

CORNER STONE CEREMONIES HELD YESTERDAY

MASONIC CEREMONY IS VERY IMPRESSIVE

The ceremonies connected with the laying of the corner stone of the new building of the West Texas State Normal College began at 11:30 Wednesday morning Sept. 15, when the members of the Masonic lodge, escorted by the Commandary from Amarillo began their march from the hall toward the new building. The Masons were in charge of District Deputy Grand Master Geo. Stapleton of Amarillo. Nearly one hundred Masons were in the line of march and others joined the body upon arrival at the building.

The ceremony connected with the laying of the stone occupied thirty minutes, and all was very impressive.

After the stone had been placed and prayer offered for the success of the school, Judge Huff of the Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals, was introduced by Pres. R. B. Cousins.

Judge Huff spoke for thirty minutes upon the history of Masonry and the influence it has on the lives of men. He traced the beginning of the order from the building of the temple by King Solomon down through the ages to the time of Christ and spoke of the later events in which the order has been vitally connected.

He is a very pleasant and forceful speaker and his address was much cherished not only by the members of his fraternity, but also by all those who heard him.

BIG DINNER SERVED.

At one o'clock the big barbecue dinner was served. Nearly fifteen hundred people were served, a large per cent of whom were from out of the city. Meat, bread, pickles, cookies and coffee were served. The lunch was fine and was greatly enjoyed by the people.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

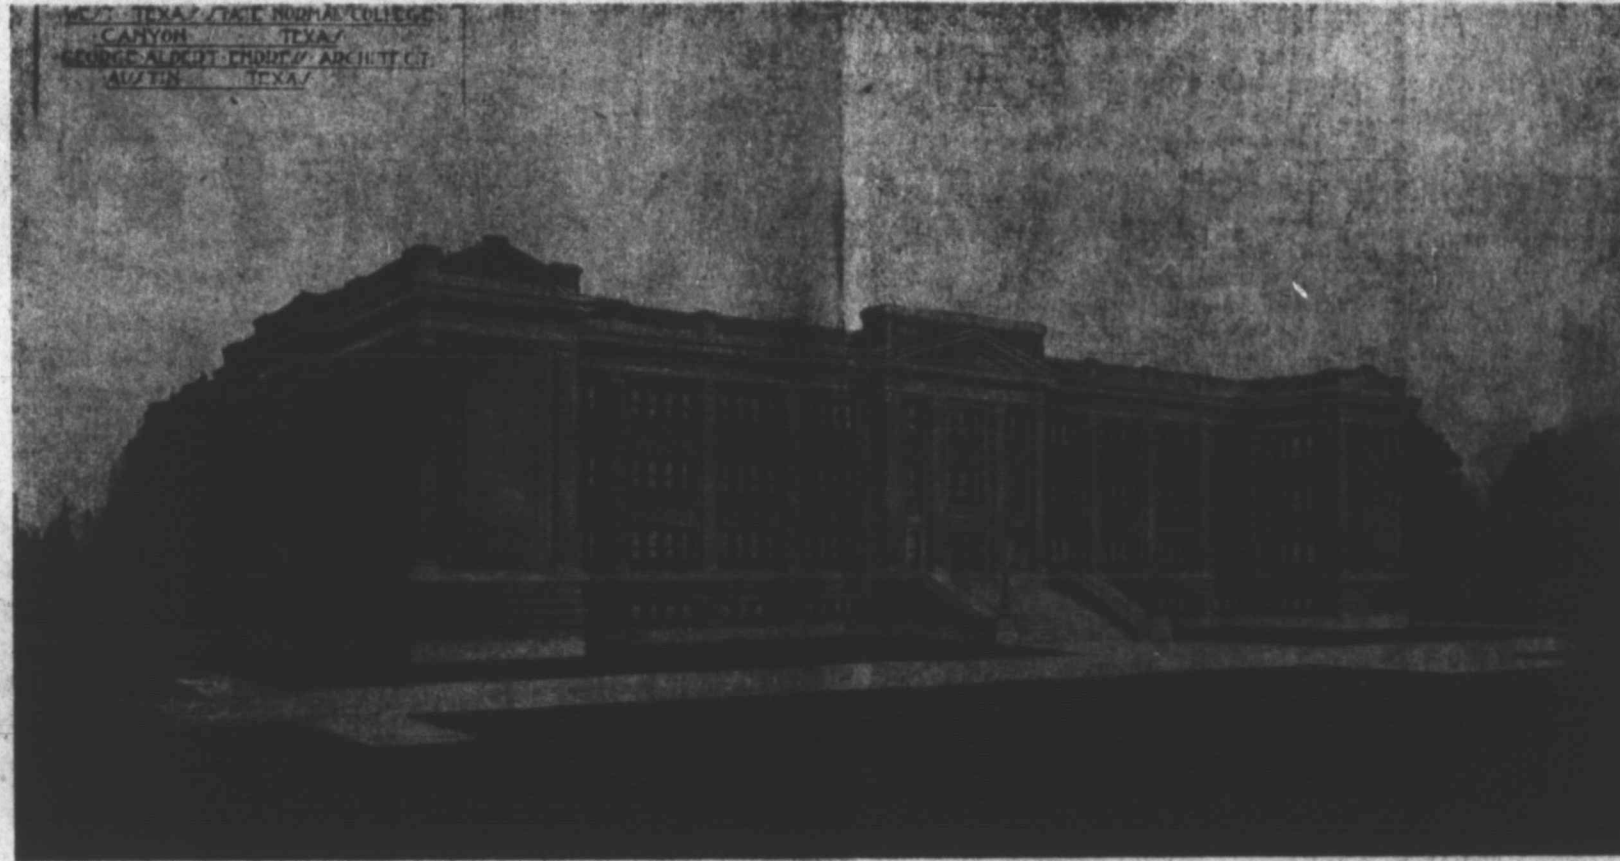

At 2:30 President Cousins called to order the meeting which was held in the grand stand with a temporary platform built out in front.

As a setting for the day, he briefly enumerated the important facts concerning the history of the school and praised the work of Gov. Campbell under whose administration the school was organized, Gov. Colquitt, under whose liberal policy the school has grown, and Gov. Ferguson, to whom much is due in obtaining the new building completely as first suggested and planned by the board of regents. He also publicly thanked Representatives Crudgington and Tilson and Senator Johnson for the great interest they have taken in the school.

Mr. Cousins introduced Judge R. W. Hall, of the Amarillo court of Civil Appeals.

Judge Hall is noted as one of the wittiest speakers in this section and for several minutes recalled his early experiences as a school boy to the great amusement of the audience. He stated that with the Supreme court chief, representatives from the court of Civil Appeals and the various chiefs in plumes it looked like Canyon's day of judgment had come, but rendered the decision that everyone was in favor of Canyon. He designed Canyon to be the most patriotic.

MORE STUDENTS THAN LAST YEAR'S TOTAL

339 Enrolled to Tuesday Night With Several More in the City.—Only 299 Last Year.

The attendance in the Normal up to Tuesday night was 339, or 40 more than the total attendance of last year. All school work was dismissed yesterday for the corner stone laying exercises so that a number who had arrived in the city late could not enroll. The faculty is well pleased with the good attendance. Prospects are that it will reach at least 400 before the end of the year.

Ideal Weather.

The weather for the corner stone laying was ideal. During the past week there was much dust and warm weather. Tuesday night a good rain laid all the dust and made all the roads in perfect condition. The day was cool and perfect. Many auto loads from neighboring towns came for the ceremony.

PUBLIC SCHOOLS ENROLLMENT 225

Increase Over First Day of Last Year—Excellent Prospects For The Year's Work.

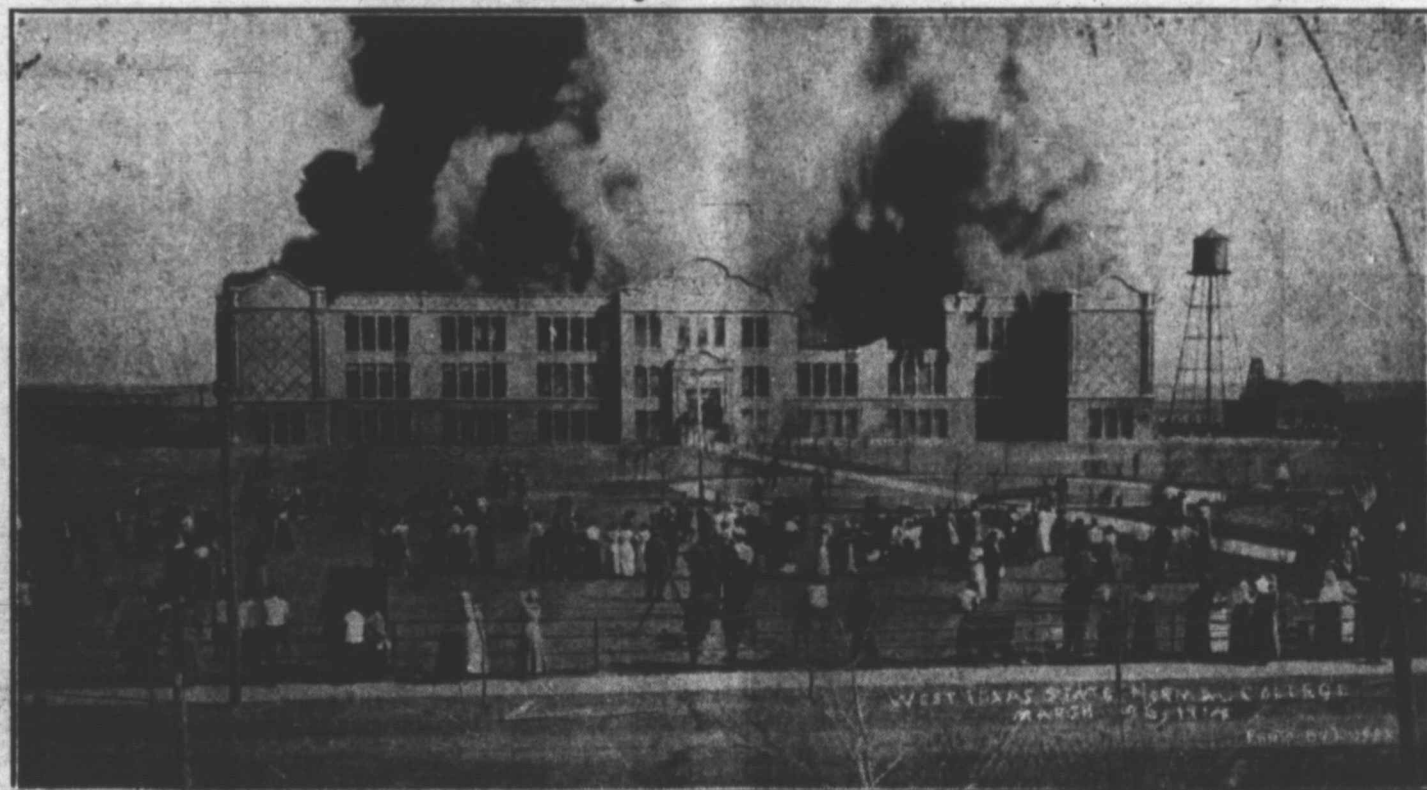

The public schools opened on Tuesday with the teachers meeting all of the pupils and giving them a list of the books they will need the first term of school. There was no school yesterday owing to the Normal corner stone laying, but the work of the year started this morning.

The enrollment Tuesday amounted to 225. This is an increase over the first days enrollment last year and several did not appear for enrollment Tuesday.

The public school has an excellent faculty for the year and prospects were never brighter for a very successful year's work.

Supt. E. F. King wishes to state that all young children who expect to enter school for the first time this fall should come from the very start in order to get started with the class.

Canyon a Clean Town.

A vast amount of work was accomplished during the past week in getting ready for the hundreds of visitors who came to the ceremonies yesterday. The visitors were expecting a clean town, from the reputation Canyon has had in the past and they were not disappointed.

Hereford Delegation Large.

Twenty cars from Hereford were here for the corner stone laying yesterday. A number more came on the train.

Owing to a heavy rain south the attendance was not large south of Happy owing to the fact of being only one train a day on the branch.

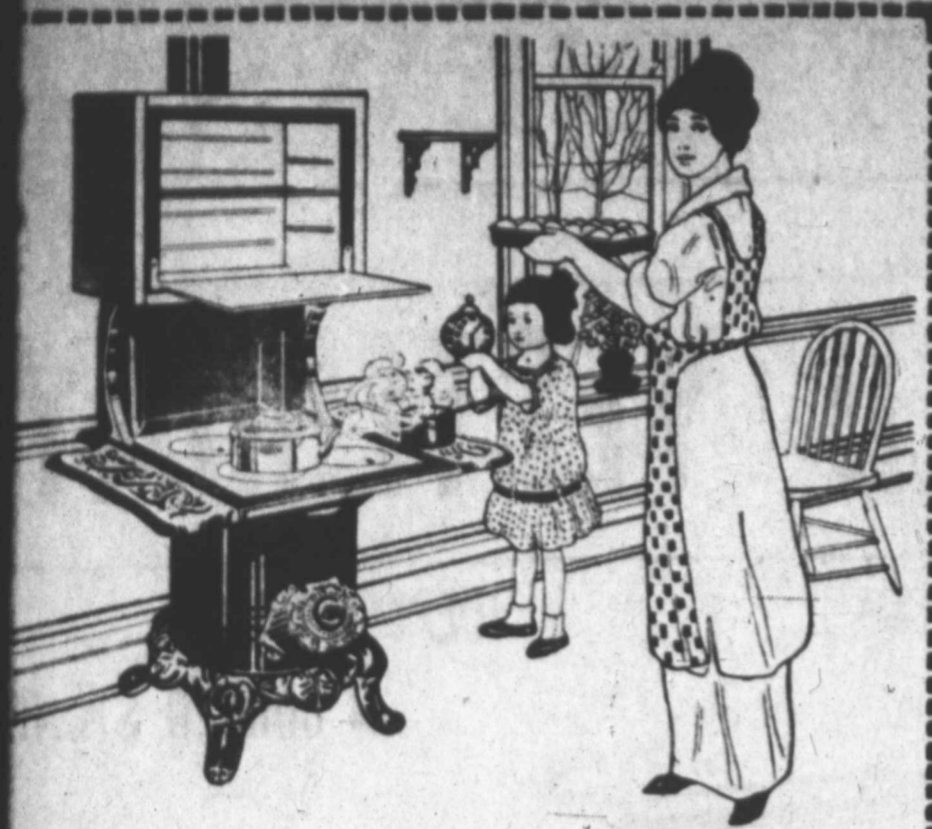

Tax Rolls Approved.

The Commissioners Court was in session Monday and approved the tax rolls of J. C. Black, county assessor. The rolls will now be sent to Austin for approval.

The valuations in Randall county this year are larger than last year owing to a raise made by the state officials in the railroad valuations.

The commissioners received 1158 pairs of jack rabbit ears Monday.

Austin King spent Sunday in Amarillo.

Folk We Touch In Passing.
By Julia Chandler Marz

THE EXPERIMENT

The change in The Woman was subtle. The Man recognized it but he could not define it. Her manner toward him was flawless, and no one could say truthfully that she did not make him a good wife.

After thinking the matter over for a long time The Man decided that the change existed only in his imagination—a thing born of his too great love for The Woman—but even as he thus assured himself he knew that the solution was not true.

He spent a deal of his time in troubled mental questioning when he was absent from her, but when he went home her ready smile dispelled his fear, and he was able to believe, as long as he felt the sense of her nearness, that the love she bore him was the same that it had been when he chose her from among all other women to be his wife.

She left nothing undone to make his home comfortable. When he returned to it after a busy day in his downtown office she was seldom absent. In fact, she attended her wifely duties with such punctiliousness that it sometimes occurred to The Man that she made a business of his comforts; studied them and made them certain with a care that suggested motives other than love.

He told himself that he was getting finicky and exacting, and declared himself a maudlin sentimentalist. All this, however, was in the privacy of his thoughts, which he took good care The Woman should know nothing about.

And all the while the consciousness of a barrier between them grew upon the man, until one day it dawned upon him that the reason of it was that God had blessed his marriage with no children.

The Man's mind leapt at the suggestion. Yes; that was it. Children had been The Woman's absorbing passion. He remembered the day he had first met her. It was on a picnic at harvest time. She was sitting out under a spreading oak, surrounded by a large group of children whom she loved with her eyes even as she told them tales, and they, in their turn, gave her the adoration of their young hearts. And spring of The Woman's life. And it was not born of the fact that they had no children for the quality in the one with which she had echoed his words had been one of horror.

The Man said no more, but he made an excuse to get away, and when he was alone he walked the city streets in the summer moonlight with a single question staggering his mind and depressing his heart.

He cursed himself for a cad to doubt the woman he loved, and even as he cursed the sense of the justice of his doubts grew upon him. It swept over him like the great unbidden torrent of a raging sea that the thing she had offered him for several years in the place of love was a dead sea fruit and the taste of it suddenly filled his soul with bitterness.

In the days that followed, the question which had come to dwell in The Man's mind ate into his vitals like a cankerous sore and he could find no cure for it. The Woman was as punctilious in the performance of her wifely duties as ever. The Man's home lacked nothing of care, and in the manner of his wife toward him he could find no fault save that its perfection sickened his very soul.

He thought much of the time when he had first met her and the natural gravitation of little children to her. He thought of her passion for them and of how he had counted it as a sign of the very great purity of her heart. He thought of the grief with which she had first learned that her marriage could never be blessed with the happy prattle of children in her own home, and of how she had mothered every tot in the neighborhood, making The Man's home and yard a veritable playground for them.

But it had been many months since he had seen a child in his house or about the premises. Somehow the fact had not struck him before as being significant. But now he remembered the saying of a very wise man—that the touch of a little child will invariably bring an expression of fear into the eyes of a faithless woman, and the remembrance gave The Man an inspiration.

The next day when he went home he held in his own the dimpled hand of a

There Came Into the Eyes of the Woman an Expression of Unutterable Fear.

always after that, wherever he had known her to be where there were little children, they gravitated to her as naturally as a flower lifts its face to the sun.

The Man decided that he had been a fool not to have expressed his regret more often and forcibly that no babies had come to bless her life in his own home, knowing what it had meant to her in the first years of their marriage, and he decided to make amends.

That night when they sat together on the broad porch of their home The Man reached over and took The Woman's hand in his.

"I am sorry, dear, for the great void in our marriage," he told her, "more sorry than I can ever tell you about the children."

"The children!" she echoed, and the note in her voice was one which told The Man, as nothing else could have done, that the change in The Woman was not one born of his imagination.

It was real. It was of graver consequence than even his heart had suggested. It went down to the wall-lovely child—a fair-haired, cherub-faced little lad whom he had promised the matron of a certain home to adopt, "provided his wife approved."

The Woman was sitting on the front porch when The Man and the lad turned in at the gate.

"Ah, my dear," called The Man to her, "see what I have brought you to be your very own."

The Woman's guard was suddenly down. She stood up and backed against the wall like an animal at bay. There was no smile on her face, and when the fair-haired boy, at The Man's bidding, ran to her and clasped his dimpled hands about her knees, lifting a face that was for all the world like a fresh blown flower toward her for a kiss, there came into the eyes of The Woman an expression of unutterable fear.

And The Man, watching, was answered.

MEASURED BY INCHES

LITTLE THINGS GOVERN LIFE'S SUCCESS OR FAILURE.

A Little Contemplation Will Show the Truth of the Statement—Man Who Considers It Is the One Who Succeeds.

Everybody knows what a little thing an inch is, but few realize what a big thing it is. Few stop to contemplate what the difference of an inch really means, says a writer in the New York American. A tailor knows when an inch too much or too little has cost him anywhere from $15 to $50. A dressmaker knows when an inch too little of the goods on hand may cause her, after an arduous day of planning, to abandon a chosen pattern for another. An engineer knows when his train, with its carload of human freight, has gone one inch off the track over a precipice.

Some men have minds one inch off the judgment track, and that causes all their schemes, gigantic and brilliant as they may be, to run amuck.

Every calamity and every success in life is controlled by inches.

Men rarely go to their doom in an hour; it is inch by inch.

All successes are won inch by inch. As inch by inch the waters of life creep in to engulf us, so inch by inch the obstacles that impede our progress move aside.

The man who attempts to leap over the inches to reach his goal gets there with a broken leg.

The word inch has a forbidding sound. It is because it holds us in its clutches! We cannot ignore an inch, or it immediately thwarts our intentions. Every simple thing is performed by man, as the saying goes, "within an inch of his life."

All diseases move inch by inch. Before the scarlet fever breaks out in a child it has been developing inch by inch for nine days.

A man built a magnificent structure the other day at an enormous expense, and when it was proved that he had encroached a few inches on the land of another man the law accorded the other man the right to pull it down.

The overstepping of an inch in the proprieties of life brands us. If a girl in a theater laughs an inch too loud the audience looks around and puts upon her the stamp of "not a lady."

Art is controlled by inches. A picture an inch too high or too low, and the entire artistic effect of the wall upon which it hangs is lost.

Department is measured by inches, and woe unto the man who fails to observe its dictates. Even in the deepest grief, if one goes too far in his walling the grief is questioned, if not ridiculed, and sympathy turned aside. An inch too far in the poet's flight to imagination's realms and the world laughs at his best efforts.

A single inch in any direction may throw away a man's chances for the world's approval, and yet some men do not even consider the yards.

It is the man who considers life within an inch of every detail present who succeeds.

World's Richest Church.

Trinity church, New York, which has just voted a handsome donation to the preservation fund of St. Paul's cathedral, is the most richly endowed parish in the world. It has a fast-increasing income—not fully disclosed, but believed to be about $2,500,000 a year—which is mainly "unearned increment," derived from lands given by Queen Anne that have become priceless through the growth of the city during two centuries. Out of this vast revenue are paid the stipends of the clergy and choirs of Trinity and of eight daughter churches, and the expenses of Trinity hospital and Trinity cemetery, and contributions to poorer parishes, and charitable institutions. Some time ago Trinity vestry voted a subscription towards the repair of the organ of Bow church, Cheapside, England, and were delighted with two return gifts, which consisted of a Roman tile and a chunk of stone from the old Norman crypt.

Salts Down Frog Chorus.

Cudahy, Cal., boasts of a magician who has power over frogs. This marvel, a woman, lives where the ground is low and the water gathers when it rains. And in the rain the frogs come home to roost and to croak.

Mrs. M. H. Murphy, who lives on Mary street, stood the serenade the first night very well. But the second night her nerves got ragged around the edges and on the third night she racked her brains for a way to silence frogs.

Her subconscious mind came to the rescue and suggested a remedy she first heard in childhood. This was to feed the melodious frogs with salt. Five pounds of salt covered Frogtown next morning and the singers moved out.

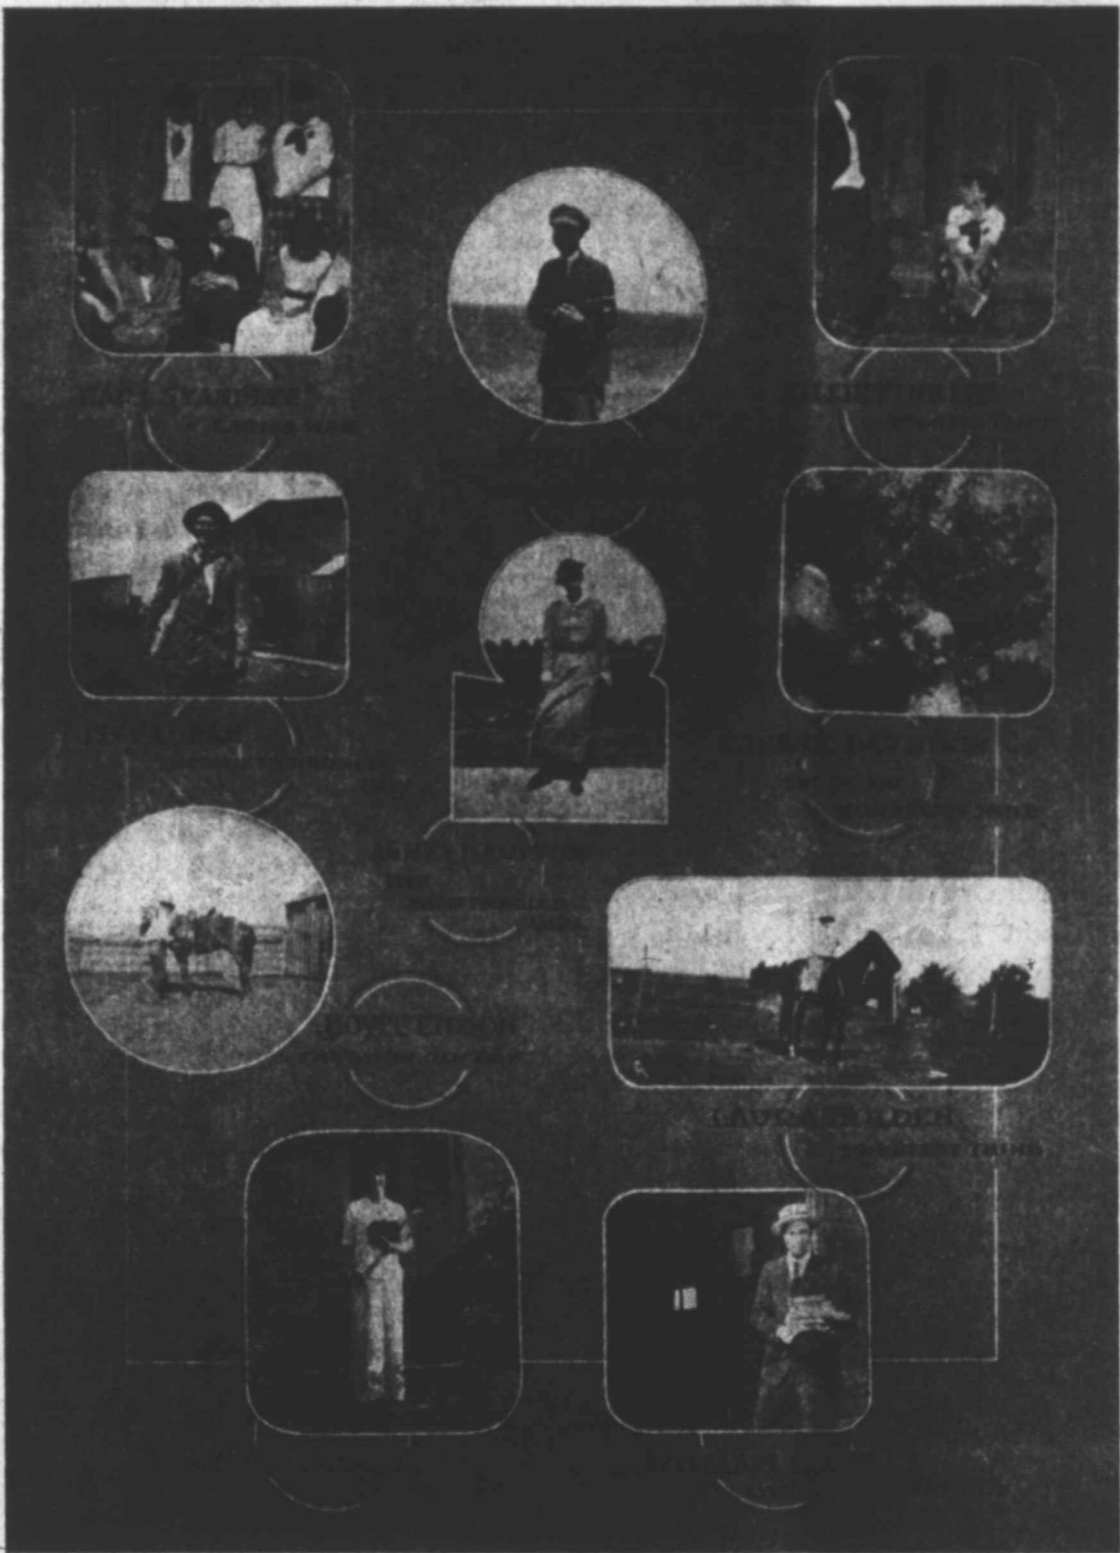

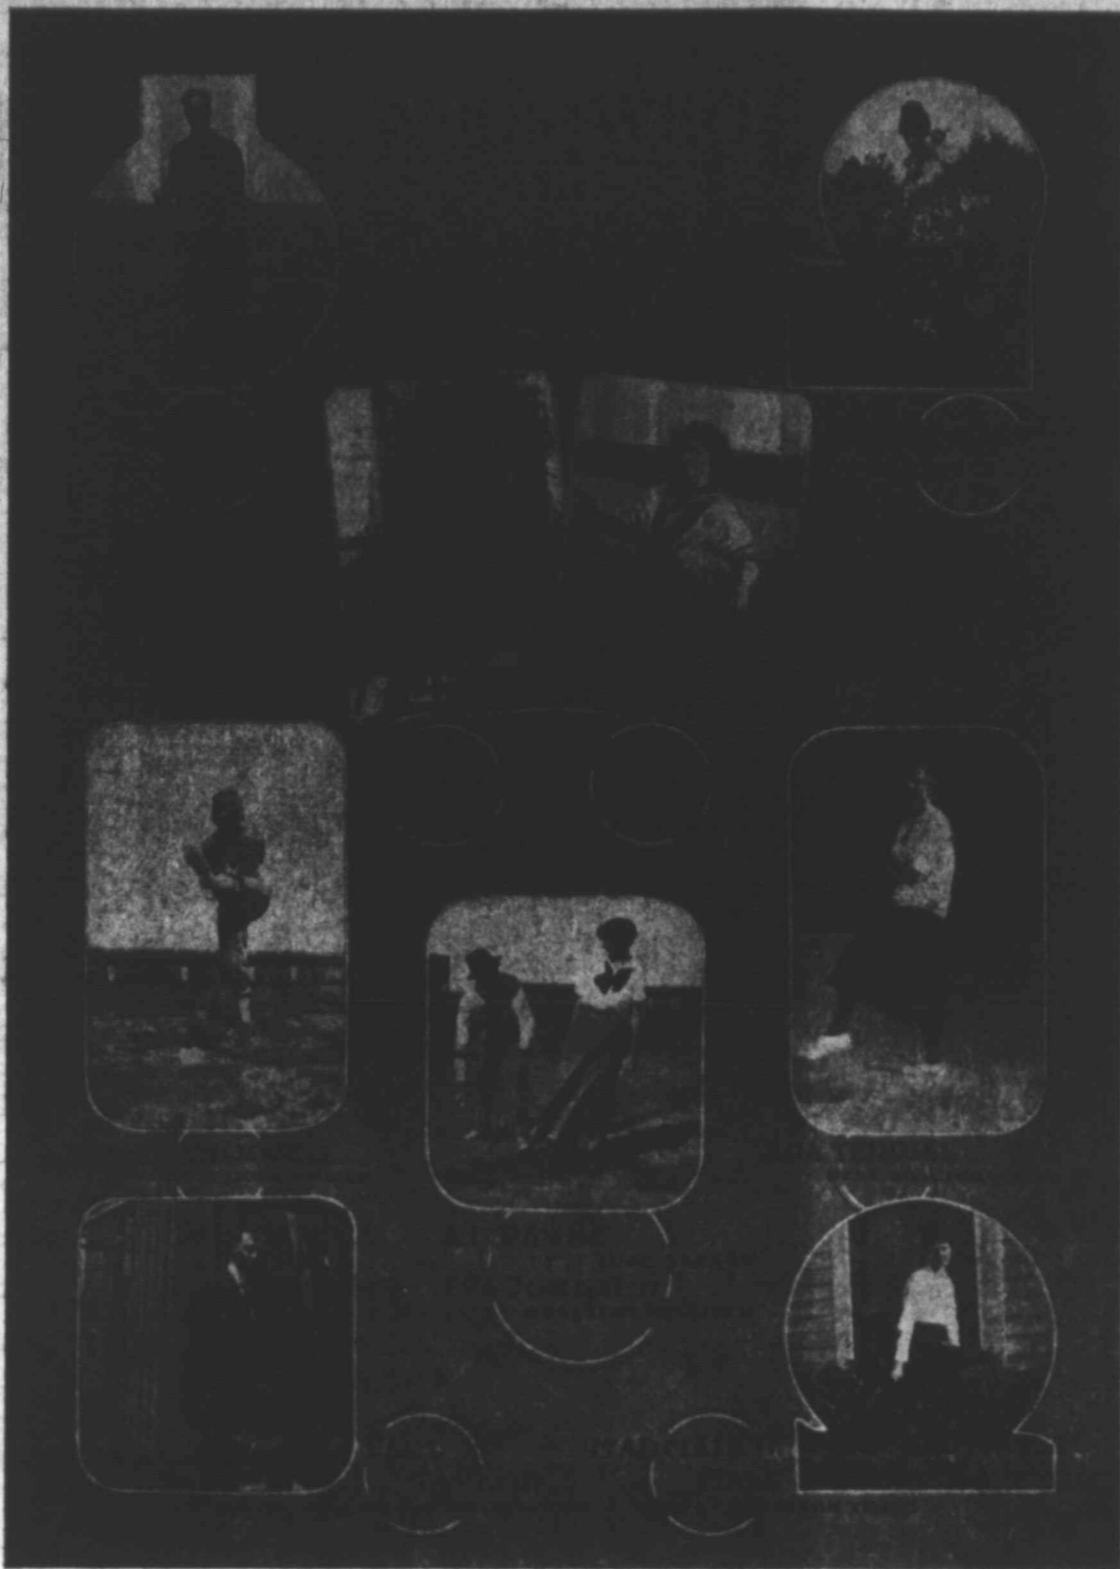

Entirely Too Modern.

"Chicago censors say three feet of film is long enough for a moving picture kiss. Los Angeles censors think two feet a plenty. What is your opinion?"

Measuring kisses by feet, eh? Well, personally I prefer the old-fashioned method of measuring a kiss by the "week on the mantelpiece."—Exchange.

The attendance of the West Texas State Normal College is gratifying to all. The first week ended with practically fifty per cent more enrolled than last year. A number of conditions are contributive to this excellent attendance. First, last year there was a doubt in the minds of many people outside of Canyon as to the permanency of the location of the school. This has been settled. Next, the probability of doing work in temporary buildings brought to the minds of some that the work would not be standard. This fact has been spelled. The Normal has the best faculty in the state and while the equipment at the beginning of last year had been nearly demolished by the fire of March 25, 1914, the personal work of the professors with the students and the efficient use of the equipment that remained, together with that which could be purchased with the appropriations available Sept. 1st, 1914, made last year one of the most successful in the history of the school. The temporary buildings proved to be very comfortable and the work progressed uninterrupted. Again, the financial condition over the state was very poor, and young people without means were of necessity forced to stay out of school. The flourishing crops of the Panhandle this year will cause a larger school attendance in all of the schools. Finally, the prospects of the fine large steel building ready for occupancy early in the year caused many who would naturally go out of the state or some other school to enter the normal in order to enjoy the splendid facilities of the school. The progress of the Normal was hardly interrupted by the fire of last year. President Cousins on that memorable day gave expression to a fact that has proved fundamentally true. "Temporary embarrassment," he named the burning of the old building. The Normal is now on the high way of progress with hardly a temporary halt, and will continue to prosper and ever to increase in size and usefulness.

We rejoice with the Randall County News in a recent evidence of progress and prosperity, the statement having been made in that paper last week that they had placed an order for a Model 15 Linotype to be delivered out of New Orleans as quickly as possible. The News believes in keeping in the lead, and its patronage is strong enough to permit it to practice what it believes in. Fortunate are they who can—and do—practice what they preach.

The farmers of Randall county are going to plant more wheat than ever. But they must be more careful and see to it that it has been treated thoroughly for smut. There are many cases of smut in Randall county this year which must be eliminated. No matter where you get the seed, treat it for smut before sowing.

The News takes great pleasure in devoting this edition in telling of the great Panhandle State Fair and of the Panhandle country as a whole. Every citizen of the Plains should attend the Fair this year. There will be attractions worth traveling miles to view. Practically all of Randall county will spend a day at the fair.

After you have read this issue of the News send it to some friend in your old home state. They are interested in the Panhandle and would like to read it. And, by the way reader, if you are not a regular subscriber, you are hereby cordially invited to join the family circle and become a reader of the News.

The Hereford Brand of last week had 32 pages devoted to the interests of Deaf Smith county. Editor Guthrie always has a good paper but this edition was especially fine.

Bryan says he is thankful for a peace-loving president. Yet a few short weeks ago Bryan quit his post of duty because he couldn't trust to the president's demands being in the right.

With every shipment of Panhandle hogs topping the market, every farmer should make a special effort to raise more of them. They are the sure money crop.

Go around and see the Randall county exhibit when you visit the Panhandle State Fair. It is a good one, perhaps much better than you anticipate.

Luck.

Luck must be a woman—because it is fickle. Luck continues to knock at the door after opportunity has passed on. Luck is the difference between success and failure. Luck is unjust, because the lucky man does not always deserve his luck. Luck is a gambler. Luck is a false friend, because it will desert its most favored ones. Luck is a myth. It may appear to favor individuals, but the armies which fight the hardest are most apt to win. Luck is the coquette who leads men to despair. In only one thing is luck faithful—it is always on the side of those who are the steadiest workers.

HEALTHY CHILDREN come from healthy mothers. And mothers will certainly be healthy if they'll take Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Nothing can equal in building up a woman's strength, in regulating and assisting all her natural functions, and in putting in perfect order every part of the female system. It lessens the pains and burdens, supports and strengthens weak, ailing mothers.

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and bracing nerve.

Mrs. Bernice Fleming, of 1225 Clinton Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, says: "I had been in bad health and the doctor would get me up for a while. Two years ago I was in very bad health, had womanly troubles. Had tried several different things and at last I began taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and today I weigh 125 pounds, then I only weighed 110. I praise your medicine to every ailing woman, and tell them the good it has done and does till to-day for me."

Would Add Another Month.

Many bishops of the Episcopal church in England and America and bishops of other protestant denominations have endorsed a movement to establish a new calendar dividing the year into thirteen months. The idea is suggested by a New York Clergyman and it has been discussed in the British Parliament.

The new calendar proposes each month to consist of exactly four weeks or 28 days, the first day of each month being Sunday. The extra month would be called Holiday, and would come in between June and July. On ordinary years; one extra day would be put in at the very end, the eve of the new year. Such a day would have no date. On leap year another day would be put in, not at the end of February as now, but in midsummer, in the month of Holiday. Thus everybody on holiday at that time would get an extra day.

It is proposed that legal holidays always fall on Monday. Christmas would always fall on Wednesday, the 25th of December. Easter would always fall on the third Sunday in April doing away with the elaborate table to find the date according to the moon.—Ex.

McCormick and Deering

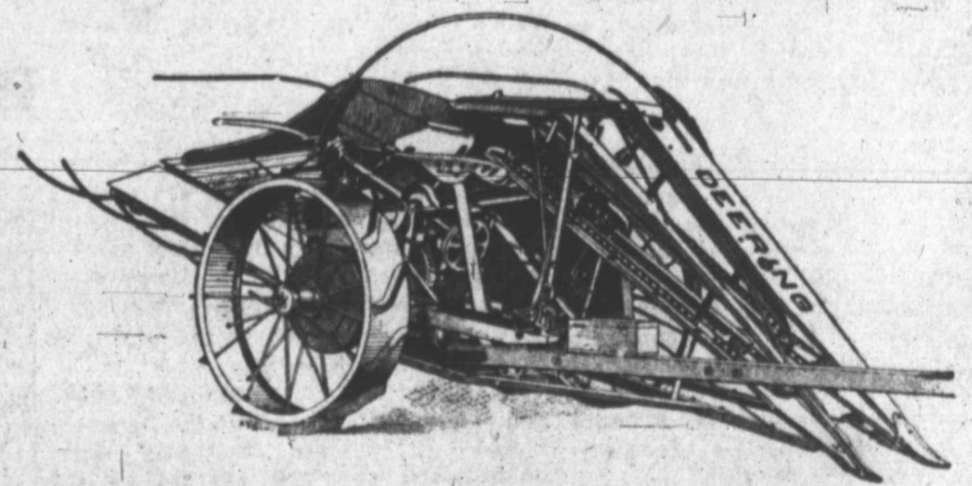

Corn Harvester

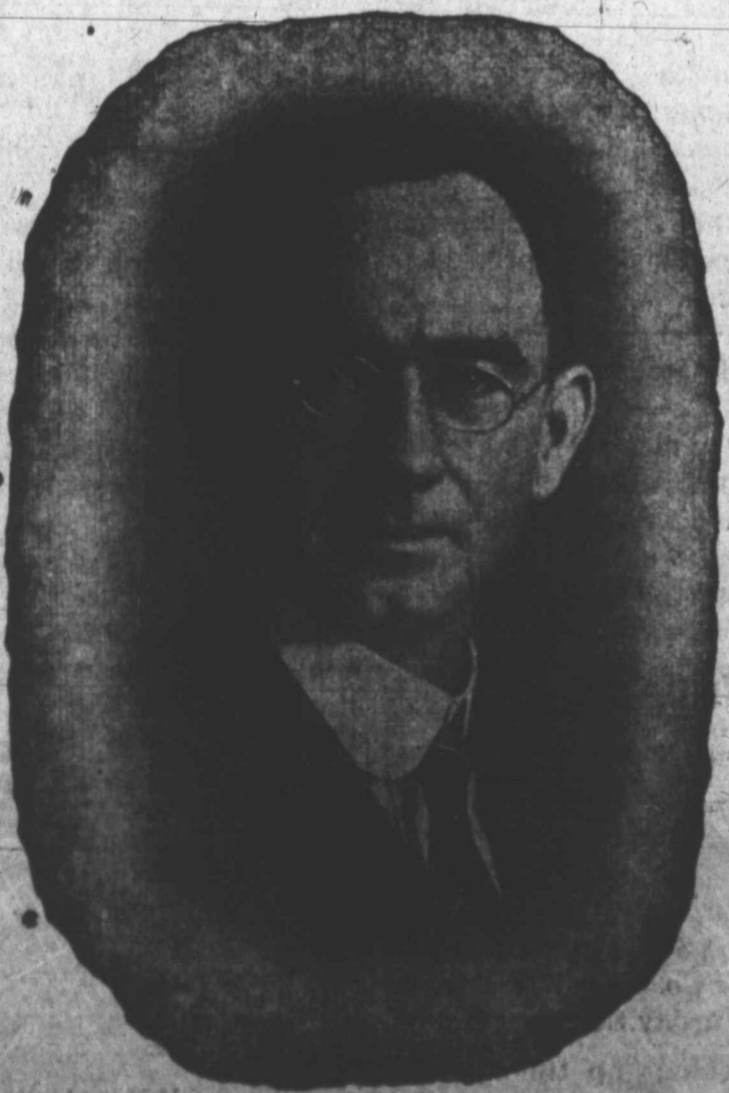

Well known to every farmer to be the best Corn Harvesters on the market for saving all kinds of row crop. It matters not how high or heavy, it will harvest your crop when it is too low for any other

Corn harvester to handle.

There are other Machines on the market that can be bought for $5.00 to $10.00 less money for reason they are worth less, and are cheaper machines and do not have the reputation. When you have a McCormick or a Deering machine you can always get any repair in a very few hours and be ready for work. When you have some new make of machine for which you do not know that you can always get repairs, you can lose many times the difference in price of machines so let us sell you one of the Old Reliable machines with all the latest improvements that you can depend on to get your crop harvested before frost, and take no chances.

INFLUENCED BY MUSIC

EFFECT OF SWEET STRAINS ON DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

Lecturer Urges Farmers to Place Phonographs Near Their Bee Hives and Stables—Tells of Her Own Experiences.

Farmers who want better honey, richer milk, and more of both, should put phonographs near the beehives and in the pasture or stable.

Nor are bees and cows the only creatures influenced by music. Doctor Powell and her daughter keep four or five crickets in their hearth, and evenings they attract them forth to a dance in the middle of the living room in their farm home by singing to them.

Six little crippled girls, of particularly unlovely nature, whom she found in the slums of New York, were other objects of Madam Powell's study.

At Coney Island, she said she ran a tent where mobs were incited to riot every evening by radical speeches.

She contended, as a result of these experiments, that music stirred the sluggish and tranquilized the nervous person, animal or insect.

Madam Powell believes in ragtime for all who like it, and she is one, though a highly educated and successful prima donna soprano and pianist.

POINT HE HAD OVERLOOKED

Wife's Question Made Broker Wonder Whether He Might Not Have Been Deceived.

A Wall street broker of English parentage and an unusual name was talking to several other brokers, business not being particularly rushing at the moment.

"If anybody in this crowd has a gold brick for sale," he said, "I wish he would try to dispose of it to me at a good figure. Why? Well, I'm in the market since yesterday for that sort of material."

"It happened this way. About 4 p. m. a very nice-looking man of the working class came into my office and asked for me. I saw him and asked him his business. He told me he had seen my name in the papers, and as his name was the same as mine he thought, the names being so unusual, he would call on me."

"He was very unmistakably English, and the similarity of names was of some interest, even though I hardly thought he was in my class. Still he might have been a hard-up titled nobleman working for his living, as some of the best of them do rather than sponge it off somebody else."

"He talked along about his family and where they lived and asked me where mine came from and said he had been living in Canada for fifteen or twenty years, where his father had gone from England. Times were hard and he had come to this country, where they were no softer and—well, it ended by his touching me for $5. His name was good for that, I thought, whether he was wholly deserving or not."

"When I went home in the evening I told my wife about it and did she applaud my respect for my family name? Not on your parish register she didn't. She looked at me critically and said: 'John, did the man show you any papers to prove that his name was the same as yours? Right then I awoke, and if any of you gents have a gold brick to sell will you please pass it on to me?'"

On His Dignity.

Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, who has equipped a $250,000 field ambulance for the allies, told many interesting war stories during her recent visit to America.

"The new English army is wonderful," she said at a studio tea in New York. "The officers themselves are surprised at the rapidity with which the young English volunteer can be trained into a splendid soldier. Of course, though, amusing mistakes often happen before the military rules are mastered."

"An English officer told me of an incident which occurred in his regiment. One day the colonel had to reprimand severely a recruit. The next day this recruit was on sentry duty when the colonel passed by. Noticing that the sentry failed to give him the usual salute, the colonel intentionally passed him a second and even a third time. To his astonishment the salute was each time omitted."

For Love of the Work.

The Russia of today has no social life, its women have no thought of dress and amusement. All are working for their country, and an exceptional number of the women of education in that country are specially qualified to be of service to the wounded soldiers.

Speaking of her country, the wife of a Russian attaché in London said: "Perhaps the women of Russia study medicine and nursing more generally than is the case elsewhere, for in Russia the poorer classes look more naturally to those who are blessed with a larger share of this world's goods for care and protection. This feeling is now on the decline in towns, but in country places, where doctors have rounds of a hundred miles' radius, the poor of a district, in the absence of the medical man, are looked after and tended by the daughters of the house on whose estate they live. Thus every young girl goes in for medicine because she loves the work."

Swift Horses.

"Horses!" said the Yankee. "Guess you can't talk to me about the horses. I had an old mare, Malzypp, who once licked our best express by a couple of miles on a 30-mile run to Chicago."

"That's nothing," said the Canadian. "I was out on my farm one day, about fifty miles from the house, when a frightful storm came up. I turned the pony's head for home, and do you know, he raced the storm so close for the last ten miles that I didn't feel a drop, while my old dog, only ten yards behind, had to swim the whole distance." — Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

Repetition

Is essential to making an impression. The boy learns the multiplication table by saying it over and over until he can't say it wrong. It is no truer after it is learned than it was before. Repeating it a thousand times does not alter the facts. But repetition does make the knowledge certain.

CORNER STONE LAYING

enterprising and self-sacrificing bunch of Panhandleists on the map. He recalled his appreciation of the fact that Canyon gained the Normal and how he was grieved when the old building burned but highly praised the fact that from defeat had come victory in the erection of the big new building.

Judge Nelson Phillips, Chief Justice of the Texas Supreme Court, made a most masterly address. "I am proud of the privilege and honor of addressing this audience," he stated. "This is a great institution and has a great man at its head. The executive and legislative departments of this state have done well in establishing this great school, and I am glad that it has fallen to my lot as a representative of the judicial department to address you."

He stated he was proud of the Panhandle and had no sympathy with the movement to divide the state, because he did not wish to give up the people of this section.

His theme for the afternoon was "What education means to me." He stated he loved young men and admired and respected young women. The future of the republic depends upon the way the young people of today think, and the means of directing the thought in the proper channels is through education. He paid a tribute to the school teachers of this country. Burke was one of the four great Englishmen and it was to a school teacher in his childhood that he owed much of his great success.

Young people of today are called into action at a critical time.

It takes courage to fact the bigotry of the time. Theorists are on every hand trying to upset not only the fundamentals of religion but also the government. Education is needed that men may know better how to serve. A graduate from a school may be equipped either to bless or curse those with whom he will be associated. Miss education bring disdain for the fundamentals of life. The right kind of education brings respect for the Bible and for constitutional government.

The purpose of education is to equip the man for facing problems, achieve difficulties, and to teach the value of the common place. Men sometime forget the beauties of nature.

The crucible of character is adversity. The successful man is the modest and unassuming man. "We must be slow either to judge or condemn men."

He applied the tests that he had set out to some of the great men of history—Washington, Lee, Houston. He pointed out the fact that Texas should produce great men because the fundamentals were rooted in the life and blood of the people.

He believed that the spirit of the great men of the past would follow the success of the school and that it would fulfill the mission for which it was established.

RANDALL COUNTY HAS BIG CROP THIS YEAR

The crops of Randall County for 1915 are proving to be the best for many years and on a part with those raised before the drouths of 1909 to 1913, which affected not only the Panhandle but also the entire United States. A return of prosperity was felt in 1914, when a good crop was raised, but it was for 1915 to bring a bumper crop and really put the Panhandle on its feet again. The rainfall this year has been more nearly up to the normal standard than for seven years. The only dry time of the year was during April and May, when a good general rain would have added materially to the wheat yield of the county.

The Panhandle country has the eyes of the world centered upon it now more than ever. Prospectors from every section are coming every week with the view of settling here. The cotton condition of the past two years has discouraged the good southern farmers, and they are now looking to the Panhandle with the expectation of entering the stock-farming business. The land values of the north are prohibitive both for the farmer and the investor. Cheap land is the cry of the day, and the Panhandle presents the largest body of virgin land in the United States which is still within the buying limits of the man with ordinary means.

While the excellent crops of this year are in a part due to excellent rainfall, yet the fact cannot be overlooked that scientific farming has played a greater part than ever before. The farmer has learned that he must not attempt to cultivate more land than he can easily handle. Frequency of cultivation has solved the problem of rainfall shortage, and should this country ever experience another drouth the farmers will be able to meet and solve the issue with scientific farming.

WHEAT.

The wheat crop of Randall County averaged from 15 to 30 bushels per acre. The principal bulk of the crop is yet unsold. Many fields which had not been stacked suffered greatly during the heavy rains of July, but on the whole the farmers got the grain well taken care of. The markets have not been so good as anticipated and practically every farmer has built grainaries for the storage of his crop awaiting a better price.

The oats crop, while not large in acreage, has been fine this year, and many averages of 30 to 50 bushels were reported.

ALFALFA.

Alfalfa is one of the standard crops of the county and the yield this year has been excellent. The crop from Randall County has won in the Panhandle State Fair. It will average from one to one and one-fourth tons per acre, and there is generally a ready market awaiting the raiser.

FETERITA.

During the severe dryness of 1913 it was found that feterita was the best grain resistant crop ever introduced on the Plains. The farmers have since then greatly increased the acreage until feterita is now called the leading crop over the kafir and milo maize. However it is not to be inferred that it has taken the place of these crops. They have for many years produced such excellent crops that no farmer would entirely supplant them with the younger feterita.

All three crops make excellent ensilage. It is a noteworthy fact that Randall County has more silos than any of its neighbors, and the ensilage has played an important part in bringing to Randall County in 1913 and 1915 a record to be proud of—the highest priced Texas cattle ever to be sold on the Kansas City market. The Kansas agricultural college has clearly demonstrated the fact that these crops are on an equal with Indian corn for ensilage purposes, and these Randall County fed cattle competing with the Indian fed cattle of Illinois and Missouri have demonstrated that they will produce more fat.

FEEDERS ARE SCARED.

The feeders of the middle west are scared. The splendid record made by the C. O. Keiser cattle in 1913 and 1915 in topping the market and bringing a record Texas price has caused some of the western feeders to stop and think. They realize that they cannot feed 75-cent Indian corn raised on $150 and $200 land and make any money on the deal when they have to compete with the native feeds of the Panhandle, which is just as nutritive and which is produced on cheap land in as large a volume as is the Indian corn of the Mississippi valley.

Here are some interviews on the question published in the Kansas City Drivers Telegram:

"Cattle from the range territory topping the fed steer market simply shows that cattle feeding is no longer confined to the corn belt as we supposed it would always be," B. F. Taylor of LaFayette County, Missouri, said. "Steers from Texas, which never had any corn, good enough to top the fat cattle market, shows that this feeding industry is slipping away from us and breaking over into new territory."

J. F. Logan of DeKalb County, Missouri, is convinced that if corn belt farmers expect to keep on feeding cattle they must raise a greater variety of feed crops, and not depend on corn exclusively, as some have been doing. Mr. Logan observes that many cattle of the well finished class which have not had any corn at all are now being marketed at top prices.

SORGHUM.

Sorghum is another excellent forage crop. The acreage has been large this year. It produces about three tons to the acre and will grow after the first cutting is off the field, making good fall feed.

SUDAN GRASS.

Sudan grass is being raised extensively in Randall County this year. It grows as high as a man's head and may be cut two and three times. If allowed to stand it will make an excellent grain crop. It has been proven as a dry weather crop and always yields well. Many farmers believe that it will soon be the principal hay crop of the Panhandle and other sections.

Millet is another good hay crop which is largely raised in Randall County.

THIS A FRUIT YEAR.

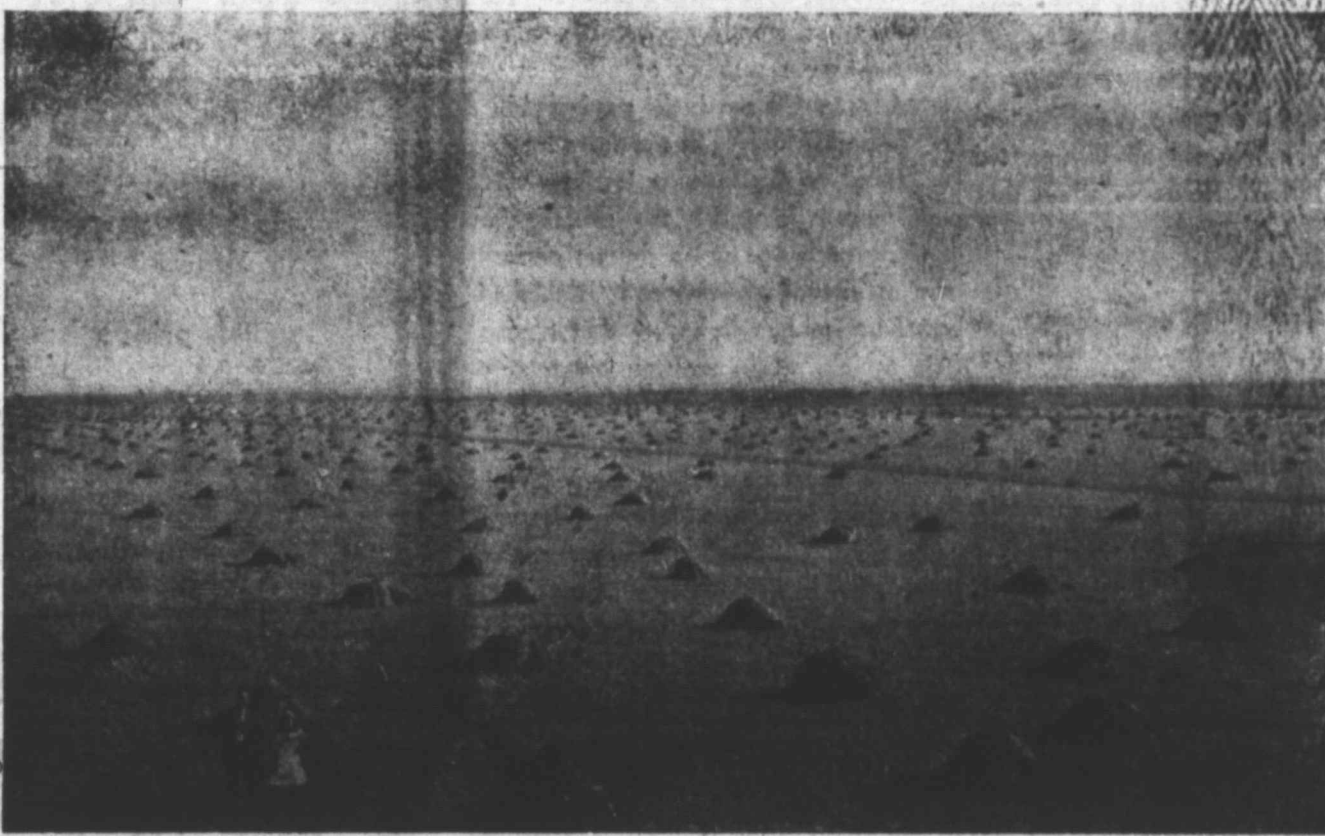

This was truly a fruit year in Randall County. Fruit is always plentiful, but the crop this year was an exception and the trees have been loaded to capacity. Beginning early with the cherry crop there has been a continuous crop of plums, pears, peaches, grapes and apples ripening throughout the summer. Each tree has done its best to outdo its nearest neighbor, until the owners have had to generally resort to the use of props in order to keep the limbs from breaking down.

GRASS AND CATTLE.

The grass crop has been fine this year and the cattle have prospered. Randall County has won fame as a cattle breeding and fattening section. The big ranches where steers roamed are gone forever, to be transplanted with the man with the smaller herd who does his breeding and feeding of high grade and registered cattle.

The coming of the silo has meant much to the cattle industry in the Panhandle. The man with a small farm can raise row crops for his silo and keep quite a number of cattle to sell at a profitable price, whereas during the day of large ranches it was necessary to have large bodies of land for a comparatively small herd of cattle.

FARMERS WELL PLEASED.

That the farmers are well pleased is evidenced by the fact that every available farm in Randall County is now under cultivation and many new ones will be opened up during the next few months. Hundreds of farms could have been rented for next year had improved ones been ready. During the years of drouth it was common to hear a farmer say that he guessed he would move back to his old home in some other state or section of this state, but now all of these are glad that they stayed to make this their permanent homes. More than sixty farmers have moved in Randall County during the past year, while every available house in Canyon is occupied and there is a great demand for more homes.

SILOS AND SILAGE

By H. M. Bainer, Agricultural Demonstrator Santa Fe System, Amarillo, Texas.

The silo is an absolutely essential equipment upon every farm where livestock would be handled with greatest success and profit, is no longer a question of argument, but of fact.

No man claiming to be informed on livestock subjects, including growing and finishing of cattle and sheep, would have the nerve to speak otherwise than in the most enthusiastic manner concerning the silo as a medium through which to handle feedstuffs.

Authorities identified with the United States government, state that from forty-five to sixty per cent of the feedstuffs actually produced by the farmers of the country are lost to the livestock, when handled through the usual field-dried method. They show that a certain per cent of the nutrient value of the crop goes out through the drying process. Then again there is an enormous waste through the shattering of the leaves in hauling from the field, through the action of the wind as the crop stands in the shock. The admixture of sand and dirt, the deteriorating effect of rain all detract from the sum total of worth possessed by the feed crop through the field curing.

Highest efficiency should be demanded of our feed crops. Each acre of feed should be made to produce the greatest degree of profit in the form of dairy products, beef, mutton and pork. Since it is stated as an unquestioned fact that from forty-five to sixty per cent of the feeding value of crops are lost through the old field-dried plan, and that the dirt and sand combined with the hardness of the stalks tend to render the crops undesirable, where left standing in the open, is it not sensible and timely to turn to some more desirable method?

In face of these figures setting forth the losses inescapable through handling in the old way of field curing, it is stated on the same authority, that through the silo fully ninety per cent of all feed crops produced by the farmers of this country are saved. This refers to the absolute volume of the feedstuff. Fodder—leaves and stalks, heads and seed, together with all of the juices contained within the plant. It is also shown that viewed in the light of tonnage, that the feed handled through the silo will show three times the weight of the dried product, and none of the loss of chemical elements necessary to the latter. It seems but simple justice that mention should be made of the fact that the feed is rendered even more easily digestible, through the processing in the silo. Partial cooking from the heating and the softening of the fibers from temperature and incident chemical action.

For years, dairymen have understood the worth of the silo as a valuable adjunct to their business, but it is only within comparatively recent months that exhaustive demonstrations and experiments have lent unqualified endorsement to the silo as a most valuable and unequalled aid in the finishing and fattening of beef and mutton. Succulence and provided alone through the silo in winter months, has long been recognized as a necessity for dairy cows. It assured a steady, heavy flow of milk of standard quality, through even the hardest months of the cold season, as against a certain decline in its absence. Now comes the added statement that the meat producing animal needs this tonic and nutrient succulence in no less degree than does the milk cow.

In addition to saving of from forty to fifty-five per cent of the absolute volume of feedstuffs produced, through the silo as compared to the field-dried process, this additional fact should be considered. That many authorities maintain that silage has a pound-for-pound feeding value with dry fodder, or grain-fodder ration. In other words: Not only is there an initial saving of from forty to fifty-five per cent of the actual volume of crops grown, three times increase in tonnages per acre, retention of all original elements of the plant, added palatableness and digestibility, but a pound-for-pound feeding value as compared to field-cured conditions.

If the foregoing facts are admitted, and authorities unquestioned stand back of them, then the question: Why is it that every farm has not its silo, as well as its barn, granary, plows and harvesting implements? This question is answerable only on the same basis as are other farm propositions, such as why do not all farmers conserve manure from their barn lots and stables and return to the lands? Why do not all farmers house their farm machinery? Why do not all farmers improve their livestock breeds? Why do not all farmers terrace their hillside fields, or drain their lowlands?

Each succeeding year places increased demands upon the products of the farms. Men engaged in the great field of production are demanding more returns from that which they produce, pound for pound. Formerly, it was believed when there was a uniformly low price for raw products and manufactured articles, that fifteen cents per pound for butter and from eight and one-third to ten cents per dozen for eggs was a profitable return from these commodities. But conditions are changing, and farmers are finding that the old scale of prices do not represent a fair exchange for his produce, nor does the old standard of production meet his changed conditions. Where formerly the haphazard style of now-and-then making an extra pound of butter, or gathering an occasional dozen of eggs, or once-in-awhile selling a hog, or sometimes marketing a beef animal meet his requirements, there is an ever increasing demand for a regular and dependable income from his tilled acres through the medium of his livestock. This change brings him face to face with another and closely allied problem: That of getting the greatest tonnages of most desirable crops from his lands. Time and past experiences have demonstrated the fallacy of a strictly one-crop system of farming, regardless of the actual cash value of that crop. Cotton has demonstrated the truth of this assertion in the south, as corn has made it clear in the north, and wheat has exemplified its correctness in the middle west. In their extremity, farmers of these various sections have cast about for a solution of their problem, and realized that rotation and diversification offered gracious "first-aid." Then came the dairy cow, the hog and the hen, with their offer to take and transform the low-priced products of the farm into revenues, steady and sure. The beef animal and the sheep also arose out of the troubled dream-period of the perplexed farmer, and he incorporated them into his rejuvenated and improved farm scheme.

Thus confronted with multiplied rays of rising hope for profitable farming, the farmer cast about for means through which he might increase the feeding power of his crops, and out of that quest came the silo—unmatched as an equipment through which to handle the grain-forage plants of the country.

Having become convinced of the worth of the silo as a medium through which to handle the feed crops from his farm, the farmer will naturally ask: What is the best and most available silo for my farm—my locality? This question is correctly answerable only in the light of a number of allied or related facts. What is the paying ability of the individual? Is the farm located in humid or dry-farming territory? If the farmer is under the necessity of making each one of his dollars perform the maximum of service, it is then incumbent on him to secure that type of silo which, while meeting his requirements, is not exorbitantly priced. If he is in the humid belt, where the water table is near the surface, he will find one of the good wooden stave silos well adapted to his needs. If, on the other hand, he is living where there is an absence of humidity, where the water table is deep beneath the surface, the underground silo is undoubtedly his sanest choice. Then, too, if his finances are ample, and he is building only with the idea of permanency as his dominant desire, the reinforced monolithic concrete, or the all-steel silo will be chosen for installation, regardless of humidity or the lack of it.

In all considerations of the silo, the first determination to reach should be that it is vitally necessary to the greatest success in diversified farming of this entire country. This is based upon the presupposition that livestock will be handled to some extent on every such farm, as no farming operation is complete without its inclusion. Having reached this determination, the next consideration, of course, is the type and capacity of the silo to be installed. The type will be determined by the location of the farm and the funds available for the installation. The capacity of the silo will be determined, of course by the number of animals to be fed and the length of time that such feeding shall continue. But in this connection while considering capacity, we should not overlook the fact that the silo furnishes the most excellent medium for the storage of feed during years of ample production, to be carried over to those seasons wherein crops may be decidedly short.

Time does not suffice now for a description of silo construction nor a fuller setting forth of special adaptability, but these are given in silo bulletins issued not alone by the experiment stations of the national and state governments, the agricultural colleges of the various states, but likewise by the agricultural departments of railroads and other great interests of the country. In this connection I would simply urge that every farmer install a silo, that he select the type best adapted to his financial condition and likewise to the conditions of the country in which his farm dimensions to meet his every requirement.

Finally: Let every farm be a diversified farm, let that diversity include livestock, let the equipment of that farm embody a silo, if success is to be the worthy goal towards which the farmer is headed.

Excellent School Exhibits

Three of the rural schools of Randall county had exhibits at the County Teachers' Institute last week which were deserving of great praise. The Trigg school of which Miss Ona Kelly was teacher, the Fairview school of which Miss Lillie Leonard was teacher and the Keenan school of which Mrs. A. W. Blough was teacher last year and will continue to be this year.

These exhibits consisted of the every day work the pupils are doing, being composed of drawings, maps, construction work, booklets, composition and some fancy work.

From the Fairview school came a dress made by Elmer Miller, an eleven year old boy. This dress received very favorable praise from the ladies of the institute owing to the neatness and correctness with which it was made.

From the Keenan school came three splendid cakes which were baked by Louise Meyer, Adal-haid Meyer and Esther Boehning. These were pronounced to be most excellent. Miss Adal-haid presented Judge Coss with the cake she had baked and at the reception Tuesday night the Judge shared it with his fellow workers, all of whom praised it very highly.

These exhibits show that the work of the rural schools of Randall county is on the par with any city school. The pupils are much interested and take great pains in doing things correctly.

Mrs. Blough pointed out the fact that the pupils in her school made sewing cards, clay modeling and painting and that all of the materials had been provided by the parents. She stated many teachers did not attempt such work for fear that they would have to furnish the material, but that the parents of Randall county children are anxious and ready to furnish everything that will go to make a first class school.

It is hoped that more schools will have exhibits next year.

Charity Organization Needed

That Canyon needs a charity organization has been in the minds of the people for some months. Hundreds of dollars are taken out of the city every month by beggars, some of whom are pure grafters. Rev. David H. Templeton has suggested that representatives from the churches organize a committee whose duty it would be to investigate the beggars and to see which are really needy and which are grafters. There is a voluntary and temporary organization of the pastors and Sunday School superintendents recently formed for the purpose of taking the census and he suggests that this organization take up the matter and appoint the necessary committee. There is also a Business Men's Association which ought to be interested in this work and one of these organizations should at once look into the matter.

Beggars are visiting the city every day and no doubt a large per cent of them are plenty able to work.

INSTITUTE CLOSES INTERESTING WEEK

Twelve Essentials of an Ideal Teacher—Resolutions Covering Points Of Interest.

The session of the Teacher's Institute came to a close at noon Friday, after one of the most successful weeks work ever held in the county. The attendance reached 78, coming from five adjoining counties and with several attendants from other sections of the state.

On Wednesday morning the institute adopted the following schedule of qualifications of the ideal teacher:

1. A sound body coupled with energy and cheerfulness.
2. A strong personality.
3. Social adaptation.
4. Sense of humor.
5. Tact.
6. Scholarship.
7. An underlying love for the profession.
8. Sincerity.
9. Ability to see things from the child's standpoint.
10. Executive ability.
11. In the language of Plato, "Know thyself."
12. The ideal teacher is a man of religion, hope, faith and love.

The following resolutions were adopted Friday:

Resolved, that we recommend, First, that some part of each day's session in institute be devoted to departmental work.

Second, that the state department be requested to furnish a tentative program for a school of eight grades.

Third, that Normal training schools be urged to maintain a model one room rural school during the summer session.

Fourth, that our institute petition the superintendent of public instruction to require the attendance of county superintendents and ex-officials at our institutes to stimulate an interest in our school work.

Fifth, that the teachers of this district lay special stress upon the teaching of agriculture and domestic science in the rural schools through the instrumentality of boys and girls clubs; that the home and school be brought closer together.

Sixth, that two or more counties be organized into districts, and that the schools of these districts be presided over by a professional school man.

Seventh, that we endorse the work of the extension department of the state university and promise them our entire cooperation.

Eighth, that we endorse the peace policy of our illustrious

Rev. Groves Very Ill.

The News has a letter from Mrs. J. S. Groves of Waxahachie stating that Rev. Groves has been very ill since July 30. He was pastor of the Presbyterian church in Canyon for a number of years and greatly loved by all of the Canyon people. He was troubled with another abscess in his side which was wounded during the Civil War and taken to the sanitarium for treatment. His improvement has been very slow. Last week erysipelas developed and his condition has been alarming since that time. His many friends in Canyon trust that his life may be spared for a few more years of us full work.

Why is This?

We have for years past noticed the very undesirable feature in the public school in the higher grades, viz: There are as a rule many more girls attending than boys. Why is this? Where are the boys? They leave school many of them, in their early or middle teens as soon as they are able to get a position as clerk in some store or office under the impression that they are wasting time by remaining in school longer. The average boy thinks that if he gets some business position that will enable him to earn a few dollars a month, and that looks toward his final occupation in life, while his classmates stick to school three or four years longer, he has just so many years start of his companions who remain in school. Now the real facts in the case are that the reverse of this is the truth. The boy who remains in school and acquires a thorough education lays a foundation that will surely, all other things being equal, enable him to surpass his classmate who left school three or four years earlier.—Exchange.

GOOD UMPIRING FOR FLOYDADA WINS TWO

Canyon Defeated in Neighboring Town in Two Games.—Both of Which Were Clearly Stolen.

The Canyon baseball team was defeated in Floydada Thursday by a score of 8 to 7, and on Friday in a twelve inning game by a score of 1 to 0. Good umpiring for the Floydada bunch won both games. In the first game the Canyon team lead. A ball that was at least ten feet outside the foal line was called a fair hit, scoring two men which won the game.

In the second game Canyon time and time again filled the bases with men only to have the batsmen struck out on pitched balls that did not come anywhere within the limits of the plate. The players, all but two of whom were the best Floydada could hire, came to the Canyon boys after the game and stated the game was unfair, and that the Canyon team should have won. Saturday afternoon a new um pire gave the Canyon team a fair deal and the score was 7 to 2 in favor of Canyon.

Before the last game Floydada was anxious to come to Canyon for a three game series this week but changed their minds when given a sample of what the boys could do when given a chance.

Good Exhibit For The Fair

Prospects are good for an excellent exhibit from Randall County at the Panhandle State Fair which opens next Tuesday.

Joe Garrison will have charge of the exhibit. He is an artist when it comes to fixing up an attractive booth, as his efforts along this line during the past two years will testify. The farmers will bring their articles for exhibit to Canyon Friday of this week in order that plenty of time may be had for getting the exhibit to Amarillo and properly arranged.

Ben A. Terrill left Sunday for Dallas where he will teach again this year. Ben made himself mighty useful around the News office during the summer, assisting three weeks with the paper.

DO THE VOTERS WANT NEW JAIL?

Commissioners ask Wishes of People
Regarding Proposition—Response Desired.

At the meeting of the commissioners court Monday an order was passed, asking the public what the desire was concerning the condition of the jail in Randall county. The commissioners are desirous of doing what a majority of the people believe to be right in the question of either remodeling the old jail or building another.

For years the grand juries of Randall county have asked that the commissioners court take action in making the jail suitable for inmates. While the building is used only a few days in the year, yet it is clearly a fire trap in which some man is likely to lose his life. There has been no response from the commissioners until the meeting of this week when they decided that the proper method of procedure would be to ask the public what was desired in the way of a jail in order that their steps may be pleasing to a majority of the people.

Two methods of procedure are open to the court. First, either to spend a few hundred dollars in remodeling the old building so as to be fireproof, or second, to build a new structure. The court wants to know what every tax payer thinks about the proposition.

The following is the order of the county:

To the public of Randall County,
Texas:

The Commissioners Court being desirous of ascertaining the wishes of the people in regard to a new jail or an improvement of the old one take this method of trying to ascertain the public sentiment in regard to this matter.

By order of the Court.

PANHANDLE STATE FAIR EDITION—SECTION ONE

THE RANDALL COUNTY NEWS

VOL. XIX

CANYON, RANDALL COUNTY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 16, 1915.

No. 26

THE GREAT PANHANDLE STATE FAIR

WRITTEN FOR THE NEWS BY J. L. POPE

"Bigger, Better and Grander than Ever," fails to tell all the truth about the oncoming third annual exposition and show of the Panhandle State Fair in Amarillo, September 21 to 25, in Forty counties in Northwest Texas have secured space for exhibiting soil products, and it is stated by the management that still others are expected to enter before time for final closing of the books. Forty great, fertile, productive counties, all in one show! Greater in area than some entire states, and all with surpassing heavy yields of practically every class and character of crops.

Aside from the Northwest Texas counties, there will be exhibitors from Eastern New Mexico and Western Oklahoma in special classes. The doors have been thrown open, and all who meet the requirements of the rules and regulations committee, are to be admitted. This is the mighty cosmopolitan spirit that is prompting the forward movement in the Panhandle State Fair and every other enterprise worthy of the name within the vast Plains area of the Southwest.

What the matchless State Fair at Dallas means to Texas as a whole, and incidentally to the Southwest, the Panhandle State Fair is being made to mean to Northwest Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Western Oklahoma. There are no binding, petty restrictions in connection with this expansive expository organization. It was not designed, and is not being pushed forward in the interest of any one city or small number of cities or towns. Nor is it the property of any one county or limited group of counties, but rather was launched for the benefit of all this section of country having a common character of soil, water, climate and possibilities. No argument is needed, nor will any be advanced in support of the statement that this is a peculiar country—one but little understood outside of its own boundaries. The list of adapted crops differs somewhat from that grown in other sections of the country, the soils show but slight variation as to composition, depth and fertility, water is everywhere abundant, sparklingly clear and chemically pure, while the temperature is delightfully refreshing throughout the summer months, and not oppressively cold in the winter. These statements are true of all the Panhandle and Plains Country of Texas, of Northeastern New Mexico and Southwestern and Western Oklahoma. In view of these conditions, there is a bond of kinship between each and all of the sections indicated, and a consequent need for just such a fair as that provided by the Panhandle State Fair Association.

With this field defined within their minds, the designers and builders of the Panhandle State Fair started in a small way at first, and claims the distinction of giving to the country the only venture of its kind and scope that was self-sustaining from the first season of its existence. A brief review of the history of some of the present day large fair associations in this and other states and sections, will reveal the fact that all of them were fostered through years of trials and financial difficulties. Even while this is true, the ultimate outcome shows that the ventures were worthy to live and prosper, and as the people increased in their appreciation and patronage, the range of usefulness grew space, until the annual exposition and shows are fixtures of greatest worth. How much more valuable is the Panhandle State Fair, which does not come as an indigent, begging its friends for support, but rather with results in the form of net earnings? This husky youngster leaped at a single bound to the dizzy height of financial success, and is now extending its lusty arms to all surrounding territory and lifting its trumpet-like voice in invitation: "Come, and we will make of this fair one of the greatest in all the country!"

Is this the attitude of a weakling? No. It is the action of a young giant in whose veins leaps the vibrant blood of able forebears! The Panhandle State Fair will show to the throngs coming here this year that which will startle the admiration of the most stoic and pessimistic.

$12,000 in Cash Prizes.

Twelve thousand dollars in cash prizes! Not bad, is it? Experts who have engaged for many years in the management of expository work, declare this to be the best showing ever known in connection with a fair association two years from the date of its first attraction. That is certainly "some endorsement!"

But the management of the Panhandle State Fair Association comes forward with the reminder that the $12,000 in cash prizes falls far short of representing the full list of awards. There are many special premiums, covering various characters of entries, given by those who have grown to appreciate unsurpassed work of the fair, on behalf of this beautiful, altitudinous, fertile and productive country.

Merchants and manufacturers have vied with each other in the placing of awards at the disposal of the officers of the association, and it is stated that the range for competition has been greatly enlarged as compared with last year, and yet every department, division and phase of work has been covered by prizes.

So extensive, indeed, is the showing of prizes, that the management states the publication of all of them within the premium list was impossible.

HANDSOME SILVER TROPHIES

An array of handsome silver loving cups is now on display, so that the competitors in the various lines may have a foreknowledge of the beautiful prizes for which they are to compete.

Never has a more elegant line of cups been shown in the Southwest, than the one now in possession of the Panhandle State Fair, for distribution among those who enter in the various classes. Art work in silver, from the best manufacturers in the United States, has been drawn together through which to express the esteem of the officers of the association for those who compete in the show.

Cups large, cups medium sized and cups small, all gleaming in their beauty, are a challenge to the ambitious exhibitor. They say: "We are yours for the taking—come with your best, and win!"

TRANSPORTATION FACILITIES

All railroads entering Amarillo have made exceptionally attractive rates to and from the fair, and this fact lends assurance that the attendance from the first day to the final close, will be large. When the trains discharge their thousands of passengers at the stations, street cars and autos will be in readiness to receive the visitors and take them without loss of time to the fair grounds.

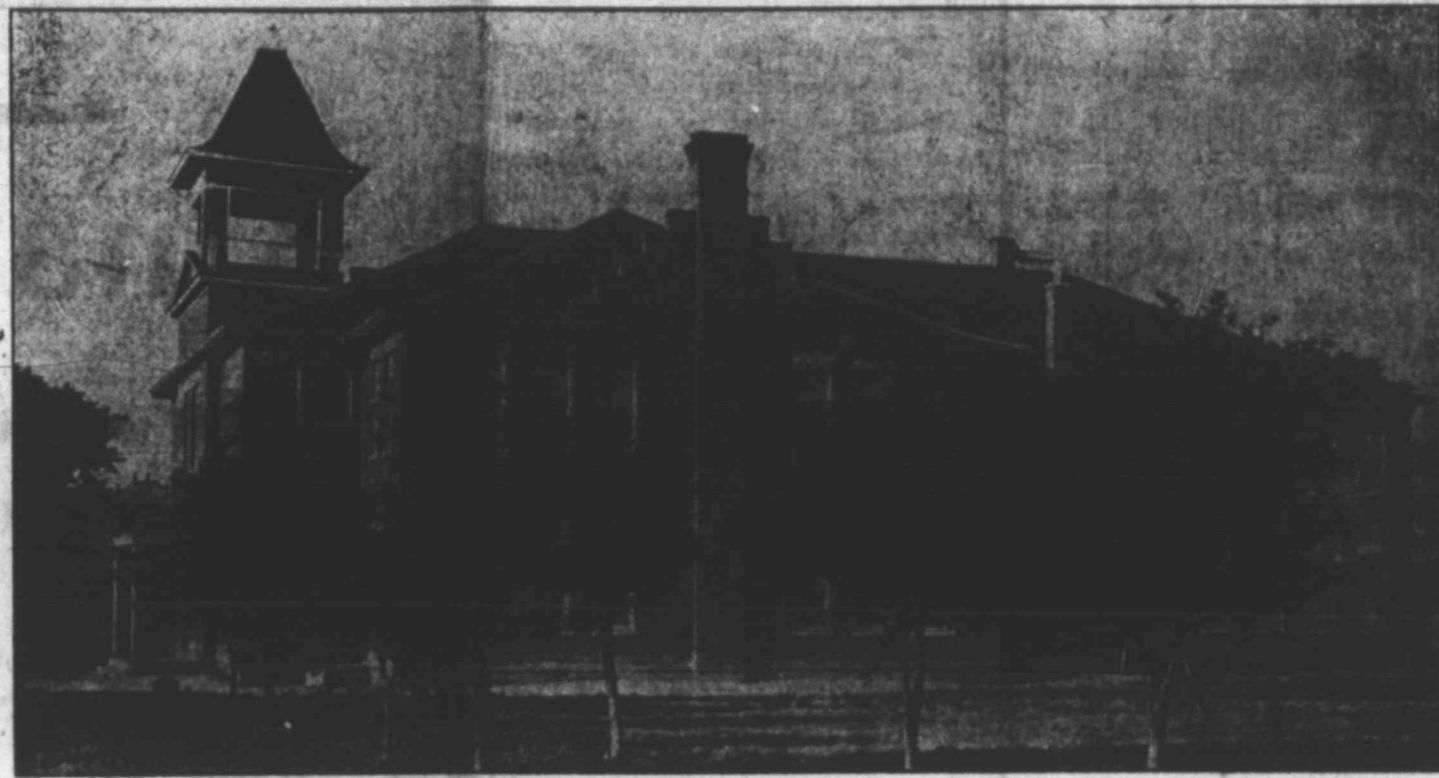

The Amarillo Street Railway Company has placed additional cars into service, so that congestion will not exist as heretofore. The schedules have been arranged all over the city to fit into movements of the crowds at the fair grounds. The cars will be manned in such way as to give the greatest possible degree of comfort to the passengers, and the management of the company has stated that it will spare no pains to render the best of service to the visitors.

Automobile service will be much larger and better than ever before, so that those who have need to make special and very quick trips to or from the stations or to different portions of the city, may do so without loss of time by waiting for schedules necessary in the operation of the street cars.

NO ADVANCE IN RATES

It is definitely announced that there will be no advance in rates for entertainment at the various hotels, restaurants, boarding and rooming houses.

The hotels, restaurants and boarding houses have added to their facilities for entertainment to such an extent that there is not a possibility of overcrowding for these five busy, happy days.

In addition to the meals available at all hours day and night, in the city proper, there will be numerous places within the fair grounds where food and drink will be dispensed.

The fact is, that the committees in charge have bestirred themselves to see that no possibility of a lack of service shall be present when the throngs gather from over the country to attend the expository enterprise of which the entire Panhandle and Plains are proud.

WILL FEED MULTITUDES.

In behalf of the citizens of Amarillo, the Board of City Development, the Merchants' Association and the Panhandle State Fair Association have joined hands and will prepare a monstrous barbecue for the feeding of the multitudes in attendance on the Fair September 22.

Noted for their rare capacity for big things, the people of the Panhandle and Plains Country of Texas, are not content to confine themselves to beaten paths. Responsive to this tendency, the citizens of Amarillo demanded of the committees something novel and attractive, and, as a result, the barbecue is announced.

Yes, it's going to be just an old-fashioned barbecue. Luscious, tender savory meats, juicy and tempting, with all those "little trimmings" making the feast one fit for kings and queens. Are you invited? Yes, with your wife, your sons and daughters, their cousins, uncles and aunts, together with the chums and sweethearts from your county and all the counties on either side of you.

Thousands of pounds of meat, thousands of loaves of bread, pickles, peppers and sauces have been secured for this "family reunion" on the second day of the fair and exposition. Those in charge of this big feature have made but one request: "Come yourself, and be sure to bring somebody with you!"

The entertainment is free and the people of Amarillo take this means of expressing their appreciation of the visitors from all over the Panhandle and Plains Country, as well as those from other sections of Texas and the various states represented.

Music will gladden the hours, blending with the welcome from the hearts of Amarillo's citizens. Nothing is being omitted that is in any way calculated to add to the pleasureableness of the occasion. To attempt to give the entire program for the day would be to take all of the space allotted for this article. There will be something doing every minute—something to amuse, entertain and edify the visitors.

In connection with this great dinner, the visitors will be made to realize that the fair and exposition are not the property of Amarillo, but of all this stretching, vast Southwestern Plains country. The spirit of the big family at an annual reunion is the one that will pervade the atmosphere on this the second day of the fair. From the smallest to the greatest will be there, and welcomed. This will not only be an immense family gathering, but it will be a democratic concourse, in which classes will have no consideration. It will be everybody's meeting, with plenty to eat, and that, too, of the best.

GOOD BEEF CATTLE IN THE PANHANDLE

The following reference is made by J. L. Pope of the agricultural department of the Santa Fe Railroad in the Miami (Texas) Chief regarding the cattle of C. O. Keiser, who has twice broken all Texas records on the Kansas City market with young cattle lands near Canyon:

Since farming first began in the Panhandle and Plains country of Texas the objection has been raised that corn cannot be grown as successfully here as it is in the so-called "Corn Belt" of the United States, and for that reason, it was maintained that beef, pork and mutton would never be extensively finished in this territory.

So seriously have some feeders and finishers taken these statements, that they in all honesty of purpose have echoed this false assumption, lending to it the dignity of their endorsement. But the time-old fact that no statement has ever created a truth, where the principal does not exist, applies with equal force here.

Broad minded, observing men, after reaching this great plains area of Texas and seeing the kafirs grow, yielding their rich harvest of forage and grain, determined to experiment and thus reach unbiased and dependable conclusions as to the value of these grain-forage crops as builders of finished meats. Among this list of men, and prominently identified with the leaders of the movement contesting the kafirs, is C. O. Keiser of Canyon. Mr. Keiser has acquired extensive holdings in Randall County, near Canyon, and on the cultivated areas of some of these properties he grew vast tonnages of succulent forage and nutritive grain in the form of the kafirs. Mr. Keiser came to the conclusion that crops producing so abundantly must of necessity have their place in the feeding plan of nature, and so busied himself with the task of bringing the cattle and feedstuff together, with the result that he connected with a liberal slice of clear profit through the sale of his beef on the Kansas City market.

That was the beginning, and since that time Mr. Keiser has gone steadily forward with the demonstration of successful feeding and finishing of beef animals with kafir grain and forage. Through this demonstrational work, Mr. Keiser has convinced many of the larger finishers of the Middle West that kafir grain and forage is in all things equal to the fodder and grain of corn, as used in other sections of the country. Nor have the good influences of Mr. Keiser's work closed with their appeal to the larger feeders and finishers, but have perhaps accomplished more by illustrating the possibilities of such combination of the grain-forage crops and meat-producing animals of the Panhandle and Plains country of Texas to the small farmers and stockmen.

Each succeeding year finds the meat finishing industry increasing within all this section, a fact due to the activities of Mr. Keiser and others who used their intellects in arriving at definite conclusions at the end of investigation of experimentation.

AMARILLO IN GALA ATTIRE

Expressive of the honor she feels in entertaining the visitors to the Panhandle State Fair, Amarillo will don her gayest and best attire. National colors will be seen during the daytime in flags and bunting, and at night they will be wrought in countless electric lights. Present day conditions in foreign lands lend an added spice to patriotism, and the showing of the red, white and blue will be met with a feeling of appreciation nothing short of enthusiastic.

Business houses have subscribed to the generally prevalent determination to make the decorative scheme complete. Public buildings and private residences will likewise evidence the spirit of the occasion. Nor will the decorative schemes be limited to the buildings, but the streets will be strung with decorative paraphernalia, telling the story of joy shared in by each and every resident of Amarillo by reason of the presence of the throngs within her gates.

Flaming words of welcome will be shaped by electric current as it traces a network of livid wires. Flags will repeat this message of glad welcome, and bunting speaking allegiance to the deathless principles of the Republic, will retell that all this is for the pleasure of the visitors within the gates.

EACH INDIVIDUAL A COMMITTEE

Each individual in Amarillo has agreed to act as a committee of one to meet the requirements of the visitors during the big attraction. The comfort of those in attendance is the first consideration, and all are determined to lend themselves to this end. Visitors are invited to ask questions of any one, relative to the city, the fair or the surrounding country, and are assured of answer to the best ability of the party questioned.

This fair is greatly esteemed in Amarillo as a whole, and the people are working together so that the institution may prove valuable to every man, woman and child in all of this vast country. "Do not withhold questions in your quest for information, but let yourself be heard," is the request of the "committee."

FOUR THOUSAND CHRISTIANS IN CITY

As a result of a recent church census in Amarillo, 4,000 people were found who declare themselves to be Christians, and of this number 3,200 are actually affiliated with local congregations in the city.

These people worship in buildings which together with the land upon which they stand represent hundreds of thousands of dollars. These church workers join in the general invitation workers join in the general invitation to will gladly welcome the visitors at stated services, at the different buildings.

Pastors of the churches covet the opportunity to meet and to know as many of their denomination brethren as possible during the fair. They see in the expository enterprise a means to great good, and express the hope and belief that the results will be generally helpful.

SCHOOLS INVITE INSPECTION

Amarillo public schools, Amarillo Military Academy and St. Mary's Academy, each and all, invite inspection by interested parties during fair week. Amarillo is prouder of no one phase of accomplishment within her limits, than she is of that along educational lines.

The student body aggregates 2,700 and the probabilities are that this number will be outgrown for the term beginning after the holidays. Special attention of all those who are interested is invited to the standing of the officers and teachers in the various schools, to the equipment of the institutions, and to the work actually being accomplished.

LETTERS FROM HOME DAILIES

Through their excellent news services, the papers of Amarillo, the Daily Panhandle in the afternoon and the Daily News in the morning, will redouble their energies during fair week to omit no item of interest from any point in and out of the state, thus giving a "letter from home every day" to the visitors.

This feature is not a little one—that will be appreciated by those visitors who, even while having a good time, like to keep posted on the state and outside world events. To add to the fullest measure to this facility, both of the papers will have distributing agencies on the grounds, so that the visitors may be supplied without going downtown. Repertorial representatives of both papers will be available regularly, and there will be no difficulty in getting items of interest into the public prints.

As developing agencies of the entire Panhandle and Plains country, the newspapers of this and other cities and towns stand at the head. In other words: Newspapers are the friends of the people and country as a whole, they are offering themselves as the servants of the masses and are never so well pleased as when they are of use to humanity. With this fact well in mind, and a desire for service, those engaged in newspaper enterprise want to be used in the great scheme of making this expositional enterprise the most perfect possible.

If it's information that's wanted, ask a newspaper man. If it's news that you want to see printed, tell it to the newspaper man. If you've lost something and want to find it, the newspaper man will help you—he's everybody's friend. Amarillo's newspaper men are just this kind and will be glad to know you. They're helping to make the country, city and the fair what they are, and hope to become.

FRATERNITIES WELCOME BROTHERS

Officers of the numerous fraternal organizations add their word of special welcome to the general hospitality extended by the city as a whole, and state that their lodge homes will be open for the reception and entertainment of affiliated brothers from over the country.

The list is so long that it would be impossible to give it, but it is sufficient to say that all of the fraternities have representation in Amarillo, and the affiliated ones will be happy to meet the visitors, regardless of the points from which they may come.

THREE MILLIONS IN BANKS

Amarillo's four great financial institutions: First National Bank, Amarillo National Bank, National Bank of Commerce and the Amarillo Bank and Trust Company, with combined deposits aggregating somewhat more than three millions of dollars, join in this hearty and cheery welcome.

These banking houses, of whose record and business career a city of any size might well be proud, ask that every visitor attending the fair make them a call, the bankers stating that they will feel honored. Amarillo's banks have grown with her, and today she points to them with pardonable pride, and recommends them to all who seek bank connections.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

Theatres of Amarillo announce that they have provided special attractions for each day and night of the fair. The services of world-renowned artists have been enlisted for the entertainment of the masses of humanity here for the fair.

Programs holding the boards in the principal cities of the country have been secured, and the lovers of this character of entertainment are assured of only the best. The playhouses of the city conform to all of the requirements of the sanitary and fire prevention boards of the state, and the public may attend these performances with the knowledge that greatest safety and comfort have been provided.

Special music has been secured for each of the theatres, and other features added, so that nothing will be lacking when the crowds gather for entertainment.

DAILY ARENA PROGRAM

Few matters, perhaps, are so vital as that of judging of livestock. This is true in practically every fair, and especially is it so in the Panhandle and Plains country so strongly represented in the Panhandle State Fair.

In view of this importance, the following arena program is given:
ALL JUDGING TO BEGIN AT 9:30 A. M. DAILY.

WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 22.
 Cattle—Short Horns and Dairy.
 Horses—Heavy Draught, Jacks, Mules and Jennets.

THURSDAY, SEPT. 23.
 Sheep—
 Hogs—Duroc-Jersey and Poland China.
 Horses—Saddle and Shetland Ponies.

Cattle—Herefords and Baby Beef.
FRIDAY, SEPT. 24.
 Cattle—Aberdeen Angus and all car load stuff.
 Horses—Roadsters and Ponies.
 Hogs—Berkshires, Chester White and Baby Pork.

SATURDAY, SEPT. 25.
 Ladies' Riding Contest.
 1:30 p. m.—Grand Parade of all prize winners, horses, jacks, mules, jennets and cattle in the arena.

NOTE—The management reserves the right to withhold premiums of any winner refusing to participate in this parade.

GREAT HORSE SECTION

Despite the fact that there seems a possibility of an early approximation of the "horseless age," dreamed of and predicted by even men of note, the Panhandle State Fair will show one of the greatest aggregations of horses ever brought together in the Southwest.

This showing will include heavy draft horses, saddle horses, roadsters, Shetland ponies, jacks, jennets and mules. In the first named class there will be numerous recognized divisions under which animals of the breed named may be offered, and this obtains throughout the entire range of horses, mules, jacks and jennets.

The management of the fair states that the number as well as character of horses for the oncoming show has not been surpassed in all this country. Attention is called to the marked increase in numbers and leading breeders and fanciers throughout all this portion of the Southwest will have representation.

It is probable that the offering of Shetland ponies will be the most attractive thing on the grounds for the little folks. The array of these will be very large, and it is said that a high degree of perfection has been reached among these "small people of the horse world."

During the horrible war now being waged in European countries, the mule has asserted his superiority over the horse in endurance in many instances, and this fact has called added attention and admiration to the "hybrid animal," as a beast of burden, and an ever present aid to mankind. A fine display of mules will be offered at the fair.

JUVENILES WILL HAVE PLACE.

In all of these farm, orchard and garden products exhibits, the boys and girls will have an important place. This is fortunate, for the boys and girls during the past few years have led their elders into some most helpful ways along the line of better farming.

MANY "DIVINE BIRDS."

In the language of Dr. S. E. Burkhead, chaplain of the Panhandle Association of Veterans, minister in the Methodist church and educator engaged with the Clarendon College, Clarendon, Texas: "The chicken has entitled itself to the distinction of being called the 'divine bird' because of the fondness evidenced for the fowl by the ministry." Whether or not Dr. Burkhead's deductions are well based, the chicken, which has many friends among humankind, in and out of the ministry, will have a great place in the big show.

Among the chickens of swiftness already scheduled to arrive in their own private cars by special train, are the following: Buff Leghorns, Buff Orpingtons, Rhode Island Whites, Barred Plymouth Rocks, Light Brahmas, Rhode Island Reds, Anconas, and others too numerous to mention.

HANDLING FARM SUCCESSFULLY

By H. M. Bainer, Agricultural Demonstrator Santa Fe System, Amarillo, Texas.

Few questions have with such perfect right agitated the minds of thinking farmers during the past several years, as that of so handling their farms as to insure profits instead of losses. Men have turned during recent years, as never before, to the consideration of ways and means through which their revenues might be increased and incidentally their farms improved, from year to year.

These investigations have brought into close and critical scrutiny many schemes and systems of "farm management" advocated with varying fervency by different authorities, including agricultural colleges, state and national departments of agriculture and farm management organizations.

Unfortunately, there is no absolute set and invariable rule susceptible of adoption in all of that territory broadly known as "West Texas," to say nothing of the State of Texas as a whole. While this is true, it is likewise a fact that there are certain rules and phases of rules that none can afford to ignore, if success in the form of profits is the goal of final achievement. Diversification is the one item that must adapt itself, and be given place in every farm scheme in all that section known as West Texas, without regard to the holder of title to the farm. The fact is that a consideration of the profitable handling of the farm cannot differ materially whether the worker of the farm be the owner or renter of the same. The measures and means of handling embodying the ends of success for the owner will carry the same gracious fruits for the renter, and I take this occasion to say that no man is worthy to own a farm who is unmindful of his duty towards the tenant who tends his land. It is my judgment that the tenant-farmer element in Texas has in no one thing been rendered so undesirable and inefficient as through the selfish, unthinking lack of concern and pride upon the part of the land owner.

The one-crop plan, formerly almost all-prevailing, and far too much so even now, has been the undoing of both the land owner and the farmer of rented lands. It is in view of this fact that we cry "diversification" at every turn. I am not unmindful of the value and necessity of some "cash crop" on every farm, but this one should not be made the dominant feature of the scheme. In the cotton growing sections of the West Texas districts, cotton will naturally be the "cash crop," while in the wheat producing areas farther to the north, wheat is the "cash crop." But whether in the cotton or wheat districts, livestock needs must have an important place on every farm where success in greatest measure is that for which the farmer seeks. The crops throughout all this territory called for convenience "West Texas," are largely feed crops, consisting in the main of kafir, milo maize, feterita, sorghum, Sudan grass, oats, barley, speltz, emmer, and, in favored localities, alfalfa.

The most profitable handling of these crops make the inclusion of livestock inescapable. Through beef, pork, mutton, dairy products, poultry and eggs, the feed crops of all this territory is readily marketed at one hundred per cent greater prices than obtain for the crops in their original forms. Nor may we, with a spirit of fairness, end our comparisons and deductions merely with the doubled cash income from the feed crops handled through livestock and poultry as compared to selling them in their raw state, for the upkeep of soil fertility is an item of great value. This item is lost entirely where the crops are harvested and sold off the farm for cash. Then, too, there is the item of equalization of labor, which so readily adjusts itself in connection with livestock, but which is impossible with the mere growing, harvesting and selling off in original form, immense tonnages of feedstuffs.

The land owner must diversify if he works his own farm, and in the event he rents his farm to a tenant, he must provide means making diversification possible to his renter. This leads us

UP TO THE MINUTE HOUSE FURNISHERS

"Walk a block and Save a Dollar"

GREAT SWINE DIVISION.

A simple glance at the forecast for the fair gives absolute assurance that the "hog, the farmer's friend," is to have an important place in the exposition oncoming. An absolute "hog aristocracy" is assured, and it is doubtful of these remote offsprings of that herd mentioned in New Testament history, would be proud of their forebears, could the history be imparted to them.

Duroc-Jersey—In the catalogue and premium list of the fair association the "red-rooter" is given first place. Just why this is true is not known, but it is probably because some one breed had to be placed first, or maybe just because. The Duroc, for convenience of the award and the benefit of the attendance at the fair, finds its family so divided that numerous pieces of coin will be lavished upon its numerous members.

Poland China—This bruette breed of the swine tribe comes next to the sunshiny blondes mentioned in the first section of the swine division, and shares about equally in the cash prizes. The best farms of the Panhandle and Plains country have obtained admission for the choicest of their offerings, and the admirers of the Poland China will have a real treat as the result of a visit to the fair.

Berkshires—Despite his somewhat impudent nose, the Berkshire is listed for an elegant showing, and will have a large number of visitors to call him "a perfect beauty." Nor is the Berkshire billed for reward alone in the form of flowery words of endorsement, but substantial coin has been laid aside to pay him for his visit.

Chester White—The Chester White, a perfect Albino, with its glistening white hair and pink-tinted skin, has been booked for a place in this list of "hog bluebloods," and will doubtless be the center of attention.

Baby Pork—Animals in this class will be entered only by boys and girls, and a total cash premium list of $50 is offered. This sum will doubtless prove sufficient to bring out a goodly array of well-rounded young porkers.

WOOL AND MEAT SHEEP.

Wool and meat bearing sheep are each year finding themselves in greater demand. The fair management has taken cognizance of this fact and has assured a liberal showing of animals in the various classifications through offering substantial cash prizes for a showing at the oncoming exposition.

FARM AND PASTURE DIVISION.

Grains, seeds, grasses and general forage plants are to be given an extensive space in the fair's showing. This will include wheat, oats, barley, millet, speltz, kafir, milo maize, feterita, Sudan grass, alfalfa, the various native grasses, etc. Each of these and others not mentioned will take down good cash prizes.

FRUITS AND VEGETABLES.

With a range almost impossible to enumerate, fruits and vegetables will be shown, and each in its class is eligible to goodly proportioned prizes. A premium has been placed upon every plant from the parsley to the gourdvine.

Irrigated—A separate section has been provided for the irrigated and the dry-farm products, and these two will not be brought into competition with each other. The same list, or practically the same list, will be shown in both divisions.

SPECIALS ON BROOM CORN.

The Panhandle Warehouse Association has tendered a handsome silver trophy worth $25, and this is supplemented by cash and other substantial premiums for broom corn of good quality. In this class the entire State of Texas, the State of Oklahoma west of the 99th degree Meridian, and the entire states of New Mexico, Arizona and Colorado.

WHERE EDIBLES ARE SUPREME.

In the culinary division there will be offered an almost endless array of good things to eat, or of things good to eat. Breads, cakes and pies, and this list may be read from right to left or from left to right with an equal degree of propriety according to the age and appetite of the reader, will be offered by the ladies of this entire section, in the hope of receiving first, second or third awards.

Jellies, preserves and pickles find themselves grouped, but not jumbled, in the next classification, and it is stated that the offering has never been so replete as for the oncoming exhibition.

Preserved Fruits and Vegetables:

Fruits and vegetables that have undergone fancy special preservation have been given a class all to themselves and will be found to warrant such consideration.

In this division there is a special class in which young girls may compete for the prizes, and this, too, will prove attractive.

PLANTS AND FLOWERS.

What man or woman is there whose soul has not been made glad by the presence of flowers? The silence is sufficient answer to satisfy all that there is not an individual on earth today without appreciation in greater or less degree for flowers and shrubs. In view of this fact there will be gladness when it is known that there is a special section for the showing of flowers and shrubbery at the fair. So varied is the list of entries in this class that time, space and a certain lack of definite knowledge of the individuals to be entered, combine to eliminate the naming of varieties and strains to be offered. Cut flowers, potted blooming and foliage plants will find themselves vieing with each other for the admiring glances of the visitors.

CREAM, BUTTER, CHEESE.

The dairy products division will be another around which a great deal of interest will center. This is true, for there has been a great awakening to the importance of this phase of work throughout the country within the past few months. The ideals have been heightened and broadened, and the consequent demand for superior grades in the various products. This is one reason for the concentration of interest in this division, and the other is that there has always been and there doubtless always will be a premium placed on perfection in any and every phase of human effort and in the handling of all materials.

EDUCATIONAL DEPARTMENT.

Under this heading there will be a great showing of special interest to every student, and each and every parent of a student. Mention of this department has not been withheld to the last through any desire to underrate its importance, but it simply "happens" that way. Schools of the Panhandle and

Plains country have been invited to participate in the work of this department, and it is understood that many of them have accepted the invitation, and will be here with a goodly showing.

THAT RACING PROGRAM.

That there will be four great racing events during the fair there cannot be a question: Afternoons of Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with some of the fastest animals in the entire Southwest participating. Purses in this division are exceptionally heavy, and this fact is sufficient to warrant the statement that winners on other tracks will be here in goodly numbers.

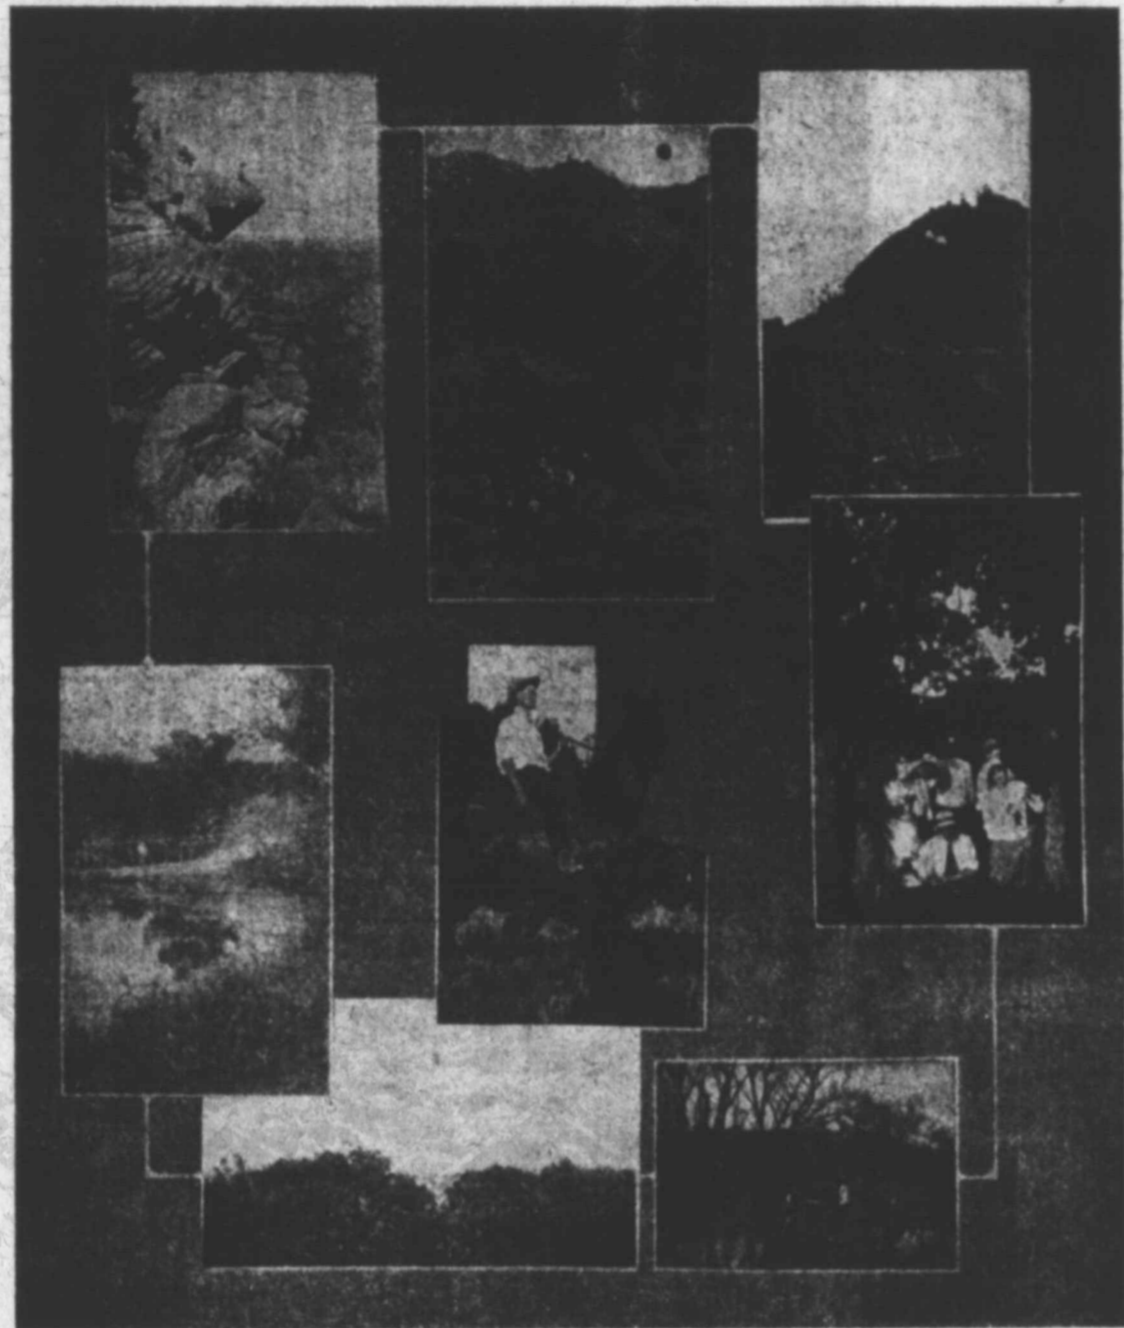

GREAT AMUSEMENTS PROGRAM.

It is stated by the fair management that the special amusements program will be the greatest ever seen in this country, and made up of a grand aggregation of units rounding out a whole so sumptuous and inviting as to baffle description. It is claimed that there is something in the medley well suited to each and every individual, regardless of the range of desire.

Those who have investigated this attraction claim that there will be no "rain checks" demanded and no disappointment expressed in connection with this rich aggregation of attractions.

TRACTORS AND FARM MACHINERY

It has been said: "If Northwest Texas farmers could milk cows on horseback, they would be the greatest dairymen on earth!" Well, that is probably true, but the Northwest Texas man has no monopoly on the desire to do the greatest volume of work with the least expenditure of personal labor. The manufacturers have taken cognizance of this general tendency and are lending their efforts toward hastening the day when man and beast will be relieved of much of the present labor of farming.

Tractors are combining with improved implements for cultivation of the soil, and these will be shown on and off the fair grounds. Numerous individual demonstrations will be given, tending to show the adaptability of the tractor in connection with the tasks of the individual farmer.

From the single plow to the immense gang, dealers in Amarillo will show the prospective customer the good points of the numerous implements representing the highest achievement of the best manufacturers. In this demonstrational effort the local dealers are to be joined by special factory and road representatives, so that the interested visitors may come with every assurance of learning just the things in which they are interested.

From the least to the greatest need and desire of the farmer and the house-keeper has been anticipated in stocking up as an auxiliary to the big expositional attraction by the hardware and implement men of Amarillo.

AUTOMOBILE DISPLAYS

Automobiles of every make, capacity, price and description will be offered for the inspection of the visitors attending the fair. Dealers will have in addition to displays on the grounds, their stores and show rooms continually open for the inspection of those within the city.

This is an age of new quirks, with all of the attractive little turns that make more serviceable the mechanisms of the auto, and these will be displayed and demonstrated for those interested. The models of the various cars are becoming more attractive, and the prices are on the downward trend, rendering most seductive the appeal of the "motor or horseless age."

If you arrive in your own car and want to know about the roads into and out of the city, or connecting you with still other points on your onward journey, ask the "automobile man." There are logs of all prominent routes, and the dealers and agents will gladly give you the information desired.

From the musical little machine with "side-car" attachments through the line to the immense big trap with its multitudinous cylinders, they're all here. Demonstrators are in readiness to "show you," a la Missouri.

HAMMER AND SAW HARMONIES

Nor has Amarillo, the Metropolis of the Great Plains Country, contented herself with the mere music of the usual and well-known instruments, but has assured the "harmonies of the hammer and the saw" in connection with her great building movement.

Forces of men will be engaged on the $200,000 Federal building, and just across the street the men working for the enlargement of the Potter County Courthouse will be seen. Added to these will be heard and seen the men busy with Santa Fe general office extension and numerous other building contracts in different sections of the city.

Amarillo has felt and is feeling the need for greater and better buildings, and the sound of the hammer and the saw are becoming familiar, as building after building forces itself upward. In both business and residential quarters many improvements are under way, and it is the expressed hope that all visitors may take the time to give the city the "once over" before returning to their homes.

Attention is called to the "White Way" along Polk and cross streets, and to the growing attractiveness of the city in many features. The trees, the lawns and the private homes also bid for a share of the attention of those who are for this brief time within the city.

The very streets and sidewalks offer their appeal to those who are interested in the establishment of a metropolis and its expansion within the vast plains area of Northwest Texas, for it is stated as a fact that no city of similar size in all this country is better provided for in this way than is Amarillo.

be the watchword, and this other thing: "Nothing is too good for our friends," and close with the statement: "We're friends to everybody!"

In the men's sections of the stores the range will be from a shoestring to an overcoat, and with the ladies from a shoe button to a "creation" of the milliner's art. Whether the visitor buys or not, the welcome is extended just the same. The merchants state that their establishments belong, in part, to every man, woman and child in the Panhandle and Plains country, and they want all to come in for at least a short visit during the stay here.

It will matter little what the article is, if it's new and desirable, all that the visitor will have to do, is to look about and behold. As never before in the history of Amarillo the merchants have placed their standards at the top for quality and style and at the bottom for cost. Why?

You want to hear Elman, Kreisler or Kubelik play?

Of course -- everybody does, because the rarest thing in art is mastery. It is the thing which is given to the chosen few and then only after a lifetime of effort, but you destroy all that when you attempt to play the records on any instrument other than a Victrola, as a Victrola is the ONLY instrument that will produce their records absolutely true to life.

That's why we say "Always use Victor Machines with Victor Records and Victor Needles -- the combination. There is no other way to get the unequalled Victor tone" in accord with the artists' interpretation. Victrolas $15 to $250. Terms to suit your convenience, if desired.

BIG PURSES FOR CATTLE

Naturally a cattle raising section, the Panhandle and Plains Country of Texas will doubtless receive added impetus in this line from the offerings in the various breeds at the oncoming fair in Amarillo.

Herefords have a prominent place in the list of entrants, and will doubtless attract a great deal of attention. Every classification offers premiums of great worth, and it is stated by the management that each and all of these will be filled. Not only in this section of the country but over the entire cattle producing area of the United States, interest is being evidenced in this division of the cattle department. Cash, cups and ribbons are awaiting the winning in the showing for this breed of cattle.

The foregoing is with reference to individuals with one division for herds, but there is also a section in which car-lots will receive especial attention. This is the first year for this division and will doubtless become a permanent feature with the fair. The premiums in this division are liberal and attractive and are so arranged as to cover animals of both sexes and the various ages. These premiums are offered by C. O. Keiser, well-known breeder and raiser of "white-faces," Canyon, Texas; Bowles Livestock Commission Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Drum Commission Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Range Cattle Commission Company, Kansas City, Missouri; The American Hereford Breeders' Association; W. L. Yost & Byers Commission Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Swift & Henry Livestock Commission Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Kansas City Stockyards Company, Kansas City, Missouri; Clay Robinson & Company Livestock Commissioners, Kansas City, Missouri; National Livestock Commission Company, Kansas

City, Missouri; Panhandle Hereford Breeders' Association, and others.

Shorthorns—Next in the list to the list to the Herefords comes the Shorthorns, for which breed in the various sections liberal premiums are offered. These premiums, like the ones offered for the first breed mentioned, are from associations and individuals as well as corporations, chief among them being the Shorthorn Breeders' Association with $200, supplementing the regular awards of the fair management.

First there is shown a list of individuals, and after that comes the consideration for car lot stuff. The management of the fair makes the statement that the interest in each and every phase of these exhibits on all of the leading breeds surpasses the wildest dreams of even the most optimistic.

Aberdeen Angus—As has been said in connection with other breeds, outside interests have given liberally to the premium purse, the greatest of these being the American Aberdeen Angus Association with $328.50.

These animals are divided into the various classes, each being covered by attractive awards. Car lot stuff in this breed is also given a prominent place and the prizes offered are substantial and ample.

Baby Beef—This class, in which boys and girls only will be permitted to enter animals, carries with it awards aggregating $65 in cash, and will doubtless bring a number of very showy animals into the exhibition.

Dairy Breeds—This division of the cattle showing promises to be well represented, and the premiums are ample to warrant a keen interest. Just at this time when the rank and file of farmers are determining to include a few dairy cows in their scheme of general farm diversity, this showing of dairy animals is especially seasonable.

LADIES' TEXTILE DIVISION.

Any newspaper writer having the temerity to attempt to minutely follow out the delicate intricacies of this division, would indeed have entitled himself to classification that that aggregation that "rush in where angels fear to tread." Old ladies have been given a wide range of avenues of entry to this division, and then come those classes for laces, knitting and crocheting, plain sewing, fancy sewing, embroidery, and work of practically every kind.

DECORATIVE AND FINE ARTS.

Under this division will be displayed the handiwork of artists of various ages and degrees of talent and experience. The range of work with reference to material, subject and treatment, is far too exhaustive to be given minute handling at this time. It will prove a feast for the art lovers of all this section of the country.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.

Almost Like a Face-to-Face Chat

Mr. Jones had gone to a distant city on business to be away for several days, and had left his wife on the farm with no companion, except a small child.

But she was not lonesome, for each day her husband called up for a few minutes' chat by Long Distance Bell Telephone.

To Drive Out Malaria And Build Up The System Take the Old Standard GROVE'S TASTELESS chill TONIC. You know what you are taking, as the formula is printed on every label, showing it is Quinine and Iron in a tasteless form. The Quinine drives out malaria, the Iron builds up the system. 50 cents

Successful Farming.

again to the statement that whatever plan is good for the land owner who tends his own farm, cannot be other than desirable for the renter. Through a system of rotation of crops, a diversification including cattle, hogs, chickens, and where conditions are at all favorable, at least a few sheep, in addition to the work animals, the land is continually improved, instead of depleted of its fertility, and the cash income has a marked tendency to become steady rather than irregular and far between returns, as is the case with the one-crop fallacy.

In many instances the owner of the land, if renting his property to another, will find it profitable and advantageous to all parties concerned to make some arrangement through which he can furnish his tenant with livestock, or help him to get started in its raising, in some other way. He will also find it decidedly to the advantage of both parties to the contract, where livestock is kept, to assist his tenant if necessary to build a silo, a shelter for his hogs or dairy cows as well as his work animals. It is becoming a fact generally recognized that no West Texas farm is complete without its own dairy cows, hogs, chickens and garden. The family living must come through the chickens and the dairy cows, the hogs and the garden, while the crops raised must be turned into something that can again be transformed into groceries, clothing, furniture, books, taxes, interest, farm equipments and permanent improvements.

With livestock and poultry as an ever ready and dependable help, general running expenses will be met, and often a small bank account accumulated in addition. Sales coming from cash crops and increase in livestock, may then be applied to payments on land, or farm improvements.

Diversified farming including livestock as already indicated, will go far towards serving the otherwise vexatious labor problem. Something is wrong with that farming system that calls for a large force of helpers during one season of the year, and that does not have enough work to keep the owner or renter busy during some other particular season.

The question of soil fertility, while perhaps not so pertinent and imperative in West Texas, as in some other sections of the state, is one that demands an answer. This problem cannot be economically solved through the application of expensive commercial fertilizers to the land, but only through the rotation and diversification of crops and animals and poultry on every farm. Then, by applying the right cultural methods, those facilitating the catching and holding of moisture, tending at the same time to conserve it, West Texas soils will support several farmers on the same area that is now supporting only one. By the term "right cultural methods" for West Texas those who understand the conditions and possibilities of the section recognize the worth of early deep plowing or listing, deep and frequent cultivations, plenty of space between the rows and between individual plants in the rows, and better seeds of the most thoroughly adapted crops.

With an adherence to the general suggestions herein indicated, for in a brief paper such as this, only suggestions are possible, success should attend the energetic and intelligent efforts of every farmer in West Texas, be he owner or renter of the land. Let no man on a West Texas farm overlook the fact that his livestock is growing while he of necessity sleeps, and it is this silent, persistent and steady growth that shapes itself into a steady cash income. Through this method many farmers in West Texas are placing themselves on a "cash basis," an experience as delightful as it is new. There are numerous instances in West Texas of farmers having balances to their credits with the grocers and dry goods men, through the growing of chickens and the keeping of dairy cows, where formerly under the strictly staple one-crop plan, they always had a deficit. The condition described as a cash basis is possible to every farmer, be he land owner or renter, and is not confined to the favored few, and will come to all when the faith of the people on West Texas farms is transferred from the "cash crop" and is pinned to the cow, the hog and the hen.

Sullenger Trial Ended.

The second trial of Rube Sullenger ended Saturday morning in a mistrial, the jury being unable to reach a conclusion after several hours deliberation. Sullenger was convicted and sentenced Wednesday for two years on the indictment of cow theft. He was tried on another indictment for the same offense, which resulted in a hung jury.
