The new school building in Canyon is finished and was accepted by the board of trustees this week from the contractor. The school building is certainly a most beautiful structure and highly adapted to the needs of the school and of the community. The school needs a lot of things which the trustees are unable to buy since the money on the last bond issue has been expended. The school would be very greatly crippled should the trustees be limited in equipping the building at this time. To buy the necessary equipment on time means eight percent interest, and the debts must be met within a year or two. To vote another bond issue would mean five or five and one-half percent interest, with plenty of time to meet the bonds, distributing the debt over a long period of years. The patrons who are acquainted with the needs of the school favor a bond issue this fall for this needed equipment. It is not the wise policy to build a first class building, and then allow the equipment to be stunted or even second class. Canyon is expecting great things of the school with the new high school building, but the equipment is almost as necessary as is the building.

Several amendments to the state constitution are under investigation owing to the recall of the proposed highway amendment. The idea of course is most ridiculous. If the contention is correct that the letter of the law must be carried out strictly in every county in Texas before the election is legal, then one man in probably a thousand who have to do with the handling of elections could block any election. For instance, the News could forget to publish, or refuse to publish the legal notice, and invalidate the entire state election. The county judge of Randall county could refuse to properly handle the notices, or any election judge in Randall county could refuse or neglect his office and invalidate any election. The court properly held during the past week that after the people had voted upon such amendments and approved them by unquestionable majorities, the amendments were legal in spite of minor errors committed by newspapers or officials in handling the notices. This is the most sensible court decision handed down in Texas for several years.

The state will give the schools $12 per capita during the coming year, this reduction being necessary on account of the unbusiness like work of the text-book commission in making unwarranted and unnecessary changes in the books of the state for the coming two years. This is going to cripple the schools very materially in certain parts of the state, and will hurt all of the schools. In order that a full year's term be assured, it will be necessary to increase local taxes to cover the deficiency in the state allotment. The people in the western part of the state will not kick at the increase of local taxes in order to keep the schools open. Every school board will have this difficulty to face, but the people will approve of the increased taxation rather than the decreased school efficiency. Most of the school boards have awaited the action of the state board in making allotments before levying local taxes.

The News congratulates Lubbock in landing the new Tech College. Every town in the race made a clean, square fight, and the victory of Lubbock is a victory for the Panhandle country. Mr. Bralley, Mr. Bizzell and Mr. Marrs all stated time and again during the time of inspection that the people of the town winning the college should not expect too much of the school to start with. It is true that the Tech starts out with more money for a physical plant than any school which has ever been started in Texas, but schools do not grow over night. The Tech will be a great school if all of the people of West Texas show as much enthusiasm for its maintenance as they did for its creation and location, but it will have to have time in which to grow.

Saving money is a simple matter of denying yourself of certain things; but denying yourself certain things is not a simple matter. Practically every person who has gotten ahead in this world has been one willing to deny himself of things that to him looked to be a luxury, while to his neighbor it was a necessity. Nothing can be expected of the person unwilling to make a sacrifice. Unfortunately at this period of the world's history, anyone who tries to look ahead and prepare for the future, denying himself of necessary or unnecessary things, is looked upon as a tightwad and a poor sport.

If the Germans had to pay as much for paper to print their money on as we have to pay for paper here in America, it would be a waste of good paper to run the mark through the printing presses. Something is sure to happen in Germany and France before many more weeks. The present chaotic conditions cannot continue much longer.

In spite of the high tariff, European manufactured goods are flooding American markets. Labor is cheaper today in Europe than ever in the past. Factories are running full blast turning out goods. In spite of the money conditions, goods are coming this way in a greater volume than ever before.

The dry weather in general over the Southwest is cutting the feed crop and the cotton crop very materially. The report of the great cut in the cotton crop has stiffened the price, and farmers will probably receive a good price for the crop this fall.

Get ready for the big Fair at Amarillo next month. Crops are not going to be very good for showing, but a respectable showing from Randall county is possible with a little effort.

As usual where news from Russia is concerned, we find it hard to know just what has happened to Dr. Tikhon, the deposed patriarch of the Russian Orthodox Church. A dispatch from Moscow says that he has openly recanted from his attitude of opposition to the soviet government and has promised obedience in the future. In consequence, the dispatch goes on to say, he has been released from custody pending his trial for offering resistance to the seizure of church property by the soviets. At the same time correspondents in Riga heard that Tikhon had been poisoned to death in prison. A third dispatch purported to give Tikhon's denial that he had recanted and his assertion that he is still the real patriarch of the Russian Church. Any one or none of the reports may be true, but we are inclined to discredit the Riga dispatch. A good deal of irresponsible misinformation has come out of Riga in late years.

The Arctic explorer Mr. Donald B. MacMillan, whose work and whose personality are so well known to Americans, has gone north again for a year's absence. The schooner Bowdoin carries a group of men of science who will make observations in natural history, geography and terrestrial magnetism; and it also carries a memorial tablet that Captain MacMillan will erect at Starvation Point, where the last camp of the Greely party was pitched. The Bowdoin has a first rate wireless outfit, and the explorer hopes to keep in constant touch with the United States. Speaking of Arctic exploration, Amundsen, who intended to fly across the entire polar region in an aeroplane, found it necessary to give up his plans. Some unforeseen difficulties were encountered; just what they were his brief messages from Alaska do not make clear.

The flag of the Irish Free State has appeared in New York harbor, not as yet at the stern of a steamer but at the foremast head where the flag of the country to which the ship is bound is customarily displayed. Adams Starts Sale of Christmas Goods at His Big Amarillo Store

Announcement is made in this edition of the News of an unusual sale being held at the Adams Dry Goods Co., Polk and 5th St., Amarillo. A Christmas sale is in progress at this big store.

Why not a Christmas Sale at this time of the year? August is the fashionable time of year to buy furs; spring millinery is sold in the winter and winter millinery in the summer. When genuine bargains are offered in August for Christmas, with a distinct saving to the purchaser, it should be profitable to buy now rather than later.

This idea of a Christmas Sale in August is original with Mr. Adams, and will meet with a hearty response from the people of the Panhandle.

American sailors of the United States Edsall, a destroyer of Vice-Admiral Long's European squadron, took over children from Smyrna, destined for a refugee camp, and established them in an institution prepared for them in Constantinople. The children were rescued from Smyrna at the time of the disastrous fire and were loaded on a ship bound for Mitylene, the Greek concentration camp, a place of untold horrors. The crew prevailed upon the commander to take them aboard the Edsall. The sailors willingly gave up their quarters. Instructions were wireless ahead to Constantinople, and provision made for their support by the crew of the Edsall. Each member of the crew contributes his bit on pay day toward the orphanage.

Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott, daughter of Julia Ward Howe, author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," is once more an American citizen. She was recently naturalized in the superior court, having applied under the act of Congress permitting American-born women who had married foreign subjects to regain citizenship. She married a British subject in Rome, twenty-five years ago.

The famous old Arrow Rock Tavern, on the Missouri River, in Missouri, has been purchased by the state and turned over to the Daughters of the American Revolution. The old tavern was a place of rest and refreshment for the southwestern trader and plainsman. For some time it has been a depository for articles of historic interest. One of these articles is Daniel Boone's fiddle.

The Galapagos Islands lie under the equator off the coast of Ecuador. The air is frequently chilly, due to the cold antarctic currents which fan the coast of Peru and strike seaward toward the island group. Wild goats, cattle, cats and dogs, as well as hidden treasure, bear evidence of pirates. The soil is rich red loam, nearly stoneless. There are but 3,500 head of cattle at present on Cristobal Island and it can easily support 50,000. It is said that a three-year-old steer brings $100 (gold) live weight, at Guayaquil on the mainland—when a steamer can be induced to call and take the stock off.

USELESS BRAINS

A well-known Mississippi Printer was fond of playing pranks. One day while riding with an illiterate negro, he began gravely to chatter Italian to his brunette driver.

The negro looked wildly at him, but said nothing. Finally the white man, in pretended pique, said:

"What's the matter?—Why don't you answer?"

"I dono what yo'all talkin' 'bout?"

"Wat's wrong? Haven't you any brains?"

"Yessah, I got some brains, all right, but dey ain' no use to me now."

The whaling industry is very promising this season. Whales are reported early and plentiful on the grounds, the whale oil market is on the climb, and the demand for canned whale meat has become so pronounced that the prospective pack of the British Columbia whalers is already disposed of. The canned whale meat is mostly distributed from England.

There has been in this country nearly 3,000 child suicides within the last four years. The rate increased from 477 in 1919 to more than 900 in 1922. Prominent authorities attribute the increase to drinking among the younger set, particularly those of high school age.

In building over the steamship Leviathan—originally the Vaterland—American machinists and shipwrights have turned out the fastest merchant ship in the world. The great ship registered 85,000 horsepower and traveled at the rate of 28.04 knots for a distance of seventy-five miles. That means more than thirty-two geographical miles an hour, which is half a knot faster than the Cunader Mauretania ever went and nearly as much faster than the Olympic, the fastest White Star boat, has ever succeeded in traveling.

WHERE THEY GO

The head of the firm caught the office boy telling falsehoods.

"I'm surprised at you!" he said. "Do you know what they do with boys who tell lies?"

Yes, sir," was the reply. "When they get old enough the firm sends them out as traveling salesmen."—Boston Transcript.

Lord Minto, viceroy of India, said recently that nothing could surpass in delicacy the reply made to him by one of his servants.

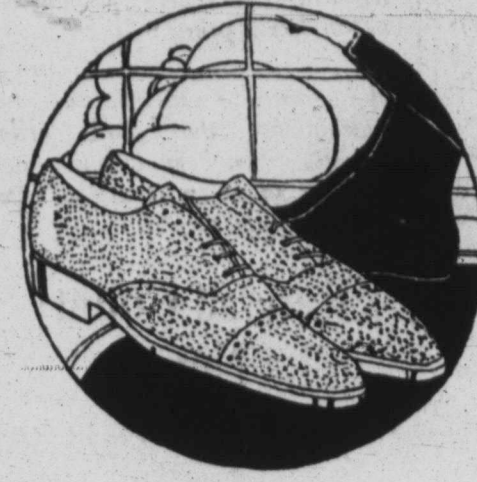

"Well, what kind of sport has our distinguished guest had?" he asked the man who had attended an American visitor.

"Oh," replied the scrupulously polite Hindu, "the young sahib shot divinely, but Providence was very merciful to the birds."

The British and the French ships that brought liquors into New York under seal or in barrels came into the inevitable collision with the prohibition enforcement officers. The seals were broken, and a considerable amount taken ashore, but the officers left a liberal quantity as "medical supplies." The episode has aroused some indignation abroad, but not so much as many persons expected, since foreigners seem to take it for granted that by diplomatic means some modus vivendi will be reached that will permit foreign steamships to carry a moderate supply of liquor. The comment of the British public men and newspapers on the breaking of the British customs seals was restrained. The premier assured Parliament that the United States has done nothing it had not a perfect right to do, and for once Mr. Lloyd George agreed with him.

An international commission appointed under the arms-limitation treaty adopted at the Washington conference has made public a new set of rules for aerial warfare. According to the code only military objectives may be bombarded from the air; the aviators must not drop bombs on towns or cities to terrify or to kill the civilian inhabitants. That is humane and sensible. We must wait for the "next war" to see how far the armed forces of the various nations will abide by the regulations. Even if they do not boldly violate them, they can always discover some "military objective" in a great city, and if the bomber aims at that he is quite likely to hit something else. It is a good thing to have rules, but it is a better thing to be sure that they will be obeyed.

THE LEADER

"In Every Line There is a LEADER"

A strong political reaction seems to have struck the Canadian province of Ontario. Two or three years ago the United Farmers' party proved to be so strong that the leader of it, Mr. Drury, became premier of Ontario. He has governed with a coalition cabinet that contains some Labor members. The elections last month overturned his ministry. There are 77 Conservatives in the new Parliament, against 15 Liberals, 14 United Farmers and 4 Labor members. Mr. G. H. Ferguson is the new premier.

How hot do you suppose flowing lava is? During the recent eruption of Mount Etna the men of science, took steps to find out. They plunged electric thermometers into red-hot lava not far from the cracks in the mountain whence it issued and got a reading of 1724 degrees Fahrenheit. It is probably the hotter than that in the interior of the mountain.

A very delightful party was enjoyed by a few friends of Miss Ann Bailey Friday night, when Misses Margaret Guenther and Pauline Brigham entertained at the Guenther home in her honor, with a very beautiful bridge party and shower. The guests were busily engaged in bridge when a "Nigger Manumy" entered the room and asked Miss Bailey to come out and take the clothes off the line; the entire company followed the honor guest to a miniature clothes line where were hung all kinds of articles dear to the heart of a bride. The articles were many and beautiful, and much fun was had while Miss Bailey carefully unwrapped the packages. At a late hour the guests left after wishing Miss Bailey a long and happy married life. The guest line included Misses Adeline White, Mary L. Clark, Muriel Phillips, Marion Witt, Grace Cavness, Berta Mae Looney, Helen Burton, Mattie Lee Boyd, Iola Hooker, Emma Jean McCleskey, Harriet Kritzer, Margaret Boulware, Ethel Gray, Mrs. T. V. How to build up your Weight

To be under weight often proves low fighting-power in the body. It often means you are minus nerve-power, minus red-cells in your blood, minus health, minus vitality. It is serious to be minus, but the moment you increase the number of your red-blood-cells, you begin to become plus.

That's why S.S.S., since 1826, has meant to thousands of underweight men and women, a plus in their strength. Your body fills to the point of power, your flesh becomes firmer, the age lines that come from thinness disappear. You look younger, firmer, happier, and you feel it, too, all over your body. More red-blood-cells! S.S.S. will build them.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Bought to Better Serve YOU!

THE FINEST PRESS IN WEST TEXAS

The Randall County News has taken a step forward in equipment by installing the finest press in the entire West Texas territory. The press is bought with a view of giving the buyers of printing in Canyon better service and better printing.

The News is the best equipped plant in West Texas. Everything in our equipment is up-to-date and the very finest in its individual line. The equipment of this printing plant would be a credit to a town ten times the size of Canyon.

Buyers of printing sometimes get the idea that some mail order outfit can do a better job than the local plant. This is just as much a falacy as to think the farmer can get better goods by buying from a mail order house.

Every dollar of printing money invested in Canyon will make this plant a bigger and better plant to serve the needs of this community. Every dollar YOU send away for printing takes just so much away from the possibilities of a better plant to serve YOUR needs.

Invest your printing money in CANYON.

HOW MUCH CAN YOU AFFORD TO KNOW?

There is, in short, no present available canon of criticism and selection that will determine beyond all doubt what a man can afford to know and what he must be contented to leave unknown," says Willard L. Sperry in a delightful essay on "Portable Wisdom" in a recent number of Century Magazine. A man may not know all there is to know these days—his head won't hold it, even if his legs could carry him within reach of it all, or his years hold out until there shall have been time to present it all. Mankind in the aggregate knows too much for an individual to know it all. "As a matter of historical fact," Mr. Sperry reminds us, "it is said that a certain Roman cardinal who lived in the thirteenth century was the last man who knew all that was known in his day."

Forced to choose what he will learn and by that choice to set aside as not to be learned—other branches of knowledge, the young collegian is comparable to the arctic explorer who is storing up supplies to last him until the end of the expedition. Mr. Sperry considers that a hard choice for youth to make. But under older collegiate standards it must be made. The student must lay in his pemican against the after days of need, taking care to stock himself heavily enough to answer the requirements of a life-time. But, just as Stefansson found that he could forget his pemican and with rifle and ammunition live off of even the frozen North, so, says Mr. Sperry,

"There are, heaven be praised, certain rebel Stefanssons appearing in our educational world. They are convinced that the conception of a college as a place where each oncoming generation is to be equipped with a manageable minimum of selected information is not tenable. They aim not to supply knowledge, but to stimulate thought.

"Knowledge, in the sense of remembered information, is a very dubious equivalent for a real education. No memory is without its final limits, and all memories are fallible. There was for many years on one of the desks in the Examination Hall at Oxford an amusing witness of this truth. It took the form of a little tombstone delicately chiseled in the hard oak with what must have been a very keen penknife. And on this sombre symbol an epitaph, "human, all too human." "Sacred to My Memory—Which Departed From Me—This Fourth Day of June, 1897." Before many such headstones have all of us shed penitential tears for our lost learning!"

All of this is to lead up to the author's interpretation of modern education, sometimes referred to as "liberal" education. That kind of education, he says, seeks "not portable wisdom, but mobile brains." After all, should not the skull be a tool chest.

EDITOR HARDING'S CODE OF ETHICS

The following Code of Ethics was written by President Harding, as editor of the Marion Star, and was strictly enforced by him on the members of his staff:

"Remember, there are two sides to every question. Get them both.

"Be truthful. Get the facts. Mistakes are inevitable, but strive for accuracy. I would rather have one story exactly right than a hundred half wrong.

"Be decent, be fair, be generous.

"There's good in everybody. Bring out the good and never needlessly hurt the feelings of anybody.

"In reporting a political gathering, give the facts. Tell the story as it is, not as you would like to have it. Treat all parties alike. If there is any politics to be played we will play it in our editorial columns.

"Treat all religious matters reverently.

"If it can possibly be avoided, never bring ignominy to an innocent man, woman or child in telling of the misdeeds or misfortunes of a relative. Don't wait to be asked, but do it without the asking, and above all be clean and never let a dirty word or suggestive story get into type.

"I want this paper so conducted that it can go into any home without destroying the innocence of any child."

KNOW YOUR COUNTRY

When addressing the Senate of the State of New Jersey, in 1861, Lincoln said: "May I be pardoned if, on this occasion, I mention that away back in my childhood, I got hold of a small book, 'Weems' Life of Washington.' I remember all the accounts there given of the battle, fields and struggles for the liberties of the country, and none fixed themselves upon my imagination so deeply as the struggle here at Trenton, New Jersey. The crossing of the river, the contests with Hessians, the great hardships endured at that time, all fixed themselves in my mind more than any single Revolutionary event. I recollect thinking then, boy even though I was, that there must have been something more than common that these men struggled for. I am exceedingly anxious that that thing shall be perpetuated in accordance with the original idea for which that struggle was made."

Freedom in life, liberty and pursuit of happiness was the "something" which Lincoln referred to in these lines.

What do the political parties and advocates of government ownership and increased regulation of private and industrial activity promise the people that would equal, or in any way compare with the ideals which Washington and Lincoln struggled to maintain? Think it over.—Exchange.

CHICKENS COME HIGH

Wheeler—Dallas parties last week invaded Wheeler County on a prairie chicken hunting expedition and as a result paid $109.65 in fines and costs for the privilege of killing three birds out of season.

B. D. Garmon, special deputy state game warden made the arrest near Wheeler, and states that the minimum fine was assessed, though each chicken killed constituted a separate offence. The penalty for shooting chickens out of season is from $25.00 to $200.00 and costs.

By a special act of the Legislature, provision has been made to open the prairie chicken shooting season each year for ten days beginning September 1st, in Wheeler, Hemphill, Lipscomb, and Gray counties, due to an abundance of the birds in these counties, there being no provision for open season in other counties of the state.

THAT'S WHAT THEY ALL SAY

I can't keep the visitors from coming up," said the office boy dejectedly, to the president. "When I say you're out, they simply say they must see you."

"Well," said the president, "just tell them that's what they all say."

That afternoon there called at the office a young lady. The boy assured her it was impossible to see the president.

"But I'm his wife," said the lady.

"Oh, that's what they all say," said the boy.

Leave it to a Leverless
IF YOU have a tractor, you don't want to be bothered with a horse harrow unless you have a real good one that is still serviceable.

The International Leverless Disk Harrow is designed especially for tractor operation. It is operated entirely from the seat of the tractor—and without levers. To secure the proper angle, the operator merely backs his tractor, which automatically determines the angle of both the front and rear harrows. The gangs remain at whatever angle they are set. To straighten them it is only necessary for the operator to pull a cord which is tied to the tractor seat. This simple operation automatically straightens the gangs so that the harrow will roll like a wagon. Consequently, when you come to a piece of ground that you don't care to cultivate, it's the simplest thing in the world to straighten the gangs and drive right over—you don't have to go around.

International Leverless Disk Harrows are very rugged in construction, being built for tractor work, so if you want a durable disk harrow and want your harrowing done efficiently, leave it to a Leverless. We sell them.

Blowing red hot rivets through a hose of metal is replacing the old "rivet tapper" and the boy with the "catching can" as a means of transportation. The new apparatus is known as the "Penflex Rivet Gun" and consists of a galvanized metal tank with a connection welded to the side for the air supply line. The discharge valve is opened by a movement of a steel rod attached to the treadle. A metal receiver with a buffer block is at the discharge end of the conveyor tube. This prevents the plastic rivet from being deformed when suddenly arrested upon reaching the end of its run.

Along Little Sulphur Creek, near Healdsburg, California, north of San Francisco, the ground is pock-marked for 10 miles with geyser holes. A company has dug two wells each 220 feet deep. Deeper than this their drills refused to go. An eight-inch casing was sunk in each hole to bring up the steam generated, and this was forced through 3-4 inch pipe into a steam turbine. The pressure of the steam on the 3-4 inch pipe aggregates 70 pounds to the square inch. With a five-inch vent, the pressure aggregates 30 pounds. The turbine through which the steam from the two wells is forced generates 1,500 kilowatts. An extensive power development project is being planned.
