

LISD earns top honors for at-risk language program

Lockney Independent School District received high honors recently when Lockney's Middle/High School was named the State Lead School for their excellent English language arts programs for students at risk of failing or dropping out.

The recognition comes from the National Council of Teachers of English. Eighty-six schools throughout the United States were commended by the NCTE, and one school in each state (plus the District of Columbia) was designated as State Lead School.

"Students at risk of failing to benefit from their schooling exist at all socio-economic levels of our society," said Ken Holmes of Lincoln High School, East St. Louis, Illinois, who chaired NCTE's Centers of Excellence search committee. "While the school programs we are honoring won't alleviate the factors such as single-parent households, availability of drugs, and poverty that put some students at risk, the teachers and school staffs involved in these programs are showing their students that they are valued. Their caring attitudes are building students' self-esteem and confidence that they can learn."

A key ingredient of the Centers of Excellence program, which NCTE began with more general focus in 1985, is its provision that schools named as Centers and as national and state Lead Schools help spread their successful concepts. Lockney High School will now be available to share written materials about their language arts programs with other educators and education writers, and will encourage those involved with school improvement to visit and observe their programs in action.

The NCTE will also pay the expense for one teacher to attend the National Conference in Atlanta, Georgia, in November.

"We were chosen because of our low drop out rate, our test scores, school programs and parent involvement," said Charlotte Mitchell, school counselor.

The programs that were submitted for review to the NCTE were: the Student Assist program, High School Reading Classes, Life-Management Skills program, CAWP, JPTA, English-as-second Language, Chapter I - Migrant Program, In School Tutorial/At Home Visits, Shorthorn of the Week, Parental Community Involvement, At Risk Summer School, Drug Free School Program and Attendance/Attitude.

Student-Assist Program - This program was initiated in the fall of 1988 by Linda Terrell, middle-school Language Arts teacher. Throughout the 88-89 school year, 12 students became tutors to first graders in reading-writing-listening-speaking. They assisted with varied activities including fluency drills, writing stories, singing phonics, storytelling, and even eating inside a large tent and performing Indian dances. Weekly, students discussed and kept a log on their assist-experiences. Mrs. Terrell states, "This program is the most effective tool I've ever seen for building self-confidence in an At-Risk teenager. It gives them a feeling that they're part of the school, rather than on the outside looking in."

Lockney High School Reading Class - Although not required by the state at high school level, Lockney ISD provides reading classes for At-Risk youth. Teacher Kay Williams uses a variety of curriculum/instructional strategies including listening-speaking-reading-writing. Mrs. Williams says, "We limit the size of the reading classes to 5-8 students, so we're like a family. We all care about each other."

In addition, Lockney ISD At-Risk students have use of computers/computer software so each can progress in mastering basic language-reading concepts at a pace suited to individual abilities. LISD has a total of 93 computers providing a ratio of 1 computer for every 8 students.

Life Management Skills Program - This is the second year Lockney ISD has joined other schools in this unique program designed to meet the special needs of middle/high school At-Risk students. In a weekend-retreat setting outside the classroom, students are trained in goal setting, self-esteem building, and leadership. Lockney ISD counselor Charlotte Mitchell evaluates the retreat by saying, "It gives the At-Risk students a chance for their abilities to emerge in an environment where they don't have to compete with peers with superior advantages."

CAWP - Lockney ISD has fully supported the Caprock Area Writing Project, an affiliate of the National Writing Project and based at Texas Tech University. The school board/administration has provided funding for four classroom teachers to attend the '88 and '89 summer institutes at Texas Tech. Also, they funded a ten-week series of CAWP workshops for local language arts/ across-the-curriculum teachers in the fall of '88. Because of this project, classroom instruction for At-Risk students has shifted from teacher-dominated to student-centered. The project has ignited the teaching of higher level thinking skills. In such writing assignments there are no absolute right and wrong ways to approach the activity. Examples of higher level thinking activities include: 7th Remedial Language Arts wrote cause-effect books and spent six weeks in an original-designed program to develop higher thinking skills through HANK THE COWDOG by Texas author John Erickson. 6th Theatre Arts students wrote puppet scripts with a moral, designed puppets, and presented shows for 1st graders.

Other activities include 9th English students' publication of THE LOCKNEY LEGACY, a book covering our town's history and written in conjunction with our Floyd County Centennial celebration this year.

Teams and SRA scores indicate the success of this program. In 88-89, Lockney ISD was named to the Top Ten Schools in Texas according to a legislative survey that considered TEAMS test scores in relation to school funding and minority enrollment. In 89-90 on the 9th grade TEAMS test, LISD ranked 25th in the state. In addition, Lockney ISD made the 2nd highest gains on Chapter 1 students' standardized reading test scores in Education Service Center-Region XVII—+6.52 NCE for whole district and +3.65 for migrant reading.

JPTA-LISD uses a Job Partner Training Participation Activity funded through the Special-Ed Co-op. The program is used by At-Risk youth and community adults who need extra credit in basic fields to meet graduation requirements. This individualized computer-based instruction covers everything from basic reading to computer programming. It is self-paced and provides immediate feedback.

ESL - Lockney ISD provides middle/high school English-as-a-Second-Language instruction for At-Risk students

1990 Floyd County Fair round-up

By Carol Huggins

Well, the 1990 edition of the Floyd County Fair is now history and some members of the Fair Board are catching up on some well deserved rest, while at the same time trying to get all those things done that had been put aside for so long.

All in all, the fair should be considered a success. There were some scheduling problems and the heat certainly made itself known. Sometimes tempers were short, but it should be taken into consideration the long working hours before and during the Fair.

For the most part, the Fair was bigger this year. There was good participation in most events, both new additions and the old standards. Everyone seemed to be having a good time.

The auction was a big success, even more than the Board had hoped. We will be able to purchase more chairs than we had planned on, which will make that problem much easier to handle next year. The Board wants to extend a great big Thank You to Sam Fortenberry Auctioneers for the donation of their services. All the guys, (and their wives, too) were great. They made the evening not only profitable but also a lot of fun.

The parade was wonderful! Kana Kennedy did a super job in rounding up all the participants and also in recruiting the "celebrity" judges.

She would like to send out special thanks to Kenneth Holt and the Lion's Club for getting all the floats and other groups in line for the parade. Kana was also responsible for getting the Fair on TV with Karla Leslie. This was a good advertisement not only for the Fair but for Floyd County as well.

President Lawson Rowell would like to express his appreciation to Johnny Dorman and his clean-up crew for sweeping out the building each morning. The building and grounds crew also did a lot of work to make the Fair more enjoyable. It takes persistence to keep everything working and looking good.

The Fair Board would like to thank all those who helped and/or participated in anything during the Fair. All of us working together made the 1990 Floyd County Fair the success that it was.

A post-fair meeting will be held Monday, Sept. 17, in the entertainment building at the fairgrounds at 8:00 p.m. You do not have to be on the board to attend this meeting. Everyone is welcome to offer their praise (preferably), complaints or suggestions as to the way things should be done in the future. The date of next year's Fair will be one of the main topics for discussion. Please come and express your opinions.

Booster Club urges use of clackers

The Longhorn Booster Club is asking Longhorn fans to use their red clackers on third down at every game this year. Some fans received clackers last week and the Booster Club will have some more available at the game Friday night. These are being furnished by Consumer Fuel and fans are asked to bring them to every game and use them. The Booster Club expresses their appreciation to Consumers for supporting the team in this way.

The Booster Club will meet Monday night in the Junior High Cafeteria to view film of last week's games. A short business meeting will follow. Any interested fans and parents are urged to come and be a part of the activities the Booster Club promotes.

The Booster Club will meet next week at 6:30 p.m. and the Jr. High film will be viewed followed by the J.V. and High School games.

Gypsy pavers hit area again with annual scam

Your Better Business Bureau has been informed by local authorities that the annual trek of gypsy pavers has hit the City and the South Plains again.

These itinerants come in from time to time and literally take thousands of dollars out of the South Plains for their own gain, leaving nothing behind but messy driveways or roofs and empty pockets. The main targets of these con artists are the senior citizens and the citizens that live on the edges of cities and in rural areas.

These gypsies live out of their trailers or recreational vehicles and travel all over the country ripping off good-hearted citizens who think they are getting a bargain. They stay in RV parks or wherever they can park their vehicles for the night.

There may be several warrants out for the arrest of some of the 100 or so gypsies that have come to the South Plains just within the last few days. Most cities in the South Plains require itinerants to get a permit to peddle and the Bureau's knowledge, there have been no permits secured or even applied for.

If you are approached to have your driveway paved or roof repaired, your Better Business Bureau advises that you exercise EXTREME CAUTION. Call your sheriff's office or police department immediately and if you can get the vehicle license tag, it would be a big help in tracking these people.

Kerr Company will mail the canning certificates

By Carol Huggins

To All Those Who Brought Canned Goods To The Fair:

The catalog was somewhat misleading as to the Kerr canning jar certificates. In year's past, the certificates have been given out on Saturday night of the Fair; however, the Kerr Company is now mailing out the certificates themselves. There are only 12 certificates available - two for first place in each of four categories and one for second place in each of the categories.

The winners are computed the same way as the Sweepstakes Award - three points for each blue ribbon in that category, two points for red and one point for white. The names of the top two point winners in each category will be sent in for the certificates. A person is eligible to win only one award.

We would like to thank the Kerr Company for their generosity in providing these prizes for our Fair.

There were more canned goods this year than there have been in several years. Thanks to all who entered.

JV opens season at home

By Susy Smith

The Lockney Longhorn J.V. dropped its first game of the season to the Ralls Jackrabbits at Mitchell-Zimmerman stadium last Thursday night. A last minute attempt by Lockney to take the lead fell short as the final gun sounded with Ralls ahead 12-6.

Ralls struck first on a 23 yard jaunt by running back Orlando Zuniga. That ended the scoring for the first half as both defenses took control.

The third quarter seemed to go the Horns' way, as the offence began to move the ball. Patrick Monroe found his way to paydirt on a 38 yard run; however, the play was nullified by a clipping penalty.

Moments later the young Horns crossed the goal line once again. Patrick Monroe scored on a 3 yard run.

The Lockney defense held again on Ralls' next possession. The Longhorns had a chance to take the lead, but a pesty Jackrabbit defense forced them to punt. Ralls took over with four minutes to go in the game and marched 64 yards to the endzone. Thomas Castro capped the drive with a 2 yard run.

Lockney got the ball back with 1:20 left on the clock. The Horns drove to the Jackrabbit 19 yard line before running out of time.

Patrick Monroe led all ball carriers with 140 yards on 33 attempts.

One of the referees stated to Coach Jim Clark, "both teams were very well behaved throughout the game."

The J.V. will travel to Petersburg tonight as well as the Jr. High Short-horns. The games are scheduled to begin at 5:00 p.m.

LISD named number one in Texas

whose primary language is not English. Teacher Tonda Jolly stresses reading-writing-speaking communication skills; thus, each student is given the opportunity for success when using the English language.

Chapter 1/Migrant Programs - Through federal funding, LISD has six aides in secondary level classrooms. This enables additional one-on-one help for At-Risk students.

In-School Tutorial/At-Home Visits - Maintained on a three-week grade average, students are provided tutoring the last period of each day. In addition, principal Terry Ellison makes home visits with parents of each child who has flunked one or more subjects in the fall semester.

Shorthorn of the Week - Junior high teacher Janice Polson started this program in the fall of '89 to promote good citizenship and self-esteem. Students are nominated by teachers, and local businesses sponsor prizes. Nominations are not based on academic performances, but rather on attitude and desire to learn. Photos of honorees appeared in The Lockney Beacon, local newspaper.

Parental/Community Involvement - Through Lockney Parents' Advisory Committee, parents of Migrant/Chapter 1 students have the opportunity to visit with teachers/administrators, hear programs on academic objectives, and form a partnership with the school in support of the educational success of their children. LISD offers night adult education classes. School facilities are available free-of-charge for community activities, such as 4-H, Prevent Aids Program, Boy Scouts, Drug Prevention Seminar, Chamber of Commerce Banquet, and others.

At-Risk Summer School - In a 2-week period, At-Risk students improve reading/math skills through computer-assisted instruction. This past summer career seminars were given by adults who were indeed role models.

Drug Free School Program - Teachers concentrated teaching stress reduction, drug/suicide prevention, etc. for one period a day for a six-week period. In addition, Lockney ISD maintains an At-Risk student assistance program whereby counseling is available at all times.

Attendance/Attitude - LISD has 98.5% daily average attendance. District goals include high expectations, such as 100% mastery of TEAMS. Administration emphasizes doing what is best for the child.

Nearly 400 schools applied for the 1990-91 program. The NCTE search committee then chose candidates to be visited by validators, who observed their programs in action. The search committee based its selection of state lead schools and additional centers on validators' reports. Candidates for National Lead School then received a second evaluation visit.

U.S. Foreign Aid: Thanks for Nothing!

By Edwin Feulner

You've heard the joke about the man who walked up to another man and said, "Give me $10." When the second man handed him a 10-dollar bill, he punched him in the nose. Well, the next day he bumps into the same man, who again demands $10. But hoping he won't get punched, this time he hands the man a $20 bill. So the guy punches him twice. "Why'd you do that?" he asks. "Because you're twice as stupid as you were yesterday."

Go ahead and laugh, but it's not all that far-fetched. The Mideast crisis aside, it happens to us all the time. A new study has found that on the average, foreign nations vote against the United States more than 80 percent of the time on major issues at the United Nations. By contrast, they vote with the Soviet Union 95 percent of the time.

That's bad enough in itself. The kicker is this: Many of the countries that most frequently vote against us are the same ones we most generously support with foreign aid. And that's not all: U.S. taxpayers also foot the bill for about 25 percent of the total U.N. operating budget, which comes to about $200 million annually, plus another $600 million for U.N.-related agencies. This generous foreign aid and support for the United Nations — totalling more than $18 billion annually — costs the average American family about $288 a year.

Some cases in point: Egypt, to which we gave $2.3 billion in foreign aid in fiscal 1989, vote in agreement with the United States less than 12 percent of the time, and with the Soviet Union more than 98 percent.

Another example: We gave Pakistan a nice fat check for $583 million last year. It voted in agreement with us less than 10 percent of the time, and with the Soviet Union more than 98 percent.

What about the Philippines? We give them lots of money, about $494 million last year. Again, the Philippines voted in agreement with the United States a meager 14 percent of the time.

India received $163 million last year. It stood with us only 5 percent of the time. Even the Soviet Union agrees with us more often than that (9.71 percent).

The list goes on: Bangladesh, the recipient of $175 million, stood with us only 13.5 percent of the time. Tunisia: 9 percent, $69 million in aid. Ghana: 10 percent, $30 million annually.

Is anybody wondering why we pay billions of dollars for the privilege of letting Third-World countries thumb their noses at us? I am.

There is one bright light in the group

— the largest recipient of U.S. aid with an annual total of $3 billion — and that's Israel, practically the only country that doesn't punch us in the nose for our generosity. Israel voted in agreement with the United States more than 87 percent of the time.

I'm not saying everyone has to agree with us, just that we should quit giving money to the ones who bust us in the chops with such regularity.

It's time for Washington to let these countries know that when Congress decides whether or not to mail out the monthly welfare check, their voting record will be looked at. If these whiny babies want to support world socialism, terrorism, and all the other "isms" then let them get their spending money from the bankrupt Kremlin. Many have already taken lessons on production and efficiency from Karl Marx, which is why they need so much U.S. aid in the first place.

Horns squeak by Jackrabbits

By Susy Smith

Friday, Sept 7, found the Longhorns in Ralls for their season opener as the Horns edged by the Rabbits with a score of 22-20. With the Black Attack on the move the Horns were able to take the lead early in the game with a first quarter 43 yard TD by Jeff Sutterfield. Carlos Rendon's field goal attempt was good and made the score 7-0. The second TD came from Juan Vargas as he intercepted a pass and ran in from 30 yards out. Rendon followed with a field goal to make the score 14-0.

Vargas was able to score again before the half was over making the score 20-0. QB Kip Holt then passed to Steven Vasquez to score another 2 points on the PAT which made the score 22-0.

The second half wasn't as kind to the Longhorns as Ralls QB Joe Samarripis passed to Roy Anderson for a 12 yard touchdown. The field goal attempt was no good. The Horns were able to hold the Rabbits to only one touchdown in the third quarter.

The size of the Ralls players began to wear the Horns down by the fourth quarter and Ralls was able to score two touchdowns by 28 yard, and 42 yard passes from QB Raul Garza to Toby Burt. Both field goal attempts were good to make the final score 22-20 Lockney.

The Longhorns rushed 176 yards for a total of 274 yards. Ralls rushed 127 yards for a total of 299 yards. Lockney came up with four interceptions to Ralls' 0 and penalties cost the Longhorns 144 yards to the Rabbits 50.

"As far as effort is concerned," stated Coach Clark, "the boys showed great effort in the first half of the game. By the second half they began to tire and lost their concentration."

On the injured list were Lance Patridge, Arturo Gonzales, and Gary Ruff. Of the three, Patridge and Ruff should be ready to play against Petersburg on Friday night. Clark was still waiting on word from doctors concerning Gonzales.

Clark stated, "The week will be spent working on catching and holding the ball, as well as more conditioning."

The Longhorns will have their first home game Friday 14 against the Petersburg Buffaloes at 8:00 p.m. The Buffs show alot of experience as they have nine offensive and 10 defensive starters returning from the 1989 squad.

Everyone is invited to come out and support the Horns in their first home game.

WATCHING THE ACTIVITY--Lockney Longhorns on the sidelines watch as the play unfolds down the field. The Longhorns won their season opener against Ralls 22-20.

This weeks game will be played at home against Petersburg.

Student of the Month program again to be implemented at Lockney Junior High

By Janis Polson

The Student of the Month Program at Lockney Jr. High will begin, starting the month of September.

This year, the business community of Lockney has really been generous with their donations. Those businesses making donations were the following: Lockney Coop, Pay -n- Save, Clark Pharmacy, First National Bank, Stapp Automotive, Brown's Department Store, Consumer's Fuel Assoc., Lambert's Spraying, J & K Insurance, Tye Co., Kellison Fertilizer, Hayes Trucking, Schacht's Flowers and Gifts, Johnson and Johnson, Lockney Gin Co., Caprock Industries, D and J Gin, Lockney Meat Co., Webster's Auto, Davis

Lumber, Golden Corral in Plainview, and Barker Insurance.

Each Jr. High teacher will nominate one student for "Student of the Month", and from those students, two names will be drawn for "Shorthorns of the Month," and they will get to draw for their prizes donated by the businesses.

In choosing the "Students of the Month," the teachers look for students who are polite, respectful, do the work that is required, and has a good attitude in and out of the classroom.

We realize none of this would be possible without the support of our community businesses, and we want them to know we appreciate them.
