When found she was mothering eleven baby chicks and one tiny woodpecker, which appeared perfectly happy to let the hen scratch worms for it, and the hen is paying just as much attention to the little woodpecker as it is to her brood of chicks. The woodpecker's appearance is explained on the supposition that a woodpecker laid the egg in the hen's nest while the hen was off looking for food.

Dull Months Are Out of Style

A dull month? NOT ON YOUR CASH REG-ISTER. Dull months are for dull people, not for live ones.

If you were a carpenter and your saw was dull, would you say, "I can't work this month, my saw is dull?"

Not for one blessed minute!

You'd get up in the morning and file that saw before breakfast. You'd put an edge on that saw that would make it eat its way through an eak board like a 10-year old boy through a piece of pumpkin pie.

The live merchant does exactly the same thing. The minute he sees the first faint sign of aproaching dullness, he sharpens up his BUSINESS TOOLS and goes after MORE BUSINESS. And he gets it, too

He uses MORE ADVERTISING and BEITER advertising. He uses BETTER illustrations and STRONGER copy. He plans new campaigns while his COMPETITORS SLEEP. He uses THE NEWS' DISPLAY COLUMNS or the LOCAL PAGE, or both. He pulls every string. He does not leave a single stone unturned.

The man who leans back in his chair and says, "I'll take it easy now, for August will be dull anyway" will get just what he is looking for. It's all in your mind.

This prattle about "duli seasons" is a mongral theory sired by MENTAL WEAKNESS, mothered by INDIFFERENCE and nursed by the universal tendency of human nature to FIGHT SHY OF WORK.

Suppose there are a few people gone out of town on their summer vacation. There are more visitors than that come into town every day. And even with the few gone there is still a matter of many hundred permanent residents left within trading distance who eat, and wear clothes in August the same as in any other month

There is plenty of business to be gotten in August if you only make up your mind to GO AFTER IT. We have what we WANT in this world provided we're not afraid to WORK and SWEAT and ADVERTISE.

You can have dull months if you want them, but you'll be out of date if you do. THEY'RE NOT IN STYLE ANY MORE. '

Dignity That Is Neither Formality Nor Haughtiness-Outward Calmness Imperative at All Times.

A well-bred carriage is difficult to imitate; for in strictness it is negative; and it implies a long-continued previous training. You are not required to exhibit in your manner anything that specially betokens dignity; for, by this means, you are like to run into formality and haughtiness; you are rather to avoid whatever is undignified and vulgar. You are never to forget yourself; are to keep a constant watch upon yourself and others; to forgive nothing that is faulty in your conduct, in that of others neither to forgive too little nor too much. Nothing must appear to touch you, nothing to agitate; you must never overhaste yourself, must ever keep yourself composed, retaining still an outward calmness, whatever storms may rage within. The noble character at certain moments may resign himself to his emotions; the well-bred never. The latter is like a man dressed out in fair and spotless clothes; he will not lean on anything; every person will beware of rubbing on him. He distinguishes himself from others, yet he may not stand apart; for, as in all arts, so in this, the hardest must at length be done with ease; the well-bred man of rank, in spite of every separation, always seems united with the people around him; he is never to be stiff or uncomplying; he is always to appear the first, and never to insist on so appearing .- Goethe's "Withelm Meister."

It is a white powder, and makes the best dressing for wounds that modern doctors have ever discovered. In using peroxide of hydrogen it is always necessary to remember that while it is a disinfectant it is not a healing remedy at all, as it is acid in reaction and stimulating, rather than healing, to wounds. Boric acid is mild and safe in its action, promotes rapid healing of wounds, can be used as a dressing powder or, dissolved in water, as a cleansing solution. Boric acid in solution makes an excellent gargle for sore throats or a lotion for sore eyes, and as it is not at all expensive a pound box of it should form part of the domestic supplies of every family. Always remember that boric acid is nonpoisonous in any ordinary quantity usually used, while bichloride of mercury and carbolic acid are exceedingly poisonous. For disinfecting and deedorizing drains, the crude or unrefined carbolic acid is one of the best agents obtainable.

Of the millions who keep Shakespeare's memory green today, how many have even heard of Heminge and Condell? Yet, to the faithful labors of these two poor players we owe the first attempt to give the world a complete edition of Shakespeare's plays. No collected edition of the poet's work was issued in his lifetime, nor did many of the plays even find their way to print, until John Heminge and Henry Condell, Shakespeare's intimate friends and fellow actors, took the task of publication in hand, disclaiming "ambition either of selfe-profit or fame in undertaking the design," and being moved solely by desire "to keepe the memory of so worthy a friend and fellow alive as was our Shakespeare."

SUBSCRIPTION, $1.50 PER YEAR

There is a movement on to lengthen the term of state officials to four years. It is a good movement, and the democratic platform calls for it. However, the people have the habit of voting down constitutional amendments and this would probably be the fate of such an amendment to the constitution. The people do not get nearly, so worked up for state elections as do the politicians who favor the amendment.

Those "statesmen" of Denmark are queer ducks. A few years ago they wanted to get rid of the West Indies times that amount.

8 8 8 There is no month in the whole year in which nature wears a more beautiful appearance than in the month of August. Spring has many beauties, and May a fresh and blooming month, but the charms of this time of year are enhanced by their contrast with the winter season. August has no such advantage. It comes when we remember nothing but clear skies. green fields, and sweet-smelling flowers-when the recollection of snow, and ice, and bleak winds has faded from our minds as completely as they disappeared from the earth; and yet what a pleasant time it is. Orchards and corn-fields ring with the hum of labor; trees bend beneath their thick branches to the ground; and the corn, piled in graceful sheaves, or waving by air, in every light breath that sweeps above it, as if it wooed the sickle, tinges the landscape with a golden hue. A mellow softness appears to hang over the whole earth.-Charles Dickens, in "Pickwick Papers."

From the fact that jack rabbits are on the increase in spite of the many hundreds killed each week and the fact that they are damaging some crops slightly it must be that the wolves did more good killing these rodents than they did harm in the chicken lot, A war of extermination on hawks of various kinds also has shown that these carnivorous animals did more good than harm. It may be, indeed, that hawks and wolves are assets for West Texas.

Aeroplanes as Life Savers

Powerful Flyers Some Day Will Be Used to Guard Property and Lives of the Nation in Peace as Well as in War.

By REAR ADMIRAL ROBERT E. PEARY

I have laid down the axiom that aeroplanes are life savers as well as l'fe wasters, and that their real printed on fine paper and bound in mission in this complicated age of ours is for the former service primarily, its services for the latter use being only as a necessity in time of war.

Even as a war machine, however, the aeroplane, ents complain that whole basements both of the land and water variety, saves the lives of its are literally filled with virtually waste people in direct ratio to its success in keeping hostile invaders away. This is specially true of a peaceful nation like ours, whose military and naval power, even if greatly augmented in the near future, will be used for defense only, and not to aid inexcusable territorial aggrandizement.

The great value of aircraft as a life saver on water, as illustrated by the aero coast patrol system advocated by our National Aerial Coast Patrol through described as "expositions"commission is acknowledged. Let us now consider briefly the coming activities of the aircraft on land.

One of the great uses for aeroplanes in the near future will be as fire fighters. The time is almost at hand when giant planes, larger than any we know of now, and with a speed greatly above the average of 85 to 100 miles an hour which prevails at the present time, will be equipped essentially like land fire apparatus. Rushing without hindrance through the air at 150 to 200 miles an hour, carrying fire-fighting apparatus and expe- Senator-or the man he is aidingrienced firemen, fully equipped aerial fire departments will dash toward may have the Government Printing the buildings on fire, and extinguish the flames with chemicals long before office strike off as many more as he the fire department of these times could get half way to the blaze. No later than June 2, Walter Niles, the aviator who has just returned ment armor plate plant propaganda. from a triumphal tour of Japan and China, while flying over Mineola, near New York city, saw that the dwelling of a citizen was on fire before anybody else even knew about it. Niles flew to the conflagration and maneuvered around and above the house in such a way that the alarm was communicated to people in the street and the fire was soon put out. If this can be done merely as an incident to a little air jaunt in the afternoon, it is not difficult to believe a great deal more can be accomplished by a full-

These instances might be multiplied at great length, and to a point clusters of rich fruit, which bow their tiresome in detail. Indeed, there is hardly a life saving function exercised on land that cannot, and will not, be done much better and much faster

Everything will not come at once, to be sure, but aeronautics is developing with such remarkable celerity in this and most all other countries that the germ of the foregoing suggestions has already passed the nebular stage, and before the present generation has gone to its reward many of these things will have come to pass.

To my mind there are only three fundamental principles in advertising, namely: To be honest, be sensible, be persistent.

I say honest, because every advertiser should remember that advertising doesn't create value but merely tells it. The value has to be in the article itself.

I say sensible, because the majority of people who read copy are endowed with good common sense.

We shall confine our consideration, too, to those products which have their origin on the farm either in the raw state or finished and manufactured into edible or wearable articles,

Let us take wheat, for example. We all bow that the war has put the price of wheat way up. Very well—this means that the whole country: city, town and rural population ns well are paying more for their flour—there-fore the wheat raiser should theoretically be getting rich on a product which it costs him no more to raise than formerly and for which—one lots.

But wiit a minute—there are other things consider in this matter of growing rich off means that white the wheat raiser is some other agriculturist more for his product, he is also paying some other agriculturist more for his product. This cuts down somewhat on the profust the war is bringing to the farmer. Mr. Heinryh was 64 years of age. He was born in Saxony, Germany. He came to America at the age of 17. He taught mude for a number of years, and while in a recital in Chicago, accompanied by Richard Strauss, he first attracted general attention from the musical world. He has become very noted in recital, having a great bass

For later years he has taught music and devoted much time in training Miss Julia who is fast becoming a national figure in the musical world. Miss Flsie Guenther went to Chicago this summer to study under him, but he was taken ill a short time before her arrival.

From a musical standpoint Max Heinrich has done much to put Canyon on the musical map. While Canyon had Maude Powell two years ago and gained great fame from this section, Max Heidrich placed interviews in the leading musical publications of America regarding the trip he made here in April with his daughter so that an abundance of artists are now being offered Canyon for the annual musical recital next spring. Canyon owes a great deal to Max Heinrich, and our people are grieved to learn of the passing of the great musician.
