HICO, TEXAS, OCTOBER 25, 1929

NUMBER 21

Here In HICO

A. F. Kreisig, merchandise manager of the Texas Louisiana Power Co., with headquarters at Fort Worth, and E. D. Chadoin, district manager, stationed at Clifton, were visitors to Hico last week.

Interest of the power company in Hico, as well as in other towns where they operate, was stressed by both gentlemen. They called attention to the need for perfect understanding and co-operation between the people of a community and a company such as theirs, where satisfactory service was necessary for the happiness of all the people of the community.

Mr. Kreisig, the merchandise manager, let it be known that his mission was to arrange for an up-to-date and modern merchandise store room in Hico. He told the Lions club that his company would in a short time be able to report the closing of a lease for a building on Main street which would be completely remodeled for the future Hico home of the company.

"Both the exterior and the interior of the building will be a credit to Hico," Mr. Kreisig said, who explained that the building would follow the well known design of the company—the ever popular and attractive idea of Spanish architecture. "When the building is completed, it will be as fine electric store as can be found anywhere in the state; not as large as some, but every electric device and home comfort to be found in the larger cities will form a part of the stock of the Hico store."

Mr. Kreisig told the Lions club that he hoped the club would undertake at no distant date to put its influence behind a movement for the paving of the business district, declaring this to be one of the urgent needs of the community. He had hoped that Main street would be paved before the installation of the new store, with its fine merchandise and glittering silver.

Mr. Chadoin asked, "What are you people going to do about your creamery and ice plant?" He expressed the hope that this enterprise would be re-opened at an early date, since it meant so much to the people of Hico and the farmers of this section. "I believe you people of Hico will find a solution to the problem, and we stand ready to assist you in every way possible," he said.

During the cold spell of the last few days, the first of the winter season, 75 Hico families have learned the convenience and cleanliness of natural gas. That number of families are now using gas for either cooking or heating, or both. Fifteen families are on the waiting list for gas to be turned on, and local officials of the Southern Union Gas company expect the total number of Hico users to reach the 100 mark.

Hico is fortunate in having its gas supply so near home. It comes to the city from the Laney field, seven miles northeast of town. Apparently the supply is sufficient to accommodate Hico users for a long time.

Natural gas has been accepted as the favorite fuel both for cooking and heating in practically all places in Texas where it is available. Many towns of the smaller class, as well as cities, have accepted gas as an improvement over either wood, coal or oil. Where natural gas can be obtained in large quantities it attracts industries.

A shipment of meters from an Ohio city, lost in transit, has delayed installation of gas in at least fifteen homes. These are being traced, and in the meantime another shipment has started on its way. The power company is exerting every effort to make connections as fast as possible, but the lost meters was something beyond their control.

Good things come to those who wait—long enough. The assurance is given by local officials that all applications for natural gas will receive prompt meters.

Trail Blazers of Eastland County Form Association

CISCO, Texas.—Fifteen of the older citizens of Eastland County gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dill of this city recently and initiated an old settlers' organization to be known as the Clark-Dill Trail Blazers' Association. In addition to other qualifications, such as long period of residence in this section, only those who have attained the age of 60 years are eligible to become members.

Aaron Mayhew of Eastland was elected temporary chairman, John Clark, president, Bill Shults treasurer and Mrs. C. C. Tyler secretary. Dues were fixed at $1 per year.

STATE HIGHWAY BODY WILL IMPROVE HIGHWAY NO. 67 FROM HICO TO DUBLIN

Temporary improvement of Highway 67 from Hico to Dublin is promised by the state highway department, following the presentation of a petition to that body requesting such improvements by citizens of McLennan, Bosque, Hamilton and Comanche counties. A delegation from these counties, of which D. L. Harris of Dublin was chairman, appeared before the highway body Tuesday.

Following the presentation of the petition and the discussion, Mr. Harris said that the highway body promised to take immediate steps to improve the road from Hico to Dublin, via Carlton, which is declared to be the worst part of the road at the present time. He said the Waco-Hico-Cisco Transportation company would shortly put in two new 12-passenger busses and make more frequent service over highway 67.

Short Cut For Traffic
The petition presented to the highway commissioners recited the "vital importance of highway 67 from Waco to Cisco as a short cut for cross-state traffic, and for the further purpose of seeking an understanding on which citizens along the route may join with your body in working out a permanent improvement program."

The petition further said in part: "The Waco-Cisco stretch of Highway 67 gives a route 65 miles shorter than the route from Waco to Cisco via Fort Worth.

"From Waco to Meridian, Highway 67 is in good condition, being a black-topped road most of the way, and the McLennan county bond issue providing for concrete construction and straightening of the road over that section which is not now permanently paved. At the other end of the line, from a few miles beyond Dublin to Cisco, there is also permanent paving. The section to which we invite your attention is the gap of approximately fifty miles from Meridian to Dublin. This we consider as two problems:

1. The 25 miles from Meridian to Hico.
2. The 25 miles from Hico to Dublin.

Road Crooked and Narrow
"The Meridian-Hico gap is now a very crooked road, with a narrow right-of-way, winding through the hills. The natural material is fairly satisfactory for roads, the chief need here being to straighten and widen the right-of-way. A new survey has been run by the division engineer which, with minor modifications, is acceptable to the Bosque county citizens and Bosque county commission.

"The second 25 miles of the unpaved gap, that from Hico to Dublin, goes via Carlton, which is seven miles longer than the direct line which the division engineer has surveyed via Clairette and Alexander. Citizens along the Clairette-Alexander line have pledged a right-of-way of 100 feet, and have called an election to vote on a $50,000 bond issue to aid this construction.

"However, this committee does not believe that the road via Carlton should be overlooked in improvement programs, as it offers an important cut-off, if continued to join Highway 108. This would necessitate construction of five miles of new road from Carlton to Highway 108, but would shorten the distance from Dublin and surrounding country to Austin by 20 miles, as compared with the route via highway 67 to Waco. The route via Carlton is now a well-graded road, with 80-foot right-of-way, but in many places the surface is unsatisfactory.

Wilson and John Carter of Pattonville had a narrow escape from death but sustained only bruises and abrasions when the truck in which they were riding was struck by a Texas & Pacific passenger train here, Wilson, who was driving, turned his truck down the track ahead of the train when he saw he could not avoid a collision, reducing the force of the impact. Modern Salesroom Is to Be Erected By Power Company

The Lions club, meeting last Friday, discussed a number of projects of interest to Hico, with special emphasis on the re-opening of the creamery or otherwise providing a milk market for the dairy farmers of the Hico section. It was agreed that nothing could be done pending the sale of the plant now here, which is in bankruptcy. President Sellers reported that no reply had been received from the referee in bankruptcy to the letter from the club requesting public sale of the plant.

A number of visitors were present, including A. F. Kreisig, merchandise manager of the Texas-Louisiana Power Co., Fort Worth, and E. D. Chadoin, district manager, Clifton. Both told of improvements contemplated by the company in Hico, which will include the construction or remodeling of a building on Main street for a modern merchandising store, complete in every particular.

B. B. McCollum and J. W. Clements, both of Stephenville, were club visitors, extending an urgent invitation to Hico people to take advantage of the opportunity to hear the Marine Band at Stephenville last Tuesday night.

The club meets again today at 12:30.

Barn Belonging To Mrs. Willie Platt Is Destroyed By Fire

A barn belonging to Mrs. Willie Platt, containing a quantity of corn and an automobile belonging to Mr. Pryor was totally destroyed by fire at 5:30 Thursday morning.

The corn was the crop realized from the farm belonging to Mrs. Platt during the past season. It is understood she had no insurance on either the barn or its contents.

Mr. Pryor, it is understood, had $200 insurance on the car, and only the day before he is said to have spent $45 in repairs. He is a lineman for the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. and had only been here a few days.

Methodists Plan For Conference At Hillsboro Nov. 6

Rev. Paul W. Evans, pastor, and J. C. Barrow, superintendent of the Sunday school of the Hico Methodist church, will attend the annual conference of the denomination at Hillsboro, beginning November 6.

Preliminary to the work of the new church year, which begins Nov. 10, the stewards recently elected by the Hico church for the new year will meet at the church tonight for a general discussion of next year's plans and purposes.

At the Hillsboro meeting, over which Bishop Moore will preside, ministers will be assigned to their various charges for the new year, and shortly after conference it will be "moving time" for a large number of the Methodist ministers. Under Methodist procedure, ministers rarely know where they will be sent until the bishop makes his announcements near the close of conference.

Hico is a member of the Gatesville Methodist district. It is understood that churches throughout the district will have credible reports to submit.

Building Occupied By Sadler Motor Co. Is Being Remodeled

An entirely new front, with plate glass installed the entire distance, is being placed in the building occupied by the Sadler Motor Co., Ford dealers, who recently purchased the business of the Willis Motor Co.

Improvements will provide room in front for display space sufficient to accommodate five cars. In order to do this it was necessary to remove the stairway from the center of the building to the extreme north side. The upper story is used for offices and as a storage room for the Sadler Motor Co.

New paint and a general overhauling of the entire building is contemplated, according to Mr. Sadler. In addition to the improved appearance, the changes will provide a modern automobile home as can be found in this section of the state. The shop will be located in the rear of the building, as heretofore.

Next Wednesday, Oct. 31, will be "cow day" in Hico, making the third time in as many months that a fine thoroughbred Jersey cow has been sold for $100.

The movement is sponsored by the Lions club as a means of attracting visitors to the city and increasing the trade prestige of Hico.

The two previous sales have been highly successful, attracting large crowds. It is understood that the cow to be sold next Wednesday is an extra fine animal, worth at the lowest estimate $150.

The sale takes place in the afternoon, as heretofore.

HARTGRAVES AT HICO AND FAIRY MASONIC LODGES

Grand Master Texas Masons Speaks At Hico and Then Motors to Fairy To Aid in Degree Work; Large Crowd Grooms Head of Order.

Hico Masonic lodge had an unusual distinction Saturday night—a visit from the grand master of the Grand Lodge of Texas. So far as known it was the first time in history that the grand master had paid a visit to the Hico lodge.

Grand Master Frank Hartgraves of Menard was accompanied to Hico by C. W. Ford, district deputy grand master of the Gatesville district. Mr. Hartgraves formerly lived in this section and took advantage of a visit to old friends and relatives to attend Hico lodge. He delivered a most instructive address on the purposes of Masonry and outlined the work of the Grand Lodge, mentioning some of the recommendations he will offer on retiring as grand master early in December.

Invited By Fairy Lodge
Following the Hico meeting, Mr. Hartgraves and Mr. Ford, joined by a dozen or more Hico members of the order, went to Fairy, where the grand master had accepted an invitation to assist in the conferring of the master's degree on his nephew, G. C. Hartgraves. It was at the invitation of Fairy lodge that Mr. Hartgraves was a visitor in this section.

Awaiting the grand master at Fairy were W. S. Tate, member of the Grand Lodge committee on work; W. E. Tate, district deputy grand master, both of Hamilton, and representatives from lodges in Hico, Carlton, Jonesboro, Gorman, Cranfills Gap, Gustine, Gatesville and Hamilton.

Following the degree work, speeches were made by representatives of all the lodges present, concluding with an address by the grand master, who recounted his early boyhood and young manhood days in Hamilton county, which he declared to be among the most pleasant memories of his life.

Progress of Masonry
At Fairy the grand master continued and elaborated on his address delivered earlier in the evening at Hico, and further outlined the workings of Masonry in Texas, dwelling at length on the accomplishments of the past and what it was hoped to accomplish in the future. He declared the order to be in excellent condition throughout the state and told of his visitations to lodges in every section of the grand jurisdiction since he assumed office last December.

It was a gala occasion for Fairy lodge, which, like Hico lodge, was honored for the first time by a visit from the grand master. Officers of Fairy lodge had made elaborate preparations for the event, serving delightful refreshments at the conclusion of the meeting and in many other ways demonstrating their appreciation of the grand master's visit and the presence of so many visitors from other lodges.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTER FOR EARLY SOLUTION CREAMERY PROBLEM

Committee from Lions Club and Dairy Association Visits Waco and Reports New Angle by Which Milk Market Problem May Be Solved.

Prospects are brighter for a solution of the milk marketing problem in Hico, is the report brought back from Waco by representatives of the Lions Club and the Hico Dairy Herd Improvement Association.

A committee composed of L. Hudson and Herbert Sellers of the Lions club, and L. A. Powlledge, W. B. Rucker and J. M. Aiton of the dairy association, went to Waco Wednesday, at the request of the dairymen, who, at their meeting Monday afternoon, authorized the committee to see what could be done to relieve the situation.

Members of the committee, while disclaiming that anything definite was accomplished, are of the belief that developed which will result in the re-opening of the plant, or at least provide a satisfactory milk market.

The Hico Dairy Herd Improvement Association, at their meeting Monday, which was attended by representatives of the Lions club, told of the hardships they were undergoing by reason of the creamery being bankrupt. Several of the members said they were losing heavily for the lack of a satisfactory market such as that afforded them when the creamery was in full operation. The committee to go to Waco for an investigation was the result of the Monday meeting. This committee will probably report their findings to a meeting of the Dairy Herd Improvement Association to be held Saturday afternoon.

Coleman C. of C. Secretary Sunday Visitor to Hico

Mr. O'Neal said that Coleman was growing rapidly and fast reaching the city class. The first Coleman county fair, which was on for four days of last week, was a success far beyond the expectations of the promoters. The horse races, Mr. O'Neal said, were well attended and a number of records broken.

Preparations are being made for additional buildings next year to give more exhibit space.

Thirty Days Only to Pay Auto Fee, New Texas Ruling

AUSTIN, Texas.—The issuance of motor vehicle and chauffeur licenses for 1930 can not take place until Jan. 1, 1930, and it will be unlawful to operate a car that has not been registered for the new year after midnight of Feb. 1, Assistant Attorney General R. M. Tilley ruled in an opinion to the Highway Commission. The opinion held that the limits for the counties' portion of the fees should be arrived at after the deduction of the fees for collection, the Legislature having provided that the tax collector shall deposit in the county depository of his county, to the credit of the county road and bridge fund, an amount equal to 100 per cent of the net collections made during the preceding week until the amount so deposited for the current year shall have reached a total of $50,000, and collections as used in the statute in the retention of moneys by the counties means net collections.

Because the new law is not effective until Jan. 1, it is ruled that tax collectors can not begin registering motor vehicles until that date, as there would be no authority for registering vehicles under a law that would not be in effect. The opinion says the legislature could meet between Dec. 1 and Jan. 1 and repeal the act.

A further ruling was that there being no provision for any fee to the county collector when issuing duplicate license receipts, the fund must be remitted to the highway department and the only compensation derived by the tax collector is ex officio.

Fees collected must be accounted for as fees of office and deputies will be paid out of such fees. Deputies are required to be employed as they were in the past.

Important to BUYERS OF NEW CARS

FROM time to time General Motors has devoted its messages in this paper to giving facts which help the car-buyer get full value for his automobile dollar. In keeping with that policy of frankness, this message gives facts about the prices of new cars which every one should know.

This is the standard price tag used by General Motors dealers to show what makes up the delivered prices of their new cars.
List Price. The f. o. b. price advertised by the factory.
Freight and Delivery. An authorized amount to cover the freight charges paid by the dealer and the cost of unloading, inspecting, supplying fuel and oil—preparing the car for delivery to you.
Accessories. A charge for any additional accessories that may be purchased.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values. General Motors dealers' delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery, and the charge for any additional accessories that may be desired.

TOTAL DELIVERED PRICE	$ 266.66

These prices are for cash. Purchase may be financed on convenient monthly payments if desired.

WHEN you buy a new automobile, it is the delivered price that you actually pay.

The delivered price consists of the list price of the car—the f. o. b. price advertised by the manufacturers—plus certain other charges which the dealer makes.

You should know exactly what those charges are and what each one is for.

There is no mystery about the charges added by General Motors dealers. They have adopted this standard price tag, which tells you everything. Nothing is hidden. There is no extra charge to permit a seemingly better trade-in offer. No extra charge to cover advertising or any other item. You know exactly what makes up the difference between the list price and the delivered price. Each charge made by the dealer is fair and reasonable.

Use this tag for reference. Make it your guide in comparing automobile values. For the delivered price is the price you really pay.

Below is given the range of list prices for each General Motors car. They are just as low as General Motors' vast production, centralized purchasing and reasonable profit per car can make them. General Motors dealers maintain this value in their delivered prices of these cars and show you every item on the standard price tag. Look over the General Motors line. Then clip the coupon.

CREATING CIVILIZATION

Breadwinning and soulsaving are Siamese twins, the one dependent on the other.

The man plowing in the field is serving the Lord and humankind just as much as the man in the pulpit. If the body be not properly nourished, the soul loses its vitality.

If the soul be not properly nourished, the body is of the earth earthy.

Soul and body are dependent on each other, which fact is proof of the resurrection of the body as taught in the Christian Scriptures.

Take the event on the Mount of Transfiguration; the disciples wanted to continue in that Spiritual realm, but the Master was wiser than they, coming down to the foot of the mountain and healing the demoniac.

Take the Lord's Prayer; "Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven"—that is the spiritual, and the other is equally important, "Give us this day our daily bread."

The man who plants a pecan tree is a co-worker of the man who prints a Bible; the one function is just as important as the other.

Really, these are not two spheres of influence, for both breadwinning and soulsaving are so interlocked as to constitute a perfect whole.

In the garden of Gethsemane the Master gave nourishment to the soul; immediately he came out we hear him saying, "Arise, let us be going," thus conjoining the spiritual and the material.

And thus is created what we are used to call civilization.

CARING FOR OUR OWN

It is not defaming any one's memory to say that for too long here in the South, the landlord and banker and merchant insist on the all-cotton practice.

Perhaps that was our only way to get by, but nevertheless it is deep enough to leave some ugly scars.

It is certainly gratifying to know that we here in Texas are breaking away from the all-cotton practice, and maybe that is our one chance—do you know?—to get farm relief here in this section, for example, we are paying more attention than in former years to poultry and pecans and peanuts, and our dairy herds are steadily enlarging.

More and more, good people, should we seek to convert the raw material into the finished product; already in certain lines a good start has been made; for example, almost all the Texas rice "crop" is manufactured within the State; half the normal pecan crop is manufactured in Texas, and about the same percentage of the peanut crop. Also Texas annually produces about one-half of its beef and pork.

Figures recently released by the Census Bureau show that Texas annually ships to other States about $600,000,000 worth of raw materials to be made into finished commodities and that's a handicap we should seek to overcome.

BY WAY OF REMINDER

Prior to and immediately following the war between the States, the men in public life discussed the principles on which this Government is founded. For example, John H. Reagan invariably recited the differences between the centralizers and the decentralizers, calling the former Hamiltonians and the latter Jeffersonians. The people of Texas, for the most part, were Jeffersonians—that is to say, believers in home rule. The Southern Confederacy was a protest on centralizing tendencies.

How is it today? More and more is the Federal Government invading the rights of the States, and—shall we confess it?—the men who go to Washington from Texas are acquiescing—and in some instances aiding—in the new order of things. Is this for the best? Was Reagan and the other great men of Texas wrong in resisting Federal encroachment on the rights of the States?

Appetite grows by what it feeds on. Power never voluntarily surrenders an inch. Dictatorships grow out of the people's indifference to their liberties. The ancient republics practiced centralization and consequently carried the seeds of their own destruction.

Let us think on these things, fellow citizens.

And after we have spent from five to fifteen million dollars for a new penitentiary, won't we still have to wrestle with the problem of making it self-supporting?

We are all for athletics—sure we are, boys. But let's not forget that athletics can not solve for us the meat and bread problem.

Come to think of it, it does take right smart nerve to offer for a place of honor.

Unless our agricultural interests are fairly prosperous, listed stocks can't hope to show constant buoyancy.

The Dallas Fair and the Waco Cotton Palace are aids in getting away from the all-cotton practice.

Parasites destroy trees and governments. The wise pedestrian realizes every moment that some one is liable to turn on him.

Chevrolet Starts Course For Youths in Auto Mechanics

At Flint Michigan '50 picked youths between the ages of 16 and 19 years will soon begin an educational course in which books will be conspicuous because of their total absence. They will attend class in overalls, and drafting boards, micrometers, wrenches and screw drivers will take the place of fountain pens, blackboards and note books. Salaries will supplant credits in this the world's most novel educational plant.

It will be an institution endowed by Chevrolet Motor Company, and its faculty will be composed of hard-headed production men with years of factory experience. At the head of the school will be C. F. Barth, vice president in charge of manufacturing one of whose life dreams will be realized when the first class is held.

Here it might be well to explain that this unique training place is not a school. The word "school" is one which Mr. Barth wants permanently dissociated from this newest Chevrolet undertaking. It is definitely a shop, operated under shop discipline, and maintaining shop hours. It is to be known officially as the Chevrolet Apprentice Shop.

There will be many features to this novel training place, but it is doubtful if any are more interesting or more significant than the reason for its conception. And no one can make this more clear than Mr. Barth himself.

"The Apprentice Shop is actually a necessity," he told his visitor last week. "Chevrolet Motor Company, like all other large manufacturers has for several years past noted a decrease in good all around mechanics. When the automobile industry started there was no such shortage. The founders of the industry were themselves super mechanics, and in every instance they surrounded themselves with competent all around men.

"Because of the scores of good mechanics who got their training in the pioneer days of the industry, no shortage was actually felt until recently. Now it has grown quite apparent throughout the industry at large.

"Chevrolet by taking this step, has taken the bull by the horns. Because of the growth of aviation and the inspiration of Lindbergh the country has thousands of youths who have become intensely interested in mechanics.

"Our shop is seeking just this type of youth, and will cooperate with him in every way to make him a finished workman. Naturally Chevrolet expects to benefit by the move, yet there are no strings attached to the course. If the youngster graduating from our shop feels that he wants to go elsewhere, the company will put no obstacles in his path.

"We feel, however, that we will be able to make a position with Chevrolet sufficiently attractive to keep the majority of these young men with us. But this is solely up to us.

No requirements other than that the apprentice have mechanical ability are necessary. Whether or not applicant has a high school education does not affect his chances for getting into the apprentice shop. It makes this difference, however, on the length of the course. Men who are not high school graduates will be required to complete 10,029 hours, approximately four years of training. High school graduate will be expected to complete the training in two thirds this time.

The apprentice will work 50 hours a week and will be paid from the outset with regular increases in salary until the course is completed. A new building is being constructed to house the undertaking. It is to be one story and be 60 by 160 feet in dimensions. Inasmuch as all the first applicants are Flint youths they will reside at their own homes.

NOTICE—Good dry wood, any length, any size.—Phone Walter Toliver.

Adaptability of the sandy lands of the cross timber section to grape growing was practically demonstrated by the fact that three or four demonstration vineyards in Wise and Montague Counties paid for themselves this year, the first year of the vines' bearing.

Quality Shoes—Then the Price

WITH The Country Gentleman

By JNO. M. AITON

The News-Review has engaged the services of Mr. John M. Aiton for a weekly contribution concerning the development of the program of dairy and poultry farming in this territory. The thoughts and ideas advanced in this department will be those of Mr. Aiton and will in no manner conflict with the general news and editorial policy of the paper. Readers of the News Review will therefore discuss with Mr. Aiton any theories he may care to promote, and not align them with what the publishers will have to say through the news and editorial columns.—Editor's Note.

The growth of the Hico Dairy Herd Improvement Association is gratifying to all concerned. A number of our citizens have become members and many others are considering the matter of joining, and the most of them will doubtless come in as soon as it is shown that the organization means business. To us it is a matter of great importance.

An organization among those who are engaged in the dairy business is essential for many reasons. It is now recognized that producers everywhere must pool their interests in order that both united effort and mass production methods may prevail. In every line of productive effort the idea of quality now is the determining factor that governs the price paid for the product. This is true whether applied to dairy products, poultry products, beef, hogs, cotton, wheat or any other agricultural product offered for sale. This being true, an organization of the dairy people places them in position to work together for a standardized product in their line. This of course is accomplished by proper discussion of the elements involved in being able to deliver either sweet milk, sour or sweet cream. It should be apparent that if all use the same method of handling the product, the result will be the same in each case. This is an object of great importance to all concerned for the standard product will bring more money when sold on the market. A general organization is necessary also if we are to improve productive capacity of the cows now being milked. We do that by organizing bull circles whereby record merit bulls may be obtained and used, thus building up the milk and fat production of the incoming generations. We can also, by having our general organization as a basis to work from, get our testing circles functioning, and thus eliminate the cows who are found to be small producers of butter fat. Another great advantage of organization is that it places the producers in a position to cope with the problems of marketing their products. As long as the business is carried on from the individual standpoint the producers are at the mercy of the buyers. They can give short weight and light tests, and if complained of, they get a horse laugh, whereas if they were organized they are in a position to demand and obtain fair weights and fair tests. But perhaps the greatest idea of all is the fact that when such an organization gets to going it becomes the most potent force we have for the general betterment both of the business in hand, as well as better market conditions. This can be only by and through the united efforts of those engaged in the dairy business, for it secures the active interest of each one engaged in the business, thereby unifying and concentrating on the lines that bring success to all. We hope thus to get rid of local competition and its evil effects, and get the dairy industry up on the plane of operation whereby it can claim and hold for its own the advantages that should accrue to the men who produce the dairy products in this section.

We read a report the other day from the U. S. Department of Agriculture, in which it was stated that during the past ten years the production of lint cotton had dropped 51 pounds per acre in Texas. This is a peculiarly depressing statement. Yet we do not have to look far for the reason, for we have farmed our land continuously for forty or more years, and we have not during that time sought to return to the land any of the elements of plant growth that has been used up by the crops of the past, to say nothing of the vast losses through the washing and leaching of the land by heavy destructive rains. We are now reading much about the poor quality of the staple produced by the cotton growers of the state, and we wonder just how much of this deterioration of the staple is due to the more or less impoverished condition of the land. It ought not to be hard to understand that if the soil is poor, the quality of the product, whatever it may be, will also be of poorer quality. We believe that the time has now come when every citizen should begin to study this matter, with a view of getting something going that will insure us against further losses along this fundamental line, as well as to begin to put the elements of fertility back in our land. We have been suggesting the idea of a movement to secure for us a general farm terracing for this section. This of course is the foundation of the plan to conserve our farm soil, and to rebuild it to its original degree of fertility. We are hoping yet to see a great interest aroused both on the part of the land owners and the business interests as well, to the end that we will be able to stop the injury to our land now going on, and that we may be able to devise means to handle our land so that its productive capacity may be increased to the end that our section may enjoy a greater degree of prosperity.

After having our land terraced doubtless there will be many problems to be worked out in rebuilding the fertility of the soil. A friend called our attention the other day to the fact that his land, which has been under terrace for 15 years, will not grow cow peas nor soy beans, nor any other of the legume plants. He states that the land is suffering from an acid condition and that the legume plants he has tried die soon after they get out of the ground. This friend states that it has been found that by treating land in this condition by an application of carbonate of lime that the acid reaction would be overcome and that the legume plants would then grow on this land. This of course could be tested out and if it proves true the lime could be bought in bulk and sold at the lowest possible price to the farmers who cared to use it. This is an interesting point to study, for perhaps if the acid reaction of the land effects the legume plants, we wonder just how it may effect the growth of other plants. We don't know but we are hoping to see some discussion from some one who does know. Anything that we can do to get our land to producing more will be of general benefit to all.

Everybody wants to see better roads. But when we get to the matter of financing them we get into hot water right away. But if we get improved all weather roads someone is going to have to pay for them. It is prevailing idea now days that the state or county will build our roads for us, and they will provide they are given the money with which to build. There seems to be a prevailing idea that the state or the county or Uncle Sam will foot all bills for the public. We overlook the fact that neither Uncle Sam, the State or the County has any money except that which it takes from the people in the way of taxes. So no matter in the state, the county, or Uncle Sam do build the roads, the people furnish the money after all. This being true, why not get our heads together and develop our own plans and methods and get on the job and build our own local road systems and be in a position whereby we can control our own local co-operation alone. Men interested gave freely of their time and money to build these roads. We can by such co-operation accomplish a great deal of road building in our own locality and that without taxes or the supervision of the United States, the state, or the county. With the funds now available for use on the roads by the county commissioners, the way is wide open for a full co-operation of the folks living along the roads of the county. Get in touch with your commissioner if you want better roads in your locality, give him an idea how much you are willing to help him and then watch for results.

Corpus Christi will build loading docks for the new sulphur mines at Duval. It will cost $300,000 and will handle 1,600 tons of the product a day.

EXPRESSION OF APPRECIATION

In his coinage of the adage, "You can never run the mill with the water that has passed," the wise old sage of old uttered an expression true to type in his day, but I am unable to make it fit my case, when I contemplate life without my Hico friends. For near on to half a century, I have worked with, and for you, friends of Hico and surrounding territory, and to you I owe much. Experience is the greatest teacher, and my experience with and for you, has left me a heritage—priceless. When I attempt to express to you my appreciation of your loyalty and support, mere words sound empty and expressionless, but through this medium, I beg of you, one and all, that you accept as from the depths of my heart, this message: I THANK YOU.

When my business is entirely closed out, as it will be during the next few weeks, wherever I go, or whatever I do, never shall I forget, or fail to recall with joy and thanksgiving, your loyalty, your charitable spirit, and your continued support. I am selling my entire stock at cost—and shall continue to do so until it is all sold out, and from time to time a few of the newest of hats, dresses and coats will be added, these also, to be sold at cost.
