

Shallowater ends Lockney playoff participation

By Holly Norwood

The Lockney Longhorns overcoming all odds this season met their match Friday night against the Shallowater Mustangs. The Horns entering many key games this year as underdogs and coming out winners just couldn't do the same against the Mustangs in the bi-district match.

Horns defense held tough the first half led by senior middle linebacker Philip Glasson and defensive end Wesley Teeter. Kip Holt, Ignacio Luna and Louis Perales were all responsible in foiling Shallowater extra point and two-point conversions in the first two quarters. Two key fumble recoveries by Joe Luis Guerrero and Michael Martinez led in keeping the Horn momentum going.

The Horn offense totaled 139 yards for the night led by Michael Monroe who scored the only Lockney T.D. QB Louis Perales led the 63 yard scoring drive. The TD was set up on a Perales 26 yard pass to Johnny Perales and a 12 yard QB keepers. Monroe scampered in the end zone with only seconds left on the clock. Guerrero's PAT was good. At the half it was 12-7, Shallowater.

The momentum carried to the locker room at the half by the Horns slowly slipped to the Mustangs in the second half. Shallowater scored two more times to put the bi-district championship under their belts.

"It was a total team effort," said head coach Jim Clark. "Ever since the very first game of the year the team put in a solid effort. The team never gave up Friday night against Shallowater and played 110% every play and never gave up. I've thanked the fans, the cheerleaders and supporters all year because of their great support, now I want to thank the assistant coaches. Without their efforts and help, none of this would be possible. They are just an excellent team of coaches."

Assistant coaches included Malcolm Moerbe, defensive coordinator; Phil Cotham, offensive line, linebackers; Bert Vandiver, offensive line, defensive ends; David Norwood, offensive backs, linebackers; Dick Van Hoose, offensive backs, defensive tackles; Eddie Fortenberry, offensive split ends, defensive secondary; and Floyd Evans, special teams and filming.

The Lockney Longhorns improved steadily throughout 1989-90 season and wound up in the play-offs for the first time since 1985.

The Longhorns nailed down the number two spot in district 3-2A play following the 28-0 shutout of Abernathy and the 32-20 win over Olton.

Picked to finish fifth among the District 3-2A's six teams after a 2-8 finish in 1988, Lockney began to turn the corner following the 58-6 loss to Sudan.

After the loss to Sudan the team came back and played Springlake-Earth to a 12-12 tie. That game set the stage and the team started their climb to the play-offs.

The team had won only one game when district play began and they rolled over Hale Center 39-6. That game was the turn around and they began to play better each week.

The Longhorns kept it going with a 30-0 victory over Hart before they were defeated by Farwell 28-21. The Horns were down 21-0 at halftime and were able to make three touchdowns in the second half.

They rallied round and defeated the Abernathy Antelopes 28-0. The Antelopes had been defeated only once in the 26 games prior to playing the Longhorns. The Lopes had been to the play-offs for five years in a row when they were struck down by a much improved Longhorn team.

The final game against Olton gave the Horns a 4-1 finish in District play and a 5-4-1 overall finish.

Leading the team into the playoff game with Shallowater were six seniors, Michael Monroe, Louis Perales, Joe Louis Guerrero, Phillip Glasson, Wesley Teeter and Michael Martinez.

Police News

The Lockney police were on property belonging to L.V. Harris in Southeast Lockney on Monday, November 13. Harris was building a structure in violation of the city of Lockney building code.

Chief Gilroy issued Harris a citation for the violation. Harris refused to sign the ticket and struck Chief Gilroy in the throat. Harris was arrested and booked into jail for assault on a peace officer.

A Bountiful Thanksgiving To One And All

Sales tax rebates continue increase over last year

State Comptroller Bob Bullock said Friday that sales tax payments to Texas cities reached $125 million this month, up more than 5 percent from last November's payments and over 9 percent higher than last year's total at this time. Checks to counties were up a healthy 7 percent over last November's payments.

Today's checks reflect local sales taxes collected in September by businesses that file monthly tax returns and taxes collected in July, August and September by businesses that file quarterly returns.

Businesses collect the state and local sales tax and send it to the Comptroller's office along with their tax returns. The state keeps its 6 percent share and returns the local sales taxes to local governments.

Cities and counties may levy a combined tax of up to 2 percent, Bullock said.

The net payment this period for Lockney was $5,303.75, which is up 3.74 percent over last year's payment of $5,112.34. Payments to date for Lockney is $63,824.66 which is up 40.05 percent over 1988 payments to this date of $45,572.94.

Floydada's net payment this period was $14,353.83, which is up 16.23 percent over the comparable payment last year of $12,349.72. Floydada's 1989 payments to date was $107,231.16 which is also up 7.96 percent over last year's payments to date of $99,322.83.

These figures show the county up at total of 18.05 percent over the total payments last year at this time.

Briscoe County shows a total decrease of 11.36 percent over last year's payments to date. Total payments in Quitaque and Silverton dropped 9.99 percent in this pay period compared to last year's same pay period.

In Crosby County there was a drop of 0.32 percent from the 1989 payments to date, compared to the total 1988 payments to date. Crosbyton and Ralls showed a slight decrease, however Lorenzo had an increase of 55.06 percent in net payments this period and a 26.86 percent increase in total payments to date.

Total net payment for this period in Hale County was $253,288.21, which is up 9.66 percent over last year's same period. Plainview alone received a check of $237,983.87 which is up 10.73 percent. Payment to date for Hale County is $2,102,711.87.

Lubbock County received a total of $1,605,365.62 for this period, which is down 1.48 percent from last year's same period. However the total payments to date of $14,298,939.53 is up 7.41 percent from last year's payments of $13,312,354.52.

In Motley County, the payments to date were down, in Matador and Roaring Springs, 45.33 percent to $4,874.56. Even though payments to date were down 4.84 percent in Matador; Roaring Springs was up 54.17 percent from last year. The county totals for the year therefore were up 17.95 percent to $42,824.22.

Neighbors brought their equipment and gathered in two Floyd County farms to help out on Tuesday afternoon.

Barbara Coffman, Joe Neil and Margie Rexrode will give thanks this Thanksgiving for their neighbors and the help they have been in harvesting their cotton.

Coffman's husband Tom was killed in a farm accident and Tuesday a group of farmers came and stripped her cotton. The Lockney Coop picked the modules up and ginned it all at the same time. The fuel for the equipment was furnished by Texas Energy.

Friends and neighbors coming out to help were Ronnie Aston, Ricky Mosley, Pat Frizzell, Rusty Wilson and Aaron Wilson. Mosley, Frizzell and Wilson brought their strippers and Aston furnished the module builder.

Joe Neil and Margie Rexrode and their sons, Wymon and Heath are grateful to their friends and neighbors who came to help them on Tuesday afternoon.

The Rexrode cotton fields were full of activity as cotton strippers stripped the cotton from the bolls, dumped it into module builders where it was then packed, picked

Learn More About Alcohol and Other Drugs

Learn about alcohol and other drugs. Develop and communicate a clear position about them and teach your child the facts.

Part 3

Learn about alcohol and other drugs. Organizations listed in the resource section can help. Here are some things you'll need to do:

Be prepared to explain how various drugs affect the body and why people take them — Children will be curious about various drugs, especially when they start hearing about them from kids at school. Make sure your child's school offers up-to-date drug education that focuses on prevention. If your school has no drug curriculum, work with the PTA or meet with other parents and the principal to raise the issue.

Keep up to date on the latest drug crazes — Drugs and slang terms come and go as often as fashions. If you use old, outdated terms and information, your child will think you do not really know what you're talking about and will not listen to you.

Point out the drug messages on TV and in movies — Help your children see how advertisers and program characters associate alcohol use with beauty, success, and fun, and encourage us to use drugs like sleeping pills, diet pills, and extra-strength pain killers.

Speak to your children frequently about drugs — Sitting your children down for a one-shot talk will do little good. You must be consistent to have an impact. Use TV stories, newspaper articles, and movies to start discussions about drug use.

Be aware of the attitudes and values of your children's friends — When children feel pressure to use drugs, it usually comes from their friends, not from some faceless "drug pusher" who lurks around the playground. Ask your children about their friends, and get to know them. Make an opportunity to meet their parents. Never underestimate the power of peer pressure.

Start educating your children at an early age — While five-year-olds will not understand about the effects of smoking marijuana, they will understand that people can put good or bad things into their bodies. They can understand that milk, fruit, and healing drugs will help keep them strong and healthy, while junk foods, air pollutants, and other drugs are not good for them. It is far more important to instill positive concepts than to give factual information to young children. Older children should be taught the facts, however.

Teach your children to play and have fun — Children may experiment with drugs because it seems fun. Teach them to enjoy recreational activities and develop hobbies and interests. These activities may help them avoid trying drugs to have fun and reduce boredom. Recall what you did for fun as a child. Ask your parents and senior citizens to remember what they enjoyed as children. Offer your children a variety of activities and interests.

Remember to be aware of your own use of alcohol and other drugs — your habits will send your children a powerful message.

CONCLUSION

You DO have the power to raise a child who will be able to say "no thanks" to alcohol and other drugs!

Students express meanings of Thanksgiving season

By David Luna

Nice.
Outside pretty.
Very interesting month.
Everybody's happy.
Many leaves on the ground.
Bright leaves.
Early in the morning you hear wind.
Rushing November breezes sweep through the sky.

By Rachel Vasquez

Notice the weather
October is gone
Very cold outside
Everyone's busy
Making turkeys
Baking pumpkin pies and
Eating away
Ready for the holidays

By Christina Banda

Never outside
Organized for Thanksgiving
Very cold outside
Everyone is in bed
Many people busy for Thanksgiving
Basketball season starts
Excited about basketball games
Ready to beat the other teams in basketball

Arturo Martinez

Never eat pig's
Over the table
Very cold
Even dad cooking
Mom cooking
Birthdays
Eat turkey
Really fun

By Paul Raissez

Nothing to do
Outside
Very cold mornings
Everyone's eating turkey.
Moving around
Basketball season
Everybody's happy
Running to class

By Abel Reynaga

November has Thanksgiving.
On that day we are eating turkey.
Very cold weather.
Everybody likes it.
Music is playing.
Big turkey.
Everybody is cold.
Remember the meaning of Thanksgiving.

By Oscar Palomin

North wind
Often one is hungry
Very cold
Everyone is happy.
Mom is cooking.
Birthdays are here
End of summer ...
Really fun.

By Tony Banda

No time is better than November
Out in the cold is something to remember
Various things to do at night
Everyone is going to sleep tight
Morning is cool and nice
Bongs of the bells covered with ice
Everlasting peace to treasure
Running to the store before December

By Holly Ascensic

Thanks to God for this day.
Unable to fit through the door after all that food.
Ready to eat anytime.
Kind to people and loving
Everybody is special to you.
Yams are extra good to eat.

By Maggi Duenas

Scant supply of food they had.
Qualm and unsure of the future.
Unaided by anyone, except each other.
Almost giving up hope.
Newcomers on this untouched land, now America
Then along came Squanto the Indian.
Offering the Pilgrims a helping hand.

By Allen Martin

Quietly thanks is given to God
Unending love for one another.
All the family is at home for Thanksgiving dinner.
Inside the Thanksgiving turkey is the stuffing.
Long good-byes are exchanged as everyone goes their separate way.

By Rhanda Hickerson

People brave and strong
In need of a new life
Loving and helping each other.
Giving and sharing time with friends and family
Risking all for the new world
In search of an Indian friend
Making the most of what the new world had to offer
Strength and pride until the end.

By Patricia Garcia

Time to give thanks for the Hours of joy
And for the Newcoming events that the
Kids will enjoy.
Soon everyone will be Gazing with praise because
Inside there is something to be
Very happy about. It's turkey ...
It's ham ... It's Nothing you want to miss. Come and
Give thanks for your brother and sis.

By Glenn Truett

Turkey cooking
Under the oven.
Roasting until done
Keeping the air filled with a
Endless smell tantalizing
You to take a bite.

By Angie Clark

Time of remembering
Unimaginable amounts of food.
Relaxing with family
Keeping close to one another
Everyone's full
You'll remember it for a long time.

National holiday
Gathering of family and friends

Thanks

By Aneatria Walker

Thanksgiving is a time for caring and sharing.

However, it is a time for giving thanks and being proud of our freedom.

All around the table, the family gathers for prayer before eating the plump, juicy turkey, and the meal that has been prepared.

Nevertheless, the turkey disappears and all is left is bones and the memories of the day.

Kind words are exchanged as the family bid their good-byes.

Sharing, caring, family and giving thanks are what makes Thanksgiving so special.

Ponds of pumpkin.
Under a tree.
Munco pumpkin.
Ports of tree.
Keep away.
Internationally.
No one touch! ! !

By Maxi Banda

Turkey is a grateful,
U-should like hopeful,
Remembering grace;
Keeping a sweet face,
Enough for the day,
You should for to say.

By Stella Garcia

Tis the time for Unlucky turkeys to Run and hide because Keen
Eyes are watching
You, ready to eat you

By Kellie Pena

Turkey roasting

Eating happily
You're whispering grace

By Junior Guerrero

Indian pipes are very inviting
Notorious when they're away
Daring and very bold
Inviting to their home
Admirable for helping out
Novembers ... the time for them

Turkey is a custom.
Hunting is my favorite.
Ancestors came over.
Nuts for the brownies.
Kindness from all.
Singing in church.
Giving kindness to people.
Indians were the first ones.
Visits to my Grandmothers
Ice cream
Noon day lunch.
Goodness from God.

The whole family can be at
Home so they can give thanks ...
Always being together and
Never apart on such a special holiday.

Kinfolks have a strong bond on
Such an appreciative day.

By Angie Hooten

Thanks being given
Here, and everywhere
All around the world
Near and far.
Kids playing happily
Students studing silently
God is with all.

Plump and round
Usually orange
Mostly on Thanksgiving
Partly in October and November
Kindness is happening
In our grandparents house
Never ever having this much fun ...
Sometimes even eating dessert first!
