returned to Philmont, missing the rest of his first year at the academy. His greatest fear was that his injuries would prevent him from winning a Marine commission. At home he devised his own peculiar rehabilitation program; he made jump after jump off the six-foot-high roof of the family garage to strengthen his damaged legs.

When he returned to Annapolis in the fall, limping in his stiff knee brace, North felt he had no time to lose. But the way he chose to make his name at Annapolis was brutally elemented; by boxing. In this third year, North fought his way into the Academy's middleweight championship. At 147 pounds he was scheduled to meet James Webb, now Secretary of the Navy, North won the three-round fight in a close decision. The win had a large purpose for North. He showed the film of the fight to the review board to prove that despite his earlier injuries he was fit for the Marines. They agreed.

Lockney Care Center

By Lanita Cantwell

It was especially good to see the residents at Lockney Care Center after being away a number of days. A special "thank you" to everyone who helped fill the gap while I was away due to my mother's death. We want to thank the ladies of Main Street Church of Christ for the birthday party, and Mr. Hubert Frizzell for cutting the men's hair. Also Charlotte McCulloch came in and did some work in the office and we appreciate her. Volunteers are wonderful and I may be asking a lot of help in the next two weeks.

We enjoyed a trip to Floydada recently on our bus ride. We visited the nursing home there and Billy Probasco had a nice visit with his mother. We thank the Dairy Queen in Floydada for treating us to ice cream cones.

The residents finally finished the woodcrafts that we have been working on for some time. The ducks and cats are very cute. We thank Elton Cantwell for donating the wood cut-outs. We have them painted in "country colors" and made colorful bows for their necks. You can see them in our office if you are interested.

Lockney Care Center wishes to express sympathy to the families of Floyd Barber, Charlie Boedecker, and Dennis Grabbe. They were special to us and we know they were to you.

I missed many of our recent visitors, but we are happy to have Cecil and Naomi Heckman from Ulysses, Kansas and Kim and Barbara Heckman, Adam, and T.C. Jory visiting their mother, Nellie Stephens, recently. Please come again soon.

LHS class of 1957 holds 30 year reunion

Memories from yesteryear flowed when the Lockney High School Class of 1957 gathered for the 30th anniversary of its graduation. Twenty-four former classmates met July 25 at the Residence Inn in Lubbock for the reunion.

Spouses and offspring accompanied some of the class members.

One of the highlights was a slide presentation by Gene and Katie Handley of the class' school activities and senior trip to Miami, Florida. Kenneth Kendrick showed a video tape of photos from the school annual.

The group had dinner at the Fifty Yard Line restaurant and was entertained that night by Marvin Christy, who accompanied himself on the guitar as he sang songs from that era.

RABBIT SHOW

Officials of the Floyd County Rabbit Breeders Association announced that there has been a change in plans for the rabbit show which is scheduled for Saturday, August 22.

Rather than being held in the livestock building as mentioned in an earlier Beacon article and in the fair catalog, the show will be held in the upstairs portion of the main fair building. Entry to this area may be gained through the stairway located near the Senior Citizens booth (the old Eastern Star booth) at the fair.

There is also an outside stairway located on the southwest side of the fair building which will lead to the rabbit show.

Officials of the F.C.R.B.A. have announced that there will be a rabbit display going on throughout the fair, which opens on August 20. Also during the show there will be rabbits for sale, both as pets and show animals.

Rabbits are now included in the Floyd County 4-H program, however there are just a few members who are raising rabbits at this time. If there are other youngsters who are interested in raising and showing rabbits, this is the perfect opportunity to see just how a show works and to see a great number of different rabbit breeds available.

★ Fair departments ★

The rabbit show at the fair is scheduled to begin at 8:00 a.m. and will continue throughout the day, probably until around 6:00 p.m. One fun event at the rabbit show will be the best dressed rabbit contest which will be held following the noon lunch break.

TALENT SHOW

A talent show is planned this year during the Floyd and Surrounding Counties Fair. The show is set for 7:00 p.m. on August 21 in the entertainment building.

Anyone who is interested in performing, singing, or lip syncing in the show is asked to contact Lisa Mosley at 652-2569 or Amy Thornton at 293-8035 as soon as possible.

FLOWER DEPARTMENT

There will be a flower department at the fair again this year. Look through your gardens and yards and bring in lots of pretty flowers. If you have arranging talents, try making up an arrangement to show off your talents. Entries in this department will be taken on Thursday morning August 30 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

ART DEPARTMENT

The art department of the Floyd County Fair needs your entries. There are categories from age 3 through adult art teachers. Have your child draw or color or paint a picture.

There is also a photography division, so look through your photographs and bring in a prize winner. All paintings and photographs must be ready to hang. Children's drawings may be matted with a string hanger on the back.

Entries will be accepted on Wednesday, August 19 from 4:00 p.m. to 7:00 p.m. and on Thursday, August 20 from 9:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

TRACTOR DRIVING CONTEST

A tractor driving contest will be held in conjunction with the fair, Friday, August 21 at 5:00 p.m. north of the rodeo arena. Competition will be divided into six categories: eighth grade and below, boys and girls; high school, boys and girls; mens and womens.

First place plaques will be awarded in each division. This is a timed contest with penalty points given for incorrect maneuvers.

The complete set of rules are listed in the 1987 fair catalog. For more information call Mike Mathis at 296-7096.

Belt completes food course

Cindy Belt, home economics teacher at Lockney High School, completed the first Seafood Products Course for vocational home economics teachers, July 20-24, in Port Aransas. She was one of 25 teachers selected from eight states in the Gulf and South Atlantic region to receive this training provided by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Marine Advisory Service, Texas A&M University.

The intense one week conference held at the University of Texas, Marine Science Institute included consumer competencies in marketing and consumer education; edibility profiles and spoilage mechanisms; seafood nutrition; fisheries management issues; and laboratory experiences in processing, preparation and evaluation of seafoods. Course participants toured a shrimp processing plant and had an excursion on the research vessel Katy.

To qualify for professional credit, teachers were required to develop teaching units in various areas of homemaking and consumer education and present these to the group.

Financial assistance for the course was provided from the Gulf and South Atlantic Fisheries Development Foundation in Tampa, Florida. Instructors were seafood marketing staff Annette Reddell Hegen and Michael G. Haby, Marine Advisory Service. The Marine Advisory Service is a cooperative effort of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Sea Grant College Program at Texas A&M University.
