'Hail of a year' reported by county Farm Bureau

The annual membership meeting of the Floyd County Farm Bureau was held on Saturday, September 9, in the Lockney Elementary School Cafetorium. Board president Phil Dunavant welcomed other board members, their wives and families, State President S.M. True and his wife Anna Jean and District 2 representative Leland White and wife Barbara during his introductory speech. Joe Jones gave the invocation and Bud Taylor lead the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag. Randy Rainwater presented the minutes of the 1988 meeting and gave a financial report. He told those gathered that the county organization had shown a profit during the previous ten month period of $14,640.47 and that a twelve month audit would be available at the county office after October 31.

Ronnie Aston introduced leadership seminar students Anita McCormick and Heather Henderson of Floydada and Phillip Glasson and Tim Nelson of Lockney. Each of the students took the podium to tell their experience and thank the group for enabling them to attend the seminar. The annual seminar stresses the importance of the free enterprise system and knowledge of national history and patriotism.

John Quebe introduced Dale Beaty, the volunteer fireman Farm Bureau sponsored at the Texas A&M fire school this past summer. Beaty addressed the group, telling how important their assistance is in training volunteer fire fighters and thanking them for their continued support of local groups.

Dunavant next presented the president's report for the year. He stated "We attempt to further interest in the county and at the state level." He said the local group is blessed with a good staff and that they had been invaluable in promoting Farm Bureau.

Projects he listed that the group has assisted in included the Old Settler's celebration, a railroad feasibility study, the 5K Fun Run at the county fair, the stock show banquet, fire school sponsorship and the leadership seminar. He also reported the initiation of a discount drug program for prescriptions and a dental program during the past year.

At the state level, Dunavant cited calls and letters generated by Farm Bureau members to state officials about many issues of concern to local mem-

The agency manager's report was given by Clar Schacht, Floyd County manager. Schacht introduced his wife and expressed his appreciation of her invaluable assistance with his "calls and letters." He also introduced the local office staff, Linda Seymour and Mary Shurbet and thanked them for their many hours of tireless service and consideration. Agent Don Castleberry and his wife Pat were introduced and it was noted that agent Ken Holt and his wife were unable to be present due to a family Schacht reported "A hail of a year" for the local office and told the group that about $750,000 in claims had been paid this past summer for hail damage. He cited 305 claims in June compared to the usual 360 to 370 for an entire year. He stated "That's what we are here for,

to protect and serve you, and we are proud to have been able to do so."

Schacht closed with a brief venture into the comedic arena telling a joke about the proverbial farmer and insurance agent passing on and meeting Saint Peter. The revered saint showed each to his quarters in Heaven, giving the farmer an adequate house and leading the insurance agent on to a mansion. The farmer then asked the saint, "Why? I have been as good a man as I could, but he gets the mansion." Saint Peter replied, "We get millions of farmers up here, but he is the first insurance salesman we have ever had."

Dan Smith followed with the membership report. Figures indicate that membership has declined from 886 a year ago to 855 at this time. Smith said that the "Farm Bureau is doing the best it can, but it is difficult to increase membership in an area where population is on the decrease."

Delmas McCormick reminded the group that TASCO services are available to them from Jackson Tire in Lockney and the Lockney Cooperative as well as from Garcia OK Tire and Tipton Oil in Floydada. These services include the purchase of tires and batteries at discount prices for Farm Bureau mem-

Jerry Davis noted that three terms were expiring on the board of directors. Phil Dunavant and Ronnie Aston were running for a second term, but the third expiration, that of Davis himself, necessitated a new board member. Mark Beedy was nominated for that post and all three were elected by acclamation.

Dunavant presented Davis a plaque marking his two terms served. Board members are only allowed to serve two terms, then must retire according to Farm Bureau regulations.

State Farm Bureau president S.M. True was the keynote speaker, stating, "It is good to be in a county that participates, makes a profit and runs so smoothly." He cited good management and interested membership for the solid condition of the Floyd County Farm Bureau in particular and the Texas Farm Bureau as a whole.

True told those gathered that it was a pleasure to give part of his life to serve his fellowman in an industry that is so important to the country. He stated, "We (farmers and ranchers) don't get the recognition we deserve." He also told the group that the American Farm Bu-

Injuries fatal to Lockney man

Juan Hernandez, 88, of Lockney, died at 9:05 p.m. Thursday, September 7, in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital, from injuries he suffered in an auto-pedestrian accident in Lockney on Tuesday, September 5.

According to police reports, the accident occurred at approximately 8:35 a.m., in the 100 block of East Washington Street. Hernandez was struck while walking north across the intersection at E. Washington Street and Main, by a 1978 Ford Thunderbird driven by Johnny Lawrence Griffith of Lockney.

Lockney Police Chief Leonard Gilroy and Trooper Chris Ray received the report of the accident at approximately 8:45 p.m. According to police reports, Hernandez was struck by the right front portion of Griffith's vehicle, knocking him to the ground and entangling him in the front right tire.

Witnesses of the accident stated that the eighty-five year old Griffith was apparently unaware that he had struck Hernandez, and continued to push Hernandez 150-200 yards. A man who had observed the accident, from inside Stapp Body Shop, rushed out and flagged down Griffith.

Although police were unable to determine the rate of the vehicle's speed (due to the lack of skid marks), witnesses stated the vehicle was moving very slowly but the unaware Griffith continued to accelerate after the accident.

Hernandez was transported by Lockney Ambulance to the Lockney Hospital and was later transported to Lubbock Methodist, where he died on Thursday. Rosary was recited at 5:30 p.m. Friday, in the Moore-Rose-White Funeral

Lockney, with the Rev. Jack Gist, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Lockney Cemetery under the direction of Moore-Rose-

White Funeral Home.

Hernandez was born July 24, 1909 in Mexico, and moved to Lockney in 1950 from San Marcos. He was a retired laborer, living in Floyd County for 39 years. He was a member of the San Jose Catholic Church.

He married Victoria Alvarez, in 1935. Survivors include his wife; three daughters, Ignacia Ochoa of Dallas, Dominga Sustaita and Juana Palomin, Mass was celebrated at 3:00 p.m. both of Lockney; five sons, Marcelino, Sunday, in San Jose Catholic Church in Domingo, Rafael, Felix, and Mario, all of Lockney; a sister, Ignacia Soto of Mexico; a brother, Pedro of Mexico; 41 grandchildren; and 27 great-grandchil-

City council discusses variety of subjects

The Lockney City Council met in regular session Thursday, September 7, at 7:00 a.m. to discuss a variety of sub-

First on the agenda was the subject of employee medical insurance. The city has a policy with the Texas Municipal League and their premiums will be increasing thirty-five percent on the first of October.

Discussion was held on the insurance coverage the employees have now and the cost of the premiums that are paid monthly. To keep the insurance with the same company and at a rate that is affordable would mean that the employees would have to give up a portion of the coverage they now have.

Jim Bob Martin, of J&K Insurance met with the council to present a proposal from Time Insurance Company. Martin explained that Time Insurance has a policy that is similar in price to the present policy but with a slightly higher deductible. Some of the benefits are better than the present policy.

The council voted to change to the Time Insurance Company. Next on the agenda was the dirt streets. The council was told that very few people had come in to the city office requesting that work be done but that work will begin as soon as possible on those that have requested culverts and drainage. No one has approached the council requesting caliche for their streets. The city council encourages those interested in having work done to come by the city hall and let them know what you would like to have done.

The councilmen had received an estimate on the price of the culverts from a company in Lubbock but decided to table the vote on buying them until they knew how many more they might need. The more purchased at one time the cheaper the price would be.

Eddie Teeter is the present representative to the Floyd County Appraisal Board and he has told the city council that he will not consider serving another term. Ronnie Aston was appointed to fill this position for the next two years.

Section 1, H.B. No. 3016 of the State law of Texas requires that all police vehicles shall be marked with an insignia designating them as law enforcement vehicles unless the city council votes to have unmarked patrol cars. The council voted that the cars belonging to the Lockney Police Department will not

Comptroller reports tax rebate increases

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that cities, counties and transit authorities received 9.8 percent more in sales tax rebates this month than they did in August 1988.

"We sent more than $193 million in sales tax money to local governments this month, and Texas businesses continue to report higher sales tax collections," Bullock said.

Bullock noted that cities received an average of 7.4 percent more income from sales tax this month than in August 1988, and year-to-date payments to cities are up by an average of 9.7 percent over the same period last year.

August's checks represent taxes collected by monthly filers in June and by quarterly filers in April, May and June and reported to the Comptroller's office by July 20, Bullock said.

the recent fight to change the system for choosing a director for the Texas Department of Agriculture, True complimented Farm Bureau for a good fight and said he remains optimistic that a candidate who can truly represent the farm and ranch coalition will be found to run for the office.

True also remains optimistic about the writing of a farm bill for 1990 and about the promotion of Texas commodities. He did not indicate the same for the disaster payment program, but highly praised efforts to promote agriculture in the class room and among young people. "This is one of the best programs Farm Bureau is involved in and one of the most far reaching," he said.

The health care problem is especially worrying according to True. "It doesn't look good," said True. In light of rising costs and utilization, the health care industry and insurance carriers are desperately seeking answers to the problems that plague the industry.

In closing, True complimented the local agency and membership saying, "We at the state office know we can always depend on Floyd County when we need assistance in a program or cooperation on a pilot project or any other endeavor at the state level."

Ronnie Aston next presented the resolutions for consideration an voting by the members. There were no county originated resolutions. State resolutions included tying workers compensation requirements to a set amount of annual salaries paid without regard to workers race, sex, age, or place of residence. A second resolution seeks to eliminate self insurance for large companies instead of participation in state workers compensation programs. Also sought is a provision in state regulations forcing funding from state sources for state mandated programs. The fourth resolution asks that expenses for frivolous lawsuits be paid by the attorney filing the suit.

National resolutions were for federal crop insurance to insure for a set amount of dollars rather than per pounds per acre and for the setting of exact replant dates with no changes during the year. The second resolution at the national level recommends the farm program allowing yearly shifting of bases between program crops of 25% with no penalties.

Tobacco use poses health risk for teenagers

A new Texas law is a step toward preventing drug addiction, lung cancer, and other diseases related to tobacco use, according to the Texas Medical Association. Effective September 1, the law makes purchasing tobacco products a crime for persons younger than 18.

That law, however, isn't enough to stop teenagers before they become addicted to tobacco products. Parents are urged to teach elementary school students about the dangers of using tobacco products and to enforce strict rules against tobacco use among teenagers.

Many factors contribute to tobacco use among adolescents. Peer pressure is the most important factor, although use by parents and other family members gives children a positive image of smoking even before they start school. Teenagers believe smoking makes them appear grown up.

Many teens don't take the health threats of tobacco use seriously because they believe they can quit whenever they want, thus reducing the health risks. The addictive power of nicotine, however, makes quitting extremely difficult. Studies show that 85 percent of teenagers who smoke two or more cigarettes completely-and overcome the initial discomfort of smoking-will become regular smokers.

Early adolescents are most at risk for starting the smoking habit. Studies show the tendency to smoke climbs steadily from 12 to 16 years old, then declines. Smoking rarely begins after 20.

Tobacco is second to alcohol among the substances most used by 12 to 17 year-olds in Texas, according to a 1988 survey by the Texas Commission on Alcohol and Drug Abuse. Although the survey showed tobacco use has dropped slightly among Texas adolescents since 1980, 5 percent of high school seniors say they smoke more than half a pack a day. One alarming trend is the rising use of tobacco among young women, which has gone from half that of males in 1980 to the same level as males in 1988.

Smokeless tobacco, widely advertised in recent years, is not without risks either. Snuff users expose their mouth and gums to powerful carcinogens, and some researchers predict an epidemic of oral cancer by the turn of the century. Large amounts of sugar and sodium in smokeless tobacco also are associated with periodontic disease and high blood

The risks of tobacco use far outweigh any benefits. The Texas Medical Association hopes Texas' new law will begin to curb the problem among teenagers.

The Texas Medical Association is a professional organization of more than 29,000 physician and medical student members. It is based in Austin and has 116 component medical societies around the state. The Association represents 80 percent of the state's physicians, and its goal is to improve the health of Texans through the professional and personal development of Employees suffering burnout often exhibit one or more symptoms. "High resistance to going to work and a negative attitude are two of the first symptoms," Taylor said. "Other symptoms are seeming angry all the time, blaming

AARP seeks volunteers

As the 1990 tax season approaches the American Association of Retired Persons (AARP) is accepting applications of persons interested in assisting the elderly with their income tax.

Nationally, over 1.5 million persons were helped last season through the Tax-Aide Program co-sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service. In Texas over 80,000 persons were assisted, including many shut-ins.

Volunteers of all ages can perform this important service and AARP membership is not required. Training will be provided. Volunteers usually work four hours per week providing free income tax help to older adults in sites such as libraries, churches and senior centers.

Brown meat in cast iron pot. (You probably won't have to drain much fat as this meat will be lean). Use some garlic salt as this gives it a nicer smell. Add chopped onions and jalapeno pepper. Add secret ingredients. (We don't tell what they are). Simmer all together for three hours.

Put in bowls and serve with crackers and ice tea. Then if you are a real chili lover, return for a second bowl.

Very good meat finds are rabbit, possum, coon, pheasant, fox (a very rare find), skunk, (which is hard to get as the buzzards like it best), snake, (only if its rattlesnake). Avoid turtle and frogs as this gives the chili a lake flavor which we have found displeasing to our taste. If you like this chili tell us, if not tell some one else. Foster and McPherson Go Longhorns!

Children have crayoned it on paper with two few stars and too many stripes as their first notion of nationhood.

Prisoners of war have secretly fashioned it from scraps and rags as the center of their hope and defiance.

Mothers and widows have kept it carefully folded as a reminder of honor and sacrifice.

With pomp of arms, Marines raise it over embassies and consulates from Argentina to Zimbabwe. With no ceremony at all, janitors raise it over elementary schools and town halls from Maine to Oregon.

Blurred like a hummingbird wing, it flies from the aerial of a speeding pickup truck in western Texas. Still as a painting, it hangs in the humid night air as the national

It triggers within them the deepest feelings about a place where breadlines, prison camps and tanks in the square are not the general order of things. The flag signals to them a phenomenon of history that protects them from indignities, permits them peace, draws refugees with priceless hope, offers help with boundless heart, and earnestly seeks to correct its own problems.

Americans are often nonchalant about their freedom. But yes, the postmistress in the little village may offer up a prayer about her country as she hauls down the flag in the evening. And yes, aging veterans do shed a tear when the flag goes by on Memorial Day. And yes, the baseball fan anxious for the game to start gets a lump in his throat when he turns toward the star-spangled banner to sing, "Oh, say, can you see. . . . " Cynics will never understand why their charges of "flagwaving" only bewilder, amuse or insult the average citizen.

While Americans know that behind this rectangle of cloth there is blood and great sacrifice, there is also behind it an idea that redefined once and forever the meaning of hope and freedom. Lawyers and justices may debate the act of flag-burning as freedom of expression. But a larger point is inarguable; when someone dishonors or desecrates the banner, it deeply offends, because the flag says all that needs to be said about things worth preserving, loving, defending, dying for.

Rain soaks Lockney - Ralls game

By Holly Norwood

Friday night started out hot in Ralls, but the rain and score put a cold damper on things. The Horns lost the season opener to Ralls 7-0.

Horns Michael Monroe rushed for 79 yards total with 18 yards on the opening kick off a return. After a failed Horns first down attempt, Joe Louis Guerra kicked a punt to Ralls, deep in their own territory.

Lockney's Wesley Teeter stopped Ralls drive by recovering a fumble on the Rabbits 25 yard line. The Horns threat of scoring was stopped with a high snap on the field goal attempt.

Ralls regained possession on their own 15 yard line. Lockney defense held the Rabbits on the fourth down to take possession of the ball once again. On fourth down and 3, Horns Monroe got the call and rushed for a first down to Ralls 7 yard line. The second quarter began with Lockney deep in Ralls territory.

Two overthrown passes and a penalty against Lockney forced a 4th down attempt. Ralls sacked Horn quarterback

The Rabbits scored on their first possession in the third quarter on a 32 yard pass. A penalty against Lockney on a failed Ralls 2 point conversion gave the Rabbits a second chance for an extra point kick. The kick was good. The score now 7-0.

Early in the fourth quarter, Horns were threatening to score. Monroe set up a goal line effort with a 25 yard rush to the 2 yard line. A fumble on 4th down stopped the Horns short.

After a 30 minute rain delay a last Horn attempt came with 31 seconds left in the game. A 15 yard penalty against

Snacks recharge energies

Classes are back in session, and youngsters across America are returning home hungry for snacks to recharge their depleted energies. Unfortunately, instead of selecting nutritious snacks, youngsters prefer items that are high in sugar and calories and low in vitamins and other nutrients.

Dietitians at Methodist Hospital recommend that parents recognize this fact and offer good-tasting, nutritious snack alternatives that make the grade.

The way to ensure that your child is snacking right is to offer "goodies" that are nutritious as well as easy to prepare, says dietitian LuAnn Latham, R.D.,L.D. Even fruits and vegetables can be as appealing to children as cookies and candy, if they're made to look appetizing and tasty.

Low in calories and high in vitamins, most fruits and vegetables are ideal for building nutritious snacks. They can be eaten as is or dressed up to look more

Vegetables and fruits are high in fiber and nearly all are low in fat and cholesterol. What's more, fruit and vegetable snacks are easy and imaginative enough so even your "fussy eater" will give them a try.

To satisfy those after-school munchies, try these easy snack recipes. CELERY BOAT

Clean celery and fill with peanut butter (try adding coconut flakes, raisins or nuts to the peanut butter) or cream cheese mixed with raisins. To keep unfilled celery at its crispiest, store in refrigerator in a jar or plastic container with a few inches of water in the bottom. FRUIT AND VEGETABLE KA-

Put a variety of small pieces of fruit or vegetables on a toothpick. Use apple wedges, raisins, orange sections, pineapple, grapes and melon balls for fruit kabobs, and cherry tomatoes, carrot circles, pepper squares and turnip triangles for vegetable treats.

GRAB-A-BAG AND MUNCH

Fill a plastic bag with cut up dried fruit like apricots, banana chips, raisins, apple pieces and add favorite nuts and some carob chips and grated coconut.
