

Tech Meeting for Panhandle Postponed From Tomorrow

The West Texas Technological College jubilee, scheduled to be held in Amarillo March 9, in celebration of the passage of the bill creating the institution has been postponed until a later date, according to announcement of the committee appointed to arrange the details of the meeting.

The reasons given for the postponement of the celebration were that the dates of the meeting were too soon after the recent meeting held at Sweetwater for the same purpose; that insufficient time remained in which to prepare the proper program; that there is a feeling of sectionalism in certain sections of West Texas; that Amarillo wants to make a clean fight for the institution; that the legislative committee will be unable to attend until later.

The dates of the jubilee will be announced later, but it is believed that the celebration will be staged during the latter days of March at some Panhandle city.

Ancient cities of the Mayas in Yucatan, Mexico, are being investigated by four American archeologists. It is believed that discoveries rivaling the recent finds in the Valley of Kings, at Luxor, Egypt, will be made here. Special attention will be given two cities recently discovered in the jungle wilderness. Chichen-Itza and U-Xmal and efforts will be made to translate hieroglyphics unearthed from the ruins of the Mayas race which vanished more than a thousand years ago.

College Dairy Pays Handsome Profit

According to Professor Frank R. Phillips of the agriculture department of the West Texas State Normal College, the college dairy herd of eight cows, after paying for their feed, paid a profit of $204.50 for the month of February. This does not take into account the labor, which is done by four boys who are "milking their way" thru college. The boys receive thirty cents per hour for the time they put in while working with the dairy herd and receive, in addition to this, rooms at the sanitary milk house. While the agriculture department received only $120 from the state legislature this year for classroom purposes, for labor on the farm, and for incidental expenses, the dairy herd has enabled the department to function until the present time. In speaking of this matter, Mr. Phillips said in part:

"I am fully convinced that the dairy cow is going to mean an additional income for West Texas. While we are fortunate in having a market at the dormitories for our whole milk, I have observed that many of the most careful farmers are beginning to market their products through the dairy route. This means, first, an orderly system of marketing; second, conserving the soil fertility for future generations; third I wish to call attention to the fact that every dairy region which I have visited in the United States, from California to Massachusetts, has been a region with good roads, good school houses, well equipped farms, and fields which indicated unusual productive capacity. My prediction is that the cowboys' prejudice against doing anything that cannot be done in the saddle is going to be overcome by the weekly cream check; however, in order to do this in Texas, we have found that it is necessary to have silos and other summer pastures than native grass. Sudan and sweet clover, perhaps, will solve the summer pasture problem.

CROP ROTATION

Experimental data show that the farmer who raises pretty much one crop—like corn or wheat—and sells the crop, is unconsciously selling a little of his farm fertility each year. Farms handled in this way become poorer and poorer each year. Every bushel of wheat and every ton of straw, or any other grain or forage crop removed from the land without any provision for returning the fertility represented, means just that much loss to the soil.

Analysis of virgin and cultivated soils in Nebraska shows that the organic and nitrogen content has decreased about one per cent each year, and the land that has been under cultivation mainly to grain crops for 30 years has lost 30 per cent of its original supply of organic matter and nitrogen. In Kansas and Oklahoma similar analysis shows that from one-fifth to two-fifths of the nitrogen and sometimes as much as one-half of the original organic matter have already been lost.

This enormous loss in soil fertility must be checked if good yields and reasonable profits are to be expected. The whole southwest is practicing too much of the "one crop" system of farming. Thousands of successful farmers are solving this problem through diversified farming, rotation of crops, growing legumes and handling more livestock. This may mean a slight reduction in the acreage of wheat, but a few less acres handled properly will produce more bushels of higher quality, and the profits per acre will be more.—Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association.

Only half the number of babies today die after the first month, compared with infant mortality 15 or 20 years ago. During the first month four per cent of all infants die, just as they did in years past. Life insurance statistics show that it is easier to survive a year at the age of 65 than for a newborn infant to reach the age of one month.

A MER ROUGE JELLY BEAN

The following story comes from Dallas and is credited to Politician Sam Heyman of that city. He says a bootlegger recited the incident for him:

"I was visited by one of the toughest birds I ever saw the other day. He wore leather breeches and a four gallon hat. He had a bandanna around his neck, and his beard was at least two weeks old. He said a friend of his had sent him to me, and I figured he was all right.

"He bought a pint, pulled the cork, and then hesitated, and remarked: 'Could you get me a little coal-oil, buddy?' I told him I could, thinking he wanted to grease his boots, or something. But Lord, he mixed it with hie corn, then asked for moth balls. I wanted to see how far he would go, so I got him a few. He dumped them all in the mixture, shook it up and swigged it down, and then smacked his lips.

"This near floored me. 'Where you from? I gasped—border country?' 'None,' he says as he shook his head disgustedly, 'Mer Rouge. The rough element down there got industrious and run all of us jelly beans out of town.'

Glad that I was born a boy.

Electric searchlights playing over the surface of the waters in the Norwegian fiords lure the sardines to the surface where they can be caught. The sardine canneries along the coast of Norway were recently threatened with a lack of fish owing to the fact that the sardines remained so deep as to render fishing impossible. The lights remedied this situation.

WILL DO WELL TO AVOID ALL ADVERTISING STUNTS

Illegitimate and worthless advertising schemes are the greatest detriment to real newspaper advertising success, especially are these schemes destructive to towns of 5000 to 10,000 population in the United States. Every dollar put into worthless advertising schemes to "help somebody" is a loss to legitimate advertising and brings the newspaper business in disrepute. The smaller the town the more easily business men are duped—the real business men in the larger cities have long since discontinued the practice of giving their money to every scheme that is presented. All schemes are charged up to legitimate advertising. Large newspapers receive from $1.75 to $3.50 per inch for their advertising space while the smaller newspaper receives 15 cents to 50 cents per inch. The production of this advertising under present conditions is nearly the same, hence the wages paid out a great figure in the success of the small town newspaper. Real live business men in the smaller towns should hesitate long before they give up their money to illegitimate advertising schemes, especially when it will do them no good and irreparably injure community building and advancement. In fact, newspaper advertising is a real business builder and reaches out into new fields.—J. P. Johnson in Fourth Estate.

Normal Calves Win All But One Game During Cage Season

The Normal High School Calves under the direction of Coach O. W. Middleton made a very good record during the basketball season just closed. They played eight games winning seven and suffering only one defeat. The team piled up a total of 324 points to their opponents 161.

While the team was not a member of the Interscholastic League they defeated some of the best high school teams in this section, and those who saw the Normal lads in action firmly believe that they were in the class with the best teams in this district. Coach Middleton states that practically all the boys will be back for next year and he hopes to produce a combination that will be hard to overcome.

Seven boys made letters on the Calf team. They are: Park Lewis of Canyon, Dawson of Tullia, and "Bobby" McGuire of Canyon, forwards; Fuller of Spearman, center; Bailey McCormick of Amarillo, Love of Love, and Dick Reed of Stanton, guards.

Following is a record of the games played during the season.

- Canyon High Eagles, 18; Calves 45.
- Canyon High Eagles, 13; Calves 29.
- Pampa Harvesters, 33; Calves 72.
- Pampa Harvesters, 37; Calves 53.
- Plainview High School 17; Calves 14.
- West Texas Normal Yearlings 17; Calves 23.
- Dimmitt High School 17; Calves 51.
- Panhandle High School 9; Calves 37.

Some other vegetable fibres besides cotton, when treated with the protein solution, take on so many of the characteristics of wool that the truth can be detected only under the microscope.

"Hooch" is short for hoochenoo, a brew frist made in Alaska. In 1869, when American troops were stationed in Alaska, they were forbidden to have any spiritous liquors. The soldiers took to making their own and concocted liquor noted for its power and violence. The natives called it hoochenoo and soon learned to make it. It is said that one quart was sufficient to craze the brains of 10 Indians.

WHY THAT LAME BACK?

That morning lameness—those sharp pains when bending or lifting, make work a burden and rest impossible. Don't be handicapped by a bad back—look to your kidneys. You will make no mistake by following this Canyon resident's example.

Mrs. T. P. Mayrant says: "My kidneys and back were giving me a lot of misery. My back ached most all the time and was lame and sore. Often I felt dizzy and weak and was troubled with spells of headache. I felt worn out and my kidneys caused annoyance by their irregular action. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and bought a box. Doan's gave me relief. I use this medicine now, whenever I think I need it, with good results."

PAPER MONEY AND TAXATION

It used to be a favorite device of autocratic governments when they were in need of money to debase the coinage. They did it by melting down the old coins and reminting the metal into new ones of lighter weight or with more alloy. Royal decrees threatened with punishment all who should refuse to accept the new coins as the equivalent to the old. It seemed like a profitable business for the government. Besides, it could be supported by the always popular argument to pay its bills without taxing the people. But no royal decree could make the new coins purchase as much as the old ones especially after most of the old coins had disappeared and been replaced by the new and lighter ones.

Certain modern governments that call themselves democratic have gone even farther than the old autocratic governments ever thought of going, and with worse results. Instead of debasing the coinage they have printed paper money to pay the bills of the government. When every employee of the government and everyone who has sold anything to the government is offered government paper in payment there is not much that he can do except take it. From the point of view of the person thus situated, there seems to be no good reason why he should not accept it. Even to the shortsighted taxpayer it may appear to be a better method of paying the bills of the government than resorting to taxation; but to the person who looks ahead it is worse than disquieting.

Any increase of the currency that is not accompanied with a corresponding increase in the number of things that are for sale must necessarily decrease the purchasing power of each unit of the currency—the dollar, the pound, the franc or the mark. When that fact is considered it becomes plain that the hope of avoiding taxation by issuing paper is without foundation.

Although the taxpayer is not called upon to give so large a part of his money to the government, his money will buy less, and so he bears the burden just the same. It makes little difference to him whether he turns over one tenth of his money income to the government as taxes and the other nine tenths retains its full purchasing power, or whether he keeps the whole of his money and its purchasing power drops to nine tenths of what it was. He has as much to consume in one case as in the other, and the government costs him the same either way. No plan has yet been invented by which a peaceful nation can get something without paying for it.

Not only does issuing paper money fall to relieve the taxpayer of the burden of supporting his government, but it has certain positive disadvantages that cannot be too much emphasized. It creates uncertainty and lack of confidence where certainty and confidence are needed. The farther we advance in civilization the more we come to depend upon one another and also upon our government. In a simpler state of society when the family produced largely for its own consumption the money of the country made little difference to it. Now that everyone produces for some one else and depends upon some one else to produce what he wants it is of the greatest importance that the money with which he buys and sells be trustworthy. Anything that creates lack of confidence in the soundness of money, or doubt about it, is especially demoralizing.—Youth's Companion.

Let Wanamaker Teach You

You remember the story about John Wanamaker. The first day he was in business his receipts were $24.64. He kept 64 cents and spent the $24 the next day in advertising. We all can't duplicate this feat, but according to the best statistics available three per cent of the gross sales should be put aside for advertising.

Possibly you will say, "I don't need to advertise. I've been in this town thirty years and everybody knows me."

Probably they do, but did you ever stop to think of the sales you lose because your fellow competitor advertises? He may advertise the same goods you have in your stock, but the people don't know you have them. The other fellow gets the sales because he advertises. And then how much more business would you do if you did advertise?

We know of one merchant who advertised a lot of goods at 19 cents a yard. They cost him 27 cents. He took a clean loss, but while the sale was going on he could buy new goods at 12 cents. He put them in with the other goods and the result was that he cleaned his shelves of the old goods and broke even on the deal. Advertising and good buying liquidated his stock without a loss.

Wanamakerize Your Business Policy and Bid For Success in 1923.

We can't all be John Wanamakers, but we all can advertise in proportion to our business. Results will be sure if you advertise honestly and give service. A newspaper can bring people to your store, but it can't make people buy your goods. Your clerks must do that and it depends on the service you give as to how successful your business will be.

Advertising today, especially in newspapers, is the greatest business getter there is. This is acknowledged by men who know. People read advertisements in newspapers. They have been educated to do so.

What is done in big towns can be done right here in Canyon if you will show the pep, give the service and advertise. MAKE BUSINESS GOOD. You can do it thru this paper.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

Christian people who really back up the cause of Christ in the world rarely ever discount the revival but uniformly encourage it and praise God for the time when people are deeply awakened and saved. No one can name a single evil that comes to a community or to neighbors from a real revival of religion which sweep hearts to their depths and turn them toward God.

The more men talk about religion in the right way and the more they conform their lives to the Word of God, the better husbands and neighbors and citizens they become. The happier they and their homes are. The Bible and its teachings make men better in every walk and work of life. The one who leaves the Bible out entirely is going the hard way and making his life irksome and wretched when it could be a joy and delight and happy all the time. It is the way of the transgressor that is hard, says God. The Lord says, come unto me and I will give you rest and relief.

To be sure ups and downs come to the Christian as he passes along life's way but in it all he is happy and has a song in his heart and he lives above all his disappointments. There is a joy in his heart that is unspeakable and indescribable and full of the glory of heaven and keeps him in a certain clear radio connection with the throne of God from which he draws his life and power and sustenance.

If all the teachings and injunctions of the Bible prevailed in a community there would be no crime, no dissipation, no violations of civil, no heavy expense in maintaining officers and courts or houses of correction, no meddling in another man's home-affairs, no boys or girls losing their good names and character and becoming a disgrace to the community, no neighborhood broils and feuds, no locking coal house or chicken house at night, but all living in peace and friendship ready at all times to help and serve one another and all would be brethren like a large family of children in a good home. Instead of quarrelling and saying mean things about one another, they would be a friend to every one they met and would be glad to know that some one loves them and cares for them. All mean things—meantime say about another is of the devil and not of Christ whether they be a Christian or not. The devil is put in a mighty close corner, when the people of a community have a good revival and turn back to the reading of their Bibles and to praying.

If all these good things come from preaching the Bible and from a Bible revival, then every man and every business and every home in town ought to stop everything and try to get every one in town into a meeting that they may be saved and help the good people of the town to have a Christian town. No one is perfect and we all make our mistakes and do wrong at times, but let us not turn the whole thing over to the devil just because we are not all angels. If we cannot have a real Paradise here, let us have the very best one we can.

On Sunday, March 18th, our revival at the Baptist church begins. Rev. W. C. McClung, the pastor at Denton, will do the preaching two or three times a day. Let us link up with the Lord God of heaven for a few days and with his servant as he preaches, that we may have his greatest blessing.

WORKERS' CONFERENCE MEET

The Workers' Conference of the Tierra Blanca Baptist Association, composed of pastors, laymen and W. M. U. Workers, met with the Happy church, March 1, with a large attendance from the different churches. Sixteen churches in this association. The Book of Genesis was thoroughly discussed: Creation, fall, flood, the nations by B. F. Fronabarger. Were the days of creation a week, indefinite, or 24 hour periods by H. F. Aulick. Mrs. Baggary gave a stirring talk on Jacob and Esau. Other Bible characters were discussed.

This was a great day. A bountiful lunch was served at the noon hour by the W. M. U. ladies of the church. The Woody Smith evangelistic party, composed of Rev. Smith, Mr. Ogdon as singers and Miss English as pianist. This was the finest music. All were delighted.

This conference is far reaching in its work. Large crowds attend these inspiring meetings. Cold weather does not interfere. Will meet in Tullia next time. Those attending from Canyon were H. F. Aulick, B. F. Fronabarger, John Rowan, J. C. Dowd and Mrs. B. T. Johnson.

Mother-To-Be, Read This—

Here is a wonderful message to all expectant mothers. When the Little One arrives, you can have that moment more free from suffering than you have perhaps imagined. An eminent physician, expert in this science, has shown the way. It was he who first produced the great remedy, "Mother's Friend." Mrs. C. J. Hartman, Scranton, Pa., says: "With my first two children I had a doctor and a nurse and then they had to use instruments, but with my last two children I used 'Mother's Friend' and had only a nurse; we had no time to get a doctor because I wasn't very sick—only about ten or fifteen minutes."

Note: Write for valuable free illustrated book, "Motherhood and the Baby," containing important authoritative information which every expectant mother should have, and all about "Mother's Friend," in Bradfield Regulator Company, B.A. 23, Atlanta, Ga. "Mother's Friend" is sold by druggists everywhere.

Phillips Highly Pleased With the Cowmen's Convention

Director of Agriculture for the West Texas State Normal College, Prof. F. R. Phillips, is highly pleased with the Live Stock Producers Convention, which has just closed in Amarillo. In speaking about the convention, Mr. Phillips said in part:

The meeting offered a great opportunity for the livestock men of this and other states to come together and talk about their business. It gave the producer an opportunity to see fine stock and to determine the most desirable type of animal considered from the market man's viewpoint. It gave the producer a better opportunity to estimate values on his own cattle and grass. I learned that Kansas people were asking six to eight dollars for their grass or three cents per pound for the gain that three year old steers put on while on the pasture.

Appreciates Cowmen's Interest.
Mr. Phillips said that he appreciated the interest taken by the cowmen in the department in which he works; that they had passed resolutions asking for adequate appropriations for training teachers in rural school agriculture.

"I want to take off my hat to the old time cow man," said Mr. Phillips in speaking of the convention. "The cowmen of West Texas have done more than any other class of people in any state in bringing a country from a semi-arid region to a place where men can live happily and produce abundantly."

Prof. Phillips feels that better times are in store for the live stock producers. He thinks that the prices are getting back to normal conditions; however, he thinks that there is liable to be a loss of "She Stuff" unless producers hold on to more animals for future needs than indications seems to forecast. According to this educator the time has come, when cow feeders must give more attention to buying and handling their feeds. He thinks that a material gain in net profits may be secured in this way.

John B. Davis, president of the American Bar Association said at the association banquet in St. Louis, "Individual liberty is being beaten down, and the right of man to govern himself is being defeated by the threatening encroachment of the Constitution of a code of statutes to control the habits and morals of Americans." He believes there is too much law and a tendency to ignore mandates of the Constitution. A mysterious being called the state should not be set up to the abandonment of the spirit of individual liberty.

PLANTING PECANS Nuts or Trees; Which?

Forty-two years ago I planted my first Pecans on a corner lot in a city now grown to over ten thousand inhabitants. One tree survived the vicissitudes of neglect and abuse and has grown to be a tree forty feet tall and forty inches in circumference.

Thirty-six years ago I planted one hundred acres in nuts in Coleman county. Less than one dozen trees survived this planting on account of neglect, unsuitable location, drought and abuse of tenants, and are now profitably bearing.

A costly failure, did you say? No, not at all. The cost of nuts and labor were not over fifty dollars, or about fifty cents per acre, and the experience I gained has been four times this much. But had it been budded trees at the low cost of fifty cents a tree, aggregating a cost of $2,000 or more, it would have been costly, and the failure even worse under the same conditions.

This is one reason why I advocate and plant the nuts in preference to budded trees. If you fail, the loss is small, and if you succeed the profits will be as great in ten years as if you planted budded trees, if properly managed and with an initial cost nearly 100 to 1 cheaper. This difference in initial cost alone is sufficient reason for planting nuts in preference to the costly trees. Many a hard pressed farmer, to make both financial ends meet, who has suitable pecan land, can spare fifty cents per acre to plant ten acres or more, who could not afford nor think of buying budded trees at a cost of $25 to $50 per acre. And, by the way, I wish to say right here that I do not mean creek or river bottom land by using the word "suitable," but it includes any upland, miles from any stream that has a clay foundation. In fact, I prefer such upland to bottom land, but cannot prolong this article to give my reasons for it.

I have reasons to allege that all this condemning and discouraging the planting of the nuts is nothing more than propaganda sent to the press by those who are commercially interested in growing and selling high priced budded trees. I allege further that it is retarding the pecan industry of Texas, and that if it can be successfully counteracted and the landowners taught that they can start a pecan orchard at an initial cost of 50 cents per acre and use the finest papershell nuts, and ten cents per acre with common pecans, that millions of trees will be planted all over Texas, from the Panhandle to the Gulf, and from the Red River to the Rio Grande—to where hundreds only will be planted with this propaganda prevailing.

I also claim that papershell pecans can be raised under proper environments so that they will come true to variety when planted. If I am correct, this initial cost of 50 cents per acre is all that is necessary to grow a papershell orchard. But, grant that I am wrong, still it is cheaper to plant the nut where the tree is to grow and top-work it, than it is to buy budded trees and set them out and run the risk of their dying. Any seedling tree, whether grown from planting the nut or a volunteer, is a valuable asset on any man's farm. And when its tap root gets established, which is about the third year, the seedling is indestructable, and if they are budded about this age with some fine variety, in seven to ten years they will be larger and more vigorous and bearing more nuts than an orchard set out in budded trees at the same time the nuts are planted. It takes a transplanted pecan tree, if it lives at all, longer to grow another root that has been cut off, than it does for a seedling to grow both a top and a tap root which has never been disturbed.

Always plant a large full kernal pecan, even at a high price, than a common runt pecan if given to you. This kernal is the food of the baby plant, and it starts the young tree off, with an impetus and vigor as a fine sow with an abundance of milk starts her pigs. It is hard to grow a runt out of its dwarfed condition, either a plant or animal. I have sold nurserymen these rooted pecans to plant and bud fine varieties on the dwarfed trees. It is commercialism. More nuts of the pound, more dollars made in selling the trees. However fine the variety used to bud with, if the stock has no vigor, the budded tree will be of little value. All nurserymen do not practice the planting of small nuts. Some will go to any expense to secure large fine nuts. And if you insist on buying budded trees, be sure to find out what kind of pecans the nurseryman plants, before purchasing.

OLD INFORMATION IS MISINFORMATION

The World changes. Old governments are passing; new governments, territories and parties are in the forming. The old-fashioned, bound, stitched and glued encyclopaedia served its purpose in a past generation. A new age demands a new Encyclopaedia—a reference work that can keep pace, step by step, with the New World.

Nelson's Loose-Leaf Encyclopaedia, with its patented loose-leaf binding device, is the only Encyclopaedia, that can discard the old and out-of-date and substitute the new and living in its place. IT IS THE ONLY PRACTICAL PLAN FOR RELIABLE INFORMATION.

NELSON'S PERPETUAL LOOSE-LEAF ENCYCLOPAEDIA

AND RESEARCH BUREAU FOR SPECIAL INFORMATION

A few of the many reasons why you should own Nelson's

It covers the whole field of knowledge—over a million topics—from the dawn of civilization to September, 1922.

It is accurate, concise, authoritative—with over 1,000 contributors, each a specialist in the subject assigned to him.

It is fully and beautifully illustrated—over 7,000 illustrations, colored plates and maps, photographs, reproductions of famous paintings and line drawings.

Its Editorial and Advisory Boards include the finest minds of the world—men at the very head of the various fields which they represent.

It is always new—kept constantly down-to-date by the issue, every six months, of 250 or more new pages, old out-of-date facts and figures being eliminated and new ones supplied to take their place.

It is supplemented by a Research Service Bureau which will supply, free of cost, any additional material which you may desire.

It is an authority, used by government departments, libraries, schools, and educational institutions, throughout the country.

It is, like history itself, by means of the patented loose-leaf binding device, continually in the making—always complete, but never completed.

It saves you the expense of buying a new Encyclopaedia every five or six years. It is a complete Reference Library and equal to a College Education.

It is American, made in America, for Americans. Librarians everywhere, when asked where to find the latest and most accurate information, answer

It's always new LOOK IT UP IN NELSON'S—Cannot grow old

Ford Company Gives Reason for Numbers on Side of Motor Block

Numbers may be found on the right side of the block in Ford motors, and various kinds of speculations have arisen over the country regarding this number.

The following letter explains the mystery to a lot of people who did not know:

Detroit, Feb. 26, 1923. Kuehn & Farlow, Canyon, Texas.

Answering your letter of Feb. 10th the figures which you have found placed on the right side of the block in Ford motors has been placed there to designate the particular assembly line on which motors were built.

SUGGESTS "SHIRLEY FIELD."

This new athletic field of ours is not the result of some magic power, as it might seem, but the result of a ten-year fight by an untiring champion of athletics.

Mr. Shirley is not only the "Father of Athletics" in the West Texas State Normal College, but he is responsible for the growth of athletics in the whole Panhandle.

Shirley Field has gone long enough without a name.
