

W. T. MORELAND DIED TUESDAY AS RESULT OF INJURY

Badly Bruised When Horse Kicked Him Monday—Wagon Turned Over—Well Known Man

The community was greatly shocked Monday night upon hearing of the fatal injuries received by W. T. Moreland at the Roffey home, when the delivery wagon of the Canyon Supply Co. turned over with him and he was thrown under the heels of one of the horses. He died in Amarillo Tuesday night, a little after seven o'clock as a result of the injuries.

The facts of the accident as related by Mr. Moreland were as follows:

As the wagon turned Mr. Moreland grabbed hold of one of the horses tails. The animal kicked him twice, as Mr. Moreland remembers it. His right arm was hit by the horse's shoe in the elbow, the bone broken and the flesh torn so that the bone protruded through the terrible gash. On his right hip is the imprint of the horses hoof, showing the terrific blow Mr. Moreland received.

Three or four ribs were broken and his chest bruised greatly. His suffering was intense until death relieved him. During Monday night and Tuesday he could not be moved without causing shrieks of pain. To add to his distress the chloroform made him intensely sick.

He was taken to Amarillo Tuesday afternoon in the hope that an operation might save his life. The operation was begun but as soon as the doctors opened the body they found the vital organs to be so terribly mutilated that there was no hopes for his recovery. He died within a short time. The body was brought to Canyon yesterday morning.

Mr. Moreland's death marks the passing of one of the men who have done so much for the upbuilding of Canyon and Randall county. He has spent many years in this section and has always been affiliated with the movements that had to do with the upbuilding of our town. He has served many years on the city council. At the time of his death he was president of the city school board. He has always given of his time and money to develop the best there is in this section. From a business standpoint, he has been interested in the Canyon City Supply Company, being vice president of the company and for many years has been in the grocery department.

By nature Mr. Moreland was of a bright and happy disposition. He will long be remembered for his hearty laugh and his kindly feeling for his fellow man. Always was he ready to aid and assist the man who was down and out, or to rejoice with the man who had made a success of his business.

Mr. Moreland was a Christian gentleman. He never forgot his duty to his church. He has been one of the leaders of the Christian church of this city and will be greatly missed by his fellow workers. But he leaves for them the inspiration always to be found in the life of a good man who has passed to his reward.

The funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at four o'clock at the Methodist church, conducted by Rev. A. B. Haynes, assisted by Revs. Fronabarger and Mayne. The Masons and members of the Eastern Star lodge escorted the remains and at the cemetery the Masons had charge of the ceremonies.

Mr. Moreland was born in Mississippi on January 27, 1857. He and Mrs. Moreland were married twenty-seven years ago. To this union were born five children: Mrs. Everett Conner, Mrs. Raymond Reid, Roy Moreland, Venie and Boonie. All survive with their mother. Mr. Moreland has two sisters and one brother living.

RAILROAD RATE MEETING HELD IN PLAINVIEW

Will Compile Data to Present to Railroad Commission, at Austin, August 8.

Saturday representatives from eleven South Plains towns met at the Hotel Ware, on invitation from the Plainview Chamber of Commerce and Young Men's Business League, and discussed the question of railroad rates on the Panhandle and Santa Fe. Judge J. E. Lancaster was elected chairman of the meeting and A. G. Hinn, secretary. The Railroad Commission of Texas has issued a call for the Panhandle and Santa Fe and the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe to appear before it on August 8 and give reason why the differential rate between Fullerville and Canyon City should not be abolished, and why the Panhandle and Santa Fe and the Gulf Colorado and Santa Fe should not be combined.

It is the purpose of the committee which assembled Saturday to enlist the support of every commercial organization in the territory and compile statistics on the freight tonnage from the territory and present it to the commission. It was the sense of the meeting that if the investigation should disclose the fact that differential rates were necessary in this territory that the shippers represented would not urge their claims, but this is not thought probable, for at the time the differential rates were granted the railway traffic over the lines in question was very light, whereas now a splendid traffic is enjoyed and the section bearing differential rates is the best paying portion of the Panhandle and Santa Fe. The Crosbyton and South Plains and the Floydada branches of the Panhandle and Santa Fe are affected by the commission's order.

It was pointed out that the removal of the differential rate would effect a saving to every merchant in the territory, and every farmer and livestock shipper as well.

Each of the towns represented will send one or more delegates to Austin at the hearing. A. G. Hinn will appear as the witness for the interested communities.

Present at the meeting Saturday, in addition to the members of the executive committee of the Y. M. B. L. and the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce, were J. P. Moore, Kress; S. L. Forrester, Slaton; A. A. MacWhinnie, Post; J. W. Skipworth, Kress; C. W. Warwick, Canyon; Jno. R. Ralls, Ralls; W. R. McClusky, Muleshoe; R. E. Baker, Lockney; Geo. E. Lider, Floydada; A. V. Haynes, Floydada; R. W. LeMond, Hale Center; R. M. Hester, Abernathy and A. B. Spencer, Crosbyton.

Miss Effie Weller and Roy R. Cofer, of Gunnison, Colorado, were united in marriage Wednesday morning at the Methodist parsonage at 9:30. Rev. J. W. Mayne officiating. Only a few friends were present to witness the ceremony.

They left immediately for their new home in Colorado, accompanied by the best wishes of their friends in this city.

Tilson Will Speak Saturday.

Capt. T. J. Tilson of Plainview, state representative of the 123rd district, will be in Canyon Saturday and will address the voters at the court house at three o'clock on the issues of the campaign. Capt. Tilson has no opponent in the race this year, but he is anxious to meet the voters and discuss with them some of the issues of the present campaign.

MEMPHIS TAKES THREE GAMES FROM THE CANYON BALL TEAM

Errors on the Part of the Locals Causes Defeat in all Games—Memphis Has Good Team

The Memphis ball team came up last week for a series of three games, and went home Saturday with the big end of all the games tucked under their belts. The whole story may be summed up in one word errors.

The locals made errors coming and going, and while they were making them, Memphis usually was making scores.

But there are hopeful signs in the three game series. Canyon has always been able to make a very successful start of the season, and on some years, make a poor showing at the end of the series. The boys are going to reverse the order this year. They are going to end the season by winning all of the important games.

Memphis has gathered up a fine team, composed all many of the well known players of the plains country. The boys are not disappointed over the loss of the games to the kind of men who opposed them, but don't like the errors they made. In order to be in better condition for the next season, they are practicing regularly, which will greatly improve them.

The first game ended 13 to 16; the second 5 to 7; and the last one 11 to 12. The last game was in the hands of the local team until the seventh inning, by a large score, when the visitors began to bat the ball hard and the locals to make costly errors.

An effort is being made by Manager J. C. Black to get Memphis back here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday for three games with the Canyon bunch.

TRY A WANT AD IN THE NEWS

The Gibson Bill.

Dallas News—The vital part of the Robertson law is that provision which requires that a certain percentage of the reserves held by the insurance companies for their Texas policyholders be invested in Texas. This is the part of it that is doubly sacrosanct, in the view of the Texas life insurance companies. They have declared that it can not be disturbed even to the slight extent proposed by the Gibson bill, without ruining the whole law, rendering it useless. Now since even the outright repeal of the entire Robertson law would still leave the Texas companies free to invest the same percentage of their reserves in Texas that the Robertson law compels them to invest, it is manifest that it is not because of the constraint it puts on them that they value it. Since they would remain free to do what it compels them to do, it must be a matter of indifference to them, in so far as the immediate effect is concerned, whether the law is retained or not. One must look elsewhere for the motive which animates the opposition of the Texas insurance companies to every proposal to touch this particular provision.

One will not have to seek far to find this other and dominating motive. The real service of the Robertson law to the Texas insurance companies is that it keeps out of the State four or five of the great insurance companies, whose resources aggregate more than those of all the companies in the State, and thus, to that extent, saves them from competition, both in the selling of insurance and in the lending of money. They love the Robertson law, not because of any intrinsic virtues it may boast, but because of the enemies it has made. They are hardly to be blamed for their zealous championship of the Robertson law; they are showing no more selfishness than that which animates most business enterprises. Neither are the people of Texas censurable if they wish to retain the Robertson law. It is a question of State policy. If they wish to commit the State to the policy of protection, to the policy of keeping alien enterprises out of the State by means of obnoxious laws, they have an undoubted right to do so. Our concern is that they should not do this unwittingly.

WHEAT CUTTING AND THRASHING PROGRESSING

Yields of From Eleven to Twenty Bushels Reported from Various Parts of the County

Wheat cutting and thrashing is in full blast in all parts of the county. All of the thrashing machines are busy, some of them being used in the same fields with the headers. Those who cannot secure machines are stacking the heads and will thrash as soon as possible.

The best report in this county comes from east of Happy where one farmer made 20 bushels of wheat to the acre. The remainder who have thrashed report around 12 bushels as their average.

G. D. Walker was in the city Friday and says that the harvest in the south part of the county is going on fine. He states that his wheat made a test of 65 pounds. He says that the average test of all of the wheat will be above 60, making as high as 62 or 63. What the wheat lacks in quantity this year will easily be made up in quality.

Mr. Walker states that too many farmers make the mistake of not properly preparing their wheat land before planting. He says that he always plows wheat land and is satisfied that it pays to do so. He says that he likes to have some weeds come up on his wheat land after it is plowed in the fall. These weeds will be killed by the frost before they injure the land, and they form a protection for the little wheat as it grows in the fall. Furthermore, he says that he can easily detect the difference in the quantity of wheat he got from the land where there were weeds last fall, and from the land where there were no weeds. In a dry winter as last winter, these few weeds will catch the snow that falls and hold it. This land produced much more wheat. The weeds did not bother the wheat this spring as they did not get started with the wheat.

Commissioner R. H. Coker is reported to have offered his wheat for sale at 5 bushels to the acre. He thrashed last week and made between 11 and 12 bushels to the acre. The wheat generally is making from a half to double the amount expected by the farmers.

Rev. A. B. Haynes reports another good yield. From 26 acres he averaged 17 bushels to the acre. All of his crop of 62 acres average 11 bushels to the acre.

Mr. Haynes is another farmer who believes in making the ground produce to the limit by proper cultivation. He puts the disc harrow on his wheat land as soon as the wheat is off. He then plows the land as soon as possible. This insures a fine seed bed for the wheat when the rain or snow falls during the fall and the winter.

The weather has been ideal for the harvest. There has been little or no rain in any part of the county, and the wheat crop is being saved without a particle of moisture on it.

Election Returns by Ball Team.

Arrangements are being made by the baseball team to procure on the night of July 22 complete election returns for the benefit of the people of the city and county.

The bulletin board will be placed in the Palace Cafe through the kindness of Manager P. C. Smith. An admission of 25 cents will be charged each man. The ladies are free to come in and see the election returns. The ball team will have for sale ice cream and cold drinks. The county returns will be received early in the evening, all of them coming directly to the Cafe.

Two Boys to the Front.

Herbert Miller and Randall Moreland left yesterday morning to join their troop on the border. They are members of the National Guard, the Amarillo troop.

Herbert has been a member of the News force for the past three years and will be greatly missed.

transacted by the creamery for the past month shows a total output of 23,000 pounds of butterfat, which brought in to patrons of the creamery $7,034.62. This butter, was handled by the creamery at a cost of 3.4 cents a pound and sold at an average of a little over 2 1/2 cents a pound.
It is surprising to find how many expressions used commonly today were derived from sailors' slang. To "throw overboard"—get rid of something undesirable—is clearly nautical, and so is "close quarters" was originally sailors' slang, says Answers, and that "first rate," "second rate," and "third rate" belong to days of wooden fighting ships and were used in their classification. We also speak of "sailing under false colors," "going on the rocks," "steering clear," we say "high and dry," "sailing against the wind," and "lowering our sails."

To build a dreadnaught it really entails about 7,200,000 man hours, or labor equivalent to the work of one man working that time, says the Detroit Free Press. The making of the turbine machinery absorbs some 1,850,000 man hours, and the mountings of the big guns can easily acquire two years' work, while a single armor plate may take nearly three months to finish. None of these processes can be unduly hurried. Between 40 and 50 per cent of the cost of a dreadnaught hull goes for labor. Curiously enough far less is spent on engine than when making one of the old type. Much of the material is made by machinery, leaving only 28 per cent of the cost for labor, where before 45 per cent was spent entirely for wages.

Dear Judge:
I have just learned from Roy Culum that you are running for Chief Justice of the Supreme Court, or something of that kind.
Now I regret very much that I am not living in Randall County and cannot get to cast a vote for you. If I had a chance I would vote for you for anything from President of the United States down to Justice of the Peace.
We have quite a bunch of Plains people here now drinking with us and I am going to work for you. Here's hoping that you are elected by an overwhelming majority.
Your friend,
L. E. COWLING.

Some complaint has come regarding the giving of half the road in case of an automobile coming up behind a team. The parties claim that when they come up behind a fellow with a team he stubbornly refuses to give any of the road to turn out. Now the law recognizes the rights of both the man with auto, and these rights should be respected. There are plenty of men who are running autos who should vice versa, but all men should not be treated that way. The law says that when a man is overtaken by a faster vehicle, the man driving the slower vehicle, shall turn out and give half of the beaten path.

"The newspapers of every community are doing the most of the fighting in favor of local business as against the mail order houses of the country. To reward the local press for its loyal and consistent support many of the business men of this and every other community in Kansas are buying their printing and blanks from Mail-order houses in Kansas City, Topeka and cities even more distant. Every dollar sent out of town for the purchase of any material that is sold here is added to the resources that the business men of other cities are using to fight the growth and expansion of business in Salina. The papers are going to keep right on doing their duty to the home people and they have the undoubted right to expect patronage and support in return."

If our town merchants try to "soak" you or have not what you want, of course, you are justified to go elsewhere. But first find out by getting prices and see what your home merchants have.

We have decided, therefore, to sell goods for the next ten days at prices that will surely clear our shelves.

Mr. Hughes is attacking President Wilson only on the tariff question and the Mexico situation. The tariff we have always with us. It will never be settled to the perfect satisfaction at all. Therefore, it is safe to say that there will ever be a political party without a view on the tariff. Hughes thinks Wilson should have whipped Mexico long ago. That's what many other people think, but perhaps they do not know the motive of President Wilson. He is not playing to the galleries of special interest who control the affairs of Mexico. If Wilson declares for intervention it will be from a humanitarian standpoint only, and he will suppress every demand made for the annexation of north Mexico, which is certain to be made should this country intervene.

CONGRESSMAN-AT-LARGE
Subject to Democratic Primary Election, July 22, 1916.
Your support earnestly solicited.

Anything to defeat John W. Woods for Attorney General. Do it honestly and at the same time elect B. F. Looney. The letter has an envious record made while the former has never made a beginning of a record.—Lakeview Promoter.

We merely reproduce the above, as a fair sample of the fight being made on John W. Woods—an honorable gentleman making an honorable effort to be elected to office in Texas. The above "effort" ought to make votes for Woods, however, and hurt Mr. Looney's "envious" record.—Clarendon News.

Dallas News—The only definite conclusion we have come to after reading, and even analyzing, what Mr. Morris had to say at Campbell as to the care of the insane is that he has not found time for the consideration of that subject. In a campaign whose paramount issue seems to concern the propriety of an item in the gubernatorial grocery bill it is perhaps unreasonable to expect that such a matter as this of caring for the insane can engage much thought from the candidate for Governor.

College for West Texas.

West Texas is demanding an agricultural and mechanical college, and a splendid organization of citizens is behind the movement. Dr. P. C. Coleman, of Colorado, is president; Porter A. Whaley, of Amarillo, is vice president, and Thomas F. Hodges of Sweetwater, is secretary-treasurer. An executive committee is composed of A. W. Reed, of Memphis; J. A. Halley, of Big Springs; Fred P. Woods, of Abilene, and Thomas F. Owen, of San Angelo. A campaign of publicity has been mechanical college is asked as a measure of justice to West Texas.

Attention is directed to the main fact that there is a tremendous country in Texas about 400 miles long about one and one-half million Texas people who are engaged in the occupation of farming, which includes with a portion of professional people. All these people desire to see things which are of practical value in their lives.

Absence of educational facilities in this territory is deplored by the promoters of this movement for a State college for West Texas. They say within all this vast territory inhabited by a great number of people there is absolutely no school in which children may obtain instruction along the lines so valuable and beneficial to them. That statement, they say should be all that is required to be said to emphasize the dire need for the establishment at once of this much-needed institution. In a recent address this argument appears for the establishment of an agricultural and mechanical college for the benefit of all the children of all the people of the West.

This section of the State has cheerfully and contingently paid into the treasury of Texas millions of dollars of taxes to establish and maintain various State institutions in every section. Each year sees a continuation of the drain from this section and the absence of any return to the West of a just proportion of taxes paid. Should this condition be permanently maintained, it could only result in a determined sentiment among the people to divide the State, in order that the western part should reap a benefit from the taxes they pay. To obviate the growth of this sentiment, founded on a determination to right a palpable wrong, all sections of the State should be willing to accord fair treatment and justice to every other section, in order that no dissolution of the empire of Texas into small units should ever occur. The construction of this school is an item of justice to West Texas that will be highly prized by every citizen.

Texas is nearly 1,000 miles across. It takes broad and traveled men to realize its immensity and to deal justly and in a broad way with all sections. The claim is made that much neglect and justice suffered by the western part of the State at the hands of law-makers of the central and eastern part of the State has been caused by the fact that citizens of those sections have not realized the immensity of this State or its value as a tax-paying factor.

There is a way out of it; a way to obtain justice, a way to obtain wise legislation, a way to obtain laws which are not blinded or narrowed.

Constructive men are needed under the big dome at Austin. Representative farmers are needed as law-makers; successful business men and manufacturers are needed; well equipped professional men and working men are needed; builders are needed.

There are a million reasons which could be advanced as to why they are needed. Texas should be permitted to grow and expand. The marvelous resources of this State should be developed. Manufacturing should be encouraged. Co-operation between the builders of the city and the builders of the country should be brought about.

On July 22, at the primary election, the men who do not believe in standing still or in quarrelling over trifles should nominate constructive men for the law-making departments of the government. Then prosperity will come to the Southwest and justice will be done to all concerned.—Fort Worth Record.

Silver City has two husky war babies, industries which have originated through the extraordinary demands of the war and the changes due to the closing of certain of the world's sources of supply. Silver City's two products of war are the two manganese mines now operating almost within the townsite.—Silver City Independent.

Some news of the state and an agitation for state birds. Our nomination for the Texas bird is a Plymouth Rock pullet fattened on milk and weighing about four pounds. And for the state cooking utensil we nominate the frying pan and move that nominations be closed.—Houston Post.

Let's plan, too, for a county fair; and whether the county has a fair or not, let's have a local community fair. The good these community fairs do is almost incalculable. "There's many a neighborhood" said a friend of ours the other day, "in which the people were beginning to think they were not doing anything and were getting discouraged. Then they held a local fair and the assembling of all the fine livestock, the parade of improved farm machinery, the men's exhibits of etables and fabrics—well, the fair simply put new faith into the people. I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles. Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me. At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I thought it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing. I think Cardui is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health. If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardui today. Delay is dangerous. State of Texas. To the Sheriff or Any Constable of Randall County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to summons John E. Owens and H. H. Howell and the heirs of J. Clark Hoel, deceased, whose names are unknown, to appear at the next regular term of district court of Randall County, Texas, to be held at the court house there, in the town of Canyon on the fourth Monday in August, 1916, same being the 28th day of August, 1916, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 24th day of June, 1916, in cause No. 816, wherein L. Y. Burch is plaintiff, and John E. Owens and H. H. Howell and the unknown heirs of J. Clark Hoel are defendants, the cause of action being alleged as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that he is the owner of survey No. 119 Block 2, A. B. & M., certificate 626, situated in Randall County, Texas, and that he owns said land by virtue of a patent being issued to Adams, Beaty and Moulton on June 20, 1885, by virtue of certificate No. 626, issued by the commissioners of the general land office and that on December 14, 1874, R. C. Beaty and M. C. Moulton executed a power of attorney to Adams Adams whereby the said Adams Adams was authorized to sell any and all land certificates to be issued to Adams, Beaty and Moulton, and that on September 16, 1885, the said R. C. Beaty and Adams Adams acting by their said attorney in fact, made, executed and delivered to J. B. Crane a deed wherein the above described land was conveyed and that on September 15, 1885, the said J. B. Crane made, executed and delivered to W. B. Munson of a certain deed whereby the above described land was conveyed to said Munson, which deeds were duly filed and recorded in the Deed Records of Randall County, Texas, on December 14, 1886, and that afterwards on February 9, 1901, W. B. Munson sold and conveyed by his certain deed the above described land and premises to the plaintiff, which deed was duly filed and recorded in Deed Records of Randall County, on April 6, 1901.

Plaintiff would further show to the Court that he has had and held said land above described under a deed duly registered and has had peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of the same, cultivating, using and enjoying same and paying all taxes due thereon for a period of more than five years.

Plaintiff would show to the Court that he is the owner of said land and has a perfect right and title to the same, because he has had and held said land, an adverse possession of the same, using, cultivating and enjoying same for a period of more than ten years.

The defendants claim said land by reason of Adams Adams, R. C. Beaty and M. C. Moulton on February 2, 1875 sold and conveyed to J. Clark Hoel land script No. 626, which sale and transfer was filed for record in Randall County on the 2nd day of June, 1890; and that by virtue of said certificate the land above mentioned was on June 20, 1885, patented by the State of Texas, to Adams, Beaty and Moulton and that on July 24, 1893, J. Clark Hoel for the purpose of securing his note executed a deed of trust on the above described land, W. R. Howell, trustee for the use and benefit of the defendant John E. Owens; that H. H. Howell, as administrator of the estate of J. Clark Hoel, made executed and delivered a deed to said property to the defendant John E. Owens; that by reason of the premises plaintiff has a superior title to said land and that by reason of the claim of defendants, a cloud is placed upon plaintiff's title.

Plaintiff prays that upon hearing he have judgment against defendants for the above described land and that the cloud placed upon his title to said land be removed, and for costs of suit.

You are further commanded to serve this citation by publishing same once in every week for eight successive weeks to the return day thereof in a newspaper published in your county, but if no newspaper be published in said county, then in the nearest county where a newspaper is published.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court on the said first day of the next term thereof, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and seal of said county, on the 24th day of June, 1916, in Canyon, Randall County, Texas.

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

Proposed Amendment to the State Constitution Relating to Levying Tax for School Purposes.

(H. J. R. No. 30) HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, authorizing the levy and collection of an ad valorem county tax not to exceed fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of property for the maintenance of the public schools of the county, and authorizing the levy and collection of an ad valorem district tax not to exceed one dollar on the one hundred dollars valuation of property for the maintenance of the public schools of the district.

Be it resolved by the Legislature of the State of Texas:

Section 1. That Section 3 of Article 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended to hereafter read as follows:

Section 3. School Taxes. — One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes, and a poll tax of $1.00 on every male inhabitant of this State between the ages of 21 and 60 years shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools, and in addition thereto there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount, not to exceed 20 cents on the $100.00 valuation, as with the available school fund arising from all other sources will be sufficient to maintain and support the public free schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year. The Legislature may authorize the levy and collection of an annual ad valorem county tax within the counties of this State not to exceed 50 cents on the $100.00 valuation of property situated within the county; provided, a majority of the qualified property taxing voters of the county voting at an election to be held for that purpose shall vote such tax, for the purpose of maintaining the public free schools of the county, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law without the local notice required in other cases of special legislation, and all such school districts, whether created by general or special law, may embrace parts of two or more counties, and the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such district, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed, or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein; provided, that a majority of the qualified property taxing voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax not to exceed in any one year one dollar on the $100.00 valuation of the property subject to taxation in such districts, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns, constituting separate and independent school districts.

Section 2. The Governor of this State is hereby instructed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of the State of Texas at the next general election to be held in November, 1916, at which election all voters favoring this amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to the levy of ad valorem school taxes not to exceed fifty cents on the $100.00 valuation in the county and not to exceed one dollar on the $100.00 valuation in the district, for the purpose of maintaining the public schools of the county or of the district." And those opposed to this amendment shall have written or printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment to Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, relating to the levy of ad valorem school taxes, not to exceed fifty cents on the $100.00 valuation in the county, and not to exceed one dollar on the $100.00 valuation in the district, for the purpose of maintaining the public schools of the county or of the district."

Section 3. The sum of $5,000.00, or as much thereof as may be necessary therefor, is hereby appropriated to pay the expenses of carrying out the provisions of this resolution.

(Note.—H. J. R. No. 30 was adopted by the House by the House March 6, 1916, yeas 104, nays 12. Was adopted by the Senate, with amendments, March 19, yeas 25, nays 2. House concurred in Senate amendments March 19, yeas 78, nays 19, present and not voting 1.)

THIRD TERM VIOLATION OF DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLE

LOONEY'S VIEWS EXPRESSED IN 1903 BROUGHT TO LIGHT BY OPPONENT.

Settlement of Katy Suit Criticized By Woods.

The issue involved in the Attorney General's ratification is not so much a question as to whether Mr. Looney or myself shall be elected to office as it is the kind of government the people of Texas are entitled to. The question concerning the people is not so much who shall administer the law as how it shall be administered.

The office of Attorney General has during Mr. Looney's administration assumed abnormal power due to his political interpretation and sensational administration of law and unprejudiced adjudication of cases in which he has employed legislative, administrative and judicial powers of government never before exercised by any public official in any department of this State or any other commonwealth. Now Mr. Looney asks that the people, by their vote, make his acts their acts; that by their endorsement they take over the responsibilities for his official conduct.

Looney Asks for Third Term. Mr. Looney has served two terms as Attorney General already, and he and his assistants and the employees of that department are now spending practically all their time trying to secure a third.

Two terms in that office has always been the rule in Texas, with one solitary exception. In 1908 there were three candidates for Attorney General—Mr. Looney was one of them. The Attorney General then in office was a candidate for a third term. Mr. Looney withdrew from the race, and, in a signed article of February 21, 1908, through the press over his own signature, with drew in favor of another candidate and vigorously opposed the then Attorney General for a third term, an in his signed article, in criticizing the Attorney General for attempting to secure a third term, among other things, said that his candidacy "was a violation of the unwritten law of the party with reference to the third term."

If the argument Mr. Looney made then against a man holding the Attorney General's office longer than two terms was sound, why is it no good argument now?

But Mr. Looney now says that there are important cases in his department that have not yet been disposed of, and that he should be re-elected on that account. There were undisposed of cases in that department when Mr. Looney opposed the third term idea in 1908. There have been undisposed of cases upon the retirement of every Attorney General Texas has ever had. There will be undisposed of cases two years from now, and four years from now, no matter who is elected.

If the people of Texas were to endorse such an argument as that then an Attorney General could perpetuate himself in office until he died. Texas has many able and distinguished lawyers who are as competent to fill that office as Mr. Looney, but as long as the incumbent could persuade the people that he should be retained until all cases were disposed of, then no other man need apply.

Now let us briefly examine some of Mr. Looney's settlements. Take the M. K. & T. compromise, or we had better call it dismissal, for that is what it amounted to. This case was one of Mr. Looney's most spectacular proceedings. The suit was for $100,000,000. In the dismissal of this suit, the Attorney General agreed to saddle a debt of twenty-two million dollars upon the Texas property of the Katy. In effect he re-valued the property of the M. K. & T. and found it worth $22,000,000 more than the Railroad Commission was willing to allow. Now the Constitution of Texas makes it the duty of the Railroad Commission to value property, and nowhere does it give authority to the Attorney General to appraise the property of the railroads, and it so happens that the Railroad Commission had previously refused to give the M. K. & T. credit for this item and in validating the amount the Attorney General overrules the repeated decisions of the Railroad Commission. The Railroad Commission has never approved Mr. Looney's settlement, although it is a matter in which their approval should have been secured, if indeed they should not have been given complete jurisdiction over at least that part of the suit relating to property values.

Now Mr. Looney boasts that this was one of the largest cases of its kind ever filed in any court, and I will go farther than that and agree that the M. K. & T. suit was the biggest legal farce in the world's history, and I challenge Mr. Looney to get the railroad commission of Texas to approve his settlement of this case.

JNO. W. WOODS.

The Soda Fountain An American Institution

Did you ever stop to realize that the soda fountain is as much an American institution as the sausage is a German institution, "French Bread" is an institution in France and the Plum pudding an English institution? And the funny part of it all is that though one seldom sees a soda fountain in Europe (and then only for the sake of attracting American tourist trade) just as soon as a foreigner sets to this country he too seems to learn to love the soda fountain.

But, if you are old enough to look back a few years you will remember that only comparatively recently has the soda fountain been either so popular or so beautiful and hygienic.

You may remember what these old soda fountains looked like—what poor provision they made to supply even their scanty trade.

What has wrought this great change—what has made the soda fountain a national institution—a comfort and necessity in the daily lives of men and women—not only during the hot summer time but the whole year 'round.

30 YEARS AGO

A MODERN SODA FOUNTAIN

The answer lies in that delicious beverage Coca-Cola. Soon after its introduction at the fountains people began to ask more and more for this distinctive drink. Along with its demand came the demand for more places that would serve it. Soda fountains sprang up everywhere, improving in beauty, neatness and attractive service. It is a fact that the part the soda fountain and all its allied industries have come to play in the economic life of the nation today is due largely to the stimulus given to it by Coca-Cola.

In the same way has the call for bottled beverages grown. In 1899 Coca-Cola in bottles was first put on the market and the same quick recognition and appreciation was accorded to it in this form as was so evident in the fountain trade. The same principles of purity, goodness and deliciousness made another astounding record of growth possible. Bottling plants have been established all over the country to take care of this branch. Just think of it—over 20,000,000 glasses and bottles of Coca-Cola are drunk every month. So—just as much as is the soda fountain a national institution so is Coca-Cola the National Beverage.

STATE FAIR OF TEXAS HAS LARGE INCREASE IN PREMIUMS

ALL AGRICULTURAL AND LIVE STOCK CLASSES ARE GREATLY BENEFITED

NEW PREMIUM LIST IS NOW READY FOR PERUSAL

R. E. L. Knight, President.

R. E. L. Knight, president of the State Fair of Texas, announces that the most extensive and complete arrangements have been made with a view of making the 1916 State Fair at Dallas, which opens October 14, and continues to and through October 29, the largest, most interesting and most valuable agricultural and educational exposition ever held.

During the year just passed, the Fair management has conducted vast improvement enterprises at Fair Park—practically every department has felt the influence of the earnest desire to bring all details connected with the Fair right up to the minute; and, as a consequence, when the 1916 Fair opens next fall, every necessary equipment and facility for an epoch-making exposition will have been provided.

Premiums Largely Increased. The State Fair of Texas is, essentially, an agricultural exposition; its purpose is to gather together and display annually a representative showing of the wonderful resources and possibilities of the great Southwest, and this in order that the peoples of other sections may have an increased appreciation of the marvelous fertility of Southwestern soils, and the incomparable advantages of our matchless Southwestern climate. It is obvious that this purpose can be best achieved by inducing and influencing a large majority of farmers of the section to bring displays of their products to Dallas, and with this end in view, the directors of the Fair have, this year, voted large increases in premiums for practically all classes of agricultural and live stock exhibits.

The premiums offered by the Fair this year are undoubtedly the most valuable ever appropriated by any Fair Association; and, likewise, the total number of premiums will be much greater than in the past.

Many New Classifications Added. In almost every division, and particularly in the sections devoted to agriculture and live stock, there will be found this year a number of interesting new classifications. In the poultry section, a classification for all kinds of pigeons has been devised, and a special building is now being constructed to house the large number of pigeon exhibits expected. The raising of pigeons for the market is becoming an important industry in the Southwest—of sufficient importance, in fact, to justify a good representation at the State Fair of Texas.

Premium List for 1916 Now Ready. W. H. Stratton, secretary of the Fair Association, announces that the premium list for 1916 has just been issued and is now ready for general distribution. This is a book of 142 pages, handsomely printed on good paper, and is fittingly illustrated with photographic reproductions of portraits of the officers and directors of the Fair, and with scenes in Fair Park.

While the title of this work is simply "Premium List," the publication is, in fact, much more—as it contains a great deal of interesting and valuable information relative to the rules and regulations governing the different classes and, in fact, all necessary data relative to the aims and purposes of the Fair.

A feature of this book which will interest practically all Texans will be found in the front of the publication in the nature of a large folder, 40 inches long by 8 inches wide, upon which is illustrated a splendid panoramic view of a portion of the Fair Grounds. This is a late photograph and shows the grounds just as they are today. The reverse side of this folder presents a fine panoramic view of the present skyline of the city of Dallas. This is likewise a very recent photograph and glowingly depicts the wonderful growth which Dallas has attained in recent years.

In the back of the 1916 Premium List will be found a similar large folder presenting many of the amusements which are to be at the Fair this fall. The amusement program, as outlined by Secretary Stratton, is by far the largest and most expensive ever offered by the Fair management, and while both sides of this large folder have been utilized for the purpose, it has been found to be entirely impossible to present a large portion of the acts which have already been secured.

Mr. Stratton states that a sufficient number of Premium Lists have been published to take care of all demands, and that a copy will be mailed to any address upon receipt of request. There is no charge for this publication. Those who wish only the various folders can, for the asking, secure copies beautifully bound especially for free distribution to the people of Texas and the Southwest.

From the nature and extent of the preparatory work already concluded, it is easy to deduce that the 1916 State Fair of Texas, to be held in Dallas October 14 to 29, will be the largest in the history of Texas.

To the Voters of Randall County.

Before casting your ballot for county judge in the coming primary election, I should be pleased to have you read this article carefully.

After stating some of the duties of county judge, as I see them, and some of the things I stand for, I shall fortify my claims to your support with a brief statement of my record as county judge, for, as the old saying is "If a man brags on his coon-dog he ought to be able to show some coon-skins."

First, I believe in an economical administration of county affairs, and in collecting no more taxes from the people than are necessary to pay the expenses of the county, economically administered; for a full treasury is always a temptation to extravagance.

In support of my administration on this subject, I respectfully refer you to the record, for I understand a few persons in the county have raised this question. In comparing my administration with those next to it, I have taken the years—1903, 1904, 1907, 1908, 1909 and 1910 in which I helped to make the tax levy, and the years 1905, 1906, 1911, 1912, 1913 and 1914 in which I was not in office and I find that the annual tax rate for my six years averaged 45 1/2 cents, and for the other six years the average annual rate was 45 5/6 cents.

Which in view of the fact that during my administration we had to furnish the new court-house and equip the water plant at an expense of seven or eight thousand dollars is not a bad showing. But this is not all the story. The amount of taxes assessed against the people depend on several different factors. We might have a low rate and a high valuation and vice versa. The real test is the actual amount of taxes assessed. Now the records show that during the six years of my administration, the average annual amount assessed for all purposes, state, county and school was about thirty thousand, three hundred and twenty-five dollars; and for the other six years mentioned above it was about thirty five thousand dollars.

I also have the figures from the comptroller's department showing the amount of state taxes paid by Randall County from 1907 to 1915. This includes the last four years of my administration and shows that for those four years the county paid to the state an average annual amount of about $3762 and for the four years immediately following my administration the average annual amount was about $8210, and for the last five years an average of $9750. I am not giving these figures in criticism of the Commissioners' Court, but simply in defense of my record. As I understand it the present court had no power to prevent the increased taxes to the state without placing valuations so low as to seriously cripple the school funds of the rural districts.

Second, I regard the ex-officio duties of the judge, as superintendent of the schools of the county, as being equal in importance with his regular duties.

Herein, again I ask you to pardon me, when I say that I have the "coon skins." I was the first County judge to organize a teachers' institute and to visit the schools of the county. This work I did faithfully and with some degree of success. Under my administration four school houses were built that were a credit to the county. Three of these were built by bonding the districts, the county buying the bonds with her sinking funds, thus giving the county six per cent on money that she was accumulating to pay three per cent bonds, and at the same time giving the districts cheap money, and enabling them to build good houses and to distribute the burden of building upon those who would get the benefits later.

I visited the schools in a cart or on a bicycle as my funds dictated. If you re-elect me, I have a car now,—if I succeed in paying for it—and I assure you that the children of Randall county will all get acquainted with me. I shall try to bring the children, teachers and superintendent in touch with each other, encourage educational rallies, and the building of better school houses.

Third, I am in favor of good roads. No country can be truly prosperous in the absence of good means of transportation and communication. The success of the farmer lies at the bottom of all true prosperity, and he is entitled to an easy means of marketing his products. I am opposed to wire gates and "let downs." They are evidences of neither prosperity or progress. I believe in finishing the roads as they are built.

The county judge has but little to do with the enforcement of the criminal laws. But I favor a reasonably strict enforcement of them. I believe in law, I am not an anarchist. I believe it is really more just and fair to the criminal to give him no encouragement to violate the laws. I will say in this connection that as county judge I shall stay within my province and not volunteer my services as a spy or a "smelling committee," but when the county court has acquired jurisdiction of a criminal he will not go free by paying the officer's costs, nor until he has reasonably paid the penalties imposed by a wise legislature. I have no sympathy with the doctrine that Randall county is too poor to punish infractions of the law, nor that it is right to drive a law breaker into a neighboring county. The Bible teaches us to love our neighbors, and our adjoining county is as much our neighbor as he who lives next door to us.

During my administration we built Randall County a substantial and commodious court house. We built it cheap and without "graft." We had to issue bonds for this. I am not a lawyer, but I rodged this bond issue without the aid of an attorney, and as Bill Nye would say, "without restoratives." Instead of paying a broker to sell them, I sold them for the county. With the mechanical help of an efficient county clerk I also prepared the different school bonds for the rural districts. These forms were praised by the attorney general's department. These things I did gratis for the county, and yet I do not claim that Randall County owes me anything, but if, as a business proposition you think I should be likely to serve you better than some one else, then I respectfully request you to trust me with the office.

Though not a practicing attorney, I regard with, I trust pardonable pride, my record as a trial judge. The records will show a much smaller per cent of reversals in appealed cases than in the district court for the same period. Prompt and correct rulings in the trial of causes save the county and the people much time and expense.

In conclusion I will say that if you are kind enough to elect me judge, I shall devote my time and energies to the office. I shall have neither connection with, nor interest in any business on the side. In short I shall do my level best to serve you.

Very truly yours,
A. N. HENSON.

TRACTOR EXHIBIT PLANS COMPLETE

ONE MILLION DOLLAR MACHINERY DEMONSTRATION AT DALLAS, JULY 18 TO 23

BANNER EVENT OF THE YEAR.

All plans are practically completed for the First National Tractor Demonstration, which will be held at Dallas July 18 to 23. This demonstration includes more than 200 tractors and over 20 makes of plows. Every bit capacity of a tractor will be demonstrated. Probably 400 factory representatives will be on hand to show the possibilities of a tractor on a farm, and the four days' demonstration at Dallas will constitute a practical, complete short course in power farming.

A E Hildebrand, manager of all of the demonstrations, reached Dallas early this week, and will remain through the demonstration. During this week the tents for exhibition purposes will come, and a tented city will rapidly outline itself on the demonstration site. For demonstration purposes a tract of 1,000 acres has been secured and this has been platted and is ready for daily exhibition of plowing, seeding, disking and every other farm operation of a similar character. Adjacent to the demonstration site are roads in need of work and on these the possibilities of the tractor and road making machinery will be shown to give exhibitions. The tractors at this demonstration will be of every size and type, while the plows will include engine plows, both moldboard and disk, from all the standard makers. Concessions have been let for food, drink, fuel and other things for the convenience on the grounds both of the exhibitors and the visitors.

There will be four days of actual demonstration in plowing and other farm work, the mornings being devoted to private demonstration and the afternoons to public demonstration. This event promises to be the biggest agricultural event of the year, and every farmer and implement dealer in the Southwest should make it a point to be present at least on one of these days.

This machinery exhibit will approximately reach a valuation of $1,000,000, and will easily be a close second to the State Fair in this respect. These tractor demonstrations are the results of demonstrations previously held in Nebraska and Canada. The interest was so great that practically all tractor and thresher manufacturers in the United States have formed an organization for the purpose of holding a limited number of demonstrations in the best tractor territory in the United States. A circuit has been arranged embracing eight cities, in as many states, and these demonstrations, the first of which will be held at Dallas, will follow each other on successive weeks until the circuit is completed.

Cattle Department at Coming Exposition.

W. E. Herring, H. F. Mitchell, E. H. Small and Geo. M. Boles are prominent among those at the head of the Livestock Dept. at the coming show and exposition of the Panhandle State Fair.

This statement carries with it the undeniable assurance that livestock will be given a place of extraordinary prominence and importance at the show Sept. 12-16. Year after year this department of the fair has been growing, now the people are looking with increased expectancy for the added bigness of the livestock division. Not only is there a deep concern in high grade animals in the various subdivisions of this department but in pure bred stuff as well. Registry is now becoming a popular demand to the people who the interested in livestock. It is probable that no agency aside from the activity of the breeders themselves is so helpful in forwarding this desire as the annual show of the Panhandle State Fair.

Prominent among those at the head of the Cattle Division are such men as C. O. Keiser, J. L. Van Natta, M. L. Steele and O. H. Nelson. These men are outstanding in the cattle industry throughout the U. S. and are especially known in connection with their own fine herds of registered animals. Other subdivisions of the Livestock Division are in the hands of experts, this will assure all exhibitors of the service of men who have a deep interest in this character for the greatest show and exposition ever attained in this section of the southwest are on in full swing, and those in charge of the work express the belief that all previous records will be broken.

PAINFUL EFFECT OF Rheumatism, Lumbago, Gout.

It is now asserted with confidence that these painful effects due to uric acid in the system are entirely eradicated. A new remedy, called "Anurie," has been discovered by Doctor Pierce, which he finds is 37 times more potent than lithia, and is the cause of a drainage outward of the uric acid with which it comes in contact within the body. It will ward off backache, headache, and the darting pains and aches of rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia—of those diseases which are caused by too much uric acid, such as gout, asthma, sciatica, renal calculus. "Anurie" prolongs life because old people usually suffer from hardening and thickening of the walls of the arteries, due to the excess of uric acid in the blood and tissues.

Send Dr. Pierce, chief physician at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., 10 cents for large trial package, or obtain 50c. package now at druggists.

Battles Won in the Factories

Organization of Industrial Forces Vital to Preparedness, Points Out Howard E. Coffin of Naval Consulting Board

By DAVID TUNNECLIFFE

H. E. COFFIN.

In all of the work to prepare the nation against war most attention has been given to the army and to the navy, for the opinion has prevailed that if we get legislation providing a larger army and a larger navy our policy of insurance against war would be complete. But over in Europe they have found that it takes at least three men working at top speed at home to keep one soldier at the front, and Howard E. Coffin, the motor-car builder, a member of the naval consulting board, declares that, even with a large army and a large navy, the United States will be wholly unprepared unless the other nations of the world know that back of them the industrial forces of the nation are organized and co-ordinated. To bring about that state of efficiency is a task of tremendous size, for, contrary to popular notions, we are not prepared to serve the guns of any country with shells in quantities that are really important. No American shell, it is said, has yet been fired from a French gun, and only 10 per cent of the ammunition England has used has come from this country. So the prevalent opinion that we are furnishing the munitions of war for the allies is mischievously misleading.

"Eighty per cent of the industries of Europe are working day and night on the production of materials for the fighting line," said Mr. Coffin. "These materials are practically all for the armies, because there have been few naval engagements and very little wastage. So you can say that 80 per cent of the industries in Europe are working on munitions for the armies. Now, we have no reason to believe that in case we are drawn into any future war—in case we are really honest in our desire that we shall be prepared—that we can count on any other condition in this country than that existing abroad. In short, we must be prepared to produce faster and in greater quantity the arms and munitions of war than can any other nation, or any other two nations which might attack us."

"We have in this country manufacturing and producing resources greater than those of any two countries in the world. If we have these resources so organized through an educational campaign—the safest and at the same time the cheapest kind of preparedness we can have—so that half, or in some important lines more than half, of the industrial equipment and resources of the world can step in behind our army and navy, we might term it the greatest insurance against war this country could possibly have."

"In the production of any war materials, such as rifles or shells, for instance, there are certain gauges necessary, measuring tools and gauges for sizing different parts, etc. These are being made in large part by three concerns which are manufacturing nearly all the gauges for the country. This is a general statement, of course, and there are some smaller concerns. The skilled labor employed on this work is specialized labor. It has been on this work for years, and could not be replaced in a long period of time because gauge making is a craft which has grown up with these concerns."

"Could not our industries quickly adapt themselves to turn out war material?" I asked.

"If," Mr. Coffin continued, "we should place an order in this country for 200,000 shells per day throughout the range needed in our general operations—some seventeen sizes—these concerns have computed the expenses and time required for the production of such gauges in the necessary quantity. They have figured that it would require from seventeen to twenty million dollars invested in the gauges themselves, and that it would require five years for their valuable equipment, working continuously, to produce the necessary quantities of such gauges; also from actual experience they have estimated the length of time such gauges could be used before being replaced. After three thousand to ten thousand gaugings with an instrument of the accuracy required for this work, it means that either the surface must be renewed or the whole gauge scraped, because limits of perhaps a quarter of a thousandth of an inch cannot be maintained on account of wear. This is one instance of what preparedness means if we are honest about it and really want it."

"Let me go back now to this question of how to standardize our munition methods and of how we may best utilize the American industries behind our fighting line. As I have said, some 80 per cent of the producing equipment of foreign countries is now working in the service of the armies. Through our observations of these conditions during the past year we have been forced to revise nearly all our ideas of modern warfare. I am not speaking for the navy and army officers, because they must have known in some degree what was coming. But the manufacturers of this country have at last, through observation of foreign happenings, come to have some realization of the changed conditions of warfare."

"We have felt heretofore that with a big army and navy we would surely be well prepared. We have now found that with a big army and navy we may be in a worse position than without them, or may be even yet in a position where some of the pacifists would have us. With a big army and navy we might try to run some bluff which would be called, and when the showdown came we would find that the army and navy were merely the first breaker, and that behind the lines we had nothing to back them up."

"Industrial preparedness in this country," continued Mr. Coffin, "means we shall have to be so prepared through an educational policy that our industries will be in a position within a month or two months or three months, as the case may be, to swing from their regular lines of production on to the production of the munitions required for military purposes, and go on without delay with such deliveries as will keep our fighting lines supplied."

Preparedness in Iowa.

It is reported in the Des Moines Register and Leader that when the two companies of that city's national guard, half recruits, reached camp they went hungry. There was no commissary. Some of the men got a couple of spoonfuls of cold beans. A few of them had some bread and coffee. What they got the company officers had to go after in automobiles.

The Des Moines Register and Leader, which records this breakdown in a simple military measure, has been endeavoring to keep the people of Des Moines in the belief that the military preparations of the nation were adequate. They now believe it, and if the newspapers will continue to tell them that what they believe is true, the men who are willing to serve will get just such treatment. Going without food as a result of the military policy of the United States is really not so bad. Later it may be found that a more dangerous hardship is to go without equipment.

If the Register and Leader had been really up to the mark in this emergency it would have seen that the soldiers got for their stomachs what the people of Des Moines have been getting for their intelligence—printer's ink.—Chicago Tribune.

The man who grabs his Jonah by the throat—
Who throttles back the yowl that longs to spout—
Who shakes his head and grins, although it hurts—
Who turns his big, black clouds all inside out—
Who takes a breath and says, "I'm darned if I Give up just yet!" His middle name is Try!

The man who throws a bloom' n' monkey wrench
Into his balkin' engine, when he's mad—
Who fails to sand his track, but skids
—and skids—
Who thinks the whole blamed world is bad and sad—
The man who knows hard work is on his trail—
Won't win — because his middle name is Fail!

So, take another slant, old man—Per-haps
Things aren't as gummed-up as they seem to be—
Start something moving — glooms won't help along.
In front of "luck" just plant a letter "p."
An' then, some day, you can look back on it
And see your middle name was just plain "Grit."
—Chicago Livestock World.

The longer I live, the more I am convinced that half the unhappiness of mankind arises from little stoppages—from a duct choked up, from food pressing in the wrong place, from vexed duodenum or an agitated pylorus. Old friendships are destroyed by toasted cheese, and hard sueted meat has led to suicide. Unpleasant feelings of the body procure corresponding sensations of the mind and a great scene of misguided food.—Sidney Smith.

A nation is made great, not by its fruitful acres, but by the men who cultivate them; not by its great forests, but by the men who use them; not by its mines, but by the men who work in them; not by its railways, but by the men who build and run them. America was a great land when Columbus discovered it; Americans have made it a great Nation.—Lyman Abbott.

Flowers of the Flag.

Citizens of San Antonio of German descent have announced their intention of organizing a military company and offering their services in defense of the United States against the world. Carl Wurzbach is one of the leaders of the movement. He is a native Texan, the son of a former judge, has a wide acquaintance among the German-Americans of South Texas, is a graduate of a military school, and has had nine years of military training. He believes that the number of those who will offer their services in San Antonio will be great enough to form a battalion at once. There has never been a time when Texans of German descent were not willing to fight for the flag of this republic. They have demonstrated this in all the wars of the past. Foreigners come to this country to build homes under this flag and enjoy the blessings of civil and religious liberty. Their children, the manor born, are as patriotic as any class of Americans, and the roasters of the regular army and navy of the United States substantial testimony of their presence.—Ft. Worth Record.

The Nonproducers

A favorite argument of the antimilitarist is that the nation loses much because the soldier is a nonproducer. This argument, however, is no sounder than that of the 'burden' of military expenditure. 'Non-producer' is a much-abused term. If it means all those who are not actually growing or manufacturing some article, then we must include ministers, teachers, lawyers, bankers, merchants, and certainly those engaged in all sorts of insurance, in which case the fact that a soldier does not continually manufacture or grow things himself is no reproach.
