The main subject of conversation in our community is the weather, or the lack of it. According to the farmers it never has rained here and according to the weather man it never will. But despite the drought crops are the finest we have ever seen. This should be one of the best crop years in the history of Castro County.

I don't know what the catch is but the Amarillo Globe, Amarillo's Republican afternoon paper, is out of character on its editorial page this week. Columnist William White has done a rather lengthy piece about his personal friend, President Lyndon B. Johnson and the Globe is giving it good play despite the ultra conservative opinions of the editorial page editor, Louise Evans. As a change of political reading diet for the people of this area, who depend on the Amarillo and Lubbock papers for their propaganda, I will recommend the continued articles being done in the Amarillo afternoon paper. Just read that one article and disregard the Chicago Tribune cartoons, Holmes Alexander column and the other three or four republican writers on the same page. Thank you Louise for this one bit of light in an otherwise one-sided biased editorial effort.

It said in the papers that Senator Goldwater was calling a summit-level conference of high-ranking republicans, including Senators, congressmen, governors and party officials. It was said that the purpose of the meeting was to consolidate the republican party for its upcoming donkeyback with the democrats. But to call that bunch of republicans together, after the convention at San Francisco may be quite a chore. Just from casual observation during the convention I was of the opinion that the moderate republicans made the first overtures of friendship to the Goldwater faction by offering to go along if the ultra-conservative understand that Barry was running that show and even though he wasn't in position to turn the water on with the Marines at Guantanamo, he could shut the moderates water off in San Francisco, and that he did. It is doubtful that all of the high-ranking republicans will be at Barry's meeting.

Progress Is Password Concerning Running Water Draw Watershed

Progress is the password in regards to the proposed Running Water Draw Watershed Project in Curry County, New Mexico and Parmer, Castro, Lamb, Hale and Swisher Counties in Texas. This is the report following a meeting at Plainview on Wednesday July 22, attended by some 50 interested persons representing various local sponsoring organizations within the watershed.

At this meeting, Phil Grazier, Soil Conservation Service Technician in charge of the Watershed Planning Party, reported to the group a summary of the findings of his staff during a two-week reconnaissance of the entire watershed. In addition to a report of his findings, he informed those present that January 15, 1965, is the planned date for the arrival of the entire Watershed Planning Party in the Watershed to begin preparation of the Work Plan.

During the meeting, many questions were raised in regards to including other uses of water in the watershed project. Among municipal, industrial and recreation al uses of Floodwater. Retarding Structures. Several cities and counties represented voiced positive interest in installing structures that would include multiple uses.

Since the inception of this proposed project some three years ago, the password has been progress. Co-sponsorship agreements of the project have been secured from all County Commissioners Courts and Soil Conservation Districts involved. In addition, the City of Plainview and the City of Clovis have agreed to cosponsor the project. The commissioners courts and the cities involved agreed to raise sufficient funds to defray the cost of preparing the work plan. By placing this money into a Trust Fund and agreeing to reimburse the Soil Conservation Service for watershed planning, they were able to secure the services of the Soil Conservation Service. This Trust Fund Planning Party, makes possible acceleration of Watershed Planning. Approximately $70,000 has been pledged to trust fund for this purpose.

In its finality, the project will encompass some ten to twelve prevention structures with a strong possibility of two or more recreation areas being included. In addition to preventing flood damage to croplands located in flood plain of the draw, it will offer much needed protection to the low-lying area of the City of Plainview. A final benefit will be the increased amount of water obtained for irrigation and potential underground recharge.

Of prime importance to most is the progress to be expected in the future. Once the Work Plan is completed, it must be submitted to Congress for appropriation of funds. Once funds are available, the construction of the project can begin.

Walter Rogers' WASHINGTON NEWSLETTER

STATE SOVEREIGNTY FURTHER DIMINISHED

We say it so often—"United States"—that some citizens tend to overlook the true meaning. The United States consists of just that—United States—separate political entities joined together in common purpose, forming one Nation in a complex "federal" relationship ordained by the Constitution. Our system is one of dual sovereignty. Our people stand in a twofold relationship to sovereign authority, as citizens of the national government and as citizens of their particular States. We are all familiar with the indisputable fact that the sovereign authority of the national government has become increasingly more powerful while that of the States has been diminished. It is a trend many of us are doing our best to reverse.

A near-mortal blow to this system was struck one month ago by the United States Supreme Court. One June 15, the Court held that legislatures of six States are apportioned in ways that violate the Federal Constitution, specifically the so-called "Equal Protection Clause" of the Fourteenth Amendment.

The effect of the court decision is this: States must structure their legislatures so that all the members of each house represent substantially the same number of people. While cases involving only six States were before the court, the decision undoubtedly means that legislatures in all but a few of the other 44 States are apportioned in ways contrary to the Court's interpretation of the Constitution.

The June 15 decision has touched off a furore in Congress, which went back into Session this week after a two-week recess. More than 80 proposals have been introduced in the House of Representatives in an effort to overturn the effect of the court decision.

Most of the proposals call for an amendment to the Constitution to permit States to apportion at least one house of their bicameral (two house) legislatures on a basis other than population. Typical of these proposals is that in-parents, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Glidewell.

Vickie Bond of Dallas, Nancy and Patty Jackson, Dimmitt, spent Thursday with Suzanne Merritt.

roduced by Honorable Wright Patman of Texarkana, the dean of the Texas delegation in the House, whose resolution is supported by the Texas Members, including me. The wording of Congressman Patman's proposed amendment is simple and to the point: "Nothing in the Constitution of the United States shall prohibit a State, having a bicameral legislature, from apportioning the membership of one house of its legislatures on factors other than population." It is my hope that Congress will not adjourn until an amendment to the Constitution identical or similar to that advanced by Congressman Patman is adopted by the House and Senate and sent to the States for ratification.

The Supreme Court decision on State legislative apportionment denies to the States the employment of a principle of apportionment which is incorporated in the United States Congress. The "Great Compromise" of the Constitutional Convention of 1787 settled a question that had threatened to block approval by the delegates of any government. The "Great Compromise" satisfied the argument of the small States that a proportional system in both houses of Congress would fail to provide proper representation of their interests. Therefore, it was determined that the House should be apportioned by equal representation of population. The U. S. Senate was to have two members from each State regardless of the size of its population or extent of its territory.

Justice Harlan, issuing a strong dissent from the majority opinion of the Court, said these decisions "have the effect of placing basic aspects of state political systems under the pervasive overlordship of the federal judiciary." Why? Because if the State legislatures refuse to correct apportionment, the Federal courts themselves will set out to set legislative district boundaries. This is totally unconscionable with Federal-State relationships as determined by the Constitution, law, and custom.

Singly, one by one, the Supreme Court settles the questions of constitutionality. Thomas Jefferson advocated that the Court be stripped of the right to determine constitutionality of acts of Congress or State legislatures. Until the people of this Nation demand that the Constitution be amended to permit Congress to override decisions of the Court declaring statutes unconstitutional, the problem typified in the legislative apportionment cases will be repeated time and time again. I am continuing to press for the adoption of a Constitutional amendment I have introduced to give Congress the power "by statute passed by two-thirds of each

Farm Pending Sugar Quota Legislation Discussed

(By James Witherspoon, Legal Representative and Executive Secretary for Texas Sugar Beet Growers Association.)

Many articles and stories are being published concerning sugar production and the importers of raw sugar. A great deal more will be written and said before the Congress enacts into law an extension of the present sugar act, which is also expected to be amended to bring its provisions into harmony with present-day conditions in the sugar world. Modifications of the Act are being sought by the producers and processors of sugar beets, as well as by the importers and refiners of foreign and domestic cane raw sugar. The House Committee on Agriculture and the Senate Finance Committee are the two bodies before whom testimony is given and in general the determination by these two committees fairly well establishes the form sugar legislation will take.

Currently there is a battle being waged largely between the many thousands of farmers throughout the United States who desire to grow a larger share of the sugar consumed in this country and the few refiners who complete the process of refining raw cane sugar.

Economics the profit motive is at least one of the principal issues in the struggle. The farmer is somewhat at a disadvantage in that there are many sugar beet growers, usually producing a relatively few acres of beets, while the refiners are represented by just 16 big corporations. The latter, obviously, can close ranks easily and utilize large funds from yearly profits to finance their campaign to influence members of the United States Congress and voters throughout the country. The larger users of sugar are, of course, the industrial users—confectioners, bottlers, bakers, canners and packers and many more—but the housewife is always brought into the picture because she is the ultimate consumer. A fabled monster always seems to be resurrected whenever sugar legislation comes before the Congress: there are those who attempt to frighten the consumer with the idea that a price increase in sugar would exhaust the consumer's budget. So successfully has this fable been employed that both youthful Americans and senior citizens have been convinced that the scourge of inflation could be brought on by a rise in the price of sugar to the consumer. The wholly fallacious argument has been used to such effect that lawn makers have sometimes backed away from anything that might result in a reasonable rise in sugar prices reasoning that they could not face the ire of the voter-consumer and win reelection. People generally have not looked into the facts. Every man, woman and child in this country, statistics show, consumes just short of one hundred pounds of sugar per year, but only about one-third of this total is taken into the home in a consumer package. About two-thirds arrives on the table in prepared foods, soft drinks, confections, etc. If sugar sells at 12 cents a pound, then it is obvious that the total annual sugar bill per person is about $12—an insignificant fraction of the total annual food bill when one compares this with, for example, the total annual bill for milk or meat or almost any other standard part of the average diet in the United States. So the sugar-price monster is really no monster at all, even though it is constantly trotted out to frighten the labor union member, the housewife and the voter.

As for imports, the cattleman has found that imports of foreign beef amounting to about 14 or 15 per cent of our annual national requirements is adversely affecting the cattle growers of the United States. Meanwhile, the sugar farmer is faced with the fact that about 45 per cent of our sugar is imported from foreign countries. The argument that sugar can be produced more cheaply abroad is not sound for use against our farmers who produce this crop. Besides wheat and cotton, it costs more to produce a thousand other things in this country than abroad. It costs more to build our ships and sail them, hence it could be argued we should import cheap foreign goods in cheap foreign ships. Then who would work at producing what in the United States and where would we get the money to buy those marvellously cheap foreign goods—and who would pay the taxes to keep our country going?

Instead of sugar's presently selling for 12 cents per pound, as was mentioned earlier, it is now selling in the United States for considerably less. The sugar price has remained relatively stable for many years, while every other item consumed has gone up. The Department of Agriculture has fairly well controlled the price of sugar under the quota system by fitting the supply of sugar to the requirements of the market from year to year. There could be nothing further from rational thinking than to suggest that the price of sugar could affect the economic position of the individual consumer if all of the sugar were produced in this country and a surplus of production was not brought about. This, of course, could be easily controlled the same as the percentages of production in the past have been controlled.

One factor which has entered into the overall picture has been the State Department's contention that we should encourage foreign sugar production and purchase foreign sugar as a means of creating good will abroad. It is the farmer's thinking that first things should come first, that our home economy should be made strong and that our own citizens are entitled to first consideration in the production of consumer products. The farmer is not only willing but is actually clamoring produce sugar in many states of the Union. This was not true before 1960 because it was during that year and 1961 and 1962 that the farmer found out that there was no mystery concerning the sugar law of the United States which prior to then had been explained to him as being so intricate and so involved it hardly allowed for discussion, much less for production.

In 1963 the price of sugar reached a 43-year high in this country—a peak of $13.20 per hundred pounds on May 23, 1963. The explanation for this is that the world demand and world supply relationship changed so that there was a reversal from a condition of large surplus to one of reduced supply and stocks to meet growing demand. Consumers and the Government alike were alarmed at the possibility of a shortage of sugar. World consumption exceeded world production. The loss to us of Cuban sugar was a factor, but there was also the fact of reduced European production brought about by two successive poor beet crops. It is interesting to note that after Castro came to power in Cuba and placed Cuban sugar behind the Iron and Bamboo Curtains, he cried out that the Sugar Act of the United States had enslaved lies people. This argument by Castro apparently has appealed to many Cubans. It points up the fallacy in the arguments then and now of the State Department that we can make friends with foreign countries and prevent their turning to communism by the simple expedient of buying sugar from them. It is recalled that double the world price of sugar was often paid for Cuban sugar, but the masses of Cubans were not benefited and they resented what they thought was American exploitation of national resources. The State Department's handling of the sugar situation failed. It is believed by many, contrary to the State Department's viewpoint, that you cannot buy World friendship today any more than we were able by this method to keep Cuba from going Communist.

Of course, the higher standard of living which has been developed around the globe, including in Russia, has accounted for increased sugar usage. The world demand for sugar in 1963 has pointed up again the wisdom of America's being independent in its sugar production. The American farmer who wants to grow the sugar is the answer, it only the State Department and the Congress will realize and appreciate the wisdom of such a change and will depart from the thinking of the State Department.

Sugar beets are grown in 23 states today, including Texas, on approximately 25,000 farms. Some growers in some states, like Texas, have had to ship their beets long distances to processing mills. For approximately 16 years about 40 growers shipped by rail the sugar beets they grew in Deaf Smith County and adjacent counties in Texas to Rocky Ford, Colorado, a distance of approximately 350 miles at a cost of about $4.00 per ton. Many times the number of farmers now growing sugar beets desire to produce this product for the American consumer. Many farmers in many states which have never had the crop desire to do so, as do farmers in areas of present producing states who have never had the privilege of growing beets.

There are 59 operating beet processing plants located in 14 states serving present growers, and under the 1962 amendments to the Sugar Act 6 new processing plants have been or will be built in Texas, North Dakota, New York, Maine, Arizona and California. Most of these new plants will be served entirely by new growers. The market served will be, in part, the annual increase in requirements for sugar resulting from the annual population increase in the United States.

Since the loss of Cuban sugar following the advent of Castro, the foreign quota formerly filled by Cuba now is distributed to 25 or more foreign countries. Our State Department has been instrumental in our loaning, or giving, money to many of these foreign countries to train their citizens to produce and process sugar in order that it could flow into the United States through the importers and for a final treatment by the cane refiners situated in our seaboard. At the same time, the American farmer has not asked for Federal handouts, but asks only the right as an individual to participate to a greater extent in the production of the commodity which he and his fellow citizens use in America and which today is recognized as a product necessary to sustain the American standard and way of living.

When the Director of the Sugar Policy Staff of the United States Department of Agriculture took note of sugar shortage which developed in 1963, the Government turned to its domestic producers—principally the best sugar producers—and urged all-out production in the years 1963, 1964 and 1965. As would be expected the farmers and the processors met the situation and in 1963 produced 500,000 tons more sugar than in the previous year. The processors at great cost increased the capacities of a number of their plants in order to meet the request of the Government for greater production in 1964 and 1965. Judging from current plantings of sugar beets, a further increase in sugar production amounting to a quarter-million tons may be expected this year as compared to last. Now the importers of foreign produced sugar are advocating, in effect, that the Congress cut back this expansion of sugar beet production. This is the issue before Congress at the present time. Again the refiners, have sought the aid of the housewife, the labor unions and other consumers with trumped-up statements calculated to stir fears in the minds of these people. The Director of the Sugar Policy Staff of the Department of Agriculture in a speech delivered in San Francisco in January publicly congratulated the sugar beet growers and processors for their great contributions in a time of need when they responded to Government urgings by producing more and even helping to hold down prices below what the cane sellers were charging. Such expressed gratitude will not satisfy the American farmer who expects more than public plaudits. The reward he seeks is to be able to produce a larger share of the sugar consumed.

The public should know that beet sugar never sells for more than cane sugar and usually sells for less in the same markets. In 1963, beet sugar sold at times from 10 to 25 per cent below cane prices.

It was often stated when we relied heavily on Cuban sugar to fill our needs that Cuba provided a sure source of supply. This same reasoning would be applicable and the source of supply even more reliable if the American farmer were given the right to serve the American consumer in larger degree. The failure of Cuba should be sufficient proof. Anyone who reads the papers concerning the world political and economic situations should readily agree that more reliance should be placed upon domestic sugar production.

Even though the American citizen is fully cognizant of the facts, that is not enough. It is incumbent upon him to express his views to his senators and congressman, or run the risk of having State Department schemes overcome the logic and sound thinking of the situation. Our representatives in Washington want to do what the people want done, but they do not have the time or opportunity to familiarize themselves with all the intricacies involved in the sugar situation, and they must know that the people at home desire to produce and that the people at home want to depend for supplies on domestic sugar. We need stability in the source of our sugar as well as in the price. In urging Congress to adjust the beet sugar quota to a level 750,000 tons above the current statutory limit is asking only for a drop in the bucket in light of the overall picture. Such an increase would allow the farmer to continue producing that which their Government requested, as well as being able to realize some additional growth in areas not now producing. In the opinion of the writer, the best sugar quota should be increased by several times the amount mentioned above. It is believed that most farmers, persons who are informed and those who will take the trouble to inform themselves will agree. Greater production to fill the growing need will provide more work and more jobs in the United States. It will keep more gold in our treasury.

It will mean more income to the American citizens and thus more taxes in the Government coffers. It will reduce dependence upon uncertain foreign producers in nations where governments can change overnight, and it will help prevent shortages in the future.

In recent years we have taken millions of acres of good land out of cultivation of crops, such as wheat and cotton, in order to create in the effort to solve our agricultural surplus problems. If the farmer can grow a crop of sugar beets, and he badly needs this, then we are helping further to solve the surplus problem.

With the farmers organizing in the States of Texas, Arkansas, Indiana, Illinois and many other states, and with tireless effort, persistence and diligence, it is believed—

Will you lose one out of five pounds to midge? Not this year. Not with Diazinon.

Midge damage can cost you 900-1600 pounds per acre in sorghum planted to yield 4500 pounds. That's like losing one pound or more out of every five pounds you counted on at harvest. This year, you don't have to pay that price. This year, you can use Diazinon® insecticide.

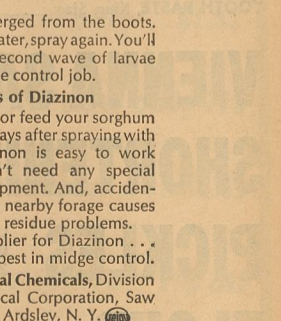

Texas college test results: Two Texas colleges tested Diazinon for midge control in 1963. Results? Effective control. An 80% increase in yield. Now, USDA acceptance of Diazinon for control of sorghum midge means you can expect a similar yield increase.

Spray Diazinon after 90% of the heads have emerged from the boots. Then, four days later, spray again. You'll knock out the second wave of larvae and complete the control job.

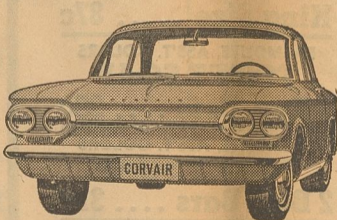

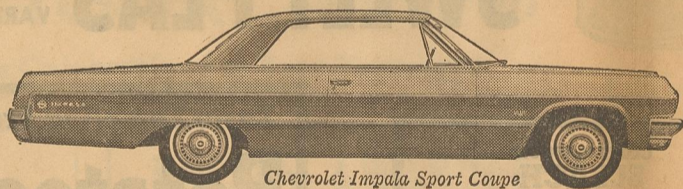

Extra advantages of Diazinon You can harvest or feed your sorghum to livestock 14 days after spraying with Diazinon. Diazinon is easy to work with—you don't need any special clothing or equipment. And, accidental spray drift to nearby forage causes no milk or meat residue problems.

Ask your supplier for Diazinon... the newest and best in midge control. Geigy Agricultural Chemicals, Division of Geigy Chemical Corporation, Saw Mill River Road, Ardsley, N. Y.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

Dear Fellow Texan:

The Senate has passed a bill raising the pay of 2½ Million men and women in military service. I supported this bill as an act of justice. It now goes to the House for action there.

It is of the most importance to the servicemen themselves, who are always the last to share in an improving economy, but is it also important to Texas where five per cent of the state's population of 10 million is military.

The pay increases range from 2.5 per cent in basic pay for all men—to 8.5 per cent for about 44,000 officers with less than two years in service who were left out of the last pay increase.

I introduced an amendment to provide a 2½ per cent pay increase for about 840,000 enlisted men with less than two years because their pay scale has not been raised in 12 years. As I pointed out in Senate debate—the enlisted personnel in grades E-1 through E-5 are the ones who are the foot-sloggers, who do the dirty work in the military service. They go out on security patrols; they get the harsh details to perform; they do the hard work.

They are the ones who are discriminated against. They are pulled out of their civilian employment and denied the GI bill benefits to go to school after they have completed their military service. Yet they are also denied the pay increase given to those higher in rank.

My amendment was defeated. I supported the military pay raises as passed, but I am disappointed that the GI who makes only $78 a month will not share in the general raise.

The greatest military training ground in this union is in our home state of Texas. I was proud to support the bill and proud, too, of my amendments for the men with less than two years of service. They deserve the increase because there is no GI bill to train them after they get out, but the bill has passed the Senate. It's a step in the right direction. It has gone to the House of Representatives. I hope they pass it, too.

Kwahadi Indians Dancers To Be In Tulia Aug. 1

A big two-hour show Saturday night, August 1st, at Tulia Rodeo Arena will feature the nationally famous Kwahadi Indian Dancers of Amarillo who have performed in many states. One of their engagements was at the National Boy Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pennsylvania.

These 35 youth have made a prolonged study of Indian lore and have become quite expert in their execution of Indian dances.

The Kwahadi Indian Club of 35 boys is a Boy Scout organization of senior scouts, 14 years or older, banded together to study Indian lore in fine detail and to present it to the public in the form of authentic Indian dancing.

"Kwahadi" is a Comanche word meaning antelope and was the name of a clan of the Comanche tribe who inhabited the plains area of Texas called the Llano Estacado or "Staked Plains".

The performance will begin at 8:30 p.m. and continue for two hours with intermissions. Admission will be $1.00 for adults and $0.50 for children.

Proceeds will benefit the Tulia Scouting Program.

MAJOR ARTERY in local transportation is undergoing surgery for wide improvements. Front Street is presently being paved, widened and curbed to accommodate the heavy flow of traffic from the growing west part of Dimmitt. Other streets to receive improvements include E. Dulin, S. W. 3rd and 4th, E. Belsher and Halsell Streets. See story. —Staff Photo

City Streets Are Improved

City streets are receiving needed attention with the funds voted in the last city bond election.

Front Street, a main artery for transportation, is being curbed and widened at the present time.

S.W. 4th St. has three blocks which are being paved and curbed. Also two blocks on S.W. 3rd have been paved and curbed. There is a block and a half on E. Belsher which will be paved. On E. Dulin, the road between the service station and new motel will be paved and curbed.

Halsell Street is almost ready for widening and curbing according to E. B. Noble, city manager. The State will pave the street.

Also included in the Street improvement project will be the paving of some leaveouts.

Other improvements of Dimmitt streets include an extension of Oak Street in the Cunningham addition, the paving of 11th and 12th streets in the N.D. Bartlett addition and the addition of Pine St. in the streets include an extension of O Cleavinger Cunningham addition.

Fires Can Damage Texas Agriculture And Recreation

Next time you start to toss a lighted cigarette or match out your car window, why not light a $20 bill and toss it out instead? Of course you wouldn't think of doing such a thing. However, each time a grass fire destroys the cattleman's pasture, it is costing you as well as him. For each acre of forage burned, $20-$50 worth of grass is lost, says G. O. Hoffman, Extension Range specialist at Texas A & M University.

The grass you see when traveling in the winter hay crop for the stockman. It helps supply beef for you as a consumer. Throughout the year he has worked hard to produce this grass, which is more than just "cow feed." In addition to producing tasty steaks and lamb chops, it provides food and cover for wildlife, holds soil moisture, streams and certainly gives the countryside a better face than does a black cover of burned grass and trees.

This grass doesn't belong just to the rancher—you also have a stake in it. When hunting season rolls around, you will want a big fat buck to hunt and large coveys of quail for dog to point. Without grass and cover these won't be around. Now, you want plenty of healthy fish, a good place to swim and water ski or just relax and picnic. I someone had burned the acreage around your favorite lake last year, you wouldn't have these now, or did some careless person ruin your summer recreation spot for this year?

After a look at just a few things grass does for you, won't you help the farmer and rancher keep the grass by helping control grass fires? He has done his part by providing fire lanes around his pastures. Now you take your share of the responsibility in conserving one of our most valuable natural resources—grass.

Auxiliary Plans Two Orientations

Orientation programs will be conducted in the Hospital Board Room. These times have been scheduled not only for members who missed the previous meeting, but also for any woman interested in becoming acquainted with the function of the Auxiliary in the hospital and community.

State Board of Control is willing to go only halfway in the drive to take energetic tourists to the top of the capitol dome.

State purchasing and housekeeping agency asked for $16,950 to open the dome to the fifth floor. Sightseers now must stop at the fourth floor landing. Board of Control looks with disfavor on tourists going 41 feet higher, to the top-top. "Structurally," said the Board, "the capitol dome is thoroughly safe for its intended and original purpose—which was not as a tourist attraction."

Cost of opening the dome to the public—complete with guide service, security, repainting and janitorial service—was estimated at an additional $52,000. Even opening the fifth floor landing is complicated enough, said the Board.

Included in its recommendations were $4,000 for a grill to catch objects dropped from the lofty landing; $3,000 for a ventilation system in the stairwell areas "to keep people from dropping out from exhaustion while climbing"; $2,000 to run a water line and install a fountain; $2,500 for annual repainting to hide the work of sloping-writers; and $350 for a first aid kit.

Federal legislation does not come about quickly or easily. There is always a conflict among interest. It is the hope of the American farmer that his position will be sufficiently well understood that the consumer will become his political ally. He is aware that he as an individual may not be afforded the opportunity to produce sugar beets even if his Government permitted domestic production of all the sugar consumed in this nation.

The present request that Congress increase the basic beet sugar quota by 750,000 tons to a total of 3,400,000 tons, would still guarantee a third of the total United States market of about 10,000,000 tons to foreign producers. The increase in the beet quota would come from the unallocated global quota. With the world sugar situation continuing to be uncertain, and in the absence of a world sugar surplus; with approximately a third of total world sugar production under Communist control, with instability and political turmoil facing many of the foreign countries producing sugar, wisdom dictates that we should place greater reliance upon the domestic beet sugar industry in the future.

COURT SPEAKS
Texas Supreme Court has declined to reconsider an earlier decision holding off pipe shipping rates set by the Railroad Commission in 1962 while they are in contest. High court refused the Commission's request for rehearing. Oil field truckers called for suspension of the new rates, claiming they give railroads an unfair advantage.

In another case heard by the Supreme Court, a Railroad Commission production formula for Fair way Field in East Texas, largest U. S. oil discovery in the last eight years, is under attack. W. L. Pickens brought the action to void the formulas for the field in Anderson and Henderson Counties. Pickens claims the formulas would allow neighboring leases to drain oil from under his property. Under the Commission order, allowables would be based 50 per cent on tract size and 50 per cent on acre feet of oil-bearing sand beneath. District court here has upheld the order.

Finance companies won a major battle with the State when the Third Court of Civil Appeals in Austin refused Regulatory Loan Commissioner Frank Miskell's motion for rehearing on the State's case against Terplan, Texas Public Finance, Beneficial Finance and Consolidated Credit.

Court affirmed the opinion of the 53rd District Court in Austin that the 1963 Texas Loan Act section which says a loan company cannot be licensed unless 51 per cent of its stock is owned by Texans is unconstitutional.

EDUCATION JOB OPPORTUNITY
Texas Department of Public Safety is offering educational opportunities along with jobs for young men who can qualify.

Fifty will be selected between August and October for the DPS Law Enforcement Academy here. Graduates of the four-month school, covering 800 hours of instruction in 95 subjects, will fill vacancies in the highway patrol, license and weight, motor vehicle inspection or driver licensing divisions.

Young men 21 to 35 who can meet physical and mental requirements will be given qualifying examinations on August 8, September 12 and October 10. School will begin on November 19. Students earn $375 a month while in training and $438 to $453 a month on graduation.

RESIDICTING—
Fourth in a series of public hearings held by the Legislative Council Study Committee on Congressional Redistricting will be held in San Antonio. Legislators seek public opinion on the way to draft redistricting to conform with the U. S. Supreme Court edict. It's a matter which must be settled during the 1965 session.

Speaker of the House Byron Tunnell says he believes redistricting—both congressional and legislative—should be handled at the end of the session, after higher education proposals and tax matters are out of the way.

His idea conflicts with those of Governor Connally and Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr who have said redistricting should be the first item on the Legislature's agenda.

PASSENGER TRAIN HEARING
Railroad Commission issued notice that it will hold hearings on the Texas and Pacific Railway's request to discontinue operation of two passenger trains now operating between Fort Worth and El Paso.

Fort Worth hearing will be held on September 15, and the El Paso hearing on September 17. Railroad claims it has suffered a net loss of $200,000 on these trains over the past year.

FOOD STAMP PLAN—
William M. Herndon, who administers the commodities distribution program for the State Department of Public Welfare, says the Federal Food Stamp Program, just passed by Congress, will take at least five years to filter down into all counties which otherwise would participate in the surplus commodities distribution program.

Under the proposed program, low-income and no-income families may trade federally-supplied stamps for food at any grocery store, instead of limiting their supplies to those items declared surplus commodities and distributed on a county-agent basis. Luxury and imported items will be exempt from the plan. Barred from the stamp "shopping" list are bananas, coffee, cocoa and tea.

But the switch must be gradual because current surpluses must be used up, and it has not been determined yet how much Congress will appropriate for the program.

WORM FUNDS—
Sen. Ralph Yarborough's Austin office announced he has urged the Senate Subcommittee on Agriculture Appropriations to earmark $5,500,000 to continue the screw-worm eradication program in the Southwest.

Unless a barrier zone is established along the Mexican border, Yarborough said, reinfestation of "free" areas will occur and a $12,000,000 investment in the program will be lost.

PARKS OVERCROWDED—
All state parks in Texas are overcrowded, says Director W. M. Gosdin.

Gosdin pointed out that 47,944 persons visited Corpus Christi State Park on Easter weekend and the level has held up through mid-summer. Other major parks such as Garner, Inks, Goose Island, Brownwood and Fort Parker are handling capacity crowds.

A $160,000 expenditure at Huntsville State Park provided only a third of the facilities that could be utilized, reports the parks chief.

New expansion projects at Falcon, Lake Whitney and Dam B will help take care of next year's visitors but probably won't come close to meeting demand for park facilities, Gosdin said.

APPOINTEE—
Tom E. Beard, County Attorney for Hill County, has been appointed by Governor Connally as District Attorney for the 66th Judicial District.

Beard, a Baylor University law graduate who is also the Democratic nominee for the position he was appointed to, succeeds the late Jerry E. Clarke.

RETAIL SALES ON RISE—UT
Bureau of Business Research's seasonally-adjusted index of retail sales in Texas shows a two per cent rise in June. Bureau reports that in the first six months of 1964 retail stores recorded to rise of five per cent over the first half of 1963.

Biggest increases over the 1963 period were made by automotive dealers and stores dealing in women's ready-to-wear. But every retail category showed a rise, except meat-less grocery stores.

lieved that many states can accomplish what has recently been accomplished for the Panhandle of Texas, New York, Maine, California and Arizona in the establishment of sugar beet growing areas processing factories. However, the must be union and cooperation among all farm areas and all farm organizations, as well as with the sister organizations of manufacturers and allied industries. A program of education and understanding is necessary and story of benefits to be received must be carried to everyone the length and breadth of the land. This is the job of the farmer and the beet processor for their own well-being, and like everything else worthwhile it is not a job for today but for all the years ahead. The Congress must be impressed. The Government must be made to understand that what is best for the people is best for the Government.

industry to the request of the Executive Branch in 1963 in producing a half-million tons more than in 1962 has saved the consumers many dollars. It is important to all consumers that the beet sugar industry be expanded. It is not only important to the farmer and the consumer, but to all the investors in the processing companies and all the workers whose opportunities are increased as this vital industry grows. The new areas will be thwarted in their efforts to produce if there should be a cutback in sugar beet production such as will result if domestic producers are forced to give way to the importation of foreign sugar. The new areas must cooperate with the established producers not only to hold the line of present production, but to gain the right for further healthy expansion. Old areas need the assistance of new areas.

TOPDRESS PASTURES WITH "MR. GREEN" 30-10-0 AND GROW YOUR OWN FEED!

Would you like to double the forage yield of your pastures? The chances are good that you can do it with just one application of fertilizer!

This time of year it is important to see that your grasses have plenty of nitrogen, and a little phosphorus to boot. That's why we recommend an application of Spencer "Mr. Green" 30-10-0. Contains 30% nitrogen and 10% phosphorus. Top-dress your pastures with 300 pounds per acre, and see the results.

Tests at state experiment stations show that cattle grazed on well-fertilized forage alone have gained weight at a cost of less than 10¢ a pound. Drylot feeding often costs 2½ times that much!

That's why we say, "Grow your own feed with Spencer 'Mr. Green'!" See us for further details about pasture topdressing.

The "magical pill" can be both a bane and a boon.

If we depend on our modern drugs to the extent that we neglect good hygiene and proper first aid, we are in effect making the pill—or wonder drugs—our bane.

There are several reasons why the prevention of infection, through good personal hygiene and proper first aid, is important. Many kinds of germs and most viruses are not controlled by chemical agents.

The germs of whooping cough, brucellosis, and certain other bacterial diseases respond rather unsatisfactorily to our weapons. Chemical agents other than antibiotics, which we had long ago, do not neutralize the toxins or poisons produced by germs. Therefore, tetanus and botulism, which are associated with toxins, are still dread diseases.

The story is told about a mother of several children who thought she was "building up" her children's resistance against winter colds and infections by giving them regular doses of antibiotics. How mistaken she was.

The increasing resistance of man germs to antibiotics is causing more and more concern. Accordingly, it is advisable to prevent infection and to obtain proper care early, if infection appears.

In case of wounds and burns, however minor they may seem, make sure of proper first aid preliminary to medical care. Wounds and burns usually require sterile dressing after application of a other indicated first aid.

If infection develops in a wound, evidenced by local redness, swelling, and tenderness, obtain immediate medical care.

Follow hygienic habits to prevent respiratory infection. Pneumonia caused by a resistant germ is the

Bethel Community Sponsors Annual "Chicken Fry"

Over 100 people attended the annual Bethel Community "Chicken Fry" Friday evening in the community building.

Hostesses fried chicken to a tempting golden brown in an old-fashioned huge iron pot from 6 p.m. until after dark.

The Southern fried chicken was the chief item featured on the menu. Other foods to delight the palate included an abundance of vegetables, salads, and cokes.

Following the supper, Monte Boozer, Bethel Club president, presided over a short business meeting. The community voted to enter a float in the Castro County Round-up Week parade to be August 13.

Wesley Smith was appointed chairman of the float committee. Mrs. Donald Gilreath was appointed to serve as chairman of the scrapbook committee.

Ronny Blanton Is In Summer School At Lubbock C. C.

Ronny Blanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Blanton, Route 2, Hart, is presently enrolled as a summer school student at Lubbock Christian College, Lubbock, Texas.

Lubbock Christian College, now in its seventh year and presently engaged in its third summer school, is fully accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges.

Banton is one of 130 students who registered for this session.

Adhere to an immunization schedule advised by your physician. Make sure of proper first aid preliminary to medical care.

Secure medical care early for infections, but do not insist that your doctor prescribe an antibiotic, because promiscuous use of antibiotics favors development of germs resistant to them.

Modern medical drugs may save your life someday, but why not postpone that day as long as you can by practicing good hygiene and proper first aid.

SPORTS AFIELD

What percentage of fish will be lost with barbless hooks, compared with barbed? And what comparative percentage released from each will survive?

In quite open water where the fish can't tangle the line in anything, and used by a fairly skilled angler who doesn't give slack line, barbless hooks will probably land more fish than will barbed—because the much slimmer point penetrates more readily, losing fewer fish. But of course, when a fish tangles line or leader, he's much more likely to twist off a barbless hook.

By far the greatest percentage of barbless hooks is used by fly fishermen. "With a barbless one you can reach down and twist the hook loose without even lifting the fish from the water," states Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of Sports Afield Magazine.

Experiments by various state fish and game departments have shown that up to 98 percent of those caught with barbed flies or with barbed single-hook artificial lures will survive—so from standpoint, it really doesn't seem to matter much whether trout are brought in with barbed or barbless. However, it's easier for the user to release one caught on a barbless—and it does give him a feeling of nice, clean sportsmanship. And gives others the same feeling toward him.

Bass, like trout, are almost invariably hooked only in the lip with artificial lures. So even when you use barbed trebles, practically every last one released will be none the worse for his adventure. Bass, like trout, are almost invariably hooked only in the lip with artificial lures. So even when you use barbed trebles, practically every last one released will be none the worse for his adventure.

And now we come to the pike, regarded as one of our very gamest fish. A big pike will often take an artificial lure deeply enough or be hooked in the gills—and a slight injury to the gills, if playing or releasing, will cause him to bleed to death.

Today, six and a quarter billion pounds are federally inspected, 84 percent of the poultry on the market.
