AN AMARILLO "CORNER."

"Is there a lumber trust in Amarillo? That is an Amarillo lumber trust?" asks the Amarillo Herald of last Friday. And in reply to this interrogatory, the Herald goes into details which, to its own satisfaction, evidently closed the case for the affirmative, fully establishing an "Amarillo lumber trust." "Hence these tears," says the Herald.

"It's hard on Amarillo, to be sure. She has been reaping benefits which otherwise might have gone elsewhere and all on account of low priced lumber which has drawn customers from the South Plains and from here to her markets. And now her lumber trust or "corner" has blocked the game—"hence these tears."

Treating the matter seriously, however, Amarillo, for the past two years, has been having what is known to the trade as a "lumber war." One or two big concerns who claimed to have been there first and thus preempted the territory, sought to run an interloper (to them) out by cutting prices and then the fun began. They finally got tired of this fun and by sales and changes, division of spheres of influence no doubt being agreed upon, as a diplomat would say, they got together and presto! Canyon City figures on lumber, less the differential freight rate became the rule. This, in a nutshell, is the story and, "hence these tears" says the Herald.

Now, The News does not desire to be understood as backing up the Amarillo, or any other lumber trust. Far from it, The News is sure that the public is being held up on lumber as well as many other necessary commodities, but let us put the blame where it justly belongs. As with oils, coal, print papers, type, machinery and many other things handled by combinations of interests engaged in the manufacture, so it is with lumber, and the dealer, whether wholesaler or retailer, printer or newspaper man, must pay the price demanded or go without. As an instance of this condition of affairs right in point, The News office on Sunday was advised of a ten per cent advance on printing material to take effect April 1st. What is The News going to do about it? Why pay it of course. There is nothing else to do unless it closes up and quits the business and this it can't afford to do. The lumber man sticks this additional rate on the consumer, the printer darsen't—there's the only difference here.

As previously stated, the retailer is helpless in the matter; if he would buy, he must pay the price set by the combine and, of course, unless he be a printer, he must, to live, stick it to the consumer.

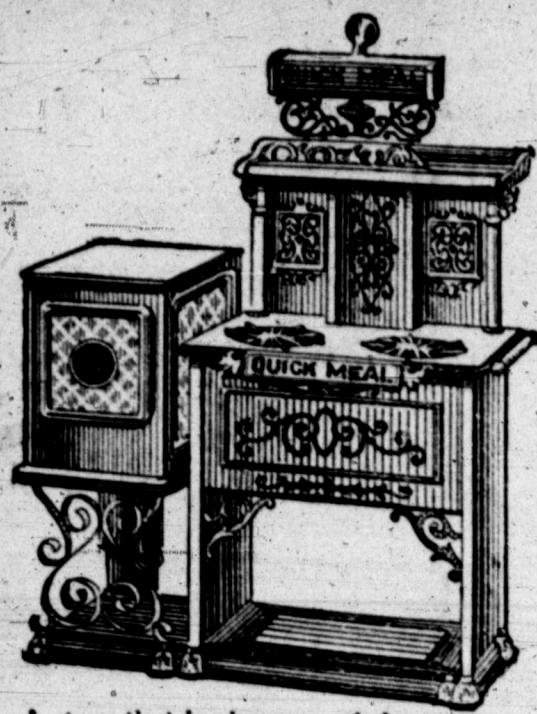

The News is in for the smashing of the type trust, the paper trust, the lumber trust, and in fact every other combine against the public interests, but, as stated in another article in this paper, it is honestly of the opinion that to do so we must begin at the bottom rail and have a general Legislative house cleaning both National and State.

NEEDED—A LEGISLATIVE HOUSE CLEANING.

The editor of The News is not one of those who cavil at governments and their parts. He is not ready to believe that men in power today are any more corrupt than they have been in past ages. The world has always had good men in high places; men who are high minded, strong in right doing and unpurchasable. We have them today and, if any difference, more of them than at any past period of the world's history. The trouble has been and is that others not so well balanced on the principle of right doing are constantly blocking the way. Sometimes these balking, kicking triflers form a majority in Legislative bodies; then again they take the form of a minority which, under certain rules, as in the United Senate, can effectually block any kind of legislation for a whole session of Congress. Such rules as these, wrong in principle, enable the tail to wag the dog, as it were, and the good men concerned, even though in the majority, must bear the disgrace of failure, for such it is and especially so in this "our country" boasting the best government on earth.

We need a house cleaning. It is not sufficient to re-model, through the courts, the great insurance companies, the beef and other trusts, we must begin at the bottom and turn out the cormorants and triflers that, posing as public servants, are infesting and rendering putrid our legislative assemblies. On the present session of Congress, "Uncle Zekiel," in the Bridgeport Index, expresses our views in the following language:

"If any intelligent, honest citizen of any political party or religious bias, or of no party or religious convictions at all, can read the reported proceedings of our National Senate and House of Representatives at Washington for thirty consecutive days, and not become disgusted and ashamed that we are represented there by such a set of men, he is built on lines entirely different to your "Uncle" and needs sympathy. For the entire session we have had almost daily promise of action on some one of the many important measures in which all citizens are greatly interested, such as the statehood bill, the rate bill, the pure food bill, the local option bill, etc., yet after all the humbuggery and deceit practiced by both Houses, by which every important measure

Yes, we need a legislative house cleaning and not only at the National Capitol but at Austin.

TOWN & COUNTY

PERSONAL AND OTHER MATTERS THAT CONCERN OUR CITIZENS.

Three New Concrete Houses.

The talk about the building of three concrete business houses mentioned in last week's News, has materialized. They are to be erected, beginning on the south corner of the west side of the public square and running three lots north, are to be two-stories high and the work is to begin as soon as plans and material can be acquired. J. F. Smith will put up two, beginning on the corner, and W. T. Moreland the other.

If present designs as to material be carried out these buildings will be constructed of concrete blocks made right here in town, and the making of these blocks is expected to be on in earnest ere the present month closes.

This is a move decidedly along progressive lines; it means stability and not only shows faith in the town's business future on the part of the enterprising citizens who have the matter in hand, but it will beget confidence and faith in others who come to view the prospects here. It will have this effect not only as to the town itself but to the surrounding country.

Actions of this character in any country, and especially a new one like ours, speak much louder than words and not only the men who build but the whole country will reap the benefits which are sure to follow.

NO INCORPORATION.

The election which was held in this city on Tuesday of this week for the purpose of incorporating Hereford resulted in the measure's being defeated by a vote of 56 to 77. This means that Hereford will not be permitted to put on city airs for sometime to come; but since the majority have thus decided, the minority must good-naturedly resign themselves to the situation, and await patiently for the time when their fond hopes may be realized.—Hereford Brand.

Small vote that, Bro. Ray, in a town of the enterprise Hereford exhibits to outsiders on other matters, and on such an important question as incorporation. It shows apathy too, of a decided character or Hereford has not the population claimed for her.

The sanitary conditions in Hereford are in fully as bad shape as here, if not worse, and incorporation, giving organized regulation, is the only remedy so far as The News kens. But as the Brand gracefully states, all good citizens should "good-naturedly resign themselves" to the legally expressed will of the majority.

A Question That Every Man Should Decide For Himself.

There is one subject in which many of us are interested and that is, what is the quickest way of getting rid of a troublesome cold? Is it best to take some new remedy put out with exaggerated claims, or to pin your faith to Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, a preparation that has won a world wide reputation and immense sale by its cures of this disease? This remedy is for sale by S. V. Wirt, druggist.

April Entertainments.

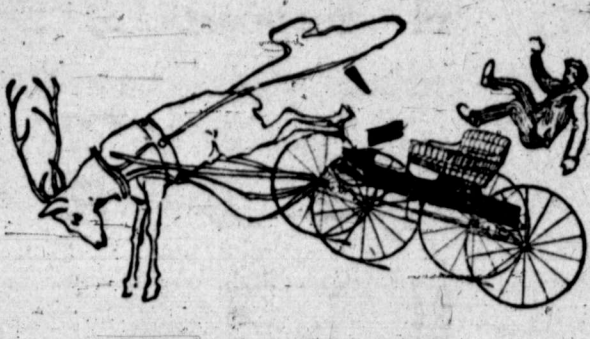

"A little nonsense now and then is relished by the wisest men," and women too.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Thomson, assisted by Mesdames J. I. Campbell and Stewart, entertained a crowd of young folks last Friday evening in a novel "April Fool" manner, well carried out in every particular. Close on to 10 o'clock, the hostess detecting a pious craving among the young ladies, invited them into the dining room where a pie course with Adam's ale was served; but this pleasant feature of the entertainment was suddenly interrupted in a most unexpected manner by the arrival of the young men (who by-the-way had been "left in town," by the fair daughters), and for awhile there was scramble(d) (for) pie, and famine threatened—but the hostess had considerably saved some pie for the tardy guests, and one specially concocted by Miss (a splendid cook), and so very appetizing and attractive to look upon, that it was quite irresistible, and 'tis said, Mr. H— can testify to its

The entertainment was provocative of much fun from start to finish, and the guests are unanimous in proclaiming it "the jolliest hit of the season." Those present were: Misses Ona and Jessie Long, Donald, Wilson, Eakman, Jordan, Bowyer, and McAfee; Messrs. Jim and Ed Pipkin, Hutchings, Peterson, Jarman, Swain, Wilson, and Long.

Another merry crowd (the Killdee size) enjoyed a like entertainment—at which all felt licensed to indulge in tricks and practical jokes upon others—at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. C. Popular Conductor Killed.

Saturday night, near Portales News Agent Price, on the West bound train, shot and killed its conductor, Frank B. Curtis. From all accounts the shooting was without just cause. Deceased was shot without either warning or chance for his life; was hit three times at close range and instantly killed. Price is in jail at Portales.

Conductor Curtis was well known to almost all our people and was popular not only among railroad men, his associates, but with the patrons of the Pecos Valley lines.

WEATHER.

SATURDAY
Was a very nice day.
SUNDAY
Rather strong wind from the southwest but otherwise pleasant weather.
MONDAY
Nice day and warm enough to go in shirt sleeves.
TUESDAY
About 9 a. m. a strong wind set in from the northeast and every indication pointed to rain or snow. Late evening it set in to raining and continued all night, lots of water fell. The ground was soaked and running over by morning. Nothing more advantageous could have happened to small grain and fallow ground, the newly set out trees and early gardens; but it must have been a fearful experience for stock exposed on the bare prairies; many a poor plains brute will fail to see the daisies of this year on account of Tuesday night's exposure. Some people, beyond doubt, will answer at the final judgment for their treatment of the dumb animals. Animals may not have immortal souls, but they have feelings and can suffer just as intensely as mortals. "A righteous man is merciful to his beasts," saith the scriptures, and it stands to reason that it should be so.

WEDNESDAY
Morning came with the same driving wind and still raining.
THURSDAY
Barring the mud, not a disagreeable day.
FRIDAY
Southeast wind—good prospects of more rain.

Jno. W. Veale.

The News, in this issue, is authorized to announce Jno. W. Veale, of Amarillo, as a candidate for State Senator of this district, the 20th, comprising 48 counties. Judge Veale is a native Texan, born in Hill County in 1857. From there, with his father, Wm. Veale, he went to Palo Pinto, thence to Breckenridge where in 1885 he was admitted to practice law. About 1892, with his family he moved to Amarillo. Judge Veale is a Panhandle man and thoroughly identified with this portion of the State. He is well known by our people, standing high as a citizen as well as a lawyer; he is a temperate, honest, capable man for the place he desires and would make us a good Senator.

For County Judge.

The News is authorized to announce A. N. Henson as a candidate for County Judge of Randall County. He has served our people in that capacity one term, during the years 1903-4, and his record in all the various duties of the office is a most excellent one—no county in the Panhandle during his term of office had a better, more conscientious County Judge than Randall had in Henson. A good citizen and a useful one, Judge Henson is also a gentleman and in every way qualified for the position he once more asks for at the hands of the voters of Randall County.

The Tulia Standard has passed out of the hands of J. B. Johnson & Son, being sold to O. S. Ferguson, who hoists his name at the masthead as editor and proprietor. The News wishes Judge Ferguson success in his new venture.

DEATH.

C. Bram, age 71 years, died at his home about three miles south of town Tuesday. Cancer is stated to have been the immediate cause of death. Interment took place in the town cemetery Wednesday evening. Life had been a burden to the deceased for several months, he suffered terribly, and death no doubt came as a welcome relief. His daughter, Mrs. Carrie Roper, of Oklahoma, and son, G. C. Bram, were the only relatives present when death came.

Judge Buie has been absent from his office this week, being taken severely ill Sunday evening. He is better now and will be ready for duty next week, if not to-morrow. A well meaning friend of his told it on the streets Wednesday that his disappearance was caused by his burning up his teeth, but while this may be so, The News can also vouch for the fact that he was real sick otherwise.

The second called session of the Twenty-Ninth Legislature came to an end Tuesday. Section 120 of the election law was restored at the last hour. The only other legislation was the per diem, mileage and contingent expense bills. All drew warrants to the limit.

The Randall County wheat and oat crop is looking fine. Geo. L. Abbott has in of the two grains about 300 acres and several others are not far behind him in quantity of acres sown. It is estimated that in the whole county the acreage is four times that of last year.

Travis Shaw has sold his Whitworth section to L. N. Lochridge at $8 per acre. A portion of this consideration to Mr. Shaw was the Lochridge residence (Kenyon place) at $1250, a quarter block south and just across the street from the editor's residence and a quarter block and two lots adjoining John Crawford's old residence on the south. The consideration for this unimproved town property was $350. Just think of it, last fall when the Whitworth's left, Lochridge refused to give $4.50 per acre for this section which he is now glad to get for $8. How things do move!
