High school students compete in regional UIL events, play scores

Lockney High School students who are members of the one-act play cast were in Big Spring over the weekend to present "Taming of the Shrew" in regional competition and for the first time in many years, Lockney's play was selected as the first alternate to state competition. The two winning plays were presented by Canadian and Shallowater.

Students and events they tackled included Donna Vernon in newswriting and headline writing, Orlando Mondragon in typewriting, Rosellen Arjona in feature writing, Sonia Garcia in news-writing, Gwen Lane in poetry interpretation, Jennifer Turberville in ready writing, and Cindy Cook in literary criticism. Cook placed seventh in her event.

Alternates to the area contest were Fernando Elias in feature writing, Joel Mitchell, in calculator, and Elida Luna in accounting.

In addition to being selected as first alternate, Gwen Lane and Clay Adrian were named to the all-star cast. Matt Williams and Cindy Cook received honorable mention to the all-star cast.

OTHER UIL COMPETITORS
Also competing at the regional competition were eight LHS students who placed first, second, and third at the district competition in March. All the results were not known on Monday.

Police recover property stolen from residences

Lockney Police Department has recovered items stolen from two local residences in recent days.

Due to a Crime Line article in last week's Beacon, the police department was able to gather ample information to recover merchandise stolen from the Joe Zorger home in the 200 block of East Bryant.

The investigation continues. Property stolen from the Cletis Hayes residence, located in the 300 block of East College Street, also has been recovered by police.

The Hayes burglary occurred during the day on Friday. Stolen were a VCR, a dual-cassette player with turntable and other miscellaneous items.

"With the warmer weather, we've been experiencing an increase in burglaries in Lockney," says Police Chief Lennie Gilroy. He advises residents to lock doors on their homes and vehicles and to "keep your eyes open for people who act suspicious around neighbors' property."

TRAILER STOLEN

A 300-gallon spray rig, mounted on a "two-wheel trailer with a short neck," was stolen between Thursday afternoon and 9 a.m. Saturday. It reportedly was taken from a lot between Ready RV & Marina and Lockney Gin, along Main Street.

Tracks indicated that the trailer was pulled away with a small tractor, southeast across the Lockney Gin lot.

Anyone having information about the trailer theft is asked to contact Lockney Police Department.

PREDICTABLE TIMETABLE

SMELLS LIKE FERTILIZER TO ME

By Lee Pitts
It's almost time to pick the political joke who will be picking our pockets for the next four years. For the last seven years the Republicans have been making money in this country the old fashioned way...by borrowing it...and now the Democrats want their chance. I am in a quandary over whom to vote for. I was listening to the presidential debates in the restroom of a gas station the other day and I listened for 10 minutes before I realized it wasn't the radio playing but the hot-air hand blower.

The problem this election year is that none of the politicians are cowboy kind of candidates. It's not like the last presidential election, when we had a nominee who appealed to cowboy voters. Reagan rode horses, looked good in a cowboy hat, and didn't make a move without first consulting his wife. Now that was a candidate a cowboy could relate to.

Most of my cowboy friends are not real savvy on current events. I have fence posts that know more about politics than most of my friends. Dibs is a good example. The last publication he read was one of those Scratch-and-Sniff books for kids. He didn't really read it, he just kind of smelled his way through it. Anyway, Dibs thinks that this year's crop of candidates stinks. He said he's not going to vote until they make a Scratch-and-Sniff ballot.

Dibs is so politically uneducated that

Board airs 'at-risk' pupils, drugs, long-range goals

"At-risk" students, a long-range plan for the school system and concern over use of drugs were key items in the school board's regular meeting on April 19.

According to Supt. W.H. (Dub) Hallmark, major emphasis will be placed on the "at-risk" student program, which is to focus attention on "potential drop-outs."

Through such barometers as achievement scores, retention in the same grades and others, these "high-risk" pupils will be targeted and are to receive special attention.

A summer reading program is being considered as one tool to aid potential drop-outs.

LONG-RANGE PLAN

A long-range plan for the school, mandated by the state, was discussed by trustees and administrative personnel attending the meeting.

A 23-person committee will be formed. It is to be comprised of two parents from each building (senior high, junior high and elementary), two students each from high school and junior high, a school board member, the school counselor and administrators.

The task force will fill out a questionnaire and devise suggestions. Instructions then will examine the proposal and added other suggestions. Input from the committee and teachers will be incorporated into the long-range plan.

The plan will take into consideration such items as: 1. List three positive things about Lockney ISD; 2. List five facility improvements or construction needs (listed by importance and by campus); 3. In the area of curriculum (course offerings, what would you add (list by campus); 4. To improve instruction, what materials or audio visual aids should be added; 5. How can we best involve the community and teachers to improve student performance; and 6. List three concerns about the school district.

DRUG CONCERNS

Thoroughly discussed was the use of drugs.

Three years ago, school officials "felt a real problem existed here, as well as in other towns." At that time, students were "quite open" and brazen about drug-alcohol use.

A parent-school personnel meeting was held. At that point, a contract was signed with a firm to supply "search dogs" to seek narcotics on the school premises. This was utilized for two years before being dropped for the 1987-88 year because officials did not feel that "we were getting our money's worth."

During the present school year, educational and law enforcement people believe "the drug problem is back."

A major obstacle in combatting the situation is "knowing exactly how to intervene" with youngsters.

"Overreaction from the public" frequently occurs, although "underreaction is dangerous, too."

Supt. Hallmark and trustees discussed end-of-school activities.

ASBESTOS INSPECTION

A federal mandate stipulates that an asbestos program be "in place by October 1988." In order to comply, trustees voted to approve a contract with a Lubbock firm, Atcheson & Associates, to inspect buildings, take and send off samples and write a management plan for the local school district. The cost is four cents per square foot.

Supt. Hallmark says "I don't anticipate any problem. I know we have no asbestos in the ceilings."

The federal regulations apply only to school buildings at the present time.

Lockney athletes head for regional track meet

Ten Lockney High School students will leave later this week for the regional track meet in Big Spring. Qualifying events will be on Friday and the finals will be held on Saturday at Howard College.

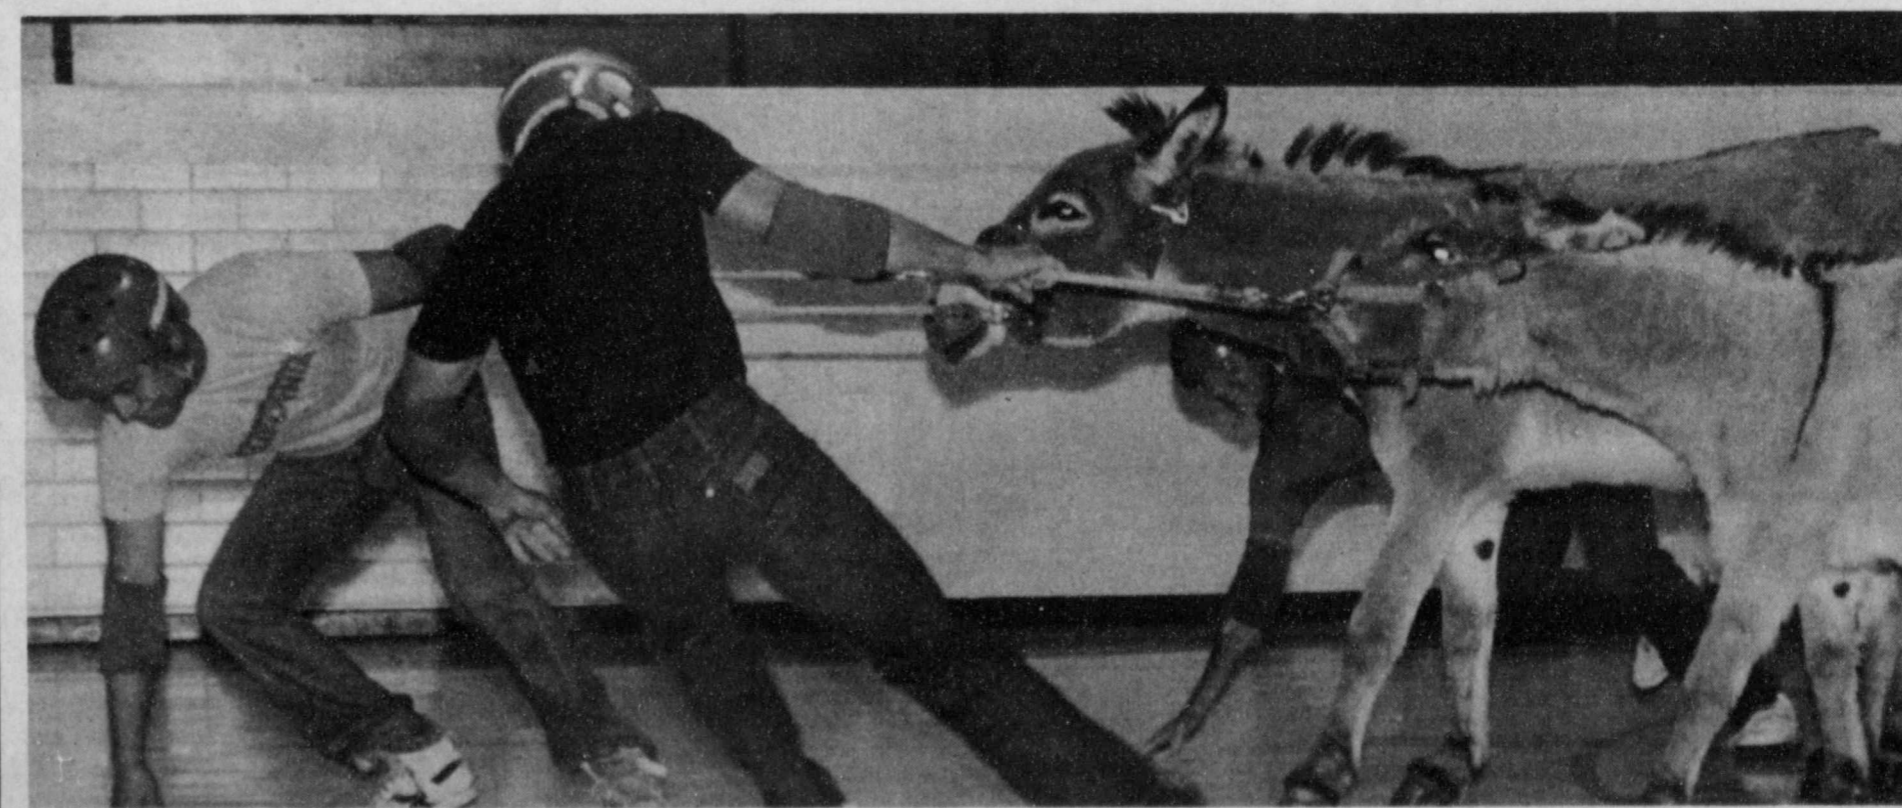

Competing from the girls team will be Shedia Hill in the 100 and 200 meter dashes, and Sundai Workman will compete in the discus.

Boys team members and their events include Michael DeLeon, Todd Hallmark, Javier Bernal and Andy Rodriguez in the 400 meter relay. Javier Bernal, Jorge Bernal, Hallmark and Rodriguez make up the 1600 meter relay team. Albert Martinez is alternate for the relays.

Rodriguez will be running in the 400 meter run, an event in which he has placed first in every meet for the 1988 season. Hallmark will compete in the 300 meter intermediate hurdles, Javier Bernal in the pole vault, and Mark Gatica will compete in both the 1600 and 3200 meter runs. Michael Monroe will represent Lockney in the 110 meter high hurdles.

"Best of luck to all these young people in their regional efforts," from their home community.

YOU'RE HOLDING UP THE GAME—The ball was just out of reach of this team and "them !*?#! donkeys knew it too." Stretching and pulling were the order of the evening as team members pleaded, conjoled, and tried to physically move the donkeys across the floor toward the ball and the ever elusive basket. Can you spot the third player? Participating Tuesday, April 19 in the Donkey Basketball game were: the Lockney Firemen, Tye Co., What Nots (consisting of Lockney area residents), and the School Cools (faculty). The game was played in the Lockney High School gym. All the players were equipped with rubber soles including the donkeys.

TEAMS TEST

Beginning with the 1990-1991 school year, the exit level TEAMS test will include a written composition as part of the language arts test. This year's eighth graders will be the first group required to pass this addition to the EXIT test for high school graduation. Parents or students with questions may contact Charlotte Mitchell, the school counselor, at 652-3325.

EXIT TESTS

The EXIT test for high school graduation will be given on Tuesday, May 3, and Wednesday, May 4, at Lockney High School. Juniors and seniors who have not passed the math section will take it in the morning on May 3, and the language arts section will be given on May 4. Both sections of the test must be passed in order to graduate from high school. Parents or students having questions may contact Charlotte Mitchell, the school counselor, at 652-3325.

TRANSFERS DUE BY MAY 1

Any and all students interested in transferring into the Lockney school system for the 1988-89 school year must have applications of transfer turned into the superintendent's office by May 1, 1988. Applications may be picked up at that office. No applications will be accepted after the deadline.

students outside this district — primarily from Plainview — to take driver's education in Lockney this summer.

The board approved accepting outside students if this does not interfere with local pupils desiring to take the course this summer. A tuition fee of $135 for outside students was adopted.

Those interested are advised to contact one of the driver's ed teachers to enroll.

Dr. Gary Mangold was appointed as delegate and Lisa Mosley as alternate to the state school board conference in San Antonio this September. However, the event occurs on the same week-end as Lockney High's homecoming.

PAY SCALE ADOPTED FOR AUXILIARY PERSONNEL

A pay scale for auxiliary personnel was authorized. It includes: Aide I, 40 percent of the teacher's salary; Aide II, 45 percent of the teacher's salary; Aide III, 50 percent of the teacher's salary; Aide IV, 60 percent of the teacher's salary; and Aide V, 70 percent of the teacher's salary.

Trustees approved the media contract for the 1988-89 school year with the Education Service Center, Region 17, headquartered in Lubbock. Film, audio/visual supplies and other teaching aides are supplied by the service center.

Four secretaries, the bookkeeper, five custodians, the bus supervisor and the lunchroom supervisor were re-hired for the 1988-89 school year.

Five resignations were accepted. They include: Randy and Karla Josey, who are moving to Chillicothe, which he will become athletic director-head football coach; Beverly Clements, high school English, who desires to spend more time with her family; Nora Martinez, an elementary school migrant aide, who has accepted a secretarial position in Plainview; and Les Ross, band director.

Ross will become director of the Caprock Co-op, which includes Lockney, Floydada and Petersburg school systems. Hallmark, who praised Ross for his work with the local school bands this year, says, "at least we'll still have Les involved with our program."

Sherri Rodriguez was re-hired as junior high math instructor for next year. She joined the staff at mid-term.

he wanted to bet me that the Electoral College wouldn't win a game this season. How stupid can a person be?

Anyway, Dibs and I were down at the Quickie Market one day last week trying to find out the score of the Electoral College game and there was this lady there from the League of Women Voters.

She asked Dibs, "Are you registered?"

"No, but I got a Hereford bull that is," answered Dibs.

"I don't care about your bull. I want to know if you are registered."

"Why do you want to know? You need me for breeding purposes or what?"

"I just want to know if you are a Democrat or a Republican."

"I don't rightly know, but I guess I'd be a Republican because my daddy was a Republican, my granddaddy was a Republican and my great-granddaddy was a Republican."

"Well, just because your forefathers were Republicans doesn't mean that you have to be."

"Ma'am, a person is born either Republican or Democrat. It's heritable. I think it has something to do with X and Y chromosomes. It's the same as being born a male or a female."

"But can't you change your preference later in life?" asked the woman.

Kenneth Wofford was appointed as judge for the May 7 trustee election. His assistants will be Maria Arellano, Retha Wofford and Mollie Huffman.

Both school and hospital elections are to be held in the high school foyer.

The meeting opened with the call to order, invocation, approval of minutes of the previous meeting and approval of current bills, investments and the tax report.

"Where I come from we don't have those kind of parties ma'am."

"Let me put it another way. Just because your father was a Republican doesn't mean you have to. Suppose your father was a bank robber, your grandfather was a horse thief, and your great-grandfather robbed stage coaches. What would you be then?"

"Then I guess I'd be a Democrat," replied Dibs.

The lady from the League was losing her patience. "Deciding one's party is not to be taken lightly. There are pros and cons in each party."

WHAT IS COTTON?

Cotton has been both praised and cursed through the years. Another view of "What is Cotton?" hangs on an Edmonson Gin, taken from an article which appeared in a Boston newspaper. It states:

"Cotton is the overcoat of a seed that is planted and grown in the Southern states to keep the producer broke and buyer crazy. The fibre varies in color and weight and the man who can guess the nearest length of a fibre is called a cotton man by the public, a fool by the farmer and a poor business man by his creditors."

"The price of cotton is fixed in New York and goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought. A buyer working for a group of mills was sent to New York to watch the cotton market and after a few days' deliberation wired his firm to this effect — 'Some think it will go up, some think it will go down. I do, too. Whatever you do will be wrong. Act at once.'

"Cotton is planted in the spring, mortgaged in the summer and left in the field in winter."

"There are other definitions, but none better than this."

Letter to the Editor

Mr. Reynolds,

Once again I must write concerning an extremely poor judgement on appropriate material for your column. In the March 27, 1988 issue your column contained a paragraph on "Why a Ship is Called She." It is obvious you included this to obtain a chuckle, however men that laugh at this have no respect for women and women who find this humorous are sorely lacking in either self-esteem or courage to stand up against discrimination. While the entire paragraph is sexist and offensive to women, three items on the list are especially disturbing.

Item B: "There's usually a gang of men around her." and item F: "She knows her topsides, hides her bottom, and when coming into port, always heads for the boys." imply that most women are prostitutes and that women generally encourage sexual encounters with any available man. This is in conflict with the widely held belief that women are the embodiment of all that is good, pure, and right in the world. Obviously, both of the above are extreme examples. The fact is that there are some extraordinarily good women and some flagrantly evil women, but the majority fall somewhere in between—not at all unlike men. Women must be accorded a totally equal position with relation to men. We are all ultimately responsible for our actions, however, to propagate the above viewpoints set women backward in their efforts to attain equality.

The third and most reprehensible item in the paragraph is item E: "It takes a good man to handle her right." When I read that item, pictures condoning physical abuse to women flooded my thoughts. There is also the implication that women are weak and helpless and must be supported by men and, accordingly, that women are chattel to men. Is this the 1980's or the 1880's? Women's, and any other human's rights in this country include corporal integrity and respect.

Mr. Reynolds—you are fortunate to have a career which enables you to influence people's thoughts through a public media. However, along with the privilege of such a position comes a responsibility to educate your readers, not to insult over 50% of the American population. Perhaps it is time to sit down with your staff to review and revise your paper's policy on sexism. It is most definitely time for you to apologize to the female readers of your column for your gross lack of judgement and insulting remarks contained in your column.

Coach Kemp retiring with 861 victories under belt

Marcy Kemp, who will be retiring May 28 from the Lockney school system, compiled a record of 861 wins, 319 losses and 6 ties during his career as a head or assistant coach. His record shows 42 playoff championships.

Kemp served Paint Rock, Agua Dulce and Bishop school systems as a teacher/coach before coming with Coach Jim Clark to Lockney for the final year of his career.

"His versatility as a teacher/coach is substantiated by his win-loss record," The Beacon was told.

His total times in the winner's circle (record) as either a head or assistant coach: football, 247-131-6, 12 district championships; basketball, 594-188, 10 district championships; track, 17, 17 district championships; golf, 2, 2 regional medalists; tennis, 1, 1 district co-championship.

During his five years as head coach-athletic director at Agua Dulce, his football teams posted a composite 39-16-0 record. While coaching there, he had four district champions, two state quarterfinalists, one regional finalist and one bi-district champion. The fifth year his team finished second in district with a 7-2-0 record.

As a junior high coach 16 years, his teams had seven district championships. Seven of these squads were undefeated.

Under his tutorage, the Agua Dulce girls basketball teams won 79 consecutive conference games. They won nine district titles, made six trips to regional and were regional finalists on three occasions.

"The three times we didn't win our way to regional we lost by a total of four points — one was a two-point loss in overtime," Coach Kemp remembers. "We won 21 or more games each of those 10 seasons. Our worst record was 21-7; our best was 33-3."

During his eight years as head track coach, his teams won five district titles. His athletes won individual state championships twice in discus, once in shot put and once in 120 yard high hurdles. Many of his athletes have placed in various state events: discus — second, fourth, two fifths and one sixth; shot put — two seconds and two thirds; pole vault — sixth; high jump — fourth; long jump — third; 120 yard high hurdles — second and sixth; 330 intermediate hurdles — sixth; 440 yard dash — fifth; 880 yard dash — fourth; mile run — two fourths; 3200 meter run — fourth; one mile relay — fifth.

Twelve of Kemp's 14 junior high track teams won district championships.

In addition, he coached one tennis district co-championship team and two golf regional medalists (fourth in state).

One of his coaching honors came after being hired to coach a football team that owned a 1-9 record the previous year and taking that squad to an 8-3 record, losing in the quarterfinal round to the eventual state champion. For his efforts, he was named to the final four for the Corpus Christi Caller Times "Coach of the Year" award.

Kemp was chosen Alice Echo Area Coach of the Year in 1979 after his team compiled an 8-4 record and lost in the state quarterfinal round.

"My most prized honor," says Coach Kemp, "was 'The Longhorn' (school annual) being dedicated to me after only a five-year tenure at Agua Dulce High School."

He was an assistant to Coach Jim Clark for four years at Bishop and one year in Lockney.

Lockney Care Center

By Lanita Cantwell
 Lockney Care Center residents enjoyed a nice bus ride to Plainview last week after the rain quit. We saw a few lilacs starting to bloom and enjoyed ice cream at McDonald's. On Tuesday we enjoyed the music of John and Maebelle Francis. They come often to perform for us and the residents really appreciate it. We are still in the midst of remodeling, but hope to be finished real soon.

We wish to send our sympathy to the family of Charlie Quisenberry and Bessie Hunt who passed away last week. Mrs. Hunt has been with us for such a long time, and is really missed. Mr. Quisenberry was only here a short time but was known and loved by many in our community. We will miss him.

We have a lot of activities planned for Nursing Home Week which will be May 8-15. We will be having our enchilada luncheon on May 9 from 12:00 until 1:30 p.m. Tickets will be $3 per plate and will be available for take-out or for eating here at the nursing home. Proceeds will benefit nursing home projects. See any of our employees for tickets.

This week we want you to meet one of our employees, Virginia Torrez, and a resident, Ruby Busby.

Virginia Torrez has been the Laundry Supervisor for four years. She was wanting something to do when a friend suggested she try a job at Lockney Care Center. In the six years she has been here she worked in dietary and house-keeping.

She enjoys visiting with the residents when she returns their clean clothes and collects her reward of big smiles and thank yous.

Virginia's parents, Pedro and Sofia Sosa had 18 children. Virginia was born in Marian, Texas, raised in Schertz and went to school there. She and her husband, Joe have been married 25 years and have seven children, Elida, Pat, Hopie, Chris, Johnny, Joe Jr. and Gloria. There are nine grandchildren. Virginia says she does not have time for any hobbies except to take care of her grandchildren.

This week's special resident worked as a telephone operator for several years. She says it was an exciting job and she got to know lots of people. Ruby Busby is so cheerful and kind that I'm sure she made the job exciting. Her parents were Nancy Elizabeth and William Reily Sams and she was born at raised around Lockney.

She lived on the farm and like a lot of her generation she and her three sisters had to walk to school. All her life on the farm was not work; she says they took out time for baseball, borrowing a bike now and then to ride and making doll clothes.

When she was nine years old her dad decided to go somewhere so they went in a covered wagon and were gone several days; they camped out and cooked on a campfire.

Ruby married Frank Busby in 1921 and they had one daughter who died when she was young.

Here at Lockney Care Center Ruby enjoys watching T.V. with her roommate and if you come to visit and can't find her, she is probably down the hall sitting with her sister, Nora who also lives here.

THANKS FOR THE EFFORTS—During the Lockney General Hospital lobby open house, the above thank you's were extended to the people who helped II Penseroso Junior Study Club and Athena Study Club with the redecorating project. —Staff photo

Editor's Note: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q — What type of income should I report on my annual income questionnaire to determine eligibility for VA pension benefits?
 A — All income from all sources must be reported. The VA will determine what sources and amounts will be counted and the amount of income to be excluded.

Q — Can a veteran get a farm loan from the VA?
 A — No. If the farm has a residence that will be personally occupied by the veteran, the property may qualify for a VA guaranteed home loan.

A — Yes. Reimbursement can be made to the estate of the deceased veteran when the burial expenses were prepaid. However, no reimbursement can be made for a prepaid headstone.

Senior Citizens News
 A general meeting for all members of the Lockney Senior Citizens was held on April 19 and President Harmon Handley opened the meeting by telling members that "there is a rumor going around the area, that Lockney has one of the best centers in this part of Texas."

The center is debt free and noon meals have been served to 3,207 people. Serving of meals began on November 9 and the number of meals were counted through April 1, 1988. With all the activities that are planned at the center, approximately 300 people per week are utilizing the building. "We expect attendance to raise in the summer months when more of our elderly people can get out at night," commented one official.

Velma Harrison has been named hostess for May and assisting her will be Theresa Stennett, Bertha Rolling, Marie Wylie and Gladys Ragle.

Everyone is reminded that the monthly birthday party will be April 28. There will be a potluck supper that night and following the meal, the Dutch Girl quilt will be auctioned off.

On Monday of this week, 29 people were at the center for the defensive driving course. Blake and Ruth Lyde of Petersburg were the instructors.

Plans for Hale County Roundup set

Complete plans for the 60th Pioneer Round-Up are taking shape, according to Pat Ray, president of the sponsoring organization, the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club. The Round-Up will be held Saturday, May 21.

The traditional square dance will conclude the activities and the guest caller will be Sid Perkins of Plainview. Helen Bursleson is Dance Chairman.

Perkins is calling for Promenaders of Plainview; Whirlers of Lockney-Floydada; Levi & Laces of Lubbock and conducts weekly workshops for that group on Monday nights; and also calls for Shirts and Skirts of Tulia and teaches in Tulia, Floydada & Plainview.

Perkins is a veteran square dancer and has been calling for 25 years. He has called in Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and the New England states. He called eleven years at Fun Valley, Colorado, and will be calling at Red River, N.M., in August.

He will be calling a cancer benefit square dance, Saturday, April 30 at the American Legion beginning at 8:00 p.m., sponsored by Belles & Beaus and Promenaders. There will also be a pie and cake auction and the public is invited.

He is a hobby caller and has a daily radio program over KWLD, Wayland Baptist University and in the past conducted square dancing over Wayland's television station.

He is a past President of West Texas Callers and Teachers Assn.; past president of Amarillo Area Callers & Teachers Assn. and past president of New Mexico Callers and Teachers Assn.

Mrs. Bursleson and Perkins cordially invite all square dancers to attend the Pioneer Round-Up and participate in the square dance which will begin at approximately 9:00 p.m. on Saturday night, May 21, at the Ollie Liner Center. Everyone is also invited to enjoy the waltz, polka and other couple dances.

LHS athletes honored at banquet

Blanco, Ballejo, Hallmark, Lane, Bernal special award winners

All Lockney High School athletes and their parents were invited to the annual All-Sports Banquet which was held Saturday night in the Lockney Elementary School Cafetorium.

Highlighting the banquet were the naming of students receiving the J.L. Martin Christian Athlete, the Josie Taylor Longhorn Spirit and the Fighting Heart awards.

Jim Bob Martin was on hand to present the J.L. Martin Christian Athlete awards which are given in memory of his father, J.L. Martin. They are students who exhibit Christian values in their everyday lives. He presented this award to Gwen Lane and Todd Hallmark.

Rise (Taylor) Ford presented the Josie Taylor Longhorn Spirit award, which is given in memory of her late grandmother. It goes to the two students who best exemplify the Longhorn spirit on as well as off campus. This year's winners were Jimmy Ballejo and Veronica Blanco.

Recipients of the Fighting Heart Award, presented by Coach Jim Clark, were Veronica Blanco and Javier Bernal.

OTHER AWARDS

In addition to the special awards presented, all athletes in all sporting events were recognized. Each received a certificate stating his/her events, and varsity players received either letter jackets or trophies.

This year's banquet lead off with all boys and girls in sub-varsity sporting events being recognized. Varsity players were announced by coaches throughout the banquet.

FOOTBALL AWARDS

Coach Jim Clark was called on to announce the outstanding football players for 1987-88.

Named as outstanding offensive lineman was Ron Cates, Todd Hallmark was named offensive back, Glenn Hardin was named outstanding player on the defensive forcing unit, and Michael DeLeon was outstanding player on the secondary. These awards are selected by the coaching staff.

Named by their peers to receive special awards were Todd Hallmark for the leadership award, Ron Cates for attitude, and Michael DeLeon and Clay Harrison tied for the desire award.

Coach Clark commented on the 1987-88 team, "We made it through the year and it was our seniors that held us all together by guiding the younger players. I think I am more proud of this bunch of kids than any I have ever coached. They could have given up early in the season, but they didn't. They kept pushing till the end and they are a special bunch."

CROSS COUNTRY AWARDS

Karla Josey announced the outstanding cross country athletes. Named as outstanding members of the varsity cross country teams were Angie Moya, Joann Castro, Albert Martinez and Mark Gatica.

Of the teams Josey said, "The girls worked very hard and have a good future ahead of them." When commenting on the boys varsity team she said, "It was an honor to coach these young men." She also thanked the booster clubs, the school, and the parents for their support of the team throughout the year.

GIRLS BASKETBALL AWARDS

"We are going to miss the seniors and, as for the rest of the girls, be patient with us since our time is coming," commented Coach Eddie Fortenberry as he gave out the girls basketball awards. Fortenberry said that the younger girls coming up will improve each year and in the future the Lockney girls will be on the winning end of the scoreboard.

Fortenberry announced the winners of the desire, leadership, and attitude awards which are voted on by team members. Winner of the desire award was Tandi Gant, who also received the attitude award. Melinda Basaldua was named as the leadership award winner.

Selected by the coaches were the outstanding offensive player, Tandi Gant, and the outstanding defensive player, Amy Turner.

BOYS BASKETBALL AWARDS

"We had a winning season and I really enjoyed coaching these young men," commented Coach Phil Cotham just prior to naming the outstanding boys basketball players.

Todd Hallmark was named as the outstanding offensive player and was the recipient of the attitude award and co-winner of the leadership award. Ron Cates was named outstanding defensive player and winner of the desire award. Jimmy Ballejo was co-winner of the leadership award.

TRACK AWARDS

Shedia Hill and Sundai Workman, both regional qualifiers from the Lady Horn varsity track team, were awarded as the outstanding team members. Todd Hallmark, Javier Bernal and Andy Rodriguez were announced as the outstanding Longhorn tracksters for 1987-88.

Coach Jim Clark commented on the boys team. He said, "Times are still getting better for these young men. Since the first meet in Floydada, when we took first place, the boys teams have continually gotten better and they have not peaked yet. We are saving the best for the regional track meet this weekend. We had a good shot at the district title but we did not quite make it. But we have eight young men who are going to the regional meet."

POWERLIFTING

Coach Clark recognized powerlifters for the 1987-88 school year and called special attention to those who qualified for regionals. These included Lupe Coronado, Joe Luna, Joe Castro, and Henry Ruiz. He also called special attention to Joe Castro who was at the state power lifting meet.

Lockney has been represented at the state level for the last four years and stand a good chance of returning in the future with Castro, a sophomore, and the team members who will be competing again next year.

ACADEMIC ALL DISTRICT

Superintendent of schools, W.H. Hallmark was called on to recognize some very special students at Lockney High School. These are the students who were named to the academic all-district. These students must maintain a 90 or above average in academic subjects while participating in athletic events.

Freshmen named to the list include Armando Banda, Kima Blanco, Jerry Don Evans, Tandi Gant, Lori Gonzales, Aimee Green, Orlando Mondragon, Angie Moya, Jeffrey Sutterfield and

Mitchell, Davis, Jackson revealed as college scholarship recipients

Joel Mitchell was announced Sunday as the winner of the 1988 Wal-Mart Scholarship for the Plainview area, according to Bill Meeke, Plainview Wal-Mart manager. Mitchell was chosen from a field of three finalists. The other two were Boyd Jackson of Lockney, who was first alternate, and Antonio Garcia of Olton, who was second alternate.

Mitchell will receive a $1,000 scholarship, which is payable over two years.

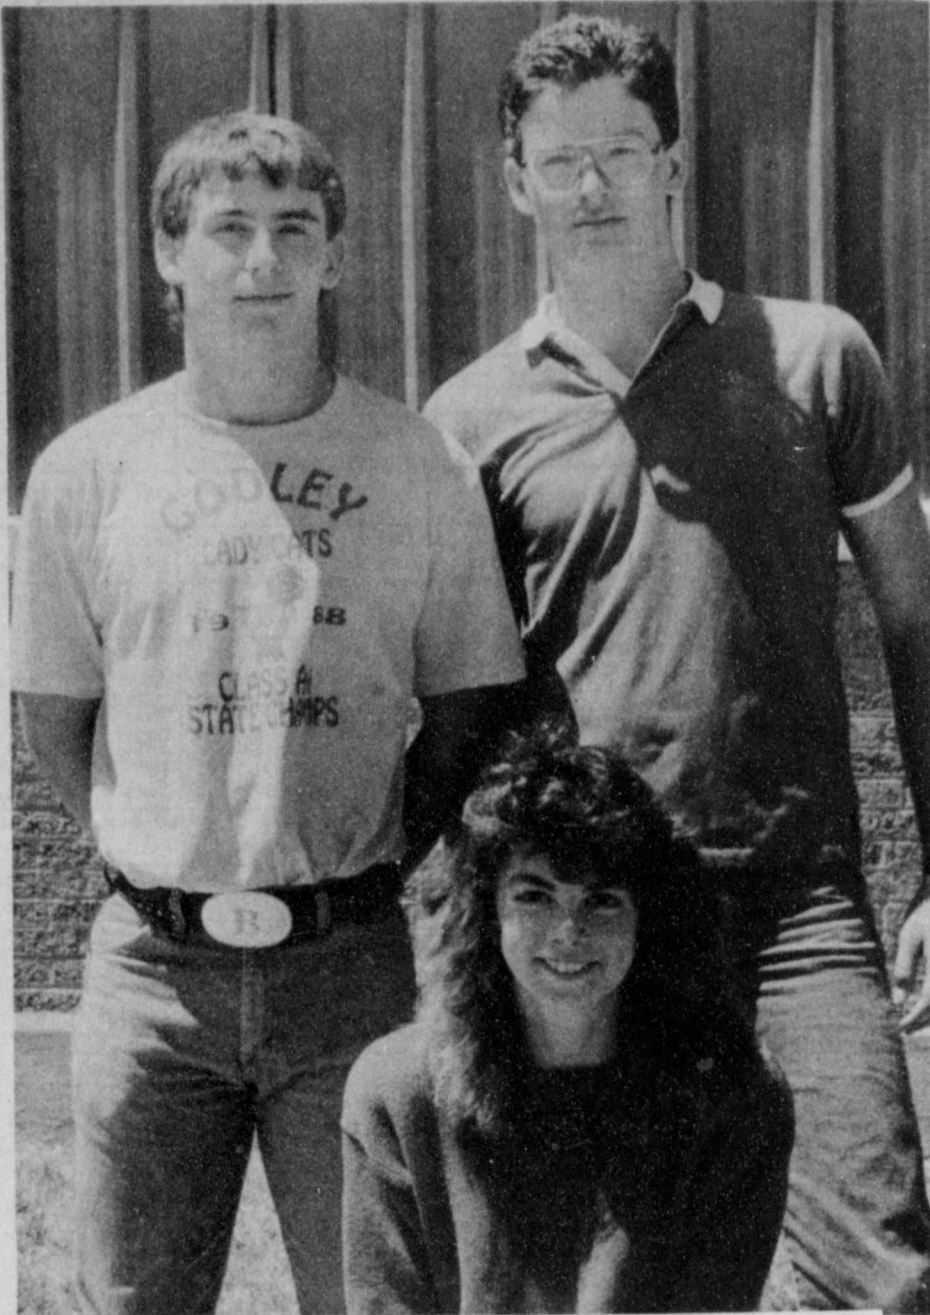

This is one of more than 1,200 scholarships totaling $1.1 million being given by the firm, which were awarded in a 23 state, 114-store trade territory.

In addition to the Wal-Mart scholarship, Mitchell has also been notified that he will receive a $2,000 Elgin B. Robertson scholarship which was given by the Southwest Engineering Foundation.

Mitchell is planning to attend Texas A&M University and major in electrical engineering. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Mitchell.

Kathy Davis has been notified that she will receive a full four-year scholarship in band to San Angelo State University. Davis, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Davis, is undecided on her major.

Boyd Jackson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Jackson, was also notified recently that he has been awarded a $200 general scholarship to Texas Tech University in Lubbock. Jackson plans to major in computer science.

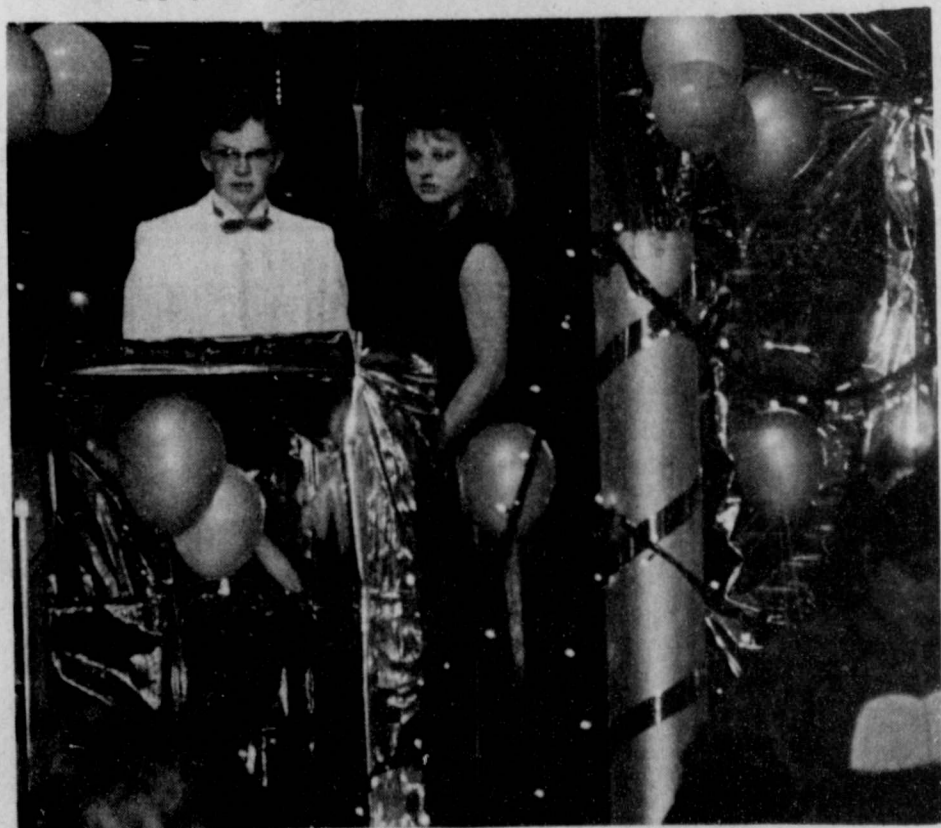

SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS—Boyd Jackson, Joel Mitchell and Kathy Davis were all recently notified that they have won scholarships. Jackson will receive a $200 general scholarship to Texas Tech University, Mitchell has received a $1,000 Wal-Mart scholarship and a $2,000 Elgin B. Robertson scholarship, and Davis has received a four-year band scholarship to San Angelo State. —Staff photo

POLICE ESCORT—Members of the Lockney High School one-act play cast and crew left Lockney last Thursday for Big Spring with a police escort from city deputy Jerry Edwards. The Lockney play, "Taming of the Shrew," was named first alternate to the State competition. If for any reason the top two plays, presented by Canadian and Shallowater, are not able to make the State competition, the Lockney play will be presented. —Staff Photo

HOST AND HOSTESS—For the recent junior-senior prom, Scott Armstrong acted as the host for the evening and Raetta Starnes was hostess. —Staff photo

Steven Vasquez.

Wesley Teeter was the only sophomore and Scott Armstrong was the only junior to be named to the list. Only two seniors made the list: Boyd Jackson and Joel Mitchell.

Closing out the evening was a slide presentation of pictures made at various athletic events throughout the 1987-88 school year.

Cheerleaders rounded out the evening with the singing of the school song.

Emcee for the evening was C.L. Record. The group was treated to a chicken fried steak dinner, prepared by the lunchroom staff.

A dance for students ended the event.

Joe Castro competes in state meet

Joe Castro, a sophomore at Lockney High School, traveled to College Station this past weekend to represent Lockney at the state powerlifting meet. Castro was accompanied to the competition by Coach Randy Josey.

Castro competed in the 123-pound weight class and placed eighteenth in the state in his class. Castro, however, did improve his personal best total weight. He had a total of 745 pounds, which is 20 pounds over his best to date.

Of this state competitor Coach Josey commented, "I am very proud of Joe.

He was in very tough competition but he did a super job. All the schools in the state compete together so Joe was competing with one A through five A schools. Most of the time the five A schools win, but Joe represented Lockney very well and I am proud of him."

1988 marks the fourth year in a row that Lockney has been represented in state powerlifting competition. With Castro just being a sophomore, he is already making plans to return to state in 1989.

OBITUARIES

CHARLIE QUISENBERRY
 Charlie O. Quisenberry, a Lockney community resident for 45 years before moving to Plainview in 1969, was claimed by death at 1:15 p.m. Thursday in Lockney General Hospital after a brief illness. He was 86.

Memorial rites were at 10 a.m. Saturday in Lemons Memorial Chapel in Plainview. Interment was made in Parklawn Memorial Gardens.

Born in Collin County, Mr. Quisenberry moved from Plano to the Lockney area in 1924 and to Plainview in 1969. He attended school in McKinney.

Mr. Quisenberry married Grace Lee Gammons on Dec. 16, 1922, in McKinney. She preceded him in death on April 30, 1983, in Plainview.

A farmer, he retired in 1968. Survivors include three sons, Charles Quisenberry of Austin, Robert Lee Quisenberry of Lubbock and Denny Quisenberry of Lockney; a brother, Tandy Quisenberry of Plainview; a sister, Lucille McMeghan of Lubbock; 11 grandchildren; 20 great-grandchildren; and a great-great-grandchild.

MILTON MOORE
 Funeral rites for Milton Edward Moore, 49, of Dimmitt were at 4 p.m. Friday in First United Methodist Church in Dimmitt. The Rev. Vernon O'Kelly, pastor, officiated.

Burial was made in Westlawn Memorial Park. Mr. Moore was the father of Traci Tannahill of Lockney.

He was claimed by death Wednesday night in St. Joseph's Hospital in Albuquerque, N.M., after a lengthy illness.

A Big Spring native, he married Alice Johnson on Dec. 20, 1980, in Dimmitt. He was a farmer and a member of First United Methodist Church.

The family suggests memorials to the Make-A-Wish Foundation in Amarillo. Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Darena Bentley of Tulsa, Teri Owens of Amarillo and Traci Tannahill of Lockney; his father, Odie Moore of Dimmitt; a sister, Beth Vinson of Mabank; and seven grandchildren.

Soil fertility to limit yields unless fertilizer added

Soil tests reveal that soil fertility levels in the Southern High Plains of Texas will limit average crop yields to less than 300 pounds of lint per acre if producers do not apply fertilizers.

Cotton requires about 18 inches of water and from 50 to 60 pounds of nitrogen to yield 300 pounds of lint per acre. Five hundred eighty samples collected from 200 farms contained an average of 36 pounds of nitrate nitrogen in the top two feet of the soil.

These soil samples were collected in the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District's service area by the USDA-Soil Conservation Service and water district personnel in December 1987 and January 1988 while making the pre-plant soil moisture survey.

Plant nutrient levels measured in the soil samples were nitrate nitrogen, phosphorus, potassium, calcium, magnesium, zinc, iron, manganese, copper and sodium. In addition, soil pH and salinity were measured. Only nitrogen appeared to be low enough to limit crop production.

Cotton requires about 22 inches of water and 80 to 90 pounds of nitrogen to yield 500 pounds of lint per acre. If a higher yield goal of 750 pounds per acre of lint is desired, 30 inches of water and 110 to 120 pounds of nitrogen are needed.

In addition to the nitrogen, 20 to 25 pounds of phosphorus (P2O5) are required for a yield goal of 500 pounds of lint per acre, while 35 to 40 pounds of phosphorus (P2O5) are required for a 750 pound yield. The sampled sites had an average of 122 pounds of phosphorus (P2O5) in the top two feet of the soil.

Research demonstration plots at Texas Tech University, on the Texas A&M University Research Station, and on producer's farms in 1987 did not show significant responses to the addition of phosphorus on cotton.

Nature provides about 20 pounds of nitrogen per acre each year from soil organism activities, soil chemistry interactions and from the atmosphere in this area where cotton generally follows cotton. It should be safe to assume that one-half of the nitrogen provided by nature will be available during the growing season.

If you add this 10 pounds of nature-provided nitrogen to the average of 36 pounds of nitrate nitrogen found in the top two feet of the soil, 46 pounds of nitrogen would be available for crop use during the growing season.

This 46 pounds of nitrogen would support a cotton lint yield of a little less than 300 pounds of lint per acre, which would not be a break-even yield for most producers.

The average amount of nitrate nitrogen found in the top two feet of soil in Armstrong County was 69 pounds per acre. Bailey County had 16 pounds per acre. Castro County had 66 pounds per acre. Cochran County had 48 pounds per acre. Crosby County had 22 pounds per acre. Deaf Smith had 97 pounds per acre. Floyd County had 51 pounds per acre. Hale County had 32 pounds per acre. Hockley County had 22 pounds per acre. Lamb County had 24 pounds per acre. Lubbock County had 16 pounds per acre. Lynn County had 8 pounds per acre. Parmer County had 27 pounds per acre. Potter County had 8 pounds per acre, and Randall County had 53 pounds per acre.

These averages should not be used to determine fertilizer needs for individual farms in the counties represented. Producers are urged to collect soil samples from their own farms for fertility analysis to make these determinations.

Nitrogen moves with the moisture in the soil. Therefore, a split application of nitrogen helps prevent leaching losses. A small pre-plant application of nitrogen helps insure seedling vigor and provides the plant with adequate nutrients to retain an early fruit set.

During the growing season, the addition of five pounds of nitrogen per inch of water applied as irrigation or received from precipitation will insure an adequate nitrogen supply for maximum water use efficiency and yields. Water use efficiency can be increased by 20 to 30 percent with a balanced fertility program.

Farmers will test futures, options under USDA plan

Over the next two years farmers in 40 counties of 22 states will participate in a different sort of government program. They will market their crops in the free market managing price risks with the same tools — futures and futures-options — used by those who purchase their crops.

The 1985 Food Security Act mandated the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) to conduct a pilot program providing farmers the assurance of government loan prices while hedging their crops with futures and futures-options.

It has taken the USDA nearly three years of study and planning to devise a program that tests the potential of providing farmers price risk protection in the free market. Guidelines for the program were just announced.

County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) offices will administer the program, but cooperative extension services will provide the education enrolled farmers will need. The USDA brought extension officers to the Chicago Board of Trade to prepare them for that role before announcing the details of the program.

They were told the program has three objectives: (1) educate farmers to the use of futures and futures-options; (2) encourage the use of the free market by farmers; (3) reduce government spending on farm programs. It is the latter objective that stimulates the USDA to meet the first two. Should the program succeed the government will have taken another step out of the commodity marketplace.

As Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) stocks are reduced to a point where they are no longer the chief determinant of prices, farmer participation in the free market through the effective use of futures and futures-options could prevent the huge agricultural outlays that have burdened the federal budget in recent years.

Even though the CCC has cut its grain stocks and expenditures steadily since its record $22.4 billion in 1986, the USDA estimates it still spent $17 billion in 1987.

Essentially, the program will guarantee participants the county loan prices for their crops, whether soybeans, corn, wheat or cotton. Working with his banker and broker, each will devise a marketing plan to achieve his price goal using futures and/or futures-options. If the cash price plus futures or options gains or losses should total less than the county loan rate, the government will make up the difference.

Thus the government's exposure is considerably reduced from the full loan rate and the crops remain in the free market system rather than accumulating in CCC stockpiles for which the government must also pay storage fees.

A futures contract is an agreement to buy or sell a commodity during some future month for a price determined now. The buyer of a futures-option buys the right, but not the obligation, to enter into a futures contract, as either a buyer (a call option) or a seller (a put option), at a pre-determined price (strike price) with the seller of the option during a certain time.

The program as passed by Congress was to focus on the use of options because buyers, as the program intends farmers to be, do not have to post margin funds. Since options are based on futures, though, the program will cover hedging with both.

The program as now prescribed by the USDA is cautious. Producers may only sell futures or buy options. They may hedge up to 50 percent of their anticipated crop before harvest and up to 100 percent of the crop actually harvested.

They must demonstrate that futures prices or futures-options strike prices will result in hedges at least as high as their county loan price. They will be limited to three contracts in each of the two years of the program. Participants may also place their crops under the CCC price support loan program.

To lift a hedge, futures contracts must be offset (in the program participants' cases, bought back) within two days of any cash market transaction. Delivery on a futures contract is not allowed.

Henry Bahn, the USDA official who presided over the briefing for extension service agents, noted that the USDA has good reason to conduct the program so carefully.

"The Department is not used to administering educational programs," he said. "We don't really know what our overall exposure (to expenses) will be. This isn't intended to increase the volume of producer participation in the futures and options markets. It's supposed to make them aware of more tools available to them to market their crops."

CCI TO HOST GREEK TRADE MISSION

Cotton Council International, the overseas arm of the National Cotton Council, will host eight textile mill officials from Greece during a trade mission to this country April 10-23.

The group will travel to Memphis, Stoneville and Greenwood, Miss., New Orleans, Lubbock, Bakersfield, Fresno and San Francisco.

CCI officials say the visit will give cotton industry leaders an opportunity to establish more personal ties with Greek textile manufacturers who are expected to import about 320,000 bales of cotton this year.

Have A Nice Week!

Three High Plains cotton people have been named by their peers to an eight-member subcommittee to evaluate high volume instrument (HVI) strength measurements as a possible basis for premiums and discounts in the government loan program.

The three are cotton producer Steve Verett of Ralls, who is also president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., ginney Wayne Mixon of Seminole and warehouseman Fred Underwood of Lubbock. All were chosen in February by Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng to serve on a 16-member Cotton Marketing Advisory Committee charged with an in-depth look at all phases of the U.S. marketing system.

The subcommittee was formed April 13 at the advisory committee's first meeting after a discussion of fiber quality evaluation systems, including the use of HVI by manufacturers, the status of HVI's use in cotton classing offices, instrument calibration accuracy and the possibility of adding more quality factors to HVI.

The subcommittee is scheduled to meet in Dallas June 8 and will report its findings at a full committee meeting tentatively set for August 24 in Memphis, TN. Other subcommittee members include producer Hal Lewis of Arkansas, merchant Peter Hirschfeld of Dallas, cooperative spokesman Tom Smith of Bakersfield, CA, and Cotton Incorporated's fiber research director Preston Sasser of Raleigh, NC. Yet to be named to the group is a representative from the manufacturing industry.

The full committee is made up of one producer from each of the Cotton Belt's four regions and two members each representing ginners, merchants, manufacturers, cooperatives, warehousemen, and research and academics. Also from the Plains, in addition to the three subcommittee members, is C.L. Boggs, president and general manager of Plains Cotton Cooperative Association, Lubbock.

Of the subcommittee's work, Verett says, "We can no longer think in terms of whether HVI is coming. HVI is here, it's here to stay, and it's important that producers have a say in the marketing changes that are inevitable as more and more merchants and manufacturers come to rely on it."

In other action the advisory committee addressed the need for new procedures for arriving at the market's quality premiums and discounts that are used to determine annual adjustments to cotton loan program values. The old, much-maligned system of using market quotations committees in the eight official spot markets has been discontinued. The committee endorsed a proposed change that would establish seven growth areas from which to gather pricing data. Proposed territories would be labeled Southwest, North Delta, South Delta, East Texas-Oklahoma, West Texas, Desert Southwest and San Joaquin Valley.

More precise delineation of growth areas and other details of the proposal are expected soon in the Federal Register with time allowed for industry comment before final adoption.

Suggested quail habitat structure

[Editor's note: First in a four-part series about quail.]

Quail require three vegetation types for good habitat structure: grass, brush and weeds. In addition, they need lots of bare ground.

Grass is important for nesting cover, says Dr. Jack Payne, wildlife specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Too much grass, however, will reduce quail populations, he cautions. "Studies have found that there is a negative correlation between increasing amounts of grass and quail numbers," he says.

For nesting, bobwhites require a clump of grass about the size of a cake cover, eight inches tall and 12 inches wide, with more than 250 clumps of grass per acre.

"The ideal situation is 300 cake-cover clumps of grass per football field area, counting the end zones. If you walk across a pasture without stepping on a suitable nesting clump every 15th to 20th step, you need to increase the availability of nesting cover," Payne says.

Lack of grass usually is not the problem in areas that do not produce large numbers of quail. Where rangelands have been planted to tame pastures, quail numbers will be low. Management strategies are needed to reduce the amount of grass and create more bare ground and weeds, the specialist adds.

"Weed seed production is the foundation of good quail management. Most seeds for these plants already are in the soil. Soil disturbance, such as disking, will cause germination of these seeds," Payne explains.

Brush cover is not as important for quail as for deer. Studies have shown that maximum quail numbers can be produced in brush densities of about 15 percent.

"If brush is reduced below 5 percent, or increased over 25 percent, quail numbers will be reduced. Brush needs to be interspersed as much as possible with open areas on the rangeland," Payne says.

Quail need brush for loafing cover during the day between morning and evening feeding periods, he explains. Quality loafing cover has a dense, thorny brush canopy of a foot or more above the ground. The canopy should have a circumference as large as the rear tire on a tractor, Payne explains. Bare ground is needed for good foraging production, bobwhite movement, feeding on seeds, and roosting cover at night. The bare areas should be scattered throughout the quail habitat, Payne says.

A prescription for good quail habitat structure includes:

- Bare Ground
 - * 30 to 60 percent of the soil surface should be free of growing plants and litter.
- Brush Coverage and Height
 - * 5 to 15 percent of the pasture should be shaded by brush.
 - * Most brush should be between 1 to 5 feet tall. Reduce height by top removal methods, burning or roller chopping.
- Grasses For Nesting
 - * Grass clumps should cover about 1 to 3 percent of the pasture.
- Interspersion
 - * The above prescription works best when grass, brush, weeds, and bare ground can be as interspersed as much as possible.

Get to know Garrison's dealer. You'll plant Garrison Seed.

"Just because I'm a Garrison dealer, don't forget that I'm a farmer first of all. The seed I sell is the seed I plant. I need a crop as much as you do."

"This year, I'm planting NEW SG 8333 hybrid corn, a yellow hybrid for food products with excellent standability and fast dry down. Along with dependable SG 8215, Garrison has the corn you should be planting. Both hybrids are bred specifically for Texas' High Plains."

"I've got the details in Garrison's FREE Performance Booklet."

"Take it from a farmer who is also a seed dealer. Get to know Garrison performance and dependability. You'll do the same thing I do. You'll plant Garrison."

NEW TORCH TWIN-PACK HERBICIDE

Cuts it when others can't.

CUTS OUT CARRYOVER.
TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide meets the special needs of rotational corn and sorghum growers. TORCH brand won't damage your crops this season or your rotation crops next season. That's because it's specifically designed to do the job and then break down, leaving your field safe for rotational crop planting next year.

CUTS OUT THE COMPETITION.
TORCH is the post-emergence herbicide specifically designed to cut down over 20 broad-leaves in corn and sorghum. It controls the tough weeds like velvetleaf, cocklebur, and pigweed. And its powerful combination of bromoxynil and atrazine works like no single pre- or post-emergence herbicide can.

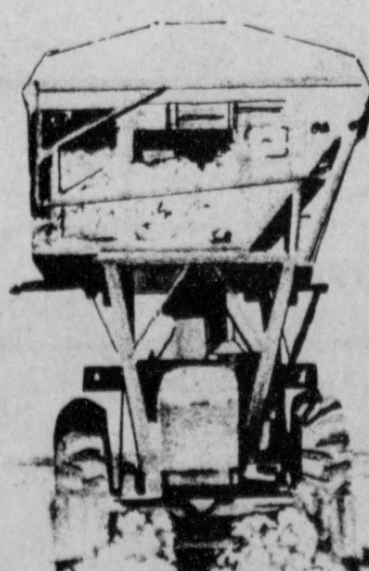

CUTS CROP DAMAGE.
TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide is strong, but only on broadleaves. Its bromoxynil controls many species of phenoxy- and triazine-resistant weeds and its low concentration of atrazine controls the partially emerged weeds. TORCH does all this without the crop damage phenoxy and dicamba can cause. And it won't drift to adjoining crops either. TORCH is the herbicide designed for the special needs of corn and sorghum.

CUTS THE COST OF BROADLEAF CONTROL.
TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide gives you more than effective broadleaf control, it gives you economical weed control, too. That's because it's a part of a complete cost effective weed control plan. And TORCH is easy to use. Treat for grasses first then let TORCH cut down broadleaves when they come up. TORCH brand can save you money because, unlike pre-emergence herbicides, you don't have to treat every acre. Just treat the acres you look at it, TORCH can cut it when others can't.
