BUFFALOES DROP GAME FRIDAY TO OKLA. RANGERS

HARD FOUGHT GAME ENDED IN SCORE OF 14 TO 7.

Henry Got Away With 40 Yard Run on Forward Pass—Rangers Have Great Fighting Machine.

The defeat of the Buffaloes at the hands of the Alva, Okla., Rangers Friday was not unexpected after the report of Coach Burton who saw them in action at Weatherford recently. In fact, the Buffaloes were up against one of the heaviest, fastest and headiest football aggregations they have met this year, and the result of the game is not to the discredit of the Buffaloes. It looked like a 14 to 0 battle until the last quarter when the Buffaloes opened up with an air attack which swept the Rangers off their feet. Accurate passing carried the ball half way across the field when a pretty pass from Studor landed safely in Henry's arms and the fast-little end got away for a touchdown. Again the Normal boys opened with the forward pass and carried the ball within striking distance of the Rangers' goal, but could not quite put it over.

The crowd witnessing the game was the largest seen on the Buffalo field this year. It will possibly be exceeded in numbers only by the Thanksgiving crowd which will witness the game between the Normal and Clarendon colleges.

The Rangers received the kickoff and marched the ball in gains of five to 15 yards to the 7 yard line where the Buffaloes stopped the attack, gained possession of the ball and booted it to the 32 yard line. The visitors were unable to gain and punted to the 23 yard line. The home boys carried the ball back to the 32 yard line where a fumble gave the Rangers the ball which they carried to the 5 yard line and again failed to put it over. A punt gave the Rangers the ball on the 32 yard line. They carried it to the 2 yard line when the quarter ended.

The ball was carried over on the first down of the second quarter and goal was kicked. Score, Rangers 7, Normal 0.

The Normal received on the 20 yard line, returning the ball to the 40 yard line, carried the ball 32 yards and were forced to kick. Oklahoma was in their own territory, and failing to gain kicked to the 55 yard line. The ball was carried steadily to the 28 yard line where the visitors intercepted a forward pass. After advancing 20 yards, they were forced to kick to the Normal's 40 yard line where another fumble gave Oklahoma the ball on the 28 yard line. A steady march placed the pig-skin over the line and goal was kicked. Score, Rangers 14, Normal 0.

The half ended in a few minutes. The Buffaloes kicked east, the ball being worked back from the 40 yard line for 25 yards when a penalty of 15 yards forced a punt, the ball being downed on the Normal's 26 yard line. A return kick placed the ball in the Rangers' possession on their 35 yard line. Being unable to gain by the forward pass, they kicked over the goal line, the ball being put into play on the Normal's 20 yard line. A kick sent the ball to the fifty yard line, and was worked back to the 15 yard line, with another touchdown in prospect, when Henry captured a fumble. The local boys returned the ball 30 yards and punted to the 28 yard line. The Rangers fumbled and the Normal got the ball on the visitor's 35 yard line. A kick put the ball on the Rangers' 21 yard line, when a penalty of 15 yards was given the Buffaloes. After an exchange of kicks, the quarter ended with the ball in the Normal's possession. GOLF PLAYERS BUSY

Golf has revived wonderfully in Canyon during the past two weeks and practically every day there are numbers on the course north of town. The tournament of two weeks ago brought about the desired effect of getting the players started, and any one that knows anything about the result of one game realizes that a single game will arouse the golf instinct that can only be satisfied with another, and still another game. The golf course is getting in fine condition, and the weather has been ideal for playing.

GASOLINE GOING UP

Gasoline has raised 4 cents per gallon during the past few weeks, now selling at 24 cents in Canyon. The raise in price comes with the raise being given for crude oil in the oil fields.

Mrs. Powell Will Complete Work Here

Powell, public health nurse at the State Health Department, returned to Canyon about the 29th of last month to complete her work of medical inspection to the children of the public schools. Mrs. Powell has been here for two weeks, being called Austin just before the first of the month.

While here for the two weeks, Mrs. Powell examined all but about 80 of the children in the Canyon public schools. When recalled to Austin, she was urged to ask for plenty of time to visit every school in Randall county in order that this examination might be given all of the children of the county.

CARRYING ON SERVICE FOR DISABLED VETERANS OF THE WORLD WAR THAT IS COSTING $10,000,000 A YEAR, THE AMERICAN RED CROSS IS HELPING FULFILL THIS NATION'S OBLIGATION TO ITS DEFENDERS.

Mrs. T. F. Reid Died Suddenly Thursday

The community was greatly shocked Thursday afternoon at 3:20 o'clock to hear of the death of Mrs. T. F. Reid as the result of illness with which she was taken at 10:30 that morning. She was in her usual good health that morning and was working with her husband on their lawn. She realized that the end was near soon after striking. Mrs. Reid was 73 years of age and has been the wife of T. F. Reid for 54 years. She was among the best known women of this community and her friends are numbered by her acquaintances.

Mrs. Reid was born in Georgia on June 5, 1848. She and Mr. Reid were married on August 22, 1867, and came immediately to Texas, settling near Denton. With the same pioneer spirit that tempted them to leave their native state and come west, they pushed farther on west from Denton, living in several other counties until they arrived in Randall county on December 26, 1901. This has been their home for nearly twenty years.

There are nine children living: G. R. Reid of this city, who is now in California for treatment; Mrs. Geo. Gunn of Hereford; W. M. Reid of Little Rock, Ark.; Mrs. J. W. Loftand of Beaumont; T. M. Reid of Abilene, Kansas; Mrs. Fred Reese of Pendleton, Oregon; D. G. Reid of Amarillo; S. B. Reid of Amarillo; E. W. Reid of Canyon. All of the children excepting G. R. and Mrs. Reese were at the funeral.

T. D. Coffee of this city is the only surviving uncle of Mrs. Reid. She leaves four sisters—Mrs. Mattie Gatewood of Amarillo; Mrs. Geo. Hull of Decatur; Mrs. Joe Lacey of Rio Vista; Mrs. Cicero Howell of Dalton, Georgia.

Mrs. Reid has enjoyed exceptionally good health during her useful life, and only during the flu epidemic of four years ago has she suffered illness for many years. Her death came without the least warning to her husband and children. Only those who have gone through such an experience realize the bitter grief of the husband who has lost his faithful companion of more than fifty years, and the loss to the children of the mother who has been such a factor in directing their lives of usefulness.

Mrs. Reid has been a member of the Presbyterian church for more than half a century. She could always be depended upon to stand by the church in all of its activities, and was truly a Christian woman.

The funeral services were held at the Methodist church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. Ted P. Hollifield, pastor of the Presbyterian church, assisted by Rev. B. F. Fronbarger of the Baptist church and Rev. J. H. Hicks of the Methodist church. As a testimony of the great respect in which this good woman was held in the community, the building was filled to overflowing when the hour of the service came. The body was tenderly laid to rest in Dreamland Cemetery.

Election of Officers of Commercial League

The annual election of officers for the Randall County Commercial League will take place at the luncheon to be held at the Canyon Cafe next Tuesday at noon. A nominating committee was appointed Tuesday, composed of D. A. Shirley, T. C. Thompson and E. H. Powell.

All of the members of the Commercial League are urged to make a special effort to be present Tuesday.

ARMISTICE DAY CELEBRATION PULLED OFF WITH A VERY FITTING PROGRAM

Armistice Day was a great day for the members of the American Legion in Canyon. It was originally planned to start the celebration at 5:00 o'clock Friday morning, but as actually carried out, the fun began at 4:30 with firing of shotguns, pistols and several heavy charges of dynamite. This firing continued until after six o'clock and most of the citizens of Canyon were fully aware that it was Armistice Day and that the boys were having a great celebration of the day.

Members of the Post and all ex-service men of the city gathered at the

TULIA KILLS HOPE OF HIGHS FRIDAY'S GAME

SURPRISE AT TULIA WHEN HOME TEAM WON 20 TO 2.

Canyon Football Team Has Successful Season Until Friday—Season Probably Over.

The Canyon boys were greatly surprised last Friday when the game with Tulia ended and found themselves number two on the score board with a score of 20 to 2 in Tulia's favor. Possibly the expectation of a very easy game with Tulia led them to be rather lax on the defensive or perhaps the loss of McGee at full, who was unable to play at the start of the game, and the loss of Moore at quarter, who had a collar bone broken at the start of the second quarter, which caused the line to be shifted and demoralized the team—anyway Lindlay, Tulia's left end got away with enough long passes to bring the score up to 20. Canyon's lone 2 was made when an attempted drop by Brown was recovered behind Tulia's goal line. The shifting of the line caused the old and polished team work to slip and none of the game showed the real, well regulated playing that the fans liked to see in the snappy little eleven Canyon High is proud to own.

Every man who played was injured in some way and in fact this report could be made into a casualty list without the least trouble. However, as aforesaid this team looks as good to the Canyon High School now as ever. We all know they did their best and because their best was not up to par last Friday is no reason why we should complain.

We are not certain whether we will play any more football this year or not, as the crippled condition of the team would make it quite a task. But the prospects for basketball and especially baseball are brighter this year than ever before. Mr. Sone states that in all his experience he has never had better prospects for a winning baseball team, and we are sure that he will not be disappointed. There will be something like sixty men to report for baseball, an inquiry has shown a number of experienced players will try for the team. We are sure of even greater things in baseball than in football.

The basketball season starts in about ten days and a working schedule is being compiled. About thirty men expect to report for basketball and courts have already been laid off and goals constructed to accommodate about this number of players.

BUYS HOME HERE

Dr. C. E. Donnell has bought the new home Rev. J. T. Burnett has just completed on the lots west of his home on Chestnut street. Dr. Donnell recently moved to Randall county from Silverton where he has been practicing medicine and raising registered stock for the past few years. He bought the Hanson section south of Amarillo last year and early this spring moved his registered herd of Roan Short Horns to the county. Dr. Donnell is expecting to practice medicine in Canyon as soon as he gets settled here.

The Smart Shop will be a ladies store, carrying a full line of ready-to-wear goods and accessories. The store has one of the prettiest arrangements possible for the stock, and only standard articles will be carried.

Wise Baby Died After Short Illness

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Wise died last night at 11:50 o'clock from bronchial trouble. She had been sick for only three days. Yesterday morning she seemed to be better, and there was thought to be no danger on account of her condition. She grew worse later in the day, but revived early in the evening. Her death came as a distinct shock to the parents and friends of the family who could not realize that her condition was serious.

Little Ida Elizabeth was born June 26, lacking but ten days of being six months old when death claimed her.

The funeral service will be held at the family home this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. J. H. Hicks.

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Wise extend their sympathy in their hour of great sadness.

Here's What Hughes Would Do To Disarm

Washington, Nov. 12.—America's concrete proposal for limitation of naval armaments—the crux of the arms conference—was presented today by Secretary Hughes at the very opening of the session. Briefly it is as follows:

"A naval holiday in which all building program should be abandoned, and the older ships of present navies scrapped was the keynote of the American proposal. Hughes laid down four general principles:

"1.—That all capital ships building program, either actual or projected, should be abandoned;

"2.—That further reduction should be made through the scrapping of certain of the older ships;

"3.—That in general, regard should be had to the existing naval strength of the powers concerned;

"4.—That the capital ship tonnage should be used as the measurement strength for navies and a proportionate allowance of auxiliary combatant craft prescribed. For the United States the program would scrap all capital ships under construction fifteen in number, and fifteen of the older battleships.

"Japan would abandon plans for two battleships and four battle cruisers not yet laid down and in addition would scrap three capital ships and four battle cruisers in process of construction and all ten of the pre-dreadnaughts and battleships of the second line.

CLEAN UP PROGRAM PUT OVER YESTERDAY IN CANYON; TOWN LOOKS VERY MUCH IMPROVED

Big Luncheon With Women Present Held Tuesday Getting Ready For the Campaign of Yesterday—Job Now Is to Keep Canyon Clean.

Canyon's annual fall house cleaning job was put over yesterday in very fine shape. Practically all parts of the city were put in good condition, some of them being in most excellent cleanliness, while spots in town still need attention.

Dr. S. L. Ingham as commander-in-chief of the Clean Up Campaign was out early seeing that the captains had their men at work in various parts of town. He reports that practically every captain put in a faithful half day's work in his section. He was especially well pleased that several very bad looking places in town were put in first class condition on yesterday, and has promises that the work will continue in places needing attention.

The luncheon Tuesday for the purpose of getting ready for yesterday's work was one of the most successful in the history of the Commercial League. All those present expressed a desire to see some method adopted whereby the town could be kept in good condition once a complete clean up campaign had been successfully put over.

Sixty citizens of Canyon attended the weekly luncheon of the Randall County Commercial League Tuesday at the Ideal Cafe, and were highly interested in the plans presented by Dr. S. L. Ingham for the day, for the Clean Up Day which was put into execution yesterday.

After the luncheon was served Dr. Ingham explained the working plan of the campaign and called upon Mayor J. D. Gamble for a few financial facts regarding the importance of a clean city.

Mayor Gamble stated that the State Fire Commission recognized Canyon as a clean town, and had awarded the city certain reductions in the insurance rate on account of the fact. However, the Commission would not hesitate to remove the privileges we enjoy under this rate if the city failed to meet the requirements. Mr. Gamble stated that no one man could keep the town clean. It takes the united efforts of the citizenship to put over the job. He was certainly well pleased that the women of Canyon were interested in a cleaner city, and felt disposed to give the women all of the credit for Canyon's cleanliness in the past.

Mayor Gamble then gave his opinion as to a citizen's duty toward his town and community. A town is built by the people of the community. The town is no better or no worse than the people who live in the community. Towns are not built by the mail order houses, but by the merchants of the town and people of the community. Mr. Gamble said he believed in supporting home institutions by doing business with home people. Probably none of those present at the luncheon would be able to live in Canyon long were it not for the support given them by the people of the community.

The Mayor then took up the question of the financial advantages of a clean town. He stated that in 1918 the people of Canyon paid in fire insurance premiums the sum of $8,806.73 at a rate of 25 percent higher than today's rate. In 1919 the rate was the same and the premiums paid amounted to $12,445.87. In 1920 the premiums were $11,616.04 with the same rate. A year ago there was a good clean up in Canyon and the State Fire Marshal came along and looked over the city. He allowed a 5 cent reduction in the key rate of the city, which amounted to 7 1/8 per cent reduction. The fire insurance agencies of Canyon complied with all of the regulations of the Fire Commission and another reduction of 15 per cent was given Canyon. Mr. Gamble stated that this means that the people of Canyon are saving this year in premiums the sum of $4,254.01 on account of a clean city—this saving being figured on the same amount of insurance carried last year. He believes the amount of insurance has increased the past year about 25 percent, and that the saving to the people is about $5,225. Mr. Gamble stated that the insurance companies will not hesitate to take this increased amount of premiums if the city is not clean. He believes that a further reduction in the key rate is possible if the city will keep up the clean up campaign.

Mrs. C. R. Burrow was called upon and thanked the Commercial League for the women present for the invitation that had been extended to them for the luncheon. She spoke her appreciation of the Commercial League and the work it was trying to accomplish, and stated that all of the women of Canyon were vitally interested in the activities of the organization. Mrs. Burrow noted that too often we had a big clean up one year and then waited two years to have another clean up. She suggested that a plan be devised to keep the town clean once the clean up campaign was completed.

Mrs. Burrow stated that she was proud of Canyon and this community. The women of the Book Club were going to make a study of civic attractiveness and were going to help keep the town clean. She praised the work of the ministers of Canyon in their effort to make Canyon a clean town morally. She stated that we are recognized as the educational center of this section. With the success of a clean up campaign, the citizens of Canyon can be proud of and boost our town on account of its cleanliness from the physical and moral standpoint, and its educational advantages.

Dr. Ingham urged again that all citizens do their best during the clean up campaign, and the meeting adjourned.

Those present at the luncheon Tuesday were: J. G. Allen, J. L. Duflot, Rev. E. A. Osborne, J. E. Rogers, C. L. Sone, A. W. Blough, W. E. Duncan, Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Cluck, Mr. and Mrs. John Knubt, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Foy, Miss Foy, Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Foster, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Warren, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Jarrett, Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Bishir, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Foster, A. E. Wise, Dr. S. L. Ingham, C. D. Lester, Rev. J. H. Hicks, Dr. H. A. Brown, J. M. Vetsak, J. W. Willey, W. J. Flesher, Rev. and Mrs. Ted P. Hollifield, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Burrow, Harvey Cash, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Powell, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Redford, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McQueen, Mr. and Mrs. L. F. WHEAT SOWING CONTINUES

In spite of the dry weather, wheat is being sown all over the Panhandle-Plains country according to L. T. Lester, who has been over some of the territory during the past week.

Mr. Lester states that he has over 500 acres sowed "in the dust." There seems to be only a few places that have had sufficient moisture to bring up the wheat. One of these places is near Happy, and another between Canyon and Amarillo.

Mr. Lester states that his experience is that unless there is enough moisture to start wheat growing by the middle of December there is not much chance for a good crop.

Many of the small wheat raisers are waiting for moisture before planting. If it does not rain in the next month, they will wait and plant spring wheat.

The drought seems to have covered the whole wheat belt of the southwest this fall, little wheat being reported up in any section.

BUSINESS BAD IN NORTH

L. N. Trimble of Montezuma, Iowa, visited last week at the Grant Bellas home northeast of town, and reports business conditions bad in his state. He says that the slump in land prices caught most of the speculators and broke them. Farmers are confronted with the problem of making money on the corn on land valued from $250 to $500 per acre. Bankrupt cases are very common in Iowa this year.

Mr. Trimble formerly lived in Randall county and was surprised to find conditions so good here.

Foreign Advertising Representatives: THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

The people of America are pleased with the proposition submitted by Secretary Hughes to sink a part of our battleships and stop building for ten years. The more thought given to the subject of war, the more foolish becomes war and preparation for war. More than 90 per cent of the taxes of this nation goes to pay for war, past and future. Why this waste? As waste only can it be put down upon our nation's balance sheet as war. Why this misery? For misery alone is the result of war. Have the nations of the world come to their senses? Has man reached the point in civilization when he can lay aside the prejudices of 6000 years and try to treat his fellow man as a brother rather than a criminal enemy for whom we must eternally be making preparations to fight? Secretary Hughes has clearly stated America's position. If the other nations of the world will be as frank, the disarmament conference will be a disarmament conference indeed.

Disarmament should be the purpose of the conference being held in Washington, and it has looked during the past few weeks that this will be the real purpose of the delegates. The conference can be of vast benefit to the nations of the world if politics does not dominate the proceedings of the delegates. If politics does prevail, no definite good can come of the meeting. Letters by the thousands are pouring into the White House from every section of the country asking that the President use his influence that the conference be given a free hand and politics tabooed. The people of all countries are tired of war and preparations for war. Their influence should be felt for good in this conference.

The republicans have something to think about as a result of the elections last week. The party promised to do wonders for America during the presidential campaign. In spite of the fact that congress was safely republican during the last two years of the Wilson administration, and now have an overwhelming majority, none of the reforms proposed by either Wilson or Harding have been put into effect. If the result of the election last week will put a little life in the republican party it will be a good thing for the country and an equally good thing for the republican party.

Our economists are becoming more and more of the opinion that refunding of the European war debt is the quickest and least expensive method of getting back to normal. The idea when first presented in this country was met with a hoot and scoff. Today it is seriously considered. Had the debt been promptly refunded three years ago "normalcy" would no doubt almost prevail today. America is going to pay the war debt one way or the other. Cancelling the whole will be the quickest, even if it hurts most for the time being.

Women are barred from sitting on Texas grand and petit juries according to a decision of the Court of Criminal Appeals last week. Of course, the women will hardly raise an objection to being excused from jury service, as it is a hard, thankless job. From the layman's standpoint, however, it looks as if the court made its ruling on hair-splitting technicalities.

The "Prayin' Colonels" from Centre College may depend somewhat upon the strength of the Lord for the Victory, but it is quite evidently they do not rely wholly upon a favorable reply from heaven. Perhaps a few more of us would accomplish something worth-while if we would work a little harder for victories and not leave the job entirely up to the Lord.

Lloyd George presented another plan for settlement of the Irish question, which was promptly turned down. So long as there are Irishmen in Ireland there will be an Irish problem.

The marines are going to look after mail robbers. They will shoot, and then ask about it afterward. We don't intend taking up the mail robbing profession—just yet.

It is now lawful to own a still in Texas, according to a ruling of the Court of Criminal Appeals. This is certainly wonderful news for the bootlegger. It further advances the idea that has long been advocated in our legislature of having a department to draw up bills for legislators so that they could stand the test of the courts, rather than allow the legislative body spend thousands of dollars every session passing laws which will not get by the courts.

Socialism as-it-does-not-work was turned down by North Dakota after two years of trial during which time the state very nearly went bankrupt. It has taken ignorant Russia only about five years to find out that Socialism at it is practiced today is a fake. There was a general reduction of Socialist votes cast in the election last week.

Pay your dollar to the Annual Red Cross Roll Call. Help this great organization with the good work it is doing.

TAKE THE OFFENSIVE

Now that Foch is about to visit this country, we shall doubtless hear quoted many times the famous message which he sent to Joffre during the crisis of the first battle on the Marne. We do not recall the exact wording but it ran something like this: "My left wing has been turned, my right wing is retreating. I am attacking with the center."

And we all know how he saved the day for France by forcing the Germans to stop their advance and withdraw to a point where they could mend the breach which Foch's little wedge made in their line. All honor to the man who had the courage to take the offensive.

We need today a little of the moral courage that Foch displayed on the Marne. In the business world with business declining many salesmen have gone on the defensive, anxiously scanning the sales sheet to see if their sales are falling off more rapidly than their fellows. Instead of concentrating on new campaigns and more aggressive efforts.

For now of all times is the hour to take the offensive, remembering that the man who takes the offensive chooses the hour and the place to do battle, or in terms of salesmanship that you choose the line of argument and plan of approach which seems most likely to make the sale. We too often forget as salesmen that it is more difficult for the buyer to answer our arguments than it is for him to state his own stock ones which frequent opportunity to use has led him to believe are gospel truth.
Again we say all honor to Foch who had the courage to take the offensive and may we get some personal inspiration from that fateful phrase "I am attacking with the center."

Rheumatism Can Be Cured!

But You Must Clear Your Blood of Waste Products.

Lack of exercise and improper diet causes waste products to accumulate in the blood. You will at once realize that unless the blood is pure, some part of the body will become diseased.

Rheumatism, with its pain and agony, is one of the most serious diseases caused by waste products in the blood. You know, of course, the blood is not confined alone to the arteries and veins. It passes out of these channels to all parts of the body. This is how sediments or waste products are deposited in the muscles and joints. Genuine relief can be had only by correcting the basic trouble—waste products.

Thousands and thousands of men and women during the past 50 years have cleared their blood of waste products with S. S. S. BOOKS HOLD THEIR OWN

Philadelphia Public Ledger: We who live more or less among libraries, public and private wonder what we would have done for our mental pro- vender in those bygone ages of action when any one who wanted a book was forced to get a clerk or a monk or a slave and have it copied out by hand. A book then was an almost priceless possession, and we do not so highly regard what is committed to paper in this area of comparative plenty and of quick-action presses. But if the physical valuation of a book is slighter, it is a fact for rejoicing that the benefits of good literature are so widely diffused that whereas a book of old was a rich man's treasure, today it may be any poor man's friend.

The world was never so turbulent, so anxious, so busy. Getting and spending, we rush about and trample under, and strive for a place of vantage and a hearing in the crowd of fretful mortals. We need to sit down with a book now and then, in a great calm, and listen to a voice of the spirit that speaks from somewhere outside the immediate business. We can not get away from our dependence on the comfort and encouragement and inspiration to be found in the friendly society of a good book.

HE HAD HIS DOUBTS

An elderly man was persuaded by one of his sons to go with him to a boxing exhibition.

The son paid for two $2 seats. "Now dad," the son said joyfully, "you'll see more excitement for your $2 than you've ever seen in your life before."

The old man grunted. "I've got my doubts about that," he said gloomily. "Two dollars was all I paid for my marriage license."—London Weekly Telegraph.

The dollar mark!

What does it stand for?

An accountant, named Lee, who had never heard of efficiency or taken a course in scientific office arrangement, took the Spanish "peso" and abbreviated it, thus "$." It saved him time. It pleased his eye and stood for value given for value received.

America liked and adopted it.

It is nearly a century and a half old now, but never has the $ mark represented so many uncertain conditions as during the past few years. This $ mark now-a-days represents more than ever before the policy of every business.

In the J. C. Penney Company, this $ mark represents a policy of freedom, equal opportunity and progress.

FREEDOM because it buys for cash and sells for cash.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY because every store offers equal and exceptional opportunity to its salesmen to become co-partners.

PROGRESS because the $ circulating through 312 stores in 26 States keeps prosperity moving, bringing benefits to one and all.

THE EDISON COMPLEX

The Wizard of Menlo Park is being interviewed again. He is always interesting altho there are times when we call to mind the old saying about a shoemaker sticking to his last. He has tired chucking over the poms aninorum which he provided some months ago for old and young to stumble over in the newspaper columns and instead of adding to his questionnaire has become philosopher and critic and a bit despondent, as most philosophers find themselves.

Mr. Edison differs with Mr. Bryan and other gentlemen who are appealing to the public direct. Mr. Bryan holds that the public can do no wrong and is always in the right. "Shall the public rule?" is Mr. Bryan's political slogan, meaning thereby that the public is fit to rule. Mr. Edison, not being in politics, finds that about two per cent of the populace has understanding sufficient to take part intelligently in the government of all.

It is the finding of Mr. Edison that the world—government and society—is becoming too complex and thru this complexity may fall into the discard. It is certainly too complex for ignorant people to be in control. He is weary of the laws that are passed by an ignorant legislature, reaching up to the national one. There is no science in legislation; it is a case of hit or miss. He instances a Western state which passed a bounty law to lessen the coyote nuisance only to discover that it had brought on the outlying counties a plague of jackrabbits.

But what is to be done about the business? Is not society on the order of machinery? Does not one machine lead to another? And is not the simple device followed quite often by a complicated one? What kind of a laboratory and workshop had Mr. Edison half a century ago compared to the ones of today? What kind of machines did his first factory turn out compared to those the complicated society of today demands from him? Does not one invention call for another, perhaps supplementary? So with legislation. One law calls for another, one bureau requires another and we have the complex of bureaucracy.

TRANSIENT MAN WORKS A SMOOTH SWINDLE

A transient young man worked a very smooth swindle on some of the merchants of the town yesterday. His scheme was to go into a store, buy a small article costing a dime, give a $10 bill, and follow the clerk to the cashier's window and when the change was given over which was usually a $5 bill and the rest in silver, to put in another dime with the change and ask for a five dollar bill in exchange, and when this was given him to throw it back to the cashier and say, "Just take these fives and give me a ten." And as he selected a time when the cashier was busy he actually succeeded in fleeing the store out of $5, and was gone before the error was discovered.

These days people should look out for all sorts of smooth swindles, for the country is being overrun with persons who had rather steal than work.—Plainview News.

Maize Cheaper Fuel Than Regular Coal

Claude Wells, of the Wellington Leader, is not willing Iowa's corn shall have the front page spaces to the exclusion of Panhandle maize. In order to bring the great crop of this portion of the country to the attention of the outside world, and to demonstrate a fact that cannot be gainsaid, according to figures, editor Wells comes forward with a story of how maize is to be turned to good account as a fuel, and compares its value to coal in the following interesting manner:

C. H. Casperson, commissioner from the Dozier district, was in town first of the week. He told of an experiment made by his neighbor, Hal H. Vaughn, that deserves mention. Mr. Vaughn tried cooking ten meals on his cook stove with coal and weighed the coal. It averaged 11 pounds to the meal. He then tried cooking ten meals with hulled maize and found that it took only 5 pounds to the meal.

Coal costs $15 per ton at the railroad and has to be freighted home. Maize brings $7.50 to $8.00 per ton and has to be hauled to town. A ton of coal costs as much as one can get for two tons of maize, according to his experiment, a ton of maize will go farther than a ton of coal for cooking purposes.

The Leader would suggest that others make the experiment and see how it works out. Then, too, we'd like to suggest that it looks like bad business to waste feed in cooking when it can be used for livestock. With cotton seed cake selling around $30 stockmen will use more feedstuff this winter than ever before, and they use it. There are many countries absolutely destitute of feed. Of course it may get to the point where one can not get coal and then people will have to burn anything that will burn. And in that case the burning of feed would be a matter of self defense.

While our sorghums should have a greater value as a food for livestock and poultry, Panhandle people have a rare degree of resourcefulness and may be depended upon to take care of themselves in the best possible way with the facilities at hand.—Amarillo News.

SMALLER PACKAGES FOR APARTMENTS

Apartment houses have revolutionized more lines of business than is generally realized, says Fred Kelly in the Nation's business. For one thing they have created a demand for smaller articles of all kinds than were formerly manufactured. Food products come in smaller packages than they would if it were not for the small storage space in flats. Even tea packages are smaller. People do not ordinarily buy tea in large bundles, any more; but those who cook in a wee kitchenette are likely to pick the smallest packages they see in the grocery, whether it is tea or potatoes. Likewise, cooking utensils, furniture, hardware—all have been influenced by the fact that a certain proportion of the people who will use them dwell in apartment houses. Old-fashioned, full sized double beds are coming to be almost unknown in the larger cities. The average New Yorker believes that a three-quarter bed is as wide as they are made.

Nothing is more hateful to a Moslem than to see the Koran in the hands of an unbeliever.

The climbing plants which interlock the tropical forests have flowers unsurpassed in beauty.

CITIES ARE WHAT MEN MAKE THEM

Cities are what men make them. Wherever the cities may be: Whether on the desolate desert, Or set by the surging sea, Though they cleave to the breasts of the mountains Or nestle by rivers broad, Cities are what men make them on the land that is given of God.

Cities are what men make them. What men demand they shall be. Successful, sloven and sleeping. Progressive, beautiful, free. If the hearts of the builders are noble In one with the day and the need, They build into grandeur and greatness For so it was ever decreed.

So take up your task as you find it. Nor grumble at what you have not. Be one of the men to make greater The place where you cast your lot. If the ocean shall threaten to wheelm you Build a dyke that will laugh at its might. Cities are what men make them. Who are willing to labor and fight.—Darius Lovelace.

FACT AND COMMENT

A man is made not by what others think of him but by what he thinks of himself.

Many a man who has energy enough to start a riot has not strength enough to hold his tongue.

"One of these advertised opportunities in oil stocks," avowed the old resident of Little Rock, "reminds me a good bit of a honey bee; it takes considerable experience to grasp it without being stung."

For those who would lay up treasure on earth many of the daintiest gew-gaws of Italy are now to be had at an attractive price. With the lira at twenty-five for the dollar instead of the normal five, old lace, veils, damasks, fans, exquisite beadwork, gloves, artistic furniture, mosaics, ornaments for gardens and such things as the big towns of Italy display to the overseas traveler become a tempting opportunity.

The advantage to government in the rise in price of Liberty bonds and Victory notes lies in the fact that as the bonds approach par the prospects of the government's obtaining a low interest rate in the refunding operation that will retire the present issues improve. To that end the whole financial power of the Treasury, through purchases in the open market for the sinking fund and through Federal Reserve control of rediscount rates, will be exerted in the next year or two to force up the market price.

The extraordinary spectacle of a mountain disintegrating so fast that the decrease is discernible day by day has been going on for nearly a year in the mountains region near Vienna. The Ansee Sandling, more than five thousand feet in height, is collapsing. Great cones and pinnacles of rock crash and tumble; the forest lie flat against slowly downward, piling into the valleys, and the turf carpet moves with them. Nearly four miles of territory are involved in the movement, which continues with gradually increasing acceleration.

One of the great needs of the Philippine government is two strong parties, Liberal and Conservative, organized on domestic issues. At present the Nationalist party is in full control of the government and likely to remain so as long as there is any question of the definite independence of the islands. It is stated that in four years one third of the congress at Manila will be composed of young American-educated Filipinos; in eight years, one half; in twelve years, virtually the whole. If America agrees to something like a twelve-year time limit for the retention of the Philippines, one of the natural results will be an organization of parties on other issues than the matter of independence.

Timber cut annually in the forests of the United States is about three times the growth.

FIRST IMPRESSION BEST

Fred Kelly in The Nation's Business: Dealers in phonographs have discovered that when they sell an instrument they must be careful what kind of records the new user takes home for the first time. If they are all jazz records or mere popular music the whole family, in a short time, will get so sick of the phonograph that they won't want to hear any record on it. But if the dealer is wise enough to persuade the customer to take along records of one or two selections that have withstood the test of time—really good music, you know, without being offensively high-brow—he makes a permanent customer of him. The family doesn't object to hearing the good music played over and over again. They get interested in worthwhile music and buy records from then on.

The same thing is probably true in various other lines of business. If a person starts off using something that has merit, he doesn't sour on it, but comes back some day for more. A tailor told me once that when a new customer comes in he makes every effort to steer him away from too loud a pattern—away from anything that one might quickly tire of. He also tries to guide him toward selecting a piece of goods that will wear well. Certain kinds of goods wear better than others. It isn't the tailor's fault if a customer picks something a bit flimsy. But when the suit wears out, the average man blames the tailor just the same.

THE ARMY DEMOBILIZATION

The civil army of office holders of the government is rapidly being reduced.

Since March of this year the number of civil employees of the government has been decreased by more than 30,000, or at the rate of about 5,000 a month.

It is no small job to fire 5,000 employees a month from any going enterprise and still keep the business from being demoralized.

The six months' record is encouraging. If the reductions in the civil and military branches of the government can be consistently kept up for even a short time longer, there is a big possibility that the United States will be paying its debts and save some money.

THE GOSPEL OF HONEST WORK

In the course of the long session of the American Federation of Labor at Denver there were many speeches on many topics. One speech stands out among them all, preeminent for good sense and straight thinking—that of Mr. John H. Donlin, president of the Building Trades department of the federation. It struck out manfully against the idea that has taken possession of many manufacturers, employers and workmen who are engaged in building, that grafting and loafing, saddling the building industry with every kind of illegitimate cost and foolish restriction, are somehow good for the people who make their living in the building trades.

Mr. Donlin was addressing union working-men, but he devoted himself chiefly to the mistakes of laboring men in trying to see how costly and difficult they could make building. He does not believe—as no one else with common sense believes—that labor alone is to blame. He had some hard things to say about the men who manage great industries, and he said nothing that the evidence brought out by the Lockwood committee's investigation in New York does not justify. But he did not stop with castigating the other side; he went on to tell his hearers what their own duty was to their craft and to the community in which they are a part. Here are some of the things he said, which can be read with profit by everyone who is engaged in productive industry:

"We must excel in individual efficiency. Cost of production tells the tale."

"Wealth cannot be distributed until it is produced; the more we produce the richer we shall be and the more a dollar will buy. The less we produce the poorer we shall be and the less a dollar will buy."

"Labor must be paid according to American standards, and it must produce accordingly. We cannot be un-mindful of our responsibilities. Capital and management must bear their share of the burden of readjustment. Labor must agree to a high minimum output for each individual. That will keep wages up and the cost of living down." If only everyone would recognize the truth of that remark!

One other useful piece of advice that Mr. Donlin gave to labor was that it must stop tying up work on buildings when the only question at issue is one of "jurisdiction"—where two or more unions are disputing which shall do certain work or how the work shall be divided among them. Non of the many annoyances that have driven builders nearly mad is so vexatious as that; none of the many delays that have increased cost and discouraged enterprise is so utterly without excuse as that. Mr. Donlin is right in saying that jurisdictional disputes are usually started for reasons that will not stand examination by the magnifying glass.

The Winter Outlook for the Panhandle-Plains Is Not So Bad, Says The Stockman-Farmer

If the market prices for the products of the farm and ranch were on a level with the prices of building materials, farm implements, house rents, groceries, dry goods, clothing, shoes, freight rates, coal and most every other finished item that enters into the cost of living, the Panhandle-Plains country would today be flourishing as the proverbial green bay tree. Cattle were never in finer condition to enter the winter months; feed is plentiful on every farm, and a large acreage has been planted in winter wheat. The delightful autumn weather these past weeks has been ideal for the fall harvest and crops have been saved to the tune of almost 100 per cent. Farmers and stockmen could not have wished for a more delightful period of autumn weather. Just such weather and crops as ought to make everybody happy and prosperous.

But, unfortunately, we are going through a reconstruction period that has laid the hand of adversity heavily upon many of our people. Cattle prices have fallen more than fifty per cent below the level of two years ago, and many, many cattlemen have been caught with loans against their herds that is now considered beyond the market value of their cattle. With these heavy financial burdens upon them and the present depressed financial condition, extending throughout the length and breadth of these United States and across the waters into European countries, as a natural result the cattlemen are not feeling the best in the world, and there is more or less crying of hard times among them. And, too, the farmer who has harvested a splendid wheat crop, already five percent of which has already gone to the market, at a price below the cost of production, and now with the splendid sorghum grain crop that also will not bring on the markets the cost of production, is feeling more or less pessimistic, as a matter of course.

Because of these below cost of production prices for the farm and ranch products, the banker is unable to realize on his loan and the merchant's trade and all other commercial business is away below normal. So how can you expect other than "dull times" under such conditions?

But notwithstanding the condition as here stated, our bankers tell us, and they know that the Panhandle-Plains country is in better circumstances than most any other section in the United States. The editor has talked to a number of bankers these last few days and we are told that no suffering for want of feed, oats and clothing will be endured during the coming winter months upon the farms and ranches of this country. Of course, money is going to be scarce and hardly obtainable through loans of any kind, but most farmers and ranchmen will market sufficient of their products to tide them over the winter months in the usual comforts of the farm and life.

In the towns there is a showing of a rather liberal building program for the winter months, which will give the day laborer and the wage earner an opportunity for financial protection.

So, all in all, when viewed from the existing circumstances prevailing throughout the whole country, the people of the Panhandle-Plains country have cause to congratulate themselves upon the outlook for the winter months.

And this reminds us, that upon the time Col. Chas. Goodnight and associates, the first of the white race to begin development of the plains of Northwest Texas back yonder in the early seventies of the nineteenth century this particular section has always been able to maintain itself upon its own resources. The early day settler underwent hardships, of course, but no greater than the average who pioneered in the development of new countries. You may always rest assured that when the Panhandle-Plains of Texas is experiencing dull times most every other section is undergoing a like condition. Some of the best financiers in all the United States are at the head of our banking institutions and when the pinch comes they can come as near putting their customers over as any section that does an agricultural and stock raising business. And we might say that just at this time the metal of our bankers is being tried to the fullest limit, and it is wonderful to note the loyalty existing between banker and customer throughout this territory. It is typical of the true western spirit and will be the means of successfully putting over the problems now confronting both.

A great people we have, and great is the Panhandle-Plains country.—Amarillo Stockman Farmer.

UNEMPLOYMENT

Idle industries mean widespread unemployment. Busy industries automatically cure it, and there is, of course, no other real or permanent cure. For the government to undertake, as some propose, to hire the unemployed, is a plan that will defeat itself unless they who are put to work create enough new wealth to pay their own wages. If their wages have to be paid out of taxes, the process of curing existing unemployment will create new unemployment. They who pay the extra taxes will have to spend less on other things. If they spend less on other things, they will employ fewer workers in producing those other things. The taxpayers will have to pay still more taxes to take care of the new class of unemployed, thereby throwing still others out of employment and so on ad infinitum. In short, neither government industries nor private industries can cure unemployment unless a kind of work can be found that will create enough new wealth to pay the expenses. If those expenses have to be subtracted from existing wealth, the process merely transfers the unemployment from one group to another.

Why are industries idle? Precisely because the owners and managers do not see any way of paying expenses out of receipts, or out of the new wealth created. Whenever owners and managers think that they can pay expenses out of receipts, they start the industries. But why can't owners and managers pay expenses out of receipts?

That is the heart of the whole problem. Until it is answered, we have not even a glimmer of light on the problem of unemployment. When it is completely answered we shall have solved the problem. One reason why the problem is so difficult is that there is no single answer; but a great many partial answers; that is, it is a problem of many factors working in combination. One of the obvious reasons is a scarcity of men of high business capacity. There are a few men who are able even now to keep their industries running on full time. A few more men of the same caliber would enable a few more industries to run. One such man is worth more to the laborers than ten thousand agitators. Of course it takes a manager of greater capacity to pay expenses out of receipts in hard times than in good times. If times were good we should doubtless have business capacity enough to handle the problem of unemployment. That means of course, that there are other factors in the problem than the mere supply of business ability.

Why is business ability scarce? Here again there are many reasons. One is that comparatively few men are born who have business capacity; another is that until recently there were no schools for training latent capacity. Our institutions of learning were training men for almost everything except business. Still another reason is that the supreme value of such men has not been appreciated by the people who need them most; namely, the workers. In common with all other men, men with business capacity like to feel that their fellow citizens appreciate them. If such men are continually held up to the scorn of the masses by dogmatic agitators, many of them will be discouraged from entering business and driven into other occupations where they are less needed; that is, into working for others instead of employing others.

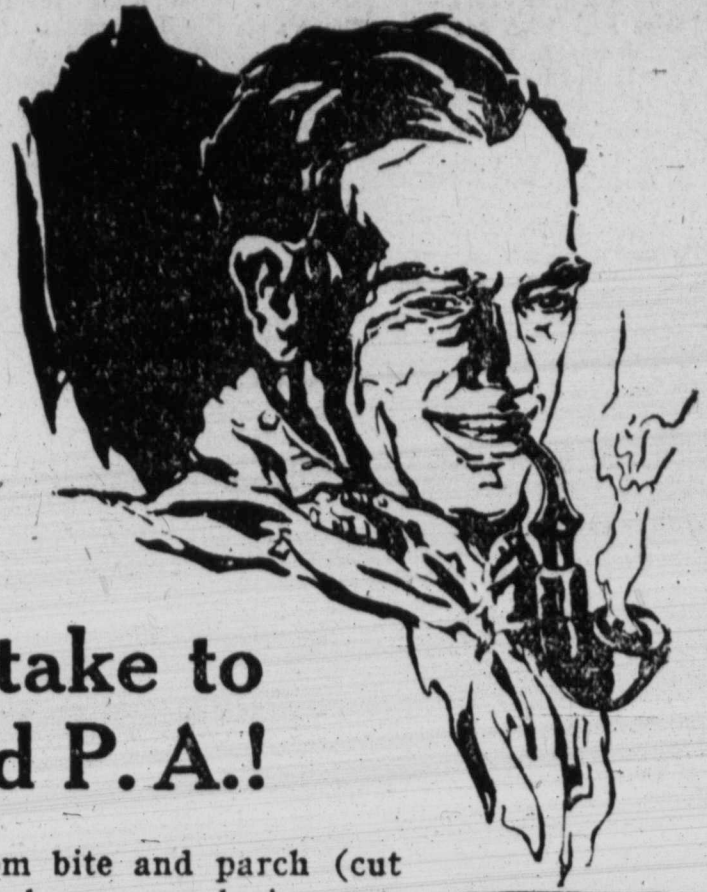

Enough has been said to show that other things besides the supply of business ability help to explain why it is so difficult to pay the expenses of an industry out of its receipts. The expenses may be unnecessarily high. If one group of laborers demands too much, it becomes impossible for the industry to run. That throws other groups of laborers, who are not demanding too much, out of employment. A railway strike, for example, closes a great many other industries that depend upon the railways.

One of the costs of business is the danger of labor troubles. That has to be taken into account just as definitely as the danger of loss by fire. The business man who did not reckon fire insurance as a part of his expenses would soon fail. Likewise, the business man who does not count the danger of labor trouble as a part of his expenses to be paid for out of receipts will fail. In other words, the receipts of the industry must pay the costs, including insurance against labor troubles. It takes a man of greater business capacity to pay the costs of business when those costs are high than it would take if some of the items of cost could be eliminated.

Bat Masterson Was in Adobe Walls Fight

Because of its relation to the famous Adobe Walls battle near Canadian, the following story from The Fourth Estate of New York City is of interest to many Panhandle people.

William Barclay Masterson, better known as "Bat" Masterson, sports editor, died at his desk in the editorial rooms of the New York Morning Telegraph shortly before noon Tuesday from heart disease. He was writing an article for Wednesday issue of the Telegraph at the time. He had been connected with the paper for the last 15 years as sports writer, and recently as sports editor.

At one time Mr. Masterson was said to have been the best known man between the Mississippi and the Pacific coast, and his exploits and his ability as a gun-fighter became a tradition of the Middle West.

The two men who helped to shape his career after he left the frontier, were Theodore Roosevelt and Alfred Henry Lewis, the author of western short stories, who made Mr. Masterson the hero of many a yarn.

The late Colonel Roosevelt appointed Mr. Masterson a deputy United States marshal in New York in 1905. This brought him to New York from Denver.

He was born at Fairfield, Ia., in 1854, and when 15 years old left his home in Wichita, Kans., to become a buffalo hunter at Dodge City.

When he was 20 years old he rode into Adobe Walls, a little desert town, with two companions, and after supper took a hand in a poker game. One of the players complained of Masterson's luck, and drew his revolver threateningly. The "lucky" player shot before the disgruntled man could take him and young Masterson's quickness saved his life. This was the first time his gun caused death.

That same night 300 Indians, made up of Cheyennes, Arapahoes, Comanches and Kiowas, led by a negro deserter from the United States army, descended on the town. The red men were repulsed day after day, until on the 14th day of the siege Masterson had a hand-to-hand encounter with the negro, whom he killed. The spirit of the Indians was broken and they fled.

That Indian fight made Masterson famous. Gen. Nelson A. Miles sent for him and made him second command of a body of scouts. A year later he became sheriff of Dodge City and later marshal of Trinidad, Colo.—Amarillo News.

CRACKERS, CHEESE NO LONGER FARMERS' DINNER IN TOWN

The days when the farmer came to Quanah with their stuff to sell, and made their dinners off crackers and cheese in the back end of the grocery store, have faded into the misty past. Now they go into the cafes and eat the best that can be dished up, and plenty of it, too.

Time was when the grocer kept plates and bowls for the farmer, who sat on a box, keg, or old chair in the back end of the store, settled the fate of the nation while he filled himself up on cheese, tomatoes with sugar, crackers and a few other succulent dainties. And no one in those times heard of appendicitis, either.

After eating his fill the farmer either loaded his pipe and took a good drag at it, or cut off a chunk of tobacco which he chewed with great gusto, and after seeing that all his purchases were properly stowed away in his wagon, set out for the farm, usually arriving back home in time for his wife to have completed milking the cows, feeding the chickens and "stopping" the pigs.

Now its all different. The automobile and good roads have changed it all. Modern farm tools and plow engines have made it possible for the farmer to become somewhat of a business man in more ways than one. The chief improvement is that he don't waste a whole day in town now, where formerly he spent anywhere up to sixteen hours on the round trip of ten miles in, ten miles back; and he doesn't eat quite as much crackers and cheese as he did for he feeds at the restaurants when he comes to Quanah.—Quanah-Tribune Chief.

ANIMALS WHO STOP TRAINS

Answers: In the East some little while ago a plague of locusts stopped the progress of an express train and delayed it for many hours.

Now a bull at Crewe has endeavored to pit its strength against man. The engineer of the Derby-Crewe Express noticed the animal charging down at a mad pace toward the locomotive. He shut off steam, and brought the train to a standstill within a few yards of the enraged beast. For a few minutes the bull raced aimlessly round and round the train, returning to the engine, it made a terrific plunge. So great was the force of the collision that the animal broke its neck and rolled down the incline dead.

DON'T BE A CELEBRITY

You wish to "leap at a single bound into celebrity." Nothing is so commonplace as to wish to be remarkable. Fame usually comes to those who are thinking about something else—very rarely to those who say to themselves, "Go to, now, let us be a celebrated individual!" The struggle for fame, as such, commonly leads in notoriety; that ladder is very easy to climb, but it leads to the pillory which is crowded with fools who could not hold their tongues and rogues who could not hide their tricks.—Oliver Wendell Holmes.

Nothing equals SAPOLIO for scouring and polishing cutlery. Makes all metalware look like new.

EUROPE TO RESTORE CONTINENTAL CROWN

London Daily Herald: Apparently the peace treaty did not make Europe as safe for democracy as the more optimistic imagine if we take the return of Constantine and the news from Hungary as indications. A representative sends us the following interview from Budapest:

"There will be a King again in Hungary," said the Premier, Count Teleky, in answer to my question. He refused to specify the date when the new King would arrive, and wouldn't name him. "From all sides I heard the same story. Hungary's aristocrats must have some sort of King, though it doesn't much matter who. However, Teleky admitted that the King's advent wouldn't necessarily re-establish the country's prosperity.

"He stated that the economic situation of the country was lamentable. Several weeks ago he was faced with the bitter alternative, on account of lack of coal, of either shutting down factories or railways. He chose to shut down the former, and added 35,000 unemployed to those already starving and freezing in Budapest's east end.

The unemployed in the Hungarian capital now exceed one-half of all the workers.

"Food was getting scarce; for one thing, he said, the flour mills through lack of coal, had temporarily stopped. Now they were working again, but the peasant, he added, didn't want to give wheat to the city. He didn't want paper money.

"Said Teleky: 'We've decided to make forcible requisitions from the peasants.' As a matter of fact it is an open secret that such requisitions have been going on for a long time. "His Excellency went on to outline Budapest's unhappy situation. He said the housing situation was terrible: 400,000 fugitives had come into the country from the former provinces and three-quarters had taken refuge in the city.

"We can not," he sighed, "quarter these people in the city dwellings as did the Communists. They are mostly not the sort of people you know." He hesitated tactfully. "We are building barracks for them."

"Both my friend and myself having seen those barracks, unbated, miserably crowded and filthy, discreetly did not press His Excellency on this point. His Excellency sits in a cozy office, splendidly heated, carpeted, and furnished with soft leather chairs, and looks out calmly upon the crowded city on the other side of the river, where the proletariat is slowly dying and the dictatorship of the officers is quickly bringing the country to ruin.

"Trade unions are not allowed to hold meetings. Trade union headquarters are seized by the military. Thousands of workmen are languishing in goal. The coal mines are militarized. The unions are not allowed to send delegates into the country to organize agricultural workers, whose unions have been dissolved. The press is censored, and the right of assembly denied. Spies listen at the telephones. All persons not agreeable to the present Government, even nonsocialist deputies like Suppet, the peasant leader, are threatened with violence. But the Count ascribes all Hungary's misery to the peace treaty."

BURN BREAD INSTEAD OF COAL

"Burn corn instead of coal; it's cheaper." This is the advice said to have been given to farmers by the American secretary of agriculture. We hope it is not true. If true, what a commentary on government; what an irony on civilization! Millions starving and on the borders of starvation and American corn is ordered used as fuel because it is cheaper than coal, when there is enough coal in one state to furnish the nation for a century.

In this state where there are coal measures of unexampled quantity and quality, untouched by the pick, an effort is being made to close the railroad running near to this field. The coal is not to be mined.

Over in Nebraska farmers cannot send their corn to market because of the low price and high freight rates; and they cannot get coal because of high freight rates and excessive charges for fuel. And coal miner and railroad brotherhood are threatening strikes in the midst of all her economic upsidedownness to make matters still more topsyturvy.—Denver News.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

The library of the Omniades of Spain contains 600,000 volumes. The kingdom of Andalusia had seventy libraries supported by public funds.

The first private library is believed to have been owned by Aristotle in 324 B. C.

A public library at Athens founded by Pisistratus, was in operation in the year 540 B. C.

Octavianus Caesar founded two of Rome's public libraries, the Palatine and the Actavian.

The library of the monastery of Corydon, which was burned in 1901, contained nearly 1,000 volumes.

The famous library of Alexandria, Egypt, founded by Ptolemy I, was destroyed by fire by the order of Caliph Omar, in the year 641 B. C.

A library of 200,000 volumes, which fell into his hands during a victorious campaign, was one of the notable gifts made by Mark Anthony to Cleopatra.

Many historians claim the credit for the first public library should be given the Assyrians, the date of its foundation being fixed in Eighth century, B. C.

Rome's first public library was founded by Julius Caesar. His early death ended his ambition to secure the most complete collection of writings of that period.

It is calculated that this mammoth candle will last for 1,800 years, provided it is not burned longer than twenty-four hours each year. At a continuous burning it would last but fourteen years. AMERICA TO THE RESCUE

At the very first meeting of the British and colonial premiers there was a striking illustration of the importance that the statesmen of the English-speaking countries attach to harmony between British and American policies. It manifested itself in the expressed determination to take no step that could be regarded as unfriendly to us, or that would give occasion to the most captious among us to stir up trouble with England. It appeared in Mr. Lloyd George's declaration at the opening of the conference of willingness, even eagerness, to discuss with our government the problem of reducing armaments, and in General Smut's emphatic approval of the action of Congress, in proposing a conference for that purpose. It can be detected in all the debates of the body, following the broad statement by the British premier that "friendly cooperation with the United States is with us a cardinal principle." For he and all the prime ministers recognize that by our strength, our resources, our idealism, our detachment from the policies of European governments, and our racial and historical relationship with them we are of all peoples the one nation that should be associated with them in the work of promoting "stability and peace on the basis of liberty and justice."

Their sentiments take concrete as well as general form. One of the subjects most discussed in the early days of the conference was that of renewing the treaty of alliance between Great Britain and Japan. The treaty in its original form could be interpreted as requiring Great Britain to join with Japan in war upon the United States if Japan were to engage in such a war. Our good neighbors of Canada were foremost in protesting that the treaty must not be renewed unless a clause be inserted that shall exclude in the plainest terms any such obligation. The sentiment met with unanimous approval, and plans were then discussed for learning what assurance our government desired that England would never enter upon such a war.

The remarkable emphasis upon the importance of the United States as a leader in the salvation of the world and as a government that must in no event be alienated from its natural friends or offended by act or omission should inspire Americans with a solemn sense of their responsibility in this world crisis. It may well give us pride in our greatness and our strength and our opportunity, but there should be in that pride no flavor of the puffed-up national complacency of the days when the eagle screamed. Our help is courted not from cringing fear, not from a belief that we can accomplish the mighty task alone, but in the confidence that we are both able and willing by example, by leadership and by cooperation to use our almost unimpaired resources in assisting to rescue the world from its present horrors. If we fall history will write us down as a braggart and slacker nation.

KICK OUT THE GROUCH

If a man went up and down the road scattering thistle seed or seed of any foul kind as far as he could away out into the fields on each side, how long would it be before we would get after him, hale him before the justice of the peace and send him out of the country? He would be a bad man and the sooner we got rid of him the better for the good of the farms.

What is that but just what the man with a sour face and a never ending hard luck story is doing all the time? You have him in your community. How you dread to see him coming. If there is anything you can do in the back lot, you take a bee line for that country the minute the little chap sings out, "Old Man Grouch is coming; headed straight for our house."

Because you know what will follow the minute he reaches you. No matter how busy you are or how bad you hate to hear his tale of woe you know you must listen. You know the story by heart. Persistent old fool. Not a decent man anywhere doing business for the state, local or national government. Congress ought to be horse-whipped. We are all going to the poorhouse. Frosts and dry weather and grubs and worms and grasshoppers and caterpillars—why the world is full of them, and what's the use of trying to live anyhow?

When you think he has about run down this man with a big grouch shifts his end and begins all over again. And on and on and on, till your righteous soul is vexed sore within you. Then what do you do? Wouldn't it be a wise thing to do just about what you would do with the sower of thistle seed? Is it not, as a matter of fact, worse to scatter the seeds of faultfinding and complaint than the foulest seeds ever thrown out on the wind? For my own part, I had rather a boy of mine, or a girl either, should be tackled by a wildcat than be compelled to listen to a sour, grumpy grouch man. Because, although the boy might have some big scratches in his skin when he got through with the wildcat, they would heal up some day all right; but rakes up and down his soul would be there to stay.

So kick out the grouch and be sure that you do not have to apply the toe of your boot to the seat of your own breeches.—Edgar L. Vincent.

STOP!—LOOK!—LISTEN!

LITTLE BENNY'S NOTE BOOK

By Lee Pope
Pop took ma out to teach her how to play tennis this afternoon on account of ma having bin keeping on asking him, and tonite at supper ma looked glad and pop looked the opposite, ma saying, Well, well, jest to think, my very first time out and I beet you, well jest to think.

Holey smooks pop, did ma beet you? I sed.
Well, I hardly call it that, sed pop, and ma sed, Well that's wat I call it, and I sed, Wy, pop, wat did she do?

She baited every other ball so far that I was completely exhausted by the time I came back from chasing it and then naturally wen she axidently got the next ball in I was all out of breath and in no condition to return it, sed pop.

The fact remains that I won, and that's the main fact izent it, sed ma. It certeny is not, the main fact is that I was playing tennis whereas you were trying to play golf with the idear that I was you caddy, sed pop.

Now Willyum dont be silly, how could I beet you playing tennis if I was playing golf? sed ma.

Thats jest it, you didnt really beet me, wat you reely did was wear me out, you jes stood there resting while I ran a distants of properly 5 miles altogether chasing wild balls, thats wat you reely did, wat you reely did was give a correct imitation of Babe Ruth at his best, sed pop.

Now, Willyum, youre contending yourself, you know perfectly well Babe Ruth is a base ball player, I've awffen seen his picture in the paper with a base ball bat, so how could I be giving an imitation of him if I was playing golf, youre contending yourself right and left, sed ma.

Sippose we let the matter rest, sed pop, and ma sed, Certeny, but I beet you jest the same, and pop sed, You exhausted me, and I sed, G pop, did she beet you by mutch?
Drink your soup, sed pop.
Wich I did.

WORK

The edict that man should eat his bread in the sweat of his face was a blessing, not a curse.

There is no satisfaction comparable to that of accomplishment. Ask any important man what he has enjoyed most in his life. He will tell you it was work.

Listen to the conversation of men. It is chiefly about their work—either work accomplished or work they plan to do.

If your work does not interest you, either something is the matter with the work, or something is the matter with you.

If you would not gladly lay aside everything else to get something done that relates to your occupation in life you had better look around for another occupation.

Steinmetz, the electrical engineer, who has just found a means of transmitting a million volts of electricity over a wire, got more pleasure out of that achievement than anything he ever has done.

In the development of many inventions, Thomas A. Edison has found the highest pleasure of his life.—Exchange.

A SAFE TEST

For those who are in need of a remedy for kidney troubles and backache, it is a good plan to try Doan's Kidney Pills. They are strongly recommended by Canyon people. Ask your neighbor! T. A. Ridgway, farmer, Canyon gave the following statement January 13, 1912: "I have been using Doan's Kidney Pills for a short time and find they are benefitting me. I suffered from a weak bladder causing too frequent and profuse passages of the kidney secretions. I have noticed since using Doan's that I have much better control over my kidneys. I recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to relieve weak kidneys."

On April 30, 1919, Mr. Ridgway said: "I haven't had an occasion to use Doan's Kidney Pills since I recommended them in 1912. I think the cure they gave me has lasted."

IT IS TIME TO END WAR?

By the Rev. Everett Clinchy.
War is not a tonic any more. We used to think so. We rather believed Lord Roberts when he said war was a tonic for souls. We inclined, once, toward the idea of the German war party when they told us about the disciplinary value of their gigantic military. But now, somehow, we do not hope with Nietzsche for a "manly and warlike age." "Beastly" goes better with it than "manly."

One look at German children, who during the war famine, grew to only half their normal size, is enough to prove that war is not exactly a tonic. Nor must one go further than Europe to support this, for a glimpse of the Near East, a look at France, the condition of Belgium, reports of Russia, are enough to convince anyone that if war is a tonic it is the patent of a quack.

Take the way war works: It strains out all the men of the nations in those ages when men are at their best, physically and mentally. Then it sorts out the obviously unfit. Third, in training the nervously unfit and the sub-normally developed, physically and mentally, are sent back to carry on the race. When the best in the land go into battle the whole nation searches for the casualty lists daily in the papers, taking it for granted that great numbers will fall. Sixty per cent of one nation between the ages of 19 and 31 are killed—that was in France. Ten million of the chosen fall. And that does not count the many who wish they had fallen, because of the wrecked bodies and minds which war left them.

That is the way war works. Is that a tonic for nations?

FORMING GOOD READING HABITS

If parents wish their children to form good reading habits they must first form such habits themselves. And there is no better way to do this than to bring into the household a periodical that will be of interest to every member of it; that will supply the best reading for old and young. Among the periodicals of this description The Youth's Companion is unique. Not only does it aim to entertain and inform boys and girls in their teens, as its name suggests, but there is not a page in it that parents can pass over with indifference.

HARVEY AND THE LEGION

"Resolved, That the sentiments expressed by George Harvey, United States Ambassador to Great Britain in his Pilgrim Day speech, setting forth reason's for America's entry into the World War and the cause for which America fought, do not represent the true American attitude as interpreted by the American Legion; and let it be known for all time that America fought for not only the maintenance of America's rights but for the freedom of the world, and that a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States."

This is the text of the resolution that was adopted by unanimous vote by the convention of the American Legion at Kansas City. So much play was given in the news of the defeat of a more drastic resolution, reported by the committee on resolutions, which declared among other things that "the said George Harvey is unworthy to hold any office whatsoever in the gift of the American people" and demanded his immediate recall, that the fact of the unanimous adoption of this other resolution has been widely overlooked. In an editorial written at the time the first news of the defeat of the recall resolution had been received, we remarked that this certainly did not mean that the Legion indorsed the point of view expressed by Ambassador Harvey, and the adoption of the resolution quoted above bears this out.

Nobody in this country has a better right to express the purposes of the United States during the war than the men who fought the war. They know the feelings and the ideals which animated them, and this resolution shows that those feelings were the same as those expressed by their commander in chief, President Wilson, whose ideals Ambassador Harvey went to great pains to repudiate in his Pilgrim Day address.

Incidentally, another resolution was adopted at the convention. The dispatches record that it was adopted unanimously by the delegates, "who mounted their chairs cheering wildly." It reads as follows:

"That the American Legion in convention assembled extends greetings to the former commander in chief of the American army and navy, wishing him a speedy and complete recovery from illness suffered in the service of his country."—Star-Telegram.

The Romans are credited with introducing cabbage into England, and the soldiers of Cromwell carried it to Scotland and made it popular there, as they did also in Ireland, according to tradition.

THE DALHART SCHOOLS UP AGAINST IT FOR MONEY

The teachers of the Dalhart schools are drawing only half their salaries, and will have to wait till February or March for the other half. Other bills are unpaid, the new high school building will probably have to wait completion till spring, all because the funds are exhausted. At the same time there is a big roll of delinquent taxes piling up. Taxes for the current year are coming in slowly, and how to run the schools without money is the problem now confronting the board.—Dalhart Texan.

PULPIT VERSUS COMEDY

San Antonio Express: The distinguished Bishop Ainsworth told the preachers attending the West Texas Methodist conference that they "should not sacrifice the dignity of the pulpit for a flimsy and shallow popularity." Which remark, properly understood and applied, is true and excellent advice. The bishop evidently had in mind some preachers with the auctioneer-and-harsh methods of attracting attention, and some evangelists whose "style" is all their own. It belongs neither to God nor to man, but is peculiar to evangelists of a type.

Jocularity in the pulpit may have a tendency to mislead the pew into the belief that the subject of eternal life and death is a laughing matter. It is, in fact, a crying matter, or will be for those who do not make happy landings on the farther shore. Martin Luther was never a joksmith. History mentions no Pope who sought a reputation as a comedian. Charles Wesley did not entertain his great audiences with witticisms. Dr. Spurgeon nor T. DeWitt Talmadge achieved distinction by way of humorous distortion.

Nor did John the Baptist, who founded the church to which State Press belongs—try to make headway in his missionary work by repeating in Jerusalem the gags he may have heard in Tyre or Tarsus. Indeed, John might easily have saved his life by adressing airy persiflage to Herod's step daughter, who probably did her best to make him swap repartee with her. No preacher should be a gloom. No preacher should give off the impression that he is God-haunted every hour. But every preacher, when in the sacred office called the pulpit, should impress his audience, even though there are only two or three gathered together, with the sincerity of his desire to preach the father and teach the son to those at hand. This doesn't mean that a preacher should not be human among humans. It means that he should not compete with the comic supplement on Sunday.—Dallas News.

WHY LETTERS GO ASTRAY

An explanation of why in many cases "that never, never came" is believed by Postmaster General Hays to have been found in the revelation that an average of seventy pieces of mail is found daily in empty sacks and pouches sent to the mail bag repair shop in Washington.

About 8,000 sacks are received daily at the repair shop in Washington, and of these something like one out of every 100, according to figures furnished Mr. Hays, is found to contain a piece of mail ranging from registered or special delivery letters to fourth-class parcels. Considering there are 7,500,000 sacks and nearly 1,000,000 pouches used in the postal service about 2,500,000 of which on an average are stored for periods running from months to years, Mr. Hays believes a search will possibly bring to light much mail matter unaccounted for.

The Postmaster General has sent out an order to all points where the sacks and pouches are stored for an immediate check. If the bowels do not act regularly, assist them with an occasional dose of Herbine. It is a fine bowel tonic and laxative. Price 60c. Sold by Jarrett Drug Co. 3214 diate inspection and "shaking down" of each in order to ascertain if any contain mail. Such if found will be specially marked and forwarded so that the address may know the cause of the delay. The order also provides that postmasters are to be held strictly responsible and must see that every sack in the future must be thoroughly inspected before it is cast aside.

Five Canyon Boys With Buffalo Squad

Five Canyon boys are making great records in the West Texas State Normal College.

Foy Terry, Everett Key, Joe Lancaster, Ira Jenkins and Barto Johnson, are attending the college and are making a great record in football this season. They all make their home in Canyon and the town should feel proud of the excellent showing their boys are making in the athletic world.

Foy Terry, known by all as the speed demon, is making a record at right half and end. He is beyond a doubt the fastest man on end runs, that is working with Coach Barton's eleven. His specialty is long end runs.

Everett Key is the giant, hard hitting right half for Coach Barton. Key is a fast man on line plunging and a sure punter and passer. He is a very hard tackler.

Joe Lancaster is one of Coach Barton's best tacklers. He is large and believes in going behind the lines and getting 'em. Joe always opens a hole when the play comes his way and is a very hard tackler. He goes through the defense and often downs the man behind the scrimmage line.

Ira Jenkins runs regularly at quarter on the Buffalo squad. He is one of the best pilots in the Panhandle and always uses his head in the time of need. Ira is a good broken field runner, a good drop kicker and a real fast man on grabbing passes. He is a good man on defense as well as offensive work.

Barto Johnson, the big right tackle for the Buffaloes, is one of the three men who has played in every minute of the games played this year. Barto has never had an opponent who could hold him in line. He is a hard tackler and a great man when it comes to going behind the line of scrimmage and downing men in their tracks. He has started in every game this year.

BUFFALOES DROP GAME

son on her 31 yard line. Neither side was able to make great gains during the early part of the last period. The Buffaloes only score came when an aerial attack was pulled off in the middle of the quarter, and Henry went over, and the crowd went wild. Score Rangers 14, Normal 7.

It looked very much like another touchdown when the Buffaloes received the ball on the kickoff, made 15, 10, 20 yards by the forward pass, but the Rangers intercepted a long pass on their own 10 yard line and booted the ball out of danger. The game ended.

BOOK CLUB PROGRAM

The regular program of the Woman's Book Club will be held next Wednesday with Mesdames Burrow, Lester and Plesher leading. The subject will be the poems of Ralph Waldo Emerson and the following questions bear upon the subject:

1. After reading "Good-bye" do you think Emerson despised the world? (Read the "Apology" before making your final decision on this point.) 2. What are the principal thoughts gathered from the observation of the Humble Bee? 3. Is there any difficult thought in "The Snowstorm" or is it merely a picture of Nature in one of her beautiful forms? 4. What line in "The Rhodora" expresses Emerson's idea of a thing of beauty? Compare Keat's idea of beauty. 5. What two lines in "Each and All" are the key to the whole poem? Show how Emerson proves this key thought first by adverse and then by positive examples. 6. What is the problem in "The Problem"? (See lines 19-24 for the key thought). Emerson asks why the sensitive artist's soul is repelled by the notion of becoming a formal religious functionary, such as a priest or monk (first and last stanzas). The true artist works unconsciously under the guidance of the divine, and hence builds better than he knows, second, third and fourth stanzas). Is the problem, then the mystery of human efforts to express the divine in artistic form? 7. What poem mentioned above teaches that man gets his chief pleasure from the ideas which he continually strives after but never quite reaches? 8. Why are the Davys called hypocrites? 9. Why did the individual mentioned in the poem see a look of scorn as his Davy vanished? 10. With what spirit did Emerson view old age and death? ("Threnody" and "Terminus").

Come to Canyon to live.

LADIES AID ENTERTAINED

The Ladies Aid Society of the Presbyterian Church was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Knight, with twenty-seven members present. It was one of the largest meetings in point of attendance in the history of the Aid. The Lesson was "The character of Satan as revealed in the scriptures." After the lesson refreshments were served by the hostess and her daughter, Miss Ruth, assisted by Mrs. Alta Mann of Hale Center. The members are very grateful to Mrs. Knight for the very pleasant afternoon.

Y. M. C. A. MAN HERE

J. B. Lewis, Y. M. C. A. secretary from Dallas, was here Monday looking after the work in the Normal and soliciting funds for this organization for the state work. Mr. Lewis is more especially interested in the H-Y work among the high schools and may soon return to start the work in Canyon.

During the week conferences have been held in Amarillo for the purpose of making plans to erect a Y. M. C. A. building in that town.
