

DR. S. P. BROOKS HERE IN CAMPAIGN TOUR SATURDAY

Candidate for the United States Senate—Short Address Makes Favorable Impression

Dr. S. P. Brooks of Waco, candidate for the United States Senate from Texas, was in the city Saturday in the interest of his candidacy. He spoke to a large number from the east steps of the court house, his address being closely followed and at times heartily cheered.

Dr. Brooks stated that he had never held a public office, nor had he ever asked for one before. He had not been encouraged by any of the "old guard" politicians, but had been asked by thousands of people from all over the state just like the people to whom he was speaking.

He accredited one of his opponents with saying that Dr. Brooks could not be elected because he had no machine and no money. But "he did not charge that I had no moral courage," stated the speaker. He stated that he was one of the common people having been raised on the farm and having worked at the railroad business and other trades.

He stated that he expected to be in the second primary, and that his opponent in the second primary would be an anti. He stated that this being the case he would be elected by an overwhelming majority to this great office.

He stated that he stands by President Wilson in everything that the President has done. He closed by a beautiful tribute to the Chief Executive of this great country.

Daniel E. Garrett Here.

Hon. Daniel E. Garrett, candidate for congressman at large was in the city Saturday in behalf of his candidacy for congressman-at-large from the state of Texas. Mr. Garrett was a member of congress two years ago and served the state acceptably. He refused to leave his post of duty in congress to come home during the campaign to defend his right for reelection, and consequently was defeated for one of the places by a small majority.

Mr. Garrett was one of the ablest men ever sent from Texas to Washington and it was a great disappointment that he was not returned for his second term.

He spoke for a few minutes before Dr. Brooks opened his address and stated that he came to Canyon this year not so much to ask for the votes of the people this year as to thank them for the fine vote he received two years ago. He stated that in proportion to the numbers of the voters in the county, he believed Randall gave him a larger majority than any other county in the state two years ago. He gave a good natured review of his past accomplishments and asked that the voters remember him in the July primaries.

STREET LIGHTS BEING PLACED OVER RESIDENCE PART OF CITY

All Night Service Will Start About the Middle of July—Placed by City Council

The city council has spotted the lights which were ordered two months ago and the Canyon Power Co., has begun the work of installing the same. It will take until the middle of July to complete the work of installation in order that the service may begin.

The lights are ordered by the members of the city council are as follows: Houston street—Beginning at the S. S. Coffee home, a light will be installed on that corner; skip one block and install one at the McGee corner; skip one block to the Bob Foster corner, where one is installed; skip one block to the Methodist parsonage, and one is installed. This brings the service to the lights that have been running for a number of years, which run to the square. Beginning at the northeast corner of the square, skip one block to the Service corner where a light is installed; then one at the Allen and Guenther corners. There is now one at the Gatewood corner and one on the campus of the Normal.

The lights on Evelyn street will begin at the Buchmann residence, then skip a block to the Pierce corner, where a light is installed; then skip two blocks to the M. E. Church where there is a light; then one is installed at the Christian church the Presbyterian church, the Burrow corner, the Keiser corner, the Lusby corner, bringing the lights up the square where there are now two lights. East of the square will be one at the Arkansas hotel and one at the Stafford corner.

On Chestnut street there will be lights at the following corners: Orton store, Griffin corner, Ackley corner, Gober corner, Thurman corner. On Cedar street the lights will start at the Harrison corner where there is now a light, then one will be placed at the Harbison corner, one at the Pipkin corner, one at the Reynolds corner, one at the Vetek and Jenkins corners.

On Canyon street lights will be placed at the Mark Foster corner, the Ridgeway and Ackerman corners.

The Santa Fe railroad will place lights at the following crossings; the mill, east of depot and Moreland residence.

Miss McGehee Elected Monday.

Miss Sarah McGehee was elected Monday by the trustees of the Canyon Public Schools to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Mrs. C. R. Flesher, nee Miss Avis Baird. Miss McGehee has been a successful teacher and has just completed her course in the Normal.

Rogers Quits Race.

I am quitting the sheriffs race. I thank all my friends for their support. There has been a large number said that Rogers would make the best sheriff but we can not elect him, so there has been so many "buts" that they have butted me off the ticket. Some of course will want to know why I quit. Well my reason is I did not think I could be elected, so here is hoping that the man that is elected will make the best sheriff Randall county has ever had.

SMALL FARMER MAY GET FREE BLACK LEG VACCINE OF BENTON

Agricultural Demonstrator Will Come and Assist Farmers When Called Upon.

County Agricultural Demonstrator Hermon Benton, of Amarillo, announced Thursday afternoon at the Farmers Institute that the government was now furnishing him with black leg vaccine and authorized him to go to the small farmer when called upon and assist with the vaccination. He will furnish and administer up to 200 doses.

Mr. Benton made an interesting address to the farmers upon the work he had been doing as representative of the government. He stated that the hog cholera situation which he had been treating was growing much better and there had been but few cases reported of late. He urged the farmers to be careful in shipping hogs into this country that they were not infected with cholera, to which all of the cholera of this year can be traced.

D. C. Dove spoke of the work of the Farmers Institute.

J. L. Pope, editor of the Amarillo News, spoke interestingly of the cooperation between the farmer and the business men of the Panhandle.

Officers were elected for the Institute as follows:

Welton Winn, president.

R. A. Campbell, vice president.

W. J. Flesher, secretary.

Delegates to the Farmers Congress were elected as follows: L. D. Winn, J. M. Craig, H. C. Roffey and A. B. Haynes.

The farmers will have a meeting in Canyon on the afternoon of primary day, July 22.

Messrs. Dove and Winn left Friday for the Sputh Plains where they will continue their work in the interest of the State Agricultural department.

NO SECOND PRIMARY THIS YEAR IN RANDALL COUNTY

County Executive Committee Votes Against Proposition—Arrange Names on Ticket.

There will be no second primary for county officers in Randall county this year according to the decision of the Democratic County Executive Committee at the meeting held Monday. The vote was taken after the candidates had been given a hearing in regard to their views upon the subject. Several were strong for the primary, while others were against the second primary.

For one of more of the following reasons, a majority of the committee were opposed to the primary: That it was unnecessary; that the cost would be too great upon the candidates; that the farmers would not take part in the second primary, as it was pointed out that in one box last election they were too busy to hold the first one; that there would be a second senatorial primary and the people were tired of politics, if the three primaries would be held.

The names of the candidates were arranged on the ticket, from state offices down to precinct offices, lots being drawn for places. No favoritism was shown for either the highest or the lowest in the race.

Assessments were made against the candidates. Under the instruction of the state executive committee the county candidates were assessed in order to hold a second senatorial primary. The executive committee was forced to make this assessment, pending a decision of the supreme court. This made the assessments for Randall County much higher than usual this year.

687 STUDENTS IN THE NORMAL; COUSINS HOME FROM MEETING

Faculty Re-elected for Coming Year—Power Question is Still Under Discussion.

The attendance at the Normal this week reached 687. There was a total of 691 at one time, but four students have withdrawn to go home for various reasons, making the net attendance to date 687.

President R. B. Cousins is home from the annual meeting of the Board of Regents. He reports that the principal feature of the meeting was a checking up of the work of the past year and the election of the faculty for the coming year. There were no changes announced for the Normal for the coming year.

The Board authorized Mr. Cousins to go further in the possibility of establishing a power plant of the Normal. An oil burning engine with equipment is being investigated. If this is impracticable, then further steps toward a contract with the local power plant will be taken up.

Standards are being placed on either side of the entrances to the new building in which there will be lights.

Delivery Wagon Runaway.

Friday morning when the band was playing on the streets Redfern & Company's delivery wagon could not withstand the harmony of sweet sounds of the band instruments and "tore out of the wilderness." They started at the Supply Company's store and ran down the alley behind it and came out behind Redburn's and in the street in front of the Lyric Theatre they collided with Tom Dowlen's car. A fender was torn off, a headlight smashed, and the radiator broken. The black mare was pretty badly cut from the wreck.

"David Copperfield" Tonight.

One of the best entertainments of the season will be given at the Normal auditorium tonight. Walter Bradley Tripp of the Emerson School of Oratory, Boston, Mass., will present "David Copperfield" in monologue. Mr. Tripp is recognized as one of the greatest interpreters in this country and will greatly please his audience. There promises to be a very large attendance.

LOT SALE DRAWS GOOD CROWD FOR TWO DAYS

Miss Dora Baskin of Gorman Draws the Car—Lots Sell at Very Good Prices.

The sale of lots in the new addition on Friday and Saturday drew a big crowd from Canyon and Randall county, but not so large from the surrounding towns as was expected by the promoters.

Taken all in all the sale was very successful. Col. H. Bryens of Fort Worth states that it was the cheapest lot sale he has ever conducted. J. M. Nash, one of the owners of the property, stated after the sale, that while the prices were not as high as he had expected, yet he was well satisfied.

Col. Bryens stated that the principle things Canyon people needed was to get together and learn to know the home people better and find out what a fine town Canyon was and what good people lived here. He expects that as a consequence of the lot sale to see many new houses being built in this addition within the next few weeks. He is a town builder and says that he wants to see Canyon become the greatest town in the Panhandle.

The sale of lots went principally to the people of Canyon, but quite a number were sold to people from adjoining towns. A number of the best farmers of Randall county bought lots with the intention of building homes in order that their families might move here for the benefit of the excellent schools.

The sale was conducted in a fair manner and all of the purchasers are well pleased.

The drawing for the automobile was held at five o'clock Saturday afternoon. There were several hundred people on the grounds at the time and the interest was intense. Miss Dora Baskin's name was the first drawn by little Miss Corinne McReynolds. Miss Baskin is a student in the Normal and lives at Gorman. She was highly pleased over the good luck.

Longest Day of Year.

Today we will have time to do two days work instead of to-day's work. This being the longest day in the year we can do a half day's work before leaving home; go to town and do another half day's work. So by noon we shall have done a day's work. Take an hour for noon come back and work until five-thirty; go home cut weeds until supper time and after supper have time to do a dozen little jobs. Read a while after dark; go to bed and then get a night's sleep. The longest day in the year!

Repainting Santa Fe Depot.

The Santa Fe depot is being painted this week inside and out. The outside looks much better than before and all the company's houses shine. The freight depot, section houses, pumping houses and everything looks new. The inside is being painted at present and people who travel have difficulty in purchasing their tickets. All of the seats are on the outside of the depot and doors all closed with one exception. "That's the way they close when they paint depots," said Agent R. McGee.

Bits of News.

Sales of school land in Texas country, Oklahoma, were most satisfactory to the sales force of the commission, says the Dallas News. Tracts numbering 736 were sold, but 739 had been advertised for sale. The appraisement of the lands was $732,325. The sales aggregated $1,094,143. In round numbers the number of acres sold was 107,000.

Georgia shipped to other parts of the United States and Canada last season 4468 cars of peaches. The crop this season will be a relatively short one, and yet the Georgia Fruit Exchange estimates that the shipments will reach 3300 cars, and that the crop will bring $4,000,000. For many years Georgia raised hundreds of carloads of peaches every season that could not be shipped. It is not merely a question of the demand for Georgia peaches; it is a question of getting them into the hands of people who want them. And it is pleasant to note that the fruit exchange is solving the problem.

Farmers throughout the country are being advised by the nation's agricultural department to raise sheep. This is based upon the indisputable fact of a world-wide depletion in wool and sheep. Oklahoma bankers last year interested farmers in different parts of the state in the sheep industry and, from the information attainable, those who were interested by the propaganda realized handsomely from an industry largely new to Oklahoma. Sheep values in the state increased $100,000 in a single year. Information from the state agricultural department is to the effect that there is a material increase in the number of farmers who are this year becoming interested in sheep raising.

The Live Poultry Breeders' Association of Chicago has inaugurated a war on "doped" poultry. Thousands of chickens, it is asserted, have reached the Chicago market, after going through a course of feeding in which salt, pepper, sand, soaked bread and gravel have comprised the menu. The association says that after partaking of such a repast the fowls are almost dead of thirst. Just before they are weighed, it is charged they are given all the water they will drink. Members of the buyers' association cited instances where hens weighing four pounds has been doctored to such an extent their crops weighing nearly a quarter as much as the chicken itself.

American purchases in Germany, though but a fraction of what they were before the war, have not ceased entirely, as shown in statistics compiled in the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce. Shipments from Germany to the United States still amount to more than $1,000,000 a month. Figures covering the last six months show that toys valued at slightly more than $2,000,000 comprised the largest single item. Leather goods and chinaware followed below $1,000,000 each, and laces and paper came through in values of about $500,000. Shipments of photographic papers in the period given reached a value of $250,000; musical instruments, $120,000; gelatine, $241,000; glassware, $160,000; knit goods, $133,000; clocks, $125,000; books, $29,000; post cards $10,000.

The success of the postal savings system is evidenced by the fact that more than 500,000 depositors have more than $80,000,000 to their credit. And they haven't damaged the other banks so that you could notice it.

A new method of preparing anti-hog-cholera serum, which permits the economical production of a clear sterilized product, has just been described in the Journal of Agricultural Research of the United States department of Agriculture. The method, as described by its discoverers, Dr. Marion Dorset and E. R. Hensley of the biochemic division, bureau of animal industry, consists in adding a slight amount of an extract from ordinary white navy beans to the defibrinated hog-cholera-immune blood which has been the form of the serum used in the past. The addition of this bean extract causes the red cells of the blood to agglutinate, and when the mixture is whirled on a centrifuge the red cells pack together and form a rather stiff jelly-like mass. It is then possible to pour off a clear serum, leaving behind the red cells which play no part in preventing hog cholera and which, in fact, simply tend to dilute the serum and render its sterilization by heat impracticable. The new form of serum, as far as the department knows is not yet being made or put on sale by the commercial serum laboratories. As this process was discovered by the federal government any one in the United States is free to use it.

SEE your visitor and let him go. The advertising manager, general manager, office manager or lawyer who sits beyond a glass door and dictates several letters, pieces of copy or orders, while a well-paid salesman on the outside is being impressed with the "busy-ness" and importance of the man he is calling on, stands in his own light.

Get the man off your mind and let him go on his way rejoicing. Of course you can't always see a caller at once, but it is a notorious fact that many business men make a practice of keeping callers waiting. Don't do it, Mr. Business Man. The fact that shortly you must see a caller kept in mind prevents your doing your most efficient work. It is unfair to your visitor, to his employer and a habit that, if corrected by others, would doubtless benefit you. Set the example—see your visitor promptly and let him go.

Champ Clark in a recent address to editors placed the country newspapers in three great classes. First, he said, is a small class that abuses everybody and everything they are not paid to let alone. A second class, somewhat larger than the first, merely records the happenings that occur in the community, draws no conclusions, teaches no lessons, expresses no opinions and advances no ideas. They merely peddle gossip. They cannot be classed as a community asset and are worth less in relation to their higher and better things of community life. The third class embraces that great class of newspapers which possess a great benevolent, humanitarian point of view and in the struggle for financial gain keep constantly in view the higher good of the county, state and nation. To this class the home, the church, the school, the state, every worth while institution, is everlastingly obligated; and only eternity, perhaps, will reveal the power for good they have been.

Valuable Health Hints For Our Readers

CATARH
Just because you hawk and spit and your nose is wet, cold, red, sore and a nuisance, don't merely plug it up. You can't cure catarrh by greasing your nose. Take S. S. S. regularly and you will drive catarrhal poisons out of your blood. The membranes will soon recover and no longer continue to accumulate the mucus that gathers and thickens into catarrh. S. S. S. stimulates the cells of the tissues to select from the blood their own essential nutriment. Rapid recovery from catarrhal inflammation in the stomach, kidney, bladder and all membranes is the result.

MALARIA.
Throughout the country, wherever malaria abounds, are happy, joyful people to whom S. S. S. has given wonderful help in the treatment of malaria after the most sickening torture imaginable.

The gaunt complexion of malaria's victims, the chills and fever, the malarial dysentery that seems to defy all other treatment, the malarial leg, the enlarged liver, the persistent anemia where the blood turns to water and the system wastes away. These are the conditions that S. S. S. so effectively assists in overcoming, by helping to restore the blood to its natural vigor.

STUBBORN SORES.
Sometimes a sore spot becomes indolent. The tissues surrounding it lose tone and are unable to provide sufficient nutriment to stop the drain. It is then chronic. Just saturate your blood with S. S. S. This is quickly accomplished, as S. S. S. is naturally assimilated the same as milk or any other healthful liquid.

Nature acts with marvelous rapidity when given the proper assistance, and S. S. S. so stimulates cellular activity that the parts surrounding an ulcer neglect from the blood the materials that make new tissue. Thus the sore spot rapidly heals in a natural way.

Local applications for any skin disease will afford protection from without, but have no medical value. Eczema, tetter, acne and all such eruptive diseases should be treated with S. S. S.

POISONED BLOOD.
So many different things contribute to poison the blood and the effect is so startling that the sufferer becomes panic-stricken and is led to use harmful drugs. If you have any blood trouble, get a bottle of S. S. S. and take according to directions.

Don't take anything else. Poisoned blood is bad enough without ruining your bones, joints, teeth and vitals with minerals. S. S. S. so stimulates cellular activity that they reject all poisonous influences and select only those materials in the blood that make healthy tissue. This is why its assistance toward recovery is so noticeable and at times remarkable.

RHEUMATISM.
S. S. S. is welcome to the weakest stomach and is assimilated just as readily as the most nutritious food. It has helped to cure a host of sufferers.

STUBBORN SORES.
In any form of rheumatism give the blood a good effectual cleansing with S. S. S.

Use this remedy for three days and take a hot salt water bath to open the pores. This relieves the lungs and kidneys and assists S. S. S. to utilize the skin as the principal avenue of elimination.

Avoid salts, calomel and other drastic purgatives, as they absorb the moisture from the walls and membranes of the intestines, weaken the muscular action, produce chronic constipation and thus stagnate the system with rheumatic poisons. Get a bottle of S. S. S. at any drug store. Don't take a substitute.

S. S. S. is purely vegetable and is prepared only by the Swift Specific Co., 271 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Write for special booklet on any of the diseases mentioned and if medical advice is wanted, write for that also to address given above. Both booklet and medical advice are free.

State Land Sale.
Austin, June 16, 1916.
Randall County News,
Canyon, Texas,
Gentlemen:—

For the information of those waiting to know something of our land affairs and for the benefit of those who may desire to acquire thereon upon very favorable terms, will you kindly say to your readers that I have sent to the printer a list of the lands that will be offered for sale September first. This list includes about 4,300,000 acres. They will be ready for distribution about July first. The lists are free and will give further information. Those wanting them may write me now and the list will be forwarded just as soon as they are received from the printer.

Yours truly,
J. T. ROBISON,
Commissioner.

Judge B. Frank Buie returned Saturday from his campaign at Tulsa, Lubbock and Sweetwater and other towns on the line there. He reports that things seem very favorable for his election for Associate Justice of Court of Civil appeals.

Notice Sheriff's Sale.

The State of Texas, County of Randall. By virtue of an order of sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Randall county, on the 20th day of May, A. D., 1916, by T. V. The medicine that does not affect the head because of its tonic and laxative effect. LAXATIVE BROMO QUININE is better than ordinary Quinine and does not cause nervousness nor dizziness in head. Remember the full name and look for the signature of E. W. GROVE, Jr.

Rise of a Commoner.

David Lloyd George is the hope of the British empire. Now it is announced that he will take the place of the late Earl Kitchener as secretary of war. He is to carry a double load, as it is not believed that he will give up entirely his present duties as minister of munitions. Lloyd George is a glutton for work and he has the endurance of an ox. He labors seven days each week and works twenty hours a day. This son of a Welch schoolmaster is the idol of the democracy of Great Britain and is recognized by the aristocracy of the empire as the man of the hour. War is a great leveler. In the hour of disaster doers of things come to the surface. Some are born in the purple; others in the ditch. Lloyd George wasn't born in the ditch, but he was the son of an impecunious father. He has fought his way to the top, but the nobility of England never gave him recognition until England was fighting for her life with the most warlike nation of the age.—Fort Worth Record.

WITHIN THE REACH of every woman—health and strength. They're brought to you by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Take this medicine, and there's a safe and certain cure for all the chronic weaknesses, derangements, and diseases peculiar to the sex. It will build up, strengthen, and invigorate every "run-down" or delicate woman. It regulates and assists all the natural functions. At some period in her life, a woman requires a special tonic and nerve.

If you're a tired or afflicted woman turn to "Favorite Prescription," you will find it never fails to benefit.

Sold in tablet or liquid form.

Mrs. LUCY E. YOUNG, of 2222 Clinton Avenue, Fort Worth, Texas, says:

"I was in such bad health and so despondent at times that I couldn't do my work. Tried everything I could hear of. Doctors treated me but I only got relief for a short time until I tried Dr. Pierce's wonderful medicine. Have been in much better health since using 'Favorite Prescription' and 'Golden Medical Discovery.' I weighed 107 at that time now I am well and hearty and weigh 130 pounds."

THE SENATORIAL RACE.

Two of the candidates of United States Senator from Texas have spoken in the city. To most minds these two gentlemen represent the leading candidates of the opposing factions in Texas—Dr. Brooks standing for the prohibition cause, while Colquitt represents most clearly the anti-prohibition faction.

The News believes that these two gentlemen will lead in the first primary on July 22. Culberson is sick. He stands too close to Wilson to please many of the leading anti-prohibitionists. Henry is an anti, but he is not enough of a machine man for the high authorities of the anti faction.

The other leading prohibition candidate is ex-Governor Campbell. He is not popular with the people, and has a political record to defend.

The News believes that Dr. Brooks is the best man in the race for United States Senator. He is a man with wide experience, has always been close to the people, and as a student has learned more about governmental affairs than any other candidate. He should be conducted than all of the remainder of the candidates have learned from actual practice. The time has passed for the belief that school men are useful only in the school room—example, Woodrow Wilson. We believe that Texas can do no better than send Dr. Samuel Palmer Brooks to the senate. He is on the right side of all political questions in the state and nation; his record is clean; he has enough brains to do the work this state wants done; he is capable of accomplishing the things that the people wish accomplished.

The vote of Randall county is for Brooks.

Mr. Love is a good loser after he was finally convinced that he did lose. The joker in the San Antonio convention gave the delegates to the Nation Convention to elect the new chairman regardless of what the convention did.

The merits of the Robinson insurance bill will be tried out at the primary election July 22. Governor Ferguson is the chief exponent of amending this bill with the Gibson bill.

President Wilson has issued a call for all of the National Guard of these United States. The boys are ready to respond. They will do their duty.

Texas dry in 1917? It depends just how YOU vote on the submission question on July 22.

Wilson and Marshall—the dependables.

The truly strong and sound mind is the mind that can embrace equally great things and small things.—Samuel Johnson.

A Biographical Sketch of S. P. Brooks

By John E. Rosser, Dallas, Texas. Written for the New York "Independent" June 14, 1915.

"SECTION HAND—
COLLEGE PRESIDENT—
—SENATOR?"

From Section Hand to University President, or from Snipe to Senator, would be an alluring title for a writer of the school of Oliver Optic and Horatio Alger, Jr.! The first title precisely describes the career thus far of Samuel Palmer Brooks, executive head of Baylor University, the large and growing Baptist institution of Waco, Texas. The second may become equally descriptive if the present movement to make Dr. Brooks United States Senator to succeed Mr. Culberson should prove effective. When the time element is considered, this record is all the more noteworthy; for at the age of twenty the subject of this sketch was an almost untutored driver of spikes and shoveler of dirt on a Texas railroad; at thirty he was a university graduate; and at thirty-nine over a roadbed that was the smoother because of his labor with pick and spade, he traveled to Waco, to be inaugurated president of his Alma Mater.

Doctor Brooks—for he is an LL. D., where one of the L's might fittingly stand for Labor—belongs to that goodly number of eminently useful citizens whose lives stress to the breaking point that venerable saying concerning the profrugacity of minister's sons. Forty years ago his father, a Baptist preacher, heeding the call of the West, removed with his family from Milledgeville, the birthplace of Doctor Brooks, and the sometime capital of Georgia, to Johnson County, Texas. Of his subsequent distinguished heir the father was wont to say: "Palmer will venture." Perhaps the young fellow who, finding no royal road to learning, constructed one with pick and shovel, came naturally by his audacity; for in the 60's and 70's it was deemed no inconsiderable undertaking to journey from Georgia to Texas.

In the new country the young fellow found but little opportunity for learning what is in books. Schools were few and far between, and the pecuniary compensation of his father's ministry did not suffice to furnish the leisure and advantages that may come with wealth. It was a hard struggle—one either to submerge to mediocrity or to elevate to distinction; and the grim-faced youth determined to make it the latter alternative. While toiling at this task and that, to aid in acquiring necessities for the home, he dreamed a dream. He would develop his capabilities to the utmost; he would take his place with those who largely serve. At first he thought to fit himself for the practice of medicine. A neighbor physician generously offered to lend him such books as he most needed, and with these tucked under his arm, the youthful aspirant to a medical career trudged proudly home—his tall, sinewy figure presenting a picture not unlike that of another young fellow who some years before, up in Illinois, borrowed lab books from which he was to acquire knowledge afterward to be used in a nation's crisis.

But the medical books were filled with strange words and phrases that perplexed to bafflement. Young Brooks soon saw that he was attempting the folly of building a house without first laying the foundation thereof. He had never permitted himself to turn out a shoddy job, and he resolved that the superstructure of his ambition should not be reared on a base of hay and stubble. He would fit himself to grapple with those esoteric doctor books. He would go to school—yes, through college. To make this possible he then began wielding the heavy implements of the section hand, cashing in on his unusually powerful physique.

So with his little hoard of dollars, he arrived at Baylor University, whose curriculum was not so formidable then as now, but difficult enough to compel him to enter the academic department for two years of preparation. It did not humiliate him, a stalwart man of twenty-five, to sit with piping-voiced striplings. With equal lack of embarrassment, during the scattered months when he had been able to attend the public schools, he had stood in spelling classes no other member of which reached far above his waistline. When, despite the most rigid self-denial, he saw his dollars dwindling, he again banked his muscular energy, arising early to milk the cows of neighbors. Toward the latter part of his six years in the academic and collegiate department of Baylor, he taught at possible intervals, thus finding a profession that he came to prefer to that of medicine.

Having determined to make teaching his life work, after he had received his diploma from Baylor, he taught for a while in public schools. Given then a teaching position at Baylor, he found that his scholarship was inadequate to the task, so he went to Yale, where he took the bachelor's degree in 1894 and master's degree later, and where he was working toward the doctorate when he was recalled to Baylor, this time to become its president. Under his administration Baylor University has prospered in material resources—in patronage, and in enlarged purpose and achievement. With no assured support of a state behind him, and with no care-denying plethoric endowment, when occasion demands he knows how to make an appeal that does not fail of its intent.

And he is much more than an unusually efficient college administrator. "Palmer will venture." Sundering the fetters that convention is wont to place upon the teacher, he takes an active and telling interest in the policies of his city and state. The champion of unworthy cause may safely expect an opportunity to break a lance with him, and he is a foe man to be reckoned with.

In his chapel talks—gems of candor and pointedness—he tells his students, more than a thousand in number: "Think world-thoughts! Don't permit your view to be limited by the boundaries of Podunk and Pulltight!" And he himself thinks "world-thoughts." The cause of peace has for years enlisted his active interest. In 1907 he organized the Texas State Peace Congress, the first state organization of its kind in this country.

"What do you regard as the chief characteristic of Doctor Brooks?" I asked of one who has known him intimately for years. "What attribute, what trait of personality, best explains his gift for molding men to his purposes?"

"Doctor Brooks is always more human than scholastic," was the hesitating reply. "But I hardly know how to answer your question—yes, yes, I do!"—this with tense eagerness—"it's his unlimited capacity for friendship! No condition of personal danger or of personal advantage could swerve him from fealty to a friend! He never fails you!"

I was not surprised, therefore, when shortly afterward a student said to me, "I would feel free to go to Doctor Brooks with any trouble on earth."

Dr. E. E. Robinson will likely go with me next Sunday afternoon to the school house, and if so he will preach. At least one of us will preach at 2:30. We did not go last Sunday because we heard we were not expected because of other affairs.

Hair-Cutters at Work.

Nor some time past considerable excitement has been evidenced in Kent and Stonewall counties from the fact that a number of girls and married women have had their hair cut from their head while they slept. T. H. Tillant returned last week from near Jayton and reported that Mrs. W. J. Lewis had recently lost about half of the hair from her head, she having a wakened from her sleep as the hair stealer was using the clippers. A number of other women have had their hair completely cut from their heads while they were asleep.

It appears that the party or parties who are doing this hair cutting use some character of drug which they throw into the room and which makes all in the room unconscious for a limited time, and during this time the hair is removed from the head of the victim.

The people in both Kent and Stonewall counties, many of them, now keep guns by their hands as they work, and they intend to use it when an intruder appears. It is supposed that these hair switches will be sold to dealers in such a line in other sections of the country.—Texas Shur.

Henry Ford did not go to Chicago to attend the Republican convention. He said he was too busy. A man who owns a $200,000,000 concern, who employs 50,000 men, who has $50,000,000 on deposit in banks and $40,000,000 worth of raw material stacked away for business shouldn't worry over political conventions or politicians. Sixteen years ago Ford would have been pushed hard had he been forced to raise $1,600. Now he is one of the wealthy men of the world.

John D. Rockefeller Jr. is thus quoted by a Chicago correspondent of the New York World: "It is the duty of every American citizen to support Wilson. I am a Republican but I am a Republican as I am a Baptist—right comes first and then comes church or party."

It is not the young people that degenerate; they are not spoiled till those of maturer age are already sunk into corruption.—Montesquieu.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Prevents Daughter's Untimely End.

Ready, Ky.—"I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months."

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

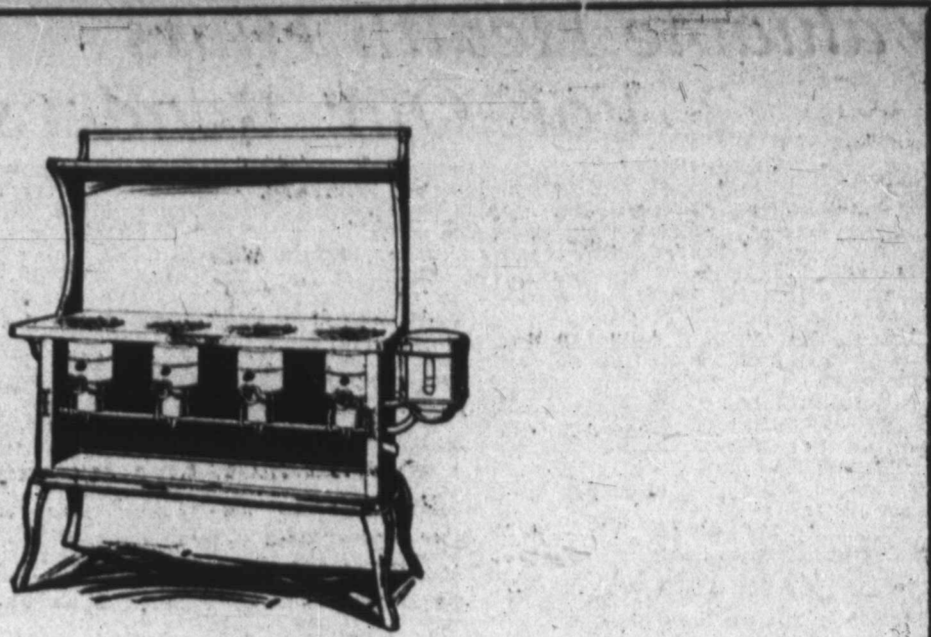

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health."

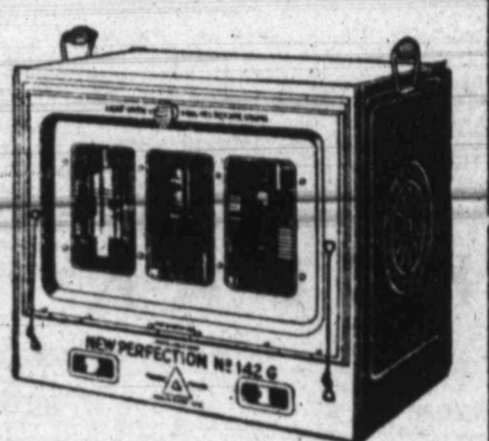

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years.

HOLES

Through Which an Advertiser's Money is Practically Wasted.

A man once cut a hole in the barn door so that the old cat could go in and eat whenever she pleased. Then he scratched his head quite awhile and cut a smaller hole beside it for the kitten.

Many business men cut unnecessary holes in their cash register by attempting other lines of advertising than the use of newspaper space, in the effort to increase sales.

Concentration of the advertising appropriation in newspapers will bring the results as no other method of publicity can produce—and there will be only the one hole in the cash register. The money is being spent in a way that will soon cease to be an expense because it will bring returns in increased sales and good will.

Moreover, it is not only size, but concentration of circulation that will bring the best results to an advertiser.

Store news in the columns of the NEWS goes directly to the homes of the trade section, the people whom the merchants depend upon for their business.

WHO ARE THE SUCCESSFUL FARMERS OF THE SOUTHWEST?

In nearly every community there is at least one farmer that is more successful than his neighbors. The reason for this greater success is not that this particular farmer is always lucky, but rather that he has adapted the kind of methods that his conditions require.

Many farmers have failed in the Southwest, as well as in other parts of the United States, because in coming into this new country from some other place, they have not realized the necessity for changing methods to suit their new conditions; but rather have persisted in carrying out their old ideas and plans. On the other hand success has come to thousands of farmers here, who have studied their conditions and have governed themselves accordingly.

Too many are attempting to farm without livestock. General success does not come through crop farming alone in this country. Diversified farming is rapidly gaining ground. Then in answering the question, "Who are the successful farmers of the Southwest?" The reply comes quickly; those who have adopted a system of diversified farming in combination with livestock. Both the wheat and the cotton farmer is now beginning to realize the importance of some kind of livestock. Even the alfalfa producer, of the irrigation belt, is realizing that there is more money in feeding, at least part of his crop at home, rather than to ship all of it out on an immediate cash basis.

The most dependable crops of the Southwest are feed crops and when it comes to selling them as soon as they have matured for cash, the returns are not always satisfactory. Occasionally there is a year when these crops do not fully mature, on account of a poor season, and then there is very little chance to sell for cash. Demonstrations go to show, that even during good years, that to handle crops through livestock, increases the return, often double that of cash value.

The dairy cow, the hog and the hen, have already done more to establish success on Southwestern farms, than any other line of livestock. This same trio has made a reputation as "mortgage lifters" in nearly all of the old established farming districts further north and east. This line of livestock adapt themselves to farmers of limited means, on average size farms. Many Southwestern farmers prefer the beef cow to the dairy type, and this is exactly what should be adopted where conditions will justify. Dairy cows, however, adapt themselves to very much more limited conditions than beef cows and naturally combine with hog and poultry production.

The number of hogs handled by Southwestern farmers has probably doubled within the past three years. It has been fully demonstrated that the right kind of farming will insure the grain of kafir, milo and feterita every year, here, and the returns from these grains are being doubled through hogs. The little hen is no more looked upon as a scavenger, but rather as a necessary source of revenue. It is not uncommon for Southwestern farmers to realize a profit of $1.00 per hen per year, above the product consumed on their own tables.

H. M. BAINER, Agricultural Demonstrator, Santa Fe System.

BAINER EXPECTS A SMALL WHEAT CROP

Amarillo News—H. M. Bainer, the well known agricultural scientist, chief demonstrator in the Agricultural Department of the Santa Fe system, when asked by a representative of the News yesterday regarding the wheat yield throughout the Panhandle and Plains country, said: "From best estimates available, the Panhandle and Plains country this year has three hundred and seventy-five thousand acres of wheat which will warrant harvesting. Our great misfortune was that so much of the crop was planted late, and then when the rains ceased the grain either did not germinate, or merely did so with enough moisture to give a vigorous start and a continued growth."

"This acreage is a thirty percent decrease, as compared to that of last year's crop. If all of the land planted had yielded, there would have been an increase of total acreage instead of a decrease, but for the reason already given, an actual decrease is shown."

"I believe it is conservative to estimate the total yield of the area already indicated at two million six hundred and twenty-five thousand bushels, but of course this may fluctuate some, and I would not really be surprised to know that it goes somewhat higher, when the harvest is finished."

"While we feel disappointed over the outcome of the wheat crop, I do not consider it a great misfortune. Our people were going too strongly on wheat as a one crop, and if this year had given a yield equal to that of last year, with the increased area sown, it is easy to see to that time in the future, this fall for instance, when an even greater acreage would have been planted, probably to be followed by disastrous results."

"Already some of the more progressive farmers are summer following their lands on which wheat sown; but from which no harvest could be made. This will put the land in fine shape, and they will doubtless be rewarded by yields of a satisfactory order next year. The falling off of the wheat yields in this section, like the boll weevil in the cotton growing sections of the south a few years since, while coupled with disappointment at the time, has a tendency to sober and awaken the thinking faculties of the people. An utter failure of the wheat crop might really have been a valuable lesson, but I am glad it did not come at this cost. Diversification, coupled with careful farm methods in connection with the planting of pure, virile seed of adapted crops, is the one sure 'ut' of the farmers of this section."

"The kafirs fed to livestock, with some chickens and turkeys to pick up the waste from Panhandle and Plains Country farms, will bring a degree of dependable prosperity throughout all of this southwestern territory. The kafirs and the cows, broadly speaking, supplemented by hogs, chickens and sheep and turkeys within proper bounds, will redeem this vast, fair and spreading country. We are beginning to understand this, and to get away from the extensive planting of process is somewhat uncertain during some seasons, and it is of these very seasons' that we must take cognizance.

"Each passing year fastens in my mind the conviction that this is the most wonderful section of the United States, all things considered, and we are at some time in the no very remote future make farming here stable and profitable."

BURROUGHS & JARRETT

Fight on Differential

Do You Know That?

Plainview, June 14.—Shippers in the South Plains district are going to contest and efforts of the Panhandle & Santa Fe Railway Company to retain the differential on that line. Points between Amarillo and Fullerville enjoy common point freight rates. Shipments of grain can be sent through Plainview from points as far as eighty miles farther north to Fort Worth or Galveston for about 2 cents per bushel less than from Plainview.

With the tonnage of grain and livestock shipped from the South Plains its shippers feel that injustice is being done them.

In December a committee from the Young Men's Business League, composed of Judge J. E. Lancaster and A. G. Hinn, appeared before the railroad commission and laid the case before that body. They receive a very favorable hearing, it is understood. Now the commissioners have summoned the railway officials for a hearing before the body July 11. To properly put the matter before the commission and to present the side of the shippers in the Plainview territory and on the Crosbyton and Floydada lines the Plainview Young Men's Business League through a committee composed of A. G. Hinn, manager of the Harvest Queen Mills; Judge J. E. Lancaster, F. F. Hardin, managers of the Plain Lumber Company, and P. J. Woodriddle, manager of the Woodriddle Lumber Company, is soliciting the cooperation of commercial organization and shippers in the territory affected to the end that the facts be presented and shippers' interests conserved.

Crowded off the Grand Stand

Colonel Dennie's Biggest Fourth of July by Edgar White

COLONEL RICHARD DENNIE was hunkered beyond the power of words. He had been deliberately snubbed by the Starcliff Fourth of July committee. It wouldn't have cut so deep had he been consulted as to some arrangement of the program, or requested to take a seat on the platform.

Certainly he would not go there unless invited. That he wasn't asked to "make a few remarks to the crowd" was a bit unusual, but he wouldn't have minded that had the committee shown some consciousness that he was on earth. He knew the members had been in earnest consultation with the circuit judge and some of the leading lawyers many times, but not a word of advice or suggestion had any of them sought from him.

The colonel recalled that as a young man he was in demand for Fourth of July speeches, and at other occasions. While not boasting, he felt quite certain his remarks had been appreciated.

From his youth on he had always responded to the call when Starcliff required speaking or any other kind of talent. When he was a member of congress he had made addresses in every county in the district many times, and the people seemed delighted to arrange dates for him.

Colonel Dennie reflected that he was close to seventy-five, and that maybe his people thought he had lived years too long, going on the Biblical limit. True, his head was clear and he was physically fit, but the world had no use for old men, he bitterly considered; it thinks if they are not dead at seventy they ought to be.

What made it hurt so at this time was that the governor had promised to attend the celebration, and the affair was to be somewhat bigger than usual. For Colonel Dennie to have no hand in the exercises at all would be to place upon him the seal of a man forgotten.

It was a torturing thought to a man who had always cherished an abiding affection for his people. "His people! Ah! They were his no longer; they would have none of him. To them he was as so much old junk ready for the heap.

Maybe the fact that Joe Sever was running things this year had some thing to do with it. Sever was prosecuting attorney of the county, and had congressional aspirations. He was a tall, aggressive fellow, smart as a whip, but a Yankee! That is, he was from "Down East" somewhere and Colonel Dennie was a "rebel" of the fighting type. But out here in the free western air men had long since buried the rifle, and taken up with the tools of trade. However, he reasoned a Yankee never forgets, and now that one was in the saddle he would ride—ride roughshod over old "rebels" who had fought for a principle, and when licked had manfully acknowledged it and said "Amen" to General Grant's noble advice—"Let us have peace!"

Reflected That He Was Close to Seventy-Five.

Colonel Dennie was personally acquainted with the governor, and had been one of his staunchest supporters. He recalled that he had many kindly letters from the commonwealth's chief magistrate, thanking him for his services. The governor, he knew, would be a little astonished to learn that his old friends had not even been asked up on the grandstand. Joe Sever would be there wearing a badge, and looking important; that was his way. Most likely it was through jealousy he had ignored the governor's old friend at Starcliff. All right, Colonel Dennie was not the sort of man to run after anybody! If the executive met him he would gladly shake hands and greet him warmly, but he would not seek him out. He had as much self-pride as if he were governor himself.

It was a beautiful day, and people from the country began arriving early. Every train brought additions to the crowd. The streets were ablaze with flags and bunting and noise with brass bands from all the towns in the county. Joe Sever rode about on horseback, delivering orders like some great field marshal, the busiest and most important man in town.

There was a parade out to the grove where the exercises were to be held. Joe Sever rode at the head, of course. Then came a brass band followed by an open carriage with the governor and some local dignitaries. Colonel Dennie recalled many times when he had been in that glittering carriage drawn by Liverman Jones' fine black horses. But that was long ago. Today he was standing on the outskirts of the crowd wearing an old straw hat and a patched alpaca coat. Nobody paid any attention to him.

Behind the carriage marched the local fraternal orders, the National Guards and a lot of school children carrying small flags.

Arriving at the grounds, one of the bands played "The Star Spangled Banner," and a medley, a little girl in white read the Declaration of Independence and a glee club sang a song, and was encored several times.

The chairs on the grandstand were all occupied by speakers or distinguished guests.

Joe Sever, who was always in evidence, got up and made some long winded announcements about the fireworks and music in the evening, and then said he had the pleasure of introducing a young man who had just come in on the train, and who was not down on the program because they didn't know whether or not he would get in.

When Sever began talking, Colonel Dennie moved farther back among the trees, because the Yankee's voice irritated him.

The people cheered enthusiastically when the young man, who had just arrived, arose to speak. "I thank God that I live in a country where I cannot be driven to war at the behest of any king or emperor but in a country which, when its honor is in question, needs no order of monarch to rally its sons to its support!"

Surely—surely he knew that voice! Why, it was from a speech Colonel Dennie had once made himself!

The old man who had lived too long wiped his specs and began edging up closer and closer, and peering through the crowd. "Why—bless my soul!—is it?—Can it be—"

Then, when a mighty cheer broke loose he joined in:

"Hurrah for you, Dickey boy!" he cried, and threw his old straw hat so high in the air that he never got it back.

"I'll leave it to my dad there," said the young man, pointing to Colonel Dennie. "If, should this nation ever be assailed, the old men who were once called 'rebels,' and their sons, would not be among the first to fly to arms in its defense!"

"Right you are, Dickey boy!" shouted the old "rebel"—"Yaah!—Yaah!—Yaah!—Yaah!"

Dick Dennie, junior, had been studying law with a firm in the metropolis and had come home unannounced as a surprise to his parents.

By this time Colonel Dennie had forgotten all about the gloomy reflections of the morales in the triumph his son was making, and he stood there smiling and clapping his hands, the happiest man on the grounds. He was living now in the glory of his offspring, with never a thought of the indifference manifested toward himself until—

"Colonel, where on earth have you been? I've looked for you everywhere!"

Colonel Dennie stared in amazement at the raw-boned Joe Sever, who had come out of the crowd and was holding him by the arm.

"I have been in town all day," replied the colonel simply.

"Well, I couldn't find you. Come up on the platform with me. I want you to introduce the governor to these people. He's been asking about you ever since he came to town."—Pennsylvania Girl.

What The War Is Doing For The Farmer

The European war is not an unmitigated evil; nor yet is it an unmitigated blessing for this country. We shall not attempt to go into the ethical side of the question at all, nor shall we discuss "war brides," aviation plans or other similar phases of the situation. We shall look at the war purely from the standpoint of prices for raw products, either produced here in this country or imported from foreign countries. And amongst them those that have not gone up in price in spite of the war.

For example, here is a peculiar situation in regard to a beverage which is so universally liked that it has become almost a staple. The name of that beverage is Coca-Cola.

Now Coca-Cola, as you know, is really an agricultural product—a product of the soil. Cane sugar—the very purest and finest—constitutes a large part of Coca-Cola. As you know, sugar has gone way up—so every glass of Coca-Cola you drink makes your farmer's heart gladder.

So it is with the pure fruit juices that, combined, produce the inimitable flavor of Coca-Cola. Not so much in quantity seemingly when you consider a single glass of this delicious beverage, but enormous when the entire Coca-Cola output is considered.

Yet this product of nature—of the farm—increased in cost though it has been to the makers, has not been raised one penny in price to dealer—or to you. The price at the soda fountain and in the bottle has not risen one iota.

Now inasmuch as the rural population alone of America consumes millions of bottles and glasses of Coca-Cola every year, you and the other agriculturists of this country will not only be able to continue to please your palates and get delicious refreshment with this beverage at an increased cost, but you will be sending back to the farm bigger profits and more money at no greater expense to yourself.

But wait a minute—there are other things to consider in this matter of growing rich off of the war. Cotton and wool and meats and farm machinery and sugar have gone up, too. This means that while the wheat raiser is getting more for his product, he is also paying some other agriculturist more for his product.

This cuts down somewhat on the profits the war is bringing to the farmer. Then it would seem that the best way to keep ahead of the game is for the farmer to pay the farmer who raises his necessities the increased prices, that the war has brought about and who is buying his luxuries or those things that are not necessities of life to pick and choose from

Only Things Amazing Interest.

One day, recently, the belligerent nations almost suspended warfare on land and carried it into the air. There was a German attack by seaplanes on the east coast of England; a similar bombardment from German airplanes on the French towns of Dunkirk and Bergues; and then a French squadron of airplanes, by way of reprisal, attacked three German bases in Belgium and a Belgian squadron bombarded another German base.

Meanwhile, at various points along the front from the sea to Switzerland, British, French and German airmen, singly or in groups, battled in the air—and many crumpled craft, plunging earthward in flames, carried their pilots and observers to death.

It was a series of highly dramatic aerial episodes and yet now, several days afterward, no word of comment has appeared. It seems that a day of warfare waged from the skies aroused only the most casual interest.

Fifteen years ago, such a story of air rattles as appeared in the papers last week would have been dismissed as incredible. Even in the period of intense aircraft development just preceding the outbreak of the great war, it would have seemed almost unbelievable. Which merely proves again that in this day of tremendous news, nothing arouses us unless it occurs near door.—El Paso Herald.

State Press—Straw votes do not always show which way the wind blows. But even though they don't, they still are interesting; perchance valuable in that they give indications such as to spur campaign managers to fresh activities and inspire candidates to persist or withdraw. It was no expectation of influencing the senatorial campaign that induced Editor Harrison of the Baylor County Banner to take a straw vote from the Texas newspaper persons on the recent press excursion between El Paso and Cloudcroft. The request was that the voters should state their beliefs rather than their personal sentiments—in other words it was not to be an exhibition of editorial preferences, but of editorial predictions as regards the outcome of the preliminary senatorial primary. Printed cards were passed throughout the train, with the explanation that each participator should state what his conviction was as to the comparative positions of the candidates named on the cards. Responses were taken up from 157 editors, after sufficient time for due consideration, with this result: Brooks was given first place by 50 editors; Culbertson by 34, Colquitt by 34, Campbell by 26; Henry by 17. Judge Riddle was assigned a place in the running by several, but not around the top. The editors who participated in this symposium of opinion represented every quarter of Texas, and the result of their combined judgment is interesting—but no final. The election should be held as called, notwithstanding the editors have already skimmed the cream off the returns.

PRESIDENTIAL POINTERS

There were remarkable coincidences in the lives of Abraham Lincoln and Jefferson Davis. Both were born in Kentucky, Lincoln in 1809, Davis in 1808. Both removed from their native state in childhood, Lincoln to the northwest, Davis to the southwest. Lincoln was a captain of volunteers and Davis a second lieutenant of regulars in the Black Hawk war in 1832. They began their political careers the same year, 1834, Lincoln being a presidential elector for Clay, and Davis an elector for Polk. They were elected to congress about the same time, 1845 and 1846. They were called to preside over their respective governments the same year, Davis in February 8, 1861, Lincoln on March 4, 1861.

PRESIDENTIAL POINTERS

For the first time in our history there will be no vacancy in the presidency next March when the inauguration takes place on the 5th, the 4th coming on Sunday. If Mr. Lansing is then secretary of state he will be acting president. On three previous occasions the inauguration of a president has occurred on March 5th instead of the 4th. But no one became acting president for the 24 hours because it happened that there was no president of the senate pro tempore or speaker of the house in office on whom the responsibilities would fall previous to 1856, when the law of succession was changed.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION SIDELIGHTS

One of the most interesting features of the recent Democratic convention at St. Louis is the fact that it took lovely woman to force the only roll call demanded on the national platform, as well as to inspire the only real excitement that marked the convention.

"Votes for Women" was the issue that stirred up things. The Mexican plank, nailed in at the last minute by the platform builders, did not create a ripple. "Americanism" and "preparedness" received polite ovations, but it remained for the woman suffrage plank to start a real fracas.

Headed by Gov. Ferguson of Texas, the anti-suffragists endeavored to wrench the suffrage plank from the platform. But President Wilson's feelings on the subject, as presented to the convention by Senator Walsh of Montana, were not to be ignored. And so, after a three-hour battle in which the term "political expediency" was used with telling effect, the anti-suffragists were routed by a vote of 888 1/2 to 181 1/2.

The vote, however, does not tell the real story of the battle, which was one of the most vigorous and picturesque ever staged at a national Democratic convention. Fifteen women delegates fought from the floor on the side of the pro-suffragists, while hundreds of their sisters waved yellow pennants and cheered them on from the balconies. A thunderstorm that almost drowned out the voices of the delegates as they answered the roll call brought both the suffrage battle and the convention to a most melodramatic finish.

THE SUFFRAGE PLANK.

"We recommend the extension of franchise to the women of the country by the states upon the same terms as to men."

It was the above little plank that inspired Gov. Ferguson of Texas to mount the platform in the Coliseum and read a minority report withholding the party support from the ladies who want the vote. That the Democratic party should scorn the political exigencies of the situation and defy the 32 western states in which women vote was the burden of his argument. Sharing the same opinion with him were C. L. Bartlett of Georgia, Stephen B. Fleming of Indiana and "Jim" Nugent of New Jersey, the old-time enemy of President Wilson. This trio signed the minority report with the Texas.

Lined up against Gov. Ferguson, who acted as spokesman for the minority, were Senator Stone of Missouri, Senator Pittman of Nevada and Senator Walsh of Montana.

Senator Walsh did not mince matters in his argument for the adoption of the suffrage plank. He stated plainly the adoption of the plank was necessary as a matter of political expediency, adding that the present political situation in this country was a condition and not a theory.

"The states in which women vote control 51 votes in the electoral college," he said, adding significantly, "every political party has declared for woman suffrage in some way or other. It becomes a simple question whether you will incur the enmity of these women."

"Now, my friends," he continued, "as late as 1907 there were but two states west of the Missouri river that returned Democratic senators and now we have 15 of them. The question is, are you ready to surrender the 15 votes you have in the United States senate and turn them over to your political enemies?"

In conclusion, Senator Walsh said that he revealed no secret when he said President Wilson knew all about the suffrage plank.

"The president believes it vital to his success that it stay in the platform," he said. "I ask you in all the fervor of my soul, who is there wiser or more patriotic than he?"

Following Senator Walsh's speech, Gov. Ferguson was allowed five minutes for rebuttal. The vote was then taken and his minority report voted down, after which the original suffrage plank, as approved by the resolutions committee, was unanimously adopted.

The Women Delegates.

The presence of the 15 women delegates at the Democratic convention not only added color to the affair, but changed the views of a number of the men delegates on the subject of political activity for women. For the women delegates were a fine, wholesome-looking lot and they fought just as enthusiastically for the best interests of the party as the men.

Three of them, Miss Mary E. Foy of California, Mrs. T. S. Talliferro of Wyoming, and Mrs. W. A. Harris of Kansas, spoke before the resolutions committee in favor of the suffrage plank which the National American Woman Suffrage Association presented to the convention.

One of the other delegates, Mrs. Teresa E. Graham, of Idaho, was nominated by the National Democratic committee to be one of the committee that will notify Vice-President Marshall of his nomination.

Mexican Situation Bad.

According to the late dispatches to be received in Canyon, it is only a question of hours until there will be active intervention in Mexico. Yesterday a detachment of U. S. soldiers were attack by the Mexicans and 40 killed or taken prisoners. Washington has sent a final note to Carranza and his reply will determine the further course.

Chautauqua Closes Last Night.

The last number of the chautauqua given at the Lyric Theatre this week, was given last night. The course has been good and highly appreciated by those who attended. The attendance was not so large as was expected. It is planned to give another course here next year in a tent instead of at the Theatre.

Arbitration.

This is an age of co-operation and of fairness in all dealings between men and associations of men. It means another great step has been taken away from barbarian when might was right.

As competition in business and industry disappears, fairness becomes the great method of settling differences in business and every relation of life. It takes the name of arbitration when men agree to submit their differences to settlement by disinterested parties on merit.

The public has become very partial to settling by arbitration problems like the pending controversy between the American railroads and their train service employees. This controversy affects every body and yet it is not a subject of the courts.

Arbitration appeals to everybody as the square deal and it is likely that legislation providing for arbitration will be enacted. The Newlands' act is a first attempt at establishing boards of arbitration for handling problems that affect the public.

The public demand fair action and rapid settlement. The law's delay gets on people's nerves, and therefore arbitration without a lot of rules and regulations of procedure older than the hills, appeals and he who is willing to submit his case to arbitration, has the public with him.

Knights for Associate Justice.

From The Meridian Tribune, June 16: "The Tribune has noticed that the Hon. Wm. M. Knight of Hereford, Texas, who was for many years a prominent and useful citizen of Bosque county, is a candidate for the judgeship on the Court of Civil Appeals at Amarillo. Mr. Knight while residing in Bosque County, served us as County Attorney, special judge several times, member of the State Legislature and as assistant attorney general under Gen. Crane. In addition to these positions he served us as a member of the county board of examiners, member of our City council and otherwise. It is but just to say that in every position occupied by Mr. Knight while he lived here, he faithfully and satisfactorily discharged every duty as an honest, conscientious man. He is a ripe scholar, thoroughly grounded in the law by both study and an active practice of more than thirty years, which, combined with his sobriety, integrity and high sense of honor, most peculiarly fit him for the place he seeks. The Tribune can but hope that the good people of that district will elevate Mr. Knight to this judgeship, and we feel sure none of them will ever regret supporting him."

Who Owns the Railroads?

There were 626,122 stockholders of 1285 railway corporations, having an aggregate mileage of 257,211 miles, at the close of the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1915. These figures are compiled from the returns of railroads to the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Beginning with the fiscal year of 1915 the railroads were required to report the names and holdings of the twenty largest stockholders except of railroads in class III, having $100,000 or less annual income. This makes it possible to separate somewhat the railway and private holdings of stock. 688 railroads held stock in other roads to the amount of $2,519,959, 873,000 face value, while 697,632 individuals held a total of $6,994,496, 162,000. This indicates how widely the stock of railroads is owned by the public.

The average holding per stockholder in the United States as a whole is $9,882.00. In this compilation is included 170 class I roads with annual revenue of $1,000,000.00 or more; 267 class II roads with annual revenue between $1,000,000 and $100,000; and 405 class III roads with annual revenue of $100,000.00 or less.

Since a corrupt people seldom establish societies, (and) since most institutions are derived from people whose manners are plain and simple to keep up the ancient customs is the way to preserve the original purity of morals. Hence it is that ancient institutions generally tend to reform the people's manners, and those of modern date to corrupt them. Descent to vice is insensible, but there is no receding to virtue without making the most generous efforts.—Montesquieu.

Safe Thing To Tie To!

Opinions differ as to when the first newspaper advertisement was printed. Some say an old sheet supposed to have been published in 1591 and now on file in the British Museum deserves the honor.

At any rate, newspaper advertising has a wonderful history. It is today one of America's most important lines of business.

No one knows exactly how much is spent yearly in newspaper advertising in the 21,000 papers in America. Perhaps $500,000,000. Some corporations spend $1,000,000 each. Newspaper advertising is worth while.

Wayside News.

A very large crowd assembled at the hospitable and elegant new home of Mrs. Schaeffer Saturday night to enjoy an ice cream festival. Tullia, Happy and Canyon were represented. The event celebrated the moving into the new house. The house is two stories, large and commodious with cement cellar underneath. The cream and cake was excellent and highly enjoyed by those present.

D. H. Hamblen has recently purchased 320 acres from J. A. Wallace in Armstrong county, known as the H. Labaugh place.

Harvest has begun in these parts. It is thought the yield will be light on account of the drought. Straw is too short to bind, and headers are used altogether. The weather is ideal for saving the grain.

Mrs. W. H. Hamblen with Dr. R. Q. McElroy reached Happy from Dallas last Monday morning. They were in a wreck near Abilene, neither sustaining serious injuries, but were considerably shaken up and bruised. Mrs. Hamblen's eye is doing very well.

Mrs. S. J. McGehee of Canyon came Wednesday and is visiting relatives around Wayside.

Miss Lucy Goodwine from Canyon was among the crowd at the Schaeffer festival.

Rufus Webb, wife and babe from Canton, N. M., came Friday. He will work in the harvest. Mrs. Webb is a sister of Hamblen Bros.

D. H. Hamblen, wife and baby, Velma Inez, accompanied by Rufus Webb and wife and babe made a trip to Hedley Saturday to visit a sick sister. They found Mrs. Eunace Cates very weak but able to be up some.

Hoggish Amarillo.

Plainview News—Several months ago Editor Pope of the Amarillo News penned and printed a beautiful editorial about Amarillo being "the big sister" of the other towns of Northwest Texas. Editor Warren, of the Clarendon News, in commenting upon it, said that in the past political campaigns Amarillo had tried to be the "hog."

Amarillo is growing even more hoggish. For instance, it now has candidates for associate justice of the court of civil appeals, congressman, legislator, and the judicial district officers—a candidate for every office in which Amarillo is located.

There is a disposition on the part of the people of the Northwest Texas to help Amarillo in behalf of Judge Walker Hall, who is running for associate justice of the state supreme court, and if Amarillo will induce all the other candidates mentioned above to withdraw, Judge Hall will get practically every vote in Northwest Texas. If they are not withdrawn, there is going to be a revolution against all Amarillo candidates. This was voiced by practically every editor from Northwest Texas in attendance at the State Press meeting last week.

Unless Amarillo by concrete acts, shows a willingness to be "big sister" within the next few days, a number of newspapers in the supreme judicial and congressional districts, will come out against every Amarillo man on the ticket.

What are you going to do about it Bro. Pope?
