

FIRST BALL GAME GOES 13 INNING WITH EVEN 5-5 SCORE

Seth Ward Here Monday—Rain Prevents Tuesday's Game—Team Makes Many Errors.

The first baseball game of the season was played Monday between the Normal and Seth Ward of Plainview. The game went 13 innings and resulted in a tied score of 5 to 5. It was agreed to call the game until Tuesday, but Tuesday morning rain started in and prohibited the game scheduled for the day.

The Normal team could easily have won the game had their fielding been better. The visitors made one earned run in the game. The remainder was made on Normal errors.

In the first inning the visitors made two scores, one on errors. The Normal made one that inning. In the fourth inning two men were down and one man on the bases. A fielding error allowed both to score, making the score 4 to 1 in favor of the visitors.

In the eighth the locals scored one run. In the ninth they made two more, which tied the score. Vallance drove deep into right and almost reached home for a four bagger, but the crowd got excited and ran onto the field, causing Vallance to run over a boy near the third sack, thus stopping him long enough to permit the home run and the winning score.

The game went on into the 13th inning where both teams secured an additional run and the game was called by agreement as it was almost too dark to play.

A Wheelless Clock

At least there is one clock under the sun which the small boy would have any fun with, in dissecting its inmost parts. This clock has no insides, and very little outside. It cost a hundred bucks and all there is to it a big piece of glass on which the hour numbers are lettered and two hands. The hands go around, and go at exactly the right gait to reel off twenty-four hours in 86,400 seconds to the dot. This clock is very unlike Mark Twain's and reminds one very strongly of Pat's description of the first trolley car he ever saw. Holland Drug Company has one of the clock in their window.

CITY COUNCIL AFTER AUTO SPEEDERS IN CITY LIMITS

At the meeting of the City Council Monday night, it was ordered that the city secretary notify the officers of the city to arrest all speeders within the city limits at once. It was stated that during the past few weeks auto owners have been very careless about speeding, and that men and boys have been seen running forty or fifty miles an hour within the city limits. The peace officers will be notified to get out and look for these speeders and arrest all of them.

The speed limit is eighteen miles per hour, and the members of the city council see no reason why the law should not be enforced.

There was no action taken on the proposition of increasing the number of street lights and ordering all night current.

Mayor Wilson stated that in view of the fact that the election on Tuesday was to be fought out along the lines of this additional improvement, it was not best for the old council to act.

FOSTER, MCGEE AND SERVICE NEW CITY SCHOOL TRUSTEES

There was more interest in the school election Saturday than any school election for a number of years. The names of five men were on the ticket, with three to be elected:

The following was the standing of the vote: G. G. Foster 138, Joe Service 95, R. McGee 93, Dr. D. M. Stewart 90, Dr. J. M. Black 81.

The new members were sworn in at a meeting Monday afternoon, and the organization perfected for the coming year's work. W. T. Moreland was elected president, T. C. Thompson vice president and E. F. King secretary.

GOOD RAIN FOLLOWS SNOW; QUARTER INCH ON TUESDAY

A quarter inch rain fell Tuesday morning, starting at sunrise and continuing until noon in a slow downpour. Coming on top of the moisture of the snow on Friday, this puts the ground in fine condition for spring work.

County Court Monday.

The April session of the county court begins Monday. Judge Coss says that he expects a busy term as the docket is full for the term. A jury commission will be selected Monday and draw the jury for the term for the jury cases. Judge Coss is practicing economy, as many other county judges, in not selecting juries until sure they will be used.

Pres. Morgan Here Sunday.

President R. B. Morgan, of the Baptist College at Goodnight, will speak at the local Baptist church next Sunday morning and evening. Rev. Morgan has visited Canyon on former occasions and always pleased his congregations with powerful sermons.

Soldier Deserters Through City.

Evidently all of Uncle Sam's soldiers don't like the job of going after Villa. Part of a car load passed through the city Tuesday on their way to Leavenworth Federal prison having been convicted of deserting.

J. S. Pool and family leave this week for Canyon, where they will reside hereafter. Mr. Pool having recently sold his farm here to R. G. Lewis, of Vernon.

Mr. Pool has owned land near Canyon for a number of years, which he will occupy.

Mr. Pool is among the oldest citizens in Floyd county in point of residence. He and his estimable family have many friends here who wish them well in their new home.—Floydada Hesperian.

GOOD SNOW FALLS FRIDAY—THREE AND HALF INCHES

Snow started to fall in the Panhandle Friday morning, March 31, and continued to fall nearly all day. In all there was three and one-half inches which made one-half inches of moisture.

This was the first snow of the late part of the winter. In fact there has been but very little snow or moisture of any kind during the entire winter.

In spite of the long dry spell, the wheat that was planted in the early fall has grown all of the time and with the warm weather coming on will make rapid growth after this snow. White the accompanying weather was cool, there was little freezing during the snow and growing vegetation was damaged but little, if any. It is feared that some of the fruit will be hurt by the freeze of Thursday night, which was greater than Friday night, while there was snow on the ground.

This is the first moisture for Randall county since November. Yet the farmers have been able to work the land all of the while and oats planting went right on. There was splendid moisture where the land had been broken last fall.

Everything points to another great year for the Panhandle in 1916.

More Rain This Morning.

A light rain is falling this morning as we go to press. The farmers report the two last rains as putting the plowed ground in excellent condition but they are glad to see this additional rain for the sod, a large amount of which will be put under cultivation this spring.

REID, LESTER, REDFEARN NEW COUNCIL MEMBERS

The city election called for Tuesday had a number of surprises. Monday a new ticket was put in the field against the ticket announced in the News of last week upon which J. W. Reid, J. E. Winkelman and Dr. S. R. Griffin were slated to run. The two latter gentlemen asked to be let off from the ticket as they have served on the council during the last term and they wanted to give somebody else the honor of serving the city. J. M. Redfearn's name was placed on the ticket from the third ward, while it was decided to give C. D. Lester the field in the second ward. The new ticket, put out Monday was composed of Mr. Lester, David Thomas and Geo. A. Brandon. The following was the result of the election:

Table with 2 columns: Name and Votes. J. W. Reid 100, D. Thomas 20, C. D. Lester 119, J. M. Redfearn 81, Geo. A. Brandon 36.

PROHIBITION SPEAKER HERE FRIDAY AND SATURDAY

Hon. John G. Camp of Georgia, will be in the city Friday and Saturday to speak at the Baptist church on the question of prohibition. He is coming under the auspices of the anti-saloon league of Texas. Rev. Pres. R. B. Cousins and Mr. Camp were schoolmates and Mr. Cousins speaks very highly of Mr. Camp's ability as an orator, and urges the people of Canyon to hear him Friday and Saturday nights.

The meetings will be held in the Baptist church at 8 o'clock.

Putting it Off.

Procrastination is the thief of time. It is the nursery of grief, the origin of sigh and tear. My impulse is to wait a while before I do the useful chore, and that is why I have to pile what others have long since stacked. When I come to the bitter water mark, with business shuffling as they pass, my wait is marked. "Don't wait, wait and plant all kinds of garden seeds," I say. "I'd rather wait till spring before I do such jobs as those. I'll sit before the fire and sing, and draw the children from my toes." And when the summer breezes blow, my aunt remarks, "Go get a spade and from the walks remove the snow, instead of sitting in the shade." But I reply, "When winter comes I'll shovel snow to heat the band. I'm busy eating pears and plums, and there's no shovel close at hand." Thus all my labors I postpone. I always have some thin excuse, while others chase the shining bone. I sit here saying, "What's the use?"

LITTLE WORK FOR EXPLORER

"Dark Places" of the World Have Seen Illuminated by the Traveler and Photographer.

The trail of the explorer is over every land from Paraguay to Tibet. Forbidden lands are entered, hidden cities exist only in the imagination of the fiction writer. In a period when trains run to Bokhara and the great African lakes; when the tourist appears at Khartoum, and Lhasa itself is entered, there is no room for a mysterious white race. Even the dark continent is no longer allowed to have its mysteries. The photographer sits on the battered walls of Kano, the Fulani emperors have passed away.

One may no longer believe in the existence of a strange white people in the heart of equatorial Africa. Rider Haggard's splendid race is probably only the Bahima, originally discovered by Speke in southwestern Uganda. At least Sir Harry Johnston claims to have discovered in them a clue to many of the mysterious white-race legends found in the dark continent. He was engaged in nothing more thrilling than a tour of inspection of Ankole when he came across them. They are of a very light complexion and are the aristocrats of this region. Sir Harry holds that they are obviously descended from a Gala, Somali or other Hamitic stock, and adds that some of them are more like Egyptians than is the case with Galas and Somalis. Romance disappears before the tread of the explorer. The dark continent is dark no more.

STANDARD NEVER TOO HIGH

Well for a Man to Report to Himself Occasionally, to See if He is Headed Right.

Look here, Mr. Man, what is the use in trying to deceive yourself about some of those mean little characteristics which cling to you?

Why should you try to make yourself believe that you're not so bad as you are? "Our family has a pretty good name, I guess if everyone were as good as we are, this world wouldn't be so bad." Yes, you'll hear this remark, and you'll know that the speaker will never be any better than his meals.

A great chef told his class that if they had ever tasted a dish better than the one they had prepared theirs was not good. He did not say "Be content that you don't find many dishes better than yours."

A man is no better than his standard, and if his standard is the best in all the world it is none too good.

Don't deceive yourself. You have a real job on your hands.

If you are not convinced of the fact, try to break yourself of certain mean little traits that crop out occasionally. Once you realize how persistently they return you'll be surprised.

Put yourself on probation for a while. Report to yourself at intervals, and see if you haven't a job as your own probation officer.—Exchange

Useful Work Eugenists Can Do.

"It is time for the friends of eugenics," writes Dr. W. C. Rucker, assistant surgeon general United States public health service, in the Journal of Heredity, "to stop promoting such legislation as that heretofore lined (sterilization and restrictions on marriage) and to divert more of their energy to a broad, constructive policy for the furtherance of eugenics. They may, for example, very profitably help to:

- Promote research in heredity;
- Disseminate a knowledge of the laws of heredity;
- Create a 'eugenic conscience' in the public;
- Give the young people of their acquaintance a chance to meet and fall in love with suitable life partners;
- Further every means that will remove some of the social and economic bars to marriage and parenthood that now tell so heavily on our eugenically superior classes."

Wisdom of the Second Generation.

"In the good old days, when I was a boy," states Gaunt N. Grimm, "and children were browbeaten until they were satisfied to be seen and not heard, it was easy for their elders to run the bluff all over them that because they were older they were necessarily wiser. But today, with the increase of decency in the treatment of children and the many avenues of enlightenment that are open to them that were not provided for me, it has got so the rising generation is positively overbearing in its smartness. The youngsters not only know more than I do, but they prove it on me so conclusively that at times I feel like going to live in the tree-grown wildwood in order to find company sufficiently ignorant to be congenial.—Kansas City Star.

The Obstacles to Evil.

In the constitution of our nature a limit has been fixed to the triumph of evil. Falsity in theory is everywhere confronted by the facts which present themselves to every man's observation. A lie has not power to change the ordinances of God. Every day discloses its utter worthlessness until it fades away from our recollection and is numbered among the things that were. The indissoluble connection which our Creator has established between vice and misery tends also continually to arrest the progress of evil, and to render odious whatever would render evil attractive.—Francis Wayland.

Land Preparation For Spring Crops.

Fall or early spring plowing and listing has always been successful in the Southwest, the deeper the better, also the earlier the better. On account of much time being consumed in harvesting the enormous crops of last year, very little fall plowing was done, and by the time winter came on much land was too dry to plow at all.

Breaking Sod:—For common crops, best results come from breaking the sod from 2 1/2 to 3 inches in depth, whether this be done in the fall or spring. The rod breaker is usually considered preferable to the solid mold board breaker for southwestern conditions. Freshly broken sod should be packed by rolling, floating or discing with discs set straight, immediately behind the breaker, this compacts the furrow-slice against the subsoil thereby saving lots of moisture and insuring quicker rotting. Sod that is covered with green grass will rot quicker than that covered with dry grass. For garden, orchard or special crops, which are to be cultivated the first year, the sod should be broken early and shallow, this in turn should be thoroughly disced and afterwards reworked about two inches deeper, thus insuring a fine seed bed which will work like old land.

Spring Plowing:—Demonstrations have proven doubt that it does not pay to plow old land deep in the spring. Three to five inches plowing, at this time, is deep enough, especially when the time for planting is near. Observing farmers know that deep and loose seed beds dry out more quickly and fail to produce as good crops as the more firm preparation. Deep plowing must have considerable time to settle or become firm, also to accumulate moisture before planting time. Whether the ground has been plowed or not, all row crops should be planted in furrows and not on the surface, these furrows can be made with lister or with sweeps.

Spring Listing:—Double listing insures best results, especially if the first time over the field was done in the fall or early winter. To double list in the spring is not so certain unless there is an abundance of moisture. When moisture is limited and every effort must be made to save it, then double discing for the first operation will give best results, followed later by single listing and immediate planting. It is important to plant at once following the last listing or "busting," do not wait for the field to dry out or for weeds to get a start.

Harrowing:—Fall listed land should be harrowed in the spring, especially if there is a chance to save some moisture. Land that has been plowed in the fall should be left rough. Spring plowed land requires some harrowing, but should not be worked too smooth or fine, especially if there is danger of the soil blowing.

JANE AND POLITICS

By ELSIE SEE.

Jane landed in the little capital city the Sunday night before the legislature opened. It was the first time in her life she had registered at a hotel. She saw groups of men and overheard enough of their conversation to learn that many of them were office-seekers, like herself. She began to wish she had not let Amy Mason persuade her to run for senate filing clerk in order to make some easy money.

Jane noticed that these men looked over the register and buttonholed all the legislators who entered the lobby. Next morning the lobby of the hotel, long the headquarters for legislators, lobbyists and office-seekers, was crowded with many kinds of men.

Across the lobby in the center of a group of deferential men, Jane saw a dainty pink-and-white girl chaperoned by a handsome matron. Later, she found that the girl was Miss Mayo, her opponent, who was running for re-election. When Jane saw how well the senators seemed to know her fair opponent and how well the opponent seemed to know the "ropes," she felt that her chances were like those of a poor, unknown gray dove against a brilliant bird of paradise.

She regretted having allowed Amy to persuade her to get Judge Morton's support for the position. She now felt more frightened than when she had walked timidly into his office. But his cordial assurance of support had put her at ease there. He had told her that in order to be elected filing clerk she would have to secure the vote of a majority of the Republican senators, of whom there were twenty-two. As she was acquainted with only one senator, Amy's uncle, the prospect did not look bright, but Judge Morton spoke encouragingly and told her many preliminary steps to take by securing endorsements from prominent men who had been her father's friends.

Through it all Jane kept thinking that Judge Morton seemed so much younger than she had thought him, for when he had helped administer her father's estate she was fifteen, and as a man of thirty he had seemed an old bachelor to her. But twenty-five and forty did not seem so far apart.

All the experience of that visit to Judge Morton's office passed through Jane's troubled mind as she looked at the swarming group of men in that smoky lobby and realized that she must appeal to twenty-two of them to vote for her. Just as she was beginning to plan some way to escape the whole dreadful situation, a senator approached her.

"Miss Gray," he began, "I'm not yet in a position to pledge my support either to you or to your opponent, but I do want to tell you that you're using the right methods. Don't nag the senators—that's what your opponent's doing."

Jane had not realized that she possessed any methods, but it encouraged her to hear that she did. When Judge Morton arrived on Tuesday the fight had waxed warm, and every senator had a string of candidates and their supporters after him. Hardly a senator would commit himself to a promise for fear of losing a vote for one of his own wards. When Wednesday afternoon came Jane had three definite promises, three favorable prospects and the rest in awful uncertainty. She must have twelve votes to win. The thought of it sickened her.

"You'll be expected to go to the statehouse to hear the result of the vote," said Judge Morton. "And don't run away if you lose, for we'll take care of you with something else."

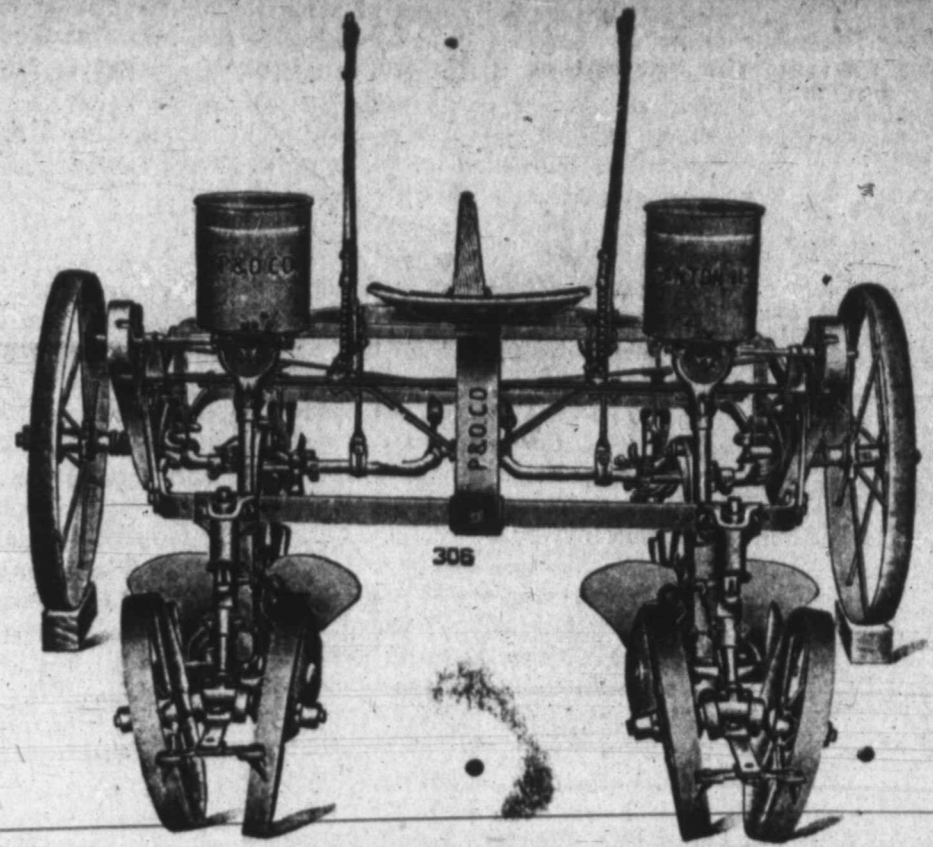

As they walked together toward the statehouse she found it awkward to talk to him. She feared he was disgusted with all this vote begging; and she felt angry with herself for getting him into such a muddle. She was tired and discouraged and poisoned by the smoky air of the hotel lobby. The warm dampness outside did not refresh her. She did not dream that Judge Morton was noticing her until he abruptly asked her what was the matter.

Try as she would, she could not speak a word in reply. Her throat seemed closed tight. Then two big tears rolled down her cheeks. But Providence came to the rescue, for big drops of rain began to fall. Thicker and thicker they came and while Judge Morton said no more, the way he almost lifted Jane along the walk and up the broad steps gave her such a reassured feeling that she didn't care whether she won the old position or not.

There was an hour to wait. Many people were about and her opponent was smiling on everybody. But her smiles did not keep her from stealing many an anxious glance toward the door of the caucus chamber where the vote was being taken. Jane's overwrought nerves were near collapse when the senator from her district came out from the caucus chamber. Fat, redfaced, and tired, his appearance showed that the fight was over, and Jane thought he looked like a whipped man. He tolled slowly down the long aisle of the senate chamber until he reached her.

"Miss Gray," he said slowly, "at the eleventh hour you won. I managed to put it off for the last office to be voted on, and as I'd lost on two others the senators stood by me on this. Let me congratulate you."

The Double Primary.

It must be manifest to every one that we can have no double primary and majority nomination in the senatorial contest if the answer of the attorney general's office to Chairman Waples' inquiry is to be the rule of action. It is held that the supreme court's recent decision forbids an appropriation of public funds to hold the senatorial primary, and it is held that the act itself forbids the raising of funds for this purpose by any other method. It seems to have been suggested that perhaps officers and clerks can be persuaded to serve without cost, while as to the necessary supplies the committees must make the best arrangements possible. This amounts to the proposition that, while the law forbids a solicitation of the money that would be necessary to defray the ordinary expenses of an election, it does not forbid a solicitation of labor and material. Common sense, at least, can not easily assent to that distinction which implies that labor and materials are things of such little value as not to come within the inhibition against the solicitation of money. But, aside from this absurdity, the fact that the only two possible methods of getting the necessary funds are thus denounced as illegal, one by the supreme court's decision and the other by the opinion of the attorney general's office makes the holding of the second senatorial primary practically impossible. —Galveston News.

Roads and Automobiles.

Automobiles build roads. Time was not many years back when there was a general complaint amongst country people that good roads benefited only automobile owners—that was, then, a few town people. It looked as if that complaint became the strongest argument of the opponent of good roads. It is different now. Automobiles of all sizes and classes are within reach of the farmer, if he is only reasonably prosperous.—And, whereas the automobile is largely a luxury to the town man, to the farmer a few miles out from town it is now a necessity. Every farmer who owns a car or ever expects to is an ardent advocate of good roads now. Whereas good roads are being considered—as witness the "rounding-off" and "banking" of formerly short, square turns.

Already the automobile is, and it will continue increasingly to be, one of the greatest influences for the building and maintenance of roads. Drivers of horse-drawn vehicles are reaping of its benefits.

NOT ENOUGH CHILDREN

ever receive the proper balance of food to sufficiently nourish both body and brain during the growing period when nature's demands are greater than in mature life. This is shown in so many pale faces, lean bodies, frequent colds, and lack of ambition.

For all such children we say with unmistakable earnestness: They need Scott's Emulsion, and need it now. It possesses in concentrated form the very food elements to enrich their blood. It changes weakness to strength; it makes them sturdy and strong. No alcohol.

Canyon must do some cleaning up before the 21st. There will be hundreds of visitors in the city that day. In the Normal addition there will be a clean up on Saturday, April 15th. Classes will be dismissed for the afternoon and the student body divided into squads with captains, which squads will take divisions of the addition and make a thorough clean up, like the citizens of the city did three years ago. There ought to be such a clean up of the whole town, not because of such bad conditions in the city but simply because many people will not take interest in cleaning up their own premises until every other man in town is doing likewise. It would be an excellent idea to close all of the business houses for at least half a day before the 21st and make the clean up thorough.

The rain has finally come and the wheat crop will be in good condition for several weeks. The Panhandle people did not become scared even if there was no rain for several months and the wheat kept on growing as if there were regular rains. The Panhandle is the greatest place on earth, either with or without rain.

Champ Clark comes out in a strong defense of the record of congress. The republicans are looking for campaign material, whether good, bad or indifferent, and Champ is determined they should not use the legislation which he has been instrumental of passing.

The News has three different views on the senatorial second primary in this week's issue—from the Governor, the Attorney General and the Chairman of the State Executive Committee. The matter will be definitely settled Friday of this week.

Villa is reported on the southward run. In which case, Villa shows his good judgment. Better it would have been for him had he turned his face toward the south instead of Columbus.

Lockney Beason—Our friend Haney, of the Wichita Falls Tribune, seems to think that Banker Morris of Winboro, will give Gov. Ferguson a run for his money. Editor Haney belongs to that class of ultra editors and politicians who seems to think that in order to hold their political prestige it is necessary for them to keep agitating the prohibition question whether the issue is at stake or not. Haney is the Wichita representative in the lower house, and was strong champion of educational measures. He and the governor were in harmony on many matters affecting the schools, and in fact there were no differences of opinion between him and the governor on matters in which Mr. Haney was interested; yet he seeks to retire him on no other grounds than that of the prohibition issue. Politics of this kind tends to weaken rather than strengthen prohibition in Texas. The Gibson law is the pretext of some to fight the governor for a second term, but in reality it is the old-line-up pro against anti and anti against pro. Of course we can see where those who are interested pecuniarily in Home Insurance companies and the monopoly they enjoy in matter of lending money at a high rate of interest should oppose the governor, but just why a friend of education and the economical administration of public affairs should join the opposition is more than we can see. However, the friends of the administration are not alarmed, depending on the good judgment of those who stand for a clean business administration in Texas.

Canadian Record—If William Jennings Bryan wasn't so ardent a lover of peace and harmony he would probably bring litigation against the heirs and assigns of Villa who in less than two hours there delivered a more powerful lecture on unpreparedness than the celebrated W. J. B. has been able to inject into the American people since he quit the cabinet at a stipulated price per injection.

Plainview News—Already carnival companies are beginning to book some of the towns in this section, under auspices of and for the "benefit" of a fire company, brass band or other local organization. The News trusts that never again will a carnival be allowed to come to Plainview, and serves notice here and now that it intends to fight the bringing of a carnival here. By the help of the preachers, the school teachers and moral people we believe we can win in such a fight. There are no "clean" carnivals—all of them are immoral and degrading, and most of their concessions are gambling schemes; besides, they take lots of money out of the community without any adequate compensation therefor. The carnivals that have visited our town in the past have been a stench in the nostrils of all decent people.

"A SOUL ENSLAVED."

Richard Newton and Paul Kent, college chums, are a bit wild. Richard has an affair with a well-known and popular society girl. When vacation time comes Nellie, worrying over her condition, begs Richard to take her with him, but he puts her off, promising to return for her. Next day Nellie is found a suicide floating in a nearby lake. The papers tell of her suicide and Richard learns of it in this way. Ten years elapse. Jane, a waif of the stumps, has grown up, kicked and cuffed about by everyone. She now works in a factory owned by one Ambrose. The owner takes quite a fancy to her. Ambrose has a beautiful little apartment furnished for the girl and gives her everything her heart could desire. Ambrose invites his friends, Paul Kent, to meet the girl. Kent becomes infatuated with her and finally persuades her to leave. Kent promised to marry the girl, but fails to do so.

One day white Jane is motoring her car frigten a horse and its rider is thrown. The rider is Richard Newton. While in the hospital Newton falls in love with her. Jane sells all and gives the money to the Sisters' Orphan Asylum, thus hoping to atone for her wrongs. Richard finally overcomes her resistance and they marry. A girl baby comes and it seems that their happiness is complete.

Paul takes her to the beach one day and while she is resting Newton meets Paul. He sees Jane and makes a disparaging remark about her. Newton again meets Paul and is ordered to come along and prove his insinuation regarding her. When Jane sees Newton she collapses. There is a tense scene between husband and wife and Paul leaves home in a rage. Jane, half demented, wanders out and is taken in by the Sisters of an Orphan Asylum. The maid, thinking to take Paul's mind away from his troubles, brings the baby in but is frightened away at his actions when he angrily orders her out, throws her some money and tells her to take the child to some asylum. She takes baby to the Sisters' asylum and there finds Jane. Jane's reason returns when she sees the baby and, sobbing bitterly, she takes the child and hugs it to her breast.

Paul, left alone, is bitterly condemning Jane when a vision of Nellie comes to him and he suddenly realizes he is as much a sinner as she is. He hurries to the asylum and finds both Jane and the baby. They leave arm in arm with the blessings of the Sisters following them.

Rev. Mitchell of Tulia has an appointment at Beula for the 2nd Sunday in April.

Rev. G. B. Airhart of Tulia held a revival the past week at New Hope. The pupils of the Wayside school are anticipating a royal time visiting the Claude Fair at Claude on the 7th and 8th inst. If the weather permits quite a number are planning to go and participate in the contests.

Schaffer Bros. are putting up a new two story residence of eight rooms with cemented cellars.

Pleasant View Items.

The Pleasant View school closed Friday and as stated in last week's issue of the News the program was on Monday following to accommodate the Normal training school, of which a large crowd attended. Everything went off just as it was planned, except the dinner which was a little late on account of one of the Pleasantviewites in the ball team being late but it just made the dinner taste better.

Bro. Younger was equal to the occasion when it came to arranging things about the tables and seats, also called off the program which was lengthy and a success and credit to P. V. and teacher, Mrs. W. H. Younger of Canyon.

The ball game pulled off between P. V. and the Normal training school of Canyon was lively from the beginning while Canyon beat, they should for they are in practice and P. V. is not and besides Canyon rooters kept up such a noise and called us such names as shallow brains, hollow head, slim and beer bottle, even insisted on some of our delicate men taking antifat, which was the limit to say nothing about the boys making sweet eyes at the P. V. girls, but we will have to get used to this kind of rejoicing as it all belongs to the game. The score stood 7 to 17 in favor of Canyon. Mr. Clifford Dooley being captain.

Sam Layman returned home Tuesday.
A fine rain began falling Tuesday morning and continued until noon which will start farming and help the grass.

The school meeting did not poll a very heavy vote. Ed Gibson was elected for the next two years.

Jim Johnson is moving to Vigo Park this week.
Taylor Bros. bought a bunch of cows north of Canyon this week.

We would guess there were about 300 at P. V. Monday. Everyone brought well filled baskets and all had dinner. We hope none were sighted as plenty was left.

We wish to thank Bro. Cousins for his most excellent address Monday, also Bro. Younger for his help. Also all that came and took part in making the day a success.

Yours for a better time next time,
BOOSTER.

CHEAP SUBSTITUTE FOR GASOLINE FOUND

Washington, April 3.—A substitute for gasoline, equal in energy producing qualities, which can be sold at 6c a gallon and can be produced in unlimited quantities, has been discovered by two Pittsburgh men, with whom Government experts are now making arrangements for a demonstration in Washington within a short time.

The inventors are the Rev. R. J. C. McKnight of Pittsburgh and Guy Barber, an expert mechanic. Several members of Congress have been advised by Dr. McKnight's claim and those who personally know him believe he has developed a product which will reduce the present high prices.

In order to use the gasoline substitute in automobiles a special apparatus must be attached to the machine costing $10,000 will fill about 2,000 containers in a ten hour day or the equipment of this machine would cost about $250 per day.

Dr. W. A. Williams, petroleum expert of the Bureau of Mines, is conducting the negotiations with the inventors for the Government, and arrangements have been made to bring the product to Washington for a test.

Secretary of the Navy Daniels today submitted to the House Naval Affairs Committee a recommendation for an appropriation of $1,500 to investigate the practicability of establishing a Government plant for refining crude oil for Government use. It has been said that automobiles take more money out of our small-town and rural communities than any other one necessity or luxury in use.

A few weeks ago an automobile agent in one of our small towns learned that a woman in the locality would shortly purchase a machine. An effort to sell her from the line he represented failed, as she had definitely decided upon another make not represented locally.

Before going to a nearby city to make her purchase, however, she called on this agent and asked if he couldn't sell her the car she had decided upon. She wanted to keep her money at home if possible.

She also mentioned the fact that one of her friends was thinking of buying and might be induced to accept one of the kind she was purchasing. She even offered to speak to her friend in the matter.

To make a long story short, this agent, through the assistance of this well-meaning woman, sold both cars and secured the agency for the automobile in question.

HOUSEFLY NESTS IN FILTH--HELP TO KILL HIM

The housefly is a foul and dangerous little pest. The female lays her eggs in manure, in human excrement or in the flesh of dead and rotting animals, never anywhere else. The eggs hatch into maggots and the maggots feed on the filth until they sprout wings and become flies. The flies swarm into our homes, bringing with them the germs of many diseases—especially typhoid, consumption and dysentery—which they deposit on our food.

Many of our homes were saddened last year by death resulting from diseases spread by flies. Therefore the housefly is our deadly enemy and we ought to kill him off as far as possible before warm weather comes. To do this effectually will require the co-operation of the whole community. Cleanliness, generally speaking, is the fly's greatest enemy, but if one man cleans up his place—removing all barnyard filth, keeping garbage cans covered, etc.—and his neighbors on either side do not follow suit, the one man will not be protected from flies and disease.

This war on flies is a job for the whole town, and it is a big one. It is suggested that our local authorities or some of our active citizens call a meeting and make plans at once to start the campaign for fly extermination. Let us enlist the aid of the health officers, the physicians, the merchants, the lawyers, the mechanics, the women and the boys and girls.

It will be necessary to have a number of committees to look after the many angles of the work and see that proper preventive measures are taken to remove the opportunities for flies to lay eggs and hatch them. Swatting the fly is ineffective—you only kill one fly at a swat. But if you begin earlier by spraying manure piles and the contents of outhouse vaults with kerosene or with chloride of lime, so that fly eggs will not hatch in these masses, you prevent the birth of millions of flies.

The state board of health will be glad to send us all kinds of information helpful in carrying on a fly war, if our local doctors have none on hand. After the campaign organization is formed, about the first thing to do is to get reliable information and put it in the hands of our people.

Who will make the first move to start the campaign?

No Filth—No Flies!

Flies and filth go together. No filth, no flies! About the only good thing you can say about the fly is that his presence should stimulate you to hunt up the place where he was born and destroy it so that it may breed no more of his kind.

Fly swatting may be a popular pastime. It has been talked about much so far, it has proved ineffective. The well-meaning person, applying the swatter at every opportunity, kills one fly at a time. The removal of the contents of a single manure box will swat millions of them at a blow.

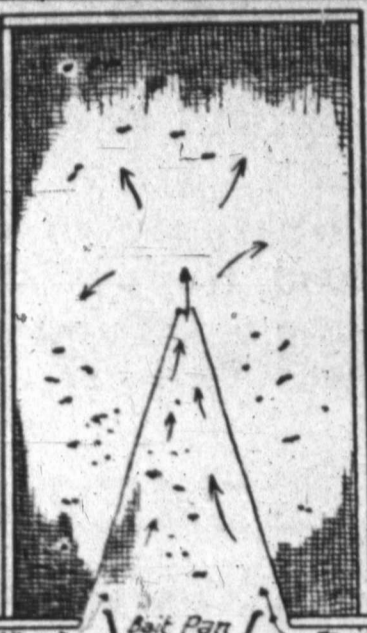

Screens and swatters are a good thing, but a clean neighborhood is the best. Get busy!

How to Sterilize Milk.

Drs. R. Kraus and E. Barbara of the city of Buenos Aires assert in the Muenchener Medizinische Wochenschrift that water or milk can be rendered sterile simply and rapidly by shaking with animal charcoal and filtering. A three per cent addition of charcoal suffices for milk if it be allowed to stand for 15 minutes.

GOOD FLY TRAP

How to Make It.

One way to control the fly is to catch it in such a trap as is shown above. The trap may be placed near the garbage can, or any other place that the flies are sure to come. A simple and effective trap may be made from a grocery box by substituting wire netting for the top and two sides, cutting a round hole in the bottom and inserting in it a wire netting cone with an eighth-inch opening at the bottom and a half-inch opening at the top. Some article of food, preferably a fish head, should be placed inside for bait. The trap must be elevated several inches above the ground, so as to give the flies a chance to enter. When the trap is full, it may be emptied by shaking its contents through a small opening, ordinarily closed by a sliding door. The trap described and shown in the illustration is a particularly effective one, as it was planned with a view to the fly's habits. The odor of food leads the fly to enter the trap at the bottom. Once inside it is attracted to the top by the light. When it gets out of the wire cone it cannot escape. The trap has the additional virtue of being inexpensive. It may be made at a cost of about twenty cents and about a half hour's time.

Cover Manure Box and Garbage Can

A proper system of manure disposal is more important than all other measures combined as a method of controlling the fly nuisance. A proper method of garbage collection and disposal is next in importance. The garbage should be drained, wrapped in paper and collected in a fly-proof metal bucket. The bucket should be washed at intervals with lye soap and water and then sponged with kerosene in water.

The foregoing advice is from the famous sanitary authority, Dr. W. A. Evans of Chicago. In our local campaign we should utilize this information to the utmost. It has long been recognized that swatting the fly would never rid the community of his whole tribe forever more. We have learned that we must make war on him early in the season by getting rid of his breeding places and his natural sources of food supply—filth.

Some of us are inclined to grumble that campaigning against flies is mighty troublesome. Well, the grumblers will find it less troublesome to campaign effectually against flies than to nurse a member of the family through a spell of typhoid fever—and much less expensive.

PAIGE

The Standard of Value and Quality

You Must Place Your Order Now If You Want "Immediate Delivery"

Once again, we must urge you to act quickly in placing your order for a Paige Fairfield seven passenger "Six-46."

Don't delay. Don't put the matter off one day longer than is absolutely necessary if you would avoid disappointment later on.

Already the factory is flooded with orders for this wonderfully popular model.

Despite the fact that our manufacturing facilities have been tripled, we are facing an immediate shortage of Fairfields, and the spring retail season is only a few weeks off.

Just stop for a minute and consider the significance of the statement when we tell you that; so far in 1916, we have marketed more seven passenger cars than any other manufacturer in our price class.

Also, ponder over the fact that during March we shipped 25 solid train loads of the Fairfield model exclusively.

Last year, you will remember, there was a long Paige "waiting list."

Hundreds of people delayed their purchases until the last minute—and were then compelled to accept sixty and ninety days delivery—or compromise on a "second best."

So, be fair to yourself. Protect your own good interests. Go to the Paige dealer—place a cash deposit in his hands—and make sure that you will receive the car of your choice.

It is by no means our purpose to "stampede" motor car buyers into early or ill-advised purchases, but we know that a shortage is coming and offer this information in a sincerely helpful spirit.

And now let us say a word about the car itself.

First and foremost, we want to remind you that the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" is a tried and proven success.

When you buy a Paige "Six-46" today, you are buying a car which has passed the experimental stage. You are buying a car of known quality—known ability.

In a word, the "Six-46" is an eminently safe automobile investment.

It is a good car—not merely because we say so—but because its owners have conclusively established this goodness in the gruelling tests of more than a year's actual road work.

Here, then, is one substantial reason for the overwhelming demand which the "Six-46" enjoys. And there is another—a basic reason which has made this record possible.

Time and time again, we have stated our policy of scrupulously avoiding any expression in Paige advertising which might savor of exaggeration or misrepresentation. We make an honest product and we propose to sell it in an honest way.

But, facts are facts, and we boldly and fearlessly claim that the Paige Fairfield "Six-46" represents more actual dollar-for-dollar value than any other motor car on the market.

If this appears to be a broad statement we invite you to check us up by inspecting the car, riding in it, and conducting any comparative investigation which you may care to make.

Understand, we do not claim to make the only good motor car, nor do we ask you to believe that our Fairfield is the best American make.

But we do most emphatically insist that the "Six-46" offers a greater value for its price—$1295—than any other automobile produced in this country or abroad.

Furthermore, you will heartily agree with us if you will permit the Paige Dealer to give you one thorough demonstration—just one.

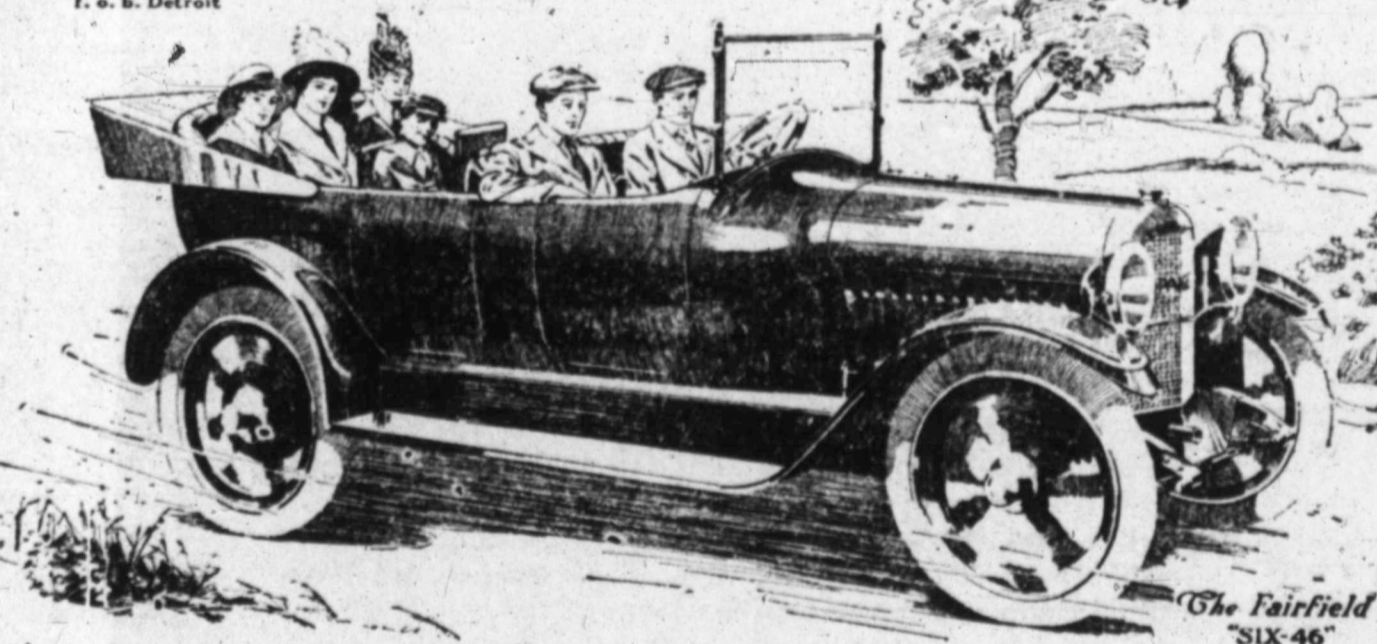

But, please don't forget—you must act quickly. Get your order in now—before it is too late.

WE SHOULD ACT NOW!

When the American army went down to Cuba to clean things up politically and otherwise after the Spanish-American war, it found that Havana was one of the worst yellow-fever pest holes in the world.

The army surgeons learned that the mosquito was to blame. They declared war on the mosquito. The weapons in this war were not swatters. There was but one weapon—sanitation.

The city was cleaned with absolute thoroughness. Mosquito-breeding swamps were drained. Lakes and streams were covered with oil. Now Havana is one of the world's most healthful cities. The lesson taught fifteen years ago has been applied steadily by the Cubans.

In this country the house fly bears about the same relation to typhoid fever and dysentery that the mosquito bears to yellow fever in the tropics. Both insects are dangerous germ carriers.

This community ought to rid itself of flies. The means of doing so are the same as those employed in ridding Havana, the Canal Zone, Manila and New Orleans of the fever mosquito. But the job will not be nearly so big.

Our citizens should call a meeting by the middle of next week and form an organization to conduct the spring fly war. There is no time to be lost. Once warm weather arrives the flies will multiply faster than we can kill them off.

Let us act now!

When Deaf Meets Deaf.

When a real person meets an imposter, the imposter seldom carries, for a bombardment of questions in the sign language quickly convinces the real deaf person of the other's ignorance of the ins and outs of the world of silence.

So jealous are the organized deaf of their reputation of honesty, pride and industry that they are, through the "imposter bureau" of the National Association of the Deaf, conducting a publicity campaign to warn the public against the beggar who hands you a card saying he "recently lost his hearing" and desires "funds to enter a deaf and dumb school."

Such a situation is described in a recent statement issued by the "imposter bureau" as "doubly absurd." "A person losing his hearing," the statement says, "will not lose the power of articulation for from four to ten years. The so-called 'dumbness' is only a forgetfulness of how words sound. This principle is best illustrated by shipwrecked Robinson Crusoes, who, on rescue, are utterly unable to articulate save in weird gutturals, their ears having so long been unused to the modulated vowels and consonants that it takes several days to bring back the remembrance. Any beggar who insists he has 'recently lost his hearing' and yet is unable to converse with vocal fluency can be instantly set down as a fakir."

One of the chiefs of the "imposter bureau" is Anton Schroeder, a wealthy deaf inventor of St. Paul, Minn.

"Deaf people are not unhappy," he says. "They have a little world of their own—and the only thing that world lacks to make it happy is the enjoyment of music. With the advent of the high-art, low-priced photo plays the deaf are entering into the enjoyment of life in its fullest."

"The deaf do not beg; however, mind this please, that when a deaf person comes to ask for honest work all he asks is a fair chance and no more."—Star Telegram.

WOULD BAR GRAMMAR FROM MODERN SCHOOL

New York, April 2.—The study of grammar, Latin, Greek and "obsolete and ungenial classics" would be replaced in the present school system by actual activities in science, industry, aesthetics and civics, if the feasibility is proved of a modern school planned by Abraham Flexner, assistant secretary of the General Education Board, founded by John D. Rockefeller. The board today invited expressions of opinion regarding Mr. Flexner's "modern school," asserting that its sole interest was "to facilitate the trial of promising educational experiments under proper conditions."

The proposed school would use "the accessible world" as its laboratory, the city government, museums, zoological gardens, hardors, libraries, discarding those classics, "taught to generations and forgotten by them," which retained their place in the present curriculum through tradition and assumption. Grammar would be eliminated because of the utility of using it as an aid to correct speaking and writing.

Mr. Flexner, pointing to New York as an ideal location for the modern school, says the modern system requires too long to complete.

"An economy of two or three years is urgently necessary," he adds.

There is nothing that stands more squarely in the way of human progress than self-conceit with a little learning. —Dallas News.

ANURIC!

The Newest Discovery in Chemistry.

This is a recent discovery of Doctor Pierce, who is head of the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute at Buffalo, N. Y. Experiments at Dr. Pierce's Hospital for several years proved that there is no other eliminator of uric acid that can be compared to it. For the easily recognized symptoms of indigestion—as backache, scalding uric acid and frequent urination, as well as sediment in the urine, or if uric acid in the blood has caused rheumatism, lumbago, it's simply wonderful how surely "Anuric" acts. The best of results are always obtained in cases of acute rheumatism in the joints, in gravel and gout, as invariably the pains and stiffness which so frequently and persistently accompany the disease rapidly disappear.

Go to your nearest drug store and simply ask for a 50-cent package of "Anuric," which is 37 times more potent than lithia to eradicate uric acid, or even write Dr. Pierce for a large trial package (10c).

Good Hymns.

Many of our modern church hymns are doggerel. "They would be just as good sung backwards," said the Rev. John Thompson, speaking at a Methodist camp meeting near Chicago. "Many of them are full of theological untruths. If a preacher preached the heresies sung in many of these hymns, he would be rushed to a trial and theologically decapitated." The demand of the church for new hymns for prayer meetings, Sunday school, young people's meetings, for Christmas, Easter, Children's Day and other special occasions has created a large number of hymns and songs deserving all the criticism expressed by Dr. Thompson. Great hymns, on the other hand, are a possession of the church universal. They do not embody sectarianism or a narrow theology, but voice the aspirations of great souls after God. Cardinal Newman gave us "Lead Kindly Light," one of our finest modern hymns. "Jesus the Very Thought of Thee," admirably translated by Edward Saswall, comes from the gifted monk of the twelfth century, Benard of Clairvaux. "Jesus Lover of My Soul" was given to the church by Charles Wesley, an Arminian, "Rock of Ages" by Augustus M. Toplady, a Calvinist. These, and other grand old hymns, belong to the church universal, and may be sung by Protestant and Roman Catholics alike. In the past the church was deficient in hymns of brotherhood and social justice but that defeat has been largely met in recent years. Many centuries ago St. Augustine, defining a hymn said: "It is singing to the praise of God. If you praise God and do not sing, you utter no hymn. If you sing and praise not God, you utter no hymn." What we need is to weed out the doggerel from our hymns, leaving only hymns which are pure poetry, sound in doctrine, or which express the common aspirations of the soul of man in worship. —Leslies Magazine.

C. H. MORRIS, CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR OF TEXAS

LOONEY DISAPPROVES WAPLES' SUGGESTION

Austin, Texas, March 30.—Attorney General Looney today gave out the following statement: "The Hon. Paul Waples, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee, is quoted in today's papers as stating that he would recommend to the executive committee that a candidate for United States Senator be nominated at the convention when it meets for the nomination of Governor and other State officers. He is quoted as saying that this plan follows the ruling of the Attorney General, which he states, forbids the holding of a second primary, or run-off primary, in the Senatorial race. Mr. Waples has misunderstood the ruling of the Attorney General. No such ruling was made, and I do not wish to be understood as indorsing his suggestion that a candidate for United States Senator can be nominated by a convention and the plain provisions of our statute ignored in this manner. The Attorney General's Department did rule that the expense of holding this second primary could not be paid out of public funds, but if he will carefully read the opinion of this department he will find that we did hold that the expense for holding both the first and second primary could be provided in the respective counties by the county Democratic executive committees, and if not thus provided for, the officers holding the election, of course, would be expected to serve without pay."

VOTE ON SUFFRAGE AND PROHIBITION DELAYED

Washington, March 28.—Consideration of every proposed constitutional amendment introduced in the House this session, including those for women suffrage and prohibition and nineteen others of a minor character, was postponed indefinitely today by the judiciary committee. The vote was ten to nine. Suffrage leaders who vainly sought to have their proposal voted on separately, declared tonight they would continue their fight until the end of the session, if necessary. They maintained they controlled enough votes in the committee today to insure victory if the other questions had not been included in the motion.

SENATORIAL NOMINATION BY CONVENTION, IS PLAN

Fort Worth, Texas, March 29.—Nomination of a sensational candidate by convention at the time the candidate for Governor is nominated is the plan Paul Waples, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Chairman Waples said this evening that this is the only means by which the State can be assured of a candidate and that he felt those in the senatorial race will agree when they have considered all the facts. The plan is being made public at this time, he said, that these candidates may be in Dallas at the time of the meeting.

This plan follows the ruling of the Attorney General, which forbids the holding of a second primary, or "run off" election in the senatorial race. The Attorney General ruled that this second election could not be held if State funds are used in conducting it.

"If something is not done at once, we shall be in a bad way in the senatorial race," said Chairman Waples this evening. "The nomination by convention is the best plan I can devise and I expect to recommend it to the committee Friday. In case it is adopted, the voters will go into the first primary and make the selection for Senator just as they will for Governor and Congressman. Then the final nomination will come in the State convention, just as the nominees for the other two offices will be selected."

The following pupils of the 3rd and 4th grades have been perfect this month in spelling and will receive 100 per cent on their report cards:

- Third grade—Margaret Thomas, Fay Dunaway.
Fourth grade—Rena Bell Smith, Florence Neal, Sally Sanders, Erma Berry, Herschel Coffee, Willis McClendon.

Saturday afternoon the Seniors and Freshmen spelled against the Juniors and Sophomores. The spelling was very good, but on account of lack of preparation, the pupils did not stand up very long. The Seniors and Freshmen were the winners.

Next Saturday afternoon the seventh grade will spell against the fifth and sixth grades. The blue back speller is being studied much, and we are sure there will be good spelling.

This week commences the eighth month of school. The remaining two months will be the ones that count most.

Those who averaged 100 in spelling in the fifth grade are:

- Mattie Maud Stewart, Maxine Jennings, Hazel Gazaway, Lillian Thompson, Nonia Baker, Alton Gazaway, Gladys Sawtelle, Mary Lou Kirkpatrick, Maida McAfee, Lillian Mae Fogarty, Lillian Thompson, Nina Mae Sherer and Tommie Chessner made above 95 in general average.

Tipperary Tune in Mexico.

By The United States Press. With the American Army in Mexico, April 3.—The "dough boys" have created their own "war" song. It is a parody on "Tipperary," based on the long hikes between camps, and goes like this:

It's a long hike to Temporary, It's a long way to go; It's a long hike to Temporary, On the way to 'catch Poncho.

Good-bye, old Columbus; Farewell, Gibson's ranch. It's a long, long way to Temporary, But (shouted) we should worry!

Fishing Reported Good.

Fishermen are busy almost every day in the north and south creeks. Various kinds of luck have been reported, but perhaps the best is by the two Abbott boys who caught 35 bass and cat fish Monday evening on the south creek.

Yucatan now has a woman's club. Kansas has 453,145 women of voting age.

Daddy's Bedtime

How a Soldier Met an Old Witch.

ONCE upon a time there was a soldier coming home from wars, daddy told Jack and Evelyn when they teased for a story. "One-two! One-two! he came marching down a dusty road, with his knapsack on his back. The first person he met was an old witch limping along the road. She was very ugly to look at. Her lower lip hung down on her chin. "Good evening, soldier," she said. "What a nice sword you've got and such a big knapsack! You're a real soldier. You shall have money!" "Do you see that big tree?" asked the witch. "It's hollow inside. Climb the tree, and at the treetop you will see a hole. Let yourself down—right down under the tree. I'll tie this rope around your waist so I can pull you up again." "What shall I do under the tree?" asked the soldier. "Fetch money!" shrieked the old witch. "Surely you know that soon as you get down to the bottom of the tree you will be in a wide passage. It is light down there, for over a hundred lamps are blazing. You will see three doors, which you can open, for here are my keys. In the first room you will see a big box in the middle of the floor. A dog sits on it, and his eyes are as big as saucers, but you mustn't mind that. Here's my blue checked apron, which you must spread on the floor. Then go to the dog quickly and put him on my apron. Then you can open the big box and take out as much money as you like. It's all copper, but if you like silver better go to the next room. There you will find a dog with eyes as big as millstones. But never mind that. Put him on my apron and take the silver. If you want gold you can have all you want by going into the next room. The dog sitting on the gold box has eyes as big as the round tower. He is a dog! But don't let that trouble you. Put him on my apron, and he won't hurt you. Then take all the gold you like." "That sounds good!" cried the soldier. "But what am I to give you, old witch? You want something, that I know?" "Not a single penny. But I do want you to bring me my tinder box, which my grandmother unfortunately forgot the last time she was down there." "Tie your rope around my waist!" shouted the soldier. "Here it is," said the witch, and here is my blue checked apron." "Then the soldier climbed the tall tree and let himself slide right down the hollow trunk. When he landed on his feet he found himself in a wide passage with hundreds of lamps burning in it, just as the old witch had said," daddy finished.

WORTH A. JENNINGS, Sheriff Randall County, Texas

GOVERNOR UPHOLDS SENATORIAL PRIMARY

Austin, Texas, April 3.—Governor Ferguson gave out the following statement tonight:

"It is my purpose to attend the meeting of the State Democratic Executive Committee to be held at Hillsboro next Friday.

"I have been informed that there is a well-planned design on the part of those directly interested to defeat the law providing for majority nominations of candidates for United States Senator by direct vote of the people.

"The people succeeded in putting this law on the statute books after a struggle of many years with those who had long prospered by their ability to pack conventions and make political slates and otherwise thwart the will of the people.

"I am opposed to a return to this kind of politics and I can not believe that our executive committee will permit a plain, mandatory provision of the law to be nullified.

"The law specifically provides that no man can be the nominee of any party for United States Senator unless he receives a majority of the votes cast in the election. This is what the people have long demanded. And while this law is on the statute books

I can not see why any good Democrat should want the office unless he can get a majority of the people to vote him their choice.

"I hope every member of the executive committee will attend. The Democracy is on trial and it must defend itself against those who would lead us into a great mistake."

The European war has taken from the seas more than 2,000 merchant vessels of nearly 4,000,000 tons, according to figures published recently by the department of commerce. Germany, with 600 vessels sunk, captured or interred, heads the list of losers. Two hundred and twenty-five of the 500 British vessels lost were sunk by submarines. Great Britain's allies lost 167 ships. Austria lost 80 and Turkey 124. The total of neutral losses is put at 736, but most of these were released after being reported captured. Ninety-two neutral vessels have been submarined and 94 sunk by mines. Twenty-three have been damaged by submarines and mines.

NO REASON FOR IT

When CanYon Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Canyon citizen says:

Mrs. Clarence Smith, E. Third St., Canyon, says: "My back was weak and ached. It was also stiff and sore. The kidney secretions annoyed me a great deal. Black spots floated before my eyes and caused dizziness. It took only a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Holland Drug Store, to cure me and I have not been bothered since."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that cured Mrs. Smith. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.
