Thanksgiving Proclamation

The following proclamation for Thanksgiving is issued by President Woodrow Wilson:

"The season approaches when it behooves us to turn from the distractions and preoccupations of our daily life, that we may contemplate the mercies which have been vouchsafed to us, and render heartfelt and unfeigned thanks unto God for His manifold goodness.

"This is an old observance of the American people, deeply imbedded in our thoughts and habits. The burdens and the stresses of life have their own insistence.

"We have abundant cause for Thanksgiving. The lesions of the war are rapidly healing. The great army of free men, which America sent to the defense of liberty returning to the grateful embrace of the Nation, has resumed the useful pursuits of peace, as simply and as promptly as it rushed to arms in obedience of the country's call. The equal justice of our laws has received steady vindication in the support of a law-abiding people against various and sinister attacks, which have reflected only the baser agitations of war, now happily passing.

"In plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future, its duties and its opportunities. May we have vision to discern our duties; the strength, both of hand and resolve, to discharge them; and the soundness of heart to realize that the truest opportunities are those services.

"In spirit then, of devotion and stewardship we would give thanks in our hearts and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes to His children.

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November next, as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and I call upon my countrymen to cease from their ordinary tasks and avocations on that day, giving it up to the remembrance of God and His blessings, and their dutiful and grateful acknowledgement."

BAND WILL MEET TUESDAY NIGHT FOR FIRST PRACTICE

Wallace R. Clark, head of the Music Department of the Normal, states that the first practice of the Canyon band will be held in room 201 at the Normal building next Tuesday night. Mr. Brothers of the Music Department will direct the band.

As pointed out in the News last week, an effort is being made to get together all of the people of Canyon interested in band music in order to organize a strictly Canyon band. The members of the Normal band will be invited to join in the practices, but primarily the meeting on Tuesday nights will be for the benefit of local people.

Mr. Clark states that a large number of Canyon people have expressed an interest in the new band, and it is expected there will be a large number at the practice next week.

The opportunity offered the people of Canyon in the new band is indeed exceptional. Mr. Brothers is a band director of many years experience. His services are offered free of charge to the local people in order that a good band may be organized here.

THE TOWN OF HAPPY WILL SOON INCORPORATE

At a recent meeting of the Chamber of Commerce held recently and attended by practically all of the business men of Happy, definite action was taken towards the incorporation of the town. The need of street lights, sewerage system and other improvements has long been felt, and it is felt that by incorporating many of these improvements can be secured. The town is now well over 500 population, which is required to incorporate.

The fruits of prohibition are raisins and apples.—Financial America

Ollie James, the gigantic and genial senator from Kentucky, was in conversation with a Washingtonian, when the latter made certain inquiries with reference to a mutual friend whom he had not seen for a number of years.

"And how does Colonel Prescott spend his declining years?" he asked.

"Beautifully, sir, beautifully!" answered James. "He has a fine farm, sir. And a string of trotters, sir. And a barrel of whiskey sixteen years old—and awife of the same age, sir!" —Saturday Evening Post.

About the only international agreement that would be generally popular, it seems, is one in which no nation actually agrees to do anything.

The result of the special bond election on the hospital proposition Saturday was no surprise to those who have watched political affairs in Randall county. It was quite evident some weeks ago that the proposition was doomed for defeat unless something was done, and no one came forward to put over the job. The people of the county were not informed either as to the need of the hospital or the management of the institution were the proposition adopted. In the first place, there is no doubt that it would have easily won if any number of men had worked Saturday in Canyon as hard for the proposition as two or three men worked against it.

Any number of voters who were highly in favor of the hospital entirely "forgot" to vote. Less than half of the voters in the city went to the polls, and fully two-thirds of these would have favored the proposition had there been an organization to get them out. In the second place, the county boxes went against the hospital proposition simply because the majority of the voters thought Canyon was trying to put something over on them. It is better, under circumstances, that the bond issue was defeated. The News believes that had the matter been thoroughly threshed out, a reasonable and workable plan of management of the hospital been worked out and presented to the voters, that the proposition would have been adopted. Under the circumstances the voters of Randall county were asked to pay over $30,000 toward an institution which had no plan of government and operation. The News was for the hospital because there is a distinct need for one in Canyon. We believe that the question is not defeated, but merely postponed until an organization can be formed which will take enough interest to work out a definite and concrete plan that can be submitted to the voters.

The Hale county democratic chairman threatens to haul before the grand jury for perjury every voter who entered the democratic primary in July and then voted the republican ticket in November. Were this possible the grand jury of every county would have a merry time at the next meeting. Personally we can see no sense in that portion of the pledge on the ballot which says the voter will support the nominees of the primary. The first part of the pledge is right and should be strictly enforced. Republicans have no business going into the democratic primary any more than democrats would have in entering the republican primary. But when it comes to a final selection between two men to fill an office, it is no one's business who any man or woman shall vote for. If the democratic party selects a man the democratic voter cannot conscientiously support, and the republican nominee is a man in whom the voter has confidence; the principles of a free and democratic government is undermined when the state says the voter must by law support the nominee of the primary he enters whether he wants the nominee or not. We have an idea that the Hale county chairman will not get far in his investigation and indictments in spite of the fact that the law may be with him. At least the Randall county grand jury would have a merry time were it to investigate all of the cases of democrats "not staying at home" in the general election.

UNGRATEFUL PEOPLE
"Vanity of Vanity; all is vanity," saith the preacher. Four of the five great statesmen who have won the war for the allies have been repudiated by their people. Orlando of Italy fell first; next Clemenceau of France was defeated for president; the recent election in this country was repudiated by the Wilson administration; this week Premier Venizelos of Greece was repudiated in a general election. Only Lloyd George of Great Britain retains control of his government, and several times has he had narrow escapes, but has each time managed to weather the storm.

These five men bore the brunt of the war, and more credit is due them for winning the war and humbling the Kaiser than any other forces, for had they not managed matters as they did the armies of the allies and America would not have been able to make the fight they did.

Why do people nearly always, following a big war, repudiate those who won the war? It seems they would be so grateful that they would vote them back into power.

To win a war there must be men of iron at the head of the government, and they must needs trample on many persons' toes to do so—and this leaves a grudge in the heart of each person whose toe was hurt, and at the first election he votes in revenge. People are "amusing critics."

In later years a nation canonizes the statesmen who won its wars—for instance, Washington and Lincoln, even if it does bitterly denounce them and repudiate them at or following the war.—Plainview News.

C. W. Warwick has bought the Randall County News and is now the sole proprietor and manager of that news sheet. Mr. Warwick has been one of the stockholders and the editor of the paper for a number of years, but when the war was on he gave up his job and went to France to help Uncle Sam. After coming back home he again took up his old job at Canyon on the News and has been turning out a first class paper and a credit to Canyon or any other place. The experience gained abroad made him more alive than ever to the issues of the day and he knew a few things from having been on the ground and was not afraid to express his opinion. Realizing, however, that he could do better for himself, he tried to buy several papers, but finally concluded that Canyon was home to him and that he saw a big opening at his very door, so he bought out the other interested parties and is now in full charge. We would have been sorry had Mr. Warwick located outside the Panhandle. He is a man that is needed in this land of peace and plenty and Canyon is indeed fortunate to have kept him there. We believe in throwing our flowers at the living and here's a red, white and blue posie for the new editor, owner and manager of the Randall County News. May "In God We Trust" be plentiful in his purse and may the flag of the free wave from his columns until there is not a red rag in the land, because all are as truly American as Editor Warwick. It means much to stand at the head of a newspaper and blaze the trail of progress with the pen, but Mr. Warwick is able to do the job and the people of Canyon should rally round him and make it worth his while to stay on the job. And in doing so, they will be adding to the glory of their own town and making it a big spot on the map. A paper is measured by its town and no editor, no matter how good, can make good if he has not the support of the people he serves. And to be a success, it is absolutely necessary for an editor to be doing a paying business, for the he may write equal to David and puff his home folks and boom his home town, if he is not making money enough to pay him for his work, he is not going to be able to buy print paper very long. And that's the truth.—Higgins News.

Out of a total number of fifty-three indictments returned last week by a Potter county grand jury, eighty per cent of the number were against boys and young men between the ages of seventeen and twenty-five, according to the Amarillo Daily Tribune. The Herald editor is reminded that there is entirely too much open gambling on the part of the boys and young men, not only in Panhandle, but in numerous other communities where we have had occasion to observe. For the past year or so it has been no uncommon occurrence in Panhandle for boys, ranging in age from twelve years up, to engage in "matching money in a win or lose contest," right out on the sidewalk, in the barber shops and other places where boys are in the habit of collecting in crowds. Matching money in a win or lose contest is just as much a violation of the anti-gambling laws of the State as it is to engage in a game of draw poker, where there is a money value at stake. The Herald is simply calling attention to this matter because we know that the gambling habit has caused more bright and promising boys to go wrong than any other vice. The open habit of gambling now so much practiced all over the country is causing so many of the little fellows to take up the habit and it ought to be prohibited for the sake of the little fellows, if nothing more.—Panhandle Herald.

SPECIAL TRAIN TODAY TO CLARENDON GAME

Normal Team Closes Season at Clarendon Today—More Than Hundred Rooters Make Trip.

The Normal team is going to have great support in the Thanksgiving game at Clarendon today, backed by more than one hundred student rooters who will accompany the team and do their part toward winning the game. The bunch will leave Canyon at 10 o'clock on the regular north-bound Santa Fe. A Fort Worth & Denver train will be on the Santa Fe track at Amarillo, immediately in front of the station, and this train will leave for Clarendon soon after the Santa Fe train reaches Amarillo. The return train from Clarendon will leave about 6 o'clock in the evening, or soon after the game. It will reach Amarillo in plenty of time to allow people living down the Santa Fe to catch the 9 o'clock train for home.

On account of injuries received in the game with Wayland, Canyon's team will be materially weakened for the Clarendon game. However, some good substitutes are being put thru the mill, and they are showing up remarkably well. It is believed that this will be one of the best football games of the season on the Plains. The football championship of the Panhandle colleges is still very much muddled. No team has a clear record. The Normal was seemingly eliminated by being defeated both by Wayland and Clarendon, although judges in both games place the Normal team as equal if not superior to either.

Wayland and Clarendon have each won a game from the other. Last week they played in Amarillo to decide the supremacy, but the game was a tie. Wayland came to Canyon Friday and was easily defeated by a much larger score than any college team has so far recorded this season. If the Normal team can annex the Clarendon game today by an equally large score, this school will be a contender for the championship title.

COUNTY OFFICERS TAKE OATH WEDNESDAY, DEC. 1

The new county officers will take office in Randall county next Wednesday, December 1st. A few changes will be made in the official family of the county at that time.

In the county judge's office, R. Flesher will retire, Worth A. Jennings moving over from the office of sheriff and tax collector.

W. C. Black is the new sheriff and tax collector, succeeding Worth A. Jennings.

Mrs. Myra Smith will succeed S. H. Heysler as county treasurer.

Rector Lester moves to the county attorney's office, succeeding W. J. Flesher.

O. W. Gano, county and district clerk, Wilford Taylor, county assessor, J. A. Tate, animal and hide inspector, G. G. Foster, county surveyor, all retain office for the coming term.

All the members of the commissioners' court will hold for another term—W. C. Baird, P. D. Hanna, J. J. Bauer and E. E. Adams.

Arnett Moreland will be justice of the peace from precinct one and Bob Ball constable from precinct one.

The wisdom of the wise and the experience of ages may be preserved by quotation.—Benjamin Disraeli.

VICE PRESIDENT WILL LECTURE NOVEMBER 30

Hon. Thos. R. Marshall Will Lecture at the Normal Auditorium on Lyceum Course.

Hon. Thos. R. Marshall, Vice President of the United States, will lecture in Canyon on the night of November 30. The appointment is one of the numbers of the lyceum course.

Mr. Marshall has considerable reputation as a public speaker. The fact that he has been vice president for eight years makes him a distinctive man in American history. His message will be highly interesting and instructive.

Indications are that the attendance at his lecture will be exceptionally large. Large numbers are coming from Amarillo and Hereford for the lecture.

Crazy Times

Strike and the world strikes with you, work and you work alone; our souls are ablaze, with the Bolshevik craze, the wildest that ever was known. Groan and there'll be a chorus, smile and you make no hit; for we've grown long hair and preach despair and show you a daily fit. Spend and the gang will cheer you, save and you have no friends, for we throw our backs to the birds and ducks and borrow from all who'll lend. Knock and you'll be a winner, boost and you'll be a frost; for the old sane ways of prewar days are now from the program lost. Strike and the world strikes with you, work and you work alone; for we'll rather yell and raise blue hell than strive for an honest bone. Rant and you're a leader, toil and you're a nut; 'twas a bitter day when we pulled away from the old time workaday rut. Wait and there'll be a blow up, watch and you'll see a slump, and the fads and times will go to the Nation's dump.—Walt Mason.

Wisdom consists in rising superior both to madness and to common sense.—Amitel.

Thanksgiving Day

There are many things to be thankful for if you give the matter careful attention. If you have opened an account at our bank and regularly deposited your savings, you can be thankful for the snug sum you now have on hand for an emergency. If you have not done that, you can at least be thankful for the fact that the opportunity is still at hand for you to start an account and that a good bank, in a good town, is ready to take care of your deposits.

If you can't be thankful for that—well you can at least be thankful that you are not a turkey.

Fooling Himself!

This skinny critter is busy at making himself believe he is a fat steer! But his delusion is no more complete than that of the farmer who thinks he saves money by raising cheap scrubs. These days, when the margin between feed cost and selling price on the hoof is uncertain, there is on y one economical kind of steer—the pure-bred. His superiority over the scrub can be measured in size, in quality, in pounds of beef for pounds of feed consumed—and finally in dollars on the credit side of the farm ledger.

In a series of advertisements in this newspaper, we shall demonstrate that pure-breds make the beef for which the packer pays the highest price. They are your big money-makers when the market is up, your surest source of profit when it drops.

For this publicity in the interest of pure-bred beef cattle, we are indebted to THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN. If you are now a reader you know its frequent helpful articles on better beef cattle, and its many fact-stories of successful farmers who have prospered from the steadily increasing demand for pure-bred breeding stock.

If you are not a subscriber, let THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN enroll you along with the rest of its progressive farmer subscribers. Fifty-two issues of a year's subscription come for just $1.00. Yes, your check is good.

Trustees Will Seek More Territory Adjoining Canyon—One of Smallest Districts in County.

At a meeting of the school trustees of the Canyon Independent School district Tuesday night, it was ordered that steps be taken to enlarge the boundaries of the district. On investigation it was discovered some time ago that there was only one district in the entire county which had a smaller territory than the Canyon district.

The school attendance has been carefully checked from all territory surrounding Canyon, and practically all of the children living within five to seven miles of the city are now attending school in Canyon.

A bill will be prepared to present to the regular session of the legislature which meets in January for the enlargement of the district.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL ENDS WITH THANKSGIVING DAY

Randall County Still Lacks Considerable Number of Quota—Workers Busy Today.

Randall county lead the State of Texas last week in the percent of its quota of members in the Fourth Red Cross Roll Call.

Since then, the number of members has not been largely increased. There remains more than a hundred of the quota who have not responded to the Roll Call.

Henry C. Gamble is county chairman of the Roll Call. He is urging all workers to continue the drive thru Thanksgiving. He wants every worker to report to him by Friday so that a report may be made to the state headquarters at Dallas.

Randall county should have the quota of 500 which was assigned to the county. If the workers miss on Thanksgiving, call up Mr. Gamble and tell him to see that your name is enrolled among the members of this great organization.

Typical Oasis in Arctic

Christian Science Monitor: The war interrupted exploration of the unknown country east, west, and north of the Porcupine River, Yukon Territory, where there is reason to believe that an astonishing oasis of tropical warmth will be found in the Arctic region. The belief, says a writer in the World's Work, comes from a discovery of sudden and unexpected change of climate made in 1912 by J. C. McIntyre and two companions traveling north of the Porcupine by dog sledge with the thermometer at 40 degrees below zero. It was cold, going but that was to be expected; what wasn't to be expected was that it began to turn warm. "It seemed," says McIntyre, "as though we were suddenly passing from winter into spring." In two hours the travelers had discarded their Arctic coats and were marching in soft snow, presently they came to a hot spring and then to others; the snow disappeared and the stunted growth of an Arctic landscape gave way to dense vegetation. They were in fact on the outskirts of a considerable region where the climate was warm and the land supported bear, caribou, duck, wild geese, pheasant and other game. The little company of three, however, was not equipped for an extended exploration and the war came in time to postpone the second trip into the territory. Now an expedition is preparing which will bring back more specific data. Rumors of such a tropical oasis have come out of the North in the past and the actual discovery of the remains of mastodons lends likelihood to the thought that there is really about to be found and mapped a section of the Arctic where the local conditions create a tropical environment for living creatures.

CHECK ARTISTS BUSY IN ALL PARTS OF COUNTRY

Two prominent business men stated this morning that they had received more "dry" checks during the past two months than during the entire past three years. One business house in Canyon had nearly two dozen bad checks a few days ago, many of them of large denominations. Some prominent men figured in the "dry" check game.

The banks are turning down checks very quickly when the account is not sufficient.

J. H. MESSIMER PARDONED FOR KILLING GEO. WARD

The Younger Set

Gainesville Signal: The grand jury in session in Chicago reported it found the crime wave could not be stopped there until parents took to controlling their children, keeping them off the streets at night and paying some attention to the kind of company they keep. Nearly all the crime in Chicago is being committed by the younger set, and this evil will grow until better training is taken up in the home.

State Press in Dallas News: If parents would control their children there would be small need of policemen. And if Chicago had a law-abiding population, resident and transient, a lot of policemen might be released for other work. The pity is that many parents do not know how to raise their own children. They are too much to luck. "The Lord giveth and the policeman taketh away" is too often true in and out of Chicago. Many mothers are afraid of their young daughters, hence they fail to forbid or prevent the daughters from going to the dickeners. There are 17-year-old girls, to be seen on the streets of all cities, whose faces are so hard you could crack coconuts with them. Whose fault is this? It is mamma's fault in many cases, mamma being a simp. But these girls did not become flinty-faced by themselves. Boys of their own age, or men, older, helped in the hardening process. When mamma permits daughter to stay out all day and most of the night with any little peach-orchardist who compliments her with his attention, can mamma in good reason expect the girl to maintain a higher standing than the boy?

When you see an idle young man you see a needy old man in the making.

The most valuable help that a man ever gets is the help that he gives himself.

What Thrift Really Does

What does a man gain by Thrift? He builds a bridge to a better job; he sets up a ladder to climb in the world; he gives his family a better chance; he develops self-reliance; he is ready for sickness or hard luck, if it comes. What does Thrift mean in a man's work.

He has too much respect for time to waste it; he has too much respect for his tools to injure or waste them; he is capable of handling other men's business; he is marked for a better job.

Marshall Field explained much of this when he said: "In the first place it creates determination; then it develops steady purpose; then sustained energy. Soon it produces alert, discriminating intelligence. These all rapidly grow into an ability that enables a man to take the money he has accumulated (even though a small amount) and employ it with profit."

Andrew Carnegie put it the other way around: "The failure of the man who does not save his money is due not only to the fact that he has no money with which to take advantage of the opportunities that come in the way of every man, but also to the fact that such a man is not able or fit to grasp these opportunities. The man who cannot and does not save money will not do anything else worthwhile."

The Unlaid Eggs

The grain-fed hen usually carries a number of unlaid eggs—yolks which she cannot complete into eggs and lay, because her feed lacks the necessary white-forming nutrients. (That's why egg-yolks are found in a hen, when it is dressed). Many of these yolks of unfinished eggs are finally absorbed back into the hen's system.

Missouri Experiment Station tests showed that 100 lbs. of wheat, corn, oats, barley and kafir corn make (above bodily maintenance) an average of 224 yolks and only 154 whites. Based on data from the same experiments, Purina formulas produce, (above bodily maintenance) as follows:—

	Yolks	Whites
Purina Scratch Feed	247.49	142.11
Purina Chicken Chowder	182.05	282.55
Combined Ration	429.54	424.66

These feeds, used in combination, form the most perfectly balanced and economical egg producer you can buy. Purina Chicken Chowder is the egg-completing ration, containing exactly the right feed elements to make the necessary whites. That's why we can positively guarantee

The Telephone Pole Ad Is a Thing of the Past

In the old days when every farmer drove the plough-horse to town, he had time to amble along and read the sale bills on the way.

Now, the average farmer has his eyes glued to the road while driving his six-cylinder car, and the telephone poles fly by like pickets on a fence.

Newspaper advertising is just as far ahead of telephone pole-bills as the auto is ahead of the horse. Both are necessary and do good work. But the Newspaper, like the auto, gets more done quicker.

For the Newspaper is taken into the home and read at leisure. It is originally purchased because its particular editorial policy—its individual newsmen appeals, and the reader has confidence in its judgment. This confidence is reflected on the ads that that Newspaper carries and the advertisers get the benefit of this feeling of dependability.

An ad in this paper is bound to bring results. We can help you prepare it, and can supply you with attractive illustrations to use in it. Let our ad man call and explain the big benefits of using Bonnet-Brown Sales Service in your ads.

RANDALL COUNTY NEWS

LITTLE WANT ADS BRING RESULTS

A Thanksgiving Talk

From The Prairie.

If you are a Pollyanna person, don't read this. I think you might not like it. It isn't going to be suffused with a spirit of grinning gladness, if you see what I mean; for the maker of it emphatically is not glad of everything, but only glad that there are some things concerning which one can be glad.

You might think, from the "introduction," that I've been living in the house with a professional optimist, but I haven't. I stay at the Morelocks'.

Do you believe in doing penance? I do. I'm doing it now. How many times have I required of my students a "composition," regardless of the fact that sometimes they had nothing in particular to compose? The tables are turned now, as tables always are, eventually. I now have a pupil who edits a paper. He naturally thinks the English office is a composing room, littered as it is with present, past, and futuristic themes, and the notebooks of yesteryear. Editors and artists, I have observed, seem happy in the midst of chaos, which, incidentally, sets English teachers wild. That's why I am trying to get you to help me set my Thanksgiving thoughts in order. For I am thankful for some things, even if I can't catch up with the notebooks; and I still have pupils who can't write English; and the last little flower has been touched by the frosts of November; and I am asked to "contribute" to the Thanksgiving issue of "The Prairie."

First of all, then, I'm thankful for you, for if you hadn't been a hopeful and helpful sort, you would never have read so far as this. Really, I am thankful for you, if you're connected with the West Texas State Normal College. I think that one of the chief things we should be thankful for is that we like each other. Suppose we didn't. Is it nothing to live in a college community in which malice is reduced to a minimum? Of course the art teacher did say that my autumn bouquet consisted of "dead weeds," and that putting them in water wouldn't do any good. But then she didn't mean anything by that. That's just her way. Everyone knows that art teachers really like weeds and things of that sort. And what are you going to do, when there isn't any autumn foliage? It is customary, of course, and altogether proper, that in enumerating our blessings, we should place at the head of the list our food, our clothing, and the roof that shelters our head. But our Heavenly Father knoweth that we have need of these things; and they will be forthcoming if we do our part—even if we teach school for a living.

Now, seriously, aside from the physical necessities without which the life of the spirit could not be sustained in a world like this, for what should we, at this special Thanksgiving anniversary, give thanks to the Giver? Is it not for the enrichment of that spiritual life? And by spiritual I do not mean merely religious, if you can separate the terms in your mind. Should they be separated? I hope you do see what I mean. I mean the enrichment of everything we are, aside from that which perishes—if anything does perish. If "religious" means all that to you, use the term, if you like it better; but if "religious" means other than that to you, then we do not speak the same language, and I fear we shall not understand each other, after all.

We should give thanks together for the supreme blessing: the "summum bonum," whatever it may be, which we share in common. We shall, I think, have to leave out of the discussion those things which cannot be talked about, such as conscious communion with God, and those closer human relationships which alone render consciousness of such communion possible.

But there are Thanksgiving thoughts which we could talk about, to our mutual advantage. Do you hold with Emerson that a friend is a person who makes us do what we can do? If so, are you grimly grateful for your friends in the faculty? If you're a student, I mean. If you're a member of the faculty, skip this paragraph. For of course the faculty can't make each other do a thing. Only President Hill could perform a miracle like that. And even that's because the expression of his eyes makes them want to do what the expression of his chin suggests that it might be wiser to do.

If you're "a faculty," begin reading again here. This is for you. Are you sufficiently thankful for a body of students such as we have here? As it happens, I came here direct from a conservative Southern city, but even there one heard little except discussions of the terrible state of affairs in our country. Could democracy endure? But out here, to me, at least, those prophecies of impending doom

"Far, far away did seem to mourn and rave.

On alien shores."

This is not the Lotus land, certainly. But it is the land of Americanism; and personally, I have felt more deeply thankful for a few things than I have for the Americanism of our students. I have fewer fears for the future of my country than before I looked into their faces. Is not that cause for thanksgiving?

Let the students be thankful for a faculty that expects something of them; let the faculty, in turn, be thankful for students filled with the spirit of the morning. Luther Burbank says—and Luther Burbank, who has studied the laws of growth, ought to know—Burbank says, "The greatest happiness in the world is to make others happy. The next greatest is to make them think." Should we not be thankful then, students and faculty alike, for the opportunity of working together, in order to attain for each of us the greatest happiness in the world, and "the next greatest?"

Father of Truth, we know not how To thank Thee as we ought For life, for love, for joy, and for Thy crowning gift of thought.

Teach us to use these gifts aright; Lift up our hearts to Thee, That our united college life One song of praise may be. —S. E. D.

Thankful Praises The joy of health and comfort Is ours to-day; Thou hast scattered blessings Round our way.

We've had a glorious harvest By Thy will; There's the beauty of the autumn With us still.

With hearts of deep devotion And of praise, We, in songs of true thanksgiving, Our voices raise.

A Thanksgiving Prayer Dear Father; Though in the days gone by We have sinned unthoughtful and ungrateful, We have but shown that weakness of mankind— The neglecting of his own; For we are not ungrateful. From the depth of heart and soul We render thanks to Thee for the many gifts received. Grant us forgiveness of our faults; Guide and care for us as we pass through the days to come. —L. H.

Thankfulness Above all else, we are most grateful for Thee, "Our Father, who art in Heaven." Because, from Thee we receive all Life and every other thing that is. And we would fully appreciate the gift of life—that animates existence, which offers us so many opportunities to learn the purposes for which we were created, and to do those things which shall prepare us for the greater, Eternal Life. Amen. —C. T. B.

Rev. Holfield Preaches at Meeting of Churches This Morning at the Methodist Church.

A Good Business Policy

Woolworth once declared that one of the secrets of his success in picking profitable locations for stores was that he never tried to buck the tide. He also, of course, like Ford, believed in going after many moderate profits rather than striving to pocket a few big profits. The philosophy, which has yielded rich results, is commended at this time to many manufacturers and other business men. They are trying to buck the price tide. They are trying to defy an economic trend which is becoming general—and should become general. It will prove more profitable in the end to go along with the price current than to try to stay the normal course of events. Those lines of business which have already undergone readjustment are today better off than those which are deadlocked because of attempted profiteering on the one hand and, on the other hand, persistent refusal to buy.—Forbes Magazine (N. Y.)

REPAIRING-- Reduces Building Expenses

Once or more each year it is a good piece of business sense to look about your home and itemize the various needs of the improvements. Deterioration because of age, lack of paint and exposure to climatic actions often make it essential that care be given them. A good way to see that these things are attended to is to do it the very first chance.

THREE MINISTERS FIGURE IN MARRIAGE CEREMONY

Rev. Mrs. Anna Shively, 921 West Chase street, and Rev. W. E. Shaw, of South Greenfield, were married at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening at the bride's home. Rev. J. B. Dishman read the ring ceremony in the presence of a few relatives and friends. The couple entered the living room to the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march, played by Miss Mary Ellen Dishman, and "Humoresque" was softly played during the ceremony.

Mrs. Shaw is an ordained pastor in the Methodist church and has been doing ministerial work in Kansas and Oklahoma. The Rev. Mr. Shaw is pastor of the Cumberland Presbyterian church at South Greenfield. Both will continue their present work and for the present will make their home at 921 West Chase street.—Springfield (Mo.) Republican.

High School Notes

Part of the news in this communication is rather old, but have patience.

A short time ago the younger class of musical students gave a brief but lively program at the chapel period. The participants were: Roy Cheatham, Piano Solo. Joe Slack, violin solo. Frank Harrison and Miss Fair Wiggins, ukelele duet. Otis and Marion Higdon, trumpet duet. Robert Foster, piano solo. J. D. Gamble, violin solo. The chapel exercises were conducted by Rev. Shaw the same morning.

The Scribblers Club has organized and are rapidly preparing for their year's work. The first meeting was held two weeks ago and the following officers were elected: President, Edward Gerald; Vice President, Mae Hollifield; secretary, Madaline Carson; sergeant-at-arms, Billie McClure. Mae Hollifield had the best story the first meeting and it was read in chapel.

The respective members have selected fictitious names which they will use entirely in the club business.

Our football boys played an interesting game of football with the Training School last week resulting in a scoreless game. Both teams did some fair playing at times but for the most part the game was rather uninteresting.

The football boys are going to Claude Thanksgiving and it is hoped they will be able to "carry away the candy." They will go down on the special train that will take the Normal football boys and rooters to Clarendon.

The band is progressing rapidly as could be expected and by Christmas we hope to have a first class band. The band at present consists of fifteen pieces: five cornets, one alto, one bass, one B-tenor saxophone, one baritone, one snare drum, one bass drum, two trombones, two clarinets.

We have several poets that the world will soon be glad to know. If you don't believe it read this:

THANKSGIVING

Long ago, when this land was new, The Puritans thought of something great to do.

They'd come to America, a home to find, And worship God to suit their mind.

At first they landed at Plymouth town, And thanked their God for the land they had found.

The snow was deep, the north wind cold, But the Puritan steadfast, brave and bold.

At last the spring and warm weather came, And the colony began to hum.

They plowed the ground where the snow had lain, And planted vegetables, fruit and grain.

The crops grew fine in the fertile soil, To pay the Puritans for their toil, Jack Frost came and tinted the leaves And turned the corn into golden sheaves.

The Puritans worked in the Autumn sun, To lay away the crops they had won.

They finished their work on a certain day, And this they called Thanksgiving Day.

—By George Kiker.

Friday evening, Oct. 29, a number of the Camp Fire Girls met and went on a marshmallow toast. After they had finished their toast, they went to the Camp Fire room where the roll was called and arrangements were made for the next meeting.

The first ceremonial meeting of the West Wind Campfire was held Monday evening, Nov. 8. They gathered in the Camp Fire room at the home of Miss Zella Wood and the following program was carried out:

1. Wobelo Call.
2. Entrance and Hand sign of Fire.
3. "Welcome here."
4. Candle ceremony.
5. "Keep the Home Fires Burning."
6. Law of the fire.
7. Roll call.
8. Account of last meetings.
9. Appointing of keeper of count.
10. Report of kind deeds.
11. Rewarding of honors.
12. Camp fire story.
13. "My Faith Looks Up to Thee."

Over one hundred honor beads were awarded for the work of the Camp Fire girls. After the program refreshments were served.

The Camp Fire Girls celebrated Nov. 11, by going on a hike and cooking a sunrise breakfast. They went to the northeast part of town near the home of Misses Grace and Momie Williams.

Building Wonder Cascade

Popular Mechanics: Dame Nature has found in a landscape artist at Minneapolis a keen competitor, for so skillfully has he constructed an elaborate cascade that the entire work would readily pass for nature's own to virtually every observer. The extent of the work can be realized from the fact that the cascade is forty feet high, more than 100 feet long and throws nearly 500,000 gallons of water every twenty-four hours over its precipice. The big wall, with its abutments, forming the frame work of the cascade, was first made in the usual manner by depositing concrete between plank forms.

Into this concrete wall were set small iron rails and one-half inch rods about five feet long, which were intended to support the artificial work that hides the wall proper. Each of the large boulders rests on two rails, well cemented into it a quarter of its length from either end. Four or five rods around the tops and sides were connected with the rails; then other rods were crossed and fastened to these, producing a skeleton framework. This framework was then covered with mesh and coated with mortar. In addition to the wire mesh rocks that are suspended on the wall and overhang the large pool, there are also a few solid overhangs built up from the floor of the pool.

Deputy Sheriff Dies From Injuries

Brownfield lost another mighty fine citizen last week in the person of Deputy Sheriff W. A. Wooley, who we reported some time back as having accidentally shot himself in the leg some time ago. At the time of the accident there was some talk of amputation, but Mr. Wooley was so anxious to save his limb that the doctors agreed to do their best to do so, but the ankle bone was so shattered, and the flesh so mangled that it was all in vain, and last Friday it was decided as a last resort to amputate, but he never came out from under the influence of anesthetics, and he died about five minutes after being put back in bed at the Brownfield Sanitarium, between twelve and one o'clock Friday.—Brownfield Herald.

Ranchers See Gloomy Future

It will be at least five years before cattlemen and sheepmen of Montana have to do any worrying about income tax. That is the word brought to this city by ranchers who say this state, agriculturally is in the worst condition in its history.

The big annual movement of stock from Montana ranges is on in full swing. But instead of shipping only fat cattle this year, everything is going to the market. Breeding cows, thin heifers, calves—everything in the bovine list—are loaded on trains and hustled to the stock yards to be sold for anything they will fetch on the open market. This indiscriminate dumping is declared necessary to meet notes bankers say they cannot rediscount. Hundreds of ranchers last winter were forced to borrow money with which to buy feed. They sent more than $30,000,000 out of the state to bring back hay and grain. Much of this money was borrowed on notes the bankers now refuse to renew.—Denver Record-Stockman.

Air Mail to All the World

Boston Transcript: This week sees inauguration of through air mail service between New York and San Francisco. The air mail is still in its infancy, but it is destined to grow with great rapidity. There will soon be routes from the Great Lakes to the Gulf as well as from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The feasibility of aerial transportation of mail to Alaska has recently been demonstrated by army flyers. There are fascinating possibilities in connection with the use of airplanes in the development of business between the United States and the countries of the west coast of South America. If mail can be carried through the air to Alaska, mail can also be carried from New York to Panama, overtaking steamships leaving there for trips down the western coast of the southern continent.

It may be expected that South American countries will do their part in extending the range of the air mail. The time may soon come when the letter written by a business man in Boston to a correspondent in Buenos Aires will be carried by airplane to Panama, from thence journey by steamship down the west coast of South America to Crile, and from there, again by airplane, across the continent to its destination.

In the endeavor to save time by the substitution of the airplane for the railway train and the steamship is merely repeating itself. From the time when fleet-footed runners carried messages telling of victory or defeat in wars fought before the beginning of authentic records, down to the era of a complex civilization, the effort to save time in the transmission of intelligence has always been unperked in the undertakings of mankind.

It is curious that, although the white man was quick to adopt the potatoes and maize of the Indians as valuable articles of food, he has made no use of another plant that they regarded as of considerable nutritive value: the cat-tail flag. From the root stalks, or underground stems, some of the eastern Indians made a good flour. Recent examination by the plant chemical laboratory in Washington shows that the root stems contain 81.41 per cent carbohydrates, or starch, and 7.75 per cent protein, and that the flour can be used in the ratio of ten to twenty per cent with wheat flour. An acre of cat-tails will produce considerably more than two tons of flour.

The French Academy in its celebrated new dictionary has taken from the English the word "gentleman," in which it recognizes a shade of meaning different from that of the French word "gentilhomme." To the English race it is just cause for pride that the new French definition of a gentleman is "one who, without necessarily being noble of race, has lofty sentiments, elegant manners and does noble deeds." To that definition may well be added Isaac Walton's fine sentiment: "I would rather prove myself a gentleman by being learned and humble, valiant and inoffensive, virtuous and communicable, than by any fond ostentation of riches."

Everyone knows that sitting in a moving train while another train passes will produce in a passenger a sensation of moving backward. When a person swims with the wind, and therefore with the waves, which travel faster than he can possibly swim, he gets the same sensation: that is, he thinks the undertow is carrying him out. The result is often an attack of panic, in which the swimmer exhausts himself and sinks.

This is No Time to Quit

"This is no time to get panicky. Stockmen should continue to go ahead regardless of the unfavorable conditions under which we are operating," said E. C. Parsons, well known Western Colorado and Utah stockman, who was at the Denver yards this week looking after the sale of a consignment of cattle.

"Conditions are not the best, it is true, but we all expected just such a condition as we are now facing. We knew that prices could not stay at war levels forever, and everybody anticipated a drop. Those who have been in the business for any length of time have gone thru like periods of stress, but after such a season the market always settles down to a solid basis, enabling the man in the business to plan definitely for future operations. This is something he has not been able to do in recent years.

"It seems to me, therefore, that it behooves the stockman to go right ahead with his operations, regardless of conditions. Of course, he should be conservative, and in most instances he must be under present conditions, but I am convinced the man who sticks will come out all right in the end."—Denver Record-Stockman.

Business House Gets Along Without Money

A large business house having headquarters in Rochester City, has undertaken to conduct its affairs entirely without the use of money. Instead of currency it intends to use checks, trade acceptances and travel checks to make payments of every kind, including its payroll. As the concern deals with more than 800,000 individual customers the result of the experiment is watched with interest. The company's reason for adopting this method is given as an effort to demonstrate a means of ending the epidemic of payroll robberies and "to show that modern business may be conducted efficiently without the use of 'small change,' thus leaving the nation's money where it belongs, in the banks, to serve as the basis of credit."

The announcement says even car fares, hotel bills and railroad fares for the company's force of several hundred salesmen, and other sundries are to be paid by checks. All petty items, even to one-cent postage stamps will be paid hence forth by check and "no currency of any amount or denomination is to be carried in any form as company property."

To meet the payroll of its factory the company has offered to employees either a regular pay check or the option of receiving on pay day a deposit slip showing that his earnings for the week have been deposited to his credit in a local bank. This plan is expected by the house to prove popular with the thrifty class of employees and to increase the volume of bank deposits. Executive employees who have no banking account have been advised to start one at once.—Trinidad (Colo.) Chronicle-News.

Authorative announcement was made a few days ago that the final cargo of foreign frozen mutton is due to reach New York about the middle of December. By that time close to 2,000,000 carcasses from various sources will be dumped into the market hopper. Packers have millions of pounds of the stuff in storage at New York, probably being that the entire winter will be consumed in distributing it. The invasion has aroused protest from wool and mutton growers all over the country. Packers take the position that the stuff would have been dumped into the United States market by the British government in any event and that by handling it and regulating distribution they have done domestic growers a good turn, thus averting demoralization. We would like to know how the wool and mutton market could have been more demoralized than during the past six months.—The Cattleman.

NORMAL EASILY DEFEATED WAYLAND

Team Comes Back in Great Style Football, Easily Outclassing Visitors From Plainview.

The Normal had a little surprise party awaiting the Wayland Baptist College Friday afternoon, when the visitors were neatly trimmed by a score of 21 to 7. The Normal was easily the better team at every stage of the game. The boys played without their usual hard luck, which has attended most every game this year.

From the beginning it was apparent to all onlookers that Canyon had entered the game to win. The Normal played practically all the time in Wayland's territory, and time and again Wayland prevented another touchdown by rallying at the last moment.

The only touchdown marked to Wayland's credit was made early in the first quarter. Lipscomb intercepted a forward pass from Jenkins to Lancaster and carried the ball to Canyon's one-yard line. A forward pass netted a touchdown for Wayland. From this time to the end of the game, Canyon's goal was never materially threatened.

The enthusiastic support given the team by the student body and friends contributed largely to the success of the game. The afternoon was ideal for football, and long before the game was called the grandstand and the side lines were crowded with football enthusiasts. The spirit of victory seemed to possess the crowd, and time and again it cheered some spectacular play of the home boys or substantial gains in line bucking.

With one or two exceptions the game was clean sport from the beginning to the end, but Canyon outplayed and outgeneraled Wayland at every stage of the game. Most of the normal team had never played football until this season, and for this reason they have been handicapped. However, Coach McCorkle has given them good training and they are now playing the game in good fashion.

BISHOP TEMPLE HAS RETURNED TO AMARILLO

The following clipping will be of interest to members of the Episcopal church in Canyon, as a rector for this church will be provided by the Bishop when he resumes the work of the church.

The Right Reverend Bishop Edward A. Temple of the Episcopal church in Canyon, as a rector for this church will be provided by the Bishop when he resumes the work of the church.

He went to London during the Lambeth conference of the Episcopal church. On his way back to America he became ill and only three days from land on the other side. He did not receive any relief until he reached New York, when he was placed in hospital and given treatment.

Bishop Temple was accompanied on his journey by his wife and his two sons, Edward and Davis. He is not able to enter into the church work very vigorously yet, but is slowly recovering.—Amarillo News.
