

COTTON VARIETY TEST REPORT IS NOW COMPLETE

INTERESTING STUDY MADE BY COUNTY AGENT.

Burnett Cotton Shows Great Lead Over All Other Varieties on the Haines Farm Test.

The cotton variety test conducted on the F. E. Haines farm north of Canyon, under the supervision of County Agent, J. W. Jennings, has been completed. This test showed some very interesting information, and the results should be of great value to the farmers of this section of the country. However, it is not advisable to take the results of one year's test as being absolutely reliable, but when considered in connection with other similar tests running through a period of years, if the results are comparable, then the one year test will indicate what may reasonably be expected of a test running over a longer period of time.

This test included the following varieties of cotton: 804 Mebane, Acala, Clett (a Mebane strain), Pennant Kasch from Robstown, Texas, Belton, Bennett, and Burnett. The 804 Mebane and the Burnett were Plains grown seed, while the other varieties were from South and Central Texas. This demonstration was first planted May 22, but a stand was not gotten in any of the varieties. The second planting was made June 11, all varieties being planted at the rate of one-half bushel of seed per acre. Each variety consisted of one acre each, planted in succession and treated in like manner throughout the growing season. The Burnett cotton held the lead over all other varieties continuously from the time the seed germinated, growing off more rapidly, fruiting earlier and more rapidly, and maturing much earlier than the other varieties. The results obtained in this demonstration from the big boll varieties vary greatly from results obtained by some of our farmers from smaller seed planted two or three weeks earlier, but we get the lesson that if we are to plant the late maturing varieties, they must be planted early, and if we are to make cotton from late plantings, we must plant a quick fruiting and early maturing cotton. The Burnett cotton made a good crop in spite of every adverse conditions, while the other varieties practically failed under the same conditions.

The following table shows in order the acre yield of the different varieties in terms of lint cotton:

Burnett	179 lbs.
Acala	62 lbs.
804 Mebane	52 lbs.
Pennant Kasch	27 lbs.
Clett (Mebane)	17 lbs.
Belton	15 lbs.
Bennett	14 lbs.

Maize Threshing Out from 30 to 45 Bushels in North Part County

W. E. Bennett states that maize is making from 20 to 45 bushels in his part of the county. One of his neighbors had 195 acres of maize which made 45 bushels to the acre and was sold for 75 cents per bushel.

The weather has been ideal all fall for saving the grain.

Mr. Bennett states that he is highly pleased with farm products in general this year in his section of the county, and believes that this is true of most parts of the county.

HORSES FOR CHICKEN FEED IS LATEST IN THIS SECTION

Horse meat for chickens is the latest in this section!

Whether or not the chickens have become so particular in their diet that a new delicacy is demanded for the of the barnyard is not stated.

The fact that horses are so cheap probably is a very deciding factor in the case.

It takes a pretty good horse to be worth much money these days, and a poor horse is not worth much on the market. Fact is, that horses have sold as low as $6 at sales during the past few weeks, and at such a low price they are good investments for fowls of the barnyard is not stated.

Harry Hill of Panhandle was here Sunday visiting in the O. F. Thomas home.

Miss Phyllis Keiser Wed to Halmond K. Stanfield Yesterday

In a most beautiful home wedding yesterday afternoon at four o'clock, Miss Phyllis Irene Keiser of this city became the bride of Halmond Kinsland Stanfield, of Amarillo. Rev. M. M. Beavers, pastor of the Methodist Church, officiated, using the beautiful ring ceremony.

Wallace R. Clark sang "At Dawn." To the strains of Mendelssohn's Wedding March played by Miss Pauline Brigham, the bridal party entered the music room, made beautiful with profuse decorations of Southern Smilax orchid, chrysanthums and roses. The bride, preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Corinne Hamill, leaned on her father's arm. The groom was accompanied by Howard Anderson of Amarillo, his law partner. Before a beautifully decorated altar, the impressive wedding ceremony was read.

The bride wore a beautiful white satin gown beaded with pearls, and wore the groom's gift, an exquisite set of pearls. The bridal veil was held by a pearl crown and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses, pink Ophelia roses, sweet peas and lily of the valley.

The maid of honor wore orchid brocaded satin with ostrich trimming, and carried a bouquet of pink roses and orchid sweet peas.

The bride's mother wore powder blue cut velvet with beaded chiffon.

The groom's mother wore beige gorgette with beads and brocade.

Mrs. Gilbert, aunt of the bride, wore silver cloth and blue crepe.

Mrs. Hamill, aunt of the bride, wore salmon pink crepe.

Miss Biggs, cousin of the groom, wore black crepe satin with old rose.

Miss Edith Harrison caught the bride's bouquet.

Mrs. Keiser was assisted in the dining room by Mrs. Wallace R. Clark, Mrs. C. N. Harrison and Mrs. A. W. Hamill, and in the reception room by Mrs. C. W. Warwick, Mrs. S. L. Ingham, Misses Edith Harrison, Erna Guenther, Annadel Guenther and Elizabeth Shaw.

Guests from a distance were the groom's mother, Mrs. William M. McKinney of Knoxville, Tenn., Miss Augusta Biggs of Knoxville, Tenn., and Mrs. E. C. Gilbert of Keota, Iowa, a sister of C. O. Keiser.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Oscar Keiser of this city. She has grown to young womanhood in Canyon, having moved here several years ago with her parents from Keota, Iowa. After attending the public schools of Canyon, she graduated at Wolcott in Denver, and had completed her junior year in the University of Iowa. She is one of the most charming young women of Canyon and has a large circle of friends here. She is a member of the D. A. R.

The groom is a graduate of the University of Tennessee and of Columbia University. He came to Amarillo two years ago to practice law and was a member of the Barrett & Works firm. He was elected county attorney of Potter county in the July primary and will assume his new office on the first of January.

The bridal couple left last night for a trip to New York, where they will spend two weeks, returning to Knoxville, Tenn. to spend Christmas with the groom's mother. They will return to Amarillo about the first of January and will occupy their new home in San Jacinto, which is now under construction.

Heart congratulations, and best wishes of a host of friends in Canyon go with the happy young couple.

Wooten Adds Another Record to Canyon's Fast Growing List

While in Dallas last week W. J. Wooten found that he had added another first place record to Canyon big list. Mr. Wooten is showing the big picture productions first among the towns of the size of Canyon.

Not only is Mr. Wooten leading in regard to the size of the town, but he tied up another record by showing several First National pictures first in the entire state, and on one picture was first in the entire south.

Quite naturally Mr. Wooten was highly well pleased that he has been able to give his patrons such good service in getting the big pictures first.

About One-Fourth of the People in Canyon Are in High School

Another phase of Canyon educational system was brought out Monday at a meeting of the school trustees when President J. A. Hill of the College pointed out the fact that practically one-fourth of the population of Canyon was attending high school.

In the public high school there are enrolled 285 and in the high school of the College there are 250, making 535 pupils attending the two high schools in this city. There will be about 130 graduate from the two high schools this year.

The high school attendance of the public schools leads all towns of the size of Canyon in the state, but adding the high school pupils of the college and the added attendance is greater than most towns of 6,000 of 7,000 population.

While the Board of Control has recommended a science building for the College, the need of an education building is so much greater that it is hoped the legislature will change and pass this item in the College appropriation.

When the new high school building was finished two years ago, the trustees thought that the housing problem of the public schools was provided for ten years or more. From the way the school increased in attendance during the past two years, it is quite certain that more room will have to be provided within five years.

Weights of the Public Weigher Are Protection to the Producer

Since Randall county has gotten into the cotton raising business, the office of public weigher has been made and many farmers do not understand the function of the office. Cotton may be sold without having the public weigher weigh the bale, but the tag of the weigher has a certain guarantee that is demanded by farmers in the cotton growing section.

The News is informed that it is almost impossible to sell cotton or other produce down in the state unless it has been tagged by the public weigher.

An incident happened in Canyon last week, when one made nearly $400 on a bale of cotton by having the public weigher weigh his bale.

Taxpayers Consider Bond Issue to Build More Roads in Precincts of the County

City and County Officials Meet With the Highway Authorities

A meeting was held Tuesday between the members of the Commissioners Court, the City Commission, representatives of the Highway Commission and the Santa Fe Railway at which time the proposed change in the highway was discussed.

No agreement was reached as to the route of the highway since the new depot has been placed across the highway on Tenth Street.

COUNTY AGENT HAS SUPPLY POISON GRAIN

Through the co-operation of the Commissioners Court of Randall County and the United States Biological Survey with headquarters at Amarillo a supply of poison grain has been secured for distribution at cost for the citizens of Randall county for the purpose of poisoning prairie dogs, jack rabbits, English sparrows, or other predatory animals.

This grain can be secured from County Agent Jennings at his office in the Court House at actual cost, 10c per pound. If he is not in the office, see Mr. Trowbridge, the janitor, who will supply your needs.

With the increase in the jack rabbit population the past season and with even a normal increase next spring, much damage from this pest to growing crops can be expected unless a united effort is made this winter to destroy the old rabbits and prevent the raising of a large brood of young ones. Not much good can be accomplished by individual poisoning. Therefore, entire communities should make an organized effort and scatter the poison systematically. The County Agent and the Representative of the U. S. Biological Survey are willing and anxious to assist in this work of organizing the several communities.

The rabbits will do considerable damage to the young wheat this winter and next spring. Poison should be put on the rabbit trails and around the edges of every wheat field in the county. The poison is cheap and a small quantity will poison a large area.

Lets adopt the slogan, "Poison the Jack Rabbits instead of feeding them."

STORK SPECIAL

Born to Mr. and Mrs. S. O. O'Donald, a girl, Nov. 13th.

"Why do not the commissioners open more roads?"

"Why do not the commissioners keep the roads in better condition?"

The above questions have probably been asked by half of the people of Randall county at various times during the past year, and they continue to wonder.

At practically every meeting of the Commissioners Court a road petition is presented asking for new roads. People who do not live along the highways wonder why the county can keep up such fine highways and neglect the other roads of the county.

The question of roads is a question of money. If there is plenty of money, then there can be good roads and many good roads. If there is not a great amount of money, then some of the roads must be neglected, and new roads cannot be properly graded by the commissioners.

The state has charge of the two highways passing through Randall county and the upkeep of these highways is not costing the county a cent, excepting the automobile tax. The county's road outfit is doing the work, but the state highway commission pays the county each month for all work done on these highways. The commissioners are highly pleased with the present arrangement with the state.

The road and bridge fund is not sufficient to allow any more extensive road work. Each of the four commissioners needs a road outfit to put the roads of his precinct in good condition and to keep the roads in good condition. The money collected in the county for road purposes is apportioned to each precinct in proportion to the taxable valuation of the precinct, and is divided as follows:

Road and bridge fund for Precinct No. 1—$7,095.50; No. 2—$3,311.49; No. 3—$2,808.39; No. 4—$3,596.67.

Thirty percent of all road and bridge money collected goes to pay interest and to pay on debt outstanding, so it will be seen that each commission has but a small amount of money to keep his road with.

A movement has been started in Precinct No. 4 to vote a bond issue in order to build more roads. The matter was brought to Commissioner W. E. Bennett, who is going to be guided in the matter by the will of his people. He would like to see better roads and more roads, but money available will not get more roads, or keep the present roads in better condition. The voters are therefore considering this bond issue for the precinct.

In Precinct No. 4 there are fifty miles of graded roads. Some of these roads have not been put up in shape with the grader in three years. All are dragged, but that is not sufficient to keep them in the best condition.

With only one road grading outfit in the county, none of the four commissioners are able to get over a very large percent of their roads during the year. If the proposed bond issue for Precinct No. 4 is put over, then a road building outfit would be bought and kept in this one precinct, which would allow the commissioner to keep the roads in good condition.

If Precinct No. 4 votes a bond issue for road purposes, it is likely that the other precincts may consider a bond issue as each has road problems which are beyond the money available. Citizens over the county are generally interested in better roads for the county and are demanding more and more money to be spent each year on the roads.

Taxpayers who have expressed their views as the bond issue in No. 4 are certain that it will carry when the voters know the facts of the case.

COACH LINES UP GOOD BASKETBALL SCHEDULE AT DALLAS

Coach S. D. Burton returned home Sunday from the meeting of the T. I. A. A. coaches at Dallas last Friday, and has lined up a strong basketball schedule for the coming season.

Several games are scheduled early in the season with the understanding that they will be played in the new gymnasium now under construction. The coach is hoping that bad weather will not materially interfere with the construction of the gym, or some changes in schedule would have to be made.

Buffaloes Awarded TIAA Championship In 1924 Basketball

A telegram received Thursday from Prof. Shirley, who is representing W. T. S. T. C. at the annual meeting of the Texas Intercollegiate Athletic Association, first announced locally the award of the 1924 basketball championship to the great Buffalo quintet of last year. Prof. Shirley and Head Coach S. D. Burton scheduled 14 T. I. A. A. games for next quarter, according to a message received by Captain J. Davis Hill.

Press reports indicate that the meeting has brought about several important developments.

The association reduced its ranks by the acceptance of the resignation of Rice Institute, a college that has long maintained a dual standing in both the association and the T. I. A. A. No new members were admitted at this time, but the only applicant for membership, St. Edward's College of Austin, perhaps the oldest Catholic College in the State, was placed on the customary year's probation and on living up to the regulations throughout 1925 will be formally accepted in 1926.

Vote on the restoration of championship awards was not unanimous and was only passed by a majority vote after a lively discussion. Titles awarded, mostly after argument by competing teams, as there are too many member colleges to often establish an unchallenged title were: Football, Howard-Payne; basketball, West Texas State Teachers College; baseball, Trinity.

T. I. A. A. fixtures next spring were awarded as follows: Track, to Southwestern University on the second Friday in May; tennis, Trinity University first Friday in May.

Eligibility rules were altered to make it possible for a student to enter school ten days after the opening of the winter term and to become eligible to compete in the spring term, and also to count summer term work on residence eligibility. This will affect the transfer rule, as a student entering in January and going through the summer term will be eligible for football on the three semester residence.

Officers of the association were re-elected as follows: President, J. E. Chandler, Simmons College; vice president, D. A. Shirley, West Texas State Teachers College; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Godby, Southwestern.

Representatives of the North Texas Teachers, Southwestern, and Howard-Payne will serve on the board of appeals.

Member colleges were represented as follows: Abilene Christian, M. T. Cashion; Daniel Baker, T. H. Hart; East Texas Teachers College, L. I. Smith; Howard-Payne, J. H. Shelton; North Texas Teachers, G. M. Crutsinger; Sam Houston Teachers, J. L. Clark; Simmons, J. E. Chandler; Southwest Texas Teachers, H. E. Speck; Southwestern, J. C. Godby; Trinity, T. B. Simms; West Texas Teachers, D. A. Shirley, Abilene Christian, J. F. Cox.

Thirty Basketball Aspirants at Work With Captain Hill

Captain J. Davis Hill is directing the practice of thirty basketball men in preparation for the coming games. Of the number trying for places on the College quintet, four are letter men. These are Herm, Nations, Bivens, and Capt. Hill. It is likely that the first squad will be built around these men. However, strong men will be among the reserves and probably no position is secured at this time. Among the new men out are Hale, a brother of Nay Hale; Gamel of Perryton; and Harry Sone of Plainview. Two very good men who starred on the 1924 Yearling team are Fuller and Pearson, both of whom are showing up exceptionally well.

Strong competition is going to be furnished by such men as B. Anderson, Vaughn, M. Anderson, V. Hill, Steele of Texas Military College, Teter, Phillips, and W. Sone. In regard to position, the men already named can be placed as follows:

Forwards—Bivens, Hale, Crump, Gamel, Herm, W. Sone, Phillips, and Teter.

Centers—Nations, Fuller, H. Sone, Steele, and V. Hill.

Guards—Pearson, D. Hill, B. Anderson, Vaughn, and M. Anderson.

Six of the players on the above list play well in more than one position. Herm plays well at forward or guard, Teter is a guard and center, Nations performs at center or guard, Fuller is both guard and center. H. Sone plays center or forward, and Hill can be shifted from guard to center. Coach Burton will assume charge of training this week. He has been in Dallas for several days attending the T. I. A. A. meeting where he arranged a basketball schedule.

Merle Goodwin Was Factor Which Beat Rutgers, is Report

Bill Brandt, sport writer on the Philadelphia Public Ledger in his story of the Rutgers-Bucknell game a week ago, declares that Merle Goodwin, former Clarendon and West Texas State Teachers College star, outpunted Hazel, Rutgers star and all-American half-back throughout the game.

The game was played on a muddy field and the playing of the Bucknell eleven and their victory over the Rutgers eleven came as complete upset of the dope.

"The Bucknell eleven massed a stone-wall to block off their goal line from the Scarlet rallies and a punter in Merle Goodwin, who powered, and placed his fourth period booting as skillfully as if the ball were a dry pumpkin stranded in the great Mojave desert," says the writer.

"Hazel, Rutgers', member of the all-American did the punting for his eleven but Bucknell punted right back at him and the sensational footwork of the punter, Merle Goodwin, was the game's decisive deed. Goodwin fumbled no passes from center despite the fact that the ball was wet and muddy. He got off his kicks without a slip of hand or foot.

"In fact, he out punted the great Hazel by wide margins on almost every exchange. The battle was decided by the booting of the ball and the breaks when the slimy pigskin slid or bounced from some warrior's tight embrace."

The oldest umbrella in the world, which is in the same condition as when it was purchased in Dorset, England, is in the possession of a resident of Hobart, Tasmania. It was brought there in 1770 by William Clevert and has been a cherished possession of his descendants.

Alkali Water Causes Death of Wild Ducks on Lakes Near Happy

On investigating the cause of so many dead ducks found in the lakes near Happy, has been investigated by G. M. Diddick, federal game warden, and B. D. Garmon, state deputy game warden, who report to their department that they find the cause to be from the alkali in the lakes. It was thought at first the ducks had been poisoned by some malicious person, but after this examination the theory has no foundation.

THE EDUCATIONAL SURVEY

(By President J. A. Hill)

When the thirty-eighth Legislature appropriated $50,000 for an educational survey in Texas, it was hoped that such information about Texas schools would be brought to light as would enable the state to construct an educational system commensurate with the needs of the people and adequately contributive to the public welfare. The survey has now been made, the data has been compiled, classified, and organized, and the whole report is now in the hands of the printer. Excerpts are being printed in the daily press and the public is beginning to get some information as to the findings and recommendations. Apparently the Commission has worked with intelligence, devotion, and scientific methods. Many good recommendations have already come to light and the outlook is promising as to final results.

Of course, it was to be expected that there would be weak spots in the survey and that few of us would accept all of the conclusions and recommendations. An adequate state system of education must grow out of the experiences and aspirations of the people themselves, guided by full information as to facts and inspired by a consuming interest in the public welfare. The citizens of Texas, will, therefore, do well to look more at the data which the survey has gathered than at specific recommendations which it has made. In so far as the report of the commission has come to light it appears to the writer that its chief weakness lies in what may be called its speculative aspects—that is, in conclusions based upon a priori conceptions of educational philosophy.

A case in point is the treatment of the Teachers Colleges by the Survey. It is evident from such reports as have been published that the Director of the Survey and his chief lieutenants ascribe to these institutions a place of relatively little importance in the scheme of education. Now I am sure these excellent gentlemen would not accept this statement, but let us look at the facts.

The survey recommends that certain forms of teacher-preparation be done at colleges where by both law and tradition the whole objective and function is in a direction inconsistent with Teachers College ideals, and inconsisent with the content, method, and atmosphere of genuine preparation for teaching. When the Survey recommends that the preparation of teachers of Vocational Agriculture be centered at A. & M. College because the Teachers College at Huntsville is so lacking in laboratories and general facilities, it overlooks the fact that A. & M., by its very function, is equally deficient in professional outlook and in the finer spiritual values that saturate the atmosphere of a Teachers College. A. & M.'s outlook and atmosphere will always and naturally and properly be chiefly scientific and military, drawing color and quality from the material values of life. A. & M. is concerned primarily with increasing and improving the means and instruments of producing, conserving, and perhaps distributing the physical necessities of life. She also seeks ways to increase wealth and add to the physical comforts of life. She is interested primarily and always in the development of our natural resources and in adding to men's knowledge of the physical world. This is a great work and no one is prouder than the writer of the admirable manner in which A. & M. is doing it.

On the other hand, the process of teacher preparation involves the means and instruments of developing the minds and hearts of children. It is concerned more directly with the intellectual and spiritual resources of our state as embodied in the lives of our young people. There is growing up a technique in this field that is just as distinct and as necessary in the preparation of teachers as are the laboratories for the training of scientists. Devoting itself without interruption to an understanding of the intellectual and spiritual processes and values of life, the teachers college necessarily develops and maintains a professional outlook and atmosphere that is the very life of the true teacher.

The writer submits that if the teachers college is weak on the side of laboratories and other physical equipment, schools of engineering, mining, stock-breeding, et cetera are just as weak in the much more important (for the teacher) element of professional outlook and technique. If the members of the Survey staff had believed that a Teachers College is the best place to prepare a teacher we should have had a much more wholesome and dignified program assigned us by that estimable body. But, like a great many other good and learned people who sometimes see things out of their proper proportion, the Staff evidently believes that teachers may be as well prepared at a veterinarian's college or a school for dentists as at a college which has no other aim or spirit than of preparing teachers. The writer is wondering if the Survey Staff, in case the state should find itself in need of some veterinarians and dentists, would recommend that the Teachers Colleges (improved with laboratories and other equipment) would be good places to do the work.

WHILE SPEAKING OF A WIDE CIRCULATION

"Speaking of a wide circulation, as you have been in recent issues of The Auxiliary," writes W. W. Kellams, publisher of the Rockport (Ind.) Democrat, "reminds me of an early-day experience.

"More years ago than I would care to admit, I walked into the office of a small paper here in southern Indiana and after the usual formalities of asking for a job and being turned down with an offer of breakfast money, the publisher, whose name I have forgotten, fell to discussing affairs of the rag, among them its circulation. 'Our circulation isn't very large,' he said, 'but it covers a wide territory. I send papers to California, back up to Maine, down to Florida, to eastern Canada, and to tell you the truth, it's all I can do to keep it from going to hell.'

"I think the latter destination has never been named by any of the claimants for circulation honors I have read of in your columns recently."—Publishers Auxiliary.

A BARGAIN

An ancient car chugged painfully up to the gate of the races. The gate keeper demanding the usual fee for automobiles called:

"A dollar for the car."
The owner looked up with a pathetic smile of relief and said, "Sold!"—Bison.

MOTHER AND 13 UNDER FIVE RIDE ON ONE FARE

A Burlington train between Savannah and LaCrosse carried 14 persons on one ticket one day last week.

Mrs. Frank Scott, Jewell, Iowa, and her 13 children, occupied five double seats. When the conductor came along for the pasteboards, she presented one, whereupon he inquired if they were all her children or was it a picnic? Mrs. Scott carried the family Bible in a suitcase to prove that they were all hers. She had been married less than 10 years and had 19 children—all boys. There are five sets of twins. The 13 she had with her were all under 5, and entitled to ride free.—Milwaukee Journal.

Citizens of Australia who do not vote at federal elections must pay a ten-dollar fine for their negligence.

We wonder if you know just how little money is actually required to get a FORD car? The first payments for FORDS are given below:

- Roadster St. Cl.$116.75
- Touring St. Cl.$125.00
- Truck Ch.$125.00
- Coupe$173.00
- Tudor Sedan$191.75
- Fordor Sedan$218.75

It is surprising how many prefer the TIME PAYMENT to CASH. They find the payments are met and the car is theirs without really missing the money. A telephone call will bring one of the Models for your inspection. You will be under no obligation whatever.

Burning Wheat Straw Is a Wasteful Practice

"It is true that millions of wheat straw stacks all over the Southwest prevent the use of a lot of land, but the common practice of burning straw and stubble causes a still greater loss," says H. M. Bainer, director of The Southwestern Wheat Improvement Association. Continuing he says: "Careful estimates show that the plant food and organic matter lost annually throughout the Southwest, as a result of burning straw, amount to fully $60,000,000. Wheat farmers cannot afford this practice as their soils are already deficient in organic matter and fertility. In some of the older farming sections this deficiency amounts to as much as one-half of what the soil originally contained; therefore, any additional loss on account of burning straw and stubble is expensive.

"Sufficient organic matter improves the physical condition of the soil and makes tillable operations easier; it also reduces baking, cracking, washing and blowing. Organic matter is food for the indispensable bacteria of the soil. Organic matter and nitrogen go hand in hand, and when one is deficient the same is true of the other. A soil is known for its fertility, in proportion to the organic matter and nitrogen it contains. Low wheat yields and poor quality of wheat are, therefore, largely due to the lack of these two elements.

"As much of the straw as possible should be left on the field in the form of stubble. This is fairly well done by the header and is completely solved by the harvester-thresher. Harvesting with a binder is at fault because it removes too much of the straw from the field. As far as possible, wheat straw should be stacked in corrals or feed lots, where the feeding and tramping by the stock will assist it in rotting. Straw that cannot be spread over the fields or cannot be handled in feed lots should be stacked where it can remain for rotting until it is ready to be hauled out as manure."

ing summer vacations; the boy needs to feel that he is to some degree self-supporting, and the girl needs to feel that she is not merely a family incumbent. Parents and educators are together finding ways of securing to the child some of the benefits that in other times were usually to be acquired only in the school of hard knocks. Nevertheless, however widespread higher education becomes, there will occasionally arise instances to confound all theories of education. Those parents who with the utmost will in the world are yet unable to provide their children with opportunities may take comfort in the thought that sometimes, as in the case of Abraham Lincoln, the greatest advantage a human being can have is to have no early ad-

Y. W. C. A. Is Having Membership Drive Lasting Seven Days

The period, December 3-10 has been designated as Y. W. C. A. Membership Week. During this time a special effort is being made to interest more of the College girls in the Young Women's Christian Association. A large group of girls attend the Y. W. C. A. regularly, but it is felt that there are many girls in the College who are missing an opportunity because they do not realize the benefits they would receive by being a member of the Association. Every member present last Wednesday afternoon promised to invite at least one girl to become a member of the organization, but if, for any reason, any girl is not given a personal invitation she is invited and urged to attend the recognition service to be held at Cousins Hall, Dec. 10th, at 7:15, and thus become a member of the Young Women's Christian Association.

SEVENTH & TAYLOR STREETS

AMARILLO, TEXAS

THE PASSING DAY

By Will H. Mayes, Department of Journalism, University of Texas.

Joe J. Taylor, of the Dallas News, made a talk at Austin last week before a meeting to devise means to reduce accidents, his subject being "Automobiles Ain't Got Hoss Sense." Joe is too polite to assert boldly that many drivers of automobiles have less sense than a horse, but that is what he had in mind in the selection of his subject. Even a blind horse will hardly attempt to beat a railroad train across a crossing if he knows the crossing is there, and "hoss sense" prompts him to give half the road when he meets or passes anything and to shy at a dangerous object. Not so with the fool automobilist, who flaunts all danger and takes all kinds of road risks.

Professor Blayne, the new president of the College of Industrial Arts, deprecates the tendency of our educational system to give its energies more and more to training that enables students to make a living, with a consequent lessening of attention to cultural development. The very name of the school over which he presides indicates that there is a demand for the industrial education of women and that the State is trying to meet that demand. In its inception that school was to enable young women to make better housewives and mothers and homes, the cultural arts and higher education being left largely to other institutions. It was established to train young women to take better care of themselves after leaving school and to make those about them happier. A certain amount of collegiate curricula was regarded as necessary to this training, but the central idea was vocational. There are many Texans who still believe that vocational training of a kind to fit students for the practical affairs of life should be correlated with collegiate education.

The hardest lesson to impress upon youth is the necessity for persistent effort in whatever he undertakes. This also seems the first lesson to be forgotten. Nine-tenths of the failures in life are due to the fact that people quit before they succeed. Nine out of ten persons could accomplish anything they are anxious enough to do. If you are not doing all that you should, the fault may be yours and doubtless is. Are you trying as hard as you might try? Are you as resourceful as you might be? Are you a quitter? Success may be long in coming, but eventually it will come to those who work hard enough for it. Possibly it may come in some other way than expected, but it is almost inevitably the reward of constant effort.

There are some merchants who advertise for a week or two, or just before some busy season and then quit until they get in an advertising mood again. This is in spite of the fact that every really successful merchant from Wanamaker down has stated again and again that his success has been built on persistent advertising. The duller business gets the more the wise merchant advertises and the harder effort he makes to get what business is to be had. He knows that the poor merchant stops advertising when business becomes light and that his chance to get the business afloat is increased if only he goes after it with greater diligence. There are dozens of merchants in this country who will tell you that they have built up a business from nothing to hundreds of thousands of dollars through advertising, and there are thousands of failures who will tell you that advertising does not pay. The trouble with the latter class is that they have never really tried it out thoroughly.

There is never a day that business men whose time is valuable do not have to waste some time in waiting for others to keep their engagements. The amount of time one is forced to lose in this way every year will run into days, and often those who are forced to waste it can not afford the loss. If you have an engagement of any kind with another, it is your duty to meet that engagement at the agreed time, even though you may be at great inconvenience in doing so. Your time may be your own, but you jabe no claim on the time of another unless you are paying for it at an agreed price. Perhaps the world should not be run by the clock, but many of us have to work by the clock and live by it whether we like it or not. Be on time in whatever you do, if possible, and especially if your tardiness may cause a loss of time to some one.

MAKING IT ATTRACTIVE

"Tommy," said a young woman visitor at his home, "why not come to our Sunday School? Several of your little friends have joined lately." Tommy hesitated a moment. Then suddenly: "Does a red-headed kid by the name of Jimmy Brown go to your school?" "Yes, indeed," replied the new teacher. "Well, then," replied Tommy, with an air of interest, "I'll be there next Sunday, you bet. I've been looking for that kid for three weeks, and never knew where to find him."—Cassel's Saturday Night Journal (London).

President Coolidge believes in economy and practices economy in his private life. He has urged the country to practice economy, and sets the good example for economy. The President wanted to go to Chicago last week. It is customary for presidents to travel in a special train, and the country rather expects our president to do this. The President figured the cost and decided that a special train was too expensive. A special car attached to the regular train was suggested, but when the President found that he would have to pay fares for twenty-five people to get a special car, he vetoed this, and rode to Chicago in the regular pullman and ate in the diner with the rest of the passengers. That is economy to the extreme.

It is reported that young newsboys in Dallas makes from $8.30 to $27.50 per day begging whenever they chose to go into this kind of thing. The average beggar finds it more profitable to beg than to work, and that is the reason that begging is to largely followed. So long as soft hearts and soft heads respond so readily to the appeals of the beggars, the country will be infested by this undesirable class. Authorities who fight promiscuous begging have found that fully ninety-nine percent of the beggars are fakes, who will not work. The Panhandle country is full of beggars now owing to the good conditions the beggars know to exist in this section of the state.

An interesting study of cotton production is published in this issue of the News which should be studied by every farmer. County Agent J. W. Jennings conducted a test on the F. E. Haines farm north of Canyon this year with different kinds of cotton, giving each variety as nearly the same care and attention as could be possible, yet the results of different kinds of cotton widely varied.

The cotton crop and the grain crop is bringing a lot of money into Randall county which was needed by the farmers. The experience with cotton the past two years is so convincing that all our citizens are enthusiastic over the future of cotton raising.

Canyon needs a city park, and all of our citizens should work to that end.

Please Mr. Santa Claus, send Canyon a new city park.

Rev. Andrews Dies Suddenly At Plainview

Rev. E. H. J. Andrews, 54, Rector of St. Marks Episcopal church of Plainview for the past two years, died at his home there Sunday night at ten o'clock from heart failure. Although he had not been feeling well for a day, it was not thought that his condition was serious and his sudden death came as a severe shock to Plainview. Rev. Andrews had held the usual Sunday morning services at his church and had spent the afternoon and evening at his home. A few minutes before he expired, he had declared that he was feeling much better. Although many friends had been with him in the evening, only his wife was present when he died.

Rev. Andrews served the Canyon Episcopal Church and has many close friends in the city. Mrs. Andrews recently presented a Texas Flag to the College in memory of her grandfather, Mirabeau B. Lamar, president of Texas, during its independence.

Funeral services were held at St. Marks church, Plainview, at 5:30 o'clock Monday afternoon with Rev. B. N. MacCallum of Amarillo, and Rev. Gearhart of Abilene, in charge. The big crowd present and the floral offerings indicated the high esteem in which Rev. Andrews was held. Many were present from other parts of the state. Surviving him are his wife, his father and a sister at Twickenham, England, a sister in New Zealand, and a brother in Canada.

Rev. Andrews was a native of England, born at Portsmouth and later living at Brighton. He came to America when seventeen years old and entered the ministry soon after that time. His first charge was at Palestine, Texas. He was a rector at Greenville and El Paso and in several places in New Mexico, Delaware and New Jersey. He came to Plainview two years ago from Elizabeth, New Jersey, where he had been rector for several years.

Rev. Andrews was known as a talented writer of poems, songs and short stories. He was a contributor to several leading journals and was editor of The North Texas Adventurer an official publication of the Episcopal Church. He was a leading patron of the Plainview library and had contributed many books to it.

He was an active member of the Plainview Rotary Club and other civic and social organizations. His work with school children and boys had endeared him to the community. He was a frequent visitor at Plainview schools and his coming was always welcomed by the children. He also took a great interest in Boy Scout work.

Rev. Andrews was married in 1902 to Miss Henrietta Calder, a granddaughter of Mirabeau B. Lamar of Texas Independence fame, who survives him.

WOULD EXEMPT GASOLINE TAX FOR TRACTOR USE

E. J. Friemel writes the News opposing the gasoline tax that is being proposed, and was endorsed in part by Senator J. W. Reid. Mr. Friemel says:

"I noticed the article you have copied from the Amarillo News from Dr. J. W. Reid. Mr. Reid is a mighty fine man, and I hope he makes a good Senator, and I do not like to criticize him. I believe that his idea about increasing the gasoline tax is alright, providing the tax applies only to gas used in cars on the roads. It is entirely wrong to tax the farmer who uses gasoline in his tractor, as he would have to bear the heavy end of the load, and it looks like he was loaded enough now.

"I call your attention to this fact, as it is well worth considering. I hope more farmers will take notice to this proposed bill, and the effect it might have, and trust that it will come out all right. The only solution I could see would be to collect the extra tax at the filling stations."

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING

The Parent-Teachers Association met Friday afternoon. A very interesting program was enjoyed by all present. Mrs. John Fry attended the Convention of Texas Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations recently held in Wichita Falls. Her report was full of interest and helpful suggestions. Mrs. Cash asked the co-operation of the Association and student body in the sale of Christmas seals this week. The proceeds to benefit the tuberculars of our state. The next regular meeting will be held the first Friday in January.

Down through the ages the constant use of wood has proven it to be the best material for home-building. A lumber-built home with wood floors, wood mantles, staircase, window-frames and doors brings kindly memories to most of us because it was in such a home that we were born and raised. Lumber gives that "homey" atmosphere that all other materials lack. Use lumber to build your home. Lumber gives greater home comfort at more reasonable cost. Clarendon News: The News editor voted for the free text book law, with an inward fear that it was a sad mistake. We voted for it because nearly all the educators of Texas urged its passage, and we have always stood so devotedly for anything that would assist education in this state, that we would not oppose the law. After what we have seen in recent years, and with the prospect in view of some third or more of the present contracts being almost certain to be changed next year, leaving thousands of dollars worth of books to be burned, we are out and out opposed to it, and we hope the incoming legislature will repeal the law speedily and allow Texas to rid herself of the socialistic and paternalistic theory and practice. After all free clothing and free meals are just as logical as free text books.

BAND HAS SWEATERS.

Plans for rewarding members of the College Band in recognition of excellent service have been perfected by the Department of Music.

The specific award was selected by the men themselves from the several plans submitted. The band selected a light coat sweater. This will be maroon in color, with white trimming. The monogram representative of the musical activity is to be a white lyre, with the letters, "W. T." and a small buffalo directly beneath.

As an indication of the years served in the Band, a string for each season will be sewed in the lyre. Those who win the sweater but are not of college rank will not be allowed to insert the strings.

The sweaters will be worn in the cool seasons of the year instead of the regulation coats. The sweater does not have a collar.

Awards for this year will be made next spring. They will be made according to instrumentation, on purely a merit basis. It is probable that two concerts will be given to help finance the plan for this year; the music department will take over the awarding unassisted thereafter.

Official recognition of the popular College musical organization has come after a period of phenomenal progress on its part. Last year the College Band went to the Brownwood Chamber of Commerce convention as the official band of the Amarillo-delegation.

This year the band has always been ready to function at all games and local patriotic gatherings.

DEBATE QUESTION SELECTED

Tax renditions and irregularities in the fixing of property valuations are to be brought to public attention through the intercollegiate debates between five of the State Teachers Colleges.

The list of subjects ranked by the Sam Houston State Teachers College was received last Thursday. On Thursday afternoon the lists submitted by the five colleges were opened and the choices of each school tabulated. When the subjects were ranked, the following one received first place:

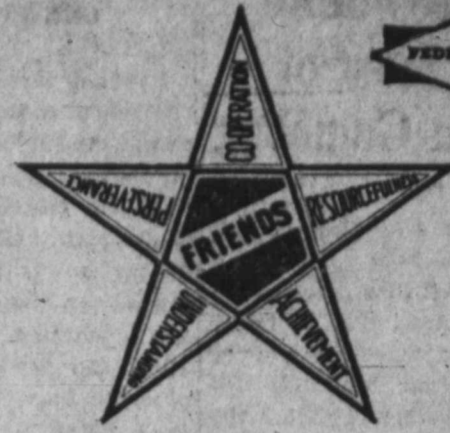

"Resolved, that it would be to the interest of the State of Texas to create a state board of equalization which will relieve the present county boards of the duty of determining tax valuations for the state boards."

Miss Edna Graham of the College mathematics department was elected vice-chairman of the mathematics section of the State Teachers Association at San Antonio. Miss Graham delivered an address at the meeting.

Delegates to the educational convention from the College were President J. A. Hill, Prof. F. P. Guenther, Prof. Wallace R. Clark, Prof. J. S. Humphreys, Sen. J. W. Reid, and Misses Edna Graham, Anna I. Hibbetts, Hathe M. Anderson, and Mattie Lee Boyd.

WEDDINGS

Thomas-Cole—Miss Margaret Thomas of Canyon and Levi W. Cole of Lockney were quietly married Sunday evening at 6 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Price, 102 Fairmont avenue, San Jacinto, Rev. Stanley W. Haynes, pastor of Polk Street Methodist church, performing the ring ceremony. The bride was beautifully gowned in a canary colored georgette dress with accessories to match. She was attended by her charming sister, Miss Lois Thomas of Canyon, who was attractively gowned in delicate blue georgette and silk dress. Zeuss W. Smith of this city acted as best man for the groom. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Price was tastefully decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums, carrying out the color tones of the bride's costume. Mrs. Cole is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rhoads of Canyon, though having lived in Amarillo for some time. Mr. Cole is formerly of Lockney, but is connected with the First National bank of Canyon and is prominently identified in the business and social life of that city. An informal reception was held after the wedding. A number of invited guests were present to extend their good wishes to the happy young couple.

Why Legalize Future Trades? Most of Them Gambling

A few days ago in a building in Chicago, called the Chicago Board of Trade, a man stepped in a place called the "Wheat Pit" and sold so many thousand bushels of wheat at $1.52 1/2 December; $1.60 1/4 for May; $1.42 1/2 July—called the opening price for the day. This man did not have any wheat to be delivered for either December, May or July and the man who bought did not expect to receive it, but they settled their profits and losses on the fluctuation for the day and so it goes day after day. These men call it speculation in futures, but the plain fact is most of it is in reality gambling, and the wheat farmer depends upon that foolishness for his market.

We are reliably informed these speculations simply times the amount of wheat produced and that the amount of this phantom wheat one can buy is unlimited, depending only upon the amount of money he can put up for margins. We are told that this speculation is necessary for the stabilization of prices—but that kind of speculation could not exist on a stabilized price. Hence the question—How can a speculative system work for that which will destroy it? The plain fact of the business is the speculative trade as practiced does not work for, and does not want a stabilized price.

There has been a fluctuation of 60c per bushel since the 1924 harvest started and every one who has studied the situation knows that this wide fluctuation was not caused by the law of supply and demand and did not help a great majority of the farmers. Hence, another question. If this wide fluctuation did not help the farmers—why do they stand for it? Will ten farmers please answer that question?

We are told by the Federal Trade Commission that most of these future trades are gambling—but in the face of that we try to legalize it. Now it just so happens, that the day this man entered the "Pit," sold, bought and resold millions of bushels of phantom wheat—that he did not own and that did not exist—that a man in the same city was sentenced to the penitentiary for selling phantom oil that he did not own and that did not exist and he did not get any more money than the man who sold phantom wheat. Question—Why should one be convicted, the other legalized? Will some bright mind explain the difference?—Judge L. Gough, President Wheat Growers Association.

WITH A DIFFERENCE

A worthy missionary in India had the hymn "Rock of Ages" translated into Hindustani. On retranslation into English by a student, the first two lines bore this inspiring and illuminating aspect:

"Very old stone, split for my benefit, Let me absent myself under your fragments."—New York Times.

If there should come another war, the common people should demand that it be fought out by the gentlemen who are inventing all the deadly war engines we read about.—Columbia Record.

PRESIDENT OUTLINES THE GROWTH OF INSTITUTION

Every department of the College has enjoyed phenomenal growth since 1917 except the physical plant. President Hill stated in chapel Thursday morning. He sketched briefly the history of the main buildings: the College was authorized in 1909; the first session opened on September-10, 1910; the main building burned on March 25, 1914; the present building was occupied on April 16, 1916. The average total enrollment was 400 until 1917. The war depleted the ranks of the men, but since the war the enrollment figures have grown steadily higher each term. At this time there are more than 600 students of College rank alone. The equipment has not kept pace with the increase in the number of students.

Pres. Hill showed the great wealth of Texas would make the up-keep of schools easy if it were properly and equitably taxed. And state taxes are not now burdensome, he said. Local taxes constitute a large percent of the total paid by citizens of this state. The state tax rate is only seventy-five cents on $100.

The speaker declared that students can bring about a more intelligent attitude toward state taxes by studying the problem and becoming leaders in the communities where they live.

SCIENTIFIC MARKETING BIGGEST AGRICULTURAL PROBLEM SAYS COOLIDGE

Washington, D. C.—Declaring that it does the farmer no good to get quantity production, unless he can likewise have scientific marketing and that he "wants to see courses in co-operative marketing and farm economics alongside of soil chemistry and animal husbandry" in the agricultural institutions of this country, and that the farmer must "readjust his method of production and marketing until he comes within sight of the new day," Calvin Coolidge, President of the United States, addressed the annual meeting of the Association of Land Grant College held here.

The hope lies, he said, in organization and methods which look to economy and efficiencies in producing and distributing. Meanwhile the President urged that the educators and farm leaders turn their attention to scientific marketing. The agricultural problem of today, he said, is not on the side of production but on the side of distribution. Too little thought has been given to this phase, he added.

"Up to the present time," Mr. Coolidge continued, "the main emphasis of our agricultural education has been placed upon production. I believe that was right, because unless there is economy and efficiency in production there is no need for thought in any other direction. But our experience of the last few years has demonstrated that it is by no means enough. The farmer is not only a producer, he is likewise a merchant. It does him no good to get quality production, in fact it may do him harm, unless he can likewise have scientific marketing. I want to see courses in co-operative marketing and farm economics alongside of soil chemistry and animal husbandry. I want to see a good farmer on a good farm raise a good crop and secure a good price."

THE FUNERAL OF A MASTER GUNMAN

Men with faces familiar in the rogue's gallery, riding in limousines, scarlet women wearing beautiful furs, bootleggers flashing huge diamonds, sandbaggers and second-story men, thugs, molls and gorillas—people of the underworld to the number of several thousand—gathered in Chicago the other day to attend the funeral of Dean O'Banion, ruler of the Chicago aristocracy of murderers, dopeheads, prostitutes, liquor sellers and hi-jackers.

One thousand automobiles—most of them expensive—twenty-six truck loads of flowers—a $10,000 silver and bronze casket. In the background a seven-foot wall of carnations bearing in gigantic letters, the words: "To our pal—from the gang."

A high priced string orchestra playing hymn after hymn.

There was no sermon.

The Holy Name Cathedral, where O'Banion had served in his early youth as altar boy, was closed against the request of the family that the obsequies be held there.

The services were conducted by Louie Altere, O'Banion's pal and lieutenant. He wore a purple collar and frock coat with a sheaf of lilies of the valley at the lapel. He arranged the flowers so as to show to advantage the pillar seven feet high made of red roses. The services were held in an undertaker's chapel.

When the crowd started to disperse, some photographers tried to take some pictures. They were rushed and their plates broken. Nothing irritates a crook so much as having his picture taken. It reminds him of the mug-room.

It was a great display of wealth. It was an outpouring of an element in Chicago that has accumulated fortunes.

It was a monument to Chicago's shame.

To be compelled to admit that the profession of murder and robbery and the corruption of morals is so well built that it has a recognized ruler and a well-defined organization—that is a confession that should make a city shiver with cold disgust.

We remember the sneer of a Chicago newspaper editor at the Puritanical atmosphere of Kansas, and his vague exaltation of the "Florentine dreams" of those who sip the pleasures of his own city.

And there is the answer. O'Banion, the recognized director of twenty-five murders, laid in his grave without benediction, to the strains of a jazz orchestra playing hymn after hymn—without words—at the direction of a man in a purple collar and frock coat, amid the banks of flowers and the garnish mockery of blood-soaked loot.

The disposition to preserve and ability to improve, taken together, would be my standard of a statesman.—Burke.

The man who does not take far views will have near troubles.—Confucius.

THE FOURTH ESTATE

It was Edmund Burke who referred to the men of the press as "The Fourth Estate."

The three dominant estates of England in Burke's time were the lords, the clergy and the commons. With the coming of the press it was soon recognized as a power in parliament.

Gus Karger, Washington correspondent for the Cincinnati Times-Star, fittingly exemplified this power, for his funeral the other day was attended by President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft and other mighty men of affairs, who paused to pay tribute to a humble newspaper man, as they would to a senator or great diplomat.

His writings from Washington were not such as to make them conspicuous to the nation at large. But there were few men in the capital who wielded as much influence. As the dean of newspaper correspondents, his counsel was sought. His guidance perhaps was responsible for many decisions of newspaper policies.

And so this retiring man, in the background of events, was recognized at his death as one of the great exemplars of the calling which Burke instinctively knew to have a vast influence in the new Anglo-Saxon civilization which was being moulded in his period. That responsibility, instead of causing the men of his calling to become puffed up, is such as to make them humble, for it is something that cannot be treated lightly.

The key to Rousseau's nature, and also to what has passed for the ideal with innumerable Rousseauists, is found in his declaration that he built up for himself "a golden age of phantasy."—Irving Babbitt.

CO-OPERATION ORGANIZATION MAKES FAIR PRICES MORE LIKELY

This is Frank O. Lowden's Message of Co-operation for Our Readers.

The so-called "holy law of supply and demand has not been working properly this summer for some reason, according to Mr. Lowden. The law seemed to be taking a vacation during the recent ups and downs of the market. You will want to read Mr. Lowden's thoughts on this subject as he sets them down in this article. Just remember that he is the man who refused to be vice president because he believes he can do more good by helping the farmers to co-operate. He also refused to accept the office of Secretary of Agriculture because it would take his efforts from the Co-operative work. He is a member of several associations and a leader in the National Council of Farmers' Co-operative Marketing Associations.—Editor.

By FRANK O. LOWDEN

The purpose of co-operative marketing of farm products is not to defy the law of supply and demand, but only to make that law serve the farmer.

We have too long permitted the bugaboo of surplus to depress unduly the price of the great staple products of the farm. The world has been producing wheat for some thousands of years. Since the time of Pharaoh, however, there has never at any given time been a sufficient amount of wheat in existence to feed the world for more than a few months. Would we call mankind improvident if enough of wheat were always carried in storage to feed the world for a single year? If not, what shall we say of the system of marketing wheat by which a six months' supply is permitted to lower the price of that necessity of life below the cost of produce?

Law of Supply and Demand Doesn't Always Work

Two recent instances have come to me of the faulty way in which the present system works. Early in the summer I marketed some hogs at $6.90 a hundred. A few days afterwards the same hogs were selling in the market at $9.50 a hundred. Now the law of supply and demand, I insist, was not working perfectly on both of these days so far as hogs in Illinois were concerned. Recently the government estimate increased the probable yield of cotton by 600,000 bales over the previous estimate, or less than five per cent. As a result, at the same time the price in the market declined $30 a bale, or twenty per cent. In other words, the crop by the last estimate was worth less in the market by $300,000,000 than the crop by the lesser estimate, and yet the world needs cotton as it has not needed it before in modern times.

Something is wrong with the method of marketing when the aggregate money value of a larger crop of a prime necessity is smaller than the value of a smaller crop. There are untold thousands of men and women and children who need to clothe them, more cotton than is produced in the world today. To say, therefore that 12,400,000 bales of cotton are worth more to the world than 13,000,000 bales is to condemn a system of marketing which reveals such an absurdity.

Strong Cotton Associations Beneficial
The cotton growers of the south have begun to appreciate the situation. In each of the cotton growing states they have affected an organization for the co-operative marketing of their cotton. These associations have already accomplished much for their members, though they market less than fifteen per cent of all the cotton produced. Their membership is increasing. And when the time comes, as it surely will, if only the farmers of the south are alive to their own interest, when they shall market, instead of less than 15 per cent fifty per cent or more of the crop, you may be sure that an increase of less than five per cent in a crop will not decrease the price received by 30 per cent.

A year ago corn was selling in many sections of the country, as I recall it, at about 40 cents a bushel. This was less than it cost under present conditions to produce it. It was said that the low price was the result of a surplus. Most farmers were compelled to sell even at a loss. The few who were able to hold have received double that price. The old bogey of a surplus did not disturb them, for they knew that under the operation of the economic law corn must some day bring in the market what it cost to produce it. For though farmers are long suffering as a rule, they will not indefinitely continue to produce at a continuous loss. Now, if the corn producers had been organized as other businesses are organized they would have marketed their corn in an orderly way; they would have established a fair price for corn, marketed as much as possible, and waited for the turn which was inevitable before marketing the remainder.

A Word About Overproduction
But you say, what if this year there has been another bumper crop of corn. I reply that if it were ascertained that we were producing year by year any commodity in excess of the world's needs, and we were organized, we would at once take steps to curtail production just as every other organized industry does. One of the ablest authorities on farm conditions, not only in America, but throughout the world, Eugene H. Grubb, believes that we are cultivating too much land in America. He thinks that we should permit 25 per cent of our tilled fields to go back into pasture. It is certain that we are exhausting the fertility of our farms at a rapid rate. If all branches of agriculture were organized, it would be possible to reduce cultivation to this extent. The so-called surpluses, which are really after all but a small percentage of the total crop produced, would disappear. The 75 per cent of land then cultivated would, I believe, produce in money value much more than it does today. In other words, through organization we would be able to do just what other great organized industries do. We would adjust our production to consumption. I know of no other way in which this can be accomplished.

SEEK WAY TO USE LEISURE

The next "pressing problem" to be attacked by the Carnegie Foundation is the study of how the increasing leisure of the average American can best be employed. The new topic was announced by Frederick P. Keppell, president, who said a series of special studies would be made of the question, What shall be done with this new-found leisure? He called it one of the "most vital" problems facing the world today and one of "fascinating interest." Mr. Keppell told the trustees in annual meeting at New York that $13,000,000 had been spent by the foundation during the past year, and that the original endowment had mounted to more than $133,000,000. He further announced that in the future the public would be asked to participate in the work of the institution and that widespread advice on educational topics would be asked.

Guion-Clark Program Will Be One of the Outstanding Musical Events of this Session of College

David W. Guion, Texas composer, pianist, and Wallace R. Clark, head of the College department of music, will be heard in a joint concert next Saturday evening. Mr. Guion will open the program with a group of Schumann's compositions, Scenes from Childhood. Three pieces by Chopin will be played in the pianist's second group. The third group will be made up entirely of his own compositions. He will conclude the program with the rendition of the ever-delightful Turkey in the Straw.

Prof. Clark will sing two groups of Guion's compositions. The second of the groups is composed of Darky Spirituals which have gained nation-wide popularity for the composer. DAVID W. GUION

Although David Guion has won for himself a well-established reputation nationally and internationally, he is yet a young man. He compensates for his natural timidity by sheer brilliance. Besides being a pianist of unusual talent, he is a composer of whom Texas is justly proud. It is said that few great musicians render a full program without including one or more of Guion's compositions.

own works, and in addition has chosen piano compositions from Schumann and Chopin which will show his masterful technic and fine interpretation. David Guion is a native Texan, having been born in Ballinger, and has done much of his best work in this state. He studied in the leading conservatories of this country, then became a pupil of Leopold Godowsky in Vienna, Austria. After returning to Texas, he became director of music of Daniel Baker College. Later he became teacher of piano in Southern Methodist University. He is now devoting most of his time to teaching in his Dallas studio.

It is believed that within a few years the northern part of Alberta will be stocked with an animal which is a cross breed between the buffalo and the domestic cow, these animals, upon which extensive experiments have already been made, proving well adapted to the northern winter.

The smallest fish in the world are the gobies of Lake Buhl in the Philippine Islands. They are only half an inch long when mature. They are eaten fried when freshly caught and pressed into cakes and dried when the market is overstocked.

LOTS OF ANCESTORS

Championship is claimed by A. M. Boute of East Taunton, Mass., who has 94 first cousins. His mother had 43 nephews and nieces, his father 51. Some one has figured out that you had several thousand great-grandfathers, if you go back a few centuries. In your veins figuratively flows the blood of all of them. Many of the strangers you pass on the street are distantly related to you—hundreds of them. A pretty good argument for practicing the brotherhood of man.

COLLEGE SEEKS GIRLS' DEBATE

Debate Committee is Told to Find an Opponent.

It is probable that a girls' debating team from the College will meet a co-ed team from some other school during this session. At a general meeting of literary society representatives last Thursday this subject received universal favor and correspondence is already being carried on in an attempt to schedule a debate.

Should a debate be secured, it will mark the beginning of girls' debates with other colleges. Within a short time the girls' debates will be placed upon the same basis as the men's.

Sale of Christmas Seals Is in Charge of Mrs. Harvy Cash This Week

Mrs. Harvy Cash is chairman of the 1924 Christmas Seal Campaign in Canyon and the seals are being sold by the school children.

The 1924 Seal is the most artistic ever produced in all the seventeen years during which the annual seal sale has become a recognized and popular institution. It is printed on better paper than ever before. The adhesive material on the back is more efficient and the seals are guaranteed to stick where put.

The seals are so artistic as to be the equal of any commercial seal ever put on the market, and experts declare that they should sell readily merely for their decorative value.

The design contains the words, "Health, Christmas 1924." The red double barred cross on a white field bordered in red symbolizes a worldwide movement for the prevention of tuberculosis, in which are enrolled, an International Union Against Tuberculosis, the National Tuberculosis Association, forty-eight state associations, and about 2000 local associations. This campaign has resulted in a saving of millions of lives throughout the world, and in the United States alone has effected a reduction of the death rate in the past fifteen years from 202 per 100,000 population to 97. This is the great life saving work in which local groups are participating.

At the left of the seal, there is a woman's figure clad in gold drapery, holding aloft a torch, which symbolizes the hope that has been brought to mankind through the successful efforts of the public health movement. The word "Health" on the seal indicates the enlargement of the tuberculosis movement into a general work for the betterment of public health in all directions.

The following results made possible by last years seal sale:

82,322 adults heard health lectures.
67,667 school children were given health instructions.

7,865 school children were given a thorough physical examination.

349 health lectures and 459 school talks were given.

40,244 instructed by Mexican Secretary.

89,594 Negroes received instructions in health from Lecturer for Negroes.

Over 35,000 school children were enrolled in the Modern Health Crusade.

183,804 pieces of health literature were distributed.

78,504 miles were traveled in taking the message of health to the citizens of Texas.

8,545 personally dictated letters were mailed.

Maintained health motion picture car, which is in constant use.

Published "The Health Round-Up" monthly.

Assisted organizations and groups interested in preventing tuberculosis.

Maintained health film and exhibit service.

Co-operated with other statewide health agencies.

IS YOUR WORK HARD?
Many Canyon Folks Have Found How to Make Work Easier.

What is so hard as a day's work with an aching back?

Or sharp stabs of pain at every sudden twist or turn?

There is no peace from that dull ache.

No rest from the soreness, lameness and weakness.

Many folks have found relief through Doan's pills. They are a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys.

Canyon people recommend Doan's.

Mrs. J. W. Haggan, 2201-5th Ave., Canyon, says: "I had a dull ache across my kidneys and at times this condition hindered me in my household work. My kidneys acted irregularly. Occasionally dizzy spells came over me and made me feel weak and tired. Doan's pills soon rid me of the attack."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Pills—the same that Mrs. Haggan had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

LETTERS TO SANTA

Dear Santa Claus:

Please bring a doll, a doll buggy and a bank, also bring me some candy, oranges, apples, and nuts.

My sister, Pauline, wants a doll, a doll buggy and a box of cracker-jacks. Bring her some candy, oranges, apples and nuts.

We thank you Santa Claus.

Your friend,

Margaret Greenfield, and Pauline Greenfield.

Canyon, Texas, Dec. 6, 1924.

Dear Sweet Old Santa:

I haven't forgotten about seeing you in Fort Worth last Christmas, when I went to see my auntie, and I've loved you better ever since.

Santa, I have a new little brother this year; he wasn't here last Christmas, but please don't forget him. Bring him a little rubber ball, a toy duck that can float on water and a few things that babies like to play with. He will be six months old the day after Christmas.

Santa, please bring me a little toy train that runs on a track, like I saw in Fort Worth last year, a cap pistol, a toy music box and of course lots and lots of fruit and candy.

I hope I get to see you again this Christmas. From your little friend,

Hal Gamble.

Canyon, Texas, Dec. 8, 1924.

Dear Santa:

Although you have not ever been to see me before (as I have always been mean) I want you to come to see me this year, as I am very good. I want you to bring me a sack of marbles, a pop gun, and a set of A. B. C. Blocks. Don't forget me.

Earnie Hardin.

Canyon, Texas, Dec. 9, 1924.

Dear Santa Claus:

I have tried to be a good boy since you were here last year. I wish you would bring me a tricycle, fire wagon with two ladders, and some nuts and candy in my stocking.

Your little friend,

Glen Bradon Vetesk.

Canyon, Texas, Dec. 4, 1924.

Dear Santa Claus:

I want you to bring me an air gun and some candy and nuts. I try to be a good boy.

Sincerely yours,

Vern Myers.
