During a visit in the home of one of our prominent farmers last fall I brought up the question of community development. From the discussion that followed I gleaned one of the most impressive lessons in community co-operation that I have ever learned

Of all the homes I have ever been in this one in question struck me as being the happiest. Svery member of the household, consisting of father, two boys, and three girls, is absolutely contented as they have every reason to be.

And, mark you, community co-operation, as developed in their locality by them and their neighbors, is directly and solely responsible for their happiness.

The story is a simple one as told me by the head of the family in the presence of his children. In substance it was as follows:

"About sixteen years ago my good wife died, leaving me and the children to get along together as best we could without wife or mother. Under the burdens of poverty and grief you can rather imagine how dark and gloomy the future loomed up before

"After reorganizing the household set about to make my small, mortgaged farm produce enough to keep us going.

"Five years hard work and rigid economy cleared me of debt and left enough to improve the cabin we had called home. The following year I traded the place in on land which forms the neucleus of this farm. My fair education stood mei n well, and as I was a hard worker and a close student of agriculture andlive stock, I prospered exceeding ly ditring the next few years and the future bid fair to have only good in store for us. "Then about four years ago our happiness seemed to suddenly vanish into-thin air without any apparent, cause. The two boys definitely co cluded to seek a more pleasure-affo ing atmosphere. NO REASON FOR IT

When Canyon Citizens Show a Way.

There can be no reason why ,any reader of this who suffers the tortures of an aching back, the annoyance of urinary disorders, the pains and dangers of kidney ills will fail to heed the words of a neighbor who has found relief. Read what a Canyon citizen says:

Mrs. Clarence Smith. E. Third St., Canyon, says: "My back was weak and ached. It was also stiff and sore. The kidney secretions annoyed me a great deal. Black spots floated before my eyes and caused dizziness. It took only a few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, procured from Burns' Drug Store, to cure me and I have not been bothered since."

But now that I have it I might as well use it.

Every time I hop into one of those roomy, comfortable street cars in a city of the second, third or even fourth class I immediately contrast it with the wood boxes we use in New York, and I find myself growing red in the face and biting my nails.

Those Squeezer cars that prowl the streets of New York are surely the breathless limit, aren't they?

The Squeezer car is the best genteel imitation of a rough-house that has ever been invented.

They are called Squeezers because the conductor has to let the passengers out with a can opener. Brave and strong men climb into a street car, and they are full of health and life and vigor, but a few blocks of the road they fall out backward and inquire feebly for a sanitarium. To ride on a Broadway street car, for instance, about eight o'clock of an evening brings out all that is in a man, including a lot of loud words he didn't know he had.

The last census shows us that the street cars in the city of New York have more ways of producing nervous prostration and palpitation of the brain to the square inch than the combined population of Amsterdam, Rotterdam, Tinkerdam and Gotterdammerung.

To get in some of the street cars about six o'clock is a problem, and to get out again is an assassination. One evening recently I rode from Forty-second street to Fifty-ninth street without once touching the floor with my feet.

Some of the New York street cars lead a double life, because they are used all winter to act the part of refrigerators.

It is a cold day when we cannot find it colder in the street cars. The germs in our street cars are extremely sociable and will follow a stranger all the way home.

Often while riding in the New York street cars I have felt a germ rubbing against my ankle like a kitten. Being a gentleman, at least superficially, I lid not reach down and kick it away,

In the fourth presidential election, 1800, 16 states took part, having 138 electoral votes, the same as in 1796. The count resulted in a tie for president, Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr receiving 73 votes each, John Adams 65, Charles C. Pinckney 64, John Jay 1. There being a tie vote between Jefferson and Burr, the election was carried to the house. of representatives. Jefferson there received the votes of 10 states, and Burr the votes of four-two voting blank, making Jefferson president and Burr vice president. They were inaugurated in Washington, March 4, 1801.

When I remonstrated with him, he replied that this is a free country, and if he wished to sit down I had no business to stop him.

Then his friend pulled us apart, and I resumed the use of my lap.

During the next twenty blocks I had one of the worst daylight nightmares I ever rode behind. The party who had been studying the port when you moved over, you must be the Hog!" Then I got so mad at myself that I refused to talk to myself any further

The next day I was riding downtown on the end seat with my mind made up to stay there and keep the harbor open for commerce.

"Never," I said to myself, "never will anyone become a human Merrimac to bottle up the seating capacity of this particular bench while the blood flows through these veins and the flag of freedom waves above me." At the next corner a very thin little gentleman squeezed by me with a look of reproach on his face, the like of which I hope never to see again, but I was Charles J. Glue and firm in the end seat.

Then a couple of Italy's sunny sons of the name of Microbeini and Germicide crawled' over me and kicked their initials on my kneecap and then sat down to enjoy a smoke of domestic rope, which fell across my nostrils and remained there in bitterness. After I had been stepped on, sat on, clawed at and scowled at for some of the cars stop on the near side of some of the streets and some stop on the far side of some of the streets. Honestly, they had me in the air.

I left the hotel to attend to some business downtown and went over to the near side of the street to wait for a' car.

When the car came along I held my thumb up in the atmosphere warningly, but the motorman kept on to the far side and stopped.

By the time I ran over to the far side he was gone again, and another car had stopped at the near side.

When I rushed back to the near side the car passed me going to the far side, and now the near side looked so much like the far side that I went back to the other side, which should have been the near side, but how could it be the near side when the car was on the far side, and I could not get near the side in time to catch the car before it was far away on the far side? Just as I rushed back again to the nearer side to catch the car, and places made to bloom. Secretary Redwhen I rushed over again from the far field has already issued a proclamato the near side the clearer I could see that while the far side was far away it was nearer than the near side, which was always on the far side when I hoped to take a car on the near side.

Then I began to grit my teeth and made up my mind to anticipate the action of the next car by standing half way between the near side and the far side, so that I could run to either side the emergency called for.

I was standing there about a minute, much pleased with the idea, because the near side was about as far away as the far side, when just then an automobile sneaked up behind me and one of the forward turrets struck me on my personal far side and hoisted me over to the near side just as a car left for the far side. I reached out my hand to grasp the far side step, but I missed it and caught the near side, and by this time the car was on the far side and the motorman grabbed the near side of the electric controller and pushed it over to the far side, whereupon the car started for El Paso, Tex., at a speed of about 3,000 miles a minute. and there I was with the near side of four fingers holding on to the far side of the step and the rest of my body sticking straight out in space like a pair of trousers on a clothesline in a gale of wind. Then suddenly the near side of my fingers refused to hold on to the far side of the step, and with the near side of my face I struck the far side of the tracks, and the near side of my brain saw every individual star on the far side of the Universe.

Then I went back to the hotel and crawled into the far side of the bed while friend wife sent for a near-side doctor who lived on the far side of the block.

SAVES DAUGHTER

Advice of Mother no Doubt Pre-

Ready, Ky.—" I was not able to do anything for nearly six months," writes Mrs. Laura Bratcher, of this place, "and was down in bed for three months.

I cannot tell you how I suffered with my head, and with nervousness and womanly troubles.

Our family doctor told my husband he could not do me any good, and he had to give it up. We tried another doctor, but he did not help me.

At last, my mother advised me to take Cardui, the woman's tonic. I though it was no use for I was nearly dead and nothing seemed to do me any good. But I took eleven bottles, and now I am able to do all of my work and my own washing.

I think Cardul is the best medicine in the world. My weight has increased, and I look the picture of health. "

If you suffer from any of the ailments peculiar to women, get a bottle of Cardul today. Delay is dangerous. We know it will help you, for it has helped so many thousands of other weak women in the past 50 years. At all druggists.
