

ALL READY FOR THE BIG PROSPERITY DAY

Next Tuesday Will be Greatest Bargain Day in the History of the City of Canyon.

Coming to Canyon Tuesday, Feb. 29 to the Big Prosperity Day?

Sure, you cannot afford to stay away. There are too many red hot bargains awaiting the people for any of them to stay at home.

First of all the business houses have a great number of bargains for the day. Prices are at or below wholesale cost.

Second, the business houses are going to give you a chance to save 10c for every mile you travel in coming to Canyon on that date.

Third, there will be a big auction sale on the south side of the square in the afternoon, in charge of J. D. Gamble.

Every resident of Randall county is expected to come to Canyon and take advantage of the great bargains.

Bohemian Girl Postponed.

Owing to so many things taking place in the city during the next three months—up until commencement time—it was decided Tuesday night by the Canyon Choral Club to postpone the giving of the opera, "Bohemian Girl," until the summer.

The club and the Normal chorus will continue to practice at the court house on Tuesday nights, working up the "Loreley," which the combined choruses will give on April 22 at a public reception to be given by the Normal.

Come to Randall County This Year.

Grand Jury Organized.

The following members of the grand jury were empaneled by Judge Hugh Umphres Monday morning: T. J. Campbell, foreman, J. B. Hensley, J. H. Crowley, Peter Meyer, J. B. Gamble, Andy Costley, C. M. Reynolds, E. P. Wesley, R. W. Bruce, A. L. Earle, C. L. Gordon-Cummings, Ed Harrell.

Judge Umphres stated to the jury that too often the grand juries returned a large number of bills for misdemeanors, which could have been looked after by the county and justice court officials, thus signifying that the grand jury was spending its time in going into trivial things, while it should have been investigating matters of more importance.

Advertising Summer School.

The News is completing 7,500 thirty-six page bulletins for the West Texas State Normal College, which is published to give the students information regarding the summer work of the school.

The desire to work in the most modern and newest building in the state, wholly equipped with new materials, and the growing popularity of the Panhandle summer climate makes it certain that nearly 1000 students will be here for the session.

New Picture Screen Installed.

The Photo Playhouse has a new Gold King screen, which they just installed this week. It is the latest invention in the motion picture world, being a screen developed after thorough scientific investigations.

Vetesk Gets Big Beef.

J. M. Vetesk stated yesterday that he had just received at his meat market from Joe Beckman a steer that weighed 855 pounds, dressed and that he paid Mr. Beckman $94.05 for the beef.

DISTRICT COURT BEGINS MONDAY

Not Much Business for the First Week but Getting Ready for a Busy Term.

The following cases were disposed of this week in district court:

L. T. Lester vs. Kathryn Hutson, continued.

L. T. Lester vs W W Gatewood, continued.

W. L. Garrison vs Leavell Realty Co. and T. B. Slaughter, continued.

Cedar Valley Land and Cattle Co. vs H. T. Stewart, C. W. Jacobson and D. M. Stewart, continued.

The Frank Haggart case, moved here from Potter county, was set for March 13.

Mrs. Eliza J. Turner vs. J. N. Vance et al, was dismissed.

A. Allison vs. Mrs. Love Bain et ux, judgment for the plaintiff.

Mrs. Eliza J. Turner et vix vs J. N. Vinson was dismissed.

Margaret A. Stinson and J. A. Stinson vs H. H. Shriver, judgment for the plaintiffs.

Downing Refuses Office. Last week the commissioners court appointed S. M. Downing Animal and Hide Inspector.

Mrs. Eliza J. Turner et vix vs J. N. Vinson was dismissed.

Margaret A. Stinson and J. A. Stinson vs H. H. Shriver, judgment for the plaintiffs.

Downing Refuses Office. Last week the commissioners court appointed S. M. Downing Animal and Hide Inspector.

Business Men Meet Tonight.

A called meeting of the Canyon Business Men's Association will be held tonight at the News office at 8 o'clock. The purpose of the meeting is to go over the details of the Prosperity Day next Tuesday in order to see that nothing has been overlooked toward making it the greatest day Canyon has ever had.

The members of the city council will also meet with the business men in order to go further into detail toward the procuring of the flashlight system of telephone for Canyon and getting all night electric light service.

Baseball Practice Begins.

The Normal baseball team has been out in uniform a few times, and this week the practice starts in earnest. There is a good squad of men and the prospects are favorable for a strong team.

D. A. Shirley, director of athletics, has called a meeting of the Panhandle Athletics Association, of which he is president for next Monday in Amarillo, at which time it is expected the baseball schedule for the season will be made.

Over 8 Pound Turnip.

W. F. Thurman brought to the News office yesterday a specimen of the turnips he raises on his block of land in the south part of town. It weighed 8 pounds and 2 ounces.

Panhandle Teachers Coming.

Arrangements are being perfected for the reception of the Panhandle Teachers Association, which meets here April 20-22. There will be more than one hundred teachers present at the meeting.

Those will be busy days in Canyon. The Normal building will be dedicated on the 21st, the Panhandle Press Association coming from Amarillo as the guests of the city and the Normal.

The two associations will bring nearly two hundred people to the city for the dedication.

A little later the District Conference of the Methodist Church will be held in Canyon. Canyon is the recognized educational center of the Panhandle and should therefore be the convention center.

Kentucky Farmer Moving Here.

J. E. Rogers reports the sale of a section of land south of the town this week to J. R. Bailey, of Bailey Switch, Kentucky. Mr. Bailey has gone back after his family, but one of his sons remained to start to improve the section.

Mr. Rogers made a peculiar proposition to Bailey in the sale of the land. He receives payment as the crops are raised, one-third of the crop each year. Mr. Rogers has lived here for so long and has seen what the land will do that he did not hesitate in making that kind of a deal.

Dr. S. P. Vinyard and wife of Amarillo visited in the home of B. T. Johnson Sunday.

Miss Nannie Johnson left Friday to visit her sister, Mrs. J. C. Compton in Portales, N. M.

MME. JULIA CLUP COMING APRIL 21

Celebrated Dutch Lieder Singer Booked for Date in Canyon at Time of Normal Dedication.

Julia Clup will sing in Canyon on the night of April 21!

That is the best news the music lovers of the Panhandle have, had since the coming of Maul Powell one year ago.

Of course, there was disappointment in not being able to get Schumann-Heink for this date, but after that was impossible, it was felt that of all of the great singers available, Julia Clup would be the most desirable.

The contract price for Julia Clup is $750. The committee will begin at once to make plans to advertise her coming in every town of the Panhandle and it is expected that on the night of the recital there will be gathered in Canyon the largest number of music lovers ever assembled in an auditorium in west Texas.

Defense Highway Runs Through City.

If the proposed bill now in congress gets by, the defense highway from the Atlantic to the Pacific will run through Canyon. Representative W. D. Stephens, republican, of California, is the father of the bill.

It would be a great thing for all of the towns on the line if this line is built.

BACKACHE, SWELLING OF HANDS AND FEET.

Dear Editor:
I appeal to those of your readers who are bothered with backache and a constant tired feeling to give "Anuric" a trial. It has been recently discovered by Dr. Pierce of the Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y. I suffered from backache, swelling of hands and feet, too frequent excretion from the kidneys and many other symptoms. Was unable to work, but after taking just one box of "Anuric" according to directions I am again able to perform my daily duties. (Signed) W. R. BAKER, Norfolk. If you've never used the "Anuric" cut this out and send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce for a large sample package. This will prove to you that "Anuric" is 37 times more active than lithia in eliminating uric acid—and the most perfect kidney and bladder corrector, as well as relieving pains of rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia. If you are a sufferer, go to your best druggist and ask for a 50-cent package of "Anuric."

Valuable Feed Crops of the Plains Country.

(By Ernest C. Mobley)
The Panhandle of Texas has never harvested such abundant crops of all kinds as was gathered last season. At harvest-time it was an unending picture to drive across the plains in an automobile. Everywhere in continuous variety one beheld stretches of level fields loaded with the finest kafir, milo maize, feterita and sorghum. On the upper plains could be seen wheat and alfalfa of the largest yield. On the lower plains these crops were supplemented with cotton and Sudan grass.

The principal feed crops of the Panhandle are kafir, milo maize and feterita and their value comes in the order just given. These crops are becoming more popular throughout the Southwest as the question of diversification grows in favor. Wishing to obtain the most reliable and accurate information on the cultivation and yield of these crops I sought Mr. H. M. Bainer, agricultural demonstrator for the Santa Fe railway system at Amarillo, Texas. Mr. Bainer with his efficient crops of assistants makes thorough inspection of all soils and a careful study of all products and endeavors to direct the farmer in the way that will mean most to his lands and labor. He says that so far these crops have not failed to sustain every reasonable claim made for them, and are meeting every need of the farmer on the Plains.

Mr. Bainer gives the following concerning the variety of strains shown in kafir corn: "The blackhulled-white is divided into two classes, dwarf and standard, the latter being the common kafir of our country. Where grown under dry-farming conditions depending entirely on the natural rainfall it is highly desirable to choose the dwarf black-hulled-white, for the reason that it matures three weeks earlier than the standard, and while somewhat shorter in stalk produces approximately as much seed as the larger strain, in addition being surer on account of the less time required for maturing. The standard variety grows taller than the dwarf and requires three weeks longer for maturing and consequently fails many times in maturing through lack of favorable conditions towards the close of the season. This strain when seasons are good makes immense yields in both fodder and seed. With the single exception of their color the white-hulled-white and the red kafir are described as one variety. They grow as tall if not a little taller than the standard, with less production of seed than either the standard, or dwarf, and a very fine fodder. Both the white-hulled-white and the red kafir shatter badly, so that a considerable quantity of seed is wasted unless great care is exercised in harvesting. They mature practically as early as the dwarf kafir. Kafir seed has equal feeding value with corn produced in this portion of the country and the silage made from it is equal to that made of the corn." Thus we understand the growing favor for kafir when we consider its superior yield over corn in the Southwest.

Milo maize, which comes next to kafir in seed and fodder production in the Southwest, also has different strains and colors. Mr. Bainer describes maize after this fashion. Red and white in color and standard and dwarf in habit. The standard and dwarf extremes are noticed chiefly in the red milo maize. The standard grows taller than the dwarf and requires three weeks longer to mature. This early maturing of the dwarf gives it extreme popularity with the diversified farmer of the Southwest. As with the kafir the standard yields very large tonnage of seed and fodder, but it the season should be short and conditions unfavorable this strain will often fail of maturity. The white milo maize, while possessing about the same feeding value as the red varieties, is generally considered below them in yield. In silage milo maize is considered second to kafir and corn. There were multitudes of big fields this year which grew as tall as horse and rider. The quality and yield like the kafir was fine and abundant, helping to fill the West with a surplus of feeds.

The third feed crop which grows in favor with the farmer of the Southwest is feterita. The reason for this is that it matures earlier than the dwarf kafir and milo maize. Mr. Bainer says "it is also a great 'drouth-dodger,' and usually yields a great showing of grain. So far as is known its feeding value is approximately that of kafir and milo maize. The seed are softer, whiter and more starchy than the others. According to those conducting experiments feterita fodder compares favorably with the others for silage. If allowed to get fully ripe its seed are loosely set and shatter badly, thereby occasioning considerable loss. Some urge the objection that it succors freely and that the heads from these side shoots are not mature at the time the heads of the main stalks are harvested. Much of it yielded 45 bushels to the acre this year.

Sudan grass is a comparatively new crop in the United States, but has during the past few years been more generally grown in the Southwest than in any other portion of the country. Of it Mr. Bainer has this to say: "It is a member of the sorghum family, and has shown rare adaptability, under a wide range of conditions, giving off heavy tonnage of both forage and seed. Exact experimental data is lacking in support of some of the claims made for the merits of this crop as a feed, but it is shown that livestock like it and thrive while eating it. Instances have been shown of animals leaving a fair grade of alfalfa to eat Sudan grass hay. Each year finds an increased acreage annually planted in this forage. Sudan grass looks like Johnson grass, but has not the tuberous roots of the latter, being a strict annual. Developments of this crop seem to fully warrant the assumption that where rightly handled it will give under dry-farming conditions from four to eight tons of hay per acre per year. Limited tests also lead to the belief that it has a distinctive value as a summer and fall pasture crop, or as a soiling crop. It is generally conceded that Sudan grass will give better results where planted in rows and given the same general cultural treatment as kafir, milo maize, feterita and sweet sorghum, but it may also be handled as a broadcast crop, although less is known of it under this mode of handling. With the seed as with the hay, little definite experimental data is at hand, but livestock and poultry eat and relish it and to all appearances thrive while doing so. There can be no doubt of the propriety of giving to Sudan grass a place on the diversified farm of the Southwest."

Sweet sorghums resist drouth and yield to the same cultural treatment as those just mentioned. They belong to the same generally family as kafir, milo maize and feterita. While sweet sorghums make an excellent quality of syrup, Mr. Bainer observes that they are grown chiefly for fodder in all the Southwestern country. He says the seed has practically no feeding value, although in good demand for planting purposes, and in some sections it is grown on a commercial scale almost solely for the seed. It has demonstrated that the greatest tonnage of fodder and seed are secured where sweet sorghum is planted in rows and cultivated much as the others. When desired for hay sweet sorghums are sown broadcast. Sweet sorghums should be allowed to mature to that stage at which the seed is sufficiently developed to germinate. At this stage the content of the stalk becomes sweetest, and there is less probability of an undesirable acidity, so frequently found where the crop is cut at earlier stages. Mr. Bainer adds that these crops make heavier tonnage of silage of excellent quality than any other, and are becoming more popular for this purpose each year. There are two popular varieties of sweet sorghums in this section of the Southwest. The amber, an early maturing strain, and the sumac or red-top, coming in later, are both good sod crops, having been known to produce seed in a single year to pay for the land on which they grew.

Rather extensive experiments are being made on the plains in the growing of alfalfa. On the syndicate demonstration farm at Plainview is to be found one of the finest fields of alfalfa to be seen anywhere. It is a picture in landscape and a mint in producing income. Alfalfa does well in all this sub-irrigation section, but the greatest surprise that I found in the growing of alfalfa is in Hansford county. It is in the broad breaks along the Canadian river. Mr. W. T. Coble has a big ranch of fine high-grade Herefords. These 5,000 cattle are fattened on the ranch with alfalfa. There are 300 acres in alfalfa which yields a good harvest of several cuttings every year. The remarkable thing is that much of it has not been replanted for years and some of it in 30 years. The Panhandle enjoyed rare seasons last year and the result is an enormous harvest of every kind. Prospects could hardly be better than at present for next year's crop.

Farmer's Exchange Bureau.

In connection with the Santa Fe Agricultural Department, in Amarillo, Texas, we have a "Farmers' Exchange Bureau", which has been in successful operation for some time. The service of this bureau is free to those farmers and producers who desire to use it.

In this bureau we list the names of the farmers having something to sell as well as those who desire to buy. For example, if a farmer writes that he has choice seed for sale, or a Holstein cow or some other animal, we immediately look over our list and possibly find that some other man is looking for this very seed or animal. We get these people in communication, usually by letter and the result is that both are benefited.

If you have something to sell in the way of seed, feed, horses, mules, cows, hogs, sheep, chickens or anything else that another might want to buy, kindly write us, telling what you have, the amount or number, the variety or breed, age, price and other details. If you are in the market to buy anything along the line indicated, tell us as nearly as you can, exactly what you want. Upon receipt of your letter we will list the articles you may have for sale, or what you may desire to buy. We cannot guarantee to find you a buyer, or to locate what you are looking for, but we will give you the benefit of our lists and these may help you.

In the event you buy or sell anything through our Exchange Bureau, kindly notify us, so that we may make notation on our list.

Yours very truly,
H. M. Bainer.

P. S.—If you have good seed for sale of kafir, dwarf milo, feterita, or Texas red oats, we are especially anxious to list them as there will be a great demand for them this spring.

Tree Planting Time.
 (A. M. Hove)

A veritable forest of trees has been purchased by the farmers on the plains for planting this year. It is shade trees for the farmstead and fruit trees for the family orchard.

But time slips by and soon the tree planting season for this year will be over. It is yet time to order trees and get them started this year. It need not cost much money either.

Tree planting needs no long argument in its favor. Trees are ornamental and useful. They soon furnish shade and break the winds. In a few years the farm groves will change the appearance of the plains. The spring winds will cease to be full of sting.

Tree planting has in a few years' time changed the appearance of the northern prairies. What was the lonely forsaken home of the new settler, now sits snugly in a clump of trees. Back around the barn and the feed lot, trees form a windbreak for the stock.

Trees cost little money. Few so poverty stricken that they can not buy a few trees. It just requires a little get-up or order the trees and later give them care and protection from live stock. The varieties to plant will depend on the taste of the planter. It is best, however, to get trees grown as near home as possible or grown under similar conditions.

This is just a reminder that tree planting this year will soon be over. It is still time to act. The wife and the children will thrive better with a few trees around the farmstead. Plant trees.

Writing Notes.

I am much too proud to fight; I, when I am in a plight, write a note; if some fellow kicks my shins, I submit with peaceful grins, and, when I have slaved my pins, write a note. Follow up this splendid plan; do not be a martial man—write a note; if some scoundrel steals your wife, do not whet your bowie-knife, or make threats against his life—write a note. If a neighbor burns your shack, do not climb upon his back—write a note; if he comes and twists your nose, if he treads upon your toes, don't resent such trifling woes—write a note. If the neighbor steals your hens, take your choice of fountain pens—write a note; if a villain climbs your frame, pulls your hair and knocks you lame, to resent it is a shame—write a note; be the boot-ball of your town; let the hoodlums knock you down; when you're done up god and brwn—write a nte. Paper, purchased by the ream, doesn't so expensive seem—write a note; fountain pens are cheap as dirt, anyone can make them squirt; so when some one steals your shirt—write a note.

Cattle feeding business is so profitable in Randall county that within a short year this will be the feeding center of the west. Cattle from this county, raised on the cheap lands, and fed on the kafir and maize silage that have been proven to be as good fat producer as that of Indian corn, have so often broken all records on the Kansas City market, over and above the corn fed cattle of the Missouri valley that the feeders of this section realize that they are unable to profitably compete with the Panhandle feeders.

The News has a letter from a non-resident land owner, asking about the water supply in Randall county. Ocean of it, thank you, sir. Ocean! He had been reading a bulletin that a certain professor had published. This same said professor spoke before the Panhandle Press Association at Plainview last year, and after making certain assertions, admitted that his assertions were purely theoretical, which is the same as to say purely guesswork. The water of the Panhandle is 99.99 per cent pure, according to government analysis.

Randall county has more high priced registered Hereford cattle than any county in the Panhandle. In addition to these Randall county has the distinction of breaking more records on the Kansas City market than any county in Texas. The time of the famous Texas long-horn is passed. The farmers and ranchmen now demand the best of registered or high grade cattle.

A Randall county farmer made $20 per acre off of his maize crop this year—the grain alone—and yet has the stalks in the field. How is that for $20 per acre land? Another farmer made $30 per acre on his millet seed. These are only two examples of what the farmers are doing. Hundreds of farmers are doing equally as well.

A certain Iowa Colonel, who publishes a newspaper at Washington (Iowa), make some wild-eyed statements regarding the Panhandle last spring. He has been as gentle as a lamb since. He learned a few things regarding the Panhandle which were new to him. The trouble with the newspapers in the older states is that they hate to see the good farmers better themselves by coming to the rich, new, southwest. And they are coming. More than one hundred new families came to Randall county during 1915. There have been a dozen or more during the first two months of January and February.

Daniel E. Garrett has announced his intention of becoming a candidate for the office of congressman-at-large. Mr. Garrett served the state very acceptably in this capacity two years ago but in the last primary was caught in the shuffle between Jeff McLemore, Cyclone Davis and W. P. Lane, thus losing his place in the house. It is too bad that Texas sent that freak of nature—Cyclone Davis to the congress rather than Daniel E. Garrett, who is a man worth while.

There are persistent rumors from Washington, D. C., that the wonderful Palo Duro canyon, which passes within a few miles of this city will be made a national park. It is the greatest show place of Texas and our congressmen should act at once.

They're coming, Father Abraham, they're coming, ten thousand, more or less strong—to the chuck wagon dinner in Canyon, April 21. Ye Panhandle Editors, paint that date red on your calendar.

Read in this issue something about the crops of the Panhandle. The article is written by Rev. Ernest Mobley, pastor of the Christian Church in Amarillo.

Many of our Texas congressman who have taken such a bold stand against preparedness, have gently, taken the hint and crawled into the band-wagon. Stephens, of this district, has not yet "crawled". But the July primaries are coming.

This is February 24, and many of the farmers have not completed gathering the big crop made last year. A bigger crop than ever will be planted this spring.

The Panhandle country has enjoyed the mildest winter for years. The thermometer has registered zero just once during the winter. It makes a fellow feel fine to live in the Panhandle when he hears of the 15 and 20 below zero of the north and east.

Canyon will have the biggest day on next Tuesday in the history of the city. It will be truly a Prosperity Day for those who come to take advantages of the bargains offered.

The non-resident land owner should get the News every week. It is the only method by which he may keep up with Randall county events. Only $1.50 per year.

Oh You Press Meet.

Miami Chief—The editors who miss the Panhandle Press Association meeting at Amarillo April 20, 21 and 22 are going to be so far behind the times that they will never catch up. That big "Chuck Wagon" feed at Canyon promised by Editor Warwick will bring back the buoyancy of by-gone days, cast a silver lining to the brightness of the present and leave a sweet recollection for the mind to rest upon when life's sun begins to lower. Be there, well we should say so, and furthermore there is going to be something doing every minute of the time. Want it be some fun to see Editor Timmons of the Daily Panhandle round-up a bunch of C. O. Keiser's thoroughbred cattle, watch Joe Pope spread the lasso around the long horns and watch the riding contest between those old cow-punchers, J. M. Warren of the Clarendon News and Frank Jamison of the Canadian Record with Miss Ida Farrell, Jess Adams and Ben Smith as referees.

Wirt Appointed School Assessor.

S. V. Wirt has been appointed by the Canyon School Board to assess the property in this district. Heretofore this work has been done by the county assessor, but the school board believed that it was better to have a separate man make the assessments for school purposes.

Mr. Wirt has also been appointed to take the scholastic census of Canyon. This work will be done in March.

A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Dr. Price's from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Dr. Price's Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in

BURROUGHS & JARRETT

GRAFT

ZANE GREY

Each Episode Suggested by a Prominent Author
 Serialization by HUGH WEIR and JOE BRANDT
 Produced by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company
 [Copyright, 1915, by the Universal Film Manufacturing Company.]

SYNOPSIS.

Dudley Larnigan, district attorney, because of his fight on the vice and liquor trusts, is killed by an agent of a secret society, the committee of fifteen. The fight is continued by his son, Bruce, who is elected district attorney, and by another son, Tom. Bruce is in love with Dorothy Maxwell, whose father is head of the insurance trust.

TENTH EPISODE

The Harbor Transportation Trust

Suggested by ZANE GREY, Author of "The Light of Western Stars," "The Rainbow Trail," "Riders of the Purple Sage," etc.

BRUCE LARNIGAN and his brother Tom, who had taken up Bruce's work of exposing the machinations of the members of the graft trust, headed by Stanford Stone, after the almost fatal injury to Bruce, felt that it was even more important to protect the public against the extortion practiced by the great grafters than it was to pursue their own revenge.

"I started just for revenge," said Bruce, shaking his head, after Tom had told him of his success in getting evidence against the coal trust. "But, even if these men killed our father, we can't let our hatred of them prevent us from doing our duty."

"They're not above stealing from any one," said Tom. "And the next thing to get after is the distribution of food and supplies of all sorts right here in New York. There's a combination that absolutely controls the movement of every pound of freight in the harbor. I'm convinced that somebody in this combination goes in for smuggling too."

"Now you're talking about Grant Fisher, Tom," said Bruce.

"Good heavens! How did you know that, Bruce? For a sick man you're mighty up to date, but it's not going to be easy to get any evidence against him."

"I know that," said Bruce. "Have you got a plan at all?"

"Yes—and no," said Tom. "It's not worth being called a plan, really. It's just an idea. I want to follow a hunch I've got without telling you what it is until I know whether or not it's going to work. All right?"

"Go ahead," said Bruce. "If you fall down come back and we'll get together."

Tom had already spied out the ground, and he went straight from the flat where he lived with Bruce and their mother to the office building in which the Harbor Transportation company, of which Grant Fisher was the head and the moving spirit, had its headquarters. He knew that outside Fisher's private office there was an anteroom in which those who had appointments with Fisher waited for his summons.

"So, the opium's all ashore and in Gruen's place."

In the main office, outside this anteroom, he asked some trivial questions and then, waiting for his chance, slipped through the door while the attendant was away. He was alone for a minute, and he immediately hid his hat and gloves, so that any stranger coming in might suppose that he was employed about the office in some capacity.

In a few moments the door was opened and a man who had all the earmarks of a sea captain of the old school came in.

"Just a minute, Captain Monk," said a voice. "Mr. Fisher will sound his buzzer when he's ready for you to come in."

"All right, all right!" boomed Monk in a deep voice.

The buzzer sounded; Monk went in. And right behind him was Tom, Monk. It was plain, supposed that he was attached to the office. Fisher, glancing at Tom, paid no more attention to him. As Tom had hoped, he supposed that Monk had brought some one with him.

Tom realized in a moment that luck had favored him to an almost incredible degree, for Monk, without preamble, launched into a report of the most confidential sort.

"Well, it's all right, boss!" he announced. He spoke in what he evidently believed to be a low, carefully modulated voice, but every word was audible to Tom. "I brought in the cargo all right, all right. And none of them smart Alecks of customs boys was a bit anxious to search the ship—not with the lions and tigers and critters of that sort the hold was full of. So, the opium's all ashore and in Gruen's place."

Tom had heard all that he needed to know. Slowly and so as not to attract suspicion to himself he went out the door.

Fisher, meanwhile, had frowned slightly as he saw Tom go.

"Look here, Monk," he said, "this sort of thing ought to be kept pretty much to ourselves. The next time you have a confidential report to make don't bring any one with you."

"What?" roared Monk. "I didn't!"

"Then who was that fellow who came in with you?"

"Him? He works for you, don't he? He just followed me in, and when you didn't say nothing I supposed he was all right!"

They stared at one another a moment. And then Fisher, with a sudden suspicion, reached into his desk for a batch of photographs, which he studied. He cried out sharply and then handed Monk a picture of Tom Larnigan.

"That's him!" said Monk.

"Yes, and he's Tom Larnigan," said Fisher, "a government special prosecutor or agent—a spy set upon the syndicate to destroy it! A fine trick we've let him play on us!"

"The —!" said Monk, with a great deep sea oath. "I'll get him or my name's not Monk!"

"You'd better try," said Fisher satirically. "If you don't he'll get us—I can promise you that! I'll go to work too. Go along now and warn Gruen to be careful. That wild animal store of his has been too useful to us for us to let the government get on to its real character."

Fisher, when Monk had gone, telephoned at once to Stanford Stone, telling him what had happened.

"All right," said Stone after a moment. "I suppose I shall have to pull us out of the hole that you and Monk in your stupidity have dug for us. Fine business!"

Stone set the wheels of his organization turning at once. He sent for Dunn, the man who served him in his most critical affairs and over whom he held as a constant threat his knowledge of a certain criminal episode of the past.

"As a matter of fact," said Stone. "I'm not sorry this has happened. Fisher's a fool, but his folly has turned out well this time. Larnigan will go to Gruen's. You can see to it that when he does so he walks into a trap."

Meanwhile, however, there had been a change in Tom's plans. He had gone immediately to the office of the Independent, the newspaper which was backing Bruce Larnigan's fight, with Jack Stevens as its editor. There he had found Bruce and also a telegram from Washington ordering him to go at once to Rio de Janeiro, where, it was said, the consul would be able to give him instructions concerning a special mission connected with the operations of the graft syndicate.

"You'll have to go," Bruce said. "But I'm nearly well now, I'm well enough, at any rate, to take hold of this affair. So there need be no change in our plans."

And another factor was about to be introduced into the case. Dorothy Maxwell and her chum, Kitty Rockefeller, were by this time, thanks to their more or less accidental success in the past in helping the Larnigans, convinced of their own powers as detectives. Dorothy had been engaged to Bruce. Stanford Stone was in love with her, and owing to his hold upon her father and his threat if she did not yield to him to ruin him Dorothy was afraid to come out openly against Stone. In secret, however, she was his enemy.

The two girls while out walking spied Dunn and, remembering him from previous attempts against the Larnigans, determined to follow him. Dunn, however, recognized them, and when they entered Gruen's store almost on his heels they were seized and thrust into a small storeroom in the cellar. In the next cellar, although they did not know it, were some of the lions that had been imported, with the opium, by Monk.

Meanwhile Dunn made all his arrangements with Gruen. A trap door was arranged so that it would drop any one who stood upon it into a cellar, and this cellar was the one that contained the lions.

"That'll be the finish of any one who goes down," said Dunn gloatingly. "Mr. Tom Larnigan won't find it easy to argue with our friends down there."

However, Tom had decided not to go to Gruen's. He was impatient for the time of his departure for South America to come, and he and Isea Travers, his old friend, went down to the docks to see about his passage. Monk, with some of his crew, spied them, and Monk saw the chance for his revenge. At a word from him the two were seized and dragged on board his ship. They were roughly handled and were left, unconscious. And Monk, glottingly, went to the telephone and reported to Fisher, who happened at the time to be with Stone.

"Good enough," said Stone. "South America? They'll be gone for months, and by the time they return we'll be invincible. It's different from what had been planned, but it will do. Tell Monk we won't forget to reward him!"

A little later Stone heard from Dunn of the capture of the two girls. His rage equalled his astonishment when he saw Dorothy. He realized then that he had no chance to win her, and his love for her turned to hate.

"Is Molly's place still running?" he asked Gruen.

"Yes," said Gruen, with a grin.

Molly's place was a dive of a singularly notorious sort. It was a resort of the worst type, a place to which the women of the streets sank when they were nearly at the end of the tether. No woman who ever entered it came out alive. Its customers were sailors and men of the roughest sort. And it was to this place that Stone ordered the two girls to be taken.

The girls had not been idle during their captivity in Gruen's cellar. They found a pick and a crowbar in their cell, but could make no impression upon the heavy door. So they turned their attention to the padlock. This was not on the door by which they had been thrust in, but on a smaller door which might lead, they thought, to the cellar of the next house. As a matter of fact, though they did not, of course suspect it, it actually led to the cellar in which the lions were confined.

It was Bruce and Jack Stevens who came to Gruen's instead of Tom and Travers. But that made no difference to Dunn's men and Gruen. They were attacked at once, and Bruce was knocked senseless at the beginning of the fight. Jack, stepping on to the trap, fell into the cellar among the lions. In horror, he backed against the door, and it opened behind him. The two girls removed the padlock just in time and dragged him through, closing the door before the lions could enter.

But now the men who were to take the girls to Molly's place came in, and Stevens, against fearful odds, put up the best fight he could. The noise brought the police, and Stevens and the girls were rescued just in time. The police cleared out the store above as well as saved Bruce. But no one could save Fisher. Coming to see the success of his plan, he fell through the trap, and there was no one to open the door for him. The lions made him their prey instead of Stevens.

Out at sea Tom Larnigan came to his senses to see Monk's evil eyes glaring down at him.

"Well, you're here! And there's no turning back on this ship," said Monk.

"So I suppose," said Tom coolly. "Where are you bound, captain?"

"Rio de Janeiro."

"Good! Look at this, captain."

Tom showed his telegram from Washington and the official papers that gave him his authority.

"We'll go with you as passengers," said Tom. "I imagine you know enough of Uncle Sam to understand that it's time for you to turn against the men you've worked for."

They Were Roughly Handled and Left Unconscious.

The Standard of Value and Quality

The Fleetwood
 SIX-38 $1050 Cash, Detroit

What Do You Demand of Your Car

ASK YOURSELF that question. It is the only rational way to buy a motor car.

Then, see if the new five-passenger Fleetwood "Six-38" ($1050) does not fulfill every possible requirement.

You demand beauty and distinction in design. The Fleetwood is a five-passenger reproduction of the supreme Fairfield "Six-46," the most widely copied car ever designed in this country.

You demand POWER and FLEXIBILITY for all sorts of road-conditions. You will find the Fleetwood the most powerful Light Six you ever rode in. And there are no freak innovations, no unproven experiments in the Paige motor. It has genuine POWER proven in a year's driving by thousands of actual Paige owners, perfected to the current hour of motor car building. You will find unequalled Flexibility (from a speed of 2½ miles an hour to almost a mile a minute) and perfection of control.

You demand comfort and elegance of equipment. This new Fleetwood seats its five adult passengers luxuriously. The long wheelbase (117 inches) means roominess and the upholstery and furnishing are of the very finest grade.

In a word, the Fleetwood "Six-38" represents all the luxury and motoring service you can possibly demand and the price — $1050 — represents a safe, sound and economical investment. It represents Paige QUALITY. And Paige QUALITY is Supreme.

Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company, Detroit, Michigan

Two Years--$2.00

RANDALL COUNTY NEWS
 Canyon, Texas

Prosperity Day, Feb. 29, 1916, the RANDALL COUNTY NEWS will make a special subscription rate, good for the one day only of $2.00 for two years. This is the greatest offer this paper has ever made and it will never be made again as prices of printing material are advancing so greatly day by day that it will cost us money to make such an offer.

However, Feb. 29th is Prosperity Day in Canyon. The News is proud of the wonderful prosperity of the Panhandle country of the past few years and of the business our patrons have given to this firm. We are therefore willing to make a sacrifice on this date in order to show you our appreciation. No matter how far in advance your subscription is paid, it will be money in your pocket to invest $2.00 more and get a further credit of two years. The News will never be sold for less than $1.50 per single year, and on Prosperity Day we will not accept two subscriptions of a year each at this rate. The paper must go to the same person for the period paid.

The Randall County News is one of the best equipped offices in the Panhandle. With our new linotype, we are furnishing a better paper than ever before. It is our policy to get you all of the news in Randall county. Those who live here need the paper to keep up with their neighbors. Those who live in other states need the paper to keep up with the wonderful progress the county is making.

If you are in Canyon on Feb. 29, call at the office and start the News. If you are not here, or live in some other state, mail us a check for $2.00 on that date and we will start the News with next week's issue.

Yours very truly,
 RANDALL COUNTY NEWS.

A Message to the Senior Classes in the High Schools

By R. B. Cousins
President of the West Texas State Normal College

Those natural instincts and interests that announce the approach of manhood and womanhood combine with economic pressure to prevent 86 per cent of the boys and girls in the grades from entering the high schools. You are to be congratulated upon your progress, which places you so far above the average of men and women in educational attainment. Why not determine now to put yourself into that still more fortunate class,—that one or two per cent of high school graduates—which enters college and reaches the highest levels of attainment?

The Work of the Educated Man.

You should know that educated men, college men, have contributed more than their prorate share to that civilization which we all so much enjoy. College trained men control and direct the labors of the great law making bodies of the world; they render the decisions of the supreme courts; they represent governments in foreign countries; they sit in the cabinets of presidents of republics, and in the councils of kaisers and kings. Where ignorance rules, "the people mourn" because "the times are out of joint."

Practical

We hear much of "practical" men, as if educated men were impractical. College trained men have discovered the latent and latest diseases of plants, animals, and men, and have pointed out remedies. In fact, progress in every department of material development can be traced, not to the so called "practical man," but, rather, to the trained specialist in his laboratory—to the theorist! Dreamers? Witness electric lights, motors, serums for rabies, for hog cholera, for blackleg among cattle, and the whole list of antitoxins for the prevention and cure of germ diseases. Not in a single case were these inventors and discoverers what the man on the street calls the "practical man." Most of them were what he calls the "educated fool"—the dreamer! the theorist!!

What Education Does

True education forms and informs the mind. It quickens and enlarges the whole life. Education in the schools is the short cut to true manhood and womanhood such as all people really desire. "Who neglects education in his youth, loses the past and is dead to the future." (Euripides) "Ignorance and sin are synonymous terms." (Socrates) "Knowledge is power." (Bacon) "There is room at the top. The crowd is at the foot of the ladder." (A. H. Stephens) Education fits one for moving in good society. It enables him to master his problems and overcome his difficulties; to grasp larger conceptions, and see their relations; and to determine his own rights and obligations. It has a tendency to make one large, liberal, useful and powerful.

Education Has a Money Value.

Education does not make a man rich in worldly wealth. Only the unsatisfactory calculation of chances can explain how some men have become rich, or how they have lost or may lose their fortune. Genius and speculation know no law. The following figures are in common use, and they contain a truth for the thoughtful boy or girl: Every day that a boy spends in the grades, in passing through them, is worth four dollars to him in after life; every day he spends in the high school is worth fifteen dollars; and every day he spends in college is worth thirty five dollars. The calculation is easy, and the results contain a truth. The boy without an education has a sorry chance for making a distinguished man. His training in the high school and in college increases his chances four hundred fold.

The West Texas State Normal College; Its Relation to This Discussion.

It offers its services to the following classes of students:

1. Those who seek preparation for the practical affairs of the household, the farm, the workshop, or the business office.
2. Those who wish preparation to enter technical or professional schools—law, medicine, etc.
3. Those who wish to prepare for admission to advanced classes in universities.
4. BUT, PRIMARILY, THOSE WHO WISH TO TEACH.

The Profession of Teaching and Its Appeal.

It should be understood that teaching is a great profession, but that it is a sorry trade. It is a fine art to the artist, but it is drudgery to the drudge. President Emeritus, Eliot of Harvard University said: "Forty years of service have been given me in a Doubtless President Eliot is a partial judge. The teaching profession has not all that is good, and is not free from limitations. But it has a liberal share of the elements of a worthy, useful and honorable calling. Salaries of teachers are not large, but they are increasing; they are not positively bad now, in view of the preparation required, and in comparison with other callings that deal with things spiritual. But the teaching profession is not a money making business. He who regards it as such tears down its altars, and obscures its nobler purposes.

The Teacher's Service Has Other Values.

The teacher has a place of responsibility and of great usefulness, and he enjoys the esteem of his neighbors. He is an acceptable client and patron, and a welcome guest in good homes. His professional labor, study, and responsibility tend to make him a good citizen and a good man. The public pays the teacher the compliment of expecting and requiring good conduct of him.

Education is one of the great interests of men everywhere, and teachers are its operatives and directors. Perhaps in no other division of human endeavor are so many people employed and so much money expended as in this one and both the money and men increase. What was once a luxury for the few is now a necessity for the many; what was permitted to the classes is becoming compulsory for the masses. The importance of education, individual and social, is as yet only dimly felt,—it is not fully understood by all the people. The teacher is a pioneer in the frontiers of childhood and youth; and a torch bearer among men. He is the guide and pathfinder for the youth that is coming to himself. He is a miracle worker. He unstops deaf ears, and opens blind eyes. He is a revealer of vistas of manhood—the high priest at the altar of truth. What is his pay? Heads and hearts! Men and women! Salvation!

He Has a Larger Freedom.

The teacher has no place among gossipers, scandal mongers, sectarian bigots or disputers, nor dark lantern politicians of any size. Instead of spending his time on themes of neighborhood gossip and scandal, he should discuss with his neighbors the newspaper, and the magazine article; instead of petty politics, he should discuss the policies of statesmen; in the place of local sectarian bigotry, he should put that true religion which requires one to "deal justly, love mercy, and walk humbly before Almighty God;" instead of sharing the hatred and bitterness which is the result of the sectarian quarrel, let him "lure to brighter worlds and lead the way."

He Renders a Larger Service.

Teachers are writing books to be studied by prospective young bankers, farmers, stockmen, merchants, railroad managers, manufacturers, journalists, jurists, physicians, theologians, engineers, and scientists. They are constantly readjusting the school program to the changing views and growing needs of the people. Even in "practical" statesmanship, school men are receiving due recognition and are rendering notable service. Looking to the higher forms of political service, we find professional school men in conspicuous places: Webb of Tennessee, in the senate; Abercrombie of Alabama and Aswell of Louisiana, and many others, each went from the school master's desk to the Congress of the United States. Ex-superintendent Brumbaugh of the city schools of Philadelphia is now the Governor of Pennsylvania. Ex-president Taft is a professor in Yale. Ex-president Houston of the University of Texas is in the cabinet of the President of the United States. Woodrow Wilson, the greatest scholar among the presidents of great republics went from his office in Princeton University to the Governor's office of New Jersey, and thence to the first place in all the world that may be achieved by a man.

There is, therefore, no place of service or of honor that is closed to a worthy and efficient man, just because he happens to have chosen the profession of teaching.

If you would follow a calling that offers constant employment at a fair wage, and the promise of increase; one that leads away from vice and toward virtue; a profession whose materials are clean and limitless; whose challenge to honorable endeavor is persistent and compelling; one that will put you in league with the spiritual forces that move the world along in its upward way; one that will link you in destiny with the good and the great of all times and of all climes; one that invites you to take a partnership with the maker of men in labors that last—come see our great ideal and worship at its shrine—BECOME A TEACHER OF MEN.

I close this appeal with words from Henry Van Dyke, which contain the philosophy of a life of usefulness and happiness: "What is it that counts in the celestial city? Only that good which is done for the love of doing it. Only those plans in which the good of others is the master thought. Only those labors in which the sacrifice is greater than the wages. Only those gifts in which the giver forgets himself."

Edison—The Man.

Thomas A. Edison is 69. He celebrated his birthday by working hard in his laboratory. Newspaper reporters swarmed about him and he said many things. The war will last two years longer and the allies will win because of their ability to get the things necessary to carry on the war properly. No, the United States will not become involved in the conflict.

Then why a billion for preparedness?

The wizard talked of suffrage, cigarettes and prohibition. There should be a law against anyone under 21 smoking cigarettes. A boy is safer with a revolver than one of these coffin nails.

The women should be given the ballot.

The instincts are good and they are bound to have their voice in government. As to prohibition, the wizard would give men drinks, but weak ones. He says beer has 4 per cent alcohol. Cut down the percentage to 2 or 1% per cent. Let men drink that for twenty years or so and then cut it down to 1 per cent.

Cut out all whisky and all strong alcoholic drinks at once.

A practical limit should also be established for treating. The wizard is not a glutton. He does not believe in gormandizing. He told the reporters to cut down their food to one-third or one-fourth of what they had been eating.

When it comes to food he eats a quarter of what the average man does. Edison works eighteen hours a day. He sleeps four hours. On his sixty-ninth birthday he said he was feeling as young as he had in forty years and expected to accomplish many things before his death.

Edison was a breadwinner at 10. He was a telegraph operator at 14. He was a capitalist on a small scale at 18, as he had saved his money. A wonderful man indeed is this wizard

The P. & O. No. 111 Lister

This Lister is known by farmers wherever sold as P. & O. No. 11, but the improved type is called No. 111 on account of important improvements.

There are more of them in the hands of farmers than all other makes combined—over 2,000 sold by one dealer, in one county in West Texas. The special features on this Lister made it desirable for planting, for row cropping; it is now almost universally used for plowing for small grain crops by listing and re-listing, leaving the ground in oval waves, which not only catches and holds the moisture but prevents the loose soil of the West from blowing away.

The adjusting link on front end of beam is an important exclusive feature on the No. 111, absolutely preventing the point from running below the ground level. The wheels are provided with dust shields, an immense help in the muddy lumps of the West.

The feeding device absolutely shuts out soil at a time of any of the row crops, besides being improved for both corn and cotton. You will have to see this wonderful improvement to appreciate it. The listing and re-listing change of plates without emptying them. Furnished with other disc or shovel covers.

This Lister has embodied many other important features that will convince you that it is the best on the market.

The P. & O. No. 123 4-Wheel Lister

This Lister has all the advantages of the No. 111 and in addition has row wheels. This is desired in many localities as it enables the operator to see the seed as planted. The rear wheel has cushion springs to hold them in line with the row and following the unevenness of the ground and conform to the ridge without straining the rear frame, compelling, also, the Lister to remain in proper working position at all times. The friction lock disengages automatically, allowing the wheels to castor and turn round in a very small space.

We manufacture the most complete line of Two Row Implements on the market. Ask your dealer and if you cannot be supplied through him, write us for circular and special introductory offer.

"A Serious Case."

Everybody knows that old tale about the Man Who Wouldn't Wake Up.

The children would run in and tell him about the beautiful procession that was passing. He'd rub his eyes and say "Um-hm." And then he'd go right back to sleep.

Friend Wife would talk to him about the gay goings-on in the town and what fun the neighbors were having and all that. He would turn over and beg her to let him take another nap.

So of course, first thing you knew, the Man Who Wouldn't Wake Up came to be a Dull Old Thing. He got fat and soggy. He was behind the times. He didn't know what was going on. He was a regular sleepy-head.

He didn't know what he was missing.

Do you know there are lots of people in Canyon today who are exactly where this fellow was—they haven't the faintest idea of what they are missing.

They hear about the "Movies"—"Photo-plays."

They see the gay posters and the shimmer of lights at the playhouse doors. They gather that there's something very entertaining about it all—but they don't Wake Up enough to go after it.

They like plays, they'll tell you—Real plays; but the price prohibitive.

They think a ten-cent show can't amount to anything.

Gee Whiz!

Why, Man Alive, you don't know what you're talking about.

Don't you know that today you can see the very biggest personages of Stage Life—the stars—the cream—the top notches—the bigwigs of the drama, of the opera, of the ballet—at their very best in the Photo Picture Plays?

You are of those who think the Movies are a sort of a toy business—just as some folks laughed at the telephone and called it a toy. Ditto the talking machine.

These "toys" are serious business today.

The Motion Picture of today is the wonder of the world—you don't know what you're missing if you are not seeing it.

Take scenery for instance. You like scenery?

Your stage flutters up and down a paper staidcase, is wooed on a papier-mache bridge beside a canvas water fall under painted pines, and wanders among gardens stuck with calico flowers by the sage carpenter and the property man.

In the Motion Pictures the World unrolls before you.

Your motion picture heroine gallops across the real open on a regular horse. She is a Japanese maiden in Old Nippon itself. She is Carmencita in Sunny Spain. She is a mountain lass in the heart of the Blue Ridge and you can all but hear the sigh of the million pines and smell the scent of the moonshine that they're making in a real still.

You see the plays staged in real tropical islands, in far cities and in remote jungles. You go abroad real ships and you view real storms. You journey to the gayest-cafes of gayest capitals. You visit the heart of the Ghetto and you are whirled across vast parities. You go under seas with the diver and you are spun through space with the aeroplanist.

You don't know what you're missing—if you're not a Movie Fan.

Wake up—NOW. Show's on every evening from 7:15 to 11 o'clock at Photo Playhouse. Take in at least one Movie a day and catch up.

Block Number Six.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Meyer was the scene of a very enjoyable party Sunday evening, the occasion being the 13th birthday of their son, Albert. There were 27 school-mates and friends present. The evening was pleasantly spent in playing the favorite outdoor games, after which refreshments of salad, coffee and cake were served. All declared the party a success and reluctantly departed at a late hour.

There came near being a serious prairie fire in this community Saturday. Sparks from burning trash in Mr. Wendelken's yard were blown into the adjoining pasture, starting a fire that swept rapidly eastward. Mr. Rogge's pasture was burned and only the prompt work of neighbors prevented the fire from spreading to the Keiser pasture beyond.

'Hans Hanson' Coming Monday.

The next big attraction at the Happy Hour in the show line is the play 'Hans Hanson' on Monday, Feb. 28.

It is typically an American play bristling with ridiculous situations and drate climaxes.

The air of the piece is especially wholesome and its fun is patricultry clean and not dependent on the buffoonery and suggestiveness so commonly employed by comedy dramas. The company has an efficient cast, Theatre managers, press and public speak very highly of the play, also of the band and orchestra which gives band concerts twice every day in front of the theatre.

Thank You Friends, Thank You.

We wish to thank all of those friends acquaintances and strangers, all friends never-the-less for the friend in need is a friend indeed, who have contributed to us since our trial by fire. We feel that some have helped who were scarcely able to do so and that all have been liberal. May the God of Heaven grant each of you the return that you deserve,

W. C. Leonard
Miss Lillie Leonard.
