The 1987-88 school year is underway for Lockney school staff members, but the students continue their vacation from the books until next Tuesday morning, Sept. 1.

Supt. W.H. (Dub) Hallmark emphasizes that students new to Lockney school or former students who have returned need to register this week by going to the principal's office in the building (elementary, junior high or high school) where they will be studying.

A list of school supplies needed by elementary students appears in this issue of The Beacon or parents may call or go by the elementary building for supply lists.

Classroom assignments have been posted in the junior high and elementary school buildings.

Lockney school classes meet from 8:30 a.m. until 4 p.m.

INCREASE ANTICIPATED

Supt. Hallmark says the average daily attendance (ADA) for the local school during the 1987-88 year was 702.55. This compared with 682 the previous year.

"Our enrollment was up last year, and we expect another increase although it may not be as large as last year," Hallmark says.

Sixty more elementary students were enrolled during 1986-87 as compared with the previous year. However, declines in other areas left an overall gain of 40 pupils.

One major change this school year is a computer lab in elementary school, which will be used basically for reading supplement. Usage will increase into other areas in future years.

Twenty-five computers will be available for the lab.

"General maintenance" at all three buildings was gone this summer.

FEW FACULTY CHANGES

Stability among Lockney's faculty was reflected by the fact that only seven changes have resulted. Each is the result of either the athletic director-head football coach change or retirement.

The new faculty members include: Jim Clark, coach-athletic director; Tommy Kelly, coach; Marcy Kemp, coach; Eddie Fortenberry, girls coach; Terri Fortenberry, junior high reading; James Haney, high school science; and Les Ross, band director.

The elementary staff remains intact. A faculty breakfast Tuesday morning in the elementary school cafeteria preceded in-service orientation and a general staff meeting. The remainder of

Farm Bureau annual meeting scheduled for Saturday night

Floyd County Farm Bureau has set August 29, this Saturday, at 7:00 p.m. at the Lockney Elementary School cafeteria for its annual meeting.

Anyone planning to attend is asked to contact the Farm Bureau office at 652-2262 or 983-3777 so that plans for the meal may be completed.

During the meeting three directors will be installed on the board. Dan Smith and Delmas McCormick are running unopposed for reelection to their seats on the board. Ken Campbell, who represents the Dougherty area, is leaving the board after six years and Randy Rainwater will be running to fill McCormick's seat.

ABC Cookers of Floydada will be supplying the meal, and several door prizes will be awarded to winners.

Parents who wish to bring their children. Entertainment will be provided for the children of parents who are attending the meeting.

City council will set tax rate on August 31

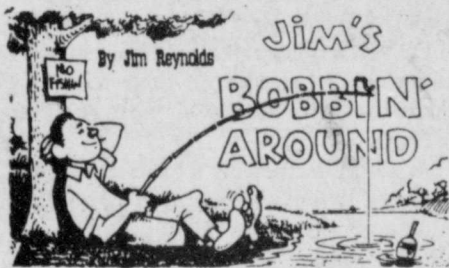

Lockney City Council met for a public hearing on the proposed increase in the tax rate on Thursday, August 20, at the city hall at 7:30 p.m. Only three citizens came to the hearing and none voiced opposition to the proposed increase.

Attending the meeting were Mayor Dan Smith, and Aldermen Jerry Johnson, J.D. Copeland, Gary Marr, Ronnie Aston, and Kenneth Wofford. Citizens attending were Floyd Jackson, Laura Wilson and Macon Ulmer.

The council will next meet on Monday, August 31, at 9:00 a.m. to set the tax rate which is expected to be set at 35 cents per $100 valuation. The meeting is open to the public; however, no opinions will be considered at this meeting. Those opposing the increase were invited to address the council in the meeting last Thursday night.

Kelli LaBaume named Floyd County queen

Kelli LaBaume, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon LaBaume of Floydada, was selected as the new Floyd County Fair Queen this past Saturday night in the 34th annual Floyd County Fair.

Named as first runner-up was Nikki Altman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Altman, of Tulia. Second runner-up was Lockney's Gwen Lane, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Lane. Miss Lane was also selected as Miss Congeniality by the other contestants.

Also in the top five contestants were Candice Hansford of Plainview and Crystal Rowley of Floydada.

Earlier Saturday afternoon three new Little Misses were also crowned.

Taking top honors in the three to six-year-old division was Meredith Schacht, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clar Schacht of Floydada. Michelle Todd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Todd of Plainview, was named first runner-up and Courtney Norris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Norris of Lubbock, was second runner-up.

Amanda Peralez, daughter of Andy and Agnes Peralez of Lockney was crowned queen of the Little Misses in the seven to nine-year-old division. Taking honors as first runner-up was Kimberly Duke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Duke of Lubbock. Second runner-up was Lacy Golightly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dayne Golightly of Floydada.

Tami Altman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Altman of Tulia, took top honors in the 10 to 12-year-olds. First runner-up in this age division was Kori Kellison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rick Kellison of Lockney, and second runner-up was Misty Bertrand, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bertrand of Floydada.

In all, there were 73 girls who participated in the four different age divisions in the various contests. Top winners in each age group were presented crowns and silk flowers. They

In vitro pregnancy first for Wichita and Dr. Webster

A proud Wichita, Kansas, hospital has announced its first "test-tube" pregnancy. The baby is a first, both for the Wichita couple who have been trying to conceive for seven years and members of the Wichita medical profession, who spent three years establishing the program.

The couple is "just absolutely crazed," said Dr. Bobby Webster, director and co-founder of the Center for Reproductive Medicine, who appeared as thrilled with the news as the parents-to-be.

Dr. Webster, a graduate of Lockney High School, is the son of R.V. and Rita Webster. His wife, the former Mary Amber (Mamba) Frizzell, also was reared in Lockney and is a daughter of Jack and Lucille Frizzell.

"It took us three years to get to the point where we could have our first baby," said Webster. The baby, the first conceived through in vitro fertilization in Wichita and the second in Kansas, is due in about eight months.

The reproductive center operates in conjunction with the University of Kansas School of Medicine and HCA Wesley Medical Center, which spent $1.5 million to set up the program. The center, with a staff of 16, began treating infertile couples in February.

It is one of about 150 such centers in the United States and the second in Kansas.

In vitro fertilization is often the last hope for couples wanting to give birth.

LAST-DITCH EFFORT

"It is a last-ditch effort before they come to grips with adoption or a childless lifestyle," said Dr. Webster.

About 20 to 30 couples from as far away as Texas are on a waiting list to pay $5,000 for the procedure, which has a national success rate of only 10 percent to 15 percent. The Wichita couple went through the program twice at a cost of $10,000 before successfully conceiving. The 32-year-old woman and her husband asked not to be identified immediately.

About 2,000 babies have been born through in vitro fertilization worldwide since British-born Baby Louise Brown captured the world's attention in 1978. The procedure is becoming increasingly common. One out of every six couples of childbearing age is infertile — that's 3.5 million Americans unable to produce children.

The Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta, Ga., estimate the number will hit one in five by 1990, a combination of women postponing childbirth for careers and an increase in pelvic inflammatory disease.

In the vitro procedure, the woman is given fertility drugs to stimulate production of eggs, which will be surgically removed just one hour before they would begin their travels down the fallopian tubes. The egg and sperm meet in a petri dish. Within 24 hours the embryo is placed in the womb, and, if all goes well, the pregnancy becomes routine.

Having such a program in Wichita can be a big plus for couples in that area, because the couple must visit the center once a day for a week.

"If they have to go to Houston or L.A. or New York, it is a week out of their lives," said Webster. "If they live here, it is not a big change."

The program is primarily for women with damaged or absent fallopian tubes. The center also performs gamete intrafallopian transfer, known as GIFT for short, in which the egg and sperm are placed in the fallopian tube, allowing the fertilization to take place in the woman's body.

SUCCESS RATE

The center has a 50 percent success rate with that procedure, which is above the national average, according to Dr. Webster.

The first baby conceived at the center through the GIFT program is due in September. The center expects four GIFT babies by Christmas.

Dr. Bobby W. Webster serves as president and chief executive officer of the Women's Research Institute staff.

After six years in private practice, Dr. Webster was frustrated at his inability to help patients with infertility. He turned that frustration into a positive force and enrolled in a two-year fellowship in reproductive endocrinology and infertility at Vanderbilt University.

"While at Vanderbilt, I came to realize that the answers to most health-related questions are not going to come from doctors without the collaboration of other scientists," noted Dr. Webster, who completed medical school at the University of Texas Medical Branch in Galveston.

"We wanted a place where basic scientists could interact and work together with clinicians on a daily basis to provide the answers to a multitude of questions related to reproduction," said

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

During 1984, after Congress cut off funds for the contras North became obsessed with the men he referred to as freedom fighters. He kept a shoe box filled with pictures of contra leaders and talked about how he did not want to lose Nicaragua the way he saw the U.S. lose Vietnam. North had been in the NSC longer than many of his superiors and he began to believe in his own indispensability. "Being in the White House is heady" says a colleague. "You start carrying the cross by yourself, and if you don't do it, democracy fails."

Sometimes North would work 24 hours at a time, and it seemed to affect his judgment. "When Ollie didn't sleep at night, he'd come up with even crazier ideas," says a colleague. "During the TWA hijacking in 1985, he called me in the middle of the night with some absolutely foolish idea. I told him, 'What you suggested is the most ridiculous idea I ever heard. Go home and get some sleep.'"

Poindexter thought North was too emotionally involved with the contras and tried to get him transferred to the Naval War College. In mid-1986 McFarlane, in a computer message to Poindexter, proposed that "in Ollie's interest I would get him transferred or sent to Bethesda for disability review board."

Lockney Care Center

Sunday's cool temperature was a reminder of just how fast summer has gone by. Of course, we will likely have lots of hot weather left, but summer vacations are about over for students, teachers and many other people. Those of us who did not have a vacation will just have to start looking forward to a "winter" vacation.

The Floyd County Fair is history. We spent most of last week preparing for it and participating in it. We want to thank everyone who donated to our Alzheimer's research project. Thanks to everyone who donated money and also those who donated door prizes for our booth. We also wish to thank staff members who took donations ahead of the fair. Francisca Carbajol was the employee who brought in the most donations. Thanks a bunch!

If you have not picked up your prize, come by the nursing home and we will give you a prize or a certificate for your prize. The following donated prizes for the drawing (donors and winners):

- Brown's Department Store, $10 gift certificate, Nick Muniz
- Mary John's Flowers, pot pourri, Beatrice Garcia
- Dairy Queen of Lockney, Fun Bunch Lunch, Veronica Martinez
- Charlotte Carthel, oil painting, Margarita Leal
- Elton Cantwell, wooden shelf, Don Aull
- Edwina Hollums, Avon salt and pepper, Lavona Pitchford
- Briscoe Co-op, gloves and W-D 40, Gay McPherson
- Schacht Flowers, candle, Juan Sustaita
- Strickland's Restaurant, four fish dinners, Linda Cruz
- Crafty Farmer, wooden tulip, Neva Smith
- Beulah Steen, white mouse planter, Sylvia Hernandez
- Briscoe County News, Watkin's Gift Set, Sally Rodriguez
- Lockney Care Center, wheel chair, Barbara Mathis
- Witch's Hut, curling iron, Hazel Johnson
- Marie Carney, pink rabbit, Mike Isom
- Mike's Automotive, spark plugs, Neva Smith
- Cecil Carthel, wooden note pad, Tony Banda
- Smoke Stack, two dinners, Don Vernon
- Dan's Auto, spark plugs, Don Vernon
- Gloria's Cleaners, $10 gift certificate, La Dora Aull
- Lockney Meat Company, 5 lb. box filets, Jeff Isom
- Lee's Home and Auto, 6-pack cooler, Leonard Griffith
- Country Cut-ups, duck towel rack, Maria Peralez
- Lockney Oil and Butane, car wash, Louis Bybee
- Tiffin's Department Store, $10 gift certificate, Margarita Leal
- Barbara's Beauty Shop, shampoo and conditioner, Nick Muniz
- Pay-n-Save Grocery, $25 in groceries, Beverly Towler
- Lockney Care Center, penny bank, Barbara Mathis

Rowell Variety, gift, Barbara Mathis
Cecil Carthel, wooden puzzle, Julia Garcia

Wilson Photography, decorative photograph, Nellie Stephens
Johnson and Johnson Auto, spark plugs, Jose Garcia

Mertie Gibson, sack of potatoes, Zora Reecer
Mertie Gibson, sack of potatoes, Brandy Pitchford

Oswald Printing Supply, brief case, Veronica Martinez

Brown's Implement of Floydada, toy set, Martha Porter

Carla Miller, permanent, Ruby Wiginton
Davis Lumber, popcorn popper, Flora Lee Jack

We appreciate all the people who worked at our fair booth as well. They were Hope Mendoza from Floydada Nursing Home, Butch Fleet and Irene Clark from Tulia Care Center, Willetta Isom, Lanita Cantwell, Lavona Pitchford, Ruby Bailey, Bessie Jackson, Mary Jo Fielding, Elton Cantwell, and Bill Pitchford.

Wasn't the parade great? I was really impressed that a small town such as Lockney can produce such a large and well organized parade. Thanks to many hours donated by volunteer workers, Lockney Care Center was able to enter a "covered wagon" with a number of residents on board. We wish to thank Don Curry for the use of his trailer, and Cecil and Charlotte Carthel, Charles Carthel, Elton Cantwell, David (or was it Kenneth?) Jackson, Lavona Pitchford, and several of the residents and staff who "transformed" the trailer into a covered wagon. There were many nameless bystanders who were helpful in getting everyone on board. Cecil and Charlotte Carthel pulled the float down Main Street and Bessie Jackson and Mary Jo Fielding were seated up front holding the reins. Residents enjoying the ride were Bessie Mack Hunt, Earl Mercer, Bonnie Julian, Eva Cresswell, Andres Pena, Milton Robbs, Mamie Ford, Billy Probasco, and Granny Self. Staff members on board were Lavona Pitchford, Kathy Perkins, Mertie Gibson and Francisca Carbajol. Other residents preferred to sit on the patio under the shade trees and view the festive parade.

Bessie Jackson was a blue ribbon winner with her crocheted sweater. She also won fourth place on her afghan. Bessie keeps her crochet needle busy most anytime she has a chance. She almost always has some items to sell, so ask her about them.

Our beautician, Carla Miller, and all the ladies at Lockney Care Center were delighted with the new hair dryer provided by Il Penseroso Club. It is just wonderful! We thank all of you for all the time and expense you went to in order to satisfy our needs. It is great to have friends like you!

The other "big happening" last week was the paving. Workers returned on Friday to complete our paving project. Some of you may have been inconvenienced during this improvement project, but we hope you enjoy the paved parking area and drive.

Letter to the Editor...

Dear Sirs:
Please send me The Lockney Beacon. I like to keep up with my home town, their doings and goings.
Even though I have been gone for many years, the changes have come and gone but Lockney holds a special place in my heart. It is my birth place and I graduated from Lockney High.
We were sophomores when we were transferred from the old building to the present one.

Our class of '32" was the first class to wear caps and gowns.
Thank you. I am enclosing a check for one-year subscription.
Sincerely,
Lois Opal Smith

Social Security Report

By Terry J. Clements

If people in the local area are anything like those in other parts of the country, many of them do not know that Social Security pays benefits to survivors of deceased workers who worked in jobs covered by Social Security long enough to become insured.

More than 7 million people get survivor benefits. It is important for survivors to contact Social Security as soon as possible after the worker's death to make sure that no benefits are missed. In any event, a person should apply no later than the month after the month of death.

Social Security survivor benefits can be paid to:

- a widow or widower 60 or over.
- A disabled widow or widower 50-60.
- A child under 18 or 18-19 if a full-time high school student, or over 18 if disabled before 22.

• A mother or father caring for an entitled child under 16 or disabled.

• A parent 62 or older who was dependent upon the worker for half or more of his or her support.

Under a special rule, children and their mother or father can receive benefits if the worker had Social Security credit for 1 1/2 years of work in the 3 years before death. Also, children can receive benefits on their mother's Social Security record as well as their father's.

In addition, there is a $255 lump-sum payment that can be made to an eligible widow or widower, or if none, to an eligible child.

For more information you may contact us at 1401-B West 5th street, or call us at 293-9623. Appointments can be arranged if desired.

School bells Tuesday ring in 1987-88 year

Tuesday and Wednesday were devoted to in-service, with Thursday and Friday designated as work days in respective classrooms.

Buses are to run their routes and the cafeteria will be in operation next Tuesday, the first day of classes.

Some persons have been under the mistaken impression that school can not begin prior to Labor Day. Texas law stipulates that no classes may begin before Sept. 1.

Labor Day on Tuesday, Sept. 7, is the first official holiday of the 1987-88 school year.

Sara Willis will present concert

Brother Ray Starnes, pastor of the Aiken Baptist Church, extends an invitation to the public to attend a concert at his church which will feature Sara Willis, daughter of Arlie and Leona Willis of Lubbock.

The concert is scheduled to begin at 6:00 p.m. on Sunday, August 30, with fellowship to follow.

Variety show well attended

Performers in the variety show at the Floyd County Fair played to a near packed house on Friday night and those attending enjoyed "lots of good music" from the 50's, 60's and early 70's. Some acts were quite humorous and included local personalities.

Travis Thornton lead off the evening's entertainment by singing "Do You Remember These" as Mary Lindsey Poole danced to the same number. Thornton also performed "Stand By Me" and was accompanied by Berry Hooten on drums for this number. He also sang "Sixteen Tons" solo and was joined by wife Amy for "King of the Road/Queen of the House."

Thornton also lip synced to "Guitarzan" by Ray Stevens and was joined by Jim Bob, Kay, and Allen Martin who acted out the song.

Thornton, his wife Amy, Lisa Mosley, and Gary Stennett joined together to sing "Kiss Him Goodbye" and were accompanied by Berry Hooten on drums. Later in the show these four were joined by Dan Futch of Denton for a medley of "Today and Dream."

"Puff the Magic Dragon" was sung by Lisa, Nicole, and Johnnie Mosley, Trudi, Casey, and Becky Lambert, Kaci and Lindsey Mathis, Jarrett Thornton, Tikka and Michelle Smith, and Jeffrey Watson. Lisa Mosley accompanied them on guitar.

Reeda Cay Smith performed a medley of "Up on the Roof," "Don't Sleep in the Subway," and "Downtown." Michelle Smith sang "My Favorite Things," and Tikki Smith sang "How Much is That Doggie in the Window?"

Other acts included several of the Lockney Girl Scouts singing "Camp Granada" and "Be True to Your School," which featured Johnnie Mosley, Jeffrey Watson, and Timothy Mitchell lip syncing and Mary Lindsey Poole and Tiffany Ellison "cheering" them on.

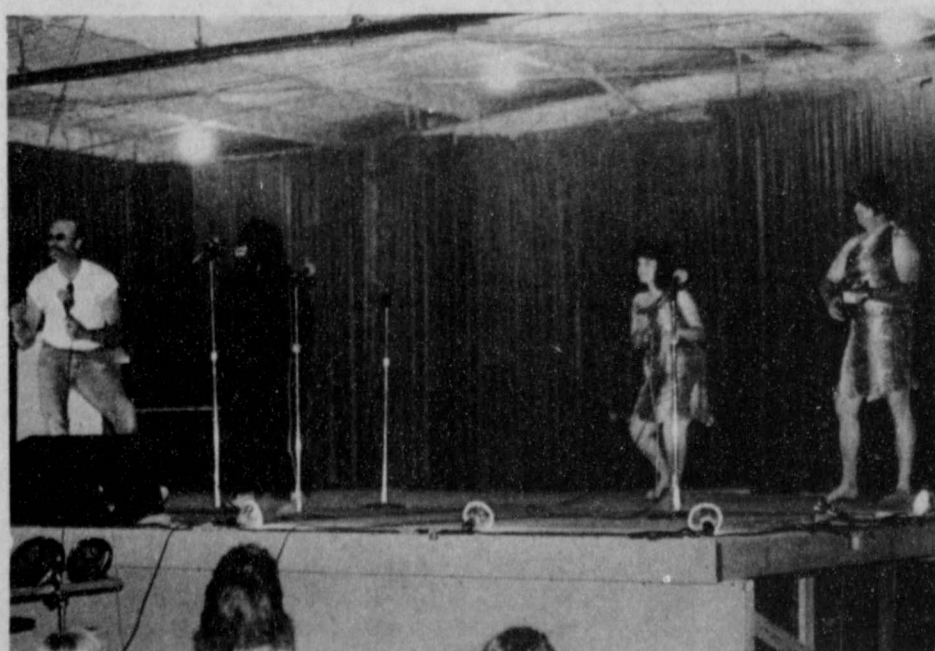

Lisa Mosley, Zeldia Ellison, and Amy Thornton joined on stage to sing a medley of "DaDoo RonRon," "My Boyfriend's Back" and "Going to the Chapel." Alissa Wilson of Floydada sang "That'll Be The Day."

Jeri Ann Lambert did a twirling routine to "Jailhouse Rock" and Michelle Todd of Lubbock "dazzled" the audience with her dance routine to "Peppermint Twist." Chelsea Partridge also performed a twirling routine to "Barbara Ann."

One of the more humorous acts was Clar Schacht as the "Big Bopper," lip syncing to "Chantilly Lace." He was joined on stage by James Race as the girl from the song, which seemed to be somewhat of a surprise to Schacht.

Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Brashears of Brownfield took the stage as Dolly Parton and Porter Waggoner for a medley. Johnnie and Jared Mosley and Jennifer Fortenberry and Mary Lindsey Poole joined to lip sync and act out "Chain Gang."

Closing the show was the entire cast who joined on stage to sing "This Land is Your Land," with the help of the audience.

U.S. yellow sorghum high in nutrition

Yellow sorghum exported by the United States is superior in nutritional value to the brown, high-tannin, bird-resistant sorghum that is exported by other sorghum-producing countries.

Studies done by Dr. Lloyd W. Rooney, professor of Food Science and Agronomy at Texas A&M University, have shown that U.S. yellow sorghum has 95 percent of the feeding value of corn, while the feed efficiency of brown sorghum can be 10 to 30 percent lower than that of yellow sorghum.

Dr. Rooney reported that brown, bird-resistant sorghum contains condensed tannins which reduce the nutritional value of the grain. In general, animals fed brown sorghum consume more feed but gain no more weight than those fed corn or yellow sorghum.

The United States produces and exports little brown sorghum. USDA Federal Grain Inspection Service (FGIS) inspectors at U.S. ports have stated that U.S. sorghum for export rarely contains more than one-half percent brown sorghum.

Sorghum exported from Argentina, South Africa and Thailand, however, usually contains high levels of brown, high-tannin grain. Brown sorghum from Argentina is often erroneously considered equal in feeding value to U.S. yellow sorghum. When the brown sorghum is used, its poor performance can convince buyers that all sorghum have inferior feeding value.

High-tannin sorghum kernels contain condensed tannins in a pigmented testa, while nontannin sorghum kernels do not have a pigmented testa. All sorghums with a pigmented testa are classified as brown sorghum according to FGIS guidelines.

"Sorghums without pigmented testa do not have condensed tannins and their nutritional value is 95 percent of that of corn," said Dr. Rooney.

In order for buyers to determine the percentage of brown sorghum in a market sample, Dr. Rooney suggests using the bleach test, which uses common household bleach (NaOCl, 5.25%) and potassium hydroxide. The bleach test is relatively easy to use and is the best method for determining the percentage of brown kernels in a sample. Kernels with a pigmented testa, when exposed to the chemical solution, turn black; kernels without a pigmented testa are bleached pearly

FIRST OF TWO PARTS

Though corn and soybean prices determined in the trading pits of the Chicago Board of Trade since April would suggest the bear might be sprouting bull horns, the fundamental relationship between supply and demand remains heavily weighted in favor of supply. This condition has plagued American agriculture fairly consistently since the turn of the century.

The New Farm and Forest Products (NFFP) Task Force, formed in 1984 at the behest of former Secretary of Agriculture John Block to investigate solutions to this problem, delivered its report to his successor, Richard Lyng. The governmental/academic/private sector group found that the condition has indeed been continuous and in recent years has been worsened by the emergence of competition in the export arena for a shrinking market and has been aggravated by increased productivity.

The group's conclusion was that maintaining the current government support of agriculture would yield only more-of-the-same and withdrawal of support would result in economic chaos. The only viable course of action? Innovation and diversification into new farm and forest products to increase productivity and profitability.

The NFFP Task Force called for the creation of a foundation to effect this policy, funded by a billion-dollar trust (obtained by $200 million grain sales from Commodity Credit Corporation stores over five years). The effort they describe, to be accomplished over the next 25 years, would be a "national priority"—something akin to our space program in the 1960s.

The most fertile ground for this agricultural crusade is deemed to be in industrial applications, such as vegetable oils and derivatives to replace petroleum compounds as lubricants and ingredients. These possibilities have led to USDA research into cultivation of such exotic plants as kenaf (for newsprint), guayule (for natural rubber), and crambe, jojoba, meadowfoam, and cuphea (for the aforementioned oils).

Though some of these have enjoyed early successes (in the case of kenaf), they do not yet meet the chief criteria the Task Force recognized: "The proposed agricultural program must clearly be market-driven and responsive to market considerations." While the first experimental rolls of kenaf newsprint have gone to press, it does not yet evoke the magic phrase "market share."

The Task Force further recognized the time (as much as 20 years) and investment required to develop a market that justifies intensive agricultural production. Though such efforts must be maintained because new rich markets can be realized (soybeans were an exotic crop at the turn of the century), more immediate rewards can be realized by expanding the use of our existing commodities.

From the point of view of an experienced market analyst like David Bartholomew of Merrill Lynch Futures, Inc., the Task Force report has lofty goals but bases some of its conclusions on faulty premises. Bartholomew, who daily views agriculture from a global perspective, observed, "I like the philosophy; if you're going to have an impact, you have to approach it on a grand scale."

"But I think the report depends on the notion that supply follows demand. It's been my experience that the reverse is true. I think we should concentrate on expanding markets for the crops we know how to grow well."

As much as 150 million acres excess production capacity burdens the agricultural economy. The Task Force report said if they were "employed to produce new products for industrial uses...about $30 billion dollars of new farm income and 750,000 new (off-farm) jobs might be created."

The NFFP report is broad in scope. It proposes a concerted national effort to revive and rebuild America's first and largest industry to an even greater scale with potential total impact to our economy of $100 billion per year.

It contains draft legislation to put it into motion this year should Congress choose. The report's conclusion recalls that a similar report was prepared in 1957. It says "...much of what was said 30 years ago is essentially still true today. We members of today's Task Force sincerely hope that will not also be the case 30 years from now."

Texas FmHA head meets with White House officials

Vice President George Bush and White House Chief of Staff Howard Baker Jr. headed a list of top White House officials who briefed Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) state directors recently in Washington. Texas FmHA State Director J. Lynn Futch participated in the briefing, which was held in the historic Indian Treaty Room at the White House complex.

Although the briefing was closed to the press, Futch characterized the reports as being "...sympathetic to the credit needs of rural America. While they certainly didn't portray themselves as agricultural experts, both the Vice President and Mr. Baker demonstrated a real sensitivity to what is going on in rural America, and I believe they are on the right track in addressing some of our problems."

USDA reports '86 wheat exports met or exceeded requirements

Wheat shipments by U.S. exporters in 1986 met or exceeded importers' grade requirements, according to a report by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The third annual Wheat Quality Report, issued by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Federal Grain Inspection Service, was based on a survey of shipments amounting to 907.4 million bushels or 99 percent of wheat exported in 1986. Some of report's key conclusions are:

— 94 percent of the 1986 wheat exports were graded Number 2 or better, but on most quality factors, averages measured at or below maximum allowable percentages for U.S. Number 1 wheat.

— Test weights decreased from those of 1985 for all classes of wheat.

— Foreign material percentages remained the same as 1985 in all classes except hard red spring wheat, which showed a small increase.

— 84 percent of all lots contained less than 1.0 percent dockage.

The 1986 Wheta Quality Report also included for the first time details on the quality of domestic grain shipments. According to the report, approximately 54 percent of inspected new-crop wheat for domestic shipment met the requirements for U.S. number 1 grade. Approximately 80 percent of Durum, 70 percent of Hard Red Spring wheat and 12 percent of Soft Red Winter wheat samples were graded U.S. Number 1.

Farm News

Rising prices since early this year continue to intensify speculation on the prospective 1987-crop deficiency payment rate.

With the year-long average of farm level prices below the 55-cent loan in 1986, last year's payment rate was 26 cents per pound, the difference between the loan and the 81-cent 1986 target price. But this year the average price received by farmers has risen well above the 52.25-cent 1987 loan, and the final payment rate therefore will equal the difference between the 79.4-cent 1987 target and the weighted calendar year farm price average.

The maximum payment this year is 27.15 cents, the difference between the target price and the loan. And most producers requested and received an advance payment of 8.15 cents per pound, 30 percent of the maximum. Now, a major concern is that the final payment rate when calculated next January will fall below 8.15 cents, in which case a part or even all of the advance will have to be repaid.

"It's too early to say that won't happen," says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "but we don't think it's likely."

According to remarks at the Western Cotton Production Conference in Tempe, Arizona, August 18, National Cotton Council Economist Dean Ethridge agrees with that assessment. Ethridge didn't go into detail about how he reached his conclusions, but said a payment rate of at least 12 cents should be a reasonable expectation.

PCG, using preliminary figures on prices and monthly marketings released by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, shows the weighted average farm price through June at 53.31 cents. The figures include a February low of 50.31 cents and a high of 71.50 cents in June, the latest full month for which figures are available. A 71.1-cent mid-month price for July has been announced.

Using that preliminary figure and marketings comparable to June, PCG projects an average farm price of just over 54 cents for the first seven months of the year. But that figure is expected to advance rapidly as a large volume of new crop cotton becomes available at the higher prices, Johnson says. He notes also that sales through July this year lag 1986 January-July sales by about 1.5 million bales.

"That probably means marketing for the last five months will be 70 percent or more of the year's total as opposed to a more normal 57 or 58 percent," Johnson reasons. "And that will magnify the effect of late-year prices on the annual average."

Payments are based on the established farm yield, not on actual production. Even so, producers who have a crop to sell at the higher market prices should recoup most if not all their income loss from a low deficiency payment. The big losers from a decreased payment rate, Johnson explains, will be those whose crops have been lost to hail or other adverse weather. "They'll have no way to make up for reduced payments."
