

SPLENDID EXHIBIT BY PUBLIC SCHOOL

PATRON'S DAY IS OBSERVED ON WEDNESDAY.

Exhibits From Every Grade Show That Great Progress is Being Made This Year.

Patron's Day was observed at the high school building on Wednesday and every parent in Canyon who did not avail himself the privilege of visiting the schools on that day missed a great treat. The walls of every room of the building were lined with a display of work that would do credit to any city school and showed that the progress which is being instilled by Supt. T. J. Yoe and his able corps of teachers into the work this year to be the greatest ever known in the history of Canyon's schools. Neatness and accuracy are two of the greatest assets to be gained from a common school education and the work on exhibit Wednesday showed that these two great principles are being taught in every grade.

Beginning with the first grade it was a very pleasing privilege to examine the work of the youngsters as they are beginning their education. Misses Neal and Harrison have charge of these grades. In this room were to be found little sewing cards, story books, prepared by the children; the story of Thanksgiving; the story of the pilgrim fathers, worked out in sand and also in cardboard; mats, the story of the old oaken bucket; motto books and various little pictures. It was surprising to see with what imaginative accuracy these pictures were drawn, and the teacher only read the story, or made the principal lines, and the pupil filled in the details as he imaged it to be.

Misses Stafford and Hibbits are in charge of the second, third and fourth grade work, and their exhibit was along the same line as in the first grade with the additions of letter and story writing, free hand cutting, booklets, rug designing, box making and hat making. The story of Hiawatha in the form of a booklet with pictures and story was one of the features of this room. The story of Thanksgiving was worked out in sand.

Mrs. Orton has charge of the fourth and fifth grade work and has on exhibit perhaps the best drawings and paintings of any room in the school. The map drawing, fruit scenes, nature pictures, sewing and designing were all fine. As a work in original designing there was on exhibit an automobile made by Dewey Sanford which is excellent. Hazel Park has in this room a drawing of the First National Bank building which is distinctively good.

Misses Bryson and Sales are in charge of the sixth and seventh grades. The drawings in this room are fine. They consist of maps and nature scenes. One of the distinctive features is the use of maps in the study of story, the pupil being required to draw maps in connection with the study of Texas and United States history. A number of good samples of raffia and reed and mat designs are on exhibit. The girls at the Normal made a number of very pretty portfolios in which their drawings were kept.

The work of the high school grades are on display together. The work in this department is

STEWARDS ARE INSTALLED.

Services at the Methodist Church Sunday are Well Attended—Dr. Stewart Chairman.

The services at the Methodist church Sunday morning was in the nature of an installation sermon for the board of stewards who have been elected by the church to look after the business affairs of the congregation. Rev. F. M. Neal preached to the board and incidentally pointed out to the large congregation the unique relation which a pastor in the Methodist church holds with his congregation, a position not held by a pastor in any other denomination, in that he is sent by the bishop and not called by the congregation, and hence could be removed only by the bishop and not released by the church. The board of stewards are as follows:

Chairman, Dr. D. M. Stewart. Vice Chairman, W. J. Flesher. Secretary, D. A. Park. R. E. Foster, Dr. F. M. Wilson, J. L. McReynolds, G. G. Foster, I. L. Hunt, J. T. Service, T. P. Turk and S. S. Coffee.

exceptionally fine. Essays on various subjects, the last set of examination papers, maps, flags, of the various countries, historical pictures with essays and explanations attached are artistically arranged around the rooms. Work of exceptional interest and value are the many maps connected with the study of physical geography. Mrs. Wray, Mrs. Shinn, Messrs. Peel and Yoe are to be complimented on the excellent display of the high school grades.

During the afternoon a bake sale and candy booths were in operation in the auditorium, the proceeds of which will be used to apply on the piano. A number of musical numbers were given by the pupils.

All in all the exhibit was a great success and showed the high standing of our public schools. The exhibit was composed largely of every day work which the pupils are doing, and the special work which was prepared has received but very little attention.

New Copper Line.

J. W. Ryan will be in the city the latter part of this week with his force of men putting in two new copper telephone lines from Amarillo. Canyon is the checking station for this section of the Panhandle and has been connected up with copper lines with all the other towns for some time. This new line to Amarillo will give this city and other cities to our south and west a better line for long distance service.

League Time Changed.

By vote of the Epworth League last Sunday afternoon the time for the regular Sunday services was changed from 4 o'clock in the afternoon until 6:15. This change will take place next Sunday. W. J. Flesher was leader last Sunday and a very interesting program was given.

Planting Trees.

Joe Foster has made a great improvement upon his residence in the way of setting out a large number of fruit trees on the inside of his lots and box elders along the sidewalk. A large number of plums and cherries were set out, together with a good many grape vines.

Who will get that dollar?

THE RING CONTEST.

Owing to discontent among the contestants in the business men's contest, the News will not give the toilet set in connection with the diamond ring. That is, the same number of votes which count on the doll will be given on the toilet set, but for every dollar subscription the contestant turns in she will get only ten votes on the diamond ring. Diamond ring votes will be deposited at the Cassels Drug store, but votes on the toilet set are deposited at the News office.

It seems that the only way that some of our competitors can be noticed is by nibbling at our ADS. We did not know they were in town. Supply Co. 1

AFTER DISTRICT PARSONAGE.

Local Methodist Church will Make Proposition to the Board of District Stewards.

At a meeting of the official board of the Methodist church last week it was decided that the local church would make a strong bid for the location of the district parsonage of the Amarillo district. D. A. Park, I. L. Hunt and A. S. Rollins were appointed as a committee to frame up a proposition and to present it to the board of district stewards which are in session at Amarillo today. D. A. Park is a member of this board and thinks that Canyon will be able to land the proposition.

Just what proposition this committee will make to the district stewards has not been revealed. So far as known, Amarillo is the only bidder for the location of the parsonage, and as property is so much higher there and the cost of living is more, the local church thinks they will stand a good chance of getting the parsonage. Definite word as to the results of the meeting will be received in the city today or tomorrow.

Nimrods Return.

J. E. Winkelman, C. N. Harrison, Geo. Reynolds, J. D. Gamble, C. R. McAfee, and Jas. Reynolds of Memphis, returned Sunday from Lubbock where they had spent a week hunting quail. Their success amounted to over fifty birds. They saw several deer but were unable to kill any of the much desired game. A very fine hunt is reported by the nimrods.

District Court Adjourns.

Judge J. N. Browning, of Amarillo, was in the city Tuesday and closed up the business of the November term of district court. During the term 59 cases were disposed of, and 26 are on the docket, being continued. Only two criminal cases were tried, two dismissed and one continued. The term's business was done with a great amount of rapidity.

We want more farmers.

The following committees are in charge of the arrangements of the smoker:

Music: Dr. S. L. Ingham, R. A. Terrill.

More Snow.

The Panhandle received another good snow, beginning Sunday night and continuing through out most of Monday. Since that time the thermometer has been standing from 8 to 30 above zero, the lowest point being reached Wednesday morning. The snow Monday was accompanied by a stiff norther, which drifted it very badly.

NORMAL DEFEATS AMARILLO HIGH

FOOTBALL TEAM WINS FROM HIGH SCHOOL BY SCORE 15 TO 5.

Visitors Compelled to Use Kicking Game While Locals Rushed the Line Mostly.

Last Saturday afternoon on the Normal campus the Normal football team won its second game of the season from the Amarillo high school by the score of 15 to 5. Local enthusiasts were a little disappointed in the work of the home team, as the team as a whole was very weak in defensive play and very ragged in handling the ball. The line, however, held fast and solid and on this account, together with fierce tackling on the part of the Normal's ends, the visitors were compelled to rely on the punt for its ground gainer. This kicking game was a new kind of a stunt for the locals, but under this circumstance, a fast, snappy game was put up. Hall, Amarillo's guard, out-punted Cowling, and several times got within striking distance on recovered punts only to lose the ball and be rushed back before the fearful on slaughter of line bucks and short end runs of the locals to the other end of the field.

Canyon's ground gaining qualities included nearly every man in the back field, but Ackerman's line bucking and Conner's end runs were the safest and most relied upon for making the required ten yards. A very pretty and well executed forward pass from Conner to Black netting yards, was pulled off in the second period, the only successful forward pass of the contest. In the fourth quarter Turner got away on a wide end run and carried the pig-skin 45 yards, far into Amarillo's territory, where, after hitting the line several times, Ackerman crossed the goal line for a touchdown. The other two touchdowns were made in the first period, before Amarillo learned that her only stronghold was the punt.

Amarillo's score happened this way: During the third quarter after a session of punts by both teams, Amarillo secured the ball on her 40 yard line. Here, Hall punted one of those kind which went low and very far and which Cowling was unable to handle. Barnes recovered and ran 25 yards to a touchdown. Had he ten more yards to cover McLaughlin would have downed him. Every try at goal during the entire game failed.

Conner manned the locals with his usual generalship, keeping a clear head and choosing the exact play at the right time. Cowling at full, made up for his lack of handling punts in successful line bucking and punting. McLaughlin and Ackerman, halves, also did good line plunging and fairly good end runs but were poor in getting in the interference. The end men, Turner and Black, did not put forth their best game on the offense, but on the defense "came back with violence" and tackled surely and cleanly. The line held like a brick wall and did the best work this game of any of the season.

One of the spokes in Pres. R. B. Cousins' buggy wheel broke Sunday while the family was returning home from church and the wheel smashed to the ground, throwing the occupants out. Luckily none in the buggy were badly injured.

MISS COCHRAN WINS.

Second Month of the Business Men's Contest Comes to a Close—Miss Reid Second.

The second month of the Business Men's contest ended with a great volley of votes. The interest of the contest is warming up and Friday night when the ballot box closed for the second month's work, the judges had a great time counting the many hundreds of votes. During this week alone Miss Cecil Reid polled 18,927 and Miss Cochran 7,688, but Miss Cochran's votes were so heavy during the month that she carried off the locket by a vote of 25,879 for the month, while Miss Reid made a gain of 22,949 during the month. Very few votes were polled by the other contestants.

During this month the fine carving set will be given away, and added to this a special prize, the toilet set, will be given by the News. These two prizes are worth working hard for. Every contestant should strive to land as many votes possible during this month. Special inducements are given by the News. See announcement elsewhere.

Lightning Kills Few.

In 1906 lightning killed only 169 people in this whole country. One's chances of death by lightning are less than two in a million. The chance of death from liver, kidney or stomach trouble is vastly greater, but if Electric Bitters be used, as Robert Madson of West Burlington, Ia., proved. Four doctors gave him up after eight months of suffering from virulent liver trouble and yellow jaundice. He was then completely cured by Electric Bitters. They're the best stomach, liver, nerve and kidney remedy and blood purifier on earth. Only 50c at Cassles Drug Co.

PANHANDLE WHEAT.

Houston Chronicle: The Texas Panhandle is becoming a great wheat country. The Amarillo Daily News reports the crop in that section this year as sold at 90c a bushel for a total close to $600,000. Amarillo's flour mills expect to do a business of $1,000,000 in the year ending next July—one-half of it in sales of flour at $5 per barrel, the other half in by-products. Next season the Panhandle's wheat acreage will be doubled.

The Panhandle's wheat acreage ought to be doubled. There is room there for doubling, quadrupling and octupling the acreage. And now that the cotton mania shows signs of abating, possibly the Panhandle farmers will turn their attention and their lands more largely to the king of cereals than ever before. The world's mouth is watering for Panhandle wheat. The Nations are crying for bread. Plant wheat, Panhandler—don't plant cotton. Let the folks who can't grow anything but cotton have it for theirs. You will not lose anything by such a course, for if you go in for cotton as an exclusive crop, as so many other farmers do, you will in due time go bankrupt.—Dallas News.

The cotton fever is spreading in the Panhandle, yet the low prices of this year have just about stopped it. At any rate the Panhandle will have more than double the wheat acreage of last year, and have the best prospects of years for an abundant harvest.

Joe E. Lancaster came out last week with a big announcement in both the Plainview newspapers stating the platform on which he would run for congressman-at-large. Mr. Lancaster is a strong man and will have the support of the Panhandle.

Formerly you have put off your Christmas shopping until the last minute and then had to buy something you didn't like nor anybody else wanted. Do it NOW. Get into the game and do your shopping early.

The News has at last found a champion for a cleaner city in the person of Rev. F. M. Neal. In his sermon Sunday he said Canyon needed very badly a big cleaning up, and that in the near future he would preach a sermon on this subject. We have pounded on the subject all year but have not accomplished as much as we desired. Weeds have grown all year on certain lots around the square, and filth has accumulated in the alleys in numerous places. After so much begging and entreaty why not get together on a general clean up campaign during the winter.

Hurrah for Lightfoot! He is going ahead with the work of his office even if he has to pay the expenses himself. Colquitt vetoed his appropriation for spite but the work of the state will not suffer. Colquitt whinnily says that Lightfoot will do this to hurt his political chances. Did Colquitt ever do anything to assist the political chances of another candidate? The voters of Texas will give their opinion of this veto by unmercifully kicking Little Oscar out of the executive seat.

There is talk of Roosevelt being a candidate next year. Times are in too precarious a condition for the wily one to jump into politics just now. Teddy is a big bluff of a grandstand player and while the country is in such bad industrial conditions he will never be a candidate. Wait until smooth sailing comes along and then you will see Roosevelt and his big (little) stick appearing on the scene as a candidate.

KEEP THE KIDNEYS WELL.

Health is Worth Saving, and Some Canyon City People Know How to Save It.

Many Canyon City people take their lives in their hands by neglecting the kidneys when they know these organs need help. Sick kidneys are responsible for a vast amount of suffering and ill health—the slightest delay is dangerous. Use Doan's Kidney Pills—a remedy that has cured thousands of kidney sufferers. Here is a Canyon City citizen's recommendation.

F. P. Simms, R. F. D. No. 1, Canyon City, Texas, says: "I used Doan's Kidney Pills and I found them good for lumbago and lameness across my loins. This remedy was obtained at the Cassless Drug Co. and I have been convinced that it is alright. Several of my acquaintances have told me that they have used Doan's Kidney Pills with benefit."

reaped the reward of his crime last Friday, via the electric chair.

Where, oh where are our correspondents. For the past four weeks we have had no more than two in any issue and last week there was only one faithful to her charge. Let's hear from every one every week.

A few more lights have been on this week, after the News called attention to the deficiency last week, but why should they be only on Houston street and around the square? Are not the people's necks on other streets valuable?

A few have told us that we were for raising our raising our subscription price, and others say we have done the right thing and that we ought to even have $2 per year for the News. At any rate the price will be raised January 1st to $1.50 per year, so pay your subscription now or you will have to pay the increased price after January 1st.

My Passport

By PETER RUDINE

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

Of all countries in the world that foreigners had better keep away from Russia is first. I happened when there some years ago to be a well known man among my own countrymen. I had represented my country at several foreign courts, and any member of any American embassy abroad would know me at the mention of my name.

After an interview with the American minister concerning matters of diplomacy with which I had been charged from Washington I went to my hotel, intending to leave the next day for Berlin, thence on to Paris, London and New York. I had left my passport to be vised, and it was to be sent me the next morning. It was brought me by a clerk in the American embassy, a young Russian who had lived in the United States and spoke and wrote English. When he handed it to me I noticed that he seemed to be studying my personal appearance. I glanced at the passport to see that it was all right, then, looking up at the young man, saw that he was still studying me.

"I seem to interest you," I said tartly. "I beg your pardon, sir. When we deliver a passport we are responsible for its getting into the right hands."

With this he bowed and withdrew. The next day I boarded a train at the station. As soon as I appeared a man in the uniform of a railroad official took me to a carriage and put me into a compartment. There were six seats in the compartment, one of them occupied by a gentleman and four by some friends who had evidently come to the train to see him off. I took the sixth seat. A moment before the train started the official who had put me into the carriage came to the door to shut it. Before he did so the friends got out, leaving the traveler alone with me in the compartment. As soon as we left the station and rolled into the light I noticed that my fellow passenger was the exact counterpart of myself. He was about my height, though a trifle shorter. In every other respect he might have been taken for me.

My looking at him so scrutinizingly appeared to irritate him, so I stopped it. We rode on together all the afternoon, and as we were approaching the border separating Russia from Germany the man pulled out a cigarette and began to puff lustily. Both windows were up, and I attempted to lower one of them. The man stopped me. I persisted, whereupon the man drew a revolver, leveled it at me and said something in Russian. Understanding this to mean that if I didn't let the window alone he would murder me, I desisted. Gradually I became overcome by the fumes of the cigarette and lost consciousness.

I was awakened from my slumber by a man shaking me. It required some time for him to arouse me, and when he did so I found that we had arrived at the station on the border where all passports are examined. I looked about for my fellow passenger, but he was not there. Not thoroughly myself, I seized my hand baggage and went into the apartment in the station where passengers are required to wait while their passports are being examined. Then I opened a satchel in which I carried my passport. It had vanished.

I now recalled the man that looked like me, and it occurred to me that he had robbed me of the document with the intention of passing out of Russia by it. I told my story to the officer in charge of passport examination, and he immediately issued an order to detain any one attempting to pass on a passport bearing my name. He was too late. One of his deputies reported that the passport had been used by a man for whom a sleigh was waiting; he had jumped into it and been driven away. When I was shown the official he threw up his hands, exclaiming:

"Great heavens! This is the man." In this instance I was saved from suspicion because my passport had been used, but there remained the question, "Was I in collusion with him?" I requested the officer in charge to telegraph an account of the case to the American minister to Russia, and he did so. But I was delayed several days in the little station before an order came to permit me to go through without a passport. Had it not been for my diplomatic connections heaven knows what would have become of me.

Several years after this I was sitting in my office in the state department at Washington when a man with a Russian name was announced. I ordered him admitted, and he said to me: "I owe you my life, sir, or more. Had it not been for my using your passport I would now be working in the mines of Siberia."

"Are you the man who drugged me with cigarette smoke?"

"I am. I was made up. The clerk in the embassy who took your passport did the work. The railway official who showed you to the compartment was one of our circle. And the friends seeing me off were also members, holding the seats that there should be no one else in the compartment."

"Why were you trying to leave Russia?"
"Let us not speak of that."

A THANKSGIVING SURPRISE
 By JOANNA SINGLE.

THANKSGIVING day was almost upon Miss Abby Cullom,
 poor, but thrifty, in her cottage at the end of the town, and her only near neighbors, the Beans. Miss Abby, being a New Englander, was always prepared. The Beans, being southern "Crackers," were eternally unprepared in their shiftless little hut. Miss Abby had a good vegetable garden and a big chicken yard.

This is where the turkey comes in—an immense gobbler, the monarch of the place and the pride of Miss Abby,
 who had doomed him to Thanksgiving dinner. He grew fatter and fatter, and the assorted collection of Bean children watched him hopefully while they sat astride the division fence.
 Hunger shone from their eyes.
 "They'll be stealin' him next time,"
 Miss Abby muttered as she threw out
 the dishwater and wrung the dishrag fiercely.
 "Maw," bawled one of the twins to his gaunt, bedraggled mother in the door, "ain't we goin' to have no turkey? We ain't never had no turkey
 like other folks."
 "Yore paw's had mighty pore luck,
 honey. He can't make out to buy turkey, honey."
 "Why can't he, maw?" wailed the oldest girl.
 "Yore paw's had bad luck," the dull
 mother voice reiterated. "He'll git us
 somepin' extray, but I don't reckon it'll be turkey. Turkey meat's awful
 dear, honey."
 Miss Abby slammed into her house
 with a righteous rattle of stiff blue calico and an indecorous display of flat ankles. She snorted wrathfully:
 "Luck! If he'd had any luck he'd never have been born. But he's luck-ler than his wife and children. He's the laziest image of a man that ever wore pants—too lazy to come when he's called to meals. I'd see that he never was called if I was her."
 Miss Abby went to make her bed, and from the open window next the panes overlooking the chicken yard.

 She could hear the wall of the baby
 and the coughs of the older ones.
 "I just can't do it," she muttered
 and at last returned to the house. It
 at ease and chilled to the bone.
 She piled wood into the stove till the
 kitchen was stifling, but she could not get warm. Her teeth chattered in a chill, and in spite of hot lemonade and Jamaica ginger Miss Abby had to go
 to bed in the middle of the afternoon
 with hot fustions at her feet and a
 mustard plaster on her chest.
 She fell into a doze, broken by visions
 of the hungry little faces next door.
 She wished she had at least taken
 them over some vegetables. "I will—
 'long about night," she muttered and
 fell into a strange, wretched sleep.
 When she awoke it was night and
 very cold. Pains stabbed her chest
 sharply, and her head throbbed distressfully. Then she seemed delirious and
 heard the babbling of hungry children.
 Then she went completely out of her
 head.
 She came at last to herself, weak and
 feeble. The bedroom was very cold,
 but the fever was gone and the stabbing pains. She wrapped herself up
 and managed to fight the kitchen fire,
 creeping back to bed till things warmed up. The door of the Bean house
 slammed, and she heard a child cough.
 When the warmth from the kitchen
 filled her room she rose and went out
 to get some breakfast. She had never felt so weak in her life. She put on the coffee-pot.
 Miss Abby sat eating her toast with her feet in the oven. Mrs. Bean knocked and entered.
 "Land sakes! Air you sick?"
 "Sick! I ain't feelin' very spry,"
 said Miss Abby sharply. "I went to bed yestiddy afternoon. I felt so sick!"
 "We ain't seen you out this mornin',
 an' as it's Thursday an' Thanksgivin'
 we s'posed you had had news that
 'alled you away in the night. 'The
 children's been feedin' the hens an' the
 turkey—the ones that ain't whoopin'."
 "What you talkin' about?" snapped
 Miss Abby. "This is Thanksgivin',
 ain't it? I'm too sick to recollect it."
 "I come to see if I could do somepin'
 'er you all. You look mighty peaked,"
 said Mrs. Bean. Miss Abby shook her head, and the woman was almost to
 the door when Miss Abby recalled her.
 "Is your man at home?" she began

built under him would start him to goin'. I should think he'd want to see them young ones with clean faces and full stomachs at least once in the year."

The days flew, and the turkey grew still fatter and more complacent. The Bean children looked more and more wistful. They sat often on the fence in the chilly November air, their half clothed bodies shivering, their bare feet blue with cold. But with the eternal faith of childhood they watched the turkey in the hope that something would yet give them a taste of him.

Miss Abby's old maid heart grew soft sometimes, but hardened at thought of the lazy father and slovenly mother.

Miss Abby had had bad luck about Thanksgiving company. Everybody was elsewhere engaged—the minister and his family, the Browns and the Treshams. She had no relatives near.
 Have some one she must, for she had refused Matilda Jenkins' invitation on the plea of having company herself.

The day before Thanksgiving she had found no one and was worried.
 In the cold gray morning she came out to feed the chickens from a yellow crock held in the angle of her arm.
 When she had tossed the cornmeal to the hungry brood she closed the chicken yard gate, set down the crock and stood watching the turkey—and the house next door. She folded her thin arms across her blue calico chest for warmth and in what she saw forgot how cold it was.

Four of the eight Beans had the whooping cough, and their thin, sallow little faces, cleaner than usual,
 were flattened against the grimy

pane overlooking the chicken yard.
 She could hear the wall of the baby
 and the coughs of the older ones.
 "I just can't do it," she muttered
 and at last returned to the house. It
 at ease and chilled to the bone.

She piled wood into the stove till the
 kitchen was stifling, but she could not
 get warm. Her teeth chattered in a chill, and in spite of hot lemonade and Jamaica ginger Miss Abby had to go
 to bed in the middle of the afternoon
 with hot fustions at her feet and a
 mustard plaster on her chest.

She fell into a doze, broken by visions
 of the hungry little faces next door.
 She wished she had at least taken
 them over some vegetables. "I will—
 'long about night," she muttered and
 fell into a strange, wretched sleep.
 When she awoke it was night and
 very cold. Pains stabbed her chest
 sharply, and her head throbbed dis-
 tressfully. Then she seemed delirious and
 heard the babbling of hungry children.
 Then she went completely out of her
 head.

She came at last to herself, weak and
 feeble. The bedroom was very cold,
 but the fever was gone and the stab-
 bing pains. She wrapped herself up
 and managed to fight the kitchen fire,
 creeping back to bed till things warm-
 ed up. The door of the Bean house
 slammed, and she heard a child cough.
 When the warmth from the kitchen
 filled her room she rose and went out
 to get some breakfast. She had never felt so weak in her life. She put on
 the coffee-pot.

Miss Abby sat eating her toast with
 her feet in the oven. Mrs. Bean knocked and entered.
 "Land sakes! Air you sick?"
 "Sick! I ain't feelin' very spry,"
 said Miss Abby sharply. "I went to bed yestiddy afternoon. I felt so sick!"
 "We ain't seen you out this mornin',
 an' as it's Thursday an' Thanksgivin'
 we s'posed you had had news that
 'alled you away in the night. 'The
 children's been feedin' the hens an' the
 turkey—the ones that ain't whoopin'."
 "What you talkin' about?" snapped
 Miss Abby. "This is Thanksgivin',
 ain't it? I'm too sick to recollect it."
 "I come to see if I could do somepin'
 'er you all. You look mighty peaked,"
 said Mrs. Bean. Miss Abby shook her
 head, and the woman was almost to
 the door when Miss Abby recalled her.
 "Is your man at home?" she began abruptly, while Mrs. Bean stared.

 "Well, then, would he as lief kill that big turkey for me?"
 "Why, sure, he would! You all air weak, an' that turkey looks mighty hefty."

"And can you come over and help me cook him?" Miss Abby went on.
 "I shall need help with the rest of the dinner, too, if I don't feel any sprier'n I do now. You can bring the baby and leave the others with him till dinner's ready. Then I want you should fetch them all over and let them eat all the turkey they can hold. I don't feel's if I could get away with more than ten pounds myself," she concluded grimly.
 The woman stood still staring, too astonished to express her gratitude even had she known how.

"Well," commanded Miss Abby, "if we don't git on the move dinner won't be ready before midnight."

"Yes'm," agreed the woman, letting herself out of the door. She sped across the yard more quickly than Miss Abby had ever yet seen her move.

"It'll take me a week to clean up after them, and it's encouraging that shiftless man," grumbled Miss Abby.
 Then she heard from the Bean house
 a yell of joy that utterly demolished her New England conscience for the time being and sent a warm glow to the uttermost depths of her human heart. And she set to work on a dinner that was a record breaker in the Bean experiences.

No Suffragettes in Plymouth.
 Governor Bradford of Massachusetta specified that, "besides waterfowl, there was a great store of wild turkeys" for their first Thanksgiving feast, 1621, by which it is plain that our ancestors inaugurated the custom of the turkey on Thanksgiving day.
 But chefs were not numerous in Plymouth. The first feast, at which there were fifty-five white men and ninety Indians, was prepared by "four women, one servant and a few male-kins." Poor women! How they must have sighed for their day of emancipa-tion!

Hymn of Thanksgiving.
 We thank thee, O Father, for all that is bright—
 The gleam of the day and the stars of the night.
 The flowers of our youth and the fruits of our prime
 And blessings e'er marching the pathway
 of time.

We thank thee, O Father, for all that is
 dear—
 The sob of the tempest, the flow of the tear—
 For never in blindness and never in vain
 Thy mercy permitted a sorrow or pain.

We thank thee, O Father, for song and
 for feast,
 The harvest that glowed and the wealth
 that increased,
 For never a blessing encompassed thy child
 But thou in thy mercy looked downward
 and smiled.

We thank thee, O Father of all, for the power
 Of aiding each other in life's darkest hour.
 The generous heart and the bountiful hand
 And all the soul help that sad souls understand.

We thank thee, O Father, for days yet to be,
 For hopes that our future will call us to thee,
 That all our eternity may form through thy love
 One Thanksgiving day in the mansions
 above.
 —Will Carleton.

When the Hen is Safe.
 "This," remarked Mrs. Hen, "as she flew up on to Mr. Turkey's back, "is my happy day. It's Thanksgiving, you know. What have I to give thanks for? Oh, several things, thank you.
 On almost any other day in the year
 I am liable to get the ax, and when I do get it I won't worry whether my head's on straight. But my worry comes from not knowing just when the ax may fall. There are 365 days in the year. Thanksgiving is the only day when I am immune. My large and lovely rival, Mr. Turkey, who scores me in the barnyard, is underneath my feet today, as you can see with the naked eyes. Ta-ta, Mr. Turkey; I see the farmer coming with his ax."

"Look Before You Leap"
 Is an old saying that holds good in starting a bank account.

Before You Place Your Money in a Bank Look for the Following Safeguards:

Notice the character and ability of the men who have charge of the bank; see that the officers are experienced bankers and the directors are responsible business men.
 The bank should have ample capital, the larger the capital, the greater protection for the depositor. A large surplus and profit fund is also an additional protection.
 Read the bank's statement; notice whether or not they carry a good reserve in cash
 and demand loans; also notice if the bank is prospering—if a bank don't make money, it is not a safe bank.

All the above mentioned security is afforded our customers; if safety for their funds, with liberality and courtesy is what they want.

Eastern Star Have Social Meet.

On last Friday night the members of the Order of the Eastern Star met at their lodge rooms and enjoyed a few hours socially.

A very good program consisting of readings, tableaux and music, co-memorating the deeds of the Bible heroine, Ruth, was rendered and seemed to be enjoyed by the audience. Preceding this program, a pretty march was given by the Star officers. The gleaning contest, entered into by all who cared to participate, was a very enjoyable feature. Mrs. Monroe won the prize, a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums and ferns.

The hall was profusely decorated with gold hangings, flowers and autumn leaves.

Refreshments served were chocolate, cakes and pies of various kinds.

Play Postponed.

"Miles Standish" the play which was to have been given at the Normal auditorium Wednesday night was postponed until tonight. This play is given by the freshman class of the high school and is under the direction of Mrs. Shinn. The cast of characters is good and the presentation will be first class. The play is given for the benefit of the piano fund.

Houses Moved.

A number of houses have been moved the past week from the west end of the city toward the Normal. The following are reported:

Jno. A. Wallace moved a house to his farm just east of the city.

A warehouse was moved by A. E. Brown to his residence to be used as a barn.

J. M. Myers moved a residence from the west end to a lot near the Normal.

L. T. Lester has in transit a residence from the west end to his farm just north of the Normal.

Basketball Monday Night.

The Panhandle Champions will play the Seth Ward basketball team Monday night at the opera house. Seth Ward comes with a good reputation and Captain Hunt with his team of small giants will proceed to take that reputation away from them with a good sized score. The local bunch have been working hard this week and are in excellent condition.

Seeding Court Yard.

A drill was busy in the court yard Saturday and seeded the greater part of the lawn. On account of the snow and cold weather the work has not been completed this week.

Little Strain Girl Dead.

The little seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Strain died Sunday morning of congestion. The funeral was held Tuesday.

Normal 5, Hereford 0.

In the fastest game of the season, the Normal football team beat the Hereford bunch yesterday 5 to 0, the score coming in the last few minutes to play when Turner got away with an end run and chased 50 yards with the entire Hereford bunch at his heels. In the first half Hereford outplayed the Normal, but in the second half the ball was in Hereford's territory practically every minute.

HEREFORE GIRLS BEAT.

Seeking revenge for the defeat of the football team, the Hereford basketball girls beat the Normal 12 to 13. The Normal team, however, outplayed their opponents. Their defeat was the result of good basket throwing on fouls.

Mrs. Thompson Dead.

Mrs. N. Thompson, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of Canyon, fell dead Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock while at work in her kitchen preparing a Thanksgiving dinner for the children. The news of her death came as a very great shock upon the entire community as Mrs. Thompson is greatly beloved by old and young. The funeral services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock. A more complete obituary will be published next week.

Normal Notes.

The winter term has begun. Five new pupils have been enrolled.

The new arrangement of the library is satisfactory to all. The new arrangement of the books, the new tables with the many pupils seated around them working so diligently, adds much to our library's looks.

Lloyd Cook of last year's senior class visited the Normal this week.

Miss Florence Holiday teacher in the Amarillo high school, visited the Normal last Saturday.

The senior class met this week and elected the following officers for the winter term: R. A. Stuart, pres.; E. L. Henderson, vice pres.; Miss Bess Mitchell, treas.; Miss Sula Eakman, class reporter.

Preparations are being made for the senior entertainment at Mr. Stafford's home Saturday evening, Dec. 2.

The freshman class met this week and elected the following officers for the winter term: Wallace Crawford, pres.; Jeff Wallace, vice pres.; Miss Winnie Haynes, sec.; Miss Lula Bell Autrey, ass't sec.; Miss Mary Hare, class reporter.

Wayside Items.

The extreme cold weather has stopped all farm work, also the threshers who are having much trouble in securing hands needed to do the work.

Monday and Tuesday was too cold for school.

J. M. McGehee made a trip to Canyon Thursday to attend court, returning Saturday accompanied by Guy Rogers, Misses Rubie McGehee, Edith Franklin, Emma Sluder and Lorine McGehee who came out visiting relatives, expecting to return Monday. A deer hunt was planned but to the disappointment of certain boys, there was too much snow and wind. Ewing McGehee and Jim Sluder carried the crowd back Tuesday despite the cold and disagreeable 30 mile ride.

Mrs. Mollie Wright of Keatonville, Wash., left for her home Tuesday after a months visit to Texas.

The literary society at Beula was organized Friday night to meet every two weeks. I. C. Baucom was elected president.
