

Ninth grade places 25th in TEAMS

In a report given by the National Center for Policy Analysis the Lockney School system was rated number twenty five in the top fifty two school systems in the state of Texas.

The 52 school districts in Texas are those in which at least 85 percent of the ninth grade students passed the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) tests.

Lockney's ninth grade scored 92.05 with 41 ninth grade students taking the test.

According to W.H. (Dub) Hallmark, "We put a lot of emphasis on the state requirement that the kids master the essential elements, which in turn helps the students pass the test."

He also commented, "Our teachers work hard to help their students and they truly care about the kids."

The report related "School districts which spend the least amount of money per student actually perform better than those districts which spend up to 30 percent more."

The National Center for Policy Analysis stated in its report that there is no relationship between the taxable wealth of school districts and student performance on the TEAMS test. It also contends that no relationship exists between the amount of money a district spends per student and the test scores.

"The Lockney Independent School system spends $3,623 per student, but money doesn't necessarily mean better scores," stated Hallmark.

The report indicated that black and hispanic students perform worse on the tests in the upper grades. However the ethnic breakdown for the Lockney schools include 60 percent hispanic, 36 percent white, 4 percent black and .03 percent other. Eighty eight percent of the Lockney students passed all three tests taken in 1989.

In 1989 the Texas Supreme Court ruled that the states current system of financing public schools is unconstitutional because it denies students in poor district equal access to funds. The court held that the state's funding system is neither financially efficient nor adept at providing a general diffusion of knowledge statewide.

The court has set a May 1 deadline for the Legislature to change the system and a special session has been called for February 27 to deal with the school finance issue.

The TEAMS tests are administered each year to students in grades 1,3,5,7,9 and 11. All students must pass the eleventh grade test in order to receive a high school diploma in Texas.

Lockney ISD board holds special session

The board members of the Lockney Independent School District met in a special called session on Thursday, January 18 for the purpose of reviewing the school policy manual.

"We are required by law to review and update the policy manual every three years," stated W.H. (Dub) Hallmark, superintendent of Lockney schools, and he continued, "The members discussed some policies that had to be updated and recommended some policies to be discarded."

All the recommendations will be put together in a finished form and the school board members will vote on the changes at their regular meeting in March.

Attending the meeting were board members, Eddie Teeter, Paul Glasson, Lisa Mosley, Gary Mangold, Jim Bob Martin, and Dickie Lambert, Superintendent Hallmark and Principals Evans, Ellison and Poole.

Robin Marks is runner-up in state essay contest

Robin Marks received an all expense paid trip to Austin after winning second place in a writing contest sponsored by the Texas Young Lawyers Association. She was presented with a plaque during ceremonies held in the Texas House of Representatives on January 13.

Seventy high school students were recognized for participating in the essay contest which was held in honor of the Supreme Court of Texas Sesquicentennial.

The students were asked to write their papers on the theme "The Ideal Supreme Court Justice." The essay contest was aimed at providing the students with an opportunity to learn about the court, its history, its role in society and an overview of the legal profession.

Selection of the participants and the winning essayists was based on academic record, community service and school or community leadership activities. Students were also chosen to geographically represent the state.

The essays were judged by a committee of the Texas Young Lawyers Association. The contest was sponsored in part by the Texas Bar Foundation and Southwest Airlines. The air transportation for the students was donated by Southwest Airlines. A grant was presented by the Texas Bar Foundation to the Texas Young Lawyers Association in order for them to underwrite this educational endeavor.

Lockney sweetheart candidates are named

Lockney Livestock Show Sweetheart representatives for 1990 are Carolyn Turner, Lockney FFA, and Lila Booker, Lockney 4-H.

Turner is the 15 year old daughter of John David and Mary Turner. She has two older sisters, Loretta and Amy, and a younger brother, David.

Turner is involved in basketball, tennis and track. This is the first year for her to be a member of the Lockney FFA Chapter. She is also a member of the Lockney 4-H Club.

She has shown barrows on the local and county level and also at the San Antonio Livestock Show. She stated that it was "an honor to be a nominee for the Stock Show Sweetheart for 1990."

Booker is a fifteen year old sophomore at Lockney High School and the daughter of F.L. and Mary Montandon.

She has been an active 4-H member for the past four years. She placed first at District competition twice with her method demonstration speeches and has also placed first at the County 4-H Food Show. Booker has been an officer for the Lockney 4-H Club for the past two year and she is currently serving as reporter for the club.

In high school Lila is a member of the U.I.L. One Act Play cast. She has been an officer of FHA and been voted "Most Courteous" and "Most Studious" her Freshman and Sophomore years. She is currently serving as sophomore class secretary. Booker has also participated in the Theatre Arts classes of "Super Saturday" at Texas Tech.

Lockney stock show judging begins Saturday

Barrows, lambs and steers will be paraded before the judge Saturday in the annual Lockney Junior Livestock Show. The livestock showbarn at the Floyd County Fairground will be the site of the event to be held on Saturday, January 27.

Judge for the event will be Sam Jackson who is the Livestock Judging Coach at Texas Tech.

He will open the show at 8:00 a.m. by selecting the top barrows and then singling out winners in the sheep and steer division.

Weighing in of swine, lambs and steers begins at 5:00 p.m. on Friday, January 26. The barn will open at 4:00 p.m. Friday.

The Lockney Chamber of Commerce annually furnishes prize money, ribbons, rosettes and the judges fee for the local show. The chamber also assists with the Floyd County Junior Livestock Show and sale which will be held February 3 and 4 at the show barn in Floydada.

FFA and 4-H students who attend Lockney schools are eligible to exhibit animals on Saturday.

Parents, other relatives and interested individuals are encouraged to support the youngsters with their presence at the judging.

Cash premiums and ribbons will be handed to the owners of the winning stock in each class. Grand and Reserve Champions are to receive rosettes.

FAILING STUDENTS MAY NOT EXHIBIT

The Beacon checked with Superintendent W.H. (Dub) Hallmark to determine whether students who have failing grades - or who had failing grades last six weeks - will be eligible to exhibit animals. Supt. Hallmark said, "Neither FFA or 4-H students attending Lockney schools who have failing grades will be eligible to exhibit their animals in either the local or county livestock shows."

This policy was established by the school board in April, 1986. According to this policy, if a student is scholastically ineligible his or her animals are also considered "ineligible" for either show. According to Hallmark students were informed of this standard before purchasing animals to prepare for the shows.

Next set of TEAMS tests scheduled for February 6-8

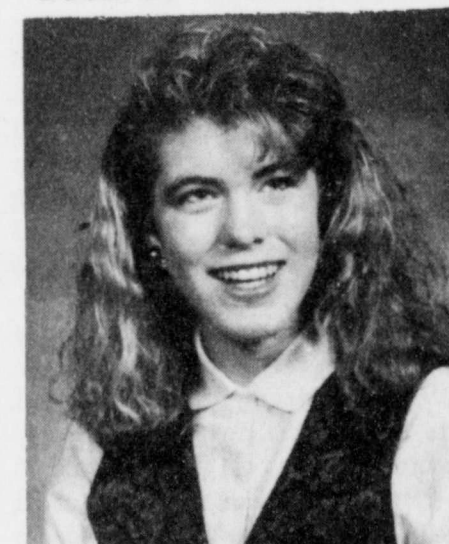

The Lockney I.S.D. will be administering the TEAMS test on February 6-8. Students in grades 3, 5, 7, and 9 will be taking the test in areas of reading, writing, and mathematics. The TEAMS test is an assessment of minimum skills which are taught in each grade level.

Lockney 9th graders performed very well on the TEAMS test last year with 88.1% of them passing. This ranks Lockney freshman (now sophomores) among the highest in the state on TEAMS scores. Petersburg ranked first in the state at the 9th grade level with all their freshman passing.

This will be the last year that the TEAMS test will be administered. Beginning with the 1990-1991 school year, NATIONAL SCHOOL NURSE WEEK--Evelyn Ulmer, school nurse for the Lockney school system, checks Cassidy Hill's hearing while Marc Wilson awaits his turn. Ulmer has been school nurse for the Lockney school system for the past seventeen years. Governor Bill Clements has proclaimed the week of January 22-26 as National School Nurse Awareness Week.

January 22-26 declared National School Nurse Awareness Week

Governor William P. Clements has signed a proclamation declaring January 22-26, 1990 as National School Nurse Awareness Week.

Mrs. Evelyn Ulmer serves as school nurse for the Lockney school system. She has worked seventeen years in this position. Prior to the job she holds now she worked out of an office in the Floyd County Courthouse and gave hearing, eye, and other tests to the students in the South Plains and Dougherty school systems.

Professional registered nurses are valuable members of educational teams in Texas schools. They contribute to the health of students in many ways beyond their most recognizable function as licensed health care providers. School nurses serve as advocates for students by lending a perspective regarding individual health needs.

Their assistance is particularly important in cases of students whose illnesses hinder the ability to learn. In the past, students with health problems were kept at home. Students' needs during the school day for medication, specialized procedures, and access to sophisticated health care apparatus have expanded the role of the school nurse.

School nurses serve as informal health educators by providing counseling and support for students and teachers. They are important resource in the processes of curriculum development, textbook selection, and review of instructional materials, in which accuracy of information is highly important.

School nurses assist school administrators as trusted communicators with parents regarding sensitive health topics. Their connection to the health care system adds credibility in addressing topics such as prevention of drug use, child abuse, suicide, school-age pregnancy, and sexually transmitted diseases.

Governor Clements encourages everyone to recognize registered nurses during Texas School Nurse Awareness Week on January 22-26 for their contribution to the educational process.

The Chief's Report

By Lennie Gilroy
Chief of Police

I am often asked, "Can I carry a handgun in my car?"

This is not an easy question to answer. In fact, if you ask five cops and five attorneys this question you will, no doubt, get ten different answers.

People ask, "Can I get a permit to carry a handgun?"

At this time there is no such thing as a permit to carry a handgun in the State of Texas.

The Texas Penal Code states: A person commits an offense if he intentionally, knowingly, or recklessly carries on or about his person a handgun, illegal knife, or club. In MOST cases an offense under this section is a Class A Misdemeanor.

A Class A Misdemeanor is punishable by:

- (1) A fine not to exceed $2,000.00;
- (2) Confinement in jail for a term not to exceed one year; or
- (3) Both, such fine and imprisonment.

However, there are defenses to prosecution.

- (1) Law enforcement officers, Armed Forces or National Guard, etc.
- (2) A person on his own premises or premises under his control;
- (3) Traveling;
- (4) Engaging in lawful hunting, fishing or other sporting activity if the weapon is a type commonly used in the activity. (This would also include going to and from a pistol range, gun dealer, repair shop, etc.)

(5) Security officers commissioned through the State of Texas. (There are many rules concerning security officers that I will not go into at this time.)

NOTE: You may still be arrested for Unlawful Carrying of a Handgun if you think one of these defenses apply to you. You may have to prove to the court that the defense did, in fact, apply.

The traveling area is the defense that has most people confused. I have never heard two people who had the same opinion on these defenses. I can tell you how it was taught to me in the police academy and I feel that this is the intent of the defenses.

You are aware of the saying a man's home is his castle. A person has a right to protect himself in his home. When a person is traveling his castle may be a motel, hotel or camper, etc. He has a right to protect himself at night at his place of rest.

I have had people tell me that a person is a traveler if he crosses two county lines. I do not feel that this is true. If a man lives in one part of Floyd County and owns a "weekend cabin" in another part of Floyd County he has the right to take a handgun to protect himself while at the cabin. In this case he may never leave Floyd County.

However, a person may cross several county lines to go to Lubbock to shop at the mall for the day and return home (but remember buy at home first). This would not be considered a traveler

This is just my interpretation of the law, some will probably differ. You must keep in mind that the majority of persons who make up our laws are lawyers. If the laws were clear and easy to interpret we would need less lawyers (don't hold your breath).

Along the same lines is the question of carrying a rifle or a shotgun in your vehicle. It is not unlawful to carry a rifle or shotgun in your vehicle unless:

The rifle has a barrel length of less than 16 inches or a shotgun with a barrel length of less than 18 inches, or any weapon made from a shotgun or rifle if, as altered, it has an overall length of less than 26 inches.

Unlawfully carrying a handgun in your vehicle is a serious offense. The law is aimed at handguns and "short barrel firearms" because they are easily concealed by persons who intend to misuse them.

Again this is a grey area, if you plan to carry a handgun in your vehicle check with your local law enforcement officers or your county attorney.

"Promise Yourself"

By Jannice Griffin

Editor of the Quannah Tribune

Promise Yourself:

To be so strong that nothing can disturb your peace of mind.

To talk health, happiness and prosperity to every person you meet.

To make all your friends feel that there is something in them.

To look at the sunny side of everything and make our optimism come true.

To think only of the best, to work only for the best and to expect only the best.

To be just as enthusiastic about the success of others as you are about your own.

To forget the mistakes of the past and press on to the greater achievements of the future.

To wear a cheerful countenance at all times and give every living creature you meet a smile.

To give so much time to the improvement of yourself that you have no time to criticize others.

To be to large for worry, too noble for anger, too strong for fear and too happy to permit the presence of trouble.

Poetry prizes doubled

Poetry prizes worth $44,000 will be awarded to 608 poets by the American Poetry Association in 1990. The association will sponsor four separate contests this year, doubling its efforts to discover new talent.

Each contest awards a $1,000 grand prize, a $500 first prize, and a total of $11,000 in prizes to 152 winners. All adults who write poetry are welcome to enter.

For the current contest, poets may send up to six poems, each no more than 20 lines, name and address on each page, to American Poetry Association, Dept. CO-26, 250-A Potrero St., P.O. Box 1803, Santa Cruz, CA 95061. Poems must be postmarked by March 31 to meet the deadline. A new contest starts April 1.

Each poem will also be considered for publication in the American Poetry Anthology, a hardcover collection of contemporary verse.

Since 1981 the association has awarded $165,000 in contest prizes to 3,100 poets.

TMA encourages volunteers

Give blood and help save a life, urges the Texas Medical Association as it joins President Bush and the American Association of Blood Banks in celebrating National Volunteer Blood Donor Month in January.

In his White House proclamation, President Bush said giving blood is "one of the most selfless ways to help another human being," and urged all Americans to take part in neighborhood blood drives.

Blood banks typically run short of blood in January because of the holidays. Regular blood donors often are too busy to give blood, and hospitals need more blood for accident victims.

"We particularly need type O blood donors," said TMA member Dr. Margie B. Peschel, medical director of the Carter Blood Center in Fort Worth. Type O, the most common blood type, is valuable because it can be used, in some cases, to benefit other blood types.

Another factor that may contribute to a short supply is fear of contracting AIDS, Dr. Peschel said, but fortunately that fear is diminishing through education.

"Giving blood is completely safe," she said, "because all equipment is used only once."

Also, blood bank personnel take a medical history of every prospective donor and perform a mini-physical to make sure the person is qualified to

Monday, we had our exercises, Rock Creek Church of Christ. After dinner we had our bus ride, residents that went on the bus are Adolfo Burrell, Lennie Gilbert, Elmo Savage, Lottie Stewart, Faye Sams, Olga Applewhite. Riding along with our residents was Carol Mangel. I could not ride the bus, because I had the Activity Consultant with me.

Tuesday, I had 19 of my residents participating in activities, we also had finger painting in the morning. After dinner, we had the music of John and Maebella Francis.

Wednesday, I had Care Plans to do in the morning, and the church that comes on Wednesdays had some of their singers ill, so what we did was listen to gospel music on the record player. After dinner, some of the residents wanted popcorn, so we had popcorn.

Thursday, we had some more gospel music to listen to. We had devotionals with the Baptist Church. After dinner, we played bingo, attending were Lurany Hunter, Roy Hunter, Leta Teague, Eva Cresswell, Adolfo Burrell, Faye Sams and Grace Foster.

Friday, we had our ball catching and basketball throwing in the morning. We had Hat Day, most of the residents wore a hat. After dinner, we had our Hat Day party. Chosen for the ugliest hat was Earl Mercer; original hat, Mamie Ford; and for the prettiest hat was Bessie Jackson. We would like to thank the Lockney Beacon for coming to take pictures of our Hat Day. Thanks to Mary Gaskins for baking the cookies for the party. Thanks to Mrs. Gibson for buying the gifts. We love you ladies for doing these things for us.

We would also like to say that we enjoyed having Mrs. Lasara Beltran with us, we hope she does good at home. Thanks to all the volunteers for all they do for our residents. We love you all.

Well until next week, so long from all of us at the Care Center.

Girl Scout cookie sales underway this month

This year's Girl Scout Cookie Sale began on January 12, and continues through January 28. Cookies will be delivered and money collected after Feb. 20.

Girl Scouts will be selling seven different kinds of cookies - some for chocolate lovers, some for peanut butter freaks, even one for people who don't like sweets. So your choice isn't going to be easy.

This year there are two new flavors - a lemon pastry cookie and one called Caramel deLite. Golden Yangles are the non-sweet item, bite size cheddar cheese crackers. Over the past years, Thin Mints have been the best sellers. The short bread type cookies are second, followed very closely by the peanut butter sandwich cookies.

Girl Scout cookies sell for $2.50 a box. No matter what flavor you choose you can't go wrong. Ask your Girl Scout cookie salesperson what kind she recommends.

Girl Scout cookies are made with top-quality ingredients and without preservatives. All varieties may be frozen. Giving never tasted so good. They're delicious - and they help Girl Scouting in our town.

If you don't get your order to a Girl Scout in time, you may call the cookie chairman, Brenda Mangold at 652-3855 before Feb. 10 to place an order.

'The Ideal Supreme Court Judge'

By Robin Marks

(EDITOR'S NOTE--The following is an essay written by Robin Marks which won second place in an essay contest sponsored by the Texas Young Lawyers Association.)

Theodore B. Goodman sat in his office with his head bent over the pending Supreme Court case. The speckled grey of his hair showed that he had the years of experience to know the law; yet, he was young enough to work with the laws using their flexibility to adjust to a changing world.

The brows above his wise, old eyes drew together as he reviewed the case. He would be stating his opinion on the case tomorrow. It was a difficult case: one that affected his co-workers and himself. These types of cases were never easy to adjudicate: this case was extra hard.

As he looked through his lawbooks, he thought about how his decision would affect him personally. At the same time he felt compelled to consider the public and how his decision would help or hurt them.

He sat for hours just staring at the judicial reform case. As he looked at the arguments made by the people against it, his compassion and understanding of the people and their opinions showed in his facial features. The reform stated that the Governor could appoint Supreme Court Justices instead of their being elected; however, if the voters did not like the appointed judge, they could vote him or her out when the term expired. The Governor, as a member of the opposition party, would be able to appoint judges of his own party. This would not be in the best political interest of Goodman and his party.

If Goodman voted against the bill, the state could continue to get judges who are not worthy of their position. In the past, some candidates have been elected to the post simply because their name was Abraham Washington or something similar to a character of fame. Another problem in the past has been that judges are placed far down on the ballot and by the time the average voters get to that point, they do not take as much time to consider the candidates. Furthermore, they may know very little or absolutely nothing about for whom they are voting.

Still considering these arguments, Goodman sat back in his chair. He reached for his tattered book of quotes. He was looking for anything to help him make this decision, one of great significance to his party and state.

He felt like a mouse trapped between a wall and a cat as he looked through the quotes. Suddenly, one quote jumped out and struck him. He had the solution! Go under the cat! "I am not trapped against the wall any longer," he thought to himself. He hurriedly wrote the quote down and began to prepare his reasons for the next day's vote. As he wrote down his reasons for his decision, he realized that some would think he had lost his mind. He left his office that night contented and happy with his decision.

The next day he went to court and sat in his seat at the long table. When he was asked, he stated his vote with satisfaction in his voice. He had decided to vote in favor of the reform; however, the vote went in favor of those opposed. Then what he had prepared himself for happened.

"Have you lost your mind?" one newer judge asked. "Voting for a reform like that could mean that we would lose our majority."

Goodman took a sheet of paper from the stack in front of him and read the following quote by Edmund Burke: "Your representative owes you, not his industry only, but his judgement; and he betrays instead of serving you if he sacrifices it to your opinion."

"Your judgement tells you to let the Governor's party be in the majority?" the outspoken judge said. All the other judges listened expectantly. They knew Goodman usually had good reasoning behind his decisions. They were waiting for that reasoning.

Goodman replied, "That is true, but this reform would let the people find out more about those for whom they are voting. Half the people out there do not know the qualifications and abilities of the candidates running for a judge's seat. Most Governors will want to appoint judges who have a reputation for being qualified, honest, and just men and women and exemplify these qualities in a manner in which to gain re-election. Allowing a judge to serve a term before on him or her would enable the voters to see that the judges are interpreting their laws and seeing that the laws are carried out in a competent manner. This would let the public rest assured that selfless, compassionate, ethical, and firm people are in charge of their laws, not just someone with a popular or well-known name, or someone who just happened to fall on the side of the ticket they were voting. This type of reform is being used in many states and, so far, it seems to be working out pretty well. The reform bill would keep the judges from having to work with biased and unethical people. I do not know about you, but I prefer not to work with persons like that." He then pushed his chair back and rose to leave.

Before he got to the door, someone suggested a re-vote. They voted again, and the decision was eight to one in favor of the reform.

The next day the court told the state their decision on the judicial reform. All the judges were happy with the decision, except for the one young judge who had argued with Goodman.

Goodman went over to the younger man and told him that this job required selflessness and that as he grew older, and as he worked at his job longer, it would be easier to understand.

The younger judge looked at Goodman and said, "I could easily lose my power. I've worked hard to get here, and I don't want everything taken away."

Goodman replied, "A job you love is one worth dedication. Continue working hard, and the chances of keeping your power are much greater. Remember the beginning of the quote, "Your representative owes you, not his industry only, but his judgement..." Remember that, but do not put the sometimes uninformed opinions of the people in front of what you know to be right. But, also remember never to be so stubborn that you do not listen to the public because sometimes they are right. Make sure you believe your decision in your heart and in your mind, or it is not worth trying to support." With that, Goodman left the young man. He knew the young judge would be famous one day, but he had not yet come to the point where he could sacrifice self-interest for the good of the people.

As he removed his robes Goodman decided to go out to his favorite restaurant and have a big steak to celebrate his decision. He turned back to ask the new judge to join him, but as he saw the young man, he thought better of his decision. The young man needed to be alone with his thoughts.

"Together We Can Make This Area Grow"

Are you a volunteer who wants to be a leader in your community's growth? Are you a chamber of commerce official unsure which industries to recruit? Are you a public official who wants to know which international economic trends will affect your town?

If so, Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS) has just the conference for you.

"Together We Can Make This Area Grow" is a regional conference designed to help economic-development professionals, chambers of commerce executives, government officials and their staffs, and volunteers develop greater expertise in economic development.

The conference will be from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. January 31, at the Lubbock Plaza Hotel. It is sponsored by SPS and co-sponsored by the Business Quarter of New Mexico, High Ground of Texas, Panhandle Regional Planning Commission and South Plains Association of Governments.

"For this region to grow, all communities need to be involved. That's why we called this conference 'Together We Can Make This Area Grow'," said Gary Gibson, SPS's vice president of marketing.

"This meeting will include nationally known experts in various fields and give local community leaders the tools needed to develop their economic-development programs," he said.

At the conference, an Ohio demographics firm will release the results of an updated target industry study, which identifies specific types of businesses best suited for the SPS service area. SPS provides electric service to the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle, eastern and southeastern New Mexico, and southwestern Kansas.

"This updated study will help make the efforts of industry recruiters even more efficient," Gibson said.

Additional workshops will address:

- * developing community leadership;
- * expanding existing businesses;
- * broadening financing options;
- * applying computers to economic developments;
- * national and international economic changes;
- * the essentials of community economic development.

Attendees must register by January 20. The conference registration fee is $50, which will include the reception, luncheon and conference materials. To register or to obtain further information on the conference, contact our local SPS office or call the SPS economic-development department at 806-378-2173.

DANGER - CAUTION - HELP

It has been brought to our attention that a serious problem exists in the form of student safety!

State law requires all of us to stop for any school bus that has flashing red lights. This law is being ignored by some.

Please don't be the individual that has to explain to some parent why you hit or ran over their child.

Student safety is everyone's responsibility. We need your help! Report all violations. Passing a stopped school bus deserves a heavy fine.

What price are you willing to pay for a child's life.

Ignacio Luna and Tandi Gant were commentators for the evening.

Luna gave a history of the class of 1917-18. He stated, "It was the school year 1917-18 when a group of 12 enthusiastic seniors of L.H.S. began to organize an annual staff for the first time. Their class history states that their Junior-Senior Reception was a great event. The seniors went as a body to Mrs. Woodburn's and gave 15 Rabs for the juniors who in turn gave 15 Rabs for the Seniors. Contests and games were the feature of the evening, after which refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. While this was happening in Lockney, our country was busy with prohibition and in the larger cities, speak-easies were found in basements where illegal moonshine was the special drink."

Entertaining the group, as she danced the 1920's dance called the Charleston, was Jennifer Fortenberry.

Luna continued, "The end of the 20's - 1929 began a new era for L.H.S. The high school building we are currently in was built. It was also the year that brought on the great depression. Because of this the publishing of the year book was suspended for several years. By 1936, the economy was growing and it was that year that a band was organized for the high school. In that group was our own Lucy Dean Record. It was organized more for stage performances than a marching band.

In 1937 our school song was written by Mrs. Willie Merle Haithcock and was set to music by Mrs. G.D. Tate, Sr. We owe them a special thanks. 1938-39 was the first championship football team. By the mid-30's people in our country were recovering from the depression and large dance halls were being used throughout the country. It was the big band era with named such as Tommy Dorsey, Woody Herman and Glenn Miller. They all had a special sound of their own, but none was better than Glenn Miller, and here on our stage tonight, we hear the sound of Miller and see the dance of the 30's — the jitterbug."

Luna again continued, "The 1940's started with a marching band and maroon uniforms were bought for the band members. There were 30 members in the band that year. December 7, 1941 was a sad year for the country. This was the day that Japan bombed Pearl Harbor and because of needs in defense many things were suspended. The annual was again put on hold and the band was alliviated. During this time many young men left their homes to help defend our country. Two young men from Lockney High School gave their lives for our country — Clinton Mitchell and Milton Zimmerman. These young men were outstanding athletes and because of this our own football field was named in honor of them. It still carries the name of Mitchell-Zimmerman Field.

From the senior section of the 1946 Roundup, we find the following description of a girl named Jeanette Hall. She is studious, friendly, dependable. Jeanette is a charming girl. This Jeanette is none other than our Biology teacher and Student Council sponsor Jeanette Marr.

After the war in 1947, many activities were begun. The band was reorganized, the annual was again printed, the newspaper, the Lariat, was organized and Homecoming activities were organized. Music and dancing were still one of the favorite pastimes with the 2-step and jitterbug still the main dance steps. Frank Sinatra, Dick Haymes and the Andrew Sisters were the big record personalities. We have brought the Andrew Sisters out of retirement."

Tina Martinez, Daisey Blanco and Kori Kellison were introduced as the Andrew Sisters and they entertained the audience with songs of the 40's.

Luna continued, "The 50's were exciting years. The economy was good and there was electricity in the air. Televisions were beginning to be found in many households. In 1951 the name of the annual was changed from the Roundup to its current name The Longhorn. The seniors wrote the following in 1951: "We the seniors of 1951, being of something of Einstein minds and Betty Grable shapliness, do hereby declare this to be a will."

One of these seniors was Jontha Lee Casey, your second grade teacher—Mrs. Mercer. Her future was almost predicted. It said, "Jontha will be a soil erosion expert on the bigger and better Mercer farm." Oh well, at least she married the right guy!

Athletics were big in the 50's with a District Champion in the school year 1956-57. This group went on the next year and became the first of the Lockney teams to become Bi-District Champs by beating Dimmitt 15-14. This was called the Ice Bowl as it was played in 14 degree weather. The players used paper sacks over their feet to try to keep them warm.

One of our illustrious graduates in 1956 was a girl named LaDora Ayres. We, of course know her as that "teacher who gives homework every night"—Mrs. LaDora Aufill.

Following close behind in 1958 was the Best-All Around Girl—Kay Golden—now Mrs. Kay Williams.

The 50's saw a change in the style of music and dance. Music became louder and dance moves a little wilder, and the hair a little longer. The Beatles made their debut and a guy that just can't seem to "rest in peace" has shown up here at L.H.S. Lets welcome that gyrating, handsome dude called ELVIS!

Jessie Arjona sang "Jailhouse Rock" in his presentation of Elvis Presley.

Luna continued, "The sixties were the years of protest, hippies, and the Viet Nam conflict. Students of LHS included Doyle Poole, Jackie Lou Frizzell Holt, Warren Mitchell, Charlotte Taylor Brock, Raye Gant, Rita Dollar Bush, Delinda Phillips Glasson, and Cheryl Rucker Teeter. Any of these names sound familiar?

Sports again was an exciting pastime. In 1964 Tommy Moore won 5 events at the district meet garnering 50 points on his own. He concentrated on the 440 and represented Lockney well at the state meet setting a new state record by winning with a time of 48.6 Two years later Melvin Sissney went to state in the 440 as a junior. He was not to be outdone as he won state setting another record with the time of 47.4 This time is still the record time for Lockney High School.

Also in 1967 Jimmy Bradley's mom, Cheryl Mason Bradley, went to state in tennis. Waverly Washington represented us at state in the shot put in 1968.

It was also 1968 when a new assistant coach entered the halls of LHS. He is now the superintendent, Dub Hallmark.

Music continued with folk and protest songs, but rock and roll was still the number one type of music. Adding to rock and roll was a new dance called the peppermint twist.

Representing Chubby Checkers and doing the peppermint twist to the song "Shout" was Shawn Hill.

"The 70's brought lots of fun to the halls of LHS," stated Luna, "Student Council projects, sports, annual and band were all very active. 1971 the halls of LHS had more new teachers; Peggy Hallmark and Jeanette Marr. The following year another new assistant coach appeared by the name of James Poole. He has continued to roam the halls of LHS.

Girls basketball under the direction of Marsha Sharp became the highlight of the 70's and early 80's. District championships became a yearly occurrence. The music of the 70's has remained rock and roll for the most part."

Mr. James Hany entertained with the songs "Dust in the Wind" and "Hotel California", and was followed by Eric Humphries, Cody Jackson, and Clay Golden portraying Steppenwolf. They did the song "Born to be Wild".

Continuing Luna added, "The 80's came with more athletic honors. Cross Country under Coach Patti Purser brought excitement to our school. Mark Gatica made his way to state four consecutive years running Cross Country. He ran on the 1986 team that won state. The previous year was also a state championship year with Eddie Garza who also won state in the mile run.

We had back to back district championships in football the years of 1984 and 85. The '85 team made it to the area championships—only to be defeated by a 7-6 margin. It was only the second team in Lockney's history to become Bi-District Champs.

Football All-Staters of the 80's were Kyle Brock of '81-82 and Danny Peralez of 1985. The 1986-87 track team won district in exciting finishes. In the years '88-89, we were represented at state by Andy Rodriguez in the 440 sprint.

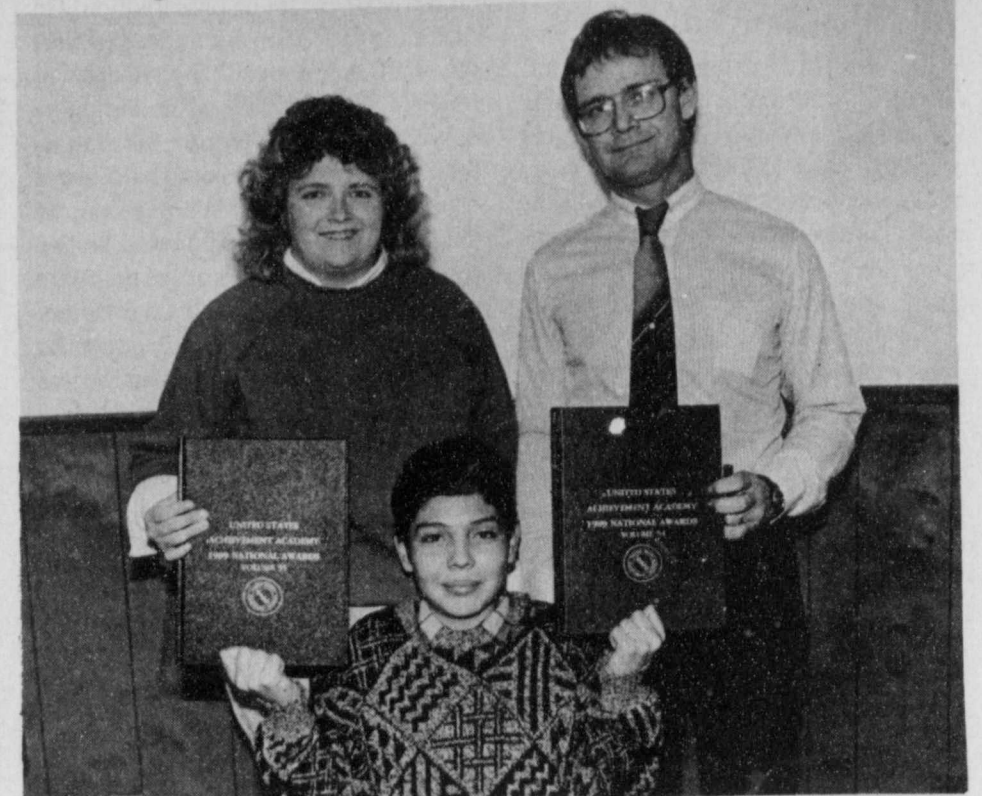

Our 1989 year began with an excited football team, but non-district games seemed to be out of reach. The guys, however never looked back and prepared for district. We finished the season in second place and entered the Bi-District playoffs. It wasn't a bad year in football. Our thanks to the guys who gave us these fun times. As the result of the season, there was another special award. Coach Jim Clark was voted the South Plains Coach of the Year.

The 80's have been good years for music." With this statement he introduced Jessie Arjona who portrayed Michael Jackson with the song "Joy and Pain" and "Beat It".

Luna finished with the comments, "Many more people deserve recognition from throughout the years. The band has captured many sweepstakes trophies, academic teams have represented us at state. Our students as a whole have made Lockney a great place to be and our teachers have helped us to achieve our goals. Students from Lockney have excelled in all phases of life. You can find someone from Lockney throughout the world. Always be proud of your school and your hometown Lockney."
